| Other Prakrit, Apabhraṃśa, and Deśī words | 627 |

a-, an-, negative prefix: (1) prefixed to finite verbs, as rarely in Skt. (Renou p. 175) but rather often in Pali (CPD s.v., 7); here not common: apaśyanti SP 324.2; anatikramāmo Mv II.80.8; anicchiyaṭi (?) Mv III.295.18; see § 23.17; (2) in sense described for Pali in CPD s.v. 2, a cpd. in a- following the same word without a-, and preceding a form of kṛ: samitīm asamitīm kṛtvā Divy 41.10, lit. making the assembly no assembly, i. e. quitting the assembly; tasya vacanam avacanam kṛtvā Divy 41.28, disregarding his advice. See an-a-.

1 aṃśa, m., (1) (= Pali aṃsa, only in comp.) (part, and so) time (as past, present, future): Mv I.160.8, 9 (prose) atīte aṃśe... anāgate aṃśe... pratyutpanne aṃśe (in sense of usual adhvani, see adhvan, which is used in Sūtrā. xx-xxi.57 and Mvy 151-153 in parallel to this passage, on the 18 āveṇika buddha-dharma); atīte aṃśe Mv I.161.6; atītāṃśagatā (= Pali atītāṃsa-) Mvy 6438; (2) portion, in maitra aṃśa portion of affection, virtually = love (so Pali cpd. mettāṃsa, It. 22.4, not adj. with PTSD but noun love, 'so sabbabhūtesu veram tassa na kenaci, he has love for all creatures, has no enmity with anyone); maitreyaṃśena sphuritvā, having suffused with love Divy 60.24 (so with mss.); 61.12 (here mss. and ed. maitreyaṃśena, a corruption due to repeated occurrence of name Maitreya in the context); 66.18 (here kept in ed. with mss.); see sphurati; a variant form, in comp. with maitra or maitrā, seems to occur in maitrāsa-ja, q.v.—See aṣṭāṃsa.

-aṃśika (cf. 1 aṃśa, 2), ifc., belonging to the part of; pertaining to; sometimes with vṛddhi of first syllable of prior member of cpd.: maraṇāṃśika Mvy 5345, upapattyāṃśika 5346, belonging to (the part of) death, birth; Tib. char gtogs pa, included in the division of (Das); aupapattyāṃśika = upa° Śikṣ 226.7 ff. (Śāl 87.10 ff.); 253.3, 5. Equivalent to -aṃśika are -antika in maraṇāntika Śikṣ 226.7 ff. (same passage Śāl) and -aṅgika in aupapattyāṅgika Laṅk 277.6 (said of citta). It is natural to suspect that corruption of tradition is responsible for one or two of these. But (1) all can be plausibly explained as of independent origin; (2) -aṃśika is well authenticated, while -antika is supported by Pali (maraṇantika Miln. 48.11).

aṃśu (= Skt. aṃśuka), cloth, or garment (less probably thread, a meaning recorded for Skt. aṃśu and for Pali aṃsu): -kāśikāṃśu-ksomakādyāḥ Divy 316.27.

aṃśa-dhātṛī, also written aṃśa-, and in mss. atsa-, lit. 'shoulder nurse', one who carries a baby; usual substitute for aṅka-dh°, q.v.: Divy 3.13; 26.9; 58.11; 99.25; 271.18; 441.22; MSV I.132.20; III.134.7; Av I.15.11 and often. App. secondary to aṅka-, yet supported by MSV III.134.12 dhātṛy-aṃsa-gato niṣaṇṇo.

aṇaṇa, adj. (= Pali id., see kaṇa, niṣkaṇa), free from the red coating under the husk (of rice): (śāl) Mv I.342.1, 7; III.72.19.

Akaṇṭaka, nt., n. of a Buddhakṣetra: Mv I.123.12.

akati-gāthā (cf. Pkt. akal, unnumbered, infinite), having numberless (a-kati) verses, or an infinite (ly numerous) verse; of the sāvitṛī stanza, Divy 638.2. In an examination on Vedic lore: paṭhatu bhavān sāvitṛīm. (Answer:)

akatigāthā. — katyakṣarā sāvitṛī, katigaṇḍā, katipadā. (Answer:) caturvimśatyakṣarā, trigandā, aṣṭākṣarapadā.

akaniṣṭha (= Pali akaniṭṭha; see also aghaṇiṣṭha), (1) n. of the fifth and highest class of the Suddhāvāsakāyika gods (see deva), and (2) sg., n. of the region where they live (Bbh 61.4 yāvad akaniṣṭhād; but more normally yāvad akaniṣṭhabhavanam, Divy 162.16, or the like). They dwell brahmaloke SP 359.1. Often mentioned alone as the highest of the 'form' (rūpāvacara) gods, as also in the lists of classes of gods: Mvy 3106; Dharmas 128; LV 47.1; 150.11; 227.2; 266.8; 342.18; Mv I.266.3, 7; II.314.3, 9; 319.7; 349.2; III.139.3; Divy 68.17; 367.14; Av I.5.4; II.105.11; RP 6.16; Mmk 19.10; 69.7; Bbh 69.19; 360.26; Sukh 64.11. Sometimes in sg. of a single member of the class, LV 44.13.

akampīya, adj. (= Pali id., Skt. 'pya), unshakable: Gv 25.21 (vs).

Akampya, m., so read with v.l. in Mironov for Akampya, n. of a Bodhisattva-samādhi: Mvy 739; Tib. ml (b)sgul pa = a-kampya.

Akampyanetra, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 443.8.

akalpika, adj. (Pali akappiya), improper; cf. kalpika, and next: MSV I.234.5; -dāna, gift of something that is improper, Śikṣ 271.7; Bbh 123.8; -pradāna Karmav 44.17.

a-kalpya, adj. (= prec., and Pali akappiya; not in Skt., nor is kalpya, q.v., there recorded in a corresponding sense), improper: Laṅk 249.13, of māṃsarudhirāhāra.

akalmāṣa, adj. (= Pali akammāsa), pure (lit. not variegated; in this sense once in ŚB., otherwise in Skt. only as n. pr.): Mv I.211.11 = II.15.10, along with parīśudha, of brahmacarya; I.239.5-6, of ceto-pranidhāna; III.343.2, of Buddha's voice.

akākolīna, ?(said of water): 'ne jātikusumānāṃ pāṇīye juhuyāt Mmk 313.26; 'ne pāṇīyakumbhaṃ nive-dayet 320.1, he shall offer a jar of water in (water that is?) ak°; possibly free from (the plant) kākolī (?).

akāca, adj. (= Pali id.; etym. uncertain; PTSD not glass, originally of jewels; it is once applied to jewels, along with vimala and suddha, in DN II.244.10 = Jāt. II.418.20; another theory in Senart I note 508), free from blemish or impurity: achidram akācam avraṇaṃ anāśravaṃ te caraṇaṃ Mv I.164.7.

akāmaka, adj. (= Pali id.; Skt. akāma), unwilling; in spite of (adverse) desire: 'kānāṃ mātāpitṛṇāṃ Mv II.68.20 and 117.18; 'kā(h) III.92.6; 'kena Śikṣ 19.21.

a-kāmakāmin, adj. (= Pali id.; Skt. kāmā°, BhG. 2.70), not lusting after lusts: sthitalapā (see this) 'naś ca bhavanti Mv I.134.10 (wrongly Senart); 'mi-tva, state of being ak°, Mv I.153.11.

akāmam, adv., whether he likes or not, (even) unwillingly, willy-nilly: Prāt 496.14.

akāyikā (or 'ka, n. pl. 'kā), a kind of toy (Index wrongly a game): kṛdāṇanikāni bhavanti, tad yathā, akāyikā ... Divy 475.18 (cf. sakāyikā).

a-kāla (m.?, neg. of 2 kāla 1, day, q.v.; cf. Skt. vikāla), night: akālāt kālībhūtam Divy 336.14, from night it became day; akālībhūtam, it became night, Divy 335.17; 337.11 (kālād akā).

akālaka, (1) nt. (from akāla), food (delicacies) suitable for eating at other than meal times (= akālakhādyaka, q.v.): sālinām odanavidhīm akālakam (so Senart em., mss. odanam viditakālakam, or “kārakam” anekavyañjana-mupetam Mv 1.306.13 (vs; otherwise Senart); tair “kāni sajjikṛtāni Divy 130.22; (2) adj. (cf. Pall akāla-civara), of monks' robes, provided at extraordinary times: (akā)la-kāis civaraḥ MPS 40.54.

akāla-kaumudī, an irregular festival, i. e. one not held at any fixed time: punyaṇi kriyatām “mudī ca kriyatām Divy 514.17 ff.

akālakhādyaka, nt. (cf. khādyaka = akālaka (1), q.v.): “kāni śighraṃ sajjikuruteṭi Divy 130.21 (consisting of ghṛta-guḍa-śarkarā-pānakāni, 130.20).

Akāladarsana, n. of a mountain: Kv 91.17.

akālika, adj. (= Pall id.; ep. of dhamma; also BHS ak°, q.v.), immediate, not dependent on lapse of time (said of dharma-vinaya): Mv 111.200.10, see s.v. ehipaṣyika.

akilāntaka, adj. (for a-klāntaka), unworn: “kā LV 359.20 (vs), voc. sg., m.c.; to Buddha.

a-kiṣā-tā (to next), non-indolence, non-weariness: “tayā, without weariness, AsP 104.21.

a-kiṣāsin, adj. (Pall akīṣasu; see kiṣāsin), unworn, not indolent: (of a kalyāṇamitra) pratisamkhyānabahuḷaḥ “sī ... dharmadeśanāyaḥ Bbh 238.11; samharsakaś cā “sī (m.c. for “sī) nityam SP 204.10 (vs).

a-kisara-lābhin, adj., and “bhi-tā, abstr.; also in Skt. form as a-kṛcchra°, (state of) obtaining without difficulty: akṛcchra-lābhi (n. sg.) Mvy 2432 = dkaḥ pa med par thob pa, and akisara-l° 2433 = tshegs med par°, or, ñan ñon ma yin par°; akṛcchrākisara-lābhi-tā Bbh 388.13 = (acc. to note) Tib. ñan ñon ma yin par thob pa dañ tshegs med par thob pa. The three Tib. translations are synonymous; it is striking that both the MIndic and the Sktized forms are recorded together in both Mvy and Bbh. Pall has both akāsira-lābhi(n) and akiccha°; otherwise the cpd. is not recorded. Even akṛcchra is not recorded in Skt. except for akṛcchra-laṅghya in pw 5.240 (from Rājat.; perhaps due to Buddhist influence?). See kisara; it appears that in Pall, too, kasira and kiecha, both historically from kṛcchra, came to be understood as different words. This suggests that BHS a-kṛcchra-lābhin may be a Sktization of an older MIndic a-kiṣā° (= Pall and Pkt. id.), specifically, and not of BHS kisara, which maintained an independent existence for a time, tho ultimately it was crowded out by the Sktized kṛcchra.

Akutobhaya, n. of a former Buddha: Mv 111.237.10.

-akumbha, best of its kind (lit. no pot, no commonplace thing), i.e.: avataṃsakṛtākumbham kretum icchatī kaḥ kumbham Jm 101.14 (vs; with word-play), who wants to buy this jar which is a no-jar made into a crown?; 186.16, see s.v. sātman.

Akulika, n. of a nāga king: Mmk 18.10. Follows (in a list of nāga kings) immediately after Kulika (Skt.), and evidently fashioned on that.

? akulejyeṣṭhāpacāyaka, m.: Divy 293.26 “kalh, not honoring the elders of the family; neg. of kulajyeṣṭhā°, see s.v. apacāyaka; prob. read akula°, tho a loc. in a tatpuruṣa cpd. kulejyeṣṭha would not be impossible (eldest in the family).

akuśala, nt. (= Pall “sala), sin, evil; ten (3 of body, 4 of speech, 3 of thought): Mvy 1681-4 (not named); Dharmas 56 (named; opposites of the 10 kuśala, q.v.).

akuśalamūla, nt. (= Pall akus°), root of demerit, opp. of kuśalamūla: three (lobha, moha, dveṣa, as in Pall which has dosa for dveṣa): Dharmas 139.

a-kuśida-vartin, adj. (cf. kuśida), not living sloth- fully: Mv 1.357.13 “vartī, n. sg. m., in same vs as Pall Sn 68 akusitavuttī.

akṛtaka, adj. (see kṛtaka; cf. Pall akata as ep. of nibbāna, and akṛtajña 1), not created, unfashioned, intangible, immaterial, in Laṅk standardly as epithet of ākāśa, nirvāṇa, nirodha. Often mistranslated as if active by Suzuki, no doer, not working, or the like: Laṅk 60.6; 72.5; 77.1, etc. Also more generally: sarvam ... kṛtakam, or sarvam ... akṛtakam Laṅk 176.11 and 13, all is created or all is uncreated, as doctrines of two materialistic schools; the question is raised Laṅk 187.9 whether the Tathāgata is uncreated (akṛtakah) or created (kṛtakah).

akṛtajña (in mg. 1 = Pall akataññu), (1) adj., knowing the uncreated (i. e. nirvāṇa; cf. akṛtaka): Ud xxix.33 = Pall Dh. 97; (2) (Skt., also Pall akataññu, adj., ungrateful) n. of a prince, brother of Kṛtajña: RP 25.5.

akṛpaṇam, adv., not poorly, very well: SP 79.12 (Skt. kṛpaṇam and Pall kapaṇam are used as adverbs, miserably).

akopya, adj. (= Pall akuppa, used with cetovimutti; cf. avikopita), immovable, steadfast, fixed, sure; not to be violated (of a command): cetovimukti or cetomukti LV 418.17; Mv 11.139.6; 111.333.13, 16; dharma LV 426.20 (akopyadharmā-deśaka); Mv 111.200.15; Divy 617.13 (akopya-dharmā, said of a bhikṣuṇī); (dharma)-cakra LV 422.17; ājñā (śāstur) Divy 185.8.

akrudhyana-tā (a plus krudhyana = Pall kujjhana, “nā; to Skt. krudhyati with -ana, -anā, plus -tā), state of not being angry: “tayā Śikṣ 35.9.

akṣaṇa, m. or nt. (= Pall akkhaṇa), inopportune birth, birth under such circumstances that one cannot learn from a Buddha. There are eight such in Pall, DN 111.287.12 ff.; AN 11.225.19 ff. (9 in DN 111.263.31 ff.), viz.: (at a time when a Buddha is living) one is born (1) in a hell, (2) as an animal, (3) as a preta, (4) as one of the ‘long-lived gods’, (5) in border countries or barbarian regions, (6) with perverted, heretical mentality, (7) dull, stupid, incapable of distinguishing the gospel from what is inconsistent with it; or (8) he is born capable of profiting from the gospel but at a time when no Buddha exists to teach it. (DN 111.263 ff. adds as 9th, after No. 3, birth as an asura.) These same 8, transposing 6 and 7, are briefly listed Mvy 2299-2306: (1) narakaḥ, (2) tiryāṇcaḥ, (3) pretāḥ, (4) dirghāyuso devāḥ, (5) pratyantajanapadām, (6) indriyavāikalyam, (7) mithyādarśanam, (8) tathāgatānām anutpādaḥ. In Dharmas 134 No. 5 is put before 4, otherwise 1-7 as in Mvy, but 8 (obviously by a secondary change) is wholly different: (1) narakapapattis, (2) tiryagupapattis, (3) yamalokopapattis, (4) pratyantajanapadopapattis, (5) dirghāyusadevopapattis, (6) indriyavāikalatā, (7) mithyā-dṛṣṭis, (8) cittotpādavirāgitatā (seems to be a different version of 6, which corresponds to Pall 7, while 8 of the others is omitted). As opposed to these there is only one kṣaṇa, opportune birth; see s.v. Eight akṣaṇa Mv 11.363.3; LV 412.14; Śikṣ 2.4; 114.14; Gv 116.16; Suv 41.13. The word never means misfortune in general, but only unfavorable birth, and in most cases clearly in just the sense described above. So Śikṣ 147.14 akṣaṇagatim na gacchaty anyatra sattvapariṇāṣāt, (a Bodhisattva) is not born in an inopportune birth, except to mature creatures (the transl. misunderstands); LV 278.22 akṣaṇāni pithitāny abhūvan, and 279.19 akṣaṇāḥ pithitāḥ, are explained by Gv 112.19 sarvākṣaṇadvārakapāṇāni pithayisyaṭi (or with text pithapayis°, see Chap. 43, s.v.) he will close the door-panels (opening into) all the inopportune births. The akṣaṇa are sodhita, purified, LV 53.6; 357.5, or made śūnya, empty, LV 358.13. Others: LV 12.3; 34.22; 275.21; 327.13; 364.7; Mv II.358.5; 371.12; 392.5 = Śikṣ 306.1; Av I.291.12; RP 35.19; Śikṣ 69.5; Sukh 23.9; Gv 54.9 (preta-tīryaṇ-narakākṣaṇe-gatāḥ); cf. Lévi, Sūtrāl. 17.26. On SP 163.8 akṣaṇāḥ samvrtā cf. Senart's note Mv I.405 f.; it is (as Senart says) certainly secondary, the original being aghā(h) aghasamvrtā(h), miseries, surrounded by miseries (in apposition with lokāntarika, q.v., sc. narakāḥ or nīrayāḥ); akṣaṇāḥ in SP was, in my opinion as in Senart's (If I understand him), a noun and a near-synonym of aghā(h), (constituting) unfavorable births, see agha (2). Perhaps akṣaṇasamvrtā(h) was originally read after it(?). In Dbh.g. 7(343).4 read probably akṣaṇāḥ for text akṣalāḥ: sarve ti pāpapatitā 'kṣalāḥ (text) prabhonti.

akṣaṇa-vedha, the art of piercing the target (unerringly); first member hyper-Skt. for Pali akkhaṇa (-vedhin; see akṣaṇa-vedhin), which really derives from Skt. ākhaṇa, target, see BR 5 App. s.v., and Coomaraswamy, Ars Islamica X (1943). 109, n. 9. Cf. śabda-vedha, vāla-vedhin. The mss. in Divy read akṣaṇa-, or akṣūṇa-; ed. always akṣūṇa-: (read) akṣaṇavedhe Divy 58.27; 100.12; 442.8, in lists of martial arts; °vedhaḥ Mvy 4994 (text akṣūṇa°, v.l. akṣaṇa°; Mironov 217.22 akṣūṇa° by em.).

akṣaṇavedhi-tva, nt., state or art of being an akṣaṇa-vedhin: °tve LV 156.13, where text akṣūṇa°, most mss. akṣaṇa°; none apparently have the correct akṣaṇa°.

akṣaṇa-vedhin (= Pali akkhaṇa°), having the art of hitting the bull's-eye, akṣaṇa-vedha, q.v. Implied in LV 181.7, where text kālākṣūṇpadharmavedhi; best ms. °kṣaṇa°; read vālākṣaṇa°, an archer-in-religion who can split a hair as target, cf. vāla-vedhin.

Akṣatabuddhi, n. of a former Buddha: Mv I.138.4.

akṣamātra, reaching up to the axle (of a chariot); with dhārā, as deep as a chariot's axle (from the ground): Mv II.349.17 °mātrāhi dhārāhi buddhakṣetram phali, (the gods) filled this Buddha-field with streams (of flowers rained down) to the depth of a chariot's axle; Mvy 7151 °mātrābhīr dhārābhīr (same phrase, Sktized); °mātrābhīr vāridhārābhīr MSV I.40.4.

akṣaya (1) a high number, m. in Mvy 7793, nt. in Gv 134.2 and Mvy 7922 (cited from Gv); gender ambiguous (°asya, gen.) Gv 106.5, 18, in both of which read sattvākṣaya- for sattva-kṣaya-; (2) m., n. of a samādhi: Mvy 547; ŚsP 1418.15.

Akṣayakarandā (in Mvy var. °ḍaka), m., n. of a samādhi: Mvy 603; ŚsP 1424.12.

Akṣayakarandā, n. of a Bodhisattva-dhāraṇī: Mvy 750.

akṣayanikā (printed so, with n; cf. Skt. -kṣayaṇa), in °ka-dāna Bbū 233.26, gift of something inexhaustible (acc. to Chn., wealth: Tib. zad mi šes pa [= akṣaya, 'Das'] can).

Akṣayabuddhavarṇasānirdeśā, n. of a lokadhātu: Gv 15.18.

Akṣayabuddhavarṇasavyūha, n. of a samādhi: Gv 206.7.

Akṣayamati, n. of a Bodhisattva: SP 3.8; 438.2 ff.; Mvy 702; RP 2.1; Mmk 311.14; 312.5; 461.6.

Akṣayamati-nirdeśa, n. of a work: Mvy 1344; (°śa-mahāyānasūtra) Śikṣ 278.4; cf. °mati-sūtra.

Akṣayamati-pariprcchā, n. of a work, apparently not the same as prec.: Mvy 1400.

Akṣayamati-sūtra, n. of a work, = °mati-nirdeśa: Śikṣ 11.8 and often (on 190.4 Transl. Kṣayamati°).

akṣayamukta, n. of a high number: Gv 106.5 (°tasya, gen.).

Akṣarāpagata, m., n. of a samādhi: Mvy 572; ŚsP 1421.3.

a-kṣudra, not mean, not petty, i. e. excellent, superior. In akṣudrāvakaśa, q.v.; also akṣudrāvacaṇa (see ibidem); and akṣudrānulepana, having fine ointments, Mv II.102.2; 104.13; for LV 23.12 see next.

akṣudrāvakaśa (= Pali akkhuddāvakaśa), of fine (not inferior) appearance. Almost always follows prāsādika and darśanīya; all virtual synonyms, applied to women and less often to men and children: Mv I.196.20; 352.15; II.422.1, 7 (boy); 432.14; III.35.18 (man); 153.16 (here prāsādika is lacking); 218.11; 377.12; 404.17 (an infant boy). In Mv I.197.16 (not accompanied by the other adj.) said of the family (kulam) in which a Bodhisattva is born; but perhaps this is an erroneous reading, or if correct means rather possessing no small scope, range, sphere of activity or opportunity (with the meaning of avakāśa normal in Skt., Pali, and BHS). This latter, at least, is clearly meant by Mv II.1.7, a parallel passage, which reads akṣudrāvacaṇam instead of this. A third parallel, LV 23.12, reads akṣudrānupaghātī, which surely means not petty and not injurious (so Tib., phran tshegs med cñi gnod par byed pa med pa yin), not ne frappe pas ceux qui ne sont pas méchants (Foucaux).

a-kṣūṇa, adj. (neg. of kṣūṇa, q.v.), not faulty: (kāyasaṃdarśanam) akṣūṇam avandhyam ca sattvapari-pākaṇīyāya Dbh 69.10; for Mvy 6463, text akṣūṇa-vyākaraṇa, read with v.l. of Index and Mironov (by em., 245.61) akṣūṇa- (confirmed by kṣūṇa-vyākaraṇa, see kṣūṇa). On the other hand, the em. akṣūṇa-vedhaḥ in Mironov 217.22, for Mvy 4994 akṣūṇa°, v.l. akṣaṇa°, is not correct; read akṣaṇa-vedha, q.v.

akṣobhinī (= Pali akkhohinī), a high number: LV 151.4 (vs). Cf. akṣobhya 3, the usual term in BHS, but not recorded in Pali.

Akṣobhya, (1) m., n. of a Buddha; the 2d of the 5 ('transcendent') Buddhas: Dharmas 3; Mvy 83; Sādh 16.9; (2) m., n. of a Buddha dwelling in an eastern region: SP 184.7; Suv 7.11; 120.5; Sukh 97.1; his lokadhātu is Abhirati, SP loc. cit., and (direction unspecified) Gv 82.9; ASp 366.14; see also Akṣobhyarāja; direction unspecified, in some cases at least doubtless the same personage, Mv I.139.5; Suv 152.15; RP 58.1; Śikṣ 14.13 ff.; see P. Mus, Barabudur, p. 578 ff.; (3) nt. (or m.), a high number (cf. akṣobhinī): in LV 147.22 = Mvy 7959, a hundred vivaras or vimvaras; other, or unspecified, values SP 409.6; Mvy 8008 (here masc.); Sukh 31.1; Mmk 262.13.

Akṣobhyarāja, n. of a Buddha, probably = Akṣobhya (2); Suv 2.4 (in the east, like Akṣobhya); LV 172.11.

akṣobhyendriya, a kind of perfume: Gv 153.17 (-gandharāja).

akhaṇḍa-cārin (cf. Pali akhaṇḍa-kārī), of perfect (unbroken) conduct: LV 223.13, of the Bodhisattva.

a-khinna-vacana (cf. Pali a-khīṇa-vacana, see CPD; somewhat problematic; the two words are probably connected, one being a distortion of the other; cf. §§ 3.2, 4a), unwearied in speech: Mv I.134.8 °nāḥ, of Bodhisattvas.

1 akhila (opp. of, and perh. back-formation from, 1 sakhila, q.v.), ungentle, = parūṣa, of speech: Mv I.202.7 = II.6.4, read both times: akhilavacanā ca narapati vīramāmi tathaiṣa paśūnyāt; same line I.145.10 has parūṣa° for akhila°, and in the next line anṛtavacanā ca, which should be read in I.202.8 and II.6.5 instead of parūṣa° (which duplicates akhila°, and leaves 'lying' unmentioned).

2 a-khila (= Pali id.), free from harshness, hardness

agananiya, nt., a high number: Gv 134.10; = aganeya, q.v.

agananiya-parivarta, nt., square of the preceding: Gv 134.11; = aganeya-pari°, q.v.

aganiya (= Skt. aganya), incalculable: SP 192.7 (vs). aganeya (in Skt. as adj., BR s.v. gaṇeya), nt., a high number: Gv 106.23; Mvy 7810 and (cited from Gv) 7942; = agananiya, which is read in Gv 134.10, the passage from which Mvy usually cites.

aganya (cf. aganiya), a high number: Sukh 31.2. a-gatika, not subject to passing away; see gatika. [agalita, fluent, of voice; see galita.]

agava, nt., var. for arava, q.v. Also: Gv 133.25, in lieu of magava, q.v.; in position corresponds to kamara, q.v. agasti-haritaki, a kind of plant or tree: Mvy 5781; Tib. a-gas (partial transliteration). In Mironov agasti and haritaki are presented as separate items, perhaps correctly; agasti is recorded as n. of a plant or tree in Skt. But the Kyōtō ed. interprets Agasti- in the cpd. as the ṛṣi-name.

agāra, nt., a high number: Mvy 7705 = Tib. yid yal, which also renders agāra, q.v.

agāraṣṭha, adj. (= AMg. agārattha; not in Pall), dwelling in houses (before retiring from the world): Mv i.104.8 (prose).

a-guru (= Pall agaru), not offensive, not troublesome: yadi te aguru Av 1.94.3 (Pali saṭe te agaru); saced . . . asty aguru i.229.6 and 230.1, 9; saced . . . (gen. of person) aguru, ii.90.12, if you don't mind.

agocara (= Pali id.), improper behavior; underlies agocari-karoti acts improperly, does wrong, and -bhavati, wrong behavior takes place: nāgarājau yadi Sūrpārakam nagaram āgamiṣyato 'gocarikariṣyataḥ Divy 50.23; samanvāharata 'nagendrau Sūrpārakam nagaram mā 'gocaribhaviṣyati 51.1-2, take heed for the city of S. that no wrong behavior (i. e. injury to the inhabitants, 51.3-5) takes place.

Agni, n. of a yakṣa leader: Māy 236.17.

agni-karṣu, or °śū (cf. Pali aṅgāra-kāsu, °sū), fire-pit: sarpaśiro-'gnikarṣu-sadrśāḥ (kāmah) LV 329.9 (vs); Tib. me mur, according to Jäschke and Das = me mdag, burning embers; ye kāma varjenti yathāgnikarṣūm Śiṣ 193.7 (vs, cited from Samādhi).

agni-khadā (see s.v. -khadā), fire-pit: Mvy 6622 = Tib. me mur gyl hobs, oven, fire-pit, or don, pit; SP 448.5 °khadāya (loc.); LV 174.1; Av 1.220.13; 264.1; Suv 157.4; RP 19.11 (text °khadhām, read °khadām); Kv 9.21; 10.12; 37.4 (in Kv associated with hells); Gv 116.14; 184.21 ('dāyām api prapattito na dahyate); Dbh 33.17; Bbh 337.1 (sacen mahatyām °dāyām ātmānam prakṣipasi).

Agnighaṭa, n. of a hell: Kv 18.13 (misprinted °vaṭa); 98.2; pl. Kv 66.17. Not likely to be a MIndic corruption of agnikhadā (altho this is associated with hells in Kv), which occurs Kv 98.5 just after agnighaṭa.

Agnidatta, n. of a king: Divy 620.13; (the same?) at Vairambhya) MSV 1.25.16 ff.

agninya, distorted Skitization of Pali aggañña, primeval (derived from Skt. agra, perhaps with -jña?), see CPD and Senart Mv I note 617: Mv 1.340.17 (tam eva pauraṇam akṣaram 'nyam upanipate, artham cāśya na vibhāvayetsuh; similarly 341.10; 342.6, 16; iii.206.13; always epithet of akṣara, and in all but the last associated with pauraṇa; Pali also combines porāṇa and aggañña as ep. of akkhara, ancient primeval formula, in similar phrase; in BHS always subject of upanipate, came in, occurred, was mentioned (In Pall the phrase is object of anupatanti or anupadanti, they repeat; CPD s.v. akkhara 2).

Agniprabhā, n. of a 'gandharva maid': Kv 5.15.

agni-bala(-ratna), n. of a jewel: Mvy 5962; cited under one heading with agnivarṇa-ratna, and both translated literally in Tib. Mironov reads only agnivarṇa, without v.l.

Agnibhāṇḍa, n. of a people, among whom Buddha made a 'descent from the gods'; this event is otherwise always located at Sāṃkāśya, q.v., which is mentioned two lines above in Mmk but seems to be definitely not the place meant here: (bahutirthāyatanam sthānām sampratoṣya tadā punaḥ), Agnibhāṇḍe jane kṛtvā devā-vataraṇam śubham Mmk 582.(25-)26.

Agnimālin (Pali Aggimāli), n. of a mythical sea: Jm 91.14.

Agnimukha, n. of a nāga: Divy 119.26; 122.27.

Agnirakṣitkā, n. of a piśāci: Māy 239.23.

agni-varṇa(-ratna), n. of a jewel: Mvy 5962; see s.v. agni-bala.

Agñivalukā(-bhayātaḥ): Māy 248.6, in a list of dangers from which freedom is sought: nirmuktā garuḍa-bhayātaḥ, agni'yataḥ, dharaṇikampabhayātaḥ. Should we read vālukā? But what would fire-sand mean? Obscure.

Agñiveśya, pl., n. of a brahmanical school: Divy 635.18. (Sg. as n. of a teacher, Mbh. crit. ed. 1.158.27; and cf. Skt. agñiveśya).

Agñivalśyāyana (= Pali Aggivesāna, n. of Dīghanakha; cf. AMg. Aggivesāyana), surname of Dīghanakha: Av ii.187.10 ff.

Agnīśrī, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.7.

agni-huta, fire-offering, agnihotra: 'hutam (or v.l. agñijuham, mss.) tasya pratiṣṭhato mama (as I am setting about to sacrifice . . .), prabhaṃkaro lokatamonudo yathā, āditya lokasmiṃ tatheva iryasi . . . Mv ii.55.10 (vs); one of these forms (or agni° m.c.) should doubtless be read (Senart em. wrongly); cf. Pall agghutta and agghijhana, °jūh°, both = agñihotra.

agnihotrika (= Pkt. agghihottiya; not in Pall; cf. Skt. agñihotrin, and agñihotrika, Schmidt s.v.), cultivating the agnihotra: Av 1.208.9 ṛṣiḥ . . . °kaḥ; ii.28.3; 65.17 (Corrigenda).

Agnīśvara, n. of a former Buddha: Samādhi p. 57 line 9.

agra, (1) adj. (In Skt. only Lex.; replaces Skt. agrya; = Pall agga), first, chief, prime, foremost, best: Mvy 2521; ye brāhmanimānā agrā SP 190.16 (vs); sūtram agram 385.2 (vs); lokasyāgro LV 162.2, best of the world; dhyāyina agrā 169.5 (vs); jñānam cāgram 371.14; agram ca . . . ojaḥ 387.1; bhavān lāghrasa tribhave 398.21; agro prajñāye Mv 1.44.9, first in wisdom; 113.6 (food); 248.17, 18; ii.208.13; 259.9; iii.63.17-18; Divy 61.29; 349.14; 385.8; Śiṣ 129.4; 311.14 f.; Bbh 94.17; etc., common. As prior member of cpds.: agra-gaṇikā, leading harlot Mv iii.35.17 ff.; agra-pudgala, foremost person, a Buddha, Mv 1.47.2 (mss. mostly °puṅgala); agrapura, leading city, Mv 1.4.6; agrabala, having prime powers Divy 99.20; agrabalin, MSV ii.78.4; agraśrāvakā, leading disciples, Mv 1.307.4; others, see the following entries; also (like vara) at the end of cpds. in same sense, see rasāgra; (2) nt. of the preceding used as substantive: (a) the best of its class, used particularly as predicate to ākhyāyate (°ti), with a personal subject (so in Pall, tathāgato tesam aggam akkhāyati, CPD s.v. akkhāyati) (sā . . .) agram ākhyāyati Mv iii.390.6; samyaksambuddhas teṣam agram ākhyātaḥ Av 1.50.1 (so ms.; Speyer em. agra(h); to be sure agra(h) is printed in the text of the same phrase, without report of v.l., in Av 1.329.16, but Mv and Pall support agram of ms. in 1.50.1); (b) first-class gift, as if for agra-dāna (cf. Pali agra-dāna and CPD s.v. agga 2, c), agram abhiharāmi te Mv II.211.10; the same vs in Pali DN II.240.17 has aggha twice in text but v.l. once agga, and cf. Jāt. v. 377.19 aggam in same sense.

agarakulika (= Pali agga°), of very prominent family: agarakulika-putra, Divy 366.6; Karmav 70.5. In Divy contrasted with the milder kulika-putra, see kulika.

agrataḥ sthāpayitvā seems to mean hardly more than beginning with, including (as the most prominent or important of the group), = -ādi in comp.: (sarvāvān bodhisattva-ṅaṇo maitreyam...) agrataḥ sthāpayitvā SP 315.6 (prose).

Agratā-sūtra, n. of a work (probably = Pali Etad-agga-vagga, AN I.23 ff.): Karmav 155.14; 157.10; 161.20; see Lévi's notes.

agrapada (= Pali aggapada, cf. pada), pl., the highest, most sublime subjects (or utterances?): (padena padam vyañjanena vyañjanam samsyandate sameti) yad utāgrapadāḥ Av II.142.17; 143.6, and that too with...

Agrapurusa, n. of a former Buddha: Mv I.141.5; as common noun, leading personage, Mv I.3.9.

agra-prajñapti (= Pali agga-paññatti; in AN II.17.12 list of four, relating to Rāhu, Mandhātara, Māra, and the Tathāgata), proclamation of superiority, statement that some person or thing is supreme in his or its class: Av I.49.10 ff. and 329.13 ff. (three, relating to Buddha, dharma, and saṃgha).

Agramaticitracūḍa, n. of a serpent king: Mvy 3428. agrayāna, (1) best vehicle, = mahāyāna: Vaj 30.6; also °nin, see -yānin; (2) n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.11.

Agravirabāhu, n. of a yakṣa: Mvy 3373.

Agrasānumati, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 443.5.

agrasārā, a high number, or method of calculation (gaṇanā): LV 148.19; Mvy 7986 (cited from LV).

Agrātavika (cf. Pali Aggāva, adj.), n. of a wood at Ātavikā: °ke dāve MSV II.51.9.

agrāsānika, adj. (= Pali aggāsānika), having a chief seat, occupying a high position: brāhmaṇo...rājño 'grāsānikāḥ Av I.105.6, a brahman who occupied the chief seat (position) with the king. In line 11 he says to a Buddha, niśidatu bhagavān agrāsane.

a-grāha, m. (neg. to -grāha), (no-belief) false belief, attachment to an erroneous view: Vaj 42.13; 45.5 (cited s.v. -grāha, q.v.).

agre, postpos. with abl., from (of time): ito...agre Mv I.165.16, from this point (of time). Cf. Pali agge, only in cpds.; and -agreṇa, in cpds., in same meaning and much more commonly. Cf. also Skt. agre, used (see pw s.v. agra) in much the same way but apparently recorded only in ŚB.

-agreṇa, postpos., (beginning) from, of time. (In Pali it seems that only agge is used in this sense, not aggena as PTSD says; CPD seems to be right in saying that aggena means only according to.) tadagreṇa, from that (time) on, LV 19.4; 265.9; 407.10; adyāgreṇa, from now on, SP 107.3; 467.12; Mv I.365.13; Av I.89.7; II.13.2; Divy 7.10; 32.8; 53.8; 72.2; 187.21, etc.; Bhik 24b.4.

Agrodaka, n. of a town: Māy 18, 70 (cf. Lévi p. 65).

Agrodikā, n. of a plācī: Māy 239.22.

agha, m. (= Pali id.), (1) sky, atmosphere; only in aghaniṣṭha, q.v.; (2) in the lokāntarikā (q.v.) passage, aghā aghasamvṛtā(h) or aghasphuṭā(h) (or other cpd.) means miseries (? miserable) and enclosed by (full of, or the like) miseries; so essentially Senart, Mv I note 405 f. We could perhaps recognize the first agha as an adj. (so in RV and once in BhāṣP.); but it seems more likely that it is the more familiar noun, which esp. in Pali often means misery. In the Pali version (CPD s.v. °agha, end) we should read aghā aghasamvṛtā, as Senart perceived (texts asamvṛtā, a very old corruption); or at least, that must have been the original version. The CPD assumes an otherwise unknown adj. agha, aerial, without support, which is inappropriate and implausible.

aghanisṭha, doubtless understood as sky-based (see agha, 1), a class of gods: Mvy 3107, where it follows akanisṭha, of which it is surely nothing but a folk-etymological distortion. So Wogihara, Lex. It occurs in no other of my texts unless in Bbh; Wogihara reads so in 62.6 and 68.5; actually it is read only in the latter place by one of the two mss. (which reads anisṭha in the former place), while the other ms. reads akanisṭha both times. Wogihara's suggested interpretation, and those he quotes from Yaśomitra and Chhin., seem to me fantastic and worthless. Cf. lokanisṭha.

agharikā, or °ka, n. pl. °kā(h), a kind of toy: Divy 475.19. Etym.? aghāvin (= Pali id., see § 22.51), sinful: Ud v.10 (= Pali Ud II.7), read aghāvināḥ (text aghādināḥ; Pali aghāvinō); in Ud IX.16 ms. aghātināḥ, for which Chakravartī would read aghāvināḥ (the line is fragmentary).

an̄ka-dhātṛī, nurse who carries a baby on her hip: Mvy 9478; Divy 475.12, defined 13-14: an̄kadhātṛī ucyate yā dārakam an̄kena parikarṣayaty aṅgapratyāṅgāni ca samsthāpayati. Tib. on Mvy pañ n. = an̄ka, which it seems must be the orig. form, since in India babies are carried on the hip. Yet in all other cases the word is written am̄sa-dh° (or am̄sa-, in mss. also atsa-), and this seems to have had real currency, as shown s.v. For the cliché see s.v. kṣīra-dhātṛī.

an̄kula (= Skt. °ra), sprout: ratnān̄kulāḥ LV 76.15, jewelled sprouts (no v.l. in mss.; Calc. °rāḥ); -bhaṣajān̄kula-, śraddhān̄kulānām LV 352.12 and 13 (both edd. °ra°, but in 12 best mss., in 13 all mss. °la°).

an̄kuśagraha, m. (in Pali an̄kusaggaha is one who practices the art, and so Skt. °sagraha, a rare word; the art in Pali is an̄kusagayha), the art of handling an (elephant-) goad: Mvy 4981; LV 156.11 (one of the arts mastered by the young Bodhisattva); Divy 442.6.

aṅga, (1) member, part (as in Skt. and Pali, where it is recorded as nt. only), m. (at least modified by two m. adj.), sarve bhavāṅga...niruddhāḥ LV 420.14 (so all mss., Left. °dhā); (2) attribute, quality, characteristic, like the Skt. guṇa (so Pali, CPD s.v., 4, where it is shown that Pali uses it 'mostly with numbers', and often in dependence on samannāgata, cf. below); the 60 qualities (aṅga) of the Buddha's voice, Mvy 444, listed 445-504, cf. Sūtrā. XII.9; same mg. in cpds., see aṣṭāṅga (2), āprānyāṅga, svarāṅga; also kulap (the family in which the Bodhisattva is born in his last existence) saṣṭhi aṅgehi samanvāgataṃ bhavati Mv I.197.14 (there follows a list of the 60 'qualities'). In the LV parallel, 23.10 ff., catuṣṣaṣṭy-ākārāḥ...samiṇṇakulap bhavati. Repetition Mv II.1.6, also with list following. Both Pali and BHS further refer to five bad qualities as pañcāṅga (Pali °aṅga): pañcāṅga-viprahīṇa (124.15 -vipratihīṇa), of Buddhas, Divy 95.17; 124.15; 264.30; acc. to Vism. 146.5-6 they are the nīvaraṇāni. On the other hand, there are five good qualities referred to by Pali pañcāṅga in Vism. 146.25 ff.; and a different set, characteristic of kings or brahmins, 'gentlemanly qualities', PTSD s.v.; cf. s.v. pañcāṅgika, esp. 3; the Buddha speaks pañcāṅgena svareṇa, MSV I.220.20. The line between meanings 1 and 2 is not always easy to draw. E. g. Mvy 424 describes the Tathāgata as ṣaḍaṅgasamanvāgataḥ, referring to the six aṅgas ('qualities'? or members, parts?) of upekṣā, cf. chaḷaṅgasamanvāgata DN III.269.19 (list follows); consists of indifference to the objects of each of six senses, and Vism. 160.9 ff. (chaḷaṅgupekkhā is the first of ten upekkhā).

aṅgaṇa, nt. = Pali id.), spot, blemish, depravity, evil: Mvy 2157 °ṇam. Common in compounds anaṅgaṇa, nīr-a°, sāṅgaṇa, qq.v., which are often spelled with °na in BHS.

Āṅgedikā, n. of a city: MSV 1.66.2, 13.

Āṅgadinna, n. of a king of Videha: Jm 192.12. The Pali form is Āṅgati (Jāt. 544, which is the same story). āṅga-nāḍikā, acc. to Tib. (pa car, see Das) loin-cloth: *kāṃ ... āgārikadharmas tarhy ... yad utāṅganāḍī(kā) MSV 11.94.15-17, in a list of garments forbidden to monks; abbreviated āṅga in the uddāna 11.91.17; Pali Vin. 1.306.8 has instead akkanāla, supposed to be for Skt. arka-; see CPD.

āṅgabhedā, m., a disease (perhaps something like rheumatism): thrice in AV, where it is not entirely clear whether it is an epithet of yakṣma or an independent disease; Mvy 9510 = Tib. yan lag tu zug pa, pain in the limbs. Not noted in Pali or Pkt.

āṅga-maṇi(-vidyā), (science of) bodily marks: Mvy 5055 = śa mtshan (-gyi dpyad).

āṅga-lipi, script of the Āṅgas, a kind of writing: LV 125.20 (Tib. also āṅga-).

āṅgānusārin (= Pali id.), attendant on, attached or conforming to, the limbs (of the body); with vāyu, one of the winds pervading the body: pl. °rīṇo vāyava(h) Śikṣ 248.13, rendered by Bendall and Rouse as rheumatism, for reasons not evident to me.

āṅgārin (= Pali id.), (apparently) red (like coals, āṅgāra); only in the verse Therag. 527 = Jāt. 1.87.1 = Mv 11.93.10 āṅgārīṇo, of trees (in the Pali; in Mv hopelessly corrupt, the noun being omitted).

Āṅgras (= Pali °rasa), nom. sg. °rāḥ, n. of a king (in Pali of the race of Mahāsammata): Mvy 3572 (in a list of cakravartins headed by Mahāsammata, 3552).

Āṅgrajva (?), n. of a ṛṣi: Āṅgrajvā (so!) nāma maharṣiḥ Māy 256.18. Note that Āṅgrasa (also in Skt.; = Āṅgras) is mentioned just before this.

Āṅgrasa (= Pali id. in mg. 1; regular Skt. would be Āṅgrasa, q.v.), (1) ep. of the Buddha: Mv 11.109.20; (2) n. of a former Buddha: Mv 11.239.5 f.

āṅgulikā, (1) (Pali id.) = Skt. āṅguli finger; only in ekāṅgulikayā or pl. *kābhis, (pointing) with single finger(s): sg. LV 49.3; 67.12; pl. LV 290.17; (2) = Skt. āṅguliya(ka), finger-ring; both times with v.l. āṅgulikā, probably read so (MIndic reduction, § 3.118, of āṅgulīyaka, q.v.), Mv 11.73.1; 102.16.

Āṅgulimāla (= Pali id.), n. of a brigand converted by Buddha: Av 1.148.9.

Āṅgulimālika, n. of a work: Lañk 258.4 (nirvāṇāṅgul°, v.l. nirmāṇāṅgul°, presumed to be dvandva by Bendall-Rouse and Suzuki), presumably = next; quoted Śikṣ 133.4 (here ms. °laka).

Āṅgulimāliya, nt., n. of a work, presumably = prec.: Mvy 1398.

āṅguliphaṇahastaka, (having a hand with fingers (round and awkward) like a snake's hood: Mvy 8776 (Chln. round-fingered); MSV 1v.68.6 (read with ms.). Corresponds to Pali phaṇa-hatthaka Vin.1.91.11, interpreted SBE 13.225 as having hands like a snake's hood; comm. 1027.1 yassa vaggulipakkhakā (bat's wings) vīya āṅguliyo sambaddhā honti.

āṅguliya, fem., finger-ring; nowhere else recorded in this form and gender; but cf. āṅgulikā (°ikā): āṅguliya-akā ... patitā Mv 11.110.4; sā āṅguliya-akā dṛṣṭā pariṇātā 5; āṅguliya-akā ... patitā 13.

āṅguliya-lipi, a kind of script: LV 125.20; Tib. finger (sor mo pañi) writing.

āṅguṣṭha-vibhedika, nt., thumb-separator, presumably a glove or mitten with separate hole for thumb but not for the other fingers: °kāny anyāni ca vividhāni vastrāṇi Kv 78.21.

Āṅgottama, n. of a former Buddha: Mv 11.233.2 f. Acaraṭarkirāja, one of the 10 krodha: Dharmas 11; = Acalaṭakkirāja, q.v.

Acala, m., (1) n. of a samādhi: Mvy 580; ŚsP 1421.19; (2) n. of a future Buddha: Av 1.53.18; (3) one of the krodha (cf. next): Sādh 137.13.

