

Survey matrix

DIAMAS follow-up survey

March 2024

Do you agree with the privacy policy?

- Yes
- No

Please insert the id you received by e-mail here:

Some information about your service

What is the name of your service?

What is your job title or function within your service?

Which of the following does the IPSP publish or provide a service for? (Tick all that apply)

- Academic journals
- Academic books
- Other outputs (conference output, grey literature, datasets...)

Business model

Do you currently publish (or provide services) using the diamond model, where 'diamond' is defined as not charging authors or readers to either publish or read?

- Yes, all our outputs are diamond
- Some of our outputs are diamond
- No, none of our outputs are diamond

What proportion of the journals you provide service for are under a diamond model?

- A minor part of our journals are diamond
- About half our journals are diamond
- Most of our journals are diamond
- All of our journals are diamond

What proportion of the books you provide service for are under a diamond model?

- A minor part of our books are diamond
- About half our books are diamond
- Most of our books are diamond
- All of our books are diamond

What proportion of outputs, other than academic journals and books, that you provide service for are under a diamond model?

- A minor part of our other outputs are diamond

- About half our journals are diamond
- Most of our other outputs are diamond
- All of our other outputs are diamond

For non-diamond publications, what main funding model does the IPSP use? (Tick all that apply)

- we use a subscription model
- we use the author pays model
- we use other funding models (e.g. freemium, pay-per-view...)
- some outputs are only available in print

For your outputs, what main funding model(s) does the IPSP use? (Tick all that apply)

- we use a subscription model
- we use the author pays model
- we use other funding models (e.g. freemium, pay-per-view...)

Current funding situation

In the last 3 years (2019-2022), have your resources...

increased	decreased	stayed approximately the same	our organisation didn't exist in 2019	I don't know

In the last 3 years (2019-2022), has the volume of your publishing activities and services...

increased	decreased	stayed approximately the same	our organisation didn't exist in 2019	I don't know

Do you have a financial buffer and / or the capability to continue activities if income streams are disrupted?

- Yes, for more than 2 years
- Yes, for 1-2 years
- Yes, for 6-12 months
- Yes, for less than 6 months
- We can continue our operations (even if it reduces our activities in terms of outputs volume or functionalities) without funding
- No, we don't
- No, we don't have the right to have a buffer
- Don't know

Which of the following statements for your current status applies to you? (Tick all that apply)

- our resources are adjusted to our current and future activities
- we don't know whether we can offer the same service in the next few years due to a lack of resources
- we would like to grow or expand our services, but currently can't due to a lack of resources
- we would like to improve our services, but currently can't due to a lack of resources
- we have some resources for experiments, innovations and developments
- we are regularly at the risk of having to close down

Raising money

Reasons for looking for or applying for grants, subsidies or sponsorship include: (Tick all that apply)

- we need them to cover operational costs
- we need funds to cover deficits
- this is standard practice
- we use them to innovate and add more services / functionalities
- we do so when opportunities present themselves
- we never look for grants, subsidies or sponsorship

Reasons for not looking for or applying for grants, subsidies or sponsorship include: (Tick all that apply)

- we do not have the capacity to do so
- we do not need them
- this is standard practice
- we always look for grants, subsidies or sponsorship

Have some funders requested or required you to make any of the following changes:

	We did it to get the funding	We have done it or would have done it anyway	Funders have not requested a change
Immediate full OA was compulsory
Funder imposed a given licence for content
Publishing rights had to stay with the authors
A given publishing format was required (e.g. Epub, XML...)

Adopting an “author pays” model was necessary
---	--	--	--

If you were able to secure more permanent funding, which activities would you fund:
(rank your 3 preferred options)

-/ copyediting, language editing
-/ development of publishing functionalities or services
-/ graphics, design, layout, format production
-/ personnel costs
-/ supporting other costs of the parent organisation
-/ innovating the editorial process
-/ search and visibility optimisation
-/ translation services
-/ online hosting, archiving and preservation

If you received one-time funding which was not restricted to any particular funder’s strategy, which activities would you fund: (rank your 3 preferred options)

-/ copyediting, language editing
-/ development of publishing functionalities or services
-/ graphics, design, layout, format production
-/ personnel costs
-/ supporting other costs of the parent organisation
-/ innovating the editorial process
-/ search and visibility optimisation
-/ translation services
-/ online hosting, archiving and preservation

Funding model preferences

Who should cover the cost for your service's OA publications or publication services concerning academic journals in your opinion?

