

README BYA SLR

This repository provides supplementary materials for the review of published scholarship on Black Youth Activism for the corresponding journal paper:

Sperduti, V., Yemini, M., & Khavenson, T. (2025). Collective voices making change: A literature review of Black youth activism in the United States. Educational Review.

<https://doi.org/10.1080/00131911.2025.2520246>

The review covers peer-reviewed journal papers related to Black Youth Activism published in English from 2012 to 2023 sourced from Web of Science (WoS), EBSCO, and Education Resources Information Center (ERIC) databases. The search and selection processes are explained in detail in the paper's "Methodology" section.

Documents list:

1. Original WoS Data: The ZIP file named "WoS raw data" has all the Excel spreadsheets retrieved from searching the Web of Science database. It only includes the results for non-zero searches.
2. Original EBSCO & ERIC Data (accessed concurrently via the EBSCO interface): The ZIP file named "EBSCO_ERIC raw data" has all the CSV spreadsheets retrieved from searching the EBSCO and ERIC databases. It only includes the results for non-zero searches.
3. Search and eligibility screening: The Excel file named "BYA SLR_Search and eligibility screening.xlsx"
  - a. Sheet 1. 'All WoS orig': Complete list of papers sourced from WoS after technical cleaning (n=5065)
  - b. Sheet 2. 'All EE orig': Complete list of papers sourced from EBSCO & ERIC after technical cleaning (n=7332)
  - c. Sheet 3. 'Eligibility screening':
    - i. Papers selected for eligibility screening (n=5328), Columns A-H
    - ii. Titles and abstracts eligibility 1st screening results include exclusion/inclusion criteria. If both Columns I-J were satisfied, additional criteria were used (Columns K-L). If all four criteria were met, articles were retained in Column N (n=120); Personal notes, Column M
    - iii. Final sample selection after full-text analysis (n=84), Column O

If you use or adapt these materials, please remember to cite the original work:

Sperduti, V., Yemini, M., & Khavenson, T. (2025). Collective voices making change: A literature review of Black youth activism in the United States. Educational Review.
<https://doi.org/10.1080/00131911.2025.2520246>