Acalaṭakkirāja, n. of one of the krodha: Sādh 418.6; both Acala and Ṭakkirāja are thus used, alone; and see Acaraṭarkirāja.

Acaladeva, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 443.6-7.

Acalamati, n. of a son of Māra (favorable to the Bodhisattva): LV 313.15.

Acalaśrī, n. of a kimpnara maid: Kv 6.2.

Acalaskandha, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 443.5.

acalā, (1) n. of the 8th Bodhisattva bhūmi: Mvy 893; Dharmas 64; Lañk 15.5; 221.19; Dbh 5.10 etc.; Bbh 353.3; (2) n. of a rākṣasi: SP 400.6; Māy 243.26; (3) n. of a female-lay-disciple: Gv 170.13; 172.1 ff.; Acalopāsi-kāvimokṣa (so read for text vācanopās°), Śikṣ 36.4, refers to Gv 170-179, dealing with Acalā's instruction to Sudhana; Śikṣ 36.5-8, cited from Gv 171.21-26.

acalācala, immovable (acala) as a mountain (acala): acalācala (niścayam) LV 216.15 (vs).

Acalitasumana(s), n. of a former Buddha: Mv 1.141.16 (°naḥ, n.sg.).

Acalendrārāja, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 4.7.

Acalopāsikāvimokṣa, see Acalā (3).

acāra, probably m.c. for Skt. acara, unchanging, constant: acāra-cārikām, unchanging (constant) course (of the Buddha, for countless aeons) RP 5.13 (vs). To be sure there is a Skt. noun cāra, movement, of which this might be a compound with a-; but no such cpd. is recorded in Skt. or MIndic.

acintī(śu) for Skt. acintya, see § 3.115.

acintika (perhaps MIndic for acintyaka, q.v.? or hyper-Skt. for acintīya = Skt. acintya?), unthinkable, incomprehensible: Mvy 733 (Tib. bsam gyis mi khyab pa, impenetrable by thought); Mmk 559.20 (vs) caryā bodhim acintikā (in line 25 below note acintyaka); kalpām acintikām Mmk 587.2 (= kalpān acintyakān, for unthinkable aeons).

Acintikamadhyabuddhivikrīḍita, n. of a Bodhisattva: Mvy 733; see prec. Tib. bsam gyis mi khyab pañi dkyil khhor la blo gros rnam par rol pa, sporting in enlightenment in(to) a circle (dkyil alone generally = madhya) that is incomprehensible by thought.

acintīya, adj. (= Pali id., Skt. acintya), unthinkable: examples § 3.103. Once written acintia: dāna-acintīya-āga-mukhena Śikṣ 328.2 (vs; wrongly divided in ed.), by means of inconceivable giving of gifts.

acintya, nt., a very high number: Mvy 7814; 7946 (here cited from Gv); 8047; Sukh 31.3; Gv 106.24; 134.13.

acintyaka (= Skt. acintya), unthinkable; cf. acintika (*tikā occurs Mmk 559.20); Mmk 559.25 (vs).

Acintyaḡaṇuttaradharmagocara, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 443.9.

acintyaparivarta, m. (or, in Gv 134.13, nt.), square of acintya: Mvy 7815; 7947 (here cited from Gv); Gv 106.24; 134.13.

Acintyaśrī, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 443.7.

acira-cira-cireṇā (m.c. for °ṇa; no v.l.; as one word? so text): LV 78.5 (vs). Rendered by Foucaux for a long time. Māyā speaks to the King: deva śṛṇu hi mahyām bhāṣato yaṃ matam me; acira-cira-cireṇā jāta udyāna-buddhiḥ, ... for a long time I have conceived the thought of (going to) the pleasure-park. Could acira(m?) be taken separately, with preceding line? Tib. seems to have nothing for acira; it says yun riñ riñ po ḥdas nas, for a long, long time past.

acirayānasamprasthita, = nava-yāna°, q.v.: AsP 286.6.

acela (= Pali id.) m., a member of a sect of naked ascetics: Mvy 8467 (-dānam; cf. Pali Vin. iv.92.3-5); Śikṣ 331.12.

acelaka (= Pali id.), = prec.: Mvy 3528; Prāt 511.10.

acchaṭa, nt. (only Mmk 159.23; in Pali accchara as stem in comp. beside °rā) = acchaṭā, q.v.

acchaṭā, also acchaṭā-saṃghāta (= Pali and AMg. acccharā, Pali also acccharā-saṃghāta), once acchaṭā-saṃghāta (see saṃghāta); cf. ricchaṭā (for rch-aṭā? which could be the original of acchaṭā), (1) snap of the fingers: ekācchātā ye (so read with WT) ca karonti śabdām SP 392.6; acchaṭā-śabdāna Divy 555.21; *śabḍaḥ Mvy 2802; *śabdām akārṣit, snapped his fingers, Gv 510.22; *saṃghāta-śabḍaḥ SP 388.8; (2) as n. of a small unit of time, instant, jiffy: °tā (printed °tām in 160.7, wrongly) tvaritā gatīḥ Mmk 160.7; 279.23; once as nt. (see acchaṭa), °tām Mmk 159.23; various adverbs, in a jiffy, acchaṭāmātreṇa Mmk 79.27; °tā-saṃghāta-mātram Mvy 822.6; Divy 142.11; °tā-pada-mātram Mmk 268.18; ekācchāṭāsaṃghātamātram Śikṣ 214.11; as adj., having or characterized by the measure of a finger-snap, i. e. in a jiffy, agreeing with personal subject, (Mañjuśrīh ...) °tāsaṃghātamātro ... vikurvaṇaṃ ... samāpadyata Mmk 3.27.

acchatī (= Pali id., Pkt. acchai), sits: acchā drume tuva LV 343.2 (vs) sit at the tree; [(pīṭhe) acchatī Mv ii.379.5 (vs), but this is surely an error for acchambhī of Śikṣ 303.3, which meter requires;] kausidyam acchatī Śikṣ 298.4 (could be sits in sloth, but might also be goes to sloth as Bendall assumes following Pischel 480; in LV this is impossible).

acchandagāmin, adj., probably not going after whims or desires, of the family of the Bodhisattva: °gāminam LV 24.1 n.sg.; °gāmi Mv i.197.20; ii.1.10 (all same passage).

acchambhita, adj. (neg. of chambhita, and cf. next; Pali has acchambhitatta), not frightened: Gv 37.1; 40.20, etc.; 452.24; adv. °tām, without consternation, Mv ii.281.15 (parallel with abhītam, asamvignam, asampra-stam).

acchambhin, adj. (= Pali id.; cf. astambhin; neg. of chambhin; cf. prec., and chambati, chambhita, etc.; on etymology see under chambati), not paralyzed with fear, not frightened: acchambhī, n. sg. m. (in LV 284.18, and possibly 285.9, voc.) LV 284.18 (vs); 285.9 (vs); Mvy 1821; Mv ii.269.20; 270.1, 18; 278.21; 281.13; read acchambhī Mv ii.379.5, with the parallel Śikṣ 303.3, for text acchatī; acchambhī, n. sg. m. Gv 364.20 (vs); acchambhinam (i n. sg. m.; -m 'hiatus-bridger'? amānkubhūtaḥ Mmk 93.24 (prose)).

acchindati (= Pali id., for Skt. ācchinatti; Senart always emends to ācch°), (1) takes away, removes, with gen. of person, acc. of thing: acchinditvā Mv ii.434.3, 9 (teṣāṃ bhrātṛpām); iii.7.17 (gulikām); in Mv iii.403.12, 14, read ahaṃ na (14 ... naiva) kasyaci demī nāpi acchindāmi (with mss., misinterpreted by Senart), I do not give to anyone nor take away from anyone; (2) abolishes, puts away: acchet(t)va (trṣṇām) Mv iii.285.6, 9 (= Pali acchejja, acchijja, same vs, SN i.127.3, 6).

Acchinnadhāra, n. of a rain-delty: Śikṣ 247.8.

Acchilla, n. of a nāga-king: Māy 247.34.

Acyuta, (1) n. of a Bodhisattva cakravartin: Mv i.113.14; (2) n. of a nāga-king: Mvy 3292; Māy 247.34; (3) pl., n. of a class of gods (as in Pali accuta): Mahāsamāj. Waldschmidt, Kl. Skt. Texte 4, 185.18.

Ajakarna, n. of a disciple of Buddha: Mv i.76.1. ajanya (cf. Pali ajañña), prob. ignoble, debased: ajanyasya brāhmaṇasya putrō Mv i.319.12; 321.16; 323.7; said of Jyotipāla; since he was a friend of a potter's son, his father may have been an outcaste brahman. Senart assumes mg. noble, on grounds which I find unconvincing. The mg. I assume fits the Pali ajañña, Jāt, ii.437.17. In Mv iii.119.23 prob. read with v.l. anajanyarēthā, not ignoble chariots, for ajanya° of text. (Meter is bad in either case.) In Kv 42.10 for na jatyeṣu read perhaps nājanyeṣu, not among ignoble people; see s.v. jatya.

ajapadaka-daṇḍa, m. (= Pali ajapada-daṇḍa), staff (cleft) like a goat's hoof: Mvy 9045; ajapādaka-daṇḍaka, id., MSV iv.75.5.

Ajapāla-nyagrodha (= Pali °nigrodha), the Goat-herd's Banyan, under which Buddha spent some time (the 6th week, according to Mv) shortly after enlightenment: Mv iii.302.21; 313.18. Story of how it got its name, Mv iii.301.8 ff. (apparently does not occur in Pali; doubtless a late invention based on the name); ajapālasya nya° iii.302.21; 425.18, 23; 436.19, 22.

Ajaya, n. of a goddess: Sādh 502.10.

aja-r-eḍakā (cf. Pali ajeḷaka, Skt. Gr. ajalaka), voc. °ke, O female of the goats-and-sheep! (cf. § 4.63); MSV iv.228.16 (vs). Addressed to a ewe; use of the dvandva cpd. is peculiar but hardly questionable; cf. § 23.3. Confirmed by nom. (sā) 'ja-r-eḍikā 228.21 (prose).

ajava, perhaps to be read for java, a high number, in Gv 106.13; see s.v. ayava.

a-jātaka, adj. (= Skt. ajāta), unborn: ajātakās ca (v.l. ajāta sarve) SP 281.9 (vs), m.c.

Ajātaśatru (= Pali Ajātasattu), n. of a king of Magadha, son of Bimbisāra: SP 5.5 (attends the Buddha); Divy 55.17; 279.20 ff.; 369.9; 380.18; 545.8; Av i.54.6 ff.; 83.6; 88.7; 308.5 ff.; ii.182.1 ff.; Śikṣ 274.3-4 (from Tathāgataguhya-sūtra); Mmk 590.2 (in the sequel repeatedly referred to as Ajātākhyā, e.g. ajātākhyo nṛpottamah 592.7); Karmav 45.3; 49.20 (summary of his story), et alibi.

Ajātaśatrukaukṛtyavinodana, m., n. of a work: Mvy 1358.

Ajātākhyā, see Ajātaśatru.

Ajita, (1) (= Pali id.) epithet of Maitreya; mostly used in direct address, the name Maitreya being otherwise used in same context; but other forms occur (ajitasya Karmav 40.1): SP 18.4; 308.1, 2; 309.2 ff.; 327.3; 332.6 ff.; 345.7 ff., etc.; Mv i.51.6; Śikṣ 97.8; (an unidentified Bodhisattva, prob. Maitreya) Sukh 64.7 ff.; 92.10; (2) n. of a future Buddha, but seemingly distinguished from Maitreya: Mv iii.330.8; (3) n. of an attendant on the Bodhisattva (Śākyamuni) in a previous birth: Jm 3.4 (query: to be identified with Maitreya?).

Ajita Keśakambala, or °lin (= Pali Ajita Kesakambala, or °li, °lin), n. of one of the six heretical teachers of Buddha's time (see s.v. Pūraṇa Kāśyapa), named with the others: °laḥ Mvy 3548 (Ajita-keś°, as cpd.; so also Mironov); Divy 143.11; Av i.231.4 (ms. Kesa°); °lasya Mv i.253.14; °li, nom. sg. Mv i.256.20; iii.383.16.

Ajitacakra, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.137.12.

Ajitamjaya, (1) n. of a Bodhisattva: Mmk 41.17; (2) n. of a locality: Māy 27; 69.

Ajitapuṣya (? Senart with v.l. °puṣyala), n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.137.13; see puṣyala.

ajitavatigandha, a (mythical?) kind of jewel: (-maṇirāja-) Gv 101.8; cf. ajitāvati.

Ajitasena, n. of a householder: Gv 453.18, 26, etc.

? Ajitasenarājan (mss. Ajinasenah Rājā), n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.140.11.

Ajitā, n. of one of the four Kumārī, q.v., or Bhagīnī: Mmk 537.8; 539.25; 543.9 et alibi; prob. the same, a yakṣiṇī, 573.14.

ajitāvati, a kind of perfume (cf. ajitavatigandha): ajitāvati(gandharāja-) Gv 153.15.

ajinaka (= Skt. *na plus -ka svārthe), deerskin: *kena Mv iii.144.9; 154.11 (both prose).

? ajina-khipa (or, Sktized, *kšipa; m. or nt.; = Pali *khipa), deerskin dress (of an ascetic): *khipena, so I em. Mv ii.147.7, for mss. jana-kapilena, -karitena. The vs was pūspitāgrā; Senart fails badly on it, but some of my guesses, too, are far from certain: kaṣāyapaṭa (m.c. for kaṣāyapaṭa) -valambitaprakarsī ajinakhilpena vistīrṇa alindramārge, bhūrikamalajāvākirṇagātro śaraṇavare gata eka cakravākah. See my Reader, Four Sights (Mv), end. Ajiravatī (Skt. Gr.: = Pali Aciravatī; see also Āryavatī), n. of a river at Śrāvastī: Av i.63.5 ff.; ii.69.3; MSV ii.85.20.

ajivika: Ślkṣ 332.1 (vs), probably only m.c. for āj° (despite note p. 414).

Ajeva, m., n. of a samādhi: Mvy 548 (not in ŚsP).

Ajñānavidhvamsana, n. of a former Buddha: Sukh 6.12.

a-ñāna (nt.; Pali añña; MIndic for añjāna, § 2.15), ignorance: jñānaṃ na kalpeti, aññu (n. sg.) no bhavet MadhK 157.1 (vs; no v.l.).

[añja (añjas?), cf. Skt. añjas, quickly; exclamation used in Pali (Jāt. i.192.5, 29) in urging a draft animal to go (geel get up! go ahead!), come up! In LV 394.18 (vs) tad añja is Lefm.'s em. for tad-anya of all mss. and Calc. which seems to make no sense. Addressed by Brahmā to the Buddha, urging him to preach the law; presumed to mean perhaps come on! But Tib. seems to have had a quite different reading: kha hbyed pa, mouth open (Foucaux, ouvre la bouche; but the form is not given as impv. by Jā.). Should we read ud-añca, 2 sg. impv., for Skt. ud-añcaya, ertönen lassen (pw)? Graphic confusion of u and ta occurs in some Indian alphabets, e.g. in Śāradā.] añjati (= Pali id., Skt. anakti), anoints, ppp. añjita: añjitehi akṣīhi Mv ii.234.17.

1 Añjana or na-ka*, n. of a king of Benares, father of Punyavant(a): Mv iii.33.12 (nako*, n. sg.), 15 (nasya*, gen.).

(2 añjana: mṛgo ... raktehi khurehi añjanehi akṣīhi prabhāsvarehi darsānyehi Mv i.363.18. No v.l.; but there is no authority for añjana as adj. [PTSD quotes 3 Jāt. passages for this, all erroneous.] Senart suggests sāñjanehi or equivalent. But perhaps render: with red hoofs and eyes bright and beautiful (as if?) with colligrium.)

añjaniya or yā* (so Senart with one ms.), or añjanaka or kā* (v.l.), acc. to Senart box for holding colligrium; cf. Pali añjanī, AMG añjanīyā (for kā*), id.: niyā* (v.l. nakā*; n. pl.) pi Mv ii.473.10, listed among products of a śaṅkha-valayakāra, q.v.

Añjalipriya, n. of a yakṣa: Māy 49.

Añjalimālādhārin, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.140.3.

? añjīṣṭha: ŚsP 1561.6, 7 nā ñjīṣṭham*, in a list of color words. Perhaps error (haplogr.) for (na) māñjīṣṭham? Otherwise may be identified with Skt. Gr. (Upādi) añjīṣṭha, Pali (according to Maung Tin, cited CPD) añjīṭṭha, the sun (to Vedic añjī); in that case perhaps bright-colored.

aññāya, so Senart (with the Pali version, SN i.126.27) for mss. anyāya = Skt. aññāya, ger. of ā-jñā, knowing: ya dharmam* Mv iii.284.4 (vs).

Aṭakavati (var. Ala°; Mironov Aṭaka°, no v.l.), n. of a place: Mvy 4137; presumably = Aḍakavati, q.v., = Skt. Alakā.

aṭakkara, m., apparently pathologically ravenous appetite: Mvy 9515, according to Tib. bkes na ba (ed. suggests rñab, misprinted rñab, ba) and Chin.; in a list of diseases. See aṭakkara.

aṭaṭa, m. (= Pali id.), n. of a hell (cold, acc. to Dharmas and Tib. Mvy): Mvy 4931; Dharmas 122; Divy 67.23; 138.7; Av i.4.9 etc.; Mmk 635.22.

aṭanin (Skt. aṭana plus -in), wandering (adj.): paśyathā katham aṭany akhedavān Gv 481.24 (vs), see how, wandering, he is not wearied.

Aṭavaka (cf. Āṭavaka), n. of a nāga king: Māy 247.22.

Aṭavi (= Pali Ālavī), n. of a town: Māy 15, 90. Lévi identifies the first with the Pali city-name but thinks the second a different locality.

Aṭavisambhāvā, n. of a pond: Suv 184.6 ff. (note especially 188.2).

aṭṭa, m. (v.l. atta; so Mironov), a high number: Mvy 8067; Tib. phyor, which Das gives as = anta (read atta?), n. of a number. Cf. also iṭṭā.

[aṭṭahā(h): Mmk 19.10, read abṛhā(h) or avṛ°, q.v. a class of gods.]

? aṭṭiyānika or vānika*, pl. kā*, so mss. at Mv iii.442.15, corresponding to āgrivaniya at iii.113.10; Senart em. aṭṭavāṇijā, which is quite implausible and not really easier to interpret. In a list of designations of various tradesmen or artisans.

Aḍakavati (=Skt. Alakā; see Aṭakā°, Ala°), n. of the capital of the yakṣas: LV 202.13; Suv 116.1 vatyām* (Nobel em. Aḍakā°, needlessly); Māy 106; 228.21.

aḍḍhatiya (= Pali id., acc. to CPD by hapl. for aḍḍhatiya = Skt. ardhatṛiya), or aḍḍhā°, two and a half. Senart's Index cites only aḍḍhatiya, which is read in text Mv iii.72.12 (mss. āvṛṭṭiya) and 13 (mss. aṭṭātiya or āṭṭā°), while aḍḍhatiya is read in text Mv ii.312.10 (mss. aṭṭāti, omitting ya) and iii.75.7 (mss. aṭṭātiya).

The equivalent Pali is regularly abhikkanta (-vaṇṇa), but atīkanta also occurs in the same sense (CPD s.v.). In BHS, in this sense, abhīkrānta occurs, if at all, only in LV 398.11 °ta varṇa, see abhīkrānta 2. Since t and bh are easily confused, it may be that graphic confusion is here concerned. On the other hand, atīkrānta is erroneously read, e.g. in Divy 462.13, for abhīkrānta (1), which is correctly read in the same passage in MSV 1.70.3, and elsewhere in that text.

atīkrānta-mānuṣyaka, surpassing human powers or nature: Mv ii.283.15 (cākṣuṣā vīśuddhena) °ṣyakena (transcending human sight).

atijalpati, talks too much: Mvy 7024 °lpet.

atitti-(ga)-? (= Pali id., Skt. atṛpti); assumed by Senart at Mv i.133.12 (prose) atittigās (no ms. reads quite so, yet the variants seem indeed to tend in this direction), ils ne tendent pas à la satisfaction de leurs sens, ils ne sont pas esclaves de leurs sens. It seems to me, however, that the general use of derivatives of tṛp would suggest just the opposite meaning, which would not fit here (ep. of Bodhisattvas): they never reach satiety.

Atimuktakamalā (v.l. Abhi°), n. of a village chief's daughter: LV 265.5.

atiyātrā, passage-fee: Divy 92.27. Probably about the same as ativāhika in Kauṭ. Arth., cited s.v. gulma, q.v.

atiriktaka, adj., completely (miserably?) empty; in this sense (ati plus riktā, empty) nowhere recorded, either with or without suffixal -ka (pejorative?). Otherwise Skt. atirikta, and Pali atiritta(ka), are pples. of ati plus ric- and mean left over, excessive, superfluous or the like: Kāśyapa ca Pūraṇo 'tiriktakena pātreṇa nirdhāvati Mv ii.207.2 (whereas the Bodhisattva received a bowl full of delicacies).

ati-r-iva (= Pali id., Skt. ativa, § 4.61), in excess; noted only in Mv: prose, i.302.19; iii.60.8; 147.3, 11; 258.9; 302.2; 334.2; 341.5; verses, i.129.6 (read tvayā atirivāpi, with v.l., even in a manner surpassing you; Senart em. wrongly; v.l. atiriccāpi, which would be possible if tvayā were construed as acc.); 266.14; ii.37.10; 227.7; iii.109.17; 246.6.

atīlīyate (cf. Pali atīlīna), becomes slack: nātīlīyase MSV i.9.12.

ativatta, in ativattākṣa Mvy 8833; Tib. (mig) ha cañ che ba, (having) very large (eyes). There is a v.l. ativantā°, and Mironov reads ativatā° without v.l. Seems to be MIndic, for ati plus either Skt. vṛtta (Pali vaṭṭa), round, or vyātta (Pali vatta), wide-open (in Skt. and Pali only recorded of the mouth).

ativākya (= Pali id. [so, ā and ky! Sanskritic]; cf. Skt. ati-vac), blame, abuse: Ud xix.6 (°kyam titikṣati; = Pali Dhp. 321); xxix.31 (°kyam titikṣāmi); MSV i.11.17.

ativāha (= Pali id.), guide, conductor; only in sārthativāha (-sārṣa) = sārthavāha (and perhaps m.c.), caravan-leader, merchant: Gv 474.14 (vs).

ativikāla (= Pali id.), too late a time: Mv iii.255.14 (see s.v. atikāla); °kāle 414.5.

atyaya, m., (once nt., Av ii.151.3), sin = Pali accaya (hardly in this sense in Skt.; Manu 8.243 is close to it but apparently isolated); with paśyati, drś-, recognize as a sin; with deśayati (rarely pratideśayati, āviṣkaroti) confess as a sin; with pratigrhṇāti (rarely jānāti), accept (a confession of) a sin = forgive, absolve it; with kṣamāpayati (rare), ask forgiveness for a sin. Often atyayam atyayato instead of the simple atyayam, with all these expressions, in the same meanings. Pali uses accayam accayato, and verbs passati, deseti, paṭigraṇāti, as in BHS; also khamati, forgives: atyayo me Divy 617.17, I have sinned; atyayam atyayataḥ paśyāmi Divy 617.20; °drṣtvā deśayāmi, °āviṣkaromi (so) id. 20-21; atyayam atyayato drṣtvā pratideśayati LV 379.13; °yam deśayanti LV 409.22; °yo deśito Av i.149.12.13; °yam deśitavān 272.13; °yam °yato deśitam (as if nt.!) ii.151.3; °yam °yato deśaya, confess as a sin, Śikṣ 58.15; Divy 5.5; 55.1; 567.29-30 (read deśayāpy for °yāmy); 570.23; °yam ... deśayāmo SP 210.1; deśemahe atyayu SP 212.7; °yam °yato deśayāmy Gv 122.8; atyayam no bhagavān pratigrhṇātu LV 379.6; bhagavān atyayam atyayato jānātu pratigrhṇātu Divy 617.22-3; atyayam pratigrhṇantu (subject the Buddhas) Suv 30.8; sā tenātyayam atyayato kṣamāpitā Divy 5.6, he asked her to pardon his offense. atyastikā, a certain posture, presumably of the hands: Stein ms. fragments 1.3b, 4a, La Vallée Poussin JRAS 1913.844; adjoins vinyastikā; cf. also udvyastikā, vyastikā.

[atyākhyāya (tām te gatim gamiṣyanti), by em., LV 88.22 (prose). But Lefm. misedits and misunderstands the passage, and Weller ignores it. Foucaux is practically right. Read with most and best mss. vyākhyāyātām te tām; all mss. have vyā°. not tyā°. Render What is the fate of those who expound the Buddhas past, present, and future, while yet ignoring (or concealing) the enlightenment of the Buddhas, — to that fate will they go.

aty-ārabdhā, (= Pali accāraddha), too greatly exerted, adj. with virya (so in Pali, with virīya): Śiṅs 51.2.

atyudgacchati, and ppp. atyudgata, sometimes in texts and oftener in mss. (frequently as v.l.) for abhyud° in meaning rises (ppp. risen) above. Graphic confusion is certainly concerned here, at least in part; except as under atyudgata, q.v., all occurrences are grouped under abhyud°, q.v. For the most part Pali abdhuggacchati and derivatives support this classification. Note however (aside from Pali accuggata, apparently only used as adjective, often with specialized meanings) Pali accuggamma, ger., used of water-plants, having grown out above (the water, acc. or abl.); but BHS uses (only) abhyudgacchati in this sense, according to unanimous tradition, tho perhaps this tradition may be erroneous. Contrariwise, there is even in Pali tradition some confusion between abdhugg- and accugg- in this group; see CPD s.v. abdhuggata (a var. accuggata occurs with subject yasō).

atyudgata, m.: Mvy 7734, or nt.: Mvy 7862, a high number, = Tib. zah(s) yag; in 7862 cited from Gv, text of which reads abhyud°, q.v.

atyunnamayya (cf. Skt. unnamayati), ger., raising or stretching up very high: Divy 36.10; 120.5; Av I.276.16; in all pūrva- (or °vām) kāyam aty°, preparatory to expressing an udāna. Perhaps only graphic error for abhyu°; Skt. has abhyunnata, ppp.; and see abhyunnāmya.

atramantrā, a high number: Gv 106.7; seems to be a corrupt substitute for bhramantra, q.v. atrāṇa, adj. defenseless (= Pali atāṇa and attāṇa; only Buddh.; a- plus Skt. trāṇa): Mv I.22.14 (prose) atrāṇa(h). To be read metrically atāṇām, though written atrāṇām, Gv 474.23. Cf. next.

atrāṇya = prec.: °yāḥ Suv 53.1 (vs; v.l. atrāṇāḥ).

atha, followed by khalu, tarhi, or evam (= Pali atha, and atha kho; seems not used in this sense in Skt.), after a negative clause: atha khalu (not ...) but rather, Ger. sondern Mv II.161.15, 18; 162.1, 3; atha tarhi, id., LV 19.11, 16, 20; 20.3; atha evam anyatra Mv III.66.8 and 15 (see s.v. anyatra, 1), but rather, on the contrary...

atharvāṇa, nt., Atharvanic practices, sorcery, black magic: Divy 629.16 (mss.; ed. em. āth°). Pali (Sn 927) has v.l. athavāṇa for edd. āth°; Skt. has atharvāṇa also but apparently not in precisely this sense.

atharvanika, a member of a school of the AV: Divy 633.10 ff.

adattādāyika (= Skt. °yin, Manu 8.340; also BHS, Gv 159.13; 228.13), thief: Divy 301.23; 418.28.

adattādāsyatha, 2 pl. fut., mādatā°, do not steal: LV 15.9; see § 28.53.

Adana, n. of a nāga king: Māy 246.25.

Adarsamukha, n. of a nāga king: Māy 247.36; cf. Adarsamukha, for which this is probably a misprint or error.

adānta-damaka (= Pali adanta°), tamer of the untamed, epithet of Buddha (cf. puṣadamyasārathi). Reference lost.

adinna, adj. (= Pali id.), not given: Mv I.346.10 ff.; abbreviated expression for adinnādāna, q.v., Mv I.145.9 = 202.6 = II.6.3 (vs) vīramāmi cāpy adinnā(d), and I abstain also from (taking) what is not given, i. e. from theft.

adinnādāna, nt. or m. (= Pali, nt.; MIndic for Skt. adattādāna, nt., see pw s.v.), theft: °nām (n. sg.) Mv I.347.13; adinnādāno adharmo adattādānavairamaṇo dharmo Mv II.99.6.

Adinakusuma, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 443.2.

Adinagāmin (mss. mostly Adiva°), n. of a former Buddha: Mv I.141.12.

Aduka, n. of a nāga king: Māy 247.27.

aduṣin, adj., in Divy printed aduṣin, prob. by error, doing no wrong (Skt. -dūṣin); in aduṣy-anapakārin (in Divy wrongly printed -anayakārin), doing no wrong and not offending: °kāri, n. sg. m., Divy 574.11; 581.18; MSV I.215.13; °kāriṇo, n. pl., II.78.21.

adrśyā (not recorded in this sense), probably to be read for text adrśyā, n. of a magic herb (which makes invisible): Gv 498.1, 2; in line 2 could be either a- or ā-, in saṃdhi; but the stem, in composition, is printed as ending in -a, for which probably read -ā; in line 1 text asty ādrśyā nāmauśadhiḥ.

adekṣiṇya (hyper Skt. for Pkt. a-dekḥhiya*, to dekkhai, on which see J. Bloch, Fest. Wackernagel, 143 ff.; blend of dakkhai and pekkhai = prekṣati; cf. adrākṣaṇiya), ugly: (śobhano rājā... chattradhāro punar) °yo Mv III.10.15.

adbhuta (in Mvy Kyoto ed. always adbhūta, 1277, 5043, 7164; but Mironov adbhuta without v.l.), (1) adj. amazed, wonder-struck (in Skt. only astonishing, and so usually Pali abdhuta, but see Ap 109.24, CPD s.v.) āścaryabhūta sma tathādbhutaś ca SP 110.12, we are amazed and astonished; (2) nt., also adbhuta-dharma, m. (Pali abdhuta, °ta-dhamma), one of the divisions or types of literature in the Buddhist canon, marvel(s), itivṛttakam jātakam abdhutam ca SP 45.7; abdhutadhammah Mvy 1277; °dharma, Dharmas 62, one of the nine pravacana. (Not in this sense, abdhutāṇām ca dharmāṇām viśuddhir upalabhyate Mv I.175.17, of marvelous conditions or states.)

adyatve, loc. = adya, today, in the present time (so Skt. Gr., BR 5.968): LV 155.20 (prose); adyatvena, instr., id.: MSV I.89.20; II.186.15.

adyāgre, Karmav 158.4 (much more commonly adyāgreṇa, see s.v. -agreṇa), and adyād-agre Karmav 158.3, from now on: = Pali ajjatagge, ajjadagge (but not °aggena), derived by CPD from ajjato agge*, a theory perhaps supported by adyād (abl.?) agre (but adya-d-agre*, with hiatus-bridging d, see § 1.64, might have been secondarily reinterpreted as adyād-).

?adrākṣaṇiya, Senart's em. at Mv II.152.14; explained in note as hyper-Skt. for Pkt. a-dakkhaniya*, read °ṇiya, ugly, = adekṣiṇya, q.v.; in description of the sick man as seen by the young Bodhisattva; Senart, °ṇiyo samvegakārako; mss. adrākṣaṇi (v.l. ayakṣaṇi)-śoḍaśa-vegakārako. Uncertain.

advaya, nt., non-duality, as designation of the Buddhist doctrine. In Mvy 1717 advayam (Tib. gnis su med pa, non-duality) is listed among paramārtha-paryāyāḥ, synonyms for the true doctrine; advayasamjñā udapāsi Mv I.237.14, consciousness of non-duality arose in him (so that he resolved to become a Buddha).

Advayavajra, n. of an author: Sādh 48.18, etc.

advaya-vādin, preaching non-duality, ep. of Buddha: Mvy 23; Divy 95.13.

a-dhandha (see dhandha), not slow: Bbh 9.19; 15.22. adhandhayaṃāne, see dhandhayaṃāte.

adha-m-ūrdhva, with 'Hiatus-bridging' m, for *adha-ūrdhva (adhas plus ū), upside down: adhamūrdhvalokadhātu Gv 518.4 (prose), (follows vyatyasta-lokadhātu); in Lañk 28.1, text adhamūrdhās ca, read adha-m-ūrdhvās ca (after vyatyastā[h]).

-adharaka, fem. -ikā (= Skt. adhara), in Bhvr. cpd., lower ltp, endearing diminutive (§ 22.34): bimbapupakvanibhādhārīkā[h], LV 322.14 (vs), of daughters of Māra.

adhara-tas, adv. (Skt. Gr. id.), downward, sinking: asthikarmāvasaṣaḥ samantād gātrepādhārataḥ MSV II.32.11.

adharima, adj. (§ 22.15), lowest: ep. of bhūmi, ground, in the cliché on birth of children, avataṛati(m) māṃ bhūmim Divy 99.15; 167.12; 441.5; Av I.15.6 (elsewhere adhara in same cliché, Speyer, Av Index); °me skandhe MSV II.6.17 ff.

adhar-diś (-dik) (= Skt. adho-diś, recorded in comm. on Hem. Abhidh., BR; also, without citation, in Apte), the nadir; acc. to Kern, SP Preface vi, in Kashgar rec. of SP, for Nep. adhodik.

adharāṣikata, state of not violating or disturbing: Śikṣ 3.7 (vs).

adhasta, adj. (= Skt. adhistana; cf. Skt. adhistāt adv.), below: adhistāyām diśi, in the nadir: SP 240.12; 243.11 (here Kashgar rec. heṣṭimāyām); Sukh 98.7.

adhi-karaṇa (= Pali id., in both senses), nt., (1) matter of contention or dispute, especially among monks: saṃghe kalahābhāṇānavigrahaṇavivādam adhi-karaṇam kaukṛtyam utpādetuḥ Mv III.48.(13)-14; adhi-karaṇa na tasya jātu bhoṭi Śikṣ 195.10; °na-kuśala MSV I.55.13; adhi-karaṇa-vastu Mvy 9115 = Tib. rtsoḍ pañi gzhil, ground of dispute; adhi-karaṇa-samatha Mvy 8630 (= Pali °samatha), the (7 rules for) quieting of disputes, a part of the Pratimokṣa; they are listed 8631-7, mostly as in Pali, saṃmukha-vinayaḥ, smṛti-vinayaḥ, amūḍha-vinayaḥ, yadbhū-yasikīyaḥ, tatsavabhāvaśīyaḥ, tṛṇaprastāraḥ, pratijñākāraḥ, qq.v.; (2) -adhi-karaṇam, ifc. adv., by reason of: yato-adhi-karaṇam, conj. (= Pali yatvādhi-karaṇam) Mv III.52.7, because, lit. by reason of which; also stem in comp., pramāḍādhikaraṇahetor MPS 4.7 ff., because of negligence (Pali paṃāḍādhikaraṇam, adv.; elsewhere -adhi-karaṇa-hetu, CPD).

adhikāra, m., (= Pali id.), service, respectful duty performed towards another, usually a superior (and esp. a Buddha); Senart Mv I.402, note on I.37.11-12, renders offrande, and so Suzuki on Lañk 6.3 offerings. No doubt the 'service' often included or consisted of offerings; but that this was not necessarily so is proved by SP 111.12 hahūhi kāryehi kṛtādhikārāḥ, said of merchants (vāṇijāḥ) employed by a wealthy capitalist. who do service (to him) with many business-operations (certainly not offerings, kāryehi). The cpd. kṛtādhikāra (Pali katā°) is very common and in BHS most often refers to services performed for present or past Buddhas: SP 49.13; Lañk 6.3 (kṛtādhikāra buddheṣu kariṣyanty adhunā ca vai); Mv II.288.8; III.263.12; purima-jīna-kṛtādhikāra LV 393.6; Mv II.312.5; sumahantā adhikārā mayā kṛtā (to former Buddhas) Mv III.241.12; (bhagavato...) adhikāraṃ kartum Mv I.37.12; ... kṛtvā Mv I.44.14; prasannādhikāra, service tendered by one who is kindly disposed, i.e. service of friendship, Divy 305.7; 308.20 ff.

to, concerned with: -pratyaṅgaśīrṣachedādhikārikās ca duḥkhās Gv 159.21; kimcid evālpam vā prabhūtam vā pūjādhikārikam akṛtvā Bbh 160.19, without doing at least something, be it little or much, that relates to homage; dharmādhikārikī kathā MSV I.162.14. In MPS 45.2 and 6 (prose) yasya vayam pūjādhikārikām autsukyam na samāpannāḥ, I cannot explain the ā in °kāṃ (reported 3 times from 2 mss.); I should expect °kam; a fem. substantive °kā seems implausible.

adhikālam, adv., Sukh 8.1 (vs), (reading uncertain, several vv.ll.) ato 'dhikālam, in reference to time hereafter, i. e. for all future time (? adhi as in adhicittam, governing the noun with which it is compounded).

adhigama, m., also (even after consonants) dhigama (q.v.), spiritual realization; attainment of religious goal; used in senses very close to this in Skt. (BR and pw), as well as in Pali; seems nearly equivalent to abhisamaya, q.v.: (bhagavantam...) adhigamabuddhir yadyoginām yogābhisamayakālā samādhisukhe (so with Tib. for °mukhe, note in ed., and Suzuki) saṃpātanām adhigamo bhavati, tasya cādhigamād yoginām yogaśabdo nīpātyate adhigamaneneti Lañk 11.17-12.3, of whose (viz. Buddha's) yogins the will to spiritual-realization becomes spiritual-realization when they have attained perfection (samāpta) in the bliss of trance at the time of spiritual-realization (attainment, abhisamaya) of yoga; and thru realization (attainment) of him (tasya = bhagavataḥ) on the part of (his) yogins the word yoga is (rightly) applied, by reason of (this) realization (attainment, that comes thru it); yasyām ca rātryām dhigamo, Lañk 144.10 = 324.5, referring to the night of Buddha's attainment of enlightenment, cf. 142.17; Bbh 81.24; Mvy 134; punar bodhisattvaḥ adhigamajñāne sāradaśī bhavati, na śrūta-cintādharmārtha-vijñāna-mātrake Bbh 257.16, referring to Mvy 1548 jñāna-pratiśaraṇena bhavitavyam, na vijñāna-pratiśaraṇena.

adhigamāna = °gama, spiritual realization; so Pali (both forms): ye me bhaṇanti varṇaṃ samādhito ca śīlato ca prajñāto ca adhigamanato ca... Mv I.270.4; for Lañk 12.3 see s.v. adhigama.

adhicitta, nt. (Pali id.), superior mind, intellect; also adj., and °cittam, °citte, adv., relating to intellect; see s.v. śikṣā.

adhitanaya, m., supreme offspring: śākyarājādhitanayaḥ (of Buddha) Mmk 230.1.

adhitiṣṭhātī, also adhīṣṭhahatī, °ṣṭhihātī (and noun adhīṣṭhāna, q.v.; Pali adhitiṭṭhātī, adhīṭṭhāna, in general in same meanings; previous translations of BHS very widely and are hardly worth systematic quotation; very common is bless, which I think should be deleted, see below): (1) masters, controls, in normal Skt. (BR sthā with adhi 3, 4) and also BHS (exx. La Vallée Poussin, AbhidhK. 100.6 fl., Bodhisattvas may be adhiṣṭhānadvyādhiṣṭhitāḥ, controlled by two supernatural powers (of Buddhas, cf. 11 buddhādhiṣṭhānadhiṣṭhitāḥ); these are (9) samādhisamāpattiyādhiṣṭhāna; the control that gives attainment of samādhis (cf. 12 samādhim samāpadyante; to this verb samāpatti, q.v., is merely a noun of action; wrongly Suzuki), and sarvakāyamukhapānyabhīsekādhiṣṭhāna, the control that comes from sprinkling by (the Buddha's) hands of the whole body and face. (cf. 101.10–11); persons are said to be adhiṣṭhita, supernaturally controlled by Buddhas (may often be rendered inspired) SP 231.1; 238.2; 420.4; LV 275.2; Lañk 4.13; cf. adhiṣṭhāna; this control often involves (3) magic transformation, and even the creation of magic appearances; not easily separated from the preceding; transitional is sarvabuddhādhiṣṭhito 'yam . . . dharma-paryāyāḥ SP 288.13, it is under the supernatural control of all the Buddhas (hence marvelous effects for one who preaches it, as related above), with this cf. tasmāṭ tarhi . . . adhiṣṭhāmimam dharmaparyāyāḥ asmiṇ jambudvīpe SP 421.2, therefore I (lit. exercise supernatural power over this Dh., which however here seems to mean) make this Dh. appear in this J. adhipati (as in Pali) used in figurative sense, controller, dominant influence or factor: adhipati-pratyaya, relation of dominance (CPD), Mvy 2270, fourth of 4 kinds of pratyaya (1), q.v.; adhipatinā (sc. pratyayena) Śiks 253.2; Bbh 14.4, 10 etc.; 80.22; defined as upāya-hetu, 99.2–3; etc. (common in Bbh); the four pratyaya listed also ŚsP 80.4, but there seems to be a corruption in place of adhipati: ālambanāmateya-samanantara-hetu-pratyaya-tām (text °tā; amateya or am° instead of adhipati!); the other three are as in Mvy; °ti-phalam, dominant fruition, one of the 5 phala (acc. to Sūtrāḥ of karuṇā), Mvy 2273, 'because it is the seed of supreme enlightenment', Sūtrāḥ xvii.31, comm.; but in more general sense Bbh 102.18, expl. 103.5 fl., cakṣurvijñānam cakṣurindriyasyādhipati-phalam, . . . adhimukti, f. (= Pali adhimutti; to adhimucyate), (1) strong inclination, attachment; earnest, zealous application; Tib. mos pa (Jäschke, to be pleased, la with; to wish, to have a mind; to take pleasure in, to rejoice at; as substantive pleasure, satisfaction, esteem; also to respect, to esteem, to respect with devotion, to revere, to adore); La V-P. AbhidhK. Index = ruci; cf. Bbh 95.12-13 katham ca bodhisattvo 'dhimuktibahulo bhavati? iha bodhisattvo 'ṣṭavidhe 'dhimuktyadhiṣṭhāne śraddhāprasādapūrvakeṇa nīcayena rucyā samanvāgato bhavati. (Other alleged meanings, as croyance Lévi Sūtrā. i.13 note 1; confiance, Burnouf; good will, Kern, in translation of SP; etc., are not supported by BHS usage, except as under 2, below.) It may be (but rarely is) applied to (a) non-religious objects: sa ca puruṣas (the father) teṣāṃ kumārakāṇāṃ (his ignorant sons) āśayajño bhaved, adhimuktim ca viṣṇīyāt, SP 73.14-15, ... and he understands their inclinations, what they are interested in. But usually the object is related to (b) a religious aim. It may be specified, syntactically (in the loc.), as in yaṃ ... sugataḥ prabhāṣate, adhimuktisampanna bhavāhi tatra SP 32.15, what the Buddha says, be perfect in zealous application to that. Usually it is not so specifically stated, tho the context is apt to suggest that it is zealous cultivation (study or propagation) of sacred texts or religious instruction that is meant (note that the object of the verb adhimucyate is commonly something of this sort); cf. e.g. lokaṃ yathādhimuktyā (according to their [varying types or degrees of] zeal or application) subhāṣitena saṃtoṣayantam LV 160.17; adhimuktisāro yo syād ... saḥ, puṇyam labheta yo etaṃ (most mss.) sūtram vācel likheta vā SP 342.3-4. And this is probably meant as a rule when the context gives no special clue, as in many of the following: SP 6.13; 31.6; 93.9; 125.8; 235.10; 274.10; LV 10.11; 182.20; 432.8; Mvy 856; Samādh 22.43; RP 20.5; Bhad 7, 48; Bbh 195.12; anādhimukti, lack of (religious) zeal RP 19.18; 35.4; various gods in Mv ii.309.14 ff. see the bodhi-tree svakāye adhimuktye, according to their tastes, inclinations, interests (Senart suivant l'inclination de chacun) as made of various

Does this adhiṣṭhāna mean this exhibition of supernatural power, viz, the making of the stūpa to appear? Or is it this fixed determination, resolution (2, above)? Near synonyms are āveśa, (Skt.) anubhāva, adhimukti; cf. also Lañk 292.13 and 15, where one of the sources of abhiññā is 'from adhiṣṭhāna' (adhiṣṭhānān, so read in 13 for text 'nām, abl., before n-), which means from the controlling power of the Buddhas and is paraphrased in 15 by buddhaprasādataḥ, from the grace of the Buddhas. Suzuki, Transl. of Lañk paṣṣim, renders sustaining power; I think rather controlling power. Even Bodhisattvas are at times dependent on Buddhas and need their control; (4) in architecture, Skt. Whatever it means here is certainly meant also in Divy 221.9, 10 adhiṣṭhānam, and Mv i.195.1 ff.; iii.227.8 ff., adhiṣṭhānakam, where the context is the same as in Mvy 5591; see sūci, sūcika; (5) see pādādhīṣṭhāna; (6) m., n. of a (mythical) samādhi: Gv 451.26. In this curious passage, 451.25-452.6, the word adhiṣṭhāna is further used predicatively in a series of equational sentences, varying in gender like an adjective with different subjects. Bhadrōttamā says to Sudhana: aham kulaputrā 'nālayamaṇḍalam nāma dharmaparyāyam jānāmi deśayāmy, adhiṣṭhānaś ca me samādhiḥ pratilabdhō; na tatra samādhau kasyacid dharmasyā' dhiṣṭhānam; adhiṣṭhānam tatra sarvajñatācakṣuḥ pravartate, 'dhiṣṭhānam sarvajñatāśrotram, adhiṣṭhānam sarvajñatāghraṇam, adhiṣṭhāna sarvajñatājihvā, 'dhiṣṭhāna sarvajñatākāyo, 'dhiṣṭhānam tatra sarvajñatāmanah pravartate, 'dhiṣṭhāna sarvajñatormir, adhiṣṭhāna sarvajñatāvidyud, adhiṣṭhāna sarvajñatāvegāḥ pravartante jagadrocanāmaṇḍalāḥ; etaṃ aham kulaputrā 'nālayamaṇḍalam dharmaparyāyam jānāmi. (Punctuation introduced by me.) There is no further light from the context. I am not sure what meaning the author attributed to the word adhiṣṭhāna: presumably something like either basis or controlling power.

adhyāśayati (rare; doubtless denom. from adhyāśaya, q.v.; Pali only ppp. ajjhāṣita intent upon, rare and only in cpds.), is intent upon, with loc.: bodhisattvo 'dhyāśayati anuttarāyaṃ samyak sambodhau Śiks 17.21. In LV 18.8 the good ms. A reads adhyāśayati for text 'sayati (mahāprthivīm... abhinirjityādhyāśayati), is firmly fixed upon, occupies, with acc.; but probably text is right; Skt. adhyāste is used in this sense, and the LV form is only an aya extension of this; the meaning and construction do not fit adhyāśayati.

adhvan, m. (= Pali addha[n], addhāna), time. (Cf. 1 amśa, 1.). The three advhānaḥ listed Dharmas 86 (atīto, anāgato, pratyutpanno 'dhvā). Very common are atīte and anāgate (less common pratyutpanne, SP 42.1) 'dhvani in past (future, present) time SP 17.8; 40.16; 41.10; LV 87.11; 88.13; Mv i.1.8; 39.9; Divy 60.13; 62.7; Av 1.32.8; Suv 97.3; attānāgatapratyutpanneṣv adhvasu LV 263.7; 435.4; adhvasu triṣu RP 6.11; also acc., in dating, ahaṃ pi bhaveyaṃ anāgataṃ adhvānaṃ tathāgato... Mv i.238.14, may I also in future time become...; 335.14; but acc. generally of extent of time, ciraṃ dīrgham adhvānaṃ for a very long time Mv i.52.3; 244.19 (suciraṃ^o); ii.424.10; Ud v.7 (omits ciraṃ); tr(i)yadhva-, past, present and future LV 151.12; 435.5; Bhāḍ 1 etc.; Śikṣ 17.13; Dbh 55.22; trayo adhvānaḥ Gv 478.9; yasmin-yasmin adhvani Gv 82.14, in whatever time; dīrghasyādhvano 'tyaṇa Mv i.338.14, with the lapse of a long time.

adhva-mārga, Prāt 497.9, and v.l. 519.10; adhvāna-mārga Prāt 510.4; Suv 72.11 (= Pali addhāna-magga), travel-road, highroad: in Prāt 497.9 and Suv 72.11 cpd. with -pratipanna, when on a journey.

adhvāniya (better adhvaniya; Pali addhaniya), fit for a journey: some such form seems clearly intended by mss. at Mv iii.93.19; they read (nātyātiṣṭam nātyātiṣṭam) ṛtusukhaṃ adhvāniyaṃ (v.l. adhyā^o) taṃ bhagavantam (read bhavantam, or bhādanta, m.c.; object of paśyantu, next line, or voc.). They are clearly corrupt, but Senart's emendations are proved wrong by the Pali parallel Therag. 529; divide ṛtu (ṛtum? ṛtū?) sukhaṃ, the season is pleasant and fit for travel.

an-a-, double neg. prefix, = a(n)-, as in Pali (CPD). In Mv i.14.10 (gambhīro) 'nasamuttaro (see samuttara; Senart assumes na used in comp.); anaparāmrśant (q.v.); and Mmk 53.21 an-a-patnīkam, one who has no wife (after this a word has been lost from the text; it must have named the place where the appropriate ceremony, to get a wife, was performed, as in the surrounding parallel phrases).

anagārikā; anagāriya, nt.; anāgāra (nt.); anā-gārikā (= Pali anagāriya or anā^o, generally nt.; anagāra nt. only once, Sn 376, otherwise m. and personal, also 'rika, adj. and m. subst., personal; 'rikā not in Pali), homeless (ascetic) life. In most texts anagārikā (LV 18.8; 101.19; 103.20; Divy 17.17; 37.12; 141.1; Samādh 8.15, etc.; rare in Mv, ii.69.1 with v.l. 'riya), or anagārikā (Av i.136.6, so best ms., text ana^o; i.234.1, no v.l.; Bbh 26.12; 'kāṃ pravrajyāṃ Bhik 10b.1), are the regular forms, but in Mv it is almost always anagāriya as in Pali; this has not been noted elsewhere. Regularly in acc. sg. 'rikāṃ, 'riyaṃ (only once anāgāraṃ [mss., Senart ana^o] upetasya Mv iii.387.1) depending on a form of pra-vraj (rarely of abhi-niṣ-kram, Mv ii.161.5 ff.), and preceded by abl. (or in Mv gen.) of agāra, retire from the home to the homeless life. In this phrase the preceding form is always agārād in all texts other than Mv, and sometimes there (ii.161.5 ff.; iii.408.2); in Mv also agārato iii.378.4; agārato iii.176.2; agārebhyo i.128.10; read agārasmā, the Pali form, for agārasthā i.104.8; but most commonly the gen. agārasya i.322.15; 323.1; ii.117.18, 20; 140.3; 271.8; iii.50.11-12; 213.2-3.

