

One of the best teacher-training courses yet provided is contained in this volume prepared by the co-operation of four of the leading Sunday School writers of the present generation.

Part I., The Book, eleven lessons on the Old Testament and nine on the New Testament, by A. F. Schauffler, D.D.

Part II., The Pupil, ten lessons by Mrs. Antoinette Abernithy Lamoreaux, B.L.

Part III., The Teacher, ten lessons by Martin G. Brumbaugh, Ph.D., LL.D.

Part IV., The School, ten lessons by Marion Lawrance.

This book is approved as a First Standard Course by the Committee on Education, International Sunday School Association.

BYRON H. DEMENT.

Hand-Work in the Sunday School. Milton S. Littlefield. Pp. 159.

A Manual of Missionary Methods for Sunday School Workers. George H. Trull. Pp. 245. The Sunday School Times Company, Philadelphia.

The work of the Sunday School is receiving the thoughtful consideration of the best educators of the present generation who are making rich contributions to the Sunday School curriculum and methods.

Mr. Littlefield shows that the law of expression by hand as well as by tongue is a sane educational principle to be observed by the Sunday School teacher. He has given us a unique volume and one worthy of special study. Many of his suggestions could be heeded with genuine interest and permanent benefit, especially to junior and intermediate pupils.

Types of Hand-work, Geography, Illustrative, Note-book, and Decorative work are treated, practical problems discussed, and the Social and Spiritual Aims of Hand-work presented.

The topical and geographical outlines of the Life of Christ and of the Apostle Paul are simple and illuminating. Mr. Trull has produced a book of rare interest on missions in the Sunday School. He shows the necessity and significance of teaching missions (the fundamental design of Christ) in Sunday Schools, and discusses "Planning the Work" and "Working the Plan."

Questions at the close of each of the sixteen chapters, copious illustrations, suggested programs, successful examples and an extensive missionary bibliography make the volume exceedingly helpful to all teachers and officers who wish to achieve a more effective teaching of missions in our Sunday Schools.

BYRON H. DEMENT.

The Young Christian and the Early Church. John Wesley Conley.
American Baptist Publication Society. Pp. 170.

All who desire a convenient, well-written and admirably arranged volume on the growth of the early church will find this book quite suggestive and helpful. Dr. Conley understands the laws of emphasis and perspective. The average Bible reader and student will find in these lessons much valuable material arranged in a simple, progressive manner. Part I. considers the growth of the early church with Jerusalem as the Center, while Part II. views the progress of Christianity with Antioch as Center. There are ten lessons in each part, and to each lesson are appended a suitable "Quiz" and "Suggested Topics."

BYRON H. DEMENT.

Child Study for Sunday School Teachers. By E. M. Stephenson (Chapters I. to VIII.), and H. T. Musselman (Chapters IX. to XII.). Book Five of The National Teacher-Training Institute Text-Books. Pp. 144. Price 50 cents.

The authors are well-suited to their tasks and present in a simple and stimulating manner twelve of the most important topics connected with child study. As is usual in this series of text-books, Reference Literature, Topics for Class Discussion, and for Class Papers are given with each lesson.

The last chapter on The Evangelizing of Childhood is unusually fresh and suggestive and is worth more than the cost of the book.

BYRON H. DEMENT.