INTRODUCTION.

English is the most widely spoken language in the world, with approximately 1.5 billion speakers. It should be noted that for most of them, English is not a mother tongue, but a second language.

Language refers to a complex system of communication or the ability to learn and use that system. Language is primarily a means of communication. The field that studies language is called linguistics. To determine the number of world languages, it is necessary to make a distinction between language and dialect. Nevertheless, the number of languages is considered to be between 6-7 thousand. Natural language is transmitted through speech or gesture, but any language can be encoded into a secondary medium such as writing, braille, or a whistle using auditory, visual, or tactile stimuli.

REFERENCES AND METHODOLOGY.

Alisher Navoi, the great Uzbek writer and the founder of the Uzbek language, said six centuries ago: "Language is a pearl whose value we cannot express." As the great poet noted, learning foreign languages and their values is still the main and necessary factor for people to make a career, find a place in society, and even bring the beautiful image of our motherland Uzbekistan to the international stage. One of the foreign languages, English, can give us such necessary opportunities.

Popular methods of teaching and learning English, Internet resources were used in the research process. During the writing of the article, the principles of theoretical deductive conclusion, analysis and synthesis, logicity were used.

RESULT AND DISCUSSION.

By the end of the 20th century, English had finally established its status as a world language. Its study became compulsory in most schools around the world, and the teaching methodology began to develop by leaps and bounds. Not everyone has the opportunity to attend the courses that led to the emergence of the first method of independent English language learning. Later, many authors tried to independently create an effective English language learning program, but we will focus on the 4 most popular ones.

1. *Schechter's method . This method of learning English is not based on the classical model "from theory to practice", but on the reverse, more natural system of perception. It is very similar to how we learn our mother tongue. The author gives an example of how young children learn how to speak - after all, no one explains to them the rules for building sentences, cases and parts of speech. In the same way, Igor Yuryevich Shekhter suggests learning English. The essence of the modern method of learning English is that from the first lesson, students are given a certain task, for example, to learn the profession of the interlocutor. In addition, all students play so-called "etudes", where they act in different roles and try to solve a problem. Since communication takes place between people with approximately the same level of knowledge of the language, the fear of using foreign speech, which appears in the communication between the teacher and the student, disappears. This technique of the English language consists of three stages: in the first, lexical units, words and phrases are given, and only then, in the second and third stages, the use of grammatical and syntactic structures is corrected. The system has repeatedly confirmed its effectiveness and is currently considered one of the most successful from the point of view of educational psychologists.

2. *Pimsler's method . Dr. Paul Pimsler developed a special system of thirty-minute lessons designed not only for the perception of information, but also for its reproduction. Each lesson is taught by two people: our compatriot and a native English speaker. Thanks to this and special memorization technology, each student learns hundreds of English words and phrases for each lesson. The essence of the lesson is to perform the tasks given by the lecturers in sequence. The undoubted advantages of the technique include its mobility - you can perform audio tasks anywhere: when standing in traffic, on the way to work, on the subway on the way to a meeting, or in bed before going to bed. The downside would be the lack of a high-quality pronunciation and knowledge acquisition test.

3. *Dragunkin's method. Alexander Nikolayevich Dragunkin's system is characterized by its focus on the native Russian language when learning any foreign language. The author, who very boldly called the English language simple, emphasizes that its roots go back to the ancient Russian language, especially the system of grammatical tenses. Students of the Dragunkin course learn new words transcribed in Russian letters, and grammatical constructions are divided not into the 12 tenses known to us from school, but into the past, present, future and their changes. Alexander Nikolaevich has his own network of schools, where you can master three types of courses: basic, short and conversational. For independent study, the book "A Little Leap into English" is offered, which includes a linguist's innovative approach to language learning. Using his system, you can easily understand the use of English verbs, memorize the rules for using articles, and easily master the basic principles of sentence construction. Nevertheless, the Dragunkin method has many negative reviews, which criticize the pronunciation and insufficient theoretical knowledge.

4. *Petrov's method. Dmitry Petrov says that you can learn English in 16 hours. True, the author once again clarifies that we are not talking about language acquisition at the level of a UK-born citizen, but about basic knowledge. His lessons are enough to survive in an English-speaking environment, explain your needs and understand the response.

CONCLUSION.

Sufficient attention should be paid to the formation of speech skills and the development of social flexibility in the training conducted during the educational process. In addition, the success of each lesson in education largely depends on the correct organization of the training. The lesson should be based on the creative cooperation of the teacher and the student. Only then will students be able to think independently and will be educated.