Anāga, n. of a nāga king: Māy 247.1.

anāgaṇa, (1) adj. (= Pali id.; often written 'na), spotless, free from blemish or evil (anāgaṇa): LV 344.6; 345.19; Mvy 2607 (Tib. fion moṅs pa med pa, without evil); Mv i.228.11, 15; 229.6; 316.8; ii.132.14; 359.16; iii.396.6; Sukh 59.13; Dbh 7.6; 35.19; Ud xvi.3; (2) m., n. of a śreṣṭhin in Bandhumati in the time of the Buddha Vipasyin (later reincarnate as Jyotiṣka): Mv ii.271.13 ff.; Divy 283.1 ff. (here called a gṛhapati).

an-ativara (not in Pali, AMg. ānalvara, see Sheth, not in Ratnachandra), having no superior; supreme, ep. of Buddha: Mv i.206.8, 10 = ii.10.2, 4; i.220.8, 14, 16; ii.22.9, 15; iii.110.19. The AMg. form confirms Senart's choice of this reading; the mss. vary between it and anabhivara, °cara, anaticara.

anatisadrśa, who has none superior to him: śīlenāna-tisadrśu LV 164.4 (vs); the only v.l. is °sa for °su.

anatīta (= Pali id.), not having got over, not free from, with loc.; in Pali app. with acc. only (and so atīta in Skt.): (jarādharmā) jarādharmatāyām (so both mss.) anatītāḥ Mv ii.151.7, subject to old age, not passed over in reference to old age.

an-adhimūrchita (-tva), see adhi^o.

an-adhyāpatti, f. (= Pali anajjhāpatti), neg. of adhyāpatti, non-transgression: āpatty-anāpatty-anadhyāpatti-tām upādāya ŚsP 56.5, ... state of sin, non-sin, and non-transgression.

an-anuyukta (= Pali °yutta), neg. of anuy^o, not devoted to, experienced or practised in, with acc.: jāgari-kāyogam ananuyuktāye (parśāye) Mv iii.48.17-18 and 49.4-5; mss. both times anuyuktāye but sense requires neg. (haplography). In Pali also used with jāgariyā.

an-anuyujya, or °yujjītvā, neg. ger., without having interrogated (an accused person), or made inquiry (into an accusation), (Skt. anu-yuj-; cf. anuyujjati, b, CPD): in Mv i.96.7, read (aparādham ca) an-anuyujya for °yā; in Mv iii.160.6 text °yujitvā, read doubtless °yujm^o (°yujñ^o) with text in 165.11; 170.7, 8 (in these no expressed object).

anantaka, nt. (= Pali id., also nantaka), rag, worn-out cloth: °kāni prāvṛtya Mv 175.19.

Anabhibhūtamakuṭa, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 3.7.

Anabhibhūtaśaśas, n. of a former Buddha: Mv 1.141.10 (mss. °yaśāḥ, so read, n.sg.; Senart em. °yaśa-ḥ).

anabhiramya = nirabhi°, unpleasing: Samādh 19.20 (m.c. ānabhi°).

Anabhilakṣita, m., n. of a samādhī: Mvy 601; ŚsP 1424.4.

an-abhilapanīya (see next), not capable of being expressed in words: Śīkṣ 251.11.

an-abhilāpya = prec. (cf. also next): Vaj 24.8 (said of tathāgatena dharmo . . . deśito); syn. of avyavahāra, q.v., Vaj 45.6. Elsewhere anabhilāpya is the normal form.

anabhilāpya (not in Pali; AMg. anabhilappa, as adj.; cf. preceding two, abhilāpya, and nirabhi°), (1) adj., inexpressible, that cannot be put in words, of the dharma LV 392.14; 434.12; of the (dharma-)cakra LV 423.4; syn. of avyavahāra (like anabhilāpya, q.v.) Śīkṣ 251.11; with suggestion of large numbers or quantities, Mv II.362.12 (of tathāgate pratiṣṭhāpitā dakṣiṇā); Śīkṣ 178.5; Gv 7.14 fl., Dbh 55.20; Sukh 25.11; (2) subst. nt. (cf. the following entries), a very high number: Mvy 7818; 7950 (cited from Gv); 8048; Gv 106.26; 134.15.

anabhilāpyaparivarta, m. (in Gv nt.), square of the preceding (2): Mvy 7819; 7951 (cited from Gv, but m.); Gv 106.26; 134.15. Cf. next.

anabhilāpyānabhilāpya, nt., a still higher number than the preceding: Mvy 7952 (cited from Gv); Gv 106.26; 134.16; quite common in Gv, and occurs elsewhere, e.g. Dbh 2.23; 70.8; read (a)nabhilāpyānabhilāpya- in Bhāḍ Introduction, line 2, with v.l. and Gv 543.6, for Watanabe (a)bhilāpyānabhilāpya-. See next.

anabhilāpyānabhilāpyaparivarta, m. (in text of Gv nt.), square of the preceding: Mvy 7953 (cited from Gv); Gv 107.1; 134.17. Cf. next.

anabhilāpyānabhilāpyaparivartanirdeśa, m., a very high number (cf. the preceding; in its own list follows anabhilāpyaparivarta): Mvy 7820.

Anabhilāpyodgata, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.25.

an-abhisamṣkāra, neg. of abhi°, (1) (m.) non-accumulation (of karma), as Karmadhāraya, Gv 70.7, see s.v. vipratilambha; generally as bahuvrīhi, adj., having or characterized by no accumulation (of karma): LV 422.21 (-cakram, of the dharmacakra); Mvy 173 (°rāḥ sarvadharmāḥ); 799; Śīkṣ 190.16; LV 428.10 sarvaprasthānālipatvād anabhisamṣkāragocara ity ucyate (tathāgataḥ), he is out of range of the accumulation (of karma), because he is unstained by any setting-out (to do or get anything); anabhisamṣkāragatir bodhisattvānām Gv 525.10, the course of B's is free from accumulation (of karma); (2) adj., without proper mental preparation: Mvy 1018 °ra-parinirvāyī (contrast sābhi° pari° 1017).

and subst. (from °skāra), with or sc. ṛddhi, (magic potency) of non-accumulation (of karman): °skārikāyā ṛddher anubhāvena Gv 70.8; as subst., understand ṛddhi, Gv 180.6 abhāvapratiṣṭhitayā (which is established in non-becoming, see Gv 70.7, preceding the above, s.v. vipratilambha) 'ryanabhisamṣkārikayā by the (magic potency) of non-accumulation (of karman).

an-abhisamṣkṛta (neg. of abhi°, q.v.; Pali °sam-khata, see below), not (specially) prepared, of food: Lañk 196.12, said of rice offered to infants without proper boiling (and seasoning?); not affected (by some outside influence), avikopitair indriyair anabhisamṣkṛtair gātrair LV 323.16, in description of the Bodhisattva's indifference to the daughters of Māra, with senses undisturbed, with body-members unaffected. So Tib., lus (body) ma bcos pa, lit. not made (up), see Jäschke s.v. bcos-pa, '3. made or contrived by art, artificial (so Pali abhisamṣkhata is sometimes used, CPD) . . . ma bcos, artless, unaffected, genuine; it also seems to denote an absence of mental activity (see s.v. abhisamṣkāra) or a forbearance of exercising such activity, in short that indifference to the world, which is so highly valued by the Buddhist.

an-abhisaraṇa, adj. Bhvr. (*abhisaraṇa, °saraṇa = śaraṇa; cf. Pali an-abhisara), without refuge: atriṇā anabhisaraṇā Mv 1.22.14.

an-abhyasūyikāyā, adv. (instr. sg. f. of neg. of Skt. abhyasūyaka), in a not-unfriendly way: (anupariṅgrāhikayā, see this) anabhyā° dharmam deśayati SP 283.3. So read with Kashgar rec.; Nep. mss. quoted as ananya-sūcanayā; KN em. anabhyasūyayā, kept by WT without note.

anabhraka, m., unclouded, n. of the first (but omitted in Pali and the Mv lists) of the classes of rūpāvacara gods in the 4th dhyāna-bhūmi; see deva: LV 150.8; Divy 68.16; Av 1.5.3; Gv 249.12; Mvy 3098; Dharmas 128; etc.

anayaka, adj., f. °ikā (from anā, misfortune; not recorded), unfortunate, unhappy: anāyikeyam prajā sarva-duḥkhitā SP 162.1 (vs.). I interpret with Kern (Transl.) except that he derives from an-āyā; I regard ā as m.c. for a. Burnouf without protector, a-nāyaka.

anaya-vyasana, nt. (= Pali id.; as cpd. seems not to occur in Skt.), misfortune and disaster: SP 73.7, 13; Mv 11.493.2.

anarghyeya, priceless: -maṇiratnam Gv 499.26. Perhaps error for anargheya (also with maṇiratna SP 210.10), which occurs in Skt. (BR 5.1042, s.v. argheya).

an-arthika, adj. (= Pali anarthika; not in Skt.; see arthika and next), not desirous (of: instr., rarely loc. or abl.), (a) with instr.: anarthikāś ca te śrāmaṇyena bhaviṣyanti LV 88.18, and they will not be anxious for monkhood (duty of monks), so read with Foucaux's ms. A, see his Notes p. 113 (Lefm. śrāmaṇyo na); samṣkṛtenādhyāśayenā-narthikāḥ sarvopādānaparigrahaḥ anarthiko LV 180.12, with his resolve not desirous of the conditioned (see samṣkṛta and adhyāśaya, which are not to be construed together), and not desirous of all grasping and possessions; RP 15.1 (lābhena); 34.10 (dharmaśravaṇena); 43.12 (kāma-bhogaiḥ); KP 125.2, 4, 6; sv-anarthiko Śiks 113.9 (guṇaiḥ), very undesirous of virtues (wrongly Bendall and Rouse); (b) with loc.: anarthiko sarvakāmabhogeṣu Mv 11.104.17; (c) with abl.: saṃsārād anarthikaḥ Divy 2.1, averse from the saṃsāra.

anarthika-tā (to preceding), state of not desiring, in comp.: saṃsāropakaraṇānarthikatayā Gv 391.11 (1st ed. misprinted °rdhika°; corr. 2d ed.)

Anala, n. of a king: Gv 154.20; 155.12 ff.

analpaka, adj. (= Pali anappaka), not insignificant, distinguished, excellent (in . . . , loc.): akṣarapadavyākaraṇe analpako (of a brahman) Mv 11.77.10.

anavakāra, adj. (= Pali id.; cf. avakāra), without elimination; not partial, complete, absolute, ep. of śūnyatā, absolute void; °ra-śūnyatā Mvy 944; ŚsP 191.21; 642.16, etc. (common in this text). Cf. ākārānavakāra.

anavakāśa, m. (once nt., Lañk 198.9; = Pali anavakāsa; in Skt. Gr., see pw s.v.), what is out of the question, an impossibility, only noted in phrase asthānam (etaḍ) anavakāśo (regularly followed by yat-clause): Gv 498.5 etc. (see s.v. asthāna). Cf. anokāśa.

an-ābhoga (see ābhoga and sābhoga), (1) adj., effortless: crucial is Dbh 67.10 ff., where a boat, before it reaches the open sea, is sābhoga-vāhana, traveling with (human) effort; when it reaches the open sea it is anābhoga-vāhanano vātamaṇḍallprāṇito, traveling without effort, borne along by a tornado, and goes in a single day farther than it could go in a hundred years by all effortful traveling (sarvasābhogavāhanatayā, i. e. by rowing etc.). So, by the knowledge of the Omniscient (sarvajñajñānena), because this knowledge is effortless (automatic, spontaneous: jñānānābhogatayā), a Bodhisattva gets in a single moment farther than he could get in 100,000 kalpas by his former effortful activity (pūrvakeṇa sābhogakarmanā). Again, in Sūtrālamkāra ix.18-19, a Buddha's activities proceed without ābhoga, effortlessly, spontaneously, like music from instruments that are not being played, or jewels that shine without labor. So understand anābhoga-buddhakāryāpratiprasrabdhā Mvy 411, (a Tathāgata is) never ceasing from spontaneous (Tib. lhun grub pa, self-created; not contrived by human labor, Jäschke) Buddha-activities, and the same cpd. prefixed to -cakram LV 423.3 (see apratiprasrabdhā); automatic Śikṣ 7.15; °ga-vāhanaḥ Bbh 260.18, bringing automatically; mahākaraṇopāyakauśalyānābhogagatena prayogena Lañk 42.8, by praxis that effortlessly (spontaneously) arrives at great compassion and skill in devices; sometimes best rendered by impassive (not involving or subject to any effort), anābhogaprekṣikayā with impassive look Śikṣ 268.1; (see s.v. ābhoga for Dbh 64.16); prob. impassive in Bbh 317.3, and 350.12 bodhisattvānām anābhogo nīrnamitto viharāḥ, which is contrasted with (and higher than) their sābhoga (effortful) viharā (346.14); cf. anāyikā: SP 162.1, m.c. for anayikā, see anayaka.

an-āyūha, adj. (Pali id.; see also anāvyūha), effortless; free from exertion or striving; usually cpd. with aniryūha, without abandonment, riddance, giving up; the two terms together seem clearly to be opposites, and to mean about the same as a-pravṛtti, a-nivṛtti, without activity or abstention from it (so Suzuki, 'neither taking birth nor ... going out', on Lañk 115.11-12; 196.3). However, Tib. (e. g. on LV 423.4 and on Lañk) renders an-āyūha by blaṅ ba med pa, or the like, and aniryūha by dor ba med pa, which seem most naturally to mean without (intellectual) acceptance or rejection respectively; La Vallée Poussin, note on MadhK 517.20, see āvyūhati, gives his Tib. versions as mi len and mi ḥdor (which are equivalent to the above), and equates ā(v)yūha and nir(v)yūha with Skt. samāropa and apavāda. I find no support in BHS texts for this interpretation; whether the Tib. terms must necessarily be so understood I do not venture to say. Without aniryūha the word occurs Gv 17.13 anāyūha-sarvajñatā-bhūmi-gagana-viryāḥ (of Bodhisattvas); anāyūhān 25.19 (id.), effortless, unstriving (in complimentary sense, like anābhoga; substantially unparticipating, impassive); anāyūhaviyūho (read with 2d ed. vyūha), cpd. with next, if not niryūha-gatr bodhisattvānām kāyacittasampravāṇatayā (see asampravāṇa) 525.11, the course of B's is free from effort and striving, because they are not interested in (their own) bodies or minds; anāyūhāniryūha- LV 423.4 (-cakram); ham aniryūham (dharmacakram) LV 436.13; apratisthānāyūhāniryūha(h) LV 424.7-8 (tathāgataḥ); anāyūhāniryūhāḥ (sarvadharmāḥ) Lañk 115.11-12; hāniryūha-tā (sc. sarvadharmāṇām) ŚsP 283.3 (text by error niryūhatā).

But (2) without attachment must surely be the mg. in nīṣprapañcān anālayān Gv 25.19 (of Bodhisattvas).

anigha, adj. (= Pali id., also anigha), free from evil (? see nigha, nigha); occurs chiefly (in Pali literature, aside from commentarial etymologies, only) in the neg. form; ep. of Buddha, or at least of perfected saints. In Pali often rendered calm, unperturbed, but it seems that free from evil (whether sin, pāpa, or misery, dukkha) will suffice in all Pali and BHS occurrences. Regularly in lists of formulaic epithets which give little clue to a more precise mg.: LV 358.5; Mv 11.397.16; 111.400.2 (same vs in Pali Sn 534 with anigha); 418.14; Ud xxix.34; Gv 284.6.

an-icchantika-tā-(mokṣa), (salvation that consists in) the state of not being icchantika (q.v.): Lañk 65.17.

anīḥja = anīḥjya, q.v.: sthito 'nīḥja-prāptena (but Kashgar rec. 'nīḥjya') ca cittena SP 5.10; in ŚsP this is the spelling regularly found in ed., e.g. anīḥjo nāma samādhiḥ 1418.22.

anīḥjana, adj. (see iḥjana; Pali id. only as noun, immobility, CPD), immovable: LV 250.16, of the 4th dhyāna (see under anīḥjya): °na-cittā (n. sg. f.) Gv 279.9; °na-tā, immobility, AsP 206.2 °tām upādāya (referring to prajñāpāramitā).

an-īḥjita, adj. (= Pali id.), without vacillation (see iḥjita): °tā manyana-varjitā ca (of dharmas) SP 282.1.

anīḥjya: variants anīḥja, an°, anīḥjya, anīḥja, āneḥj(ya), an°, qq.v. The nasals anīḥja occurs without v.l. only once and may be an accidental corruption (anusvāra omitted); but see § 2.73. The omission of y after j is called 'une orthographe prācritisante' by Senart, Mv 1.399; at any rate it occurs frequently in the mss. In Pali the same word is written āneḥja, ānaḥja, āneḥja, and with short initial a- (stigmatized as wrong reading in CPD); forms with i in the penult are very rare in Pali, but CPD records anīḥja-ppatta once; this surely cannot be separated from the common āneḥja- (āneḥja-, ānaḥja-) ppatta. BHS has no ānaḥj- or āneḥj-, which are not infrequent in Pali. The wild variety of spellings in Pali itself shows that it early became an obscure word in the tradition. BHS occurrences of the spelling anīḥjya include SP 161.10; Mvy 554, Śiḥs 237.1 (and 223.3, 4 in the mss.); perhaps Mv 1.133.13 (Senart anīḥjya, em., mss. mostly anica [not low?], one animca, perhaps intending anīḥj(ya)); either an- or ān- (uncertain because of samdhi) Mv 1.228.11, 15; 229.6; 11.132.15 (here v.l. °nīḥja-). For examples of the other spellings see s.vv. There seems to be no difference in mg. between the various spellings; any of them may be an adj., immobile, immovable, or a nt. n., immovability. As adj., ānīmjeḥi vihārehi Mv 1.34.11; 11.419.11, in immovable conditions; ep. of citta Mv 1.133.13 (see above on form); oftener °nīḥjya-prāpta, of citta, LV 344.6; Mv 1.228.11, 15; 229.6; 11.132.15; anīḥja-prāpta, of citta, SP 5.10; anīḥjya-bhūta, of citta, SP 161.10; ānīḥjam śāntim Av 11.199.5; anīḥjyo (ŚsP anīḥjo) nāma samādhiḥ Mvy 554; ŚsP 1418.22; virajasko (a)neḥjya ca Mmk 476.14; clearly noun, ānīḥjam Mvy 6387 = Tib. ml gyo ba, not moving; doubtless noun also in cpds. with -prāpta (Pali -ppatta) and -bhūta, above; apparently primarily adj. as third of a triad, the first two members of which are punya and apunya, or kuśala and akuśala; all three are applied to deeds (karman), or the performance or accumulation thereof (abhisamskāra, q.v.), or the underlying conditions (saṃskāra; cf. Śāl 81.5, abhisamskārā-thena saṃskārāḥ), or finally the states of existence (dharmaḥ) to which such various acts lead as fruit. The first two, meritorious and demeritorious, relate to good and bad deeds as leading to rebirth in the kāmāvacara and (only good deeds) in the rūpāvacara states, or to these resulting states; the word anīḥj(ya), aneḥj(ya), or ā°, refers to deeds leading to rebirth in the arūpāvacara states, or to those states themselves (the dhyāna states), cf. Bbh 90.16 ānīḥjya-caturtha-dhyāna-vihāraḥ; on the subject in Pali see Warren, B. in Tr. 179 f. (from Vism.), and in general La Vallée-Poussin, note on MadhK 334.8; a good Pali passage is DN 11.217.25 tayo saṃkhārā, puññābhisamkhārā, apuññā°, ānaḥjā° (see Comm. 111.998.29). In BHS, Śāl 82.3-4 (cited Śiḥs 222.11-223.1) evam avidyāyām satyām trividhāḥ saṃskārā abhinivartante, puṇyopagā apuṇyo° āneḥjyo° (Śiḥs ānīḥjyo°); Dbh 48.7 puṇyā-puṇyāneḥjyān abhisamskārān; karmāṇi kuśalākuśalāneḥjāni MadhK 334.7-8 (cf. 543.1 with note); (dharmaḥ) kuśalā vā 'kuśalā vā anīḥjyā vā Śiḥs 237.1.

Suzuki transl. inexhaustible vows; rather, unlimited terms; S. uses the same transl. for niṣṭhā-pada, q.v. It seems, indeed, that these two formally opposite expressions, unlimited term and fundamental term, are virtual synonyms. Cf. Dbh 17.9, where each of the 10 niṣṭhā is specifically said to be anīsthā (the trick seems to lie in different uses of niṣṭhā: the fundament, basis is said to be without end or limit, end being also a mg. of niṣṭhā).

A corresponding list in Pall, see PTSD s.v. anuttariya. A different one is nivāsānuttarya, Mv iii.320.5, see s.v. nivāsa; here ānutt° may have been intended.

an-u(t)traṣṭa, neg. ppp. (= Skt. °sta), not frightened: °ṣṭāḥ LV 12.16 (both edd., no v.l.; § 2.61).

an-uttrāsa, adj. (= Pali anutrāsa; see uttrāsa), without fear, not frightened: Śikṣ 176.5.

an-uttrāsita, neg. ppp., not frightened: °sitāsamtrastā Mv i.177.4.

anutpattika-dharma-kṣānti, intellectual receptivity (see kṣānti) to the truth that states of existence have no origination (utpatti); also anutpāda-kṣānti, q.v.: SP 136.10 (read with v.l. °ttika- for °ttikīṃ dh° of both edd.); 266.1; 327.4; 419.6; 437.1; LV 35.21; 440.21; Dbh 47.21; 64.5; Śikṣ 212.13-14; Bbh 348.18; Sukh 55.13; Lañk 12.9; anutpattika-kṣānti, omitting dharma, Gv 525.25; the cpd. is analyzed as anutpattikeṣu dharmeṣu kṣānti-(pratilambho 'bhūt) LV 36.9, °ttikeṣu dharmeṣu kṣāntir AsP 408.8. The expression was misunderstood by older interpreters, e.g. Burnouf and Kern on SP 136.10.

an-utsrjana-tā (see utsrjana), nōn-abandonment, not getting rid (of, gen.): Śikṣ 183.9, dharma-chandasya.

anudadhyamāna (? v.l. anubadhy°; irregular pres. pple. of pass. of anu-dadhati* = anudadhāti, not recorded in this mg.), being presented (Tib. dus k'yls bstabs pa [see Das], which seems to mean given in timely manner): Bbh 163.2. Very doubtful; § 37.37.

anudarśa (? v.l. °śi, i.e., n. sg. of °śin), viewing, consideration, in kāyānu°-smṛtyupasthāna (see this), and vedanānu°, cittānu°, dharmānu°: Dharmas 44 (replacing the usual anupaśyana, or °paśyī to °paśyin).

anudeśana (nt., = Skt. anudeśa, rare), instruction: Mmk 133.2 (vs) dattadharmānudeśanam.

an-uddhata (= Pali id.; not violent or rough, or not agitated, or, as in Skt., not haughty), calm, gentle, particularly of speech, as also in Pali: Mv i.166.3 anuddhatāṃ ... girā (acc.; Senart em. girāṃ); Mv iii.280.17 acapaḷā anuddhatā ca, of speech (read so in same line Mv ii.356.11; Pali also associates acapaḷa with this word); Bbh 239.1 anuddhatācapala-kāya-vāṇ-manaḥ-karmānta-pracāraḥ. See anuddhṛta.

an-uddhṛta (= prec., q.v., for which this appears to be a hyper-Sktism), (1) adj. calm, gentle, or not proud, not haughty: Gv 484.26 (vs) bodhimārga (acc.) ... tvaṃ anuddhṛto mārgase dṛḍhānate atandritaḥ; (2) nt., n. of a buddhakṣetra: Mv i.124.9 (vs; mss. unmetr. anuddhṛtam). anudrakṣi, 3 sg. aor., looked at: Mv ii.54.3. See Chap. 43, s.v. drṣ (3).

anudruta-(līpi), v.l. anupadruta, read perhaps an-uddruta, or adruta-, not hurried (?), a kind of writing: LV 126.6. Tib. riṃs med, not hurried, not speedy.

anudharma (= Pali anudhamma). Acc. to PTSD, Pali dhammānudhamma is used as a distributive or intensive cpd., see under 1 anu, the Law in all its parts; while Childers understands anudh° as lesser or inferior dhamma (against which see Lévi on Sūtrāḥ. xiii.1 comm.). Acc. to CPD anudhamma means (right) method and is a 'hypostasis of anu-dhammaṃ' (adv., in accordance with dhamma). In BHS (as also in Pall, e.g. Dh. 20) there is some evidence suggesting that dhammānudharma is equivalent to dhammasya anu°, perhaps the true method of the law or the like: Bbh 284.1 na pratipadyante dharmasyānu-dhammaṃ, they do not attain (? practise) the anudh° of the dh°; 197.16 dharmasyānu-dhammaṃ pratipadyamānasya (sc. Bodhisattvasya; not agreeing with dhammasya, which depends on anudh°); Gv 383.5 dharmasya cānu-dhammaṃ pratipadye, and I attain (? practise) the anudh° of the dh°. Without dharma in the context, we find anudharma-cārīn Divy 617.16 (°rīṇi, f.), anudharma-praticārīn Mvy 1123 (°rī). So we should probably interpret all cpds. of dhammānudharma, which usually parallel the like cpds. in Pall: dhammānudharma-cārīn Dbh 32.21; °rma-pratipatti, attainment (? practice) of the anudh° of the dh° Mv 1801 (mss. erroneously omit dharma after anu; em. Kyoto ed.); Dbh 33.29; Bbh 204.7; KP 9.2; LV 32.16; °rma-pratipanna Bbh 84.4; LV 17.12; 377.14; Mvy 1124. In Mvy 9321 are mentioned ṣaḍ anudharmāḥ, after 9320 ṣaḍ dharmāḥ; so also Bhik 16b.4 ṣaṭsu dharmeṣu ṣaṭsv anudharmeṣu śikṣā; in neither place do I find any clue to what the six anudharma (or dharma) are. I have not noted any adv. anudharmaṃ (parallel to Pali anudhammaṃ). Anudharmamati, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 443.8. Anudharmya, adj. (cf. Pkt. anudhammiya; not in Pall), conformable to religion: Bbh 61.23, v.l. anudharmyayā (for text anudharmyā, see ānudhāra) kathayā, instr. -anudhāra, adj., f. -i, bearing, holding (in attendance?) anu: Divy 513.25 -vilepanānudhāri (f.).

anunaya, m. (= Pali id.; also Skt. in mg. propitiation, das Gerechtigen; friendliness, affection, in favorable or at least neutral sense), love, attachment; ingratiation, in BHS almost invariably in a bad sense (a rare exception is Divy 510.4, of innocent attachment, affection). Very often contrasted with pratigha, q.v.; the pair may replace rāga and dveṣa, as feelings to be avoided; so in dvandva cpd. anunaya-pratigha- (Pali also anunaya-paṭigha), LV 10.1; 33.7; 275.6-7; 374.3, (read) lhānunaya-pratighānām kalvalahvādaprahāṇaparyantaḥ prāpto mayā, here I have got to the end—which consists of abandonment of quarrels and disputes—of attachment and repugnance; 442.5; Divy 240.24; KP 101.1; Mmk 13.22; Dbh 29.6; also, less commonly, pratighānūnaya (Pali also °paṭi°) Sādh 115.15; Gv 245.24; without pratigha, anunaya (undesirable) attachment or lust is contrasted with maitrī, (desirable) affection, (pure) love in Gv 472.3-4 ye te maitrīvihāriṇāś ca na kvacid anunayavihāriṇaḥ; in Gv 351.24 perhaps contrasted with pratighāta, q.v. anuparivṛta, ppp. (cf. °vārayati, and Skt. parivṛta beside °vārīta, both in same mg.), surrounded, attended: Divy 361.20 (prose). In LV 278.16 (prose) for Lefm. anuparivṛtair read °vṛttair (see anuparivartati).

anuparītaka, m., for °parītaka = °parīta, q.v., with specifying -ka (§ 22.39), one that has been handed over: Divy 332.16 (prose; parallel anupradattaka, q.v. for citation). Cf. parīta = °tta, BR s.v. i with parī, 3, end; twice in Mbh. In one of these, 1.8437 Calc., Sukthakar 1.224.9 reads parītās ca, tho no ms. reads so; N mss. all parītās ca; but S mss. (with a further change) paridattās ca, supporting the em. The other passage has not yet been edited.

anuparīta, ppp. (cf. Skt. parīta, prec., and next two), handed over, delivered: Mv 11.77.16 (so ... tasya) brāhmaṇasya anuparīto, vedān adhyāpēhiti (last word an em., but plausible).

anuparindanā = anuparīn°, given in KN (with the colophon of a single ms.; and kept without note in WT) as title of SP chap. 27; but in the text only (anu-)parind°, with short i, occurs.

anuparindāmi (= anuparīn°, parīn°, parin°), I give over, present: AsP 460.14; 461.12.

anuparyavanaddha (= paryava°), covered over: kudṛṣṭi-viṣama-jālānu° Dbh 28.15.

anupalabdhī, f. or adj. Anupahatamati, n. of a Bodhisattva: Mvy 720.

anupāta (m.?; cf. next; no cpd. of anu-paṭis recorded), presumably rending or the like, one of the torments of hell, in comp. with utpāta: Divy 301.26.

anupātana (nt.?) = prec., in the same cpd.: Divy 299.2, 20; 303.19.

anupāta, m., perh. trimming around the edge (of the border of a monk's robe): MSV ii.51.2, 3 (Tib. mthaḥ skor, circumference).

anupādā (= Pali id., 'mostly used before nouns ... while anupādāya ... is preferred before finite verb forms', CPD), abbreviated form of ger. anupādāya, q.v., not clinging (to existence): Mv ii.293.13 anupādāśravebhyas cittāni vimuktāni (same phrase with anupādāya, q.v.); in Mv i.69.15 read anupāda (m.c. for °dā; mss. °dāya, unmetr.; Senart em. °di, wrongly) vimukti, cf. Pali anupādā vimutto (CPD s.v.).

anupādāya, indecl. (ger.; = Pali id.; also °dā, q.v.; formally neg. to upādāya, which however seems not recorded in Pali or BHS in mg. corresponding to this; but cf. upādīyati), not clinging (to existence): anupādāyaśravebhyas (or °āsrav-) cittāni vimuktāni, not clinging, their thoughts were freed from the depravities, SP 179.17; Mv i.329.19; iii.67.1; 337.4 (cittam vimuktam); 338.20; RP 59.19; KP 138.2; 145.2; (cf. Pali yāva me anupādāya āsavehi cittam vimuccati, Dh. comm. 1.86.7); anupādāya parinirvṛto Mv i.302.12; 357.16 (°vṛtā); cf. Pali °dāya nibbuto, e. g. Dh. 414.

anupāna-paṭṭaka, nt. Pali anupubba, nt., Skt. ānupūrva, nt., and ānupurvi, f.), regular order; serial process: Śikṣ 108.3 anupūrva eṣo lha śāsanasya, naikena janmena labheta bodhim, this serial (successive) process applies to the teaching in this world; one cannot get enlightenment in a single birth. See the following entries.

anupūrvam, adv. (= Pali anupubbam; app. not in this sense in Skt.), in the course of time: anupūrva, m.c. for °vam, SP 203.11; 384.7 (in the last ed. prints as if cpd. with puṇyena, which is less likely than taking it as separate adv.).

anupūrvaka, f. °ikā (= Pali anupubbaka, ānupubbika; also ānupubbī-kathā), graduated, arranged step by step: °vikām kathāṃ kṛtvā Divy 355.17.

anupūrva-vihāra-samāpatti, f. (= Pali anupubba°; also anupūrva-(samādhi-)samāpatti, q.v.), the attainments of (nine) successive stages: navānu° (see samāpatti) Mvy 1498; ŚsP 58.8. They consist of the four dhyāna, the four ārūpya stages, and (samjñā-vedayita-)nīrodha-samā°. So also in Pali, e. g. AN iv.410.1 ff. (list of the nine anupubbavihāra) and 23 ff., list and detailed description of the nine samāpatti; both consist of four jhāna, four formless states, āruppa, and saññāvedayitanirodha (or their 'attainments').

anupūrvāśas, adv. (= Pali °pubbaso), in due course: SP 112.7; Mv ii.240.2 (°saḥ).

anupūrva-samāpatti (= Pali anupubba°), = anupūrva-vihāra-samāpatti: Divy 95.21-22 navānu°; also anupūrva-samādhi-samāpatti, Dharmas 82.

Anupūrvasamudgata-parivarta, m., n. of a (? part of a) work: Śikṣ 313.1. anupūrvī (= Pali °pubbī, beside ānupubbī; Skt. only ānu°), succession, regular series: °vi-bandham Lañk 255.1, cited Śikṣ 135.5 (wrongly em. in ed.).

mentary prajñāpti, Mv 9214; follows prajñāpti 9213, q.v. Lack of clear context leaves precise mg. uncertain.

anupraṇidhi (not in Pali), = praṇidhi, vow (to persist towards enlightenment); commoner than the verb anupraṇidheti and often object of praṇidheti, e. g. Mv i.112.15; 113.7; 114.3; 115.5; 116.12; 117.8; 118.13; used after anupraṇidheti Mv i.119.15 (mss., Senart wrongly praṇidhim for anu°, presumably m.c., but meter is defensible with anu); °dhih, without either verb, Mv i.336.14.

anu-praṇidheti (not in Pali), = praṇidheti, makes a vow (to persist towards enlightenment); °dheti Mv i.119.15; °dhemī (mss. anuparidehi) 323.1; °dhesī, aor., 335.11; °hitam, ppp., i.63.3. See anupraṇidhi, which is commoner than the verb. If there is any difference between this and praṇi° without anu, it does not appear clearly; anu does not necessarily imply after (a gift or meritorious act), tho this often precedes; in Mv i.323.1 however none is mentioned.

anu-pratipanna (ppp. of *anu-prati-padyati, Aśokan anupaṭip(a)jati, and in the Pali adj. anu-paṭipajjanaka; cf. next), following after: tathatvānupratipannaḥ Dbh 42.11.

Lists are given LV 106.11 ff.; Mv ii.43.8 ff.; Mvy 268 ff.; Dharmas 84; a Pali list cited by Burnouf, Lotus App. VIII, 2, from the Dharmapradīpikā; this I have been able to use only at second-hand, from Burnouf. (In Bbh 376.11 ff. a wholly discordant list which consists simply of 80 parts of the body.) From the five lists above mentioned I have tried to reconstruct, as well as possible, what may have been the original list; some items are conjectural. In order, the Pali list is quite close to Mvy and Dharmas; Mv is not too remote from it; LV is radically shifted in order. In my list I cite adjectival forms (applied to the Buddha), as in (Mv) texts add -tā, making abstract nouns: 1. āyāma-nakha; 2. snigdha-n°; 3. tuṅga-n°; 4. vṛttāṅguli; 5. anupūrvāṅguli; 6. citāṅguli; 7. (ni-)gūḍha-śira (veins); 8. nirgranthi-ś°; 9. gūḍha-gulpha; 10. aviśama-pāda; 11. ślpha-vikrānta-gāmin; 12. nāga-v°-g°; 13. haṃsa-v°-g°; 14. vṛṣabha-v°-g°; 15. pradakṣiṇāvarta-gāmin; 16. cāru-g°; 17. avakra-g°; 18. vṛtta-gātra; 19. mṛṣṭa-g°; 20. anupūrvag°; 21. śuci-g°; 22. mṛdu-g°; 23. viśuddha-g°; 24. paripūrṇa-vyañjana (sex organs complete); 25. prthu-cāru-jānu-man-ḍala; 26. sama-krama; 27. sukumāra-gātra; 28. adina-g°; 29. (?) anutsanna-g°; 30. susaṃhata-g°; 31. suvilbhaktāṅga-pratyāṅga; 32. There are of course variants for many of these, but except as indicated by question-marks and parentheses, I believe the list is substantially original.

aneja, adj., hyper-Skt. (or Pkt. dial., Pischel 236) for MIndic (Pali) aneja (Pkt. aneja), immovable, or free from desire; ep. of Buddha, Mv ii.35.6; iii.93.7; 121.5; (not of Buddha; text fragmentary; app. firm, hard to move) Mahāsamājasūtra, Waldschmidt, Kl. Skt. Texte 4 p. 159, last line. Interpretation correct in Waldschmidt; Senart thinks = ananyaneja, q.v., but there is no support for this in Pali or elsewhere. The Pali parallel to the Mahāsa-māj. verse, DN ii.254.18, actually reads anejā, proving our interpretation.

Aneṣa, m., n. of a samādhi, not seeking: ŚsP 1417.14 f. (defined: yatra samādhau sthītvā na kamcid dharmam eṣate). The Mvy has erroneously Animiṣa, q.v., in place of this.

anairyānika, adj. (cf. Pali anīryānika; opp. of nairy°) not conducive to deliverance: Bbh 13.14 and Dbh 69.32, see nairy° for both.

a-naiṣpeṣikatā, see naiṣ°.

anokāśa, adj. Bhvr. Most mss. read anākāśā, but there can be little doubt that Senart's text is correct.

Anotaptagātra, n. of two former Buddhas in the same list: Mv i.141.10, 15. (Cf. Anavatapta.)

anotrapa, adj. (see next), shameless, indecent: Mv iii.11.4 °po. The short penultimate vowel may well be m.c.; see otrapa.

anotrāpin, adj. (= Pali anottāpin; cf. prec., otrapa, otrapya, avatrāpya), shameless, indecent: Mv i.110.8 (prose) °piṇaś ca; in Ud xx.5 prob. read anotrāpi (or °api?) for what ed. doubtfully records as anotrāpū.

an-odaka (= Pali id., besides an-ud°, an-ūd°; in Pali usually adj., but also noun), (waterless); as subst. a waterless place: Mv ii.263.1 °ke in a waterless place. The passage is prose; o cannot be m.c.

anopa (m.? = Skt. anūpa), marsh: Mv iii.326.21; the mss. are corrupt but Senart's em., paundarikam yathā varṇam anope na pralipyate, seems plausible; Pali has anopā, f. (CPD).

an-opapanna, ppp. (m.c. for an-upa°), not born: Gv 334.3.

an-opama, f. °mī, adj. (= Pali id.; for Skt. an-upama; in BHS prob. only m.c.), matchless: Mv i.166.12 (°mī); 207.18 = ii.12.8; ii.379.19; iii.110.14. All vs; so far as meter and text-readings are clear, m.c.

an-opalīpta, neg. ppp. (= an-upa°; Pali has an-ūpa° in vs, and so also BHS; in BHS not exclusively m.c., see § 3.71), not defiled: Mv ii.419.4 (prose); Śikṣ 46.16 (so mss.; vs but not m.c.); may be m.c. in Mv iii.118.9 = 326.6; SP 14.6 (vs); LV 224.15; Samādh p. 59 l. 9 f.

Anomiya, nt. (cf. Pali Anomā, n. of a river, see CPD; plays the same rôle in the Buddha's life-history), n. of a place (adhiṣṭhāna) in the Malla country, south of Kapilavastu, to which the Bodhisattva went first after leaving home: it was near the hermitage of the ṛṣi Vasiṣṭha (2), q.v.: °yam Mv ii.164.18; 207.12; iii.189.9; °yāto, abl., Mv ii.166.11; 189.1. an-osāna (for Skt. an-avasāna), without end: anuṭ-pannā °nā(h) Mv i.314.17 (vs), of Buddhas.

anupamya (nt.?), a high number: °yasya Gv 105.21. See s.v. poma for correspondents.

an-aupaśamika, adj. (neg. of aupa°, q.v.), not tending to tranquillity: Jm 181.19 °kam (grhāvāsam; mss. grhā°).

anta, m. (= Pali id., see CPD 3), contrasting principle or opinion: anta-samudhāraḥ MSV 1.221.8 (here, discussion as to whether Buddha and his order were greedy or not).

antaḥ-pūti, adj. (= Pali anto-pūti), rotten inside: Mvy 9138; ed. antarpūty-avasrutah, as cpd., but Mironov. anta-pūti (so Kyoto ed. v.l.) and avasrutah as separate words; in MSV 1.50.7 (antaḥpūti), and in Pali, where the same cliché of which this word forms a part occurs repeatedly (see CPD), this and avasuta (= BHS avasuta) are separate words. Applied to a bad monk; on the orig. literal meaning see avasruta. Also antaḥpūti-bhāva, m., MSV 1.49.3, 11; 50.6.

antaka, adj. (or subst.; = Pali auj. anta [cf. ānta], Skt. antya; a MIndic form; not destructions with Senart), low, vile (person or thing): Mv iii.186.2-3 na ātapo tāpayati, antakā tāpayanti mām; antakāś ca... te tāpenti na ātapo. Cf. line 4 itvaraṃ khu ayaṃ tāpo; see itvara, which is the clue to the mg. of antaka.

? antakoṭa, nt. (Senart's em.; mss. amba°, ava°, ata°), n. of some product of the carpenter's craft: Mv ii.465.2 °tāni, 13 °tā.

anta-yugika, adj., of the last age: Bbh 14.23.

antara (1) nt. (= Pall id., defined by kāraṇa; see CPD s.v. ^oantara, A, 3, kim antaram = kim kāraṇam, what's the matter?, not well defined in Dictt.), state of the case, circumstance, matter, reason: Mv 1.360.11 ko jānāti kim atra antaram, who knows what is the matter (reason, circumstance) in this?; 11.66.15 na paribudhyāmi kim atra antaram, I do not understand what is the matter here; (2) nt. and m. (essentially = Skt. id., nt., noted here as somewhat peculiar idiom), interval, space between: Mv 11.101.13 (janapadasya) antaram nāsti, there was no interval of (space between) people, i. e., they were closely crowded together; Mv 11.113.9 antaro janasya nāsti; (3) see triy-antara.

antara-kalpa, m. (= Pall ^okappa), internal (sub-division of a) kalpa or aeon, or intermediate kalpa (period between major kalpas). In AbhidhK. 111.181 the var. antahkalpa is recorded, along with this; it seems to point to the first definition above, and La Vallée Poussin, ad loc., considers this the only correct definition; there are 80 in a mahākalpa, op. cit. 187 (in Pall 64, CPD). On the other hand Mvy 8281 renders antara-(kalpa) by Tib. bar gyl, intermediate, and similarly śāstrāntara-, rogāntara-, durbhikṣāntara-k^o 8282-4; these suggest that antara-kalpas are periods of destruction or disaster for people, cf. CPD s.v. ^okappa, a (short) intermediate period (of destruction of mankind). CPD recognizes both the above meanings, and this seems provisionally probable. It is often not clear which appears in specific cases; in Gv 325.15 perhaps the second: dvādaśānām antarakalpānām atyayaṇa SP 67.1; prabhāṣate taj jīna agradharmān... antarakalpaśaṣṭim SP 25.8; cf. Dharmas 87 (see s.v. kalpa 4); SP 159.3 ff.; Mmk 295.9 (^opam jivati). In SP 68.10 text manujānam abhyantara-kalpa (= antara^o), but prob. read ^ojān' apl antara^o (see WT).

antar-āpatti, f. (= Pali id.), a (repeated) offense performed during probation (parivāsa) and concealed: MSV III.34.15 °tīm pūrvāpattipratirūpām pratiśchannām; 35.2, 5 etc. This leads to mūlaparivāsa.

antarā-parinirvāyin, adj. (= Pall °nibbāyi), acc. to Tib. on Mvy 1015 (bar ma dor, for antarā) attaining nirvāṇa in the intermediate state (between death and rebirth; i. e. before the soul can be reborn in a new existence); Dharmas 103; Mv 1.33.6. Acc. to CPD, rather entering nirvāṇa before the term, i. e. before having passed the first half of life (in the middle of life). This seems to be the orthodox Pali interpretation, but the Tib. Interpretation was also known (cf. CPD s.v. antarābhava); it is refuted in Kathāvatthu viii.2 (Transl. pp. 212-3).

antarā-pūrṇa-tā, state of being full in the middle: Gv 64.12 (mahāsāgarasya).

antarā-bhava, m. (= Pall and Skt. Lex. id.), intermediate state of existence (between death and rebirth; in standard Pali rejected as a heresy, see antarāparinirvāyin): Mvy 7680; Bbh 390.19 ff. antarāya, nt. (only m. in Skt. and Pall), hindrance: LV 111.6 (vs) na cāntarāyam lha. (Could perhaps be analyzed as °rāya-m-lha, with 'hiatus-bridging' m.).

antarāyika, adj. (= Pall id.; also āntar°, and neg. an-antar°, qq.v.), connected with hindrances; causing obstacles or obstruction, regularly with dharma, obstructive conditions (so in Pall with dhamma): °ka-dharma Mvy 133; 9324; °kā dharmās Prāt 514.5 ff.

? antarāvāsa (m.?), interval: Mv 1.258.20 (prose), ardhayojanikenāntarāvāseṇa, at intervals of half a yojana (but mss. °āntarvās°, °āntavās°; em. Senart). Cf. Pall antarāvāsa, Dīp. 5.80 Tambapaṇṇi-antar°, apparently interval of time; interregnum (so Oldenberg, CPD).

antarika, adj. (to Skt. antara), neighboring, situated near: Mvy 8593, 8594.

antarikā (= Pall id.; in Skt. cited from Kauṭ. A., see Schmidt, Nachträge; cf. āntarikā; see also lok-āntarikā, separately), space between, interval, interstice; in some of the following ānt° may be intended, samdhi ambiguous: Mv 1.13.12 teṣām (sc. parvatānām) antarikām (all mss.; Senart em. °kaṃ) ... praveśitāḥ (so read); 1.21.1 parvatāntarikām (all mss., perhaps to be kept as adv. from cpd., in between the mountains; Senart em. °ka-); 1.21.3 parvatāntarikām (so Senart with most mss., but C, one of the best, °kā; read °kā or °kāṃ) pravīṣanti; 1.300.19 sapta parvatā dvipāntarikā (cpd. adj.), the 7 mountains between the continents; Dbh 58.13 bodhisattva-caryāntarikā, of the dividing line between the various bhūmi; ŚSP 1442.20 prathamasya dhyānasya dvitīyasya dhyānasyāntarikā, the interval between the 1st and 2nd dhyāna.

antarikṣa, adj. (= Skt. ānt°), of the atmosphere, atmospheric, of a class of gods, see deva; also antarikṣa, and under antarikṣecara, q.v.: LV 367.7 (devās); Av 1.109.7 (devāsura ... mahoragāḥ; Speyer em. ānt°).

antarikṣa, adj. (= antarikṣa; Skt. ānt°), of the atmosphere, a class of gods, see deva: LV 266.1, 4; 396.14; 401.1. As noun, antarikṣa also occurs in Skt., but much more commonly in BHS (= antarikṣa): e. g. SP 23.14; 69.10; LV 75.7; 218.18; Mv 1.31.4; 33.5; 179.10; Divy 324.28; 340.5; Suv 84.9; RP 45.20; Gv 117.15.

antarikṣadevalipi, a kind of script: LV 126.4.

antarikṣecara, adj. m. (with deva; cf. Pall antallik-khacara, which seems not to be recorded of any class or category of gods), moving or living in the atmosphere, n. of a class of gods, see deva; = antarikṣa, °ṭṣa, āntarikṣavāsin: Mv 1.40.14; 229.15; 240.4; 1.138.12; 348.16; in all after bhūmya deva, and before other classes of kāmāvacara-gods.

Lex. and Pall Lex. id., Pkt. antarijja; once in Skt. literature, see Schmidt, Nachträge), undergarment: SP 212.12; 213.2 baddhvā (mss. in 212.12 baddho) °ntariye. But WT cite ms. K' both times as baddhvottariye, supported by Tib. bla gos, upper garment (Skt. uttariya); doubtless read so.]

-antariyaka, adj. lfc., = -antariya, adj.; see jāty-antariyaka.

antare (= Skt., BR s.v. antara, 2e), prep. with gen., between; paralleled by antarāt before the second noun, LV 380.11, see s.v. antarāt.

antareṇa, instr. of n. used as adv. and prep. (in this sense nowhere recorded in Skt. or MIndic), (at) a later time (orig. interval): yena antareṇa ahaṃ prasūtā bhaviṣyāṃ tato gamiṣyāṃ Mv 1.365.3, at what later time, after what interval, when (later) ...; °adv., afterwards, after (this) Mv 1.362.8 (with no dependent noun; Senart wrongly in the interval); atrāntareṇa after this Mv 1.96.6 (so mss., to be kept, Senart em. wrongly); mamāntareṇa after me SP 26.4 (vs); LV 39.4 (prose); yo (e)tasya (mss.) mrgiye antareṇa Mv 1.362.5, 7, who (comes) after this doe (here Senart correctly recognizes the mg., referring to Burnouf on SP 26.4, where the right interpretation is already given). (In Mv 1.209.6 mamāntareṇa means with reference to me; Senart misunderstands. Skt. uses antareṇa in this sense with acc. and also with gen., see BR 5.997.)

antaroddāna, nt. (see uddāna), internal, inserted summary of details of contents (in the midst of a story, referring to an episode), Tib. bar sdom (bar = antarā, °ra-): Mvy 1475; Divy 102.27 (a mark of punctuation should be put before and after °dānam; what follows is a tabulation of the proper names occurring in the following episode); MSV 1.69.16 (referring to a minor part of the story).

antar-jana, m. (once antaḥjana, m.c.; = Pall anto-jana), people of the inside, family, household: LV 135.4 antajanam (m.c.; v.l. antari°, unmetr.); otherwise always antari°: LV 157.11, 14; 302.18; Mvy 3916; Divy 301.12; 312.5.

antardhāni (f.?, cf. Skt. °dhāna, Pall antaradhāna; more particularly cf. AMg. antaddhāni, the art of making oneself invisible; and see next), disappearance: Bbh 14.13, 21 saddharmāntardhānim (acc. sg.).

antardhānika, adj. (to prec., q.v.), causing to disappear (by magic), ep. of mantras, cf. Pall antaradhāna-manta: Mmk 151.20 °ka-mantrā(h); usually as subst. without expression of mantra, a magic charm having this effect, Mmk 670.2 °kaṃ (sc. mantram) bhavati; 705.29; sarvāntardhānikānām rājā (696.10 prabhur) bhavati, he becomes master of all (charms) that cause invisibility, Mmk 291.24; 295.8, 14; 696.10; 719.2.

antar-dhita, ppp. (hyper-Skt. = Skt. antar-hita, BHS antara-hita; see antara-dhāyati), concealed: Gv 444.13 (prose).

antarmukha, adj. (pendant to Skt. bahirmukha), turned towards (loc.): antarmukho nirvāpe bahirmukhaḥ saṃsārād MSV iv.22.6; this (perh. with MIndic antemukho or antomukho?) was surely the orig. reading in Divy 1.18 (delete na; construe bahirmukhaḥ with the abl. as regularly).

antarvartini (? possibly cf. Skt. antarvatni, f. to °vant, Pāp. 4.1.32; but the word has the aspect of a cpd. of Skt. antar with -vartini), pregnant: patni antarvartini saṃvṛttā Divy 234.17.

antarvarṣā, or °ṣa, m. (= Pall antaravassa, antovassa), the rainy season: °ṣā Mvy 9424; °ṣa MSV iii.27.16, 17; 28.3, 4.

antar-hāpayati, °hāyati, °te, see antara-hā°.

antavāsin (= Skt. Lex. id., for the usual antevāsin), pupil: Sukh 3.5 karmārāntavāsinā, instr.

antaśas, adv. (= antatas, antamaśas, etc., qq.v.), so much as, Ger. sogar: Mvy 6331 = Tib. tha na; SP 108.3; 224.6 ff. antaśa ekāpi gāthā, so much as a single stanza; 263.11 (Kashgar rec. antamaśaḥ, q.v.); 277.6 nāntaśo dharmasamprāṇepi, not even with passion for the Law; 277.7; 286.3; 349.4; 372.2; Mv 1.104.6; ii.15.5 (see s.v. antamaśatas); Divy 161.24; Av 1.314.6 (kecit suvar-ṇam kecid antaśaḥ kārṣāṇam, some gold, some as much as, i. e. at least, a kārṣāṇa); Suv 6.12; 89.5 (foll. by prāḡ eva, not to speak of...); 125.10; 129.2, 5; 132.9; RP 57.12; Śīks 16.13 etc.; Gv 160.3-4; 175.20; Dbh 23.14; Sukh 71.14 etc.; Lañk 255.3 tato 'ntaśaḥ (so read with citation Śīks 135.6 for text daśa-) prakṛtimtāny api; Vaj 25.2 etc.

antaścālin, going within (to the heart, reality, of matters): Lañk 10.7 °cālinā, na bāhyārthadrṣṭyabhini-

antaḥśālya- (once in ŚB, once Cl. Skt., see BR, pw), inner dart, fig. internal torment, anguish: only noted in cpd. antaḥśālyaparidāghajāta (also antaś°, antoś°) afflicted with the anguish of internal torment Mv 1.42.3 = 230.11 = 240.20; ii.163.2; 268.9, 12; 276.16.

-antika, adj. (from anta; = Pall id.), ending in...: abhisamayāntika, ending in abhisamaya, q.v. (1): "kaṃ kuśalamūlam Mvy 1208; "kaḥ (without noun, context not clear; sc. mārgaḥ?) Mvy 6891; belonging to, related to, connected with, occasioned by, (prakramaṇa-, etc.; corresp. to Pall list Vin. 1.256.20 ff.) MSV ii.161.16 ff. For other cpds. see s.v. -amśika, and śākhāntika.

antikāt, adv., postpos. antikāvacara, m. (= Pall antikāvacara, DN 1.206.2), (one who lives near, i. e.) companion, close associate: Mv 1.67.20 "kaḥ kāśyapaḥ.

antike, adv., postpos., in reference to, with gen.: SP 107.4-5 daridrapuruṣas tasya gṛhapater antike pitṛ-saṃjñām utpādayet, would conceive the notion of father in reference to that householder, i. e. would think of him as his father; similarly SP 286.1; also LV 244.1 naiṣa māmāntike viśīṣṭasaṃjñā bhaven (see saṃjñā 5); Mv 1.30.9 devānām... antike cittāni pradūṣayitvā, because antiṣṭha-, in Mv ii.390.1, Senart antiṣṭha-guptām (but mss. °guptam or °upam) bahuśāllmadhye, apparently epithet of rājadhānīm, capital city. The following word, in the midst of much rice, suggests that a form of upta, sown, may be the true reading, with v.l.; antiṣṭha- could be superl. to Pali anti(m), close by, near (Ved. anti): sown very close (up to the city-limits), in the midst of abundant rice?

ante, adv. (= Pali id., Skt. antar), within (cf. also next), contrasted with bahis; ante nidhiḥ bahir nidhiḥ etc. Mv ii.436.8-9, repeated 437.4 etc.

ante-pura (nt., = Pali id., Skt. antaḥp°; cf. prec.), inner apartments, harem: Mv ii.159.11 °pure (v.l. antaḥ-pure).

antevāsika, m. (= Pali id.; Skt. antevāsin), pupil: Gv 464.19 (prose); Lañk 48.8 (vs).

antogata, adj. (= Pall id., Skt. antargata), turned inward, of the Indriyas (so in Pali): Mv 1.237.10 antogatehi indriyehi abahirgataṃānasena (of a Buddha).

antodaka, adj. (for anta(r) or Pali anto, within, plus (u)daka water, prepos. cpd.), within the water: Mv ii.318.7 (prose) antodakāni (utpalāni etc.); in Mv ii.121.9 antodake, perhaps in (a place that is within the) water; this could be two words, = Skt. antar udake, but the parallel suggests that it too is a cpd.

antra-guṇa, m., nt. (= Pali anta-guṇa, nt.; cf. guṇa 2), intestinal tract, mesentery: Mvy 4025 °guṇa, = Tib. gñe ma the twisted part of the colon or great gut (Jäschke); the coiled intestine (Zam. ap. Das); Mv 1.8.8; Divy 375.14 °guṇān; Śīks 81.13 (read with mss. antrāṇy antraguṇam; n. sg.); 209.9 antrāṇy antraguṇa(h); Gv 328.19 °guṇa-, stem. See also āntraguṇa. In BHS seems to be masc. except in Śīks 81.13, and sometimes pl.

antrā (1) (Skt. and Pall only nt. antra, anta) intestines: antrāyām, loc., Divy 409.15; (2) a high number: Gv 106.7 (could also intend āntrā).

andhakāra-tamirā (= Pall °timissā), deep (blind-) darkness, in the passage treated s.v. lokāntarikā, q.v.: SP 163.8; LV 410.14 (in 51.11 andhakārās tamirā; prob. haplog. for *kāra andhakāra-tamirā both times); Divy 204.23 (and repetitions); ŚsP 102.17.

andhakāra-tamisrita (ppp. denom. from prec.), made completely dark: °tam Mv ii.266.9; so I would emend; mss. corrupt; Senart's em. surely wrong.

andhakārāpita-tva, nt. (abstr. from caus. pple. to denom. verb from andhakāra, darkness), state of being darkened; so (or, possibly, andhakārāyita-tva, from non-caus. denom. pple.) I would read at Mv 1.41.5; 229.20; 240.9; ii.162.9; iii.334.7; 341.12. The mss. are corrupt in the entire passage (see lokāntarikā) and particularly at this point; Senart reads *kāraṇpitā, but there is no support for the -r- in the mss. The Mv seems to have read andhakārā andhakārāpitatvā (? °yitatvā), tamirā tamirā-yitatvā (q.v.), darknesses, darkenednesses, glooms, begloomednesses. Only Mv has the second member of each pair (the derivatives of denom. pples.); the other parallel passages point to something like andhakārā andhakāratamirāḥ, q.v.

andhakāla (m. or nt.), (1) time of being blind: Kv 59.4, said of a son by his parents, (jārākāle yaṣṭibhūto) andhakāle mārgasyopadarśakāḥ (so read for text °opamardakāḥ; foll. by maraṇakāle pīṇadātā); (2) n. of a hell: Kv 18.14 (read Andhakāra? but this is not recorded as n. of a hell).

andhala, adj. (to andha; recorded only as Pkt. in Hem. 2.173), blind: Mvy 8873.

andhāra (m. or nt.; § 3.118; = AMg. id., Skt. and Pali andhakāra), darkness: Mmk 61.3 saṃsārāndhāra-cārake, and 66.25 °cārīṇam (both vss, may be m.c.). Cf. next two.

Andhāravāsini, n. of a yakṣiṇī: Mmk 567.10. Cf. prec. and next.

Andhārasundarī, n. of a yakṣiṇī (= Tama(h)-sundarī, q.v.): Mmk 567.5. Cf. prec. two.

anyajānmika, adj. (from Skt. anyajanman), belonging to another birth: Bbh 100.19, 25.

anyatama, adj. (1) (in this sense not precisely paralleled; cf. BR 7.1697, with śrī, another, a second Śrī), other, = anya: Av 1.95.13 rājā prasenañjīd anyatamaś ca mahājanakāyāḥ, King P. and the other people, a great multitude; (2) at end of cpd., in (devo vā) devānyatamo vā MSV 1.50.5, = Pali devo vā devaññataro vā, acc. to PTSD (a god or) one of the retinue of a god. Neither the context nor the Pali citations give any clue; it would seem to mean lit. some one of the gods.

anyatamaka, adj. (to anyatama), belonging to another: Sukh 58.15 (nāsti teṣām) anyatamaka-saṃjñā nāsti svaka-saṃjñā, they have no notion of what is another's nor of what is their own.

anyatamānyatama, adj., = anyatarānyatara: MSV 11.99.3. Bbh. 7.1.259.

anyatara, adj., like Pali aññatara (and cf. katara, q.v.) is very commonly used without its Skt. limitation to one of two; rather, as equivalent of Skt. anyatama (which is also used in BHS in the same way, notably in Divy and Av), and chiefly (1) in the mg. a certain; (an unspecified) one (of many): Mv 1.36.10 (here could be interpreted in mg. 2); 343.4; 11.31.19; 65.1; 96.15; 145.4; 171.9; 461.14; 111.15.7; 53.13; Divy 102.8; 226.19; 227.26; 254.6; Av 1.137.11; 208.8; 235.6; 244.3; Suv 214.4; RP 39.16; Śiṅṅ 39.1 (wrongly rendered another by Bendall and Rouse); Gv 84.17; Karmav 32.12; 35.16; Lañk 176.8; (2) much more rarely, another, any other (of an unlimited number); so possibly (but not probably) Mv 1.36.10, above; and RP 56.19 sarvathānapekṣo 'bhūt kāye jivite ca, prāḡ evānyatarasmin bāhyavastuni, ... how much less (not to speak of) in regard to any other external matter; (3) some (one or other), one or another, substantially = anyatarānyatara, q.v.: Mmk 304.16 anyataraṇa śucinā celakhaṇḍena.

anyatarānyatara, adj. (= Pali aññataraññatara), one or another (of many, or more than two): Mv 11.362.9 °taraṇa yānena, by one or other of the (three) vehicles; Mv 11.73.2 °tare vā āṅgajāte, or to one or another sort of member (of the horse's body); 74.4 (pañcānām vāñijakaśātānām) °taro vāñijako; Śiṅṅ 98.20; Vaj 28.16; MSV 11.199.13.

anyatra, adv., (1) on the contrary (this mg. seems exclusively peculiar to BHS); always after negative expressions: SP 73.10 anyatra tena tenaiva dhāvanti, (they pay no attention and do not understand;) on the contrary, they run this way and that; 102.9 na kasyacid ācakṣed anyatraika evātmanādhyātman samtapyed, he would not speak of it to anyone; on the contrary, he would all alone be grieving himself by himself; 284.9; 378.4; LV 71.6 (Māyā felt no heaviness of body, gurukāyatām); anyatra laghutām eva, on the contrary, nothing but lightness; 259.16; 260.8; 268.15; Mv 11.66.8 and 15 (there is no soul nor anything resembling a soul); atha evam anyatra karma caiva karmavipākam ca hetuś (first time, hetuṃ) caiva hetusamutpannā ca dharmā(h), but rather, on the contrary, only action etc. (see under atha); Lañk 9.7 (see s.v. vikalpa; wrongly Suzuki); 39.7 anyatra kāraṇataḥ, on the contrary, from a cause (wrongly Suzuki); 119.6 (place daṇḍa between evam and anyatra); 152.1; RP 42.4; Samādh 22.39

anyathātva, nt. (= Pali aññathatta; Pali adv. aññathā is correspondingly used; neither used in this mg. in Skt.), (change for the worse), depression, distress, disturbed (mental) state: Divy 49.22 apareṣām bhaviṣyaty °tvam, the others will be distressed; 51.11; Sukh 4.13 na mukhavarṇasyānyathātvaṃ bhaven (?) may perhaps be rendered simply alteration, but certainly for the worse is implied).

anyathābhāva (m.; in Skt. and Pali only anyathābhāva, añña°), alteration, altered state or condition: LV 423.11–12 -anyanyathābhāvam (Bhvr. cpd.); Bbh 243.8 °bhāvād; Ud III.12 °bhāvo (Bhvr. cpd.; v.l. -anyathā°); and in Mv II.146.14–15 read, na viparipāmānyathābhāvo bhavēyā (mss. °mānyarthi°; Senart em. °mānyārti°).

anyapakṣikām, mss., Mv II.80.17; Senart em. anyanyapakṣikā (with jñātayo), perhaps rightly (better meter, and a n. pl. seems required); Senart harmonious; better not adhering to other (heretical) sects?

anyamānya, adj. or pron. (= Pali aññamañña, in both mgs.; cf. anyonya), (1) one another; as pron., adj., or adv. (°nyam) or in comp., mutual, reciprocal (= anyonya): SP 209.5 (vs) paramparā eva tathānyamanyam te vyākariṣyanti; 359.2 (vs) ye cānyamanyasya karonti ghoṣān; LV 176.9 (vs) anyamanyopacayena, by mutual assistance; Suv 16.12 (vs) anyamānyānukūlena; RP 38.11 (vs). In prose of most texts replaced by anyonya; but Mv has it often in prose. Note anyonya SP 163.11, 12; LV 51.16; 410.19, 20; while in the same passage (prose) anyamānya is used in Mv I.41.8 = 230.3 = III.334.11 = 341.15 (but in I.240.13 anyonya). Inflected like anyonya in Skt.: °nyam, acc., Mv I.10.12 (here adv.); 13.8; II.436.16, 17; III.453.7; °nyasya I.27.7; 266.1; °nyasmim I.16.10; (2) like Pali aññamañña and like anyonya in BHS, also various, different, with no reciprocal sense: SP 125.14 (vs) °nyehi arthehi; 358.11 (vs) ghoṣāms tatha cānyamanyān; in this mg. also replaced by anyonya in prose generally, but in Mv retained in prose: III.390.5 °nyāhi parivrajikāhi.

anyavāda- (m.?, cf. Pali aññavādaka, adj. and n. nt.), talking about something else, shuffling and evading the question (CPD); in anyavāda-viheṭhana, nt., (a monk's) causing annoyance (to the community) by doing this, v.l. in Kyoto ed. of Mvy for 8433, text ājñā-viheṭhanam (so Mironov without v.l.; Tib., Chin. and Jap. violation of commands; for the v.l. the Jap. editor gives the correct interpretation, as above); Prāt 505.1, text anyā-vāda (-viheṭhanāt), which Flinot would em. to anya°; Chin. °si un bhikṣu ennulé les autres en donnant des réponses à côté (= anya°). The corresp. Pali, Vin. IV.36.3, 18, 37 etc., has añña-vādaka, which certainly means what is stated above (the context proves it clearly). Mvy ājñā (-vāda) is evidently an ignorant and secondary hyper-Sktism, based on a Māndic form of anya- interpreted as = ājñā- (cf. § 2.15). It is, however, very curious that the text of Prāt reads anyā- with long stem-final ā!

anyātaka, adj. (§ 2.15; = Pali aññāta, °taka; AMg. aññāya; from Skt. ājñāta, in Māndic stranger), belonging to another or others; the word was unhistorically Sktized by association with anya, other: Mv I.346.11 ff. (repeatedly), e.g. adinnam anyātakam śālim, rice belonging to others and not given (by them). In MSV IV.107.11 spelled anyā-dakam (ed. em. ājñātakam); Tib. (Dutt, 108 n.1) gzan gl, of another (anya).

anyāsi (representing Pali aññāsi? quasi-Māndic for semi-Māndic ājñāsi, which Senart reads by em., or āj°), aor. of jñā-, knew: Mv III.386.18 (vs); § 2.15.

anyena, adv. (1) elsewhere, to another place: Mv III.425.13 aho punar me āśramāto ... anyena prakrameyā, but I wish he would depart elsewhere, away from my hermitage; (2) anyena ... anyena (= Pali aññena ... aññena), by one way ... by another: Mv III.59.18 anyena śāripūtro ... anyena maudgalyāyano.

anyonya, adj. (generally used as in Skt.; but also) various, different (= anyamānya, 2, and Pali aññamañña); replaces anyamānya in prose of most texts: SP 132.3 (prose) na santi ... trīṇi yānāni, kevalam anyonya- caritāḥ sattvāḥ, there are not three vehicles, only creatures with different courses of action; 134.6 (prose) anyonya-dravyasamyuktāḥ, mixed with various substances; 137.13 (prose); 221.7 (prose) anyonyāsu lokadhātuṣu; 242.8 (prose) °nyeṣubuddhakṣetreṣu ... °nya-nāmadheyās (Bhvr., of various names); Mv I.62.8 (vs) sugatānām anyonya-nāmadheyānām (as in SP 242.8); in the prose corresp. to this, I.58.16, we should surely read nānā-nāma° (mss. corruptly nānām-nāma°; one ms. by haplogr. nā-nāma°; Senart em. anyonya-nāma°).

anvardhamāsam, adv. (= Pali anvaddha°, anvaddha°), every half, month: Av II.21.12; Prāt 476.7; Bhhk 5a.1; 5b.5, etc.

anvādīśati (cf. AMg. anvādītha, ppp., Ratnachandra v. 4; otherwise not in this mg.), commands; Jm 17.25 svam puruṣam anvādīdeṣa; 133.4.

apakṣāla, m., fault, defect, failing, sin: Bbh 351.17 (catvārah) °lāḥ, te prahñā bhavanti (they are then listed; as a result of the riddance, the viḥāra becomes supariśuddha, line 21); 352.23 sarvāpakṣālapagata°; cf. Woghara, Lex. 17; in Mvy 7069 v.l. for Kyoto ed. apakṣaṇa, q.v. (Mironov reads apakṣālah, with v.l. only avakṣayāḥ);

Tib. skyon, regularly = doṣa; Chln. transgression, evil; Jap. evil, calamity; Śikṣ 145.6 ata evodārakuśalapakṣa-vivarjanatā 'pakṣāla ity ucyate (Bendall and Rouse throwing away, but the above meaning would fit well; Tib. ma bsrūns pa, could mean non-observance); but acc. to the Kyoto ed. of Mvy (above), Chinese versions of Śikṣ prove that its text had a form of -kṣaṇ- (which is said to be phonetically reproduced in the Chln.). Bendall and Rouse compare Pali khalayati, in Jāt. iv.205.13 (correct their ref.) khalayātha; comm. khalikāraṃ pāpetvā niddhamatha. Cf. also Pali avakkhalita, mistake, offense (CPD), which is connected with Skt. skhal-. Is apakṣāla an unhistorical back-formation from a MIndic word related to this latter? Despite the alleged Chinese support for apakṣaṇa, it seems a questionable reading, and apakṣāla should prob. be read, with Mironov in Mvy (as well as in Śikṣ, for which no v.l. is recorded).

? apakṣya, adj. (cf. Skt. pakṣya, adherent of a party, as deva-p°), having no adherents: doubtful reading, LV 301.4 (vs), Lefm. apakṣyapakṣyo, but many mss. apakṣa-pakṣo; we must read certainly pakṣo, and before it as a separate word apakṣya or apakṣa (n. sg. m.), your (Māra's) party is without adherents. The form apakṣa occurs in Skt. (Mbh. Crit. ed. 1.134.24) and in LV 273.3 saṃsāra-pakṣāpakṣa-karaṇa-gaṭhi, with the gait of one who makes partisanless the party of the saṃsāra; LV 302.13 (Māraḥ) svapakṣam cāpakṣam apaśyat, saw his party without adherents (i.e. annihilated); also in Pali as apakkha (which however could of course = apakṣya); whereas apakṣya has not been noted elsewhere.

apagata-kālaka, adj. (= Pali °kālaka; cf. kālaka 2), having no black spots, of a garment: Divy 617.8 vastram apa° (in Pali also vattham apa°); MSV iii.142.19 id.; also (as in Pali) free from moral guilt (a delinquent monk attains this state when all his penitential rites have been correctly performed), MSV iii.76.18; 79.1.

Mmk 312.6 (here text by error Āryāparājita); 318.12; 396.1 f.; Sādh 352.6 et alibi (a different personage?); (3) n. of one of the four Kumārī, q.v., or Bhagīnī (hardly to be identified with 2): Mmk 537.9; 540.5; 543.19 et alibi.

aparādhika, adj. (= Pali id., and Skt. id. acc. to pw but with wrong reference; cf. sāparādhika), guilty of offense: Av i.102.7; ii.171.1 (by em.); 182.5; Bbh 255.14.

aparādhya (cf. AMg. avarajjhati (2), to be destroyed, to be ruined, Ratnach., naṣṭa honā, Sheth; naṣyati often means disappear), disappears: Mv ii.137.9 (śakuntā:...) *aparādhya*suḥ, aor.; so mss., Senart em. apavidhyinsuḥ, but this could only mean be thrown away, which is completely inappropriate; in Mv ii.139.4, in identical context, mss. aparajhimsuḥ (°nsuḥ), Senart em. °vijhimsuḥ; read perhaps MIndic aparajjhimsuḥ, cf. AMg. above; in any case some form related to apa-rādh, aor.; disappeared.

aparānta, m. (= Pali aparanta; sometimes contrasted with pūrvānta, q.v.), the future: °ntaḥ, n. sg., Mvy 8307; RP 4.17 aparānta-kalpa-kotibhir api nāsti buddhānām... guṇaparyantaḥ; Śāl 98.2 °ntam, acc. (adv.?), cited Śikṣ 227.8; Gv 37.17, 18; 49.25 (read pūrvāntāparānta); 242.16 aparānta-kalpa; 242.19 same, 1st ed. misprinted aparanta; corr. 2d ed.; Dbh 31.5. See aparānta-koti.

aparāntaka, f. °ikā, adj. of the western border, or of the country called Aparānta; used of cloth or garments, also as nt. noun, (cloth or garments) of Aparānta Mvy 9179; °ka- in cpd. Divy 316.26, of garments (adj. or noun?). In Divy 20.22-23 perhaps read aparāntikayā guptikayā in the style of Aparānta (? see guptika); text asmāt parānti. In Divy 1.3; 18.6; 19.16, 19, 23; 21.2, 12 the mss. read corruptly, and with much variation, a text discussed by the editors on p. 703; they read asmāt parāntaka and interpret as a synonym of pratyantima, except in 19.19 where they read asmākam aparāntaka, interpreting (with privative a-) as the opposite, not distant, near. The forms are troublesome; without much confidence I suggest that forms of aparāntaka may have been found in all, meaning something like of the western border (if not specifically of the country Aparānta). But Tib. (Bailey, JRAS 1950.172) on 19.19 points to Asmāparāntaka, q.v.; and this seems to have been the regular Tib. form acc. to Schiefner, cited Divy p. 703.

aparānta-koti, f., esp. acc. sg. adv. (see koti, and cf. pūrva-koti, of which this is the opposite; corresp. to Pali pacchima-koti, the farthest (future) end, in Pali as here of the samsāra), the future end, the utmost limit (of existence, samsāra); Śikṣ 14.8 aparāntakotiṃ (adv., so read with ms.) sthāsyāmi sattvasyaikasya kāraṇāt, I will remain (in existence) to the utmost limit for the sake of a single creature; 167.16 aparāntakotiḥ samsaritavyā sattvānām paripācanaheṭor iti, one must subject himself to the round of existences to the uttermost end in order to bring creatures to maturity; 186.12 sacet punar mamaite sarvasattvā aparāntakotiṃ chindyur..., but if all these creatures should split me, up to the end of time (adv.; Bendall's note on 14.8 and Transl. misunderstand the word); -aparānta-koti-niṣṭha, Mvy 372 (ep. of a Tathāgata).

aparāpara, adj., (= Pali id.; cf. Skt. aparāparotpatti, pw), one after another, other and other, various: Mv ii.434.16 sarvasālipāyatanehi aparāparehi; Mv iii.402.3 aparāpare, n. pl., various, ever other, people; Gv 184.15 aparāpara-krimiko (vyādhir), (disease) due to one or another worm, to various worms; 521.10 °rair ākārair, with various forms.

a-parāmrṣa (neg. of parā, q.v.; = Pali °maṭṭha), unaffected (by anything unfavorable), untarnished: Mvy 1625; 7032; AsP 292.18 and 293.5 (cited s.v. parāmrṣati).

a-parikāṅkṣin, see pari°.

a-parikhinna (neg. of Skt. pari°, ppp. of pari-khid), unwearied: Dbh 19.11 (see next); SP 77.9 °na-mānasah of unwearied mind (wrongly Burnouf and Kern); °tā, state of being..., Gv 464.6 nausamācittena gamanāgamanāparikhinna-tayā (so read for text °na-pari°), with mind like a ship, because it is unwearied in coming and going.

a-parikheda, m. (neg. of Skt. pari°; cf. prec. and next), non-lassitude: Mv 1.78.16 (one of the 8 samudācāra, 1, q.v.): Dbh 19.10 f. aparikheda-cittam (here aparī° may, but need not, be a Bhvr. adj.) utpādayati; evam asyā-parikhedaḥ (here certainly n.) sambhavati.

a-parikhedana- (nt.? cf. prec. two; only in comp., and in next), non-lassitude: LV 432.19 (prose; but v.l. a-parikheda-).

a-parikhedana-tā = prec.: ŚsP 1462.8.

? a-paritamana-(tā), in Gv 463.25 dhātṛisamācittena sarvakleśāparitamanatayā, with mind like a nurse, because of not being oppressed by all impurities. BR record pari-tam once in Suśr. as bekommen werden, which yields a possible sense. Yet I suspect a graphic corruption for a-paritasana-, q.v.

a-paritarṣaṇā (if neg. to BHS paritarṣaṇā, q.v.), not craving (so Bendall and Rouse): Śīkṣ 183.5 cittasyānavallīnatā °navamrīdyatā °paritarṣaṇā. There is no doubt that BHS paritarṣaṇā means desire. But CPD derives Pall (a)paritassanā from root tras (while noting that comms. derive from tṛṣ), and this seems to get some support from the two preceding and parallel nouns in Śīkṣ; perhaps, then, after all, the not being wearied, depressed, or anxious. Cf. paritasyati.

a-paritasana- (nt.; = next, q.v.), the not being wearied or exhausted: Bbh 143.21 dūḥkhasaḥṣṇur aparitasana-jāṭiyāḥ; see also s.v. a-paritamana, and paritasana, to which I have (with hesitation) attributed a different mg.

a-paritasanya (or °nā), °na-tā (= prec.; neg. of n. act. to paritasyati, q.v. with discussion and references; cf. Pall aparitassana, °nā), non-exhaustion, lack of discouragement, not being wearied or troubled in spirit: aparitasanyābhīmukhenākhedacittotpādena (so ms., ed. em. aparitrasya°) Śīkṣ 25.7, not turned towards weariness (note a-kheda-); aparitasyanatayā, ms. at Śīkṣ 35.5 for aparipamanatayā which ed. reads with Gv 463.21 (the source of the citation; see paripamāna); nausamācittena gamanāgamanāparitasyanatayā (so mss., ed. em. °trasya°, without good reason) Śīkṣ 35.9, with mind like a ship because unwearied in going and coming; this is cited from Gv 464.6 which reads parikhinnatayā, certainly an error for aparikh°, a synonym of aparitasyana(tā), cf. akheda- above on Śīkṣ 25.7, and s.v.v. paritasyati, °tras°. Wogihara, Lex. 32 note 1, assumes that the original form of these nouns contained °tasy° and that (a-)paritasana (prec.) is a 'purism'. This can hardly be assumed in view of Pall paritasatī beside °tassatī, and BHS paritrasatī beside °syatī.

Aparitṛṣita (cf. paritṛṣita), n. of a former Buddha: Mv 1.141.13.

a-paripantha-dāyin, adj., not causing fear or danger, not a source of alarm (to anyone? to himself?), said of a successful performer of certain magic rites (cf. Skt. bhaya-dāyin, and BHS paripantha which as in Pall is a near-synonym of bhaya); so read in Mmk 291.13 (text apantā-dāyi, n. sg.); 297.28 (text apatthadāyi); 299.3 (text aparipatthadāyi).

Aparibhinna, n. of a former Buddha: Mv 1.137.4. aparimāṇa, nt. or m., a high number, Mvy 7804 (m.); 7936 (nt., cited from Gv); 8044, (nt.); Gv 106.21 (°nasya); 134.7 (nt.).

aparimāṇa-parivarta, m. or nt., square of prec., Mvy 7937 (m., cited from Gv); 7805 (m.); Gv 106.21 (°tasya); 134.8 (nt.).

a-parimāṇavant, adj. (Pall aparimāṇa), opp. of pari°, q.v.

aparimīta, nt., a high number: Mvy 8043.

Aparimītaguṇadharmā, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.2.

Aparīśrotavāhana, n. of a former Buddha: Mv 1.139.6.

a-parihāṇiya, adj. (= Pall id.), not connected with loss (CPD): with sapta ... dharma, as in Pall (satta ... dhamma), (seven) conditions of welfare (CPD), MPS 1.14 ff.; listed 2.5 ff., several lists.

aparejjukāto (but v.l. aparajju°, q.v.), adv., on the next day: Mv 11.255.14.

aparokṣa (= Skt.) in °kṣa-vijñāna LV 403.5, 9 (of Rudraka Rāmaputra) and °kṣa-jāṭiya Mv 11.322.11, 14 (of Udraka Rāmaputra) or -jāṭika Mv 11.415.10, all Bhvr. adj., of manifest, open understanding (LV), or manifest, open (? not obscure? precise mg. not very clear) in nature (Mv). Tib. renders LV rnam par ṣes pa (= vijñāna) 'klog tu ma gyur pa, (having) not secret intelligence (wrongly Foucaux). Cf. aparakṣa.

aparyanta, m. or nt., a high number: Mvy (m.) 7806, 7938 (here cited from Gv); Gv 106.21; 134.8 (here nt.). (On LV 147.2 see s.v. paryanta 3.)

aparyanta-parivarta, m. or nt., square of prec.: Mvy (m.) 7807, 7939 (here cited from Gv); Gv 106.22; 134.9 (here nt.).

Aparyantabhadra, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 443.9.

a-paryāṭta, a-paryādatta, and a-paryādinna (all ppp. to pary-ā-dā with neg. a-; = Pall apariyādinna; cf. paryādadāti, paryādāna), not overcome, not mastered (by disturbing or hostile elements or entities); not exhausted; in the latter sense (1) Gv 502.15 aparyādatta, said of a light which is not exhausted by the lighting of many other lights from it (see s.v. niryāṇa); but (2) regularly applied to citta or equivalent (so also in Pall), with mind (thoughts, or the like) not overcome (by deleterious influences): aparyādinna-dhyāśaya Mv 1.85.6; 86.12 (defined 86.13-14, where in 13 °dinna-citta is included in the definition); °dinna-citta Mv 1.133.10; °datta-citta KP 161.2; Gv 202.3; °datta-cetana Gv 151.20; °datta- (with citta in later part of cpd.) Gv 246.19 (1st ed corruptly °danta-; corr. 2d. ed.); aparyāṭta-vedita-citta Śīkṣ 24.11 (see s.v. vedita).

apalakṣaṇa, adj. (Bhvr.; = Pall avalakkhaṇa; not noun, as it is stated to be used in pw), having inauspicious marks: Jm 82.5, 18. Cf. avalakṣaṇa.

Apālāla (= Pall id. or °lāla), n. of a nāga king: Mvy 3273; Divy 348.20; 385.3; Mmk 18.12; Āṭanāṭiya Sūtra, Hoernle MR 27.3; Samādḥ p. 42 line 27; Māy 221.24; 247.3, MSV 1.2.6.

apavijjhati (MIndic for Skt. apavidhyati), throws away, rejects: ger. apavijjhiyāna Mv 11.104.4 (rājyam). Acc. to Senart, apavijjhati or °vidhyati would also mean disappears; see aparādhyati.

apa-vivāra, adj., not characterized by wide opening of the mouth passage in speech (see vivāra in BR): Gv 401.4 °rah, said of the Buddha as possessing the lakṣaṇa śiṃha-hanutā; in the same passage he is called su-nīṣṭhīhanuḥ, see nīṣṭhīdin, which confirms the mg. as stated. Evidently his speech was tight, not loose.

apaścīmaka, adj., (1) having no later, last (so Skt. apaścīma): Divy 209.1 (vs. but not m.c., in fact -ka spoils meter!), 4 (prose); MSV 1.112.18; (2) perhaps = aśeṣa, complete (? or at the least, not containing less than the number stated?): Bhik 18b.5 sarvabhikṣusamghe ... apaścīmake vā bhikṣūṇāṃ daśavarge maṇḍalake, sarva-bhikṣūṇisamghe ... (19a.1) apaścīmake vā bhikṣūṇināṃ dvādaśavarge maṇḍalake; MSV II.94.15 °kena bhikṣuṇā parivāso deyaś caturvargamaṇḍalakena.

a-paśyana (neg. n. act. to paśyati, cf. paśyana, anupaśyana), the not-seeing: SP 137.12 °nayā, by not-seeing; Kern as if he were not seeing, not quite rightly; Burnouf is farther from the truth. 'Sight' is false, illusory; one must not-see to truly see. Confirmed by verse version SP 143.2; and cf. Lañk 9.8 ye paśyanti yathādr̥ṣṭam na te paśyanti nāyakam.

a-paśyaniya, adj. (neg. gḍve. to paśyati), hideous (lit. not to be looked at): Mv II.447.9; 491.18.

? apaśraya (m.? cf. Pali apassaya, Skt. apāśraya; Ved. apāśrayaḥ, AV 15.3.8, BR Kopfpolster, but Whitney support?), support: LV 430.20 (prose; in comp.). But good mss. support apāśraya-, which should probably be adopted.

apasamharati, beguiles, seduces: SP 476.8 (prose) na ca nāryo 'pasamharisyanti, and women will not distract (seduce) them (preachers protected by certain dhāraṇīs). But Kashgar rec. na ca nārībhīḥ samhrīyate.

apa-savyakam, adv. (= Skt. and Pali °vyam, which in Skt. means to or on the right, also to or on the left, see BR 1.296, 5.1009; in Pali only the latter, except for a lexical citation borrowed from a Skt. lexicon, CPD), in Mmk 125.13 kṛtvā vā apasavyakam, (if I understand the passage rightly, can only mean) keeping on the right, i. e. showing respect, not disrespect. Cf. next.

apasavyi-karoti (cf. prec.; Pali °vyam karoti), keeps on the left, to show disrespect: °ti Mv III.325.3.

apa-srjati (in Skt. rare and perhaps questionable, possibly to be em. to the usual ava-s°; not in Pali), drops, abandons: Av II.184.11 apasrjya, text, with supralineal correction in one ms. only, for apasrtya, which the other mss. read; perh. read ava-s°.

apaspr̥ṣṭa (ppp. of *apa-spr̥ṣ; cf. AMg. avaput̥ṭha touched, by moonbeams), smitten (with affection): Gv 326.7 °tāḥ, parallel to upadrutāḥ.

apasphoṭana, nt. (or avas°, see below), apparently shrugging off (an argument or opinion), rejection: Mvy 7560 = Tib. sprugs bsigs, seemingly shrugging or the like; Das gives for this word avasphoṭana, which Mironov reads for apa° in Mvy. See ava°.

apasmāra, m., also °rī, f. (Skt. and Pali °ra, also Pali apamāra, epilepsy, see below), a sort of demon or supernatural evil being: Lañk 261.10 °raḥ and °rī; Mvy 4762 °raḥ = Tib. brjed byed, epilepsy; Māy 219.10 etc., °rā(h). apasmāraka, m. = prec.: SP 401.5 (prose; in a list of demons).

apasvāpana, nt. (no form or derivative of apa-svap is otherwise recorded; perhaps hyper-Skt. for ava-svāpana, see o-svāpana and ava-svāpayati), going to sleep or sleeping: Mvy 6639 = Tib. gñid kyis log pa; LV 217.7 °nam akurutām, (two gods) caused a going-to-sleep (of the people of Kapilavastu). We should expect a caus. mg., putting to sleep; and this may be the mg. in the LV passage (made a putting to sleep); but the Tib. is very definitely non-caus., and Das cites apasvāpana for the same Tib.

apaharaṇa (nt.?), in Jm 88.10, see s.v. āharaṇa; perhaps piloting (a ship) out (of harbor)?

apaharati (in this sense not recorded), captivates: °hriyante, pass. Divy 443.4; °hṛto 445.12.

apaharakam, adv. (quasi-ger.), in gallāpa° Mvy 8584, not stuffing (the cheeks); so Tib., ḥkhur ba (= mkhur ba) [mi] sbo; same mg. seems assured for Pali ava-gaṇḍa-karakam Vin. IV.196.11 (SBE 13 p. 64 line 16 and n. 2); a Stein fragment of BHS, La Vallée Poussin JRAS 1913 p. 846 line 1, has corruptly gr̥ṣma-harakam.

apahr̥ta-bhāra, adj. (= Pali ohita-bh°; so also in BHS, see s.v., but not in the passages cited PTSD s.v. ohita, which quotes LV apahr̥ta as apahita; Pali also panna-bh°), having laid aside one's burden(s), in Pali said of arahats, and so of arhants in BHS, SP 1.7; also of Buddha, LV 425.20; of śrāvakas, Mvy 1084 (and ohita° of Bodhisattvas). Probably ohita- in this cpd. in Pali (and in BHS) historically represents apahr̥ta, removed (so Tib. on Mvy khur bor ba, having laid off the burden); ava-dhā does not have this mg. in either Skt. or Pali, and apadhā is exclusively R̥gvedic and rare even there.

a-pāniya, adj. Bhvr., without water (pāniya; m.c.): °yā ca SP 195.8 (vs).

apāya (= Pali id., also Skt. but not in this technical application), evil state, = durgati, q.v. There are three such (see s.v. gati): in hells, as animals, as ghosts. In Pali this group of three is rare; usually there are four, life as asuras being added: LV 32.12 try-apāya; 89.14 muktāś ca te tribhṛyo 'pāyebhṛyo; 92.15 (vs) triṣu apāyī (= °ye); 196.8 triṇy apy apāyāḥ; 300.21 (vs) apāya trayo (acc. pl.); 357.4 (vs) triṇi śāntā apāyāḥ; Mv I.61.4 apāya-pratipūṛaka, filling (= crowding into) the (3) evil states of existence; II.215.10 apāyeṣu apāyam gamiṣyati, he will go to an evil existence in the (3) evil states; apāyapatha, ibid., LV 46.7; 117.9; °bhūmi, virtually = hell, more specifically (so also apāya in Pali), Suv 23.11 (vs) ye sattva tiṣṭhanti apāyabhūmau, ādīptasamprajvalitāg-nigātrāḥ; LV 178.7 (and 9, read with Tib. nan soṅ gsum, trī-apāya-, or trī-r-a°, for nīrayāya).

