

Cambodia Confirms First Coronavirus Case

By Sokummono Khan

January 27, 2020 11:55 AM

PHNOM PENH - The Cambodian Ministry of Health confirmed Monday evening the first case of the novel coronavirus in the country's coastal province of Preah Sihanouk.

One male member of a Chinese family, which had flown into Sihanoukville from Wuhan, China, was confirmed infected with the virus, said Health Minister Mam Bunheng. Three other members of his family are currently under observation at the Preah Sihanouk Referral Hospital.

The family arrived in Cambodia on January 23 and the 60-year-old Chinese national Jia Jinhua started to show flu-like symptoms on January 25, while staying at a hotel in Sihanoukville, said the health minister.

"After Jia Jinhua was swimming at the pool [at the hotel] he had a fever," said Mam Bunheng.

Mam Bunheng added that the family had stayed at two different hotels for three nights in the coastal town. On the 26th, local health officials tested the man for the coronavirus, which was confirmed at 3 p.m. Monday afternoon.

Science & Health

Countries Evacuating Nationals From China Virus Areas

Wuhan, a city of 11 million people in the Chinese province of Hubei, is in virtual lockdown and much of Hubei, home to nearly 60 million people, is under some kind of travel curb

By Reuters

Mon, 01/27/2020 - 10:54

Coronavirus Outbreak

In Virus-Hit 'Ghost Town,' Stranded Thai Student Waits for Help

The Thai government has put a military plane on standby for a possible evacuation of its citizens, but Prime Minister Prayuth Chan-ocha says they do not yet have Beijing's permission for the airlift

By Reuters

Mon, 01/27/2020 - 10:53

Coronavirus Outbreak

China Virus Outbreak Rams Global Tourism, Costing Billions

With tens of millions of Chinese ordered to stay put and many others avoiding travel as a new virus spreads, tourism around the globe is taking a heavy hit during one of the biggest travel seasons in Asia, the Lunar New Year

By Associated Press

Mon, 01/27/2020 - 10:07

WHO: First Case of New Virus Behind China Outbreak Found in Thailand

The case marks the first outside of China, where 41 people with pneumonia-like symptoms have so far been diagnosed with the new virus in the central city of Wuhan, with one of the victims dying last Thursday

By Agence France-Presse
Mon, 01/13/2020 - 10:20

Written By

Sokummono Khan