Back-page Worksheet: Household Members, Age, Literacy, and Work Status

At the start, read to the respondent: Please tell me the name and age of each member of your household. A household is a group of people—regardless of blood relationship—who normally sleep in the same main residence and who usually work together to satisfy their basic needs for shelter, food, clothing, and health care. The main residence is the room or group of rooms where household members normally live, that is, where they have stayed (or plan to stay) for at least six months. For each member, please also tell me whether he or she can read and write. Finally, I would like to know whether the member currently works, that is, helps to produce goods and services, even if only for an hour. Working is a broad concept, including people who normally are employed, even if they are not working today. It also encompasses all types of employment, including casual day labor, part-time work, and irregular/informal work.

Write down the name and age of each household member. Then write the total number of members in the scorecard header next to “# Household members:” and circle the corresponding response to the first indicator. Then, count the members ages 10 and older who cannot read or write, and circle the response to the second indicator. Finally, count the members who work, and circle the response to the third indicator.

Please always keep in mind the full definitions of household, household member, and working found in the “Guidelines for the Interpretation of Scorecard Indicators”.
