THE DISTRIBUTION OF FLINT AND BRONZE IMPLEMENTS IN NORFOLK.

BY W. G. CLARKE, F.G.S.

(Read at Norwich, March 31st, 1919.)

In 1907 I contributed to the "Transactions of the Norfolk and Norwich Naturalists' Society" a list of the localities in which implements of flint and bronze had been found in Norfolk. The only previous list was in Vol. I. of the "Victoria County History of Norfolk" (1901), in which nine localities were given for Palæolithic implements, 54 for Neolithic, and 38 for bronze. In my own list the classification and number of parishes for which records were published were:—Eolithic (Sub-Crag) 1, Palæolithic 30, "Cissbury type" 4, Early Neolithic 101, Intermediate Neolithic 100, Late Neolithic or polished 109, and Bronze 70. In that list one polished implement recorded for Rushall should have been from Runhall, and the bronze implement from Hanworth should have been from Hunworth. I also consider the records of palæoliths for Brockdish, Fritton, and Markshall doubtful.

In the subsequent list of additional localities I have retained this classification, except that I have combined the Early and Intermediate Neolithic (Boulder Clay and sandy site types), which probably do not differ in age, though there are differences of chipping and types due to the different quality of the flint. Twenty parishes were duplicated in these two lists, and these have been deducted from the following totals. With the additions now made, the number of Norfolk parishes for which implements of the various types have been recorded, is as follows:—Sub-Crag 28, Palæolithic Drift 38, "Cissbury type" 28, Neolithic chipped 292, pygmies 8, polished, or of igneous or other rocks 150, bronze 86.

In the following list the names of persons after the parishes are those responsible for the first records. To avoid repetitions the following are represented by numbers:—1, H. H. Halls; 2, H. W. Cockrill; 3, J. E. Sainty; 4, W. G. Clarke.
