So what's the big idea?

Aim:

- To create a quiz to enable community supporters of all flavours to identify what kind of contributor they might be!

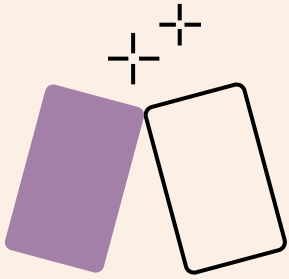

Why:

- To provide affirmation for the valuable contributions of community supporters – gives them confidence to do the good work
- Awareness building about the role and definition
 - Recognize that there are names/labels for those roles, which allows people to identify with and put name to their labour
- Ensnare people in the web of RCM Cooperative...

What we did today and how

What:

- Created a list of community supporter personas
- Built a fun quiz!

How:

- Began with discussion about skills frameworks and quiz formats
- Used our existing materials (RCM Coop, CSCCE & DIRECT Framework) around community management skills and built them into accessible personas
- Developed a set of diagnostic questions to identify how each persona might react in a given situation (Google Sheets, Google Drive)
- Managed the project and documentation through <http://github.com/rcmcooperative/community-supporter-types/issues>

COMMUNITY SUPPORTER COMPASS

What kind of community supporter are you?

Like any great dinner party, you need a host. But you also need fun guests and of course, someone to prepare the food. In fact, you need all of these things for a fun Friday night.

Building and supporting communities is similar, and not all community supporters are built the same. You may not even be aware you are one!

Take this quiz to find out what kind of cook you are in the kitchen that is community management.

Building Awareness
Recognise the value of community support

Recognition
Label and define your role

Affirmation
Gain confidence in your skills and contributions

Distinction
