

Dr. Peloubet accepts the unity of the Book of Job, and places the book at an early date, probably at some period in the age of the Judges. "There is no great poem extant of which it can be shown that it was composed by several authors at different periods." One of the best features of our author's discussion is the skill with which he relates each division of the Book of Job to the great problem of human suffering. Be wise, ye pastors and teachers, and get this book.

JOHN R. SAMPEY.

Hand-Book of Prophecy.

By James Stacy, D.D. Pages, 149, octavo, 60 cents net. Presbyterian Committee of Publication, Richmond, Va. 1906.

The author of this treatise makes a special study of the predictions in Daniel and the Revelation. He arrives at the conclusion that the Millennium cannot be very far off. He ventures to name 2,000 A. D. as the date. In the second part of the book he attacks vigorously the premillennial theory of our Lord's Second Coming. The book is supplied with charts and chronological tables.

JOHN R. SAMPEY.

Methodism and Biblical Criticism.

By Prof. Milton S. Terry, D.D., LL.D. Reviewed by Evangelist L. W. Munhall, M.A., D.D. Winona Publishing Co, Chicago. Pages, 63.

A fierce attack on the divisive critics in Methodist universities and theological seminaries by an earnest, aggressive evangelist.

JOHN R. SAMPEY.

II. HOMILETICAL.

The Modern Pulpit. A Study of Homiletic Sources and Characteristics.

By Lewis O. Brastow, D.D., Professor of Practical Theology, Yale University. New York. The Macmillan Company. $1.50 net.

Readers of Dr. Brastow's former work, "Representative Modern Preachers," will be glad to welcome this new