Apāya-jaha, n. of a Bodhisattva: Mmk 40.13; 63.5; 111.8; 425.19.

apāya-sthāna, nt., in śaḍ bhogānām °nāni Mvy 2504 (Tib. loṅs spyod, enjoyment, ḥbri ḥaḥl, of diminution, gnas, place, drug [lā], six), six occasions for evil on the part of enjoyments. They are listed 2505–10, madyapānam, dyūtam, vikāla-caryā, pāpamitrātā, samājadarśanam, ālasyam.

a-pārājikīya, °kiya, adj. (neg. of *pārājikīya, °kiya, not in Pali, from pārājika, q.v.), not guilty of a pārājika offense: Prāt 481.6 °kiya; 482.2 °kiya.

a-pārīma, adj. (neg. of pārīma, q.v.), not further, i. e. hither (bank), always in contrast with pārīma: Mv II.259.7, 17 °māto (tīrāto) pārīmaṃ tīraṃ; Av I.148.14 °māt tīrāt pārīme tīre; Gv 351.2 °me tīre (contrast pārīme, next line).

apāvaraṇi (to Skt. apavṛṇoti), key (so Tib., lde mig): MSV II.128.10.

apāvurīyati, is opened, pass. to *apāvurati = Pali apāpurati; see Chap. 43, s.v. 1 vr̥ (3): Mv II.158.1 °yati, and pres. pple. °yantasya. Cf. II.161.3 apāvṛtam, the regular Skt. ppp.

apāśrayaṇa (nt.), in catur-a°, adj. (= Pali apassena, catur-āpas°), (possessing the four) base(s), support(s), of a Tathāgata (modes of observance, CPD): Mvy 430 catur-apāśrayaṇaḥ. CPD gives the Pali list, which is not found in Mvy.

api, indecl., (1) if: SP 229.4 (vs) apy ekavāraṃ pi vadeta sūtram, if he should recite the sūtra even (pi) once; (2) after negative expressions, but, Ger. sondern (Skt. api tu; cf. CPD s.v. api A, 1, a, 4): Mv II.109.16 (na adya kīmcit parvo na utsavo), api drumasya ... dhītā ... āgatā, it is no holiday or festival today, but the daughter of Druma ... has arrived; 110.12, na me svayam dr̥ṣṭo nāpi parato śruto, api me ... aṅgulyakā utsaṅge patitā, I have not seen him myself nor yet heard of him from another, but ... his ring fell in my lap; 248.12 na ca kīmcī śartrāpīḍā āśi, api me samudrapāraṃ gatvā āgatvā, and I have no bodily disease, but as I am going to the other side of the sea and a-punaḥ-pratyudāvartya = a-pratyudāvartya, not to be turned back: Bbh 225.14.

a-punāgamana, nt. (= Pali id.; cf. Skt. punar-āgamana), non-return, not coming again: LV 175.8 (vs).

a-punāvarta (m.? for *nar-āv°, cf. Skt. apunar-āvartana and °vṛtti), not returning again (noun): Mv 1.142.4 (prose), read with mss. °varta (= °varte) evam-.

apūrveṇa, adv., extraordinarily, in high degree (Divy Index, suddenly; pw 7.304 vor Allem): Divy 36.8 °na... icchāmi... bhikṣubhāvam.

apotsrjati, abandons; Divy 203.16 bhavasamskāram (see samskāra 2) °jan, pres. pple. In same vs Pall Ud 64.29 avassajji.

a-poṣadhika, not keeping the 'sabbath': Mmk 76.26 (see s.v. poṣadhika).

Apkrtsna, n. of a samādhi: SP 424.8; °snāyatana (= Pall Āpo-kasīn°), one of the 10 krtsnāyatanāni, q.v., Mvy 1534.

appeti (= Pall id., = Skt. arpayati), delivers: appehi Mv 111.295.2 (vs).

apy-ekatya (properly two words; = Pali app-ekacca), see ekatya (7).

Aprakāra, m., n. of a samādhi: Mvy 574; ŚsP 1421.10.

apragalbhāyate (or, with one ms., °bhayate; denom. to apragalbha), is not proud. is humble: Divy 615.3 pres. pple., °yamāna-rūpo.

a-praṇidhi, adj. or subst. (= a-praṇihita, q.v.), (the state) that is free from desire, longing, or purpose: LV 296.8 (vs), read: śūnyānimittapraṇidhīrava muñcamānāḥ (understand -animitta-apraṇidhi; m.c. a for ā), emitting a sound (concerning) the void, causeless, purposeless (state, i. e. mokṣa, or nirvāna); cf. Śikṣ 6.15, s.v. apraṇihita.

a-praṇihita, adj. and subst. (= apraṇidhi, q.v., and Pall appaṇihita, CPD aimless, not bent on anything; in Pall as in BHS parallel to suññatā, °ta, the latter-being used as adj. in Pall), and animitta (ān°); as epithet of samādhi [suññato...animitto...appaṇihito samādhi SN 11.360.17 = DN 11.219.22] and of vimokkha, nibbāna, also as substitute for the latter), (state that is) free from desire, longing, or purpose; often in cpds. It is hard to say whether it would be better to call it adj. or subst.; śūnyāranimittāpraṇihita SP 101.1 (adj. or subst.?). 136.13 (subst.; with nirvāṇadvāraṃ as fourth member of cpd., but this is unique; there are four herbs in the preceding parable; in 137.1-2 the three alone are named as vimokṣa-mukhāni); Śikṣ 6.15 - śūnyāranimittāpraṇihita-rutam = buddha-rutam (see LV 296.8, s.v. apraṇidhi); LV 374.4, read apraṇihita-samādhim with v.l. for text apratihata; 422.21 apraṇihita-cakram (Lefm. with all inss. apraṇi°), parallel to preceding śūnyatā, animitta-c°; 428.9-10 °ta-vihāri, parallel to śūnyatā, animitta-v°; KP 94.5 and 125.3, both parallel to śūnyatā, animitta; AsP 256.13 (subst.) et passim.

a-pratikāṅkṣa-tā (see pratikāṅkṣā), non-expectation: RP 15.11 sarvasvaparityāgino vipākāpratikāṅkṣatā.

a-pratikāṅkṣin, see s.v. parikāṅkṣin.

a-pratipudgala, adj. (= Pali appaṭipuggala; cf. prati°; in mss. of LV, Mv, Av, and in Lefmann's ed. of LV, written °pungala, see pudgala; the var. °pungava also occurs in mss. of Mv), matchless, unequaled, ep. of Buddha: SP 69.15; LV 126.22; 313.17; 358.7; Mv 1.219.9; 11.141.12; Divy 393.13; Mvy 42; Av 11.199.1.

a-pratiprasārabdha (neg. of prati°, q.v.; also written °*sra*bdha), not quieted, not ceased, not abandoned (regularly with passive force, but also active, that has not ceased): Mvy 411 anābhogabuddhakāryāpratiprasārabdhaḥ, of a Tathāgata, ceasing in the effortless activities of a Buddha; same cpd. in LV 423.3, ending °*sra*bdha-cakram (read with nearly all mss. and Tib. °kāryāpra°, for Lefm. °kārya-pra°); Mvy 815 apratiprasārabdha-mārga, having (keeping) the Way uninterrupted, of Bodhisattvas; Dbh 1.11 °dha-gocara, 45.1 °dha-vīrya, both of Bodhisattvas, of uninterrupted scope, of unabated vigor; Divy 133.19 yāvan mayā prayoga(h) °dha(h), not finished; Gv 246.9 tathāgata - bala - praveśāpratiprasārabdha - tāp; 246.20 -adhiṣṭhānapratiprasārabdham; adv. °dham unceasingly Gv 351.2.

a-pratiprasārabdhi, f. (or °*sra*bdhi; neg. of prati°, q.v.), the non-ceasing; permanence: Dbh 42.13 °*sra*bdhi-tas; Divy 134.3, read (a) pratiprasārabdhi(r), mss. °*b*dhi, n. sg.; Śikṣ 214.7 °*b*dhaye; Gv 175.17-18 sarvabuddha-darśanābhilāṣāpratiprasārabdhaye; 217.22 (paripākavinaya) prayogāpratiprasārabdhaye, so read with 2d ed. for 1st ed. °yoga-prati°; 245.26 f. °*sra*bdhim.

a-pratiprasārambhaṇa, nt. (neg. of prati°, q.v.), the not ceasing: Gv 371.8 sattvadhātunayāprati°.

Apratimā, n. of a queen, previous incarnation of Yaśodharā: Mv 1.128.13 ff.

a-prativacana, adj. (neither this nor its opposite prati° seems recorded in this sense in Skt. or MIndic), not going back on his word, dependable: Mv 1.349.5, followed by synonym satyavādī.

apratī-varṇanīya, in LV 411.10, incomparably worthy of praise, in a list of complimentary epithets of sounds (śabda), after nirvarṇanīya, praiseworthy. I believe that apratī- must be recognized as used in Skt. as prior element in cpds. in this sense, as e. g. in apratī-cakra (pw) and apratī-karman (commonly analyzed as a-pratī-karman; but there is no record of any °pratikarman in the sense of a corresponding action, and the immediate constituents seem to me clearly apratī and karman). Tib. zla med pa, matchless, for apratī.

a-prativartiya (semi-MIndic for °tya; = Pali appativartiya), not to be turned back (by any creature; said of the dharmacakra, once set in motion by a Buddha); Mv 111.327.7 (vs, no v.l.); in Mv 1.330.4 (prose) doubtless read so with 1 ms., the other pravartayam, Senart em. apravartiyam; in Mv I.331.4 Senart with mss. apravartiyam, in 332.7 apravartitam, which is read in the same formula SP 179.1 (prose, no v.l.); in Mv I.332.21 aparivartitam, in 333.12 apravartiyam, v.l. aparivartiya. In Pali apparently only appaṭi° occurs, and I believe this must have been the original reading. No being could turn back the wheel started by the Buddha. But evidently in BHS tradition this became confused with forms (ppp. as well as gdve.) of pra-, pari-vrt-, which of course also yield a tolerable sense: which had never been set in motion or could not be set in motion by any (other) being.

a-prativāṇi, f. (also nt.? neg. of prati°, q.v.; Pall appaṭivāṇi, °nī, °na, also spelled with ṇ; Pall also has paṭivāṇa acc. to CPD s.v. appaṭi°, but no paṭivāṇi), non-aversion, non-opposition (to religious teaching or the like): °nī, n. sg., Divy 654.27; 655.2 (to understanding, abhisamaya, of the four noble truths; parallel with utsāhani, ūti, qq.v., and see samprajanya for the rest of the passage); °nī Mvy 7649 (so also Mironov, no v.l.) = Tib. phyir mi nur ba, non-aversion; as to the form, see s.v. prativāṇi.

a-prativāṇiya, adj. (to °nī; cf. Pall appaṭivāṇiya), not repellent, not causing aversion: Mv III.343.1, of Buddha's voice.

a-prativinīta (neg. of prati°, q.v.), not removed: Mv II.121.5, of kāmādhyaṣasāna and the like.

aprativiryārambha, adj., without energy sufficient for (any) undertaking: SP 100.9 (prose; formed in imitation of apratibala, which precedes).

a-pratīśaraṇa, adj. (= Pall appaṭīśaraṇa; Bhvr., from pratīśaraṇa), without resource or refuge, helpless: LV 189.12; Gv 534.16.

apratīṣṭhā-dhyāna-vartanin, abiding in a trance (or nirvāṇa?) which is not (permanent) fixation (cf. under apratīṣṭhita): °nī, n. sg., Mvy 437, ep. of a Tathāgata; Tib. bsam gtan gyi hjug pa la gnas pa mi mñah ba, not being fixed in entrance into trance?

a-pratīṣṭhita, not permanently fixed: °to nirvāṇe, of a Tathāgata, Mvy 406; °ta-nirvāṇa Mvy 1728, nirvāṇa qui n'est pas l'arrêt, Lévi, Sūtrāl. Transl. III.3 note 4, which see on this term; it is the Mahāyānist nirvāṇa in which the Tathāgata returns to worldly life to save creatures, the remaining incapable of personal involvement in it. Cf. apratīṣṭhā-.

a-pratisamvidita, ppp. (In senses 1 and 2 = Pall appaṭi°; BHS pratisamvidita is not recorded in the first sense), (1) unannounced: Divy 557.16; (2) not known or not (fully) comprehended: Bbh 217.16 °viditātmavpḍ-dhikānām sattvānām; (3) °taṃ, adv., unawares (unknown-wise): Bhik 11a.5.

a-pratisamveda (m.; cf. pratisamvedayatī), lack of perception, realization, or recognition: Bbh 175.5 °dahaṅ glāṇaṅ syād apratibalaḥ, (he is not guilty if he does this thing) thru inadvertence, or if he is sick or incapable (of doing his duty); °vedaka, see prati°.

a-pratisamhārya, adj. (cf. pratisamharaṇa, 1), not to be restored (exile; i.e. irrevocable banishment): Bbh 83.22 yā punar apratisamhāryā pravāsanaḥ (ed. wrongly punar-apraṭi°, as if cpd.); so Tib., slar mi dgug par.

a-pratisamkhyā- (= Pall appaṭīsamkhā, regarded by CPD as abstracted from the ger. which in Pall occurs as °khā beside °khāya; BHS has the word only in cpds., where it could be understood as ger.; so also pratisamkhyā, q.v., and cf. the parallel forms in °khyāya), no careful consideration, or (if ger.) not after careful consideration: LV 434.18 °khyā-samupekṣaka-tvād from the state of being one that shows indifference without consideration (i.e. without giving careful thought to it); cf. Lévi, Sūtrāl. xx.57 sans calcul respectif; usually in °khyā-nirodha, suppression not as a result of consideration or knowledge, one of the 3 asaṃskṛta (q.v.), Dharmas 32; Mvy 2186; Lañk 177.3; 197.12; see Suzuki, Stud. 264 note 1, and especially La Vallée Poussin, AbhidhK. I.10.

a-pratisamkhyāya, ger. (cf. prati°, a-prati-samkhyā, and Pall appaṭīsamkhāya), without deliberation or reflection: Mvy 141 °khyāyopekṣā; Mv I.160.15 nāsti apraṭi° upekṣā, he has no unpremeditated (without reflection or deliberation) indifference, one of the 18 āveṇika Bud-dha-dharma.

a-pratisama, adj. Bhvr. (= Pall appaṭi°; neg. of Skt. pratisama), having no equal, incomparable: Mv I.135.13; RP 51.1; Bbh 89.20, 23; Mvy 2530; -tā, state of being . . . Mv II.260.14; 261.16.

Apratihatagunakirtivimokṣaprabharaṇa, n. of a Tathāgata: Gv 81.25.

Apratihataneṭra, n. of a devaputra, one of the 16 guardians of the bodhimāṇḍa: LV 277.14.

apratihataprabha, m. or nt., a kind of gem: Mv II.310.18.

Apratihatavega, nt., n. of the disk-jewel of a cakravartin: Gv 418.6.

a-pratīṣa, adj. (= Pall appaṭīssa, °tissa; etym. obscure; see CPD s.v. and Senart, Mv I note 516, who suggests relation to pratīkṣ-; Childers s.v. paṭīṣā; cf. sa-pra°, su-pra°), disrespectful: Divy 333.23, 27; Bbh 163.24.

a-pratyaniya, adj. (nonce-form, = vipratyanika or °niya-ka, qq.v.; based on wrong analysis of the latter as containing negative vi-, for which a- is then substituted; this is all that is implied by Tib. cited in Burnouf, Lotus 323 f.; in Pall a-paccanika is recorded only in the expected sense of not opposed, not hostile, CPD), antipathetic, hostile, unwelcome: SP 95.7 (vs) apratyanīyās ca bhavanti loke, pūti mukhāt teṣa pravāti gandhaḥ. (One ms. °nikāś.)

a-pratyaya (m.; = Pall appaccaya; not in this sense in Skt.; cf. Pall paccaya = pīti, Jāt. II.241.10), discontent, ill-will: Mv I.30.5 kopam ca roṣam ca apratyayam ca āviṣkaronti.

a-pratyudāvarta, Bhvr. adj. (not in Pall, nor is °paccudāvatta recorded), that does not turn back: °tām prapadādam Bbh 219.12.

a-pratyudāvartana- (nt.; neg. of praty°, q.v.), not turning back: Gv 105.6 bodhisattvamārgāpratyudāvartana-tayā; in Śikṣ 296.8 read praty°, q.v., instead of apraty°.

a-pratyudāvartaniya = °vartya: Mvy 5099; ASp 329.8 pratyekabuddhayanīkaś cāpratyudāvartanīyadharmā (bodhisattvah); Dbh 42.15 °ya-manaskāro; 45.19 °yakuśalamūlaprayogo; Gv 402.10 °ya-romā, here in physical sense, of the body-hairs of a mahāpuruṣa.

a-pratyudāvartya (also a-punaḥ-praty°, q.v.; neg. gdve. of pratyudāvartate, q.v.), not to be turned back, regularly from a religiously desirable course: LV 181.15 °tya-smṛtimān, irreversibly intent upon . . .; 423.6, read -adhīṣṭhānāpratyudāvartya-cakram, for °na-praty° of both edd. with no v.l., but Tib. has neg. (ldog pa med pa) and sense requires this (see adhīṣṭhāna 2); 439.19 °vartya (one, sc. a Bodhisattva) who is not to be turned back; Mvy 357 °tya-dharma; Dbh 19.17 °tya-balādhānaprāpta; 38.9; Bbh 225.27, of persons under the training of Bodhisattvas; Gv 246.20 °tyādhiṣṭhāna.

a-prādhārṣya, adj. (= Skt. apradhṛṣya; neg. gdve. of pra-dhṛṣ), not to be violated: Mv II.2.4 (v.l. °dharṣa).

a-prapata, adj., not conducive to falling down: Jm 102.14 deśeṣv aprapateṣv api prapatito (in a vs; m.c. for a-prapāta°; but see prapata).

apramāṇa, nt. (In mg. 1 = Pali appamaññā, f.; see CPD s.v.), (1) infinitude, as n. for brahmanvihāra (q.v.), of which there are four, maītrī (maītrā), karuṇā, mudītā, upekṣā: listed as apramāṇāni Sūtrāl. xvii.17, cf. xx-xxi.43; AbhidhK. LaV-P. viii.196; Mvy 1503-7; Bbh 241.15-16; LV 297.12 (vs) maītrī-pekṣa-karuṇā-mudītā-pramāṇāḥ (read °nā? hardly Bhvr.); mentioned without list, Gv 471.18 catur-apramāṇa-vihāra; Śiḥs 105.16; LV 45.16 catur-apramāṇa-prabha-teja-dharaḥ; 341.1 catur-apramāṇa (wrongly printed catura pramāṇa); (2) a high number: Mvy 7934 (cited from Gv); 8041; Gv 134.7.

Apramāṇaguṇasāgaraprabha, n. of a Tathāgata: Gv 81.19.

apramāṇaparivarta, m., square of apramāṇa (2): Mvy 7935; cited from Gv, where it is (certainly by accident) omitted in the text 134.7; by analogy of parallel forms it would be nt. there.

apramāṇa-śubha, m. pl. (= Pali appamāṇa-subha), of limitless magnificence, n. of one (usually the 2d) of the classes of rūpāvacara gods in the 3d dhyāna-bhūmi (see s.v. deva): Mvy 3095; Mv ii.314.8; 349.1; LV 150.7; Av i.5.3; Divy 68.15; 138.22; 367.12; 568.27; Gv 249.13; Bbh 62.4.

apramāṇābha, m. pl. (= Pali appa°, of limitless splendor, n. of one (usually the 2d) of the classes of rūpāvacara gods in the 2d dhyāna-bhūmi (see s.v. deva): Mvy 3091; Dharmas 128; Mv ii.348.19; 360.18; LV 150.6; Av i.5.2; Divy 68.14; 138.21; 367.12; 568.27; Gv 249.14; Bbh 62.3.

apramāṇābhāsvara, m. pl., n. of a class of gods (see deva): Divy 367.12, mss.; text by em. ābhāsvara, q.v.

a-pramāḍya (nt.; neither this nor pra° appears to be recorded in Skt., Pali, or Pkt.), non-heedlessness: Divy 426.3 °yena.

aprameya (Skt. as adj.), (1) n. unmeasurable thing (there are five such, all cpds. of -dhātu): Bbh 294.21 ff.; 296.9 ff.; (2) nt., a high number: Mvy 8042; Sukh 31.2.

a-prasāda (m.; = Pali appasāda; neg. of prasāda, q.v.), unbelief: Mv iii.63.10 alam arthikasya (see arthika 2) aprasādena. To be sure, prasāda, faith, is normally accompanied by the loc.; here gen., lack of belief in the Buddha.

a-prasūti, f., a woman who has not borne children; a young but mature woman, contrasted with kumārī, girl, and madhyastrī, q.v.: LV 321.8 (prose) °ti-rūpāṇi.

? Aprākṣu or Aprāptiṣu, mss., n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.141.15; what was meant is not clear to me, but Senart's em. Aprākṣṭa is not plausible.

? apragbhāra (see prag°), adj., Mv iii.343.2 (so Senart; mss. apabhāra, apadhbāra, intending Pali form?), of the Buddha's voice, perhaps level, even, without descents or drops? Pali apabbhāra is used of a body of water, having even or smooth banks, without steep slopes.

aprāpta-kāya, adj. (nowhere recorded), something like jaunt, feeble, overcome: Divy 334.2 f.; 571.11; MSV i.i.11; parallel with kṣāluka, durbalaka, māna(ka).

a-prāptika, adj. (cf. Pali apattika, Dhp. comm. i.270.23, also pattika = prāptika 271.1), having no share in profit (Skt. prāpti), so, unprofitable: Śiḥs 251.11, of states of being (dharma); Bendall and Rouse powerless.

a-prāpya, adj. (neg. of prāpya, q.v.), not easy, difficult: Mv i.89.17 (bhāra; see s.v. prāpya).

a-prasāḍika, adj. (= Pali a-pā°; see prā°), inauspicious, improper: °kam (sc. karma) akārṣiḥ MSV iii.53.15; °kam kṛtam 18.

Apriyākhyā, n. of a yakṣa: Divy 41.4.

apriyākhyāyin, m., reporter of bad news: Divy 529.11 f.; 534.29; 535.2.

abaddhāpralāpa, m., = sambhinna-pralāpa, q.v.: °po (so read with mss.), Mv i.107.15, in list of the 10 akūśala karmapatha.

Abala, n. of a nāga king: Mvy 3254; Māy 246.22. abalampkartar, one who makes powerless: LV 316.16 (vs) °kartā namucipakṣam (= °ān).

a-bahumāna, (1) nt. disesteem, lack of respect: Mv i.309.15 mālīniye brāhmaṇānām mūle abahumānam utpannam; (2) adj. Bhvr. (in Pali only disregarded, CPD.), showing no regard or respect (with loc.): Jm 234.22 (guṇeṣv, for virtues).

abr̥ha(t), a class of gods, see avṛha.

a-bodhi-ka (cf. AMg. abohiya, ignorant, unenlightened), unconscious; fainting: Māy 219.33.

abrajās, nt., a particle of water (as a small unit of measure): Mvy 8193; see truṭi.

abrahmacaryaṃ-vāda, report or accusation of unchastity: Mv i.36.13; 37.6 (mss. both times; Senart em. °carya-vāda).

a-brāhmaṇya, adj. (neg. of brāh°), not devoted to brahmans, regularly after amātr̥jña, apitr̥jña, asr̥jña; see s.v. amātr̥jña for references; in Mvy 2459 °yam, nt., perhaps the group of those not devoted to brahmans, see s.v. asr̥jñanya Mvy 2460.

Abhaya, m. (1) n. of a king of Kaliṅga, converted by Buddha: Mv i.178.11; 180.6, 9; (2) n. of a sāthavāha: Mv ii.2.11; (3) n. of a former Buddha: Mv iii.237.1 f.; (4) n. of a people (? cf. Kirfel, Kosm. 76); sc. lipl, the script used by them: Mv i.135.7, read ramathābhaya- for text ramathā-bhaya (v.l. cama°); (5) n. of a son of King Bimbisāra and Āmrāpālī (not corresponding exactly to Pali Abhaya, either 2 or 3 in DPPN, but perhaps a confusion of the two): MSV ii.22.20 ff.

Abhayagīrivāsīn, m. pl., n. of a school: Mvy 9098.

Abhayamkāra, n. of a lokadhātu: Gv 398.20.

Abhayadeva, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.140.13.

abhayaṃdada, adj. and subst. m. (cf. -dada), (1) (= Pali id.) giving security: Śiḥs 176.5, ep. of Bodhi-sattvas; (2) n. of a supernatural ray emitted by Bodhi-sattvas: Śiḥs 338.9; (3) ep. of Avalokiteśvara specifically: SP 441.2; etymologically explained 445.9.

Abhayapurā, or °ra, n. of a capital of the former Buddha Supātra: Mv iii.234.8 and 236.2 °rā, n. sg.; 234.20 °rasmim, loc.

abhayā, (1) n. of an herb, presumably Terminalia chebula as in Skt. and Pali: Gv 496.21; (2) n. of a goddess, to whom the infant Śākyamuni is presented to worship: Mv ii.26.4 ff.

Abhayākaragupta, n. of an author: Sādh 579.12.

a-bhavya, adj. (= Pali abhabba; neg. of bhavya; not in this sense Skt.), unable, with Inf. or dat., sometimes absolute: (a) Inf., LV 19.19; 246.15 (sākṣātkartum; see below), 18; 247.8, 9; Mv i.316.17 (ājānitum); iii.263.12; 318.10; Bbh 291.1; (b) dat., Mv i.292.9 abhavya so tasya nigūhanāya (so Senart em., mss. taṃ nigūhanāpi), he is unable to conceal that (fault); ii.121.6, same passage as LV 246.15, but here datives: abhavyā eva te ... jñānāye darsanāye sambodhāye (same passage in Pali MN i.241.8 abhabbā va te jñānāya etc.; Bbh 159.5; Ud vi.7 (parihāṇāya, ms. °nāya, incapable of loss); haritatvāya Mvy 9135 (so with v.l. and Mironov, text haritvāya); Bhik 23b.5; (c) absolute, incapable, impotent, LV 407.22 (delete following daṇḍa); Śiḥs 209.12; Mmk 5.26.

abhavya-tā (to prec.), inability, incapacity: Mv i.292.10.

abhājana-bhūta, adj. (= Pali id.; Skt. abhājana in same mg.), no proper vessel, unworthy: Mvy 2457 -sattva. Cf. next.

abhājanī-bhavati (cf. prec. and Skt. bhājanī-bhūta), becomes no proper vessel: MSV II.73.12.

Abhāvasamudgata, n. of a former Buddha: Samādh 8.8, 10 etc.

abhikīraṇa (nt.), bestrewing (to Skt. abhi-kīratī): LV 430.13 suvarṇacūṇābhikīraṇa-.

abhikīrṇikṛta, adj. (to Skt. abhikīrṇa, ppp. of abhikīratī), made to be bestrewn: LV 82.10 divyapuṣpābhikīrṇikṛtam (lumbinīvanam).

abhikīrtana (nt.; to Pali abhikīrteti), recitation: RP 30.17 corakathābhikīrtanaratās ca.

abhikrānta (= Pali abhikkanta; on confusion with ati°, partly no doubt graphic, see atikrānta), (1) adj., advanced, eminent, successful: Divy 311.5 f. abhikrānto 'ham bhadanta (note p. 707 would read ati°, but Pali abhikkanta is used in mss. very close to this; instead, read abhikr° for atikr° Divy 462.13); MSV I.54.5; 58.16, etc.; (2) adj., fine, beautiful, of color (Pali abhikkanta, also with vaṇṇa): prob. read in LV 398.11 abhikrāntena varṇena; Leftm. em. abhisamkrāntena v°; most mss. abhisamskāreṇa (seems senseless); v.l. atisamkrāntena; Calc. atikrāntena, which is the usual BHS form in this mg. and may be right; (3) n., approach: °ta-pratīkrānta, approach and recession, Mv I.301.5 (mss. ati°); III.60.5; 182.12 (mss. ati°); °tena pratīkrāntena Mv III.171.2; atikrāntābhikrānta Divy 47.16 (? so mss., ed. em. atikrāntātikrānta), perhaps having passed over the approach (to the religious goal)?

a-bhikṣuka, adj. (= Pali abhikkhuka; -ka Bhvr.) containing no monks: °ke āvāse (so in Pali) MSV II.96.10. Cf. sa-bhi°.

abhiḡita, in gāthābhigīta, (ppp.) subst. (in Skt. as ppp., rare; Pali only in the same cpd., gāthābhi°, but its meaning is disputed, see CPD; in any case it certainly does not have the mg. it has in BHS), either dvandva, verses and songs (so Burnouf and Kern on SP 191.3), or (more likely) tatpuruṣa, recitation of verses (so apparently B. and K. on SP 303.2, and Régamey on Samādh); only in instr. °gītena (in SP 191.3 v.l. °gītebhi), with recitation of (a) verse(s); in every case except SP 191.3 followed by one or more stanzas, to which this noun clearly refers: SP 191.3 °tena abhīstaviṃsu (sc. Buddhā); 303.2 °tena itam evārtham paripreçati sma; Gv 275.25 buddhadarśanam °tena samvarṇayām āsa; Divy 83.9; Samādh 8.20; MSV II.104.14.

? abhiḡrṇati (°ati; Pali abhiḡaṇāti, overcomes, once, see CPD which suggests em. to adhi°), excels, surpasses: Mv II.307.6, mss. abhiḡrṇanti (buddhā, raśmibhiḥ), Senart em. ati° (but ati-grah- in this sense is rare and doubtful in Skt. and does not occur in Pali); in next line 7 Senart reads atighṛyate with one ms., the other reads abhiḡrṇīṣu; a pass. seems required but perhaps abhiḡrṇyate is to be read.

abhiḡrasta, ppp. (occurs in Amarak. as gloss for abhiḡpanna; otherwise no abhi-gras is recorded), overcome, scorched: agnīnā abhiḡrastā Mv II.458.3.

abhiḡrahaṇa (nt.; Skt. Lex.; not in Pali), seizing, grasping: Lañk 8.8 viṣayābhīḡrahaṇapravṛttānām (vi-jñānānām).

abhiḡhoṣa (m. ? no form of abhi-ghuṣ recorded), renown: Mv II.1.14 abhiḡhoṣa-ghuṣṭam (kulam; not found in parallel passages Mv I.198 and LV 24). Precedes abhiḡdevādiḡhoṣa°, q.v.

abhiḡhāda, nt. (to abhiḡhādayati, q.v.), present, honorarium: Mv III.193.8 (hiraṇyasya suvarṇasya ca va-strābharāṇānām ca mahāntam rāśim kṛtvā...) idam te abhiḡhādam bhavatu.

abhiḡhādāna (nt.), = prec.: Mv III.127.17 tasya vipulam abhiḡhādānam (a liberal reward) daḡeyam.

abhiḡhādayati (nowhere recorded in this sense; orig., clothes, trans.), presents, with instr. of the thing given, acc.

of recipient; the gift may be garments but very often is not: AsP 518.16-17 °yati (svakena ca kāyena... bodhi-sattvam); Mv II.367.17 (vs) daridra sattva paṣyitvā dhanena abhiḡhādaye; pres. pple., Megh 288.16-17 mahatā gurugauravacitrikāreṇa bhagavantam abhiḡhādayantaḥ, presenting... with homage etc. (wrongly Bendall); perf., Gv 332.21-22 sa tān... sarvavastuparityāgaḥ °yām āsa; 415.3-4 mahāmaṇiratnapadmaśatasahasraḥ tam bhagavantam °yām āsa; ger. °chāḡya LV 108.2-3; 159.14; ppp. °dita, SP 76.10 jīvitena, presented with life; Mv I.61.1 (with garments); III.278.13 dhanena; Śikṣ 33.7 guṇajñānābhīḡhādītā(h), presented with knowledge of virtues (wrongly Bendall and Rouse).

abhiḡjānāti (= Pali id.), (1) knows by abhiḡjñā, q.v. The technical Buddhist meaning of the noun is certainly at times associated with the verb, which in Skt. means knows in a very general way. The extent to which the special Buddhist sense is present in the verb is often doubtful; I list a few cases where it seems pretty clear: abhiḡjānāmi SP 200.8 (Burnouf and Kern, remember, I think wrongly); Mv I.57.7, 12; Gv 446.14; Vaj 34.20. The translation remember, also given CPD, is due to the fact that events of the past are often referred to; but I think the Buddha (the usual subject in such cases) knows them by supernatural knowledge or so-called intuition (abhiḡjñā, q.v.), not by memory; (2) recognizes (as a duty), takes upon oneself (a 'vow or undertaking); so also in Pali, e.g. MN I.80.5 (definitions in Pali dictionaries including CPD hardly do justice to this mg.): LV 254.2 abhiḡjānāmy ahaṃ... ekam evādvitīyaṃ koḷam āhāram āhartum, I undertake to allow myself to eat only a single kola as food; similarly LV 255.8, 15.

Abhiḡjī(t), (1) n. of a former incarnation of Śākyamuni: Mv I.2.3 °jī, n. sg.; 5 °jī-, stem in comp.; (2) n. of a former Tathāgata: Mv III.236.13 °jītam, acc. sg.; 14 °jī, n. sg.

abhiḡjīvin (cf. Pali abhiḡjīvati), living: Mmk 614.7 dīrghakālābhiḡjīvi, n. sg.

abhiḡjñā (= Pali abhiḡjñā), higher or supernatural knowledge; intuition (CPD). There are 5 or 6, in both Pali and BHS, agreeing in essence tho the order and precise forms of the names vary. In Dharmas 20, five: divyacakṣus, divyaśrotra, paracittajñāna, pūrvanivāsānusrmṛti, rddhi; in Mvy 201-209 six, same order, with variant forms, (parasya) cetāḡ(citta)-paryāya-(q.v.)-jñāna, for the third; the sixth is āśravakṣayajñāna, as in Pali and elsewhere when 6 are named; the fifth is rddhividhiḡjñāna in Mvy 208; SP 134.11 lists 5, practically as in Dharmas except that the fifth is rddhivimokṣakriyā, an unusual phrase, for which no v.l. is given in KN or WT; Burnouf (Lotus App. XIV, p. 821) cites his ms. as reading rddhi-sākṣātkriyā, which is much more plausible. Twenty abhiḡjñā-karmāṇi are set forth in detail Mvy 210-230. In Lañk 292.13-16 the abhiḡjñā, collectively, are classified as to their origin in four ways (in I. 16 read with Suzuki Transl. 242 n.1 te 'bhiḡjñā na vipākāḡh). References to five abhiḡjñā: SP 12.4; 141.9; 254.14; Mv I.284.3; II.33.11; in II.96.1 attributed to brahmanical, non-Buddhist ṛṣis; Divy 321.3; Śikṣ 243.13 (read pañco, see p. 412, note) etc.; siz, SP 90.7; 129.10; 150.2; 155.2; 255.4; 272.6; Mv III.55.5 ff.; Divy 399.27, etc.; note Mv I.165.12 where 'by abhiḡjñā' (abhiḡjñāye) the Buddha attains knowledge of the Doctrine taught of old by other Buddhas; this certainly does not mean memory, cf. s.v. abhiḡjānāti, which is commonly but wrongly rendered remembers in similar contexts; mahā-bhiḡjñā- SP 66.8.

Abhiḡjñāketu, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 3.18.

Abhiḡjñāñānābhībhū, only in vs, = Mahābhi°, n. of a former Buddha: SP 157.11 (vs).

abhiḡjñāta, adj. (= Pali abhiḡjñāta), well-known, celebrated, distinguished: LV 23.11 (kulam) = Mv I.197.15 = II.1.6; LV 99.8; Mv I.197.17 = II.1.8 abhiḡjñāta-pūrvā-abhiññāvati (once written °vati) is apparently used in same mg. as abhiññā, q.v., in cpds. in Gv 40.5 (text °vati); 44.24 (1st ed. corruptly °jñānāvati; corr. 2d ed.), 25, 26; 45.1, 2; see § 22.50.

(il.1.8 adds puruṣa-) yugasampannam-(kulam); here LV parallel 23.15 has abhijāta-(noble)-puruṣayuga-(generations, wrongly Foucaux)-sampannam; Mv ii.263.2 (prthivipradeśo); SP 1.9 abhiññānābhijñātair, renowned for knowledge (or, with v.l., for the abhiññā, abhiññābhijñātair, cf. Bur-nouf, note, p. 291).

abhitunna, and abhitūrṇa (= Palī abhitunna, also written °ṇa; etym., see below), afflicted: Mv i.156.10 (vs) tasya ... vacābhitunno ... rudanto (subject Chandaka: afflicted by his words); ii.284.13 śokābhitunna (so Palī sokābhi°). The form abhitūrṇa is read by KN in SP 320.9 duḥkhābhīr vedanābhīr abhi°, with Kashgar rec.; in 321.3 Kashgar rec. also vedanābhitūrṇān, but KN this time °bhībhūtān. Kern cites Pāṇ. 6.4.21 for tūrṇa (not recorded in literature) as ppp. of turvati, overcomes. Neither this root nor tud is recorded with abhi, except for the Palī form cited; which CPD derives from tud, but Kern (see PTSD) from turv, doubtless because of BHS abhitūrṇa. The BHS °tunna could be a Mindicism; but contrariwise, perhaps, °tūrṇa could be an unhistoric hyper-Sktism. All that seems certain is that the two belong together and with Palī abhitunna.

abhitvarāṇa-tā (cf. Skt. abhi-tvarati), state of hastening towards, with loc.: Bbh 203.10 (samyaksam-bodhāv) °tayā.

abhidakṣiṇati, or °ṇiyati (denom. from Skt. abhidakṣiṇam, Palī abhi-dakkhiṇa), goes around keeping on the right, in homage: Mv ii.416.11 devarājam °ṇetsuḥ, or °ṇiyet-suḥ, aor. 3 pl.; so mss., Senart em. °ṇiyensuḥ. In vs, but meter obscure to me.

abhidarsaniya, adj. (not recorded, but cf. Skt. abhidarsayati, °darsana), beautiful: SP 89.7; 128.5.

abhidṛḍha, adj., firm: LV 278.17 (prthivipradeśaḥ ...) °dhaḥ.

abhidevaghosaḡhuṣṭa Mv i.198.3, or abhidevādi-ghosaḡhuṣṭa (v.l. °devābhigho°), ii.1.14, °taṃ (kulam), of the family in which the Bodhisattva is born for the last time, renowned in a manner surpassing the renown of the gods (and their like). In the parallel LV 24.11 daśadigvi-ghuṣṭaśabdā, having its renown bruited about all ten direc-tions. Cf. abhighoṣa.

abhidhyotana (nt.; to °dyotayati), (Intellectual) illumination, making clear, explanation: Lañk 108.13 padasyā- (of a sentence, expression)-bhidyotanārtham; Gv 243.5 -pāramitācāryābhidyotana-meghān.

abhidhyotayati, °te (= Palī abhiḡdyotayati, with object attham = artham), illuminates, makes clear, explains (in applied, intellectual sense; object artha, a meaning, or the nature of some religious truth etc.); pres. p. °tayanti Gv 371.19 (-artham); °tayamāna Mvy 6372 (artham); Gv 245.13; 543.7 = Bhāḍ, prose Introduction (kalpān kalpaprāsārān); ppp. °titam (-niryāṇam) Bbh 258.3.

Abhidharma, m. (= Palī Abhidhamma), n. of the third section of the Buddhist canon: Mvy 1413; Lañk 290.8; Karmav 94.7; 102.1; 103.6; 155.1.

Abhidharma-samyukta, pl. (°teṣu, loc.), n. of a text or class of texts (otherwise unknown, Lévi p. 12), in which some schools are said to have included the Karmav: Karmav 167.12.

abhidhārayati (= Palī id. or °reti), supports, upholds, assists: opt. °rayet Mv i.275.13 (rāṣṭram), 15 (pariṇānam); with aor. mg., Mv i.250.6 (vs; dharmolkām; = Palī Jāt. i.34.15 dhammokaḡ abhidhārayati; Senart wrongly em. abhiḡvālayet); inf. °rayitum LV 100.15 (Mahāprajāpati ... samarthā ... rājānam ... abhidhārayitum).

abhi-dhyāyati (§ 2.14; to dhyāyati, q.v., = Palī jhāyati), burns, intrans.: °yati Mv ii.341.6, three times; subject, the earth; follows kampe and vedhe (portents which followed the dharmacakrapravartana).

abhidhyālu, adj. (= Palī abhiḡjhālu; to abhidhyā, imitating Irṣyālu to Irṣyā), covetous: Divy 301.24; Gv 157.4; 228.15; AsP 427.8; an-abhi°, not covetous, Divy 302.9.

abhinada-tā, condition of resounding, reverberation: Bbh 76.23 (prose) devadundubhinām °tā.

abhinadita, ppp. (m.c. for °nādita), made to sound: LV 80.21 (vs).

abhinandana, nt., °nā, and °na-tā (= Palī °na, °nā), (1) welcome, joyous greeting: Śikṣ 183.7; (2) delight (in an evil sense), lust: Av ii.188.10 °nāya, dat.; Dbh 48.15 °nā, n. sg. f., and 16 °na-taḡ, abl.; KP 125.5 trāi-dhātukābhinnandanatayā, instr. sg. (Both mgs. in Palī.)

abhinamana (to Skt. abhi-nam- plus -ana), nt., respectful salutation: Mvy 1770.

Abhinamitā, n. of a gandharva maid: Kv 4.22.

abhināmayati, (1) inclines (trans.), makes (the heart) incline (to something, dat.); cittaṃ abhināmayati LV 394.6, 12; cittaṃ abhināmayitum (nivāsāya, towards remaining) Jm 132.11; (2) turns away (trans.), distorts: dharmabhāṇakasyārthāny akathāṃ abhināmayati Śikṣ 96.10, distorts the preacher's meaning into a wrong statement; (3) prepares (food): khādyabhojyam abhināmayet Mv i.325.8; (4) causes to pass, passes, spends (time), = atinā-mayati, q.v., for which this may be only a graphic corrup-tion (t and bh often confused): LV 369.11 (a week, saptarā-tram); kausidenābhinnāmitam Divy 464.20, 25, (time, or life: subject unexpressed) was spent in idleness, cf. the absolute use of atināmayati, q.v.; MSV i.18.16; but i.72.18 and 73.3 (same passage as Divy above) °tināmitam.

abhinikūjati (= Palī id., rare), warbles: pakṣiṇo °janti MSV i.93.16. Cf. next.

abhinikūjita, ppp. to prec. (= Palī id.), made to resound indistinctly (Skt. nikūjita): Divy 221.17 (puṣkiri-ṇyaḡ ... śakunakair ...) °tāḡ; in Mvy 5237 read with Mironov śaḡkṣābhinnikūjitaṃ for text śaḡkṣābhīr nī°.

abhinigūḡha, ppp., hidden or protected: Av ii.115.8 prākāra-parikhā-dvāra-stūpābhinnigūḡhaḡ.

abhinigrhṇati (= Palī abhiniggaṇhāti), holds fast, restrains, controls: Mv ii.124.2 °hṇe (cetas), aor.; 126.6 °hṇe (prṣṭhimakam, ?). c. kāyam, prob. 1 sg. pres. mid., hold under control (?); Bbh 161.12 mānābhinnigrhīta, restrained by pride; audhatyābhi° (cetas) 169.3.

abhinipatati (not recorded in these mgs. in Skt. or Palī): (1) falls down (in respectful salutation): LV 413.21 (vs) jīnasya krame °bhinnipatya (so read for kramebhi nipatya), falling at the feet of the Jina; (2) falls upon, attacks: LV 153.1 (prose) (bodhisattvam) °titāḡ; (3) falls on (a couch): MSV iv.196.4; (4) caus. °pātayati, ppp. °pātita, (words) hurled upon: Jm 125.16 °pātitaḡkṣara.

abhinimna, adj. (in sense of nimna, q.v.), inclined to, bent upon: LV 402.12 (vs) dharmābhinnimnaḡ.

abhinirūpaṇa (= Palī °ropanā; see next), fixation of thought: Mvy 7457 = Tib. mñon par rtog pa.

abhinirūpayati (= Palī °ropeti, cf. prec.; assumed to be from caus. of ruh with abhi-ni; in BHS perhaps influenced in form by Skt. nirūpayati), concentrates (with the mind, instr.): Śikṣ 16.6 cittaṇābhinnirūpayet.

abhinirghoṣa (m.), (vocal) sound: Kv 89.5 kalaviṇ-karutasvarābhiniṛghoṣeṇa bhagavān ārocayati.

abhinir-jayati, jīṇati (Skt. jīta, ppp., recorded only Mbh 14.2220 Calc. = 14.76.26 Bomb.; not in Pali), conquers: in BHS only ppp. jīṭa Mvy 5247, and gerunds, jītya Mvy 3636; LV 101.19; Divy 60.22; Bbh 126.12; jītvā Mv ii.378.3; jīṇitvā or jīnitvā Mv i.52.9; 193.20.

abhinirnamayati (= Pali abhininnāmeti; see also nirnamayati), bends, inclines (the mind; only with cittaṃ, and dat. of remoter object, to . . .): LV 344.8 and 345.22 (-sākṣātkriyāya cittaṃ) ṇyati; similarly Mv ii.132.6, 16; ṇye (aor.) 283.14. Always follows a parallel form of abhinirharati, q.v.

abhinirbhidyā, ger., and -bhinna, ppp. (Pali abhinibbhijjati, virtually if not exclusively limited to mg. hatches out, of eggs, cf. abhinirbheda), penetrating, piercing; penetrated: LV 155.16 (subject, an arrow) abhinirbhidyā (the target); Sukh 63.5 (mountains, buildings, etc.) tayā prabhayābhiniṛbhinnāni, penetrated.

abhiprāya, m., difference: Divy 222.20 (na...) kaścid viśeṣo vā 'bhiprāyo vā nānākaraṇam vā. Based on use of Pali adhippāya (= Skt. abhiprāya) intention, but also difference; on the latter mg. see CPD s.v. The old Buddhist word adhippāya was Sktized, keeping this new mg. In addition to its normal Skt. mg. Compare with Divy passage the Pali, ko viśeso ko adhippāyo kīṃ nānākaraṇam MN 1.64.23–24.

abhipriya, adj. (Intensifying to priya; cf. BR s.v. abhi 1, d), quite agreeable: Mv I.310.13 yathā brāhmaṇa-pariśāye abhipriyan (Senart em. abhiprāyan; but for this °prāyas, °prāyo would be expected) tathā bhavatu.

abhibudhyati (for °te, pass.; no cpd. of abhi-budh is recorded in Skt. or Pall, except rarely the noun abhibuddhi, on which see BR 5.1021), becomes enlightened: LV 185.12 (vs; no v.l.) drakṣyāmy abhibudhyato bodhim, I shall behold the enlightenment of him as he is becoming enlightened.

abhibhākṣaṇa, nt., feeding upon (to Pall abhibhakkhāyivā); so prob. read with 1 ms. in Mv I.361.9 ekam mṛgam viśarjayiṣyāmaḥ, mahārājasya ca mṛgamānsena abhibhākṣaṇam (v.l. avikṣaṇam; Senart em. avibhākṣaṇam, supposed to mean non-cessation de nourriture; implausible) bhaviṣyati, ime ca mṛgā evaṃ anayavyasanam nopapadyiṣyanti, we will let go one deer (every day), and the king will feed on deer-meat, and (at the same time) thus these deer will not get into serious trouble. Less likely is the v.l. avikṣaṇam = AMg. avikkhaṇa (by false Sktization) = Pall (an-)japekkhana, Skt. (rare) apekṣaṇa = apekṣā desire (at the same time the king will crave deer-meat, and these deer . . .).

abhibhavati (not recorded in this physical sense; Skt. and Pali only overcomes and the like), mounts, climbs upon or over; passes over: LV 197.4 (vs) (mīdhamgiri . .) abhibhūya caṅkramati tatra ca nopalīpto; LV 198.16 (vs) kuḍḍa ca vṛkṣa abhibhūya, (the Buddha's radiance, ābhā) passing over walls and trees (leaves no shadow).

abhibhāna (cf. Skt. abhibhāti), perhaps appearance, in yathābhibhānam, adj. (or adv.), something like immediately evident? °nam ca na duḥprcchayā . . . prati-sthitam Suv 1.12 (textually uncertain).

abhibhāvana, adj. or subst. (to Skt. abhibhavati), overcoming; ananta-pariśad-abhibhāvanah Mvy 852, ep. of Bodhisattvas (Bhvr.? or Tatpur.? In the latter case is abhi^o adj. or n. ag.?).; na-tā*, state of overcoming, LV 32.1 (prose).

abhibhāṣati, ppp. °ṣita (in this sense not recorded), promise(d): SP 88.8 (vs) dadāhi nas tāta yathābhibhāṣitam (no v.l.) ... yānāni, give us, father, as (you) promised, cars, etc.

abhibhinatti (not in Pali; in Skt. once pass. abhihīdya-, BR 5.1658), splits: Māy 259.30 °bhindyāt, opt.

abhibhū (f.; not in this sense in Pali; = abhibhv-āyatana, q.v.), supremacy: abhibhūvas ... aṣṭau Sūtrāḥ. vii.9 (comm. abhibhāvāyatana); sarvalokābhibhū (Bhvr.), xx-xxi.44.