(Rank up to 3 preferred options. When you select the first option, the second and third options will be assigned automatically. Change them manually or move them according to priority.)

-/ authors covering the costs of publishing from their research grants
-/ authors covering the costs of publishing from their own personal resources
-/ libraries interested in your outputs (through donations, membership models, Subscribe to Open or freemium services,etc)
-/ authors’ institutions (or their libraries) from dedicated OA funds for their employees
-/ local / or national public bodies through subsidies or grants, including ministries
-/ global funding schemes available to any publisher or service provider

-/ research funding organisations or agencies
-/ our institutions/societies themselves, through monetary or in-kind support
-/ readers through print sales

Who should not bear the responsibility for financing your service's OA publications or publication services concerning academic journals in your opinion?

(Rank up to 3 preferred options. When you select the first option, the second and third options will be assigned automatically. Change them manually or move them according to priority.)

-/ authors covering the costs of publishing from their research grants
-/ authors covering the costs of publishing from their own personal resources
-/ libraries interested in your outputs (through donations, membership models, Subscribe to Open or freemium services, etc)
-/ authors' institutions (or their libraries) from dedicated OA funds for their employees
-/ local / or national public bodies through subsidies or grants, including ministries
-/ global funding schemes available to any publisher or service provider
-/ research funding organisations or agencies
-/ our institutions/societies themselves, through monetary or in-kind support
-/ readers through print sales

Who should cover the cost for your service's OA publications or publication services concerning academic books in your opinion?

(Rank up to 3 preferred options. When you select the first option, the second and third options will be assigned automatically. Change them manually or move them according to priority.)

-/ authors covering the costs of publishing from their research grants
-/ authors covering the costs of publishing from their own personal resources
-/ libraries interested in your outputs (through donations, membership models, Subscribe to Open or freemium services, etc)
-/ authors' institutions (or their libraries) from dedicated OA funds for their employees
-/ local / or national public bodies through subsidies or grants, including ministries
-/ global funding schemes available to any publisher or service provider
-/ research funding organisations or agencies
-/ our institutions/societies themselves, through monetary or in-kind support
-/ readers through print sales

Who should not bear the responsibility for financing your service's OA publications or publication services concerning academic books in your opinion?

(Rank up to 3 preferred options. When you select the first option, the second and third options will be assigned automatically. Change them manually or move them according to priority.)

-/ authors covering the costs of publishing from their research grants
-/ authors covering the costs of publishing from their own personal resources
-/ libraries interested in your outputs (through donations, membership models, Subscribe to Open or freemium services, etc)

-/ authors' institutions (or their libraries) from dedicated OA funds for their employees
-/ local / or national public bodies through subsidies or grants, including ministries
-/ global funding schemes available to any publisher or service provider
-/ research funding organisations or agencies
-/ our institutions/societies themselves, through monetary or in-kind support
-/ readers through print sales

Who should cover the cost for your service's OA publications or publication services concerning other outputs than academic journals and books in your opinion?

(Rank up to 3 preferred options. When you select the first option, the second and third options will be assigned automatically. Change them manually or move them according to priority.)

-/ authors covering the costs of publishing from their research grants
-/ authors covering the costs of publishing from their own personal resources
-/ libraries interested in your outputs (through donations, membership models, Subscribe to Open or freemium services, etc)
-/ authors' institutions (or their libraries) from dedicated OA funds for their employees
-/ local / or national public bodies through subsidies or grants, including ministries
-/ global funding schemes available to any publisher or service provider
-/ research funding organisations or agencies
-/ our institutions/societies themselves, through monetary or in-kind support
-/ readers through print sales

Who should not bear the responsibility for financing your service's OA publications or publication services concerning other outputs than academic journals and books in your opinion?

(Rank up to 3 preferred options. When you select the first option, the second and third options will be assigned automatically. Change them manually or move them according to priority.)

-/ authors covering the costs of publishing from their research grants
-/ authors covering the costs of publishing from their own personal resources
-/ libraries interested in your outputs (through donations, membership models, Subscribe to Open or freemium services, etc)
-/ authors' institutions (or their libraries) from dedicated OA funds for their employees
-/ local / or national public bodies through subsidies or grants, including ministries
-/ global funding schemes available to any publisher or service provider
-/ research funding organisations or agencies
-/ our institutions/societies themselves, through monetary or in-kind support
-/ readers through print sales

If you would like to add any further details to your survey response, please include these below.