

Dissemin

A new Open Access tool (green route) for all researchers and institutions

The Dissemin platform checks if your articles are available in Open Access by mining metadata from publishers and open repositories and checking the archiving policy of the publisher or journal.

It therefore enables:

- researchers to easily deposit their articles in Open Access without having to fill-in metadata information ;
- research institutions to analyse the accessibility and openness of their researchers' publications.

Dissemin is being developed by 5 computer scientists from the ENS in Paris.