? Abhibhūyayaśa(s), n. of a future Buddha: n. sg. °yaśo Mv iii.330.14 (so mss.; Senart em. °bhūyaśo, perhaps rightly).

abhibhv-āyatana, nt. (= Pali abhibhāyatana), sphere of sovereignty, one of the eight stages of mastery over the senses (in jhāna, CPD); also called abhibhū, q.v., in BHS: Mvy 1519 (listed in 1520-27); Sūtrāḥ. vii.9, comm.; xx-xxi.44, comm.

abhimanyati, with acc. or dat. (loc. ?), in Mv ii.440.15-17, used four times of the attitude of a husband or wife towards a very ugly spouse; perhaps is hostile towards (as in Skt.), but despises, contemns, or perhaps loathes would seem more natural: (14) anyam-anyam (15) °yanti, ... patiṃ °yati, (16) ... patiḥ pāparūpāye bhāryāye abhimanyati, (17) ... yā te putra nābhimanīṣyati: Cf. next.

abhimanyanātā (to Skt. °manyate, BHS °ti), injuriousness, seeking to do harm: RP 19.16 jñānenā °bhi° (prose); could be em. to avamany°, cf. 20.2 avamanyati, 20.11 mss. atimanyanātā, Flnot em. ava°. But cf. LV 32.14 where probably read parānābhimananyanātāyāi for Lefm. parābhimananyatāyāi (by em.); mss. parābhigaman-yatāyāi, parāgamanatāyāi; Calc. as Lefm.).

abhimānika, adj. (from Skt. and Pali abhimāna, in two different mgs.; cf. ābhi°), (1) proud, conceited: SP 380.1 (prose); KP 118.2 (prose), 5 (vs); Mvy 2446; (2) holding an erroneous view: Lañk 146.13 (could be interpreted as ābhi°) nāsty-asti-tvābhimānikasya.

abhimānikā (cf. Skt. and Pali °māna), pride: Gv 527.10 jāty-abhimānikā-nirābhimānatāyāi, to make prideless their pride of birth.

Abhimukhi, n. of the 6th of the 10 Bodhisattva-bhūmi: Mvy 891; Dharmas 64; Bbh 346.10; Dbh 5.9 etc.

Abhiya, n. of a monk of old (previous incarnation of Śākyamuni): Mv 1.35.13 ff. (A transl. of his story, Mv i.34-45, by R. Otto Franke, in Königsberger Beiträge, 1929, pp. 115-124).

abhiyaśa(s), adj., glorious: LV 12.22 (vs) °śā, voc. sg. (before k-).

abhiyācana (to Skt. abhiyācati; cf. Skt. satyābhīyācana, adj., making requests true, BR s.v.), entreaty: Mv iii.318.14 °nām viditvā; in satyābhīyācanayā Divy 154.5 with appeal to truth = satya-vacana, q.v., Pali saccakiriya, solemn declaration by the truth of something (in Divy spoken by Buddha in effecting a miracle; see 154.25).

abhiyuktaka, adj.-ppp. (= Skt. °yukta), zealous, intent, (mentally) applied: RP 10.10 āśayena ... abhiyuktakā(h). May be m.c.

abhiyujyate (also °ti; orig. pass. of Skt. abhi-yuj), (is yoked) yokes oneself; fig. applies oneself (to, loc.; or absolutely): SP 79.11 (prose) abhiyujyadhve, you are yoked, harnessed (to the vehicles just mentioned; wrongly Burnouf and Kern); 80.5, 7 (tathāgataśāśane) °bhīyujyante, apply themselves; LV 203.4 abhiyujyatha (gauraveṇa), apply yourselves!

abhiraktaka, f. °ikā, adj. (= Pali abhiratta; Skt. °rakta not in this sense), (very) red: Mmk 156.24 (vs) tālukā cā °bhiraktikā (perhaps m.c.). abhirāṅga (m.?), of unknown mg.: Mv ii.86.7 yena saptābhirāṅgā ca. The whole passage is obscure.

abhiracita, ppp. of *abhiracayati: prepared, arranged, fixed up: RP 42.13 (vs) mayābhiracitam yad idam tva-darthe.

Abhirati, n. of a lokadhātu, where dwells the Buddha Akṣobhya: SP 184.7 (located in the east); Gv 82.9; AsP 366.15.

abhiramya (Pali allegedly abhiramma, Maung Tin, see CPD; Ap. abhiramma, Jacobi, Bhav.; see an-, nir-abhi°), pleasing: LV 187.10-11 sarvamanāpāni copa-saṃhartavyāni viṣayābhiramyāni; Tib. yul ſiams dgaḥ ba thams cad ni sbyor cig, apparently making viṣaya (yul) subject of upasaṃhartavyāni, and not translating abhi°. The sense must apparently be all-mind-charming and pleasing objects of sense are to be collected (prepared, for the prince to enjoy); yathābhiramyam (= Pali yathābhirantam), adv., as long as is agreeable: MSV ii.87.19.

abhirādhana (cf. prec. and next; Skt. °dhana, Pali an-abhirādhana), winning favor, conciliation: Mvy 2944.

abhirādhya, adj. (gdve. to Pali abhirādheti = sā-dhayati, see CPD; Skt. abhirādhayati, only propitiates, wins the favor of; cf. prec. two), to be won, attained: Jm 119.8 -abhirādhyaḥ gunavibhūti.

Abhirānavartā, n. of a girl attendant on Subhadrā (1): Gv 52.2.

Abhirāmaśrīvaktṛā, n. of an actor's daughter: Gv 283.3.

Abhirūpa, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.139.14.

abhirūha (so Senart with 1 ms.) or °hana (so v.l.; = Pali abhirūhana; cf. abhirohaṇa; to Skt. abhirohati), mounting, ascent: Mv ii.289.8 abhirūha(na)sampannāḥ (sattvāḥ, sc. Bodhisattvas; in Pali lit. or fig. of mounting as on a ship, esp. by a gangplank; so presumably here, fig. furnishing a gangplank to salvation).

abhirocate (= Pali °ti; not in this sense in Skt.), surpasses (lit. outshines): Śikṣ 43.2 (sumeruḥ parvatarājaḥ sarvān kulaparvatān abhirohavann) abhirocate ca sama-bhirocate coccātvena vipulātvena ca.

abhirocana (nt.; to prec.), surpassing brilliance, splendor: Dbh.g. 20(356).21; Gv 243.4, in adj. cpd. (sarva-) sattvābhirocanaṃ, having the splendor of all beings, or, illuminating all beings (of a divinity); 345.14 (prose) °na-sabhāgatām.

abhirohaṇa (nt.; Sktized form of abhirūhana, see abhirūha), mounting (on a ship or other vehicle): Gv 494.7 yānabhūtam sarvabodhisattvābhirohaṇatayā, because all Bodhisattvas mount upon it.

abhi-lakṣaṇa, adj. (app. cpd. of abhi, intensive, with lakṣaṇa; Bhvr.), having superior appearance, fine looking (of grass growing on the place of bodhi): Mv ii.263.11.

abhilakṣita (orig. ppp. of Skt. abhi-lakṣ-; = Pali abhilakkhita, see CPD), distinguished; in Pali often with abhiññāta renowned, and so in BHS with abhiññāta Mv ii.263.3, of the place of bodhi; Mv ii.441.18, of a king (mss. abhirakṣito, em. Senart); LV 23.16 °ta-puruṣa-, distinguished men; 25.8 °tāyā(h), and Mv ii.9.1 °tāyām (with mss.), of the mother of a Bodhisattva in his last rebirth; Mvy 2887; Jm 188.21 abhilakṣitātmanāṃ, of distinguished persons.

-abhiḷagna (only in śakrābhi°, q.v.), fixed upon, worn by (Tib. on Mvy 5960 thogs pa, presumably to ḥdogs pa, tie or fasten on).

abhilapanatā, Mvy 2795 = Tib. mñon par brjod pa, full expression, elucidation (Das); not Geschwätzigkeit (pw 7.306).

abhiḷāpya (rare except in neg. anabhi°, nirabhi°, qq.v.), expressible, that can be put in words: Bbh 265.16 °pya-vastu; 20 °pyāḥ svabhāvā dharmāṇām. In the prose Introduction to Bhad, line 2, Watanabe reads param-parābhiḷāpyānabhiḷāpya-buddhakṣetra-, but the true reading is paramparānabhiḷāpyānabhi° with v.l. and Gv 543.6; see anabhiḷāpyānabhiḷāpya.

abhiḷāṣa, nt. (in Skt. m.), desire: Mv ii.65.13 °sam utpannam.

abhiḷāṣika, adj. (= Skt. °ṣin, Pali °si), desirous, wishful: Gv 233.4 (prose) °keṇa cittotpādena.

abhiḷikḥati (not elsewhere recorded in this sense), touches lightly, grazes, with acc.: LV 76.19 (elephants abhiḷikḥanti the feet of Suddhodana with the tips of their trunks).

abhiḷinaka, adj. (= Skt. °līna; cf. abhinīlīnaka), lived in (by birds): Divy 83.21 (prose) kākābhi°, of an old house; perhaps pejorative -ka.

abhiḷiyati (abhi with Skt. ḍī), flies thither: °yathā (mss., Senart em. °ta) Mv ii.21.5 (= I.219.3, where ni-ī° is read, see nīliyati).

-abhiḷokana, ftc. (adj.? or n. act., in Bhvr. cpd.? to Skt. abhiḷokayati), seeing: LV 179.2 (vs) bahudharma-śatābhiḷokane ... cakṣuṣi (nt. acc. dual).

abhiḷatsala, adj. (abhi, intensive, with Skt. vatsala), very affectionate: Mv ii.206.11.

abhiḷādanā (in Skt. and Pali only °na, nt.), salutation: Bbh 139.7 (prose) °nā-vandana-.

abhiḷāhayati (Skt. in this sense only non-caus. °vahati, chiefly Vedic; Pali abhiḷāheti, removes, puts away), causes to be brought near: Gv 54.20 (vs), read, śūra bhūta abhiḷāhayāhi me, cause true heroes to be brought to me; 56.8 (vs) dharmayānam °yāhi me.

abhi-vicitrita, adj. (abhi, intensive, and Skt. vicitrita), highly embellished: SP 151.9 and 153.12 (prose) ratnavākṣābhi°; Sukh 54.12 (prose) -ratnavastuśatābhi°.

abhi-vi-jināti (= Pali °jināti, °jinati, °jeti), ger. °jinitvā, conquers: Mv ii.159.2.

abhiḷijñāpayati and °jñāpayati (Pali abhiḷijñāpeti only Vin iii.18.32, object methunam dhammam, makes manifest = consummates; Skt. only non-caus. abhiḷijñāti, perceives), (1) lit. makes perceptible (by sound), and so makes to resound, with acc. object and instr. svareṇa (śabdena); the common mg. in BHS: SP 122.10 (prose) lokam svareṇābhiḷijñāpayati; 369.1 (vs) lokadhātuḥ svareṇa ... abhiḷijñāpeyā (opt.); LV 85.9 lokadhātuḥ svareṇābhiḷijñāpto °bhūḍ; 155.3 mahānagaram śabdenābhiḷijñāptam abhūt; Mv ii.160.8 svareṇa abhiḷijñāpitam; Mvy 2785 svareṇa abhiḷijñāpayati; Samādh 8.9 lokadhātuḥ svareṇābhiḷijñāpto (Régamey wrongly instructed); Sukh 64.15 buddhasvareṇābhiḷijñāpayantam (pres. pple.); (2) makes perceptible (visually), makes manifest: pres. pass. pple. abhiḷijñāpyamānāni, being manifested, Gv 537.5 (sarvārambānāni), 6 (sarvabodhisattvaparaṣanmaṇḍalāni).

abhiḷinayati, °neti (not in Pali; Skt. only ppp. °nīta), trains completely: fut. pple. °neṣyan Jm 216.8; ger. °netvā (mss., Senart em. °neti) Mv i.297.17.

abhiḷilokanā (to next), close examination: °nā-pūrvamgamehi dharmehi Mv ii.259.8; 260.1.

abhiḷilokayati, °keti (not in Pali or Pkt.; Skt. once °lokyā, ger., Haraviḷaya 42.31, see Schmidt, Nachtr.), glazes intently at, examines closely (with acc.): °kayati Mv ii.447.5; °keti ii.259.7; 260.1; pres. pple. °kayanto iii.318.1; °kento ii.398.2; °kayan Gv 99.21; ger. °ketvā Mv i.317.8, 10, 14; all prose except Mv ii.398.2. abhiḷraddadhāna-tā (n. act. from prec., with suffix ana plus -tā, § 22.42; not from Sanskrit pres. mid. pple. -dadhāna), state of believing: SP 332.7; ŚsP 615.10 (both prose).

abhiḷakṣa, adj. (ppp. of Skt. abhi-ṣajati, Pali abhiṣajati, both offend, give offense to; afflict; cf. abhiṣajyate; wrongly defined in BR s.v. sañj with abhi; Mbh. Crit. ed. 3.30.26 [Nīl. tāpito, tāpayet for abhiḷakṣa, abhiṣajet] and 4.4.9 [Rāmākṣṇa parāphrases using abhiṣaṅga, glossed parābhava], which are the only two passages cited in BR; pw adds one other from Caraka, abhiḷakṣa, defined correctly heimgesucht), (1) lit. offended, hence angered, wrathful (so the cognate Pali abhiṣaṅgin is used; Pali abhiṣatta, in most occurrences, = Skt. abhiṣapta cursed, but see below), always followed by synonyms kupita, caṇḍbhūta (or in Prāt caṇḍīkṛta): Divy 622.11; Karmav 26.5 (here krodhābhiḷakṣa); 27.13; Prāt 500.8; 512.9 et alibi; (2) in Mvy 2965 abhiḷakṣaḥ defined by Tib. (ñan ba) and Chin. as simply bad, wicked; the Jap. has three alternative renderings, all obviously based on etymological guesswork; one means vituperated. Occurs in a section entitled krodhakārāḥ, and containing mostly words for anger, angry etc., and perhaps to be interpreted precisely in this sense; in that case belonging with (1). However, Pali abhiṣattarūpa occurs once (Vv.chap. 84 vs. 5; p. 78 line 8) as ep. of bhūmippadesa, a region, described as desolate, barren wilderness; the comm. and modern interpreters take it as meaning accursed, identifying it with the usual Pali abhiṣatta (= °ṣapta, above); but the Vv.context contains no evidence for this; possibly it = Skt. abhiḷakṣa, orig. heimgesucht (as in Caraka, above), afflicted, evil. In that case abhiḷakṣa of Mvy might mean what Tib. and Chin. say, simply wicked, which would be not a difficult development from afflicted.

? abhiṣajjana, nt. (to Skt. abhi with saj or sañj, in a sense not recorded in Skt., but cf. Pali abhiṣajjati, a, CPD), perh. sticking fast (together), said of the teeth during the process of eating: Gv 401.10 (asyāhāram paribhuñjānasya na) ... paryavanāho (q.v.) vābhiṣajjanam abhiṣajyate (pass. of Skt. abhiṣajati, Pali °sajati; = Pali abhiṣajati, b, CPD; cf. abhiṣakta and abhiṣañ-jani), gets angry (lit. is offended): Av 1.286.4.

abhiṣaṇṇa (ppp. of Skt. abhiṣidati, in different mg., only Vedic and Kāś. on Pāp. 8.3.118 f.), apparently seated: Sukh 67.8 sa tatra tadābhiṣaṇṇo vābhiṣampanno vā bhavet (Müller, SBE 49, Part 2, 64: there he might then be either sitting or resting).

abhiṣūyate (= Skt. abhyasū°; in vs but not m.c.; § 3.115), complains: na cābhiṣūyase MSV 1.10.6; 1.12.1.

abhiṣeka, n. of the tenth (bodhisattva-) bhūmi in one list (not the ordinary one, see bhūmi 4; see also next): Mv 1.76.18 daśamī tv abhiṣekāto; 124.20 °ka-bhūmi-prāptānām; Gv 472.25 °ka-bhūmi-sthita, said of Maitreya; Gv 514.7 ekajāti-pratibaddhānām abhiṣekaprāptānām.

abhiṣekavati = prec.: °ti nāma daśamā bhūmiḥ Mv 1.193.6, in a colophon.

Abhiṣecani (v.l. °cavati), n. of a Bodhisattva-dhāraṇi: Mvy 747.

abhiṣyaṇṇa (ppp. of Skt. abhiṣyandati, overflows), (lit. overflowing); over-exuberant, excessive, of the bodily humors (dhātu); so Pali abhiṣ(anna) is used, of the bodily humors (dosa): Mv iii.143.16 °nā vātātāpā (see this); 144.6 °nehi dhātūhi, and same (but with mss. reading abhiṣyandehi, em. Senart) 153.11 and 154.8. See the following entries.

abhiṣyanda, m. (in Skt. used of a pathological eye-condition; cf. prec. and next), flux, ulceration of the teeth: Gv 401.9.

abhiṣyandati (cf. prec. and following entries), (1) overflows with evil emotion, specifically anger or malice: Mv 1.30.5 (asurāḥ) kupyanti vyāpadyanti abhiṣyandanti; (2) some form or derivative of this verb is intended in Mv iii.311.1, which Senart misunderstands; the mg. must be becoming inflated (with evil bodily humors), cf. abhiṣyaṇṇa; this condition of the Buddha's body resulted from his first meal after the seven-weeks fast. The next sentence says that Śakra brought haritaki, a purgative medicine, so that his humors might become pacified, restored to ease, dhātūnām sukhāṃ (em. to mukhaṃ by Senart) bhaviṣyati. The exact reading in 1 is uncertain; possibly tathā abhiṣyanditam, impersonal, inflation, over-exuberance (of humors) was caused.

abhiṣyandana (nt.; = Pali abhiṣandana; cf. prec. and next), (over-)flowing: -mahākaraṇābhiṣyandana-tavā Gv 294.15, because it is full to overflowing with great compassion.

abhiṣyandayati, °deti (= Pali abhiṣandeti; caus. to °syandati), drenches, saturates, irrigates, (a) lit. of plants etc., Mv iii.301.17 vāriṇā °deti pariṣyandeti (q.v.); ppp. °dita, SP 122.8 (plants and seeds); Mvy 6584 (= Tib. brlan pa, sbaṅs pa, drenched, wet); fig. of kuśalamūlāni, roots of merit, °dayiṣyati, fut., Gv 457.18; (b) of mental organs or states, °dita-niṣcitta-citto Gv 151.13; -karuṇā-snehābhiṣyandita-saṃtāno 189.9; in yoga practice, °dayati softens, makes supple (one's own person), as in Pali (CPD), Mvy 1646 = Tib. mñon du mñen par byed pa, makes very supple; here too followed by pariṣyandayati.

abhiṣvakta (ppp. of Skt. abhiṣvaj), attached (to, acc.): Suv 209.9 (prose) jivitaśarīrāṇy abhiṣvaktānām (Nobel em. °śarīrābhi°).

abhiṣamyujyate (pass. of Skt. abhiṣam-yuj), applies oneself (to acc.): SP 124.4 ye ... tathāgatasya dharmam bhāṣamāṇasya śṛṇvanti dhārayanti abhiṣamyujyante, who ... apply themselves to the law of the T. as he declares it.

The mss. read: ... prabhūtā mānuṣyakā bhogā dhārmikā dharmalabdā dhārmikena balena abhisāhitā (218.2 abhyāhṛtā) abhisamūḍhā (Senart em. abhisamūḍhā, q.v.).

Abhisūrya (v.l. Abhibhūya; Senart em. Atisūrya), n. of a future Buddha: Mv iii.330.13.

abhistanita (nt.; orig. ppp. of abhi-stanati or °stanayati, in Skt. only Ved. and very rare; Pali abhithanati or °nayati), thunder: LV 106.16–17 (prose) gajagarjitābhistanita-meghasvara-madhura-mañjughosaś, one of the 80 anuvyañjana.

abhistavati (= Pali abhithavati; Skt. abhiṣṭauti, abhiṣṭuvate), praises: °vati Mv ii.157.10; °vanti SP 12.6 (vs); aor. °ve Mv ii.403.4; iii.343.14; 3 pl. °vimsu SP 191.3 (vs); °vetsuḥ Mv ii.187.6; ppp. °stuto Mv ii.157.18; also abhistuvati (cf. § 28.7) in LV 185.11 (vs) read abhistuva, 3 sg. Imperf. (§ 32.15).

abhisthiti (f.; from abhi-sthā), lasting (noun), permanence: Mmk 104.11 (śakatasya) śrakālābhisthityartham, in order that (the cart) may last long; cf. next line sthitye.

abhihāra (m.; to Skt. abhiharati; = Pali id., not recorded in this sense in Skt.; cf. abhisāra), offering, gift, present: Mv iii.387.18; (gandhamālyādy)abhihāreṇa Jm 207.17.

abhiṣṇāpattika, adj., Bnvr. (abhiṣṇa plus āpatti, with -ka, Bhvr.; = Pali abhiṣāpattika), constantly sinning: MSV iii.11.15 ff.; Bbh 182.21 nābhiṣṇāpattiko vivṛtapāpaś ca bhavati. Cf. abhiṣṇāpatti- KP 119.2, s.v. āpatti. [abhiṣā, see āpārā.]

a-bhiṣaṇa, adj. (neg. of Skt. bhiṣaṇa), not terrifying, with gen.: Mv ii.295.13 (prose) °na sattvānām, who does not terrify creatures (said of Bodhisattva); so mss. (one corruptly om. a-); Senart em.

abhiṣṇam, adv. (false Skt. for Pali abhinham = Skt. abhiṣṇam), constantly: LV 397.15; all mss. (a)bbhiṣṇam or °bhiṣ; Lefm. and Calc. abhiṣṇam.

a-bhugna, adj. (neg. of Skt. bhugna), in °na-kukṣi, adj., having a belly that is not crooked, one of the anuvyañjana: Mvy 303; Dharmas 84 (°tā); in Mv ii.44.3 doubtless read abhugnodara for abhagno; cf. the synonym ajihmakukṣi LV 107.4.

a-bhūta, adj. (neg. of bhūta, q.v.; rare in Skt. in this sense), not true, false: Ud viii.1 abhūta-vādi(r) speaking falsehood; Suv 58.1; Karmav 44.12; Bhik 16a.2; Jm 116.3; Mv 1.36.13 (abrahmacaryavāda); 44.13 (abhyākhyāna, q.v.).

abhūtvā-śraddhā (cpd.; ed. prints as two words), belief in (coming into existence of something) after not having been: yadi... °ddhā (if one accepts that belief), vijñānānām... utpattir abhaviṣyad Lañk 41.6; in Lañk 40.14 read (ye kecin... śramaṇā vā brāhmaṇā) vā bhūtvā-śraddhā(h), as Bhvr. cpd., who cherish a belief in (existence of something) after having been, i. e. in persistence of (real) existence (text °vābhūtvā śr., i. e. vā abh., and so Suzuki).

? a-bhūmi, adj. (or read or understand a-bhūmyam, neg. of bhūmya, q.v.?), non-terrestrial, i. e. celestial, supernal: Mv 1.72.9 (vs) vartayisyi varacakram abhūmi, I shall start turning the celestial excellent wheel (of the Law). So one ms.; the rest abhūsi (which makes no sense); Senart em. abdhutam, which is violent, and metrically impossible. PTSD alleges a Pali abhumma, groundless, unfounded, unsubstantial, Jāt v.178.11; vi.495.23; but CPD rejects this word and reads abhum me in both passages.

abhaisajya, nt. (= Pali abhesajja, Vin. i.270.18, in parallel to MSV ii.28), what is not a medicinal remedy: MSV ii.28.11 ff.

? abhauti, in Lañk 17.5, text abhauti-bhautikānām; Suzuki things created and uncreated; the mss. are very confused; some simply abhautikānām; perhaps read abhautika-bhauti° (and perhaps render rather of things non-elemental and elemental). Surely no stem abhauti should be recognized. See bhautika (2); one possible reading for the above passage might be bhūta-bhautikānām, of gross elements and (subsidiary elements or) sense-objects.

abhyāṅga(ya)ti, °geti (denom. to Skt. abhyāṅga; = AMg. abhhaṅgā, °gel, anoints: tallena °geti Mv iii.154.14; 156.7 (here v.l. °gl, ger. ?); ger. °gitvā or °getvā (mss.; Senart em. abhyāñcivā, intending °jitvā?) Mv iii.23.16 (taillehi).

? abhyadbhuta, adj. (abhi plus adbhuta), very wonderful: SP 23.15. No v.l. in KN; but WT atyad° with ms. K'; perhaps read so (Skt. atyadbhuta).

abhyānumodana, nt. (= Pali abhhanu°; to Skt. °moda(ya)ti, or °nā, approval, applause, approbation: Jm 49.16; Karmav 37.13; 39.5; fem., MPS 6.11.

abhyantarā, adv.-prep. (cf. Skt. abhyantara, adj., °ram, °re, Pali abbha°; and antarā), within, with gen.: Mv iii.57.17 °rā varṣasātya, in the space of 100 years.

abhyantarāgra, adj., with tips (directed) inward (and roots outward), said of the grass ground-cover spread by the Bodhisattva for himself at the Bodhi-tree: LV 289.12 °gram bahirmūlam... tṛṇasamstaraṇam samstīrya; in the corresponding passages Mv ii.131.14 and 268.2 read abhyantarāgram (in the first Senart anyatarāgra, reportedly with one ms., v.l. °gram; in the second Senart abhyantarāgre, with mss.; in both the following noun is tṛṇasamstaram; has bahirmūlam been accidentally lost in the Mv text?).

abhyantarita, ppp. (cf., in diff. mg., Pali abbha°, acc. to CPD ppp. of abhi plus antar plus i, but rather denom. pple. to abhantara = Skt. abhyantara), located within: (sarṣapasya) ākāśa-m °to parittam (so read) KP 78.5 (vs), the space within a mustard-seed is a small thing.

abhyantarima, adj. (= Pali abbha°; § 22.15), interior; that is within: Mv i.308.18 °me catuṣṣāle.

abhyantarimaka, adj. (= prec.), that is within: Mv iii.72.15 °makānām vāñjakānām; 73.17 °makehi (mss. °taramakehi) vāñjakehi.

abhyantaribhūta, ppp. (cf. Skt. abhyantari-kr), included, contained (in, with instr.): Gv 524.19, read na kāyena cittaṇabhyantaribhūtam (1st ed. by error °tyantari°; corr. 2d ed.).

abhyantaroṣṭha, adj. (or ābhy°; samdhi makes ambiguity), lit. having a lip in between (the two halves of a cleft lip), referring to an extreme form of hare-lip in which a flap hangs down between the two halves of the cleft lip: SP 350.8 nābhyantaroṣṭho... bhavati.

abhyabhistutya, ger. (with intensive repetition of abhi, not recorded for this preverb; cf. Pān. 8.1.7, adhyadhi etc.), having greatly praised: LV 319.10 (prose), so Lefm. with best mss.; v.l. abhyarcya stutvā; Tib. bstod de, having praised, not rendering even one preverb.

abhyavakāśa (m.? or nt. = Pali abbhokāśa, m.; in Skt. only Kauś. 46.55 °śe), the outdoors, free space, the open air: twice in a formula = Pali sambādho (°yam) gharāvāso (rajjāpatho) abbhokāśo (ca) pabbajjā (see CPD), Mv ii.117.16 = iii.50.9–10 sambādho punar ayam gharāvāso (ii.117.16 gharāvāso; iii.50.9–10 adds, rajasām āvāso) abhyavakāśam (in ii.117.16 mss. °śā, prob. intending °śo, but Senart reads °śam both times) pravrajyā, the household life is confinement (PTSD takes sambādho as adj., but it is prob. a noun), mendicant's life is open space, free room; °kāśe, in the open air, outdoors, Divy 278.10; Av i.228.9;

Śikṣ 65.14; Mmk 88.26; Lañk 308.10; Prāt 508.8; *kāśa-prakṛitas Dbh 64.5 (Tib. nam mkhañi, sky, heaven).

abhyavakāśika, adj. and subst. m. and (?) nt. (from prec.; = Pali abbhokāśika; BHS also ābhy°, q.v.; cf. also Skt. abhrāvakāśika, which in MIndic would have the same form, and which CPD suggests may be the historic original, BHS having hyper-Skt. forms; but cf. abhyavakāśa, for which no Skt. *abhrā° is recorded), (an ascetic) living in the open air, one of the dhūtaguṇa: AsP 387.8; Śikṣ 137.1 (contrasted with one who lives in a monastery); *kam, n. sg. nt., Mvy 7477, the practice of living as a monk in the open air (but see ābhy°, which prob. read).

abhyavakīratī (= Skt. *kīratī; § 28.34; Pali abhikīratī is used not only as pass., cf. Geiger 175.2, but also, by the side of *kīratī, as active, CPD), strews (upon): pres. pple. *kīramāṇā, with active mg., strewing (flowers), Gv 430.3 (prose); ppp. *kīrita, bestrewn, Mmk 63.25 (prose).

abhyavagāhya, ger. (to Skt. abhy-ava-gāh), Divy 130.13 tām paśadam abhy°, perhaps having ripened, matured, cf. abhyavagāha = pariṇata, completed (of time of life; see Schmidt, Nachtr., s.v. gāh with abhy-ava); or possibly having occupied himself with, cf. -ava-gāhīn in pw s.v.

? abhyākīratī (not recorded), strews (upon): Dbh.g. 6(342).5 *ranti. Note also Dbh.g. 14(350).4, where text abhyokiranti with one of Susa's mss. only; the other, and Rahder's text, abhyā°. Should abhyo° (= abhyava°) be read in the first passage also?

abhyākhyāna, nt. (in Mv once app. m. (or f.?) = Pali abbhakkhāna, nt.; Skt. Lex. and Jain, Hem. Yogaś., BR 7.1700; the ppp. *khyāta is recorded twice in BR s.v. khyā with abhy-ā, and occurs also in BHS, Śikṣ 95.13; the noun seems to be a Bu., also Jain, term; cf. abhyācīkṣati), false accusation, slander: often modified by abhūta, false, as Mv 1.44.13 abhūto abhyākhyāno (v.l. *nā) dinno (v.l. *nā); 45.11 *nam (acc. sg.); abhūta-bhy° Karmav 44.12; Lañk 254.1; *na-bahula, given to false accusations, Śikṣ 69.5; *la-tā Dbh 26.22; other passages Mvy 5233; 8494 (amūlakābhy°); Śikṣ 171.16; KP 5.5; Lañk 66.3 (read *nam for *nām).

abhyācīkṣati (= Pali abbhācīkṣati, see s.v. ācīkṣati; cf. prec. and Skt. abhyākhyāta), accuses falsely: Mv 1.45.1, opt. *śeyam, with abhyākhyānena (see prec.), may I accuse him with a false accusation: ppp. *śita lll.27.18 (em., but certain).

abhyānandya, ger., having greeted with approval or gratitude: *dyānumodya Divy 147.20; 462.18 (here mss. abhyān°).

abhyāvasati, indulges in (laughter and conversation); cf. Skt. (adhy-)āvasati, enters into (a state or condition). In Mv 1.214.10 read mātā (Senart em. mātām) . . . abhyāvasati hāsyam ca kathām (Senart with v.l. abhyābhavati and kathā) ca; in repetition ll.17.8–9 both mss. mātā and kathām, omitting the verb altogether; Senart reads as in the first passage.

abhyāsanna, adj. (orig. ppp. of Skt. abhyāsīdati, reaches, attains, a rare word; cf. next three), near: Śikṣ 349.19.

abhyāsanni-bhavati (from prec.), becomes or comes near (to, with gen.): *bhavati AsP 348.18, and ppp. *bhūta, brought near, SP 232.5, both with anuttarāyāḥ samyak-sambodheḥ.

abhyāsāda (cf. prec. and next), attainment: Jm 116.5 anekasāstrābhyāsāda.

abhyāsādeti (*dayati; cf. prec. three), presses (too) close to (? so Senart), with acc.: tathāgataṃ °deti Mv lll.179.12; impv. °dehi 13.

abhyāsi-bhavati (= Skt. Gr. abhyāsi°; to Skt. abhyāsa, °sa), comes near (to, with gen. or comp.): ŚsP 681.11 sarvākārājñātāyā(h) °vati; caus. ppp. LV 9.8 -vaśāradyābhyāsihbhāvitabalasya; see also svabh(y)āsi-bhavati.

Abhyuccagāmin, occurs in mss. of Mv, in Gv, and as v.l. in LV, for Atyuca°, q.v.

Abhyuccadeva, text of Gv, read doubtless Aty°, q.v. abhyutkṣipati, (1) picks up, raises, lifts up or out: LV 67.12 (of Bodhisattva) pāṇim abhyutkṣipya, raising his hand (most mss. aty°); 72.7 (trṇagulmakam api dharaṇītalād) pya, picking up even a handful of grass from the ground; 83.16 pya (the gods, picking up the new-born Bodhisattva); 305.14 sāgarād °pya (most mss. aty°); Sukh 31.12 (samudrāt . . .) udakabindum °pet; Mv ll.315.9 °peyā, opt.; 329.2 °pitvāna, ger. (mss. corrupt); Śikṣ 306.11 (vs) °pitvā, ger. (nīrmālya śuśkam, so separate); (2) picks out, selects: Dbh 97.26 °ptam, ppp. (of a jewel, picked out in preference to others).

abhyutsāha, m. (= Pali abbhussāha; see next two), energy: Mvy 1813; Bbh 200.3, 14; vīryam abhyutsāho Bbh 204.15.

abhyutsāha-tā, or °sāhanā (so read for atyut° of text; to prec. plus -tā, or to next plus -anā; cf. Pali abbhussahana, °sahanatā, °sāha, energy, energizing, instigation, encouragement: (iyam abhyupapattir) iyam śīksā iyam lokasamvṛttir iyam °sāhatā Divy 547.26; similarly, idaṃ kim? °sāhanā 549.7.

abhyutsāhayati (Pali ppp. abbhussāhita; see prec. two), encourages: rājānam °sāhayan, pres. pple., Av i.185.9; 191.10.

abhyudīraṇa (nt.; to Skt. abhyudīrayati), lifting up (the voice), uttering: LV 399.20, read sugrābhyudīraṇe for pratilābhy-ud° (supported by Tib. and both parts found in some mss.).

abhyudgacchati (for which atyud° often occurs in the tradition, either as v.l. or in all mss.; see under atyudgacchati; in most meanings Pali abbhuggacchati and derivs. support this reading), (1) arises, of the sun: sūrye °bhyudgate Vaj 32.17; rises in the air, often with valhāya-sam (as in Pali, vehāsam) or the like, valhāyasam abhyudgāmya Divy 223.12; Mv 1.55.2; 239.18 (mss. atyu°); lll.425.17, 23; valh° abhyudgacchanti (v.l. atyu°) Mv 1.21.7; parśanmaṇḍalamadhyād abhyudgamyopary antarīkṣe valhāyasam (mss. °se) sthitvā SP 241.15; viḥāya-sam abhyudgataḥ Divy 223.13; kālo nāgarāja . . . svakāto bhavanāto (i. e. from the nether world) abhyudgamitvā (v.l. atyu°) Mv ll.302.14; viḥāyasā saptatālamātram abhyudgāmya (both edd. atyu°, no v.l.) LV 18.16; so also Samādh 8.9 (antarīkṣe saptatālamātram atyudgāmya); yāvad brahmakāyam ghoṣam (n. sg.) abhyudgacchet (preterite; mss. atyu°, em. Senart) Mv 1.229.16, the sound rose up as far as the company of Brahma; similarly Mv 1.240.5 (mss. atyudgame) and 333.7 (yāvad brahmakāyikā devanīkāyā, as far as the divine abode of the companions of B., ghoṣam atyudgacchet, Senart em. abhyu°); also Mv 1.231.4 śāram (mss., see s.v. śāra) abhyudgato (mss. atyudgataṃ); fig. sarvalokābhyudgato LV 60.14, risen above the whole world (of Buddha); fig. advances, prospers, bhogalr abhyudgacchati Divy 237.19; (2) of water-plants, which rise above the water (in this sense Pali seems to use only accuggamma = atyudgama! but BHS tradition abhyud°: LV 76.11 - puṇḍarikāṇy abhyudgatāni (puṣkarīṇṣu; in next line 12, puspaphalavrkṣā dharanīlād abhyudgama, confirming the reading of all mss.); Mv III.318.8 udakāto abhyudgatāni (contrasted with other water-plants which are antodakāni or samodakāni, under the water or level with it), parallel to LV 400.5 udakā-bhyudgatāni (contrasted with udakāntargatāni and udakasamāni); (3) arises = sets out upon an undertaking: lokahitārtham (the welfare of people) abhyudgatasya Divy 102.7, cf. abhyudgama (ger.) 103.11; (4) arrives at, comes to, gets: naivam tṛptim abhyudgacchate Divy 235.21, does not by this means become satiated. See also next.

abhyudgata (1), nt., a high number: Gv 106.1; 133.10; = atyudgata, which is cited from Gv in Mvy 7862. Either might be original; see the two verbs, and cf. Pall accuggata and abhuggata; (2) m., n. of a Buddha: Gv 284.12.

Abhyudgatakarma, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 443.8. Abhyudgataprabhaś(i)ri, n. of a Buddha: Gv 285.2 (vs).

Abhyudgatarāja, n. of a kalpa: SP 469.8.

Abhyudgatābha, n. of a Buddha: Gv 285.10.

Abhyudgatoṣṇiṣa, n. of one of the 8 Uṣṇīṣārjāṇah (see Uṣṇīṣa 3): Mmk 41.10.

abhyudgamana, (1) rising in respectful salutation (so Skt. Lex.): kumārasyābhyudgamanam karīṣyāmi Mv III.111.18, I will cause (people) to rise and salute the prince; (2) rising of the sun: Divy 334.28 (sūryasyābhyudgamanasamayā); LV 16.12 (°na-velāyām; here v.l. °tyudgam°).

abhyuddidhīrṣā (from desid. of abhy-ud-dhr, not recorded; cf. Skt. ud-didhīrṣati, and the foll. items), desire of lifting up or rescuing: Sādh 97.6 jagatām abhy°.

Abhyuddhara, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 443.5.

abhyuddharaṇa (nt., = Pall id.; cf. prec. and next two), pulling out, with implication of rescue: Śikṣ 6.5-6 (cited from Gv but not in the pertinent passage, Gv 495) badisabhūtam (sc. bodhicittam) samsārajalacarābhyud-dharaṇa-tayā, it is like a fishhook, because it pulls out people moving (like fish) in the water of the round of existences (otherwise Bendall and Rouse Transl. p. 6). See especially abhyuddharaṇa.

abhyuddhāra, m. (cf. prec. items, and next), rescue, deliverance: °ro Divy 192.6.

abhyuddharaṇa (nt., cf. prec. items, esp. abhyud-dharaṇa), = prec.: Gv 143.22 sarva-sattva-samsāra-sāgarābhyuddharaṇa-tāyāi.

abhyunnata (ppp. of abhy-un-nam; Skt. id. and Pall abhunnata, °unnata, as adj.), (risen up, erect); as periphrastic past, arose: Mv I.187.15, mss. abhyunnato or aty°; Senart em. abhyudgato.

abhyunnāmya, ger. (to Pall abhunnāmeti, caus. of Skt. abhy-un-nam; Skt. only abhyunnata, q.v.), having lifted, raised up: LV 319.6 (prose). Cf. atyunnamaya.

? abhyupakāla, adj., apparently something like competent: Mv I.134.3 (prose), mss. kleśavyupasame (vv.ll. °vyayasame, °vyapasame; understand °same) °bhyupakālās (2 of 6 mss. °tyupa°) ca kuśalās (1 ms. °pakāla-kuśalās) ca bhavanti (Senart reads by em.: kleśavyaya-śamābhyupakāra-kuśalās ca bha°; there is no record of any abhyupakāra, any more than of °kāla).

abhyūhya, ger. (read prob. abhyūhya; to Skt. abhyūh; cf. next), having deduced by reasoning: Bbh 156.4.

abhyūhanā (= Skt. abhyūha; cf. prec.), reasoning, logical deduction, inference: Bbh 83.6.

? abhṛati (Skt. Dhātup. only, with artificial occurrences in Bhaṭṭikāvyā; Pall abhṛati, also only Gr.), goes: perhaps read (a)bhṛitvā, or MIndic (a)bbhitvā, ger., having gone, Mv I.187.7 (vs; after final -o, -ā, or -e); mss. bhyatvā or bhyotvā (one tyotvā, one datvā); Senart em. bhūtā, which I think is clearly wrong; a verb of motion seems required.

amañku-bhūta, see mañku.

amata, adj. (MIndic for Skt. amṛta), immortal: LV 261.20 (vs), read with best ms. naivāham amataṁ (ma-)nye; cf. Mv II.238.19 (same line) nāham amaro ti manyāmi; so Tib. mī hchi sñam du ña mī sems.

amatsyamāṃsaka, adj. or subst., (an ascetic practice) involving eating no fish or meat: LV 248.17 (prose) °kair (sc. ātāpana-paritāpanaiḥ).

a-madgu, adj. (neg. of madgu, s.v. mañku), not annoyed: Bbh 125.26 °gur (so mss., one possibly a-maṅgur; ed. wrongly em. a-mañkur).

a-madhyama, adj. (not recorded in this sense), immoderate, extreme: LV 416.19 °mā pratipad, viz. extreme asceticism, opp. to the middle course, madhyamā pratipad.

a-manasikāra, m. (= Pall id.; neg. of manasi°, q.v.), lack of attention; inattention: Bbh 240.19 (pañca-sthāneṣv) amanasikāram kṛtvā; 20, 25, etc.

a-mānāpa (less often a-manaāpa), adj. (= Pall id.; neg. of man°; cf. next), unpleasant: Mv II.150.6, 10; Gv 157.10 (text amān°, misprint?); Bbh 186.2, 6; LV 71.11; amanaāpa Dbh 24.10.

a-manāpika, adj. (neg. of Pall manāpika = °pa), = prec.: Mv II.150.5, mss. amanāpikāni, Senart em. amān°; to be sure mānāpikāni (see this) occurs in the same line; but next line has amanāpaṁ, and in view of the Pali form no em. is necessary.

amanuṣya, subst. m. and adj. (cf. next and amānuṣa; as subst. = Pall amanussa; in Skt. only Lex. and Pāṇ. 2.4.23), (1) subt. spirit, demon; SP 83.9; in lists of kinds of creatures, in cpd. SP 169.2 deva-nāga-yakṣa-gandharvāsura-garūḍa-kimnara-mahoraga-manuṣyāmanuṣya; SP 69.5-6; same list as separate words Gv 141.24 devān... manuṣyān amanuṣyān; Mv II.107.13, read with mss. anyā kimnarīṇāṁ gatiḥ, amanuṣyāṇāṁ, different is the path of the k°, who are demons (or, as adj., superhuman); amanuṣya-vyādhi, disease caused by a demon or spirit, Mv I.253.11 ff.; 284.6 ff.; 287.5; amanuṣya-upasarga (so prob. read, as cpd., with one ms.), id., Mv I.287.17; °syābhiṣṭa Bbh 63.6; (2) adj., superhuman: Mv II.30.16 °syāni ca gītavādyaśabdāni (so with mss.; Senart amānu°).

amanuṣyaka, subst. m. = prec.: °kā(h) palānā(h), the demons fled, (or, were put to flight; often with instr. of agent) Mv I.270.11 (bhagavatā); 283.7 ff.; 288.9-12; amanuṣyakāḥ Divy 451.3 (vs, bad meter; in same vs 456.21 amānuṣāḥ, correct meter; of beings who evidently resemble kimnaras).

Amanoratha (cf. Manoratha), n. of a piśāca: Mmk 18.5.

amantra, nt., or amantrā, f., a high number: °tram Gv 133.17; Mvy 7880, cited from Gv, Tib. gzal yas, implying amātra, q.v.; amantrā Gv 106.7.

a-manyana-tā (cf. mananya, °nā), the not being proud: Śikṣ 192.3 svagunair a°.

amama, m. or nt., a high number: °maḥ Mvy 7795; °mam Mvy 7924, cited from Gv 134.3, where text mama-mam (read amamam); Gv 106.18 sattva-mamasya, text, read sattvāmamasya.

Amaradeva, n. of a former Buddha: Mv I.137.4.

Amaraparpaṭa, nt. (or m.), n. of a town: Māy 18 °te; cf. Lévi p. 66.

