

Can open science and science diplomacy help each other?

- How can science diplomacy support, strengthen, (initiate?) the open science movement?
- How can Open Science be exploited for decision-making support, knowledge resources and science diplomacy governance frameworks?
- Ongoing work: analysing a survey involving 50 organizations and initiatives dedicated to promoting open science in Latin America to shed some light on these questions! In collaboration with the DiploCientifica network

Open science as the scientific knowledge of all kinds should be openly shared as early as is practical in the research process

Open Science
Diplomacy??

Help
Support

Science diplomacy as interaction between diplomacy and science to address national needs, cross-border interests, or global challenges

