Exploring we proceed from the basic conceptual provisions of the theory The initial provisions for the design grouped by us in the form of requirements for AVAILABILITY OF DIFFERENT WORKS, THEIR DIRECTIONS

A new line of research in the field presented by us Attract attention in the aspect of our research work There is (there is) a number of works relating (in which it is disclosed) Works most fully reflect the specifics In the future, this idea was developed in the works For a more complete description of the issue under consideration, the works were studied The questions are reflected in the works These studies have made a major contribution to but still relevant is the problem On the issue there are several points of view that can be reduced to two (three, etc.)

the main: Of particular importance in the light of new challenges is the development of effective ways In this regard, in pedagogy unfolded research on The scope of such research is very diverse and has received coverage in a number of scientific directions.

Research has so far identified two directions The above studies, despite the differences in approaches, are of interest before all in terms of the methods used.

In recent years, attempts have been made (outlining the main problems, aspects research limiting topics (possible results) It is impossible not to notice that despite the apparent multidimensionality and extensiveness of the research many properties and mechanisms are not well known (they are still being learned, they require additional consideration).