Amarā, (1) n. of a smith's daughter (= later Yaśo-dharā), who married Mahausadha; heroine of a Jātaka which = the Pali Sūci-j., No. 387: Mv II.83.19 ff.; colophon 89.11 Amarāye karmāradhitāye Jātakam. In the Sūci-j. the characters are unnamed; but (Pali) Mahosadha is the hero of the Mahāummagga-j., No. 546, and Amarā is his wife. This has misled both CPD and DPPN into identifying this Pali Jātaka with the story of Mv. Actually the stories are quite different, and Mv agrees with the Sūci-j., which, to be sure, acc. to the Story of the Present, belongs to the same occasion as the Mahāummagga; hence doubtless the transfer of the names of the hero and heroine from one to the other. Which was the original? (2) n. of a river: Māy 253.6; in a list between Viśvāmitrā and Tāmārā; not in Kirfel; perhaps read Amalā? (but this also is not recorded as a river-name).

Amalā, n. of a rākṣasi: Māy 243.26.

a-mātrjñā (neg. of mā°, q.v.), not honoring one's mother, regularly followed by apitrjñā, aśrāmaṇya, abrahmaṇya, not honoring fathers, monks, brahmins: Mv iii.363.8; Divy 293.25; Gv 228.15; 353.3; Bbh 252.21; SP 429.7; amātipitrjñā-tā, aśrāmaṇya-tā, abrahmaṇya-tā Karmav 40.10.

amātya-prekṣita, Mv ii.1.9 (mss.), or amātyā-veṣṭita, LV 23.20, watched (guarded) by ministers, nt. adj., epithet of the family in which the Bodhisattva is to be born; to be taken closely with foll. phrase, Mv tam kulam bhogām bhumjati, LV tat kulam bhavati bhogam paribhūnakti, it eats its meals (or, enjoys its wealth) under the guardianship of ministers; so Tib. blon pos bla zhiñ loñ spyod la spyod pa yin. In Mv the mss. have °preṣitaṃ, which Senart emends rightly; but he also, wrongly, em. amānya for amātya. The parallel Mv i.197.19 is different and doubtless corrupt.

amātra, m., a high number: Mvy 7752a. So read with v.l. for sumātra, m., which is read by Mironov without v.l. But Tib. gzhal yas, without measure. Cf. amantra.

a-mātrajñā, adj. (neg. of mā°; = Pali amattaññu; cf. next), immoderate (in eating): Ud xxix.15.

a-mātrajñā-ta, adj., f. °tā (or, in mss., °jñā°; see under mātrajñātā), Bhvr. cpd., which has no moderation (in eating): Mv iii.48.17; 49.4 (parṣāye...) bhojane amātrajñātāye (so Senart; it seems to me necessary to read °jñātāye, with v.l. 48.17).

amanuṣa, m. (1) = amanuṣya(ka), subst.: Divy 456.21 (see s.v. amanuṣyaka); LV 75.15; (2) n. of a nāga king: Māy 247.26.

amāpya, amāpiya (not in Pali or Skt.; neg. gdve. to caus. of root mā), (1) adj. immeasurable: °pya SP 66.4; Vaj 34.2; °piya Mv ii.362.11 (prose); (2) subst. nt., a high number: Mvy 7948 (cited from Gv); 8046; Gv 106.25; 134.14 (all °pya).

amāpya-parivarta, m. (Mvy) or nt. (Gv 134.14), square of prec. (2): Mvy 7949 °taḥ (cited from Gv); Gv 106.25 (gen.); 134.14 °tam, n. sg.

amita, ppp. (to root am; recorded only in Skt. Gr.), sick: Mv ii.430.3, mss. varam te amito (Senart em. ramito, implausibly) aham, sick as I am, I am a better choice for you.

Amitateja(s), n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.136.16. Amita-tosala (nt. or m.; cf. Tosala), n. of a country in the south: Gv 179.3 °le.

Amitadhvaṇa, n. of a Buddha in the west: Sukh 97.15.

Amitanātha, another name for Amitābha: Sādh 360.4; 363.13.

Amitaprabha, (1) another name for Amitābha: Sukh 50.6 (vs); 53.15 (vs); 62.13–14 (prose), here one of three names for the same personage, Amitābham Amitaprabham Amitāyuṣam (tathāgatam etc.); (2) n. of a different (future) Buddha: Sukh 70.6.

Amitalocana, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.138.11.

Amitavyūhaviṭṭi, n. of the lokadhātu of Amitāyurjñānavinīścayaśāradā: Mmk 303.24.

Amitaskandha, n. of a Buddha in the west: Sukh 97.14.

Amitā, n. of a sister of Śuddhodana: Mv i.352.14; 355.20.

Amitābha, (1) n. of the Buddha who presides over the western paradise Sukhāvati (lokadhātu); also known as Amitāyu(s), Amitaprabha, Amitanātha, and doubtless intended by the Mmk names Amitāyu(rjñāna)-vinīścayaśāradā (or the like), even tho he is once depicted separately in a painting centering about that personage (Mmk 305.12–13, cf. 304.25). See these names separately. The two commonest names are Amitābha and Amitāyus, and they are as a rule quite equivalent and interchangeable; see notably Sukh 62.13–14; 95.15 and 20. Often Sukhāvati is mentioned with him. He is the fourth of the 'transcendent' Buddhas, Dharmas 3; Mvy 85. Other occurrences: Suv 2.5; Bhāḍ 49, 57, 59, 62; Śikṣ 175.6; Kv 18.7; 21.8 etc.; Mmk 42.16; 426.7; Gv 82.5; Lañk 283.7; Sukh 1.6; 28.10 etc.; Sādh 16.10 etc.; (2) n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.22 (one of a long list, and hardly to be identified with the Buddha A.).

Amitāyu (or °yus; n. sg. always °yus), another name for Amitābha, q.v.: SP 184.13; 419.3 (one ms. °tābha); Suv 8.2; 120.6; RP 57.21; Sukh 32.13; 49.4; (in the 'Smaller Sukh' mentioned before, and oftener than, Amitābha: 93.3; 95.15 etc.).

Amitāyurjñānavinīścayaśāradā, Mmk 7.12, or °rājan, id. 301.20, n. of a Tathāgata, presumably = Amitābha (°tāyu); see the following items.

Amitāyurjñānavinīścayaśāradā, Mmk 301.15; 303.23; 426.8; or °vinīścayendra 365.16, = prec.

Amitāyurvati, n. of the lokadhātu of Amitāyuviniścayaśāradā: Mmk 304.21 f.

Amitāyuviniścayaśāradā = Amitāyurjñānavinīścayaśāradā etc.: Mmk 304.25.

Amitāyus, see °yu.

Amitauja(s); n. sg.), n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.138.11.

amitraka (cited for Skt. by Galanos [pw]; = Skt. amitra, with -ka, perh. specifying), (one that is) an enemy: MSV ii.20.7; 21.3.

amila (v.l. āmila, q.v.), m. (AMg. amila, 'a cloth made in the Amila country; a woollen cloth', Ratnach.; there is no country called Amila in Kirfel; cf. also Pali āmilaka, a certain kind of woollen cloth), Mvy 9172 = Tib. behu ras yug chen, which seems to mean about what the Chin. means, viz., large cloth of calf's hair.

a-millāna, see s.v. millāyati.

a-mukhara, adj. (= Pali id.; neg. of Skt. mukhara), either not garrulous, or (acc. to CPD for Pali equivalent, used in parallel formula) not scurrilous (cf. also mukhara): Mv ii.356.12 = iii.280.18, with avikīrṇa-vāca, q.v.

[amuñciyam, Senart's em. at Mv i.184.9, apparently understood as neg. gdve. from muñcati, not to be escaped from. But mss. a-muñciya (one °yaḥ; at end of line of vs), and this is prob. to be kept, as neg. ger.: not having got rid of, i. e. if one does not get rid of (this evil thought).]

amūḍha-vinaya, m. or nt. (= Pali amūḍha°, see CPD; described MN ii.248.5 ff.), disciplinary procedure for one not (any longer) insane (and forgiven sins committed during past insanity), one of the adhikaranaśamatha: Mvy 8633; nt. MSV ii.207.12.

a-mūlaka, f. °ikā (= Pali id., as adj.), groundless, baseless (of an accusation): Mvy 8494 amūlakābhya-khyānam; Prāt 519.7 amūlakena saṃghāvaśeṣeṇa dharmenānudhvamsayet; MSV iii.108.19 ff.; as subst. nt., groundless accusation: °kam Mvy 8376, a saṃghāvaśeṣa offense, described Prāt 481.6–10 and in Pali Vin. iii.163.21 ff. (a monk falsely accuses another monk of a pārājika sin, then of his own accord repents and confesses); MSV iii.88.1.

amūlā (hardly identifiable with Skt. amūlā, BR 1.378; cf. Pali amūlā latā, amūla(ka)-valli), a kind of tree (?): Gv 508.3 'lā nāma vṛkṣajāthi; but the context suggests a parasitic woody vine.

amūlyaka, f. °kā (Skt. °ya plus -ka), priceless: °kayā śraddhayā MSV iv.225.16; so mss., ed. amūlakayā, with Tib., but this gives an impossible mg.

Amṛta, n. of a nāga: Mvy 3319.

Amṛtakuṇḍalī, n. of a deity: Mvy 4330.

Amṛtaparavataprabhāteja(s), n. of a Tathāgata: Gv 422.9 °jas, n. sg.

Amṛtaphala, n. of a former Buddha: Mv 1.141.3.

Amṛtavindu (= °bindu), n. of an apsaras: Kv 3.11

amṛtāsmagarbha (m.; cf. amṛtāśma, Kās. on Pāp. 5.4.94), n. of gem: Mv 11.310.12.

Amṛtodana (= Pali Amito°, brother of Suddhodana and father of Anuruddha and Mahānāma), n. of a Śākyan aristocrat, brother of Suddhodana: Mv 1.352.13; 355.20; father of Anuruddha, Mahānāma, and Bhāṭṭika, Mv 11.177.2; mentioned Mvy 3602; Av 11.11.8.

ameya, nt. (Skt. adj. immeasurable), a high number: Mvy 7816.

ameya-parivarta, m., square of the prec.: Mvy 7817.

Amoghacandā, n. of a deity: Sādh 3.4 et alibi.

Amoghadarśana, n. of a nāga: Mvy 3332.

Amoghadarśin, (1) n. of a satpuruṣa, q.v.: SP 3.12; (2) n. of a former Buddha: LV 171.9; Śikṣ 169.9; (3) n. of a Bodhisattva: Mvy 717; Samādhi p. 36 line 2.

Amogharāja, (1) n. of a disciple of Buddha: LV 2.1; Sukh 2.10; (2) = Amoghasiddhi: Sādh 16.10.

Amoghasiddhi, n. of the 5th of the ('transcendent') Buddhas of Dharmas 3; Mvy 86; Sādh 13.6 et alibi. Cf. Amogharāja (2).

Amohadharmesvara, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.23 (text Moha°, without avagraha, after -o).

amoham, adv. (= AMg.id., Skt. and Pali amogham; cf. moham), not in vain: Mv 11.254.14 ff.

ambakā (= Pali id.; cf. Skt. ambā), a (poor, CPD) woman: MPS 11.25, of Āmrāpālī.

ambara, (1) m., garment (recorded only as nt. in Skt. and Pali): LV 92.16 (vs) ambarān, acc. pl.; (2) m., n. of a Buddha: Mv 1.124.4. See also dravyāmbara.

? ambāsanaka (or āmb°), in Divy 221.29, mss. prāsādāmbāsanakā; some part, or accompaniment, of a palace; ed. em. prāsādā svāsanakā, which is implausible.

Ambulima (m. or nt.), n. of a locality: Māy 92 (cf. Lévi p. 103).

ambhīrya, v.l. for āmbhīrya, q.v.

Amrapālī, see Āmra°.

ayakva, or ayakka, or apa°, or with stem-final ā, Mv 11.465.2, 13, some product of the carpenter's craft; the mss. vary as indicated; the form ends in -ā and is n. pl.

a-yathāvata, adj. (cf. Skt. a-yathāvat, adv.; Pali yathāva and a-yathāva, adj.), not normal, not 'comme il faut': Gv 436.13 (prose) °vatena rūpeṇa. (Read a-yāth°? Cf. yāthāvatas.)

ayava, m. or nt., a high number, Mvy 7774 (m.; so also Mironov); Gv 133.24 (nt.), cited in Mvy 7903 apparently in mss. as apavah, but Kyoto ed. in paren. adds (as em.?) ayavam, and Tib. rendering is clearly meant to be identical with that for ayava 7774. Altho Mironov reads apavah without v.l. in 7903, further confirmation of stem ayava is prob. furnished by Gv 106.13 where for text sattvajava-sya we should doubtless understand sattvāj°, that is -ajava = ayava (or even read sattvāyavasya?).

Ayaskila, m., n. of a mountain; Ayaskilā, n. of a river: (both) Divy 106.25.

ayas-prapāṭikā, see prapāṭikā.

Ayāti-vana, n. of a forest: Māy 59.

ayukta-yogin, one who has not practised discipline: SP 93.11 (vs) °gina, gen. pl.; Kern, yogins who are not self-restrained, and similarly Burnouf; this seems to me inaccurate.

ayuta, nt. (m. in Skt. only Mbh. Crit. ed. 3.21.24; in BHS noted as m. Mvy 7998), in Skt. only defined as 10,000; so also Mvy 8054 -- Tib. khri; but oftener = 100 koṭis or 1,000,000,000 = Tib. ther hbum, so defined LV 147.20 (cited Mvy 7955), also Mvy 7998, and presumably also 7701, 7827 (in these at least higher than koṭi, and between this and nyuta); in Sukh 31.1 a very much higher number, listed between nayuta and akṣobhya.

ayoniśa, adj. (abstracted from ayoniśo-manasikārah, cpd., see next, secondarily analyzed as °so (n. sg.) manasikārah; hence nonce-form °sena, instr.); not fundamental or thoroughgoing, superficial: LV 419.17 (vs) samkalpakal-pajanitena ayoniśena (so best mss., Lefm. °sena; sc. manasikāreṇa?; no noun expressed, unless samkalpa, q.v., be taken as a separate instr.) bhavate avidyā etc.

a-yoniśas (neg. of yoniśas, and similarly used; = Pali ayoniso; for usage see yoniśas), not in a fundamental or thoroughgoing way; superficially: (a) adv., Bbh 46.10 °so vikalpya; (b) in comp., °so-manasikāra Dbh 48.6 (prose); °manaskāra Divy 445.2; Gv 495.7 (cited Śikṣ 6.4; where read ayoniśo-man°); Śikṣ 157.14; °śaś-citta (so Pali °so-citta) Suv 61.12; RP 48.10 (here could only be a cpd.); °so-vikalpena, by superficial (false) imagination, Lañk 265.15.

ayyaka, m. (= Pali id.; MIndic for Skt. āryaka), grandfather: Mv 11.426.16; 11.264.2. Cf. aryaka, payyaka.

Araktapravāḍa, n. of a former Buddha: Mv 1.140.5.

arakṣya (written also arakṣa, ārakṣa, °ṣya in mss.), nt. (= Pali arakkheyya or ār°), point that does not need to be guarded; the Tathāgata has three or four, in Pali and BHS; viz., his conduct is completely and automatically pure, so that he does not need to be on guard; in body, speech, and mind (kāya, vāc, manas); when the fourth is added it is manner of livelihood (ājīva). True reading a-rakṣya; Tib. bsruṅ pa med pa Mvy 191; note on Bbh 375.6), and so Chin. acc. to Lévi, Sūtrāl. Transl. p. 303 note. Three (as in Pali DN 11.217.8 ff.): Sūtrāl. xx.53; Bbh (mss. sometimes corrupt) 89.6; 230.13 (ed. ārakṣyāṇi, ms. ārakṣāṇi); 375.6; 403.23; no number, 408.4; four (as in Pali AN iv.82.15 ff.) Mvy 191-195; in 195 read ājīva for jīva; in 191 Mironov ārakṣāṇi, but Kyoto ed. correctly arakṣyāṇi without v.l.

araṇḍaṇa, some kind of flower: Mmk 668.8 (prose) °ṇa-puṣpāṇam.

Arajottariya, n. of a former Buddha: Mv 1.140.9.

Arajovirajonayayukta, m., n. of a samādhi: Mvy 616. Not in the list ŚsP 1425.17 (where it should be inserted), but in corresponding list 1414.16 (misprinted °rajo-nayukto).

a-raṇa, adj. and subst. nt., also araṇā subst. f. La Vallée-Poussin, AbhidhK vii.86-88 defines araṇā as le pouvoir d'empêcher la naissance de la passion d'autrui; but in my texts it seems to be much less complicated, a simple equivalent of araṇa. Did it start in verses, m.c. (cf. Pali, above, Pv 1v.1.33), and somehow come thence into prose? Or (more likely) was araṇa orig. adj. (to 1, above) with a fem. noun (samāpatti? cf. AbhidhK LaV.-P. 1v. 121; or maitrā, Pali mettā?). See also Renou, JA 1939, 369 note 1. Araṇasamavasaraṇa, m., n. of a samādhi, Mvy 617; cited from ŚsP 1414.17; 1425.17 where saraṇa is added after araṇa; Tib. supports the BHS in Mvy. See araṇa. Araṇemi (°mīn, °mī?), m. (= Pali id.; also °nemi, q.v.), n. of a brahmanical sage: °nemi-Gautamau, dual dvandva, Divy 632.12; °mī (n. sg.) Gautamo (two words, but the same person) 651.7; °mīś ca Gautamo (one person) 653.12. Cf. next. Probably the dual cpd. is a mere error. Araṇemika, m. pl., n. of a brahmanical school (of the Chandogas); Divy 632.23. Cf. prec.

? araṇya, adj.: in Av 11.130.1-2 ms. so 'raṇyam pratipadam samādāya vartate; Speyer em. 'raṇya-prati°, interpreting the rules of forest-life (see his note). But prob. read araṇām pratipadam, the passionless (kleśa-less) course of conduct or path; see s.vv. araṇa and pratipad; this would be paleographically close to the reading attributed to the ms.; a similar error in RP 16.3, s.v. araṇa. araṇyaka, m. (= Pali araṇīka), = ār°, one of the dhūtaguṇa; Divy 141.21.

Arati (in Mv Aratī), (1) n. of a daughter of Māra: LV 378.4 °tiś ca; Mv 11.281.15 (mss. Aparatī); 284.12, 17; 285.5; 286.6; (2) n. of one of the 'armies' (senā) of Māra: LV 262.14 (see Ārati, which Mv reads in the same vs). See also ārati.

Aranemi = °nemi, q.v. (= Pali id.), n. of a brahmanical ṛṣi: Mvy 3472.

Arapacana, a name of Mañjuśrī: Sādh 94.15 et alibi. Aravāḍa (= Pali °vāla, °vāja), n. of a nāga-king: Mvy 3282; see next.

Aravāla = prec.: Māy 247.29.

araha, adj. (= Pali id., Skt. arha), worthy: nīgrahāraṇam, pragrahāraṇam Mv 1.347.18 (prose).

arahant (= Pali id. = Skt. and BHS arhant, q.v.), see § 3.100.

Arāḍa = Ārāḍa, q.v.: Mv 11.200.13 (vs; & here required by meter), in dvandva cpd. with -udraka; Budhacarita (Johnston) vii.54; xl.69; xli.1 ff. (in 2 kālāma). Pali also has Alāra, but only of a different person.

arāva, nt., Mironov's reading for ārāva, q.v.

Ariḡgupta, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.11.

arīḡcana (nt.; neg. of rīḡcana = Pali id., to rīḡcati), the not abandoning: Gv 456.25 sattvapariḡpākārīḡcana-tāyā, so as not to abandon the maturation of creatures.

Ariṇihantar, n. of a former Buddha: Mv 1.140.13.

Arindama (= Pali id.), n. of an ancient king (previous incarnation of Śreṇiya Bimbisāra; but in the Pali version, Jāt. 529, of the Bodhisattva): Mv 11.449.17 ff. (one or both mss. often cited as reading Anindama).

Arimardana, n. of two former Buddhas: Mv 1.137.4; 139.8 (here v.l. avi°).

ariya, adj. (= Pali id.; MIndic for Skt. ārya), noble: Mv 11.400.6 ariyo (both mss., Senart em. āryo) tāyi (so with Senart, mss. tāpi).

Ariṣṭa, (1) n. of a former Buddha: Mv 11.231.1; (2) perhaps to be read for Rṣṭa, q.v.; (3) n. of a monk (= Pali Ariṭṭha, see Vin. 11.25.12 ff.), punished for heresy by the utkṣepaṇiya: MSV 11.30.4 ff.

Ariṣṭanemi, n. of a former Buddha: Mv 1.140.5.

Ariṣṭā, n. of a devakumārī in the western quarter: Mv 11.308.8; cf. next.

Ariṣṭikā, n. of a goddess: Mahāsamāj. 185.15, identified by Waldschmidt with prec.; the Pali (DN) correspondent Ariṭṭhikā appears to be m. pl., a class of gods (see CPD s.v.).

Ariṣṭudana, n. of a Buddha, Mv 1.124.10 (regarded by Senart as adj. epithet: he takes Mahābhāga as the name, Index).

Aruṇa, n. of a nāga king (note the nāga priest Aruṇa Āta in PBr, see BR s.v. 2 g): Māy 246.19.

aruṇavati, some kind of perfume: Gv 153.15 (prose) °vati-gandharāja.

Aruṇa, n. of a devakumārīkā in the western quarter: LV 390.5.

aruṇodghāṭa- (Mv), or aruṇodghāṭana- (LV), break of dawn (= Skt. aruṇodaya), cpd. with -kāla-samaye (kāla once omitted): Mv 1.229.7 (here Senart em. °nopagh°, wrongly); 11.133.7; 284.16; 415.18; 422.6; 431.11; LV 345.20; 350.8. The stems udghāṭa and °ṭana both occur in Skt. in mg. opening, but do not seem to be used of the dawn.

? aruṣya, adj. (to Skt. arus, wound, sore), characterized by sores: LV 189.14 (vs) kiṃ sārāthe puruṣa ruṣya-vivaraṇa-gātraḥ, where ruṣya could well stand for aruṣya: with limbs full of sores and discolored. Cf. Pali aru-gatta, with limbs full of sores. Tib. rtsub, which otherwise = paruṣa; and accordingly Foucaux rude (rough). But connexion with rūkṣa is scarcely possible, unless by hyper-Sktism (AMG. rukkhā).

arūpāvacara, m. (= Pali id.; but in BHS usually ārūpyāv°, q.v., or simply ārūpyā(h) devāḥ, see ārūpya), belonging to the sphere of the formless, ep. of a group of (4) classes of gods, Dharmas 129; see also next, and s.v. deva.

arūpin, adj. (= ārūpya, adj., °pyāvācara, arūpāvacara), formless: Mmk 45.7 °piṇas ca devā(h). (Pali arūpin, not in this sense).

a-rūha, mss.: at Mv 11.65.12, Senart em. a-lūha, q.v.

Arka, n. of a king (previous incarnation of Śākya-muni): Mv 1.54.5.

argaḍa, m. (= Skt. °la, Pali °la or °la; once in ŚB Mādhy., ŚBK. reading °la, see BR), bolt, bar: Mv 11.115.12 (read nivātāni sparṣitārgaḍāni (kūṭāgārāṇi), see sparṣita; Mvy 5581; Prāt 506.11; SP acc. to KN Preface vi, in Nep. (Kashgar rec. °ṭa).

argalaka (nt.? = Pali aggala), patch (on garments, here sandals): MSV 1v.203.11.

argalapāśa, m. (= Pali aggala-pāsaka or aggala°, AMG. aggala-pāsaga), receptacle or latch in which the bolt fits, a part of a city gate: Mv 1.195.19 (prose).

Arciketu, n. of a former Buddha: LV 172.10.

Arcitanama (read Arcitamana, for *manas?), n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 443.6 (prose) *masya, gen.

Arcinetrādhīpati, n. of a yakṣa: Mvy 3371.

Arcimant (*mat, *ma), (1) n. of a legendary cakravartin who became the father of Dipamkara: Mv 1.193.14 *mām (v.l. *mo; n. sg.); 198.16 *mo, etc.; (2) n. of a previous incarnation of Śākyamuni: LV 170.17. See also Arcimant.

Arcimahendra, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.15 (prose) *rasya, gen.

Arcirmanḍalaḡātra, n. of a Tathāgata: Gv 422.18 (prose).

Arciscandra (see s.v. Kuṇḍaśrīyārciscandra), n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 443.1.

Arciṣmatī, n. of the 4th (bodhisattva-) bhūmi: Dbh 5.8 etc.; Mvy 889; Dharmas 64; Bbh 341.2.

Arciṣmant, (1) n. of a Tathāgata: Śīkṣ 9.3; (2) n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.11; (3) n. of an ancient king, a previous incarnation of Amitāyus, and father of Puṇyaraśmi: RP 36.18 ff. Cf. also Arcimant.

Arciṣamamukhaveḡapradīpa, n. of a Tathāgata: Gv 422.20.

Arjuna, (1) n. of a king of Hastināpura (= Pall Ajjuna; identified with Arjuna Kārtavīrya of Skt. epic), character in the Śarabhaṅga (q.v.) Jātaka: Mv 111.361.4 ff.; 368.15; (2) n. of a yakṣa: Māy 23; (3) n. of a Śākyan mathematician: LV 146.9 ff.

Arjunāvāna (ā for a m.c.), n. of a locality (pertaining to Arjuna 2, above): Māy 23.

ar(t)tiyati or *tiyati, *te; in one doubtful passage perhaps ārti°, otherwise always art° when not fused in samdhi with preceding vowel; forms occurring include ar(t)tiyati, *yanti, *tiyate, *tiyante, *tiyanto and *tam (pres. pple.), artīyeraṇ (I read art°), artita (ppp.); also ārtiyate (? v.l. attī°); attiyantā (and probably attiyate for prec.); rtiyate, *yante, *yamāna (pres. pple.; for rit° we usually find rit° written); ardiyamāna (pres. pple.); āstīyati; and noun attiyānā. The corresp. Pall (see CPD) is written attiyati, atthi°, aḡḡhi°, addiyati. Despite all this confusion, there is no doubt that we are dealing with essentially one word, with modifications due to diverse influences, including popular etymology and hyper-Sktism. Wogihara, ZDMG 58.454, gives the 'correct form' as rtiyate (which, or rather usually rit°, is customary in Bbh, but I believe occurs nowhere else), and the mg. as er schämt sich; both statements are wrong, I believe. As to mg., Wogihara was evidently influenced by the fact that the word is often associated in Pall with harāyati, jigucchatī, and in BHS with jehriyate, (vi)jugupsati, or equivalents. But it is also often used where shame cannot be involved. Most likely the MIndic word is a denominative from ārti (for which artī, with semi-MIndic shortening, is recorded even in Skt.). All forms are included here since the word is clearly a unit, but they are also entered under the several headings: (1) is grieved, perturbed, distressed: Mv 1.219.17 = 11.21.19 kecit saṃsārapāśena artīyante (11.21.19 saṃsāracāreṇa artīyanti) yathā aham (said by the infant Bodhisattva), are distressed; Mv 11.161.7 bodhisattvo jātiye artīyante, being pained by (or, on account of) birth, 11–12 ... maraṇena artt°, 13 śokehi artt°; Mv 11.242.13 artīyati (Senart em. attī°); Mv 1.89.18 (ākīṇavihāreṇa) nārtiyanti; Mv 11.480.7 śokārtita: LV

174.14 jarārtita; Bbh 166.11 rtiyamānaḡ (of a Bodhisattva); Bbh 171.9 rtiyamānaḡ. (2) In some transitional cases, leading over to the next group, the additional note of aversion, revulsion seems more or less clearly present: Bbh 282.7–8 tena pūrvakenādhimokṣeṇārītiyeraṇ (read *nārtiyeraṇ; but in same phrase line 23 *mokṣeṇa rtiyante), they would be annoyed by, sick of, disgusted with their former enthusiasm; Bbh 168.23 rtiyate; Mvy 1830 nārtiyate (no context); (3) like preceding but accompanied by parallel forms of hri-, jugups-, or the like: SP 108.6 daridrācintayārtiyantaḡ jehriyamānaḡ jugupsamānaḡ, distressed, ashamed, disgusted by the thought of being poor; Mv 1.343.1 (tena adharmeṇa) attiyantā (Senart em. artī°) vijugupsantā or *satā (mss. *satām, evidently pres. pple., Senart em. wrongly *sitā) distressed and disgusted by this immorality; Karmav 47.26 āstīyati jhretī vigarhātī vijugupsati, is distressed, ashamed, offended, disgusted (by acts he has done); 49.2; Divy 39.7 ye 'nena pūṭikāyen-ārdiyamānā jehriyante vijugupsamānāḡ, being distressed, are ashamed, disgusted; (4) with abl., feels aversion (from): MadhK 297.2, text artīyate (ebhyo dharmebhyo), but v.l. attiyate, so prob. read; followed by jehriyate vitaratī vijugupsate; in line 4 below (see note 1) mss. dharmebhyo attiyānā (text artī°) vijugupsanā (nouns).

artha, nt. (as in RV generally; in later Skt. only m.), aim, goal, etc.: idam eva cārtham (acc.) SP 97.5 (vs); paramārtham etat (acc.) 8.10 (vss); yad artham samudāgato tad artham abhisambhāvayitvā Mv 1.4.12, formula repeated 1.34.1 etc.; in these two occurrences all mss. yad, tad. (As one of the four pratisamvid, see this.)

arthakriyā, action for the benefit (of others), one of the four saṃgraha-vastu (q.v.), but only in LV (instead of the usual arthacaryā, q.v.): LV 38.17; 160.6; 182.6; 429.13.

artha-cara, adj. (= Pall attha°, helpful, rendering service: Jm 2.8. Cf. next.

artha-caryā (= Pall attha-cariyā; cf. prec.), conduct for the benefit or profit (of, gen. or comp.): devānām (Mv 111.91.1, 3 deva-) manuṣyānām (1.231.6 adds ca) *ryām caramāṇo (or caranto) Mv 1.231.6–7; 111.91.1, 3; svāmyarth° Jm 85.1; parārth° Jm 95.8, etc.; technically as one of the saṃgraha-vastu (q.v.); in LV replaced by arthakriyā, q.v., conduct for the religious benefit of others, viz., inspiring them to act for their own religious profit, as explained Bbh 220.25 ff.; in lists of the 4 saṃgrā°, Mv 1.3.12; 11.395.8; Mvy 927; Dharmas 19.

Arthadarśī(n), (1) n. of a former Buddha: Mv 111.236.9; (2) n. of another former Buddha, in the same list, 111.240.4 f.; 241.15; 243.10; 244.2; 245.12 f.; 247.8; 248.16.

artha-darśimant (= Pall attha-dassima(nt), cf. darśimant), having insight into meanings: Mv 111.345.7 tattvārthadarśimām (v.l. sattvā°).

arthanatā (= Skt. arthanā, Pall atthanā; § 22.41), request, prayer: LV 393.13 (vs).

Arthavacanāśrī, n. of a Buddha: Gv 259.2.

Arthavargīya, nt. pl., n. of certain Buddhist sūtras (= Pall aṭṭhaka-vaggika, or *ya, = Sn sect. 4, see CPD s.v.; acc. to Lévi, JAs. 1915, I, p. 413, the BHS form points to the true interpretation of the Pall), Divy 20.24; 35.1 (In both, mss. *vadgiya); Bbh 48.23 (citing a vs = Sn 897, in the above section).

artha-vaśa, nt. (?) = Pall attha-vaśa, see CPD, '-vaśa ... little more than a suffix'; called masc. by CPD, but idam, kim, are used with it, reason, motive, purpose (virtually = artha): LV 244.8 idam arthavaśam adhikṛtya; Mv 111.48.5 (kati), 10 (dve) arthavaśam, acc. pl.; kim-arthavaśam samanupaśyanti MSV 11.84.19; 85.3 etc. (same phrase with kim-artham 84.15; Pall uses kim with atthavasam).

Arthavinīścaya, m., n. of a work: Mvy 1405.

Arthasiddhi, n. of a king, former incarnation of Śākyamuni: RP 24.12.

arthika (Pali atthika; very rare in Skt., see BR 5.1048, and pw s.v.; essentially a Buddhist word; cf. anarthika), (1) desirous (of, instr. or in comp.): with instr., LV 111.13 (kāmaguṇebhir); 242.2 (id.); Mv 1.327.2 (tehi bhājanehi); II.354.2, and 355.1, 3 (buddhajñānena); II.426.8 (striyāya arthiko, wanting a woman); III.391.14 (aḥam tvayā arthiko, 15 aḥam tvayā arthikā, I am in love with you, I want you; Divy 616.8 arthikāsi ... Ānandena, are you in love with A.?; Divy 345.7 (puṇyena); RP 19.7 (buddhajñānena); Śikṣ 38.1 (kaḥ puruṣenarthikaḥ, who wants a man?); 342.20; in comp., LV 139.22 (na...) kulārthiko na gotrārthiko, guṇārthika eva; 179.10 dhammārthiko, 431.22 sarvarasārthikebhyaḥ; Mv II.121.8 jyotiārthiko jyotigaveṣi; II.124.1 prahāṇārthikasya (with v.l., see prahāṇa 1); Pali padhānāthikassa MN 1.167.6; II.183.5 and 238.16 puṇyārthika; as subst., petitioner, RP 17.1; aiming at (in comp.), vighātārthika aiming at prevention (of evil), Bbh 114.5, 14, etc. (common in Bbh, see Woghara's Index); (2) ep. of a Buddha, or in the first passage of the Bodhisattva at the moment of his attaining Buddhahood; this usage seems unknown in Pali and I have not seen it noted previously; perhaps it means in possession of, having attained (his proper, i.e. the supreme religious) aim: Mv II.284.19 (in a long list of epithets of the Enlightened One); Mv III.63.10 alam arthikasya aprasādena, away with disbeliefs in the One (Buddha) who has attained the goal! (see s.v. aprasāda; misunderstood by Senart); (3) see pratyarthika.

ardīyate, pple. °yamāna, see ar(t)iyati: Divy 39.7.

Ardravalika, n. of a nāga king: Māy 246.29.

(ardha-kāya [= Skt. id., recorded only from the Yogayātrā 6.7, I.St. 14.327; Pali aḍḍha-kāya, also rare], half the body; the bust: Gv 519.15 ff.)

ardhakāyika, adj. (from prec.; cf. Pali aḍḍhakāyika), with half the body (visible): LV 124.5 (°kā gaganatalāt... abhipralambayanti); 295.2; 367.9 (all prose).

ardhagallī (cf. gallī), some kind of vehicle: Mv II.434.8 (prose; v.l. agallī).

ardhacandra, m. (? or nt.; in Skt. half-moon, crescent, etc.), (1) a kind of (presumably crescent-shaped) personal ornament (also °draka, q.v.): LV 201.19; Mv II.317.7 (here hung on the bodhi-tree); (2) as in Skt. acc. to Schmidt, Nachtr., s.v., from Haravijaya, a (crescent-shaped) decoration on a building (Schmidt Torbogenschmuck): Gv 167.16 °drā(h), n. pl.; 154.4, 202.23 (all prose).

ardhacandraka (m. or nt.; = °dra, 1), a kind of ornament: LV 367.10 °kaśi.

ardha-cola, m. (Skt. Lex. °colaka; otherwise unrecorded), short jacket: Mvy 5847.

Ardha-nārāyaṇa (m.), a 'half-Nārāyaṇa' (q.v.), whose power is used as a unit of strength: MPS 31.21; LV 229.14, see s.v. saṃghaṭṭana.

ardha-paryāṅka (m.; = Pali aḍḍha-pallaṅka), half-paryāṅka position (with only one leg bent under): LV 155.1 (°kaṃ kṛtvā).

ardhaparyāṅkin, adj. (from prec. plus -in; cf. paryāṅkin), sitting in the ardhaparyāṅka position: °kinam, acc. sg., Sādh 64.14 et alibi.

ardha-rātri (f. or nt. (= Pali aḍḍha-ratti, f., rarely; usually °ratta, m. = Skt. ardha-rātra; cf. Skt. rātri), midnight: LV 210.2 (prose) °trim ca samayam saṃprāptam. drṣṭvā ca... (best punctuated so with Lefm.), and the time (of) midnight was arrived. And seeing (all this) ... (Foucaux takes °trim and samayam as objects of drṣṭvā; the two ca's are against it); LV 217.9 (prose) °tri-samayam (acc.).

arpaṇā (cf. also vyarpaṇā; prob. = Pali appanā; in Skt. only °ṇa, nt., not in this mg.), 'fixing of thought... application of mind, esp. in jhāna = complete concentration, ecstasy' (CPD): Mvy 7428; Tib. ḥbul ba, gtdo, etymolog. renderings, giving, delivering.

Arbuda, m. (nt. in Ud? = Pali Abbuda), n. of a hell, acc. to Mvy and Dharmas a cold one (so in Pali, CPD): Mvy 4929; Dharmas 122; Divy 67.22; 138.7; Av 1.4.9 etc.; Ud viii.5 arbudāni, gender app. Influenced by sahasrāṇi of prec. line, which as Chakravartī assumes may be understood here, i.e. arbudāni short for °da-sahasrāṇi?

aryaka, m. (= ayyaka, q.v.; semi-MIndic for Skt. āryaka), grandfather: Mv III.265.9 (Senart em. āry°).

arhaṭa-ghaṭi-cakra (Mironov arhad-gh°; cf. Skt. araghaṭṭa, Pali arahattha - (once v.l. °haṭa, see CPD) -ghaṭi-yanta), Persian (well-)wheel: Mvy 2833.

arhati, ought, is normally construed with inf. as in Skt. In Mv II.491.11-12, by a curious blend construction, it is followed by an opt.: arhati putrī (mss.) ... bhar-tāram... upasthihesi (2 sg. opt. § 29.21), you, daughter, ought—you should serve your husband, etc. arhant, also (MIndic) arahant, q.v., the ideal personage in Hinayāna Buddhism, fourth and last stage in religious development (see śrota-āpanna), SP 1.6 et passim. In Mvy 4, 5138, etymologically rendered Tib. dgra bcom pa, having conquered the enemy, as if ari plus root han! Fem. arhanti Av II.4.12; Śikṣ 171.16; arhanti MSV I.22.9 (prose); abstract arhattva, nt., Mvy 5137 etc.

arhavant = arhant (§ 22.50; not otherwise recorded; m.c.?): LV 283.7, repeated 19 (vss), bhāvi (read bhāvi m.c.) tvam adyārhanvān, thou shalt become an arhat today (no v.l.).

? Alamvarṣā, see Alambuṣā.

Alaka, n. of a yakṣa (prob. really a generic name, an inhabitant of Alakā or °kā-pura, q.v.; pl. so used in Skt.): Māy 103.

Alakaśīrṣa, n. of a nāga king: Māy 246.27.

Alakā-pura (nt.), the city Alakā, capital of Kubera and home of the yakṣas (= next, etc.): Māy 103. Lévi p. 115 very strangely calls it a ville incon nue.

Alakavati, v.l. for Aṭa°, q.v.

Alakunḍalabhaṭṭiya, n. of a disciple of Buddha: Mv I.75.1.

alākṣaṇa, adj., without characteristic mark (so Skt.); ep. of dharma, undefinable, absolute: Mvy 353.

alākṣaṇaka, adj., with Buddha, (a Buddha) without the (32) marks (so Burnouf Intr. 378, note 1), i.e. a substitute for a Buddha, a 'near-Buddha' (not actually a Buddha but a saint living in the absence of a B. and 'Buddha-work', buddha-kārya); said of Upagupta: Divy 348.24; 350.28; 356.20; 357.24; 385.8; MSV I.4.3.

alamkaraṇiya, adj., °yena, adv. (corresponds to Pali alamkammaniya, used in same mg. and context), in a suitable or convenient situation (for the undertaking in question; here, as in Pali, specifically for sexual relations): Prāt 488.10 °ñiyena, adv. (in Pali, Vin. III.187.19, °ñiye, adj. with āsane, the seat occupied by the accused monk).

Alamkārabhūṣita, n. of a gandharva king: Kv 2.20.

Alamkāra-śubha (m.), n. of a samādhi: SP 458.3 (one ms. °sūra for °śubha; so Burnouf and Kern Transl.).

-alamkārika, adj. Ifc. (cf. pw 7.309), in tad-alamkārikam (read as cpd.) Divy 247.24, pertaining to that (or those) ornament(s).

Alamkṛta, n. of a former Buddha: Mv I.137.2.

alamkṛtaka, f. °ikā, = Skt. °ta, adorned, with endearing diminutive flavor: LV 322.5 (vs) su-alamkṛtikā (= sv-alamkṛtikāḥ*), said by the daughters of Māra of themselves; §§ 4.11; 22.34.

alajjita (nt.), shamelessness, impudence: MSV II.188.4 (see s.v. vaitarika).

a-lajjitavya (= Pall tabba*), see lajjitavya.

a-lajjin (cf. lajjin; = Pall id.), not ashamed: Ud xvi.4 naḥ*, n. pl. (? text na*, but oldest ms. alajjitā, for tāḥ*); shameless, MSV II.210.12; ji-saṃgha* MSV III.116.18, 20.

alam-ārya, adj. (= Pall alam-ariya), truly noble: of dharma LV 392.11; jāna LV 407.21; 409.4; Bhik 26.8 (ya-viśeṣādhigamaṃ jñānam...*); anta LV 416.17 and Mv III.331.4 (same passage) nālamāryo.

alambu, or āl°, or alāmbu, or āl° (= Skt. and Pall ālābu, Skt. Lex. ālābu), bottle-gourd: Mv II.126.4; 127.8; 128.13; 129.15 (in all these tiktāl°); 232.3; bu-śreṇi*, row of gourds (used as a raft), Mv III.68.6 (iyam*, acc. sg.); 78.3 (yo*, acc. pl.). Initial ā in one ms. III.68.6; short a III.78.3, and Senart with v.l. 68.6 (tiktālāmbu mss. II.129.15); otherwise saṃdhi makes quantity undetermined. In second syllable mss. regularly -āmb-; -amb- only II.232.3; -āb- in one ms. only II.126.4; III.68.6; Senart usually prints -āb-.

Alambuṣā, n. of a devakumārīkā in the western quarter: Mv III.308.8 (mss. Alamvarṣā, em. Senart) = LV 390.5 (Lefm. with all mss. āḥ*).

a-layana, adj. (= Pall alena), without refuge: Gv 534.16.

a-lavaṇaka, f. ikā*, adj. (also alopaka, q.v.; = Pall alopaka), unsalted: f. Divy 87.1, 9; 88.8 ff.; = MSV I.86.12 ff.

alātacakra, nt. (= Skt., pw 7.310, wheel of fire, of a firebrand whirled in the air), used as symbol of something transitory and illusory (so Pall cakka*, CPD); Lañk 9.3 (vs; separate alātacakra = kram* from dhūmo); Mvy 2832; MadhK 173.3; as symbol of restless, unceasing motion, LV 205.13 kra-samārūḍhasya* (lokasya), of persons living in the samsāra.

alika, (1) adj. (= Pall id., Skt. alika; see § 3.40), false: LV 174.7 (vs); Mv II.70.2 (prose); 71.2 (vs); (2) n. of a nāga king: Mvy 3275; Māy 247.22.

alindā, nt. (= AMg. id., rendered by Hindi kūṃṛā and Eng. a round tub-like vessel; cf. also next), a kind of dish (v.l. sometimes allṇḍa): Mv II.461.21 maḥāntam alindam odanasya (dinnam); similarly 462.3, 12, 13 (in the last two read alindam odanasya instead of Senart's reading). Regularly a receptacle for soft food, esp. odana, gṛuel.

alindā, (1) = prec. (v.l. ṇḍā*): mahatī ca alindā bhaktasya (q.v.) Mv III.15.9; (odanasya mahatī) alindā ibid. 13; (2) n. of a queen, wife of Ikṣvāku and mother of Kuśa (in the Pall version named Sūvatī): Mv II.425.2 ff.; III.2.20 ff.

