

Pharmacotherapy Publications, Inc. (PPI) is the corporate journal-publishing unit affiliated with the American College of Clinical Pharmacy (ACCP). PPI publishes two official ACCP journals, Journal of the American College of Clinical Pharmacy and Pharmacotherapy. Both journals are hybrid journals allowing authors to choose to publish under the terms of the journal's standard copyright agreement, or OnlineOpen under the terms of a Creative Commons License. ACCP is a professional and scientific society that provides leadership, education, advocacy, and resources enabling clinical pharmacists to achieve excellence in practice, research, and education. The College serves as the professional home for more than 17,000 clinical pharmacy practitioners, scientists, educators, administrators, students, residents, and fellows from more than 60 countries who are committed to excellence in clinical pharmacy.

The PPI board of directors met and discussed Plan S at length. In the end, the board endorsed the opinions stated in a recent editorial by Dr. Charlotte J. Haug in the New England Journal of Medicine, <https://www.nejm.org/doi/full/10.1056/NEJMms1900864>.
