

The Childhood of Jesus Christ.

By Henry Van Dyke, D. D. New York, Frederick Stokes & Co. 1906. Pages 120.

This is one of the daintiest little books of the last season. Dr. Van Dyke takes twenty of the great pictures by famous artists and talks delightfully about them. Murillo, Holman Hunt, Velasquez, Raphael, Burne-Jones, Botticelli, and others have done some of their best work on the Childhood of Jesus. This is a choice book for mother and child to read together. The Sunday school teachers would find it very appropriate this year.

The Teaching of Jesus Concerning the Holy Spirit.

By Louis Burton Crane, A. M. American Tract Society, New York. 1905. Price 75 cents.

This is the sixth volume in the series of the volumes on The Teachings of Jesus issued by the Tract Society and edited by the Secretary, Dr. John H. Kerr. Prof. Crane has written on this very important theme with judgment, ability, and reverence. It is distinctly didactic, but is highly devotional also. The book in admirable fashion seizes the point of view of Jesus and gives expression to the mission of Christ for his people and the world through the teaching of the Holy Spirit. This is the best and most helpful brief discussion of the Holy Spirit that one can get. It ought to stimulate many a life to nobler service. Prof. Crane is a thorough scholar in his methods of work.

The Young People's Imitation of Christ. Based upon the work of Thomas A. Kempis.

By Edward S. Ellis. Philadelphia. The Rowland & Griffith Press.

This is a little book to lay on the table of a young boy or girl that he or she may often pick it up. Wherever it may be opened there is something to catch the eye, which is so tersely put that it sticks in the mind. Placing the