Alimanmatha, n. of a form of Mañjuśrī: Sādh 146.1 et alibi.

a-līna, adj. (= Pall id.; neg. of līna, q.v.), not dispirited or faint-hearted; intrepid: Mvy 491 = Tib. ma zhum pa; often assoc. with adīna: LV 23.14, 18 (in 18 adīnālīna); 284.19 alīnā adīnā; 318.12 adīno līnaḥ (of the Bodhisattva); 415.6 -vīrya alīnu; Mv II.354.1 nā-kāya-mānasāḥ*; alīna-vikrāntam (cognate acc.) vikramanto Mv II.267.17, or ... vikrame (aor.) 399.12, marching (striding) an intrepid march (stride), or he marched etc.

a-luḍḍita (= Pall alujita; neg. of luḍḍita, q.v.), not agitated, unperturbed; calm, imperturbable: LV 318.13 (of the Bodhisattva); 361.16 (of Buddha); ta-citta* LV 181.12; Sukh 59.1; ta-gati* LV 272.12.

a-lūkha, adj. (= Pall id., of the pupil of the eye; neg. of lūkha, q.v., and cf. next), not coarse, of food, Mv III.120.22; not harsh, i.e. comfortable, of the householder's life (grhāvāsa, q.v.; v.l. grha°), Mv III.50.12.

a-lūha, adj. (= prec.; neg. of lūha, q.v.), not coarse, of food, Mv II.65.12, but mss. (a) rūha, q.v.; not harsh, comfortable, of grhāvāsa: Mv II.69.1; 117.19.

alena, see lena.

aloka, m., a high number: Mvy 7869 (cited from Gv) = Tib. śugs sbyon, or śugs bphyo (the latter also renders heluga, q.v.); in Gv 133.13 āloka, m.; but in Gv 106.3 sattva-lokasya, for which certainly read sattvāloka-sya. alopaka, adj. (= Pall id.; also alavaṇaka, q.v.), unsalted: Mv III.120.21 kam* (food).

alohinī (f. to Vedic a-lohita; cf. Pall alohitā, same mg.), (a woman) who does not menstruate: Mvy 8929.

alpa-kisarena (mss. often ś for s, l for r, n for ṇ; = Pall appa-kasireṇa; Sktized as kr̥cchreṇa*, a form not recorded in Skt., Mvy 6370; SP 103.9, and elsewhere, also in Mv, see Senart I note p. 580; no correspondent recorded in Pkt.; the only Pkt. resultant of kr̥cchra is kiccha), with little difficulty: Mv I.270.8 (here Senart wrongly em. kisaram*); II.216.6, 9; 227.5; 286.9; 418.3; III.31.13; 318.6. See kisara.

alpa-guṇa, adj. (= Pall appa°), insignificant: Mv I.89.18 na-parituṣṭa*, content with insignificant (worldly) things.

alpa-jñāta, adj. (seems = Pall appaññāta, which acc. to CPD = Skt. aprajñāta), little known, not celebrated: MSV II.124.12; bhikṣur bāghaglanāḥ alpajñātaḥ sve mūtrapuriṣe nimagno 128.13; yah parśadvinirmukto 'lpajñātaś ca 131.13. Is our form hyper-Skt., or the true orig. of the Pall?

alpataraka, adj. comparative (= tara*; nowhere recorded), less numerous: AsP 430.8, 9. In 430.2 bahutaraka, q.v.; in vicinity alpaka, and alpatama (without ka); the suffix has no special force that I can detect; the whole passage is prose.

alpabhikṣuka, nt. (cf. Pall appabhikkhuka, adj., having few monks), a state of having few monks: (parāntakeṣu) *janapadeṣv kam, kr̥cchreṇa daśavargo gaṇaḥ paripūryate Divy 18.7.

alpamanyate (= Pall appamaññati, pendant to bahu manyate, two words in Skt., may be one in Pall), thinks little of (gen.): nālpamanyeta puṇyasya Ud xvii.6.

alparajaska, adj. Bhvr. (= Pall apparajakkha), of slight passion, free from passion, in ka-jātiya* (= Pall jātika*), see -jātiya, Mv III.322.16 (prose).

alpātānka, adj. (and subst. m.? = Pall appā°, acc. to CPD subst. as well as adj.; see below), (almost) free from illness, following alpābādha, q.v. for occurrences; in Av I.325.13 text taṅkam* (acc. sg.), after alpābādhatām, seemingly subst., (relative) freedom from disease; but in the same cliché II.90.14; 93.15 ka-tām* is read, matching bādhatām*. See next.

alpātānka-tā (= Pall appā°), state of being (almost) free from illness, abstr. to prec.; usually follows alpābādhatā, q.v. for occurrences (as in Pall). But also without that word, Kv 18.8. In Av I.325.13 read prob. taṅkatām* for taṅkam*, see prec.

alpābādha, adj. (= Pall appā°, acc. to CPD noun, = dha-tā*, as well as adj.), (almost) free from disease, often followed by alpātānka, as in Pall by appātānka: so Mv I.211.6 = II.15.5; Av I.168.8; but also without this, Divy 396.5; Suv 182.15; Bbh 20.1. See next.

alpābādha-tā (= Pall appā°), state of being (almost) free from disease, abstr. to prec.; usually followed (as in Pall) by alpātānkatā: so Mv I.323.20; Mvy 6284; Divy 156.13; Kv 89.12; Av I.325.13 (see alpātānka); II.90.13; 93.15; in Divy 21.4 no alpātānkatā occurs but it may have been included in what is understood by the abbreviation yāvat.

alpāyuska, adj. (= Pall appāyuka; cf. Skt. alpāyus), short-lived: Mv I.199.1 = II.2.19; I.200.2 = II.3.18; II.208.16; Av I.296.4; 316.2 (all prose). Cf. next.

alpāyuska-tā, abstr. to prec.: Dbh 26.19 (prose).
alpārtha, adj. (= Pali appattha), wanting little, undemanding, modest, ep. of proper monks: MSV III.96.14.
alpāsvāda, adj. (subst.? = Pali appassāda), affording little pleasure, in Mv I.121.4 perhaps subst., a sort of kenning for kāma (the Pali word is often an epithet of kāma, and sometimes seems to be a substitute for it): The Mv line (vs) is corrupt; perhaps alpāsvāda-nibaddho (or read °dhā?) means kāma-nibaddho; in the second half line surely lokā vartenti dāruṇāḥ is intended, rather than Senart's em.; as adj., e. g. Divy 41.26 (mahāsamudro) 'īpāsvādo bahvādīnavas.

alpeśākha, adj. (= Pali appesakkha), opp. of the much commoner mabheśākha (q.v.), with which it is contrasted Mvy 6412; Karmav 29.26, insignificant, petty: of persons Mv I.28.7; Mmk 74.15; of a cātya Divy 243.2, 5. alpeśākha-tva, abstract from prec.: Av II.177.6. alpotsuka (= Pali appossuka, °kka), indifferent, unconcerned, undisturbed, unworried: Mv II.427.4; Divy 41.23 ff.; LV 396.2 °ka-vihāreṇalva vihareyam (in contrast with preaching the Law; Buddha speaks); Ud xiv.16 (= Pali appossukko Dhp. 330); Av I.89.1 °kas tvam... bhava, don't worry, and similarly 93.10; 331.10 etc.

alpotsuka-tā (= Pali appossukka-tā), abstr. to prec.: LV 393.21-394.1 alpotsukatāya bhagavataś cittaṃ abhinatam na dharmadeśanāyām, the mind of the Lord inclined to being unconcerned (with the fate of the world), not to teaching the Law; similarly 394.5; 396.7; 398.1; freedom from desires, Bbh 219.24.

alpotsuka-tva, nt., = prec., Mv I.170.10 (in the sense of LV 393.21 etc.).

alliyati (only in Mv; Pali id., in different mg.; AMg. allai, resorts to; to Skt. āliyate; see §§ 3.4a; 38.66, 67), comes (to), approaches, with gen., loc., or acc.: °yati (gen.) Mv II.210.19; 480.8; °yanti Mv II.252.6 (with form in -ehi, intended as loc.), 10; 253.12 (with loc. in -eṣu); III.127.8 (gen.); °yatha, 2 pl. impv., Mv III.24.5 (acc.); alliyatha (fut. with mā[atra], don't go there!) Mv II.253.5, 7 (in 7 v.l. alliyisyatha); with caus. mg., bring, put, place, Mv II.190.5 ff. alliyanti, five times; III.127.17 mss. alliyeya (-h, or -n), opt., should bring (Senart em. allipeya); see also Mv III.144.12 under causative below; ppp. allina, (a) commonly went to, as periphrasis for past tense, with acc., gen., or loc.: Mv II.32.1; 48.8, 11 ff.; 64.5, 6; 70.4, 9; 107.8; 172.12; 198.1; 200.8; 463.1; 464.1, 19; 470.6; III.16.1; 69.9; 362.2; 365.23; (b) attached (in love) to (gen.; Pali id.): kumārasya allinā (kinnari) Mv II.100.1; caus. (1) *allāpayati; ppp. allāpita (see § 38.66), brought, caused to come (to, gen.) Mv III.362.3; (2) allipayati, usually brings, causes to come, but occasionally causes to be brought, and on the other hand sometimes apparently intrans., approaches (these exceptional meanings will be noted; the former may be based on the trans. use of allyati, brings): °payati Mv II.435.14 causes to be brought; (*peti, Senart's em. Mv III.144.12, mss. °yeti, °yanti, read prob. °yati, as trans., brings); ppp. °pita I.311.2; II.107.5 (were caused to be brought); 471.1; 472.11; III.24.4; 408.4; 421.8; passive °piyanti III.68.11; 405.15; °piyati III.127.4; gḍve. allipitavyam, intrans. to be approached, Mv III.288.9-10 (or em. to allyitavyam?).

Alluka, n. of a nāga king: Māy 247.28.

ava, as neg. prefix with nouns (so also in Pali): see ava-kāma-sevā.

ava-kāṭṭati (mss.; Senart em. ava-kaddhati), see o-kāṭṭati.

avakara, m., prob. read with Index and Mironov avakāra, rendered by Tib. ḥgod pa, perhaps arrangement, placement, ordering, or the like: Mvy 571 samākṣarāvākaro ('kāro) nāma samādhiḥ. No v.l. in either ed. But ŚsP 1421.3 (from which, or an allied text, Mvy cites) reads samākṣarākāro, explaining: sarvasamādhiṇām samākṣarātām pratilabhate. This seems to fit the reading 'kṣarākāra, and definitely does not fit the apparent meaning of avakāra, q.v. Yet in another list ŚsP 1413.15 reads 'kṣarāvākāra.

avakarṣati (corresponds to Pali apakassati, used in same passage SN II.198.1-5, see CPD s.v.), holds back, keeps under control: ger. avakṣya (kāyam, cittaṃ), Candropama Sūtra, Hoernle, MR 42.11 (43.5, 9); see s.v. jarodapāna.

avakalpanatā = next, the putting faith or confidence in: abhiśraddadhānatāvakaalp° ŚsP 615.10.

avakalpanā = prec. (= Pali okappanā; to next): Dbh 13.17 (substantially = śraddhā, adhimukti, in prec. line); Mvy 7289 = Tib. nes par (also legs par) rtog pa, the former of which is rendered avakalpanā in Das, whose English rendering is not quite in accord with BHS usage; the Tib. could, it seems, mean considering certain.

avakalpayati, °te (= Pali okappati, °peti), has confidence in, puts faith in, synonym of śrad-dhā, as also in Pali, with gen. of person, acc. of thing: SP 44.3 śraddadhādhvam me... patiyatāvakaḥ; 315.1 avakalpayadhvam me... abhiśraddadhādhvam tathāgatasya; LV 88.8 (rddhipratihāryam apl...) nāvakaḥ payisyanti; Gv 171.2 °yantam, pres. pple., perhaps putting trust in, relying on, object bodhisattvapariṇāśasampatparisuddhim.

ava-kāma-sevā (see ava), no practice of love: LV 28.22 (vs; wrongly divided in ed.) dvātriṃśa māśam (= māśan, acc. pl.) avakāmaseva (= °vā, n. sg.) hi, for she abstained from love-making for 32 months; so Tib. renders. There is a v.l. akāma for avakāma but it is metrically impossible.

avakāra, m. (1) see avakara; (2) okāram acc. sg. (= Pali okāra, in phrase kāmāṇam ādinavo okāro samkilesa; cf. Pali anavakāra), perhaps elimination, getting rid (sc. of desires): Mv III.357.13 kāmēṣu bhayaṃ okāram (mss. okara-) samkilesam, in regard to desires (he preached) the danger of them, the elimination of them, their impurity. Senart's em. seems confirmed by the Pali.

avakāśa, (1) in Skt. mg., room, space, but nt. instead of m., LV 367.20 (vs) nābhūḍ °śam asmin; RP 31.4 teṣv °śam asti (or assume m as 'Hiatus-bridger?'); see also an-avakāśa; (2) appearance, in akṣudrāvakāśa, q.v.; (3) see an-avakāśa, an-okāśa.

avakāśati (ms. °sati; denom. to avakāśa), gets a chance at, works upon, with loc.: Av II.183.13 nāgñiḥ kāye 'vakāśati; caus. °śayati, gḍve. °śayitavyaḥ, to be given a chance to work (in a certain function), MSV II.154.12, where prob. read a negative before it; this is read by em. in text in line 18, where, it seems to me, the neg. is not wanted.

avakāśayati (caus. to Pali avakassati, apak°, apakāśati; cf. Skt. kas-), removes, dismisses: °yitavyaḥ MSV IV.77.13 ff.

avakīrṇa, confused, mixed up (of speech): LV 158.16 sadānavakīrṇavācāḥ, always of unconfused speech; so Tib., tshig ḥchal med gyur la.

avakīrṇakusuma, n. of a group of (predicted) future Buddhas: AsP 458.9.

avakunṭhita, adj. (ppp.; cited in MW as Skt. Lex., but not in BR or pw; cf. Skt. avakunṭhana), covered, clothed: Mmk 290.10 śuklavāstrāvāk°.

avakubja and °jaka, adj. (= Pali avakujja, cf. AMg. avaujjīya, denom. ppp.; from ava and kubja), prone, flat on the face on the ground: in Mv I.213.7 = II.16.11 na ca avakubjako (II.16.11 mss. avakubjam, may be kept as adv.; sc. tiṣṭhati; said of the Bodhisattva in his mother's womb); otherwise only with a form of prapatati, falls, and only as adj.: °ja LV 254.21; 256.3; Mv I.28.13; °jaka Mv ii.126.6; 127.11; 128.15; 130.1; 283.1; 412.16. In two of these Senart erroneously apa° with one of his two mss.; read ava° with the other.

avakoṭimaka, adj. (= Pali okoṭ°), deformed, misshapen; so Tib. acc. to Speyer, byad (on i.280.3 byed) ñan po; the precise mg. in Pali is disputed; Av i.280.3 and ii.152.10, in phrase durvarṇo durdarśano ava°; in Pali only in corresp. phrase dubbhaṇṇa duddas(s)ika oko°. But mss. of Av avakoṭimako or °ḍimako, and in ii.152.10 Speyer adopts the latter, stating that it is also written so in the Ratnāvadānamālā version of the same story. It seems that it should be the same as the Pali word, which is well attested. Yet I think the form with h is supported by Lañk 27.4, mss. uhaṭṭimā, ed. em. uhoḍimā, and 33.15, text ahoḍimā, most mss. uho°; both initially in anuṣṭubh lines, where avaho° could be read as a standard hypermetric type, or u- could stand for ava- (cf. § 3.55, ukirati); Tib. cited as ñan pañ ml, miserable man, in Suzuki, Index, which attributes to Wogihara the interpretation ānendriya (fitting our word).

avakramaṇa, okramaṇa, nt. (= Pali avakkamana, okka°), entrance (into the womb): ava° LV 36.2 = garbhāvakraṇi; garbhokramaṇam, Mv ii.18.1 (vs. = i.215.4 where read so; mss. corrupt, Senart garbhāvakraṇam).

avakramati, see °krāmati.

-avakrāntaka, also °ika, f. °ikā, only in tīrthikāv°, one who has gone over to heretics, a renegade Buddhist: Mvy 8759 °takaḥ; Bhik 16b.2 °tikā. The corresp. Pali, Vin. i.89.35, has tittiya-pakkantaka, apparently = prakrānta(ka); but I suspect that the true original of both this and avakr° = °apakrāntaka; Pali apakkamati and apakkanta are used in mgs. very close to this, and neither ava- nor pra-kram- seems so appropriate.

avakrānti, f. (= Skt. id., in garbhāva°, Caraka, pw 2.159; Pali avakkanti, okk°), entrance; common in garbhāva° entrance into the womb (as in Skt.), LV 87.15, 21 etc.; iathāgatadivasāvakraṇī-vijñapti-vyūhānām (bodhisattvānām) Gv 114.18, having supernal manifestations (or, a mass?) of knowledge of the coming in (? occurrence) of the day of the T. (or, the T.'s entrance into the light of day?).

-avakrāntika = °taka: tīrthikāv° MSV ii.204.10.

-avakrāma (to avakrāmati), entrance (into a way or course; so Pali avakkanti, with niyāma): Gv 460.3 dur-avakrāmo bodhisattvanīyāmo °vakramitavyaḥ. avakrāmati, °krāmati, °krāmayati, o-kr°, ukr°, § 3.54 (Pali avakkamati, okk°), in Skt. in this sense only of entering the womb, conception; so Caraka, pw 2.111; so LV 39.8 kuṣāv avakrāmayam; Mv i.205.5 etc.), enters (a condition or state): Gv 460.3 (see s.v. -avakrāma) gḍve. avakramitavyaḥ; LV 180.6 sattveṣu ca mahākaraṇām avakrāmati sma; in Mv i.51.3 (prose) okrami (aor.) has as its subject, not goal, mahākaraṇam (sattveṣu), great compassion entered into him (gen.); yakṣagraho ukrami (§ 3.54) teṣa kāye SP 95.8 (vs); enters into, realizes (dharma, true religion; cf. Pali dhammassa avakkanti, see CPD), dharmam avakrāntaḥ MSV iii.62.11; middham (sleep) avakrānto Divy 579.20; avakrāmayati, formally caus., could by a forced interpretation be taken to mean allows (e.g. compassion, or sluggishness) to enter (into himself), but prob. more realistically to be taken as meaning the same as the simplex, enters into (a state): LV 400.14 (prose) mahākaraṇām avakrāmayati, and in same context Mv iii.318.15 °ṇām okrametvā; RP 56.17 styānamiddham nāvakramitvān, and similarly 57.11; note close resemblance to passages using the simplex, above.

avakṣipta, ppp. (Skt.), (1) °ta-cakṣuṣ(a) = Pali avakkhittacakkhu (or okkhi°), with downcast eyes, of a monk: LV 191.15, read avakṣipta-cakṣuṣam (acc. sg.), for text avi° (confirmed by Tib. phab ba); (2) svedamalāva-kṣiptaḥ (sc. bhogaḥ?) Mvy 7055, acquired (Tib. bsgrubs pa) by sweat-stain, i.e. by the sweat of one's brow, cf. Pali AN ii.67.27 (bhogehi bāhābalaparicitehi) sedāvakkhitteti; comm. iii.99.4 = avakkhittasedehi, sedam muñcivā vāyāmena payogena saṃhatehi ti attho.

avaga, nt., a high number, Mvy 7713 = Tib. rig(s) sdom; see s.v. ārāva, for which prob. read this; in Mvy 7839 ārāva (Tib. id.) is cited from Gv, but Gv 133.3 reads avagam; avaga should also be read for vāga, q.v., in Gv 105.46.

avagīta, ppp. (lit. sung down), reduced, diminished: °ta-pratanūbhūtāntaḥpura-... śokasya (Bhvr.) Jm 11.21.

Avatāraprekṣin (see s.v. avatāra 4), n. of a son of Māra (ill-disposed to the Bodhisattva): LV 311.16.

avatārayati, otāreti (caus. to avatarati; in mg. 1, associated with avatāra 3), (1) causes to penetrate intellectually, to comprehend; initiates into, introduces to, with acc. or (oftener) loc. of what is taught or explained: SP 49.7 (vs) sarve ca te darśayi ekayānam ekaṃ ca yānam avatārayanti; 182.11 (anuttarāyām samyaksambodhau...) avatāritavān; 347.8 (dharmaṇāyā) avatārayeyam; with (buddha-)śāśane, Bbh 222.26; 261.26 (here buddhāśāśane or °nam implied from prec.); Av 1.112.8; with tasyām (pratipadi) Bbh 262.17; (2) removes (hair, keśa, or also beard), of a barber's activity, esp. with reference to monks and nuns, cf. avatāraka (2): keśāni otāreti Mv 11.179.10, 11, 12 (in 9 °reṣyati by em.); keśāny otāretvā (mss. otāritā, avat°) 11.268.18; keśān avatārya Bhik 10b.1; Jm 122.11; keśaśmaśrūny avatārya Divy 35.8; 37.11; 556.6; Samādh 8.15; keśaśmaśru avatārya Av 1.136.6; 234.1; an-avatārīta-keśa, with hair unshorn Bhik 10a.5; with causative mg., keśaśmaśrūny avatārayitvā, having had the hair and beard cut, caused it to be cut Mv 11.222.17 (in the same passage in Pali, DN 11.249.20, the form used is. ohāretvā); object unexpressed, avatārya MSV 1.280.18; °rayitum id.; °rita, ppp., 281.1, 2.

avatīrṇa, ppp. of avatarati, q.v., that has penetrated (intellectually), comprehended: avatīrṇasya pudgalasya Bbh 81.8 (cf. avatāra 3, q.v., 81.6); avatīrṇānām paripācānāya avatrāpin, adj. (= Pali ottāpin; cf. Aśoka avatra-peyu, Skt. apa-trap-), modest: (with hrīmant) MPS 1.21. avada, nt., a high number: Mvy 7925 (cited from Gv) = Tib. gsal yas, or bsal yas (cf. avānta); Gv 106.19, read sattvāvadasyā°; 134.3 avadam (avadānām), n. sg.

avadadhāti, odhāya (ger.), avahita (ppp.), cf. also under odahana (= Pali avadhāti, with sotam, give ear attentively; cf. Skt. avadhīyate attention is paid, avahita attentive), with śrota (q.v.), gives ear attentively: śrotam avadadhata LV 409.10, pay heed closely!; avahita-śrota LV 442.1-2 (so read with Weller 39; Pali ohita-sota); *śrotā, n. sg. f., Mv i.158.3; in Mv i.10.8 for śrotum ādāya read śrotam odhāya (saktṛya śroṇtha mama bhāṣāṭa).

? avadarpita, in LV 275.8 sv-avadarpita-vimala-buddhir; textually uncertain; mss. vary greatly on ava°; many omit vimala; Tib. śin tu (= su) dkar bañi (while, often = avadāta) blo (= buddhi) dañ ldan pa (having), apparently omitting vimala, and suggesting that it is based on avadāta, while, i. e., bright, instead of avadarpita, which is nowhere recorded and seems senseless, as do the alternative readings of the other BHS mss.

Avadātakesā, n. of a goddess: Mahāsamāj. Waldschmidt Kl. Skt. Texte 4.187.3; confirmed by Tib. ibid. 204.20. In the Pali correspondent DN ii.260.23 the name Odātāgayhā, v.l. Odātavhayā, is taken as n. pl. masc. by DPPN.

avadāna, nt. (= Pali apadāna), n. of a part, or parts, of the Buddhist canon (and of other Buddhist works): Mvy 1273; colophons of Divy, Av, etc. See also sāvadānam. The word avadāna occurs in Skt.; its exact mg. is much disputed; see e. g. Speyer, Av Preface p. 1 ff.

avadya-bhīru, dreading (and shunning) reproach (blame, evil, sin), ep. of the family into which a Bodhisattva is born in his last existence: Mv i.198.1; ii.1.11; LV 24.4. All these are forms of the same passage; in LV text anavadya-, with v.l. avadya-; in Mv ii.1.11 Senart reads anavadya, tho he recognizes at i p. 532 that the corrupt mss. point rather to avadya-, which he reads with mss. at i.198.1. The reading avadya- is confirmed by Tib. on LV kha na ma tho bas (= avadya, see Das s.v.) ḥlgs pa (= bhīru). Note the noun avadya-bhī RV 10.107.3 (isolated).

? avadraga, m., acc. to N. Dutt's interpretation of Tib., dinner: *go nāsti; tayā vṛṣo darśitaḥ, etaṃ praghātayata MSV ii.79.7. Tib. sa (ground, etc.) ḥdzar ba (for which Das gives a mg. taking dinner at midday). Acc. to Skt. Lex. avadraṅga (cf. next) or v.l. avadāṅga = market (BR 1.473); avadraga could be an error for avadraṅga, and there was no market (where meat could be bought) would be a possible mg.; I do not understand Tib.

avadraṅga, m. or nt., deposit (on a business transaction); earnest: Divy 32.22 tistro lakṣā avadraṅgam (so one ms.; v.l. draṅgam) grhṇita; 33.1, 2, 6 (no v.l.) avadraṅga dattam, given in (by way of) deposit. Can this be somehow related to Niya Pkt. draṅga, 'taxation depot or office in general', said to be an Iranian loanword (Burrow, BSOS 7.509 f.)? avadvārāpayati (ava plus caus. to denom. from dvāra, shuts off (a gate): Mv ii.490.1 nagaradvāram avadvārāpayitvā (v.l. avaddhār°), having had the city gate closed.

[avadhārin? in MSV i.63.20 vṛṇapṛyotkīrṇair aṅga-pratyāṅgavadhāribhīḥ paṭṭakopaniḍdhaiḥ, of a sick man; avadhāribhīḥ seems to conceal a substantive, perhaps a cpd. of avayava, member of the body; parallels accessible to me have failed to clear up the apparent corruption.]

? avadhika, adv. *kam (cf. Pali -odhika, in yathodh°; from Skt. avadhi, limit), to the limit; in an extreme degree: LV 29.8 paśyeta evāvadhikam guṇānvitā, dayāsutā sā jananī ca māyā. So Lefm.; but the text is uncertain at more than one place; Tib. also apparently confused; Foucaux's text (see his transl. 35 n. 3) reads mchog, superior, modifying yon tan = guṇa. I suspect that originally the text had adhikam, exceedingly.

avadhūta (cf. BR 5.1527, dhū with ava, ppp., glossed malina), in a list of evil (magic) powers and influences: Māy 220.19; 245.19; 259.13. Not in the similar list Mvy 4372-87.

avadhūtī, f., n. of an artery, vein, or canal (nāḍī) in the body: Sādh 366.15 °ti-randhṛeṇa; 383.13 °ti-mārgeṇa; 448.11 nāḍyo lalanārasanāvadhūtayaḥ; 14 avadhūtī madhyadeśe tu mahāsukhādhārārūpiṇi; 16 avadhūtī amitanāthasya ādhārābhāvinī sadā. Cf. rasanā, lalanā.

-avadhūnakam, adv., accompanied by shaking: Prāt 534.3 na hastāvadhūnakam (piṇḍapātam paribhokṣyāmaḥ), not with waving of the hands. Corresponds to -samdhunakam, q.v.

? avadhya, adj., ep. of śilpa, art, in LV 23.21 avadhya-śilpa-niveśanam (kulam, in which the Bodhisattva is reborn for the last time); so all Lefm.'s mss., but he translates nützlichen (freien) Künsten zugetan, prob. following Tib. don yod pa (which once renders amogha, unfailing, see Das), useful, successful. Calc. reads abandhya (i. e. avandhya, not barren); I suspect that this should be adopted. But cf. next but one.

ava-dhyati or °dhyāti (cf. Pali avajjhāyati, apa°; to Skt. dhyāti with ava, in Skt. with different mg.), ponders, meditates on: Mv i.9.4 (vs), read with mss. avadhyanto saphalatām karmaṇām (n. sg. m. pres. pple.; v.l. °ntā; Senart wrongly em. āvajjanto). Skt. pres. dhyāti = dhyāyati; in ava-dhyanto the short a of the penult may be Mīdic, before a consonant cluster, cf. § 3.34.

Avadhyaparamabuddhi, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.137.13 (or should Avadhya(h) be taken as a separate name? there is no v.l.; see s.v. avadhya).

avadhyāna, nt. (to Skt. ava-dhyā°; cited once from Bhāḡ.P. as mg. Geringachtung, BR 5.1059; cf. AMg. avajjhāna, painful and revengeful meditation, Ratnach.), ill-feeling, censoriousness, abusiveness: Mvy 8432, 8594 = ḥphya ba, ḥphyas (by Das rendered avadhyāyana; blame, censure; abuse, deride); Prāt 504.12 avadhyāna-kṣepanāt (Chln. si un bhikṣu blāme irrespectueusement).

avana, nt., a high number: Mvy 7854 (cited from Gv); Gv 105.25 (read sattvāvanasya for text sattvavanasya); 133.8 avanam.

avanatā (cf. Pali avana, free from lust, CPD, and see vanatā), freedom from desire: ŚsP 633.18 °tām upādāya.

avanamana (nt.) and onamanā, f. (= Pali onamana), bending: Gv 400.22 an-avanamanena ... pāṇibhyām jānumaṇḍale parimārjati, he touches his knees with his hands without bending (because his arms are so long); usually of bowing, bending in humility, a sign of absence of pride: Śikṣ 153.18 (here text by error avanama) and 19 avanamana-praṇamanatāyām (sarvasattveṣu, in 19 defines nirmānatā, freedom from pride); LV 182.20 (vs) nirmānatā onamanā gurūṇām; LV 404.22 (prose) -avanamana-praṇamana- (in a long cpd.), bowing and bending (in humility before persons worthy of deference).

avanādayati, onādeti, makes resound: Mv i.237.4 (vs) onādeti (v.l. onādyanti) puravaram (mss. puna, or punaḥ, varām). No ava-nad- recorded. Read unnād°?

avanāma (not in Pali or Pkt.; in Skt. only of (reverential) bowing), depression (of spirits), opposite of unnāma, and only in comp. with that word, q.v. for citations.

avanāmāna = prec., LV 33.7; see s.v. unnāma.

avanāha, m. (Pali onāha; cf. Pali Vin. iv.169.28 pīṭham vā tūlonaddham kāṛapeyya), covering, upholstering (of a seat; a sin for a monk): Mvy 8513.

Avantaka, m. pl., n. of a school: Mvy 9087 (v.l. Āv°; so Mironov).

avapātana (nt., = AMg. ovāḍana, Sheth; to Skt. ava-pāt- plus -ana), rending, tearing: āṅgavapātana-samarjana- (q.v.) Kalpanā-maṇḍitikā (Lüders, Kl. Skt. Texte 2) 44 V 1 (p. 143).

avapṛsthikṛta, adj. (see s.v. prsthībhavati), with back turned away (from the world): Divy 326.11, see s.v. Maitriya.

avapravrajati (unrecorded), withdraws from ascetic life: Kalpanāmaṇḍitikā 114 V 2 (Lüders, Kl. Skt. Texte 2 p. 45) °jatu, impv.

avabhā (unrecorded), (illusory) appearance (to Skt. avabhāti; cf. next): Gv 69.26 nāsti me sarvasattva-citta- (so 2d ed.) -caritāvabhāsu saṅgaḥ, I have no attachment to the appearances of thoughts and actions of all creatures.

avabhāna (unrecorded), appearance or sheen (cf. prec.): Gv 29.21 samantāvabhāno loka (buddhakāyaḥ).

avabhāsa, m. (in Skt. sheen; appearance; manifestation, and so also in BHS; in mg. 1 = Pall obhāsa), (1) hint given in words by a monk as to something he desires (a sinful act); cf. Childers 298; Vism. 1.23.17 and 41.1 ff., where it is as well as nimitta, 3, suggestion, and parikathā, qq.v., are briefly explained: Śikṣ 131.3 nāvabhāsa-kareṇa bhavitavyam, one should not be a maker of hints; 4 katamo °vabhāsaḥ (in the following example a monk says things designed to get tasty food from donors); 6 avabhāsa-nimittam; see avabhāsa-tā; (2) range, = ābhāsa, q.v., used in similar cpds.: (aḥam ...) bālānāṃ śravaṇāvabhāsam āgacchāmi Lañk 192.10; bodhisattvasya ... dharmasābdā (text °dhā) śrotāvabhāsam āgacchanti, Bhadrāpāda Sūtra, Thomas ap. Hoernle MR 89.13; rūpasābdagandharasparśāvabhāsam āgacchanti KP 105.8 (prose).

avabhāsa-tā, state of (making) hints (see avabhāsa 1): Śikṣ 140.6 °tāṃ ca pratilabdhuḥkāmēna, by one who (is sinful in that he) wants to attain this state (misunderstood by Bendall and Rouse, Transl.).

Avabhāsanaśikhin, n. of a nāga, Mvy 3357; of a nāga-king, Megh 308.9 (here with the epithet saptasīrṣa; see Saptasīrṣaka, apparently the same personage).

Avabhāsaprabha, n. of a devaputra: SP 4.4.

Avabhāsaprāptā, n. of the lokadhātu in which Kāśyapa is to appear as a Buddha: SP 144.4.

Avabhāsamakūṭa, n. of a Tathāgata: Gv 361.7.

Obhāsayanta- (for Avabhāsayat-) prabhārājan, n. of a Buddha: Gv 259.7 (vs; n. sg. °jā).

avabhāsayitar, one who makes to shine: Gv 463.8 °tāro dharmāloka mukhānām.

(Avabhās°) Obhāsarāja, n. of a Buddha: Gv 256.19 (vs).

Avabhāsarāja-prabhaketuś(ī)ri, n. of a Buddha: Gv 284.16 (vs). Perhaps two separate names (cf. prec.); see s.v. Citrārtha.

(Avabhās°) Obhāsasāgaraviyūha, n. of a Buddha: Gv 257.24 (vs; read °haḥ for °ham).

avabhāsa, brilliance: LV 16.20 (antaḥpuram) avabhāsyena sphuṭaṃ bhavati. Read probably avabhāseṇa, as in 17.2, tho here all mss. °syena acc. to Lefm.]

avabhūṣita, adorned: nāgarājānau saptasphatāvabhūṣitau Mmk 76.6.

avamanyana-tā = next: RP 20.11 (prose; mss. parātīmanyanatā; cf. 20.16).

avamanyanā, and (?) °nā, nt. (to avamanyate; = Pall avamaññanā, °nā), contempt: Śikṣ 9.7 (prose; text °yatā, see Corr.); 52.9; 271.5; KP 22.3; Bbh 104.20; 145.15. In these always °nā, f.; in RP 21.4 (vs) avamanyana-manyana (acc. sg.) tyaktvā, apparently nt., but could be m.c. for °nā (or °nām).

(avamardita-cittam, SP 108.5, rendered by Kern mentally developed; similarly Burnouf. But Skt. avamardati and Pall omaddati mean only distress or the like. The form means having his spirit depressed, crushed; note that it follows viditvā; it is not parallel with the words preceding viditvā, but is modified by the following udārasamjñayā; the phrase is explained by what follows.)

Avamūrdha, m. (adj., with head downward, upside down; cf. next, and Skt. Gr. avamūrdhaśaya), n. of a lokadhātu, associated with Vyatyasta (lokadhātu), q.v.: °dhaḥ Mvy 3068 (followed by Vyatyastah); Gv 126.2 (after Vyatyasta-lokadhātu-mukham) Avamūrdha-hāra-mukham (hāra seems to be corrupt; should we read lokadhātu for it?); Dbh 15.14 -vyatyastāvamūrdha- (in long cpd., beginning niravaśeṣasārvalokadhātu-); Avamūrdha-lipi, a kind of script, the script of the Avamūrdha lokadhātu, LV 125.22 (cf. Vyatyasta-lipi Mv 1.135.6).

avamūrdhaka (also omūrdhaka, omuddhaka, qq.v., and s.v. -mūrdhaka; see preceding), with head downwards, upside down: Mvy 6800; Divy 9.24; 505.16.

avayāna (nt. or m.), retreat (of an army), one of the arts mastered by the Bodhisattva as prince: LV 156.12 °ne, loc. = Tib. bzur ba, giving way.

avara, m., a high number: Mvy 7708, or nt. 7834, in the latter cited from Gv; Gv 105.20, text sattva-varasya, read sattvāvarasya (gen.). In Gv 133.2 the item seems to be omitted (in a list which generally corresponds better to Mvy).

avaraka, adj. (= Pall oraka; -ka prob. pejorative), wretchedly poor, inferior, mean: °keṇa kuśalamūlena SP 456.3; LV 89.22; AsP 79.12 (all prose); °kam, quasi-substantive (?) nt., Mvy 2701 = Tib. ṅan ṅon sordid, etc. (Das). In some cases the mss. of Divy and Av read avaraka for avavaraka, q.v., which Mironov reads for Mvy 2701.

Avara-godāniya, see Apara°.

avarabhāgiya, adj. (Pall orambhāgiya), (binding) to lower states (viz. to the kāmadhātu), only said of the first five samyojana (q.v.): Mvy 2156 (without mention of samyojana); Divy 533.24; MSV II.87.7. They cause rebirth in a state of desire (kāmaḥhave) also in Pall, MN comm. III.143.21; in Pugg. 22.11-12 called personal, internal (ajjhatta). See ūrdhvabhāgiya.

avarupta, also orupta, quasi ppp., analogical back-formation to avaropita (ppp. of avaropayati, q.v.), on some model like gopayati (gopita): planted, literally of a tree: Gv 278.22 taddivasāvaruptasya sālakalyānavṛk-śasya; oftener fig., of (roots of) merit, (kuśala-)mūla; Mv II.314.11 avarupta-kuśalamūla(h), v.l. avalupta°; III.406.11 avarupta-kuśalamūlo, v.l. anavarupta°, which could be interpreted as not cut off (see avaropayati, 2); avarupta (of kuśalamūla) Suv 91.8; 103.7; 113.5; 114.1 etc.; acc. to Kern, SP Preface vi, in Kashgar rec. for Nep. avaropita; orupta (kuśalamūla) Mv III.104.18; 432.9; orupta-kuśaleṣu Mv III.155.6.

(avarūpayati,) orūpayati, cuts off (hair): Mv I.169.14 (vs) keśāṃ ca orūpayanti. On the form see Chap. 43, s.v. ruh- (5).

avaropana, nt. (to avaropayati; in Skt. in mg. planting), (1) cutting off (hair) (in this sense = Pall oropana): LV 432.15 -keśāvaropana-; (2) depositing (of relics, in a stūpa): dhātva-avaropana Kv 20.2 (text dhyānava°); 40.24; 41.1; 77.3 (in all three text dhātva°); (3) discrediting, lowering in estimation: Śikṣ 126.4 na mukhasākṣy-avaropana-vacano bhavati, he is not one to speak to the discredit of a direct witness.

Avaropanarāja (text has n, not ṇ), n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.7.

avaropayati (caus. to ava-ruh; Skt. in sense 1; in sense 2 = Pali oropeti; cf. avarūpayati, orūp°), (1) plants (so Skt., of planting trees); here very commonly of planting roots of merit, kuśalamūla (not in Pali in either literal or fig. sense); cf. avarupta, ropana: kuśalamūlāny avaropayāni Divy 95.25; avaropayitum, inf., Sukh 16.4; lāny avaropitāni Mv 1.1.5; 57.7; Suv 81.15 (here most mss. avaruptāni); avaropitakuśalamūla- that has (have) planted r. of m. Mvy 7417; Vaj 22.20; 23.1; Gv 47.12; kuśalam avaropitam Mv 1.136.10; avaropitam cittabījāni Dbh 48.8; (2) cuts off (hair, beard): -avaropitakeśaśmaśrur Divy 37.2; -avaropitair iva keśair Av 1.284.8; (evil conditions) buddhāvaropitānām (so read with mss.) akusālānām dharmānām Divy 359.26, that arc (= arc to be, can be) cut off (= obliterated) by a Buddha.

? avarṇa, adj., in Mv 111.343.1 °ṇas ca, epithet of the Buddha's voice (svara); hence must be complimentary; but Skt. id. and Pali avanna are normally uncomplimentary. Senart has no v.l. or note and does not list the word in his Index. Perhaps semi-Mindic for Skt. avarṇa (or read this?), indescribable; cf. Pali avannāṇa.

avalakṣaṇa (nt.; cf. apala° and Pali avalakkhaṇa, Bhvr. adj.), evil, inauspicious, budily mark: aṣṭādaśabhir °ṇaiḥ MSV 1.100.9; 106.3.

-avalambaka, m., and °ikā, f., see nagarāvalambaka, °ikā.

avalambanā (= Skt. °na, nt.), dependence: Divy 199.19 tau Buddha-dharma-saṃghāvalambanayā smṛtyā kālagaṭau ... deveṣṭapannau.

Avalambā, see Olambā.

avalāva, m. (v.l. avalapa; so Mironov), harvest: Mvy 5314 °vaś ca na prajñāyate = Tib. brhas sar (v.l. par) yañ mi mñon.

avalina, see 2 avaliyate.

1 avaliyati, oliyati (= ava-ḍi°; Skt. avalina, said of birds, BR 6.550; cf. Skt. avaḍina, n., pw 2.292), flies down: gaganapathagatā oliyanti (mss. khagapatha°) Mv 1.216.5; in the parallel 11.19.2 gaganapathagatā praliyanti (mss.; better meter; Senart praḍi°).

2 avaliyate (Skt. avaliyate, not quite in this mg.; = Pali oliyati, ppp. olīna; wrongly defined PTSD; cf. CPD s.v. an-plina, not shrinking, not downcast, and °vuttika, not sluggish in one's duties), is depressed, downcast: cittam nāvaliyate ASP 5.6 etc.; ŚsP 1643.20; ppp. avalina, downcast, despondent: Śikṣ 126.1 nāvalina-vacano, not despondent in his talk; Śikṣ 309.17 na cāvalina-saṃtātayo bhavanti (see s.v. saṃtati); the opposite is udāra-saṃtātikāś, following.

avaliyana, see an-avaliyana-tā.

?avalupta, planted, v.l. for avarupta, q.v.: Mv 11.314.11, Senart avarupta-kuśalamūlā(h), v.l. avalupta°. Also elsewhere as v.l.

-avalehakam, adv. (Skt. °ka, adj., one who licks, BR 5.1063; so, hastāvalehakā(h) abudhāh, foolish hand-lickers, said of certain ascetics, LV 258.5), in a manner accompanied by licking (of the hands or bowl; said of the eating process): Prāt 533.10 (Mvy 5857) na hastāvalehakam piṇḍapātām paribhoṣyāmaḥ, and Prāt 533.11 (Mvy 5858) na pātrāvalehakam ... The Pali equivalent (Vin. 1v.198.5, 11) is -nillehakam; but hatthāpalekhana also occurs (PTSD).

avalokanaka (gender? = olok°, ullok°, qq.v.), window: Divy 221.29 °nakā (for °kāh? or °kāni? followed by s-; n. pl., in a list of structures and their accessories).

Avalokana-sūtra, or Avalokanā-sūtra, nt., n. of a work: Śikṣ 297.10 and 89.15 respectively. It is a variant form of the Avalokitaṃ (nāma sūtram, or vyākaraṇam), q.v., in the second Mv version. On the language and meter see §§ 1.47.48.

avalokaniya, adj., pleasant, of sounds: prasādanīyā avalokaniyāḥ prahlādanīyāḥ (śabdāḥ) LV 52.6; 411.9; of persons, worthy of (admiring) contemplation: Mv 1.103.5 ullokaniyās cāvalokaniyās cābhlivandaniyās cādeyavākyās ca. (All prose.) Cf. ullokaniya. avalokayati (= Pali apaloketi), (1) asks permission of (acc.): Bhik 3b.5 yāvād ahaṃ bhagavantam avalokayāmi, until I ask the Lord's permission (for the admission of nuns); Divy 331.18 nāhaṃ svādhīna upādhyāyam avalokayata; 331.23; 511.10 rājānam avalokya; 439.22, 23 mātāpitarāv avalokya, having asked permission of my parents; (2, cf. Skt. aprechate) takes leave of, says farewell to (acc.): Divy 4.26 gacchāmi avalokitā bhava, I am going; be greeted in farewell; 128.2; 580.26; °to bhava MSV 1.41.6; -bāndhavān avalokya Divy 281.17; 524.14; (3) entrusts (acc.) with a function (cf. Pali apaloketi, d, in CPD, consult): bhikṣum avalokayitvā (Tib. bcol nas, entrusted to one's charge) gantavyam yo 'sya lābham grhṇāti MSV 11.97.8 (and ff.); avalokayasi (perh. do you consult? as in Pali) tvam ... Upanandam MSV 11.119.2 and f. avalokita (1) nt., and once °tā, f. (= Pali °ta, oftener apalokita, nt.), act of looking; a look, gaze: fem. only LV 227.9-10 anyonya-mukhāvalokitayā rudanti sma, they wept with a gazing look at each other's faces; nt. LV 84.5 simhāvalokitam mahāpuruṣāvalokitam vyavalokayati sma; LV 191.17 (prāsādikena) avalokita-vyavalokitena (see s.v. vyavalokita), acc. to Tib., looking forward; Śikṣ 215.10 -prasāritāvalokita-vilokita-supta-jāgarita-svaśariragatopasthānam; elsewhere in a similar cliché °llokita (instead of ava°-vilokita, q.v.; esp. nāgāvalokita (= Pali id., oftener °palokita), the gaze of an elephant (turning the whole body), Mv 111.55.18 sarvāvantaṇa kāyena (so read with v.l. for text kālena) nāgāvalokitena; Divy 208.16-17 sarvakāyena nāgāvalokitena; Gv 48.15 nāgāvalokitena pratyudāvṛtya (q.v.); MSV 1.62.17; (2) nt., n. of a work (called a vyākaraṇam Mv 11.257.13; 259.4; but a sūtram in the colophons, 293.15; 397.7) imbedded in the Mv in two forms, following one another, 11.257.6-293.15, and 293.16-397.7. The second of these, under the name Avalokana- (or °nā-) sūtra, q.v., was used (in a rather widely variant form) as one of the sources of Śikṣ. (3) m., said to be used for Avalokiteśvara, q.v.: Burnouf, Introd. 224 (and Skt. Lex.).

avalokita-mūrdhi-tā (suffix tā added to stem in -in from avalokita-mūrdhan*), state of having his head gazed upon (revered) by others, said of a Tathāgata: Gv 65.18.

Avalokitalakṣmī, n. of a kinnara-maid: Kv 6.3.

Avalokiteśvara (on the name cf. Mironov, JRAS 1927.241 ff., suggesting that the original form was Avalokita-svara), n. of a celebrated Bodhisattva: first in lists of Bodhisattvas, SP 3.4; Mvy 645; cf. also Kv 1.2; lives on Mt. Potalaka Gv 208.8; subject of ch. 24 of SP (named 438.4 ff.), where he has the epithet Samantamukha, q.v.; other occurrences Śikṣ 286.7; Samādh p. 36.1. 1; Kv 1.16; 8.19 etc.; Mmk 62.24 etc.; Sukh 52.4; 56.7-8; Sādh 42.10 etc.

Avalokiteśvaravimokṣa, n. of a work: Śikṣ 296.2. avavadati, ovadati (= Pali ovadati), admonishes, instructs; regularly followed by parallel anuśās(a)ti, as also in Pali: samyag avavadati samyag anuśāsti Divy 299.10; avavadāmy anuśāsmi, yathā mayā samyag avavaditāḥ samyag avasiṣṭā(h) LV 409.11; taṃ bhagavāṃ ovadatu anuśāsatu Mv 1.321.17; ovadatu me bhavām ... anuśāsatu me Mv 111.206.2-3; ovadeyam SP 351.6; ppp. avavadita SP 70.13; 101.4; gdv. avavaditavya Divy 492.29; kevarūpeṇa ovādeṇa ovadanti Mv 1.104.9.

avavaraka (also avaraka? m. or nt.; = Pali ovaraka, Skt. apavaraka, which is read also in mss. of Divy), a secret apartment or chamber; acc. to Speyer Av ii.158.10 n., a subterranean room. Several times mss. (of Av, Divy) present avarakā, which might be regarded as a case of haplogy or haplography; but twice, at least, Pali seems to read (a)varaka instead of ovaraka: jāto (°)varake Jāt. i.391.21 and Vv comm. 158.14 (PTSD would understand jāto ovarake; both prose): KP 71.1 (prose) gñhe vā layane vā avavarake vā; Mmk 519.27 (prose) guhye pradese avavarake vā; 534.10 (vs) prachanne ... svagñhe vāvavarake °pi ca (meter corrupt); Av ii.54.5 avarakam praviṣṭā udbandhanahetoḥ (to hang herself); here text with ms. avara°; 55.7 avavarakam (so ms., text avara°) avabhāsamānā; 158.10 avavarakam praviṣa, and °kam praviṣṭā; Divy 471.8 avavarakam (no v.l.) praviṣat; avavarake (or avarake) strī prasūtā Divy 471.9 (text apav°, but no ms. has -p-; they point to avarake or avavarake); 479.25 (text apav°, but all mss. avarake), 26-27 (text apav° with 1 ms., 2 mss. (a)varake, actually varake after -e). avavahati (not in Skt.; in Pali only pass. ovuyhati is carried off by a river, Itiv. 114.1, 3), carries, bears (a burden): Śīkṣ 13.13 -dhuram avavoḍḍham (inf.).

avavāda, ovāda (so regularly Mv, otherwise ava°; to avavadati) n. (= Pali ovāda), admonition, instruction: SP 202.10 sattvāvavāda-kusālānām; LV 244.16 datto °vavādo °bhūt, the admonition (instruction) was granted; Mv i.104.9 ovādena ovadanti; 307.10; iii.53.8, 10; Mvy 1440; 6534; 7600; 8442-4; Divy 240.17; 281.28; bodhisattvāvavāda, SP 65.1 et alibi, epithet of Mahāvaiṣṭhī sūtras such as SP (