THE ENDOWMENT FUND FOR THE SUPPORT OF THE JOURNAL OF DENTAL RESEARCH

THIRD REPORT

WILLIAM J. GIES

On page 5 of this volume it was stated that "the JOURNAL OF DENTAL RESEARCH will be financed, as a University is supported, with public-spirited special gifts for this purpose and from a cumulative, permanent, endowment fund to be created; also from subscriptions for its successive volumes—not from advertisements of goods for sale."

Our first and second reports, giving the names of thirty-six contributors to this fund, were published on pages 33 and 203 of this volume.

Subscriptions to this endowment fund have been received, since the publication of the second report, from the contributors named below:

Albodon Company, 7 West 45th Street, New York City.
W. Irving Ashland, 283 Dartmouth Street, Boston, Mass.
Louise C. Ball, 755 Park Avenue, New York City.

Total amount paid on all (52) subscriptions to date (9/25).....$1,026.00

In the first report on this fund (page 34) we specified the "total amount subscribed." In this and succeeding reports only the "total amount paid" will be recorded. This change in our policy of publishing reports has been necessitated by the very gratifying fact that, since many of the subscribers have indicated a purpose to contribute annually to the fund, it is impossible to present accurately the "total amount subscribed."

We are gratified to call special attention, below, to the names of dental business men who have already contributed to our endowment fund and who understand that the gifts presented by them will be used unconditionally for the advancement of dental research through the agency of this JOURNAL, and for the promotion of dentistry—and for no other purpose whatever.

Albodon Company, 7 West 45th Street, New York City.

Borine Manufacturing Company, 551 West 42nd Street, New York City.

Lambert Pharmacal Company, 2101 Locust St., St. Louis, Mo.

Lincoln Dental Manufacturing Company, 1600 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Philadelphia Dental Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa.

I continue to hope that, "after the appearance of the earlier numbers, when the character of this JOURNAL will be plainly evident, dental business men will generously coöperate with us in maintaining a journal that will be devoted whole-heartedly to dental research, and to the advancement of the profession of dentistry—a journal from which no one can ever expect to receive anything but information and inspiration that will be available to everybody."

Contributions to this permanent endowment fund, in any amounts, are invited from all who may be interested in the welfare and continuing success of this JOURNAL.

Checks or drafts, on New York, or postal money orders should be made payable to the JOURNAL OF DENTAL RESEARCH, Inc., and forwarded to the writer at the address given below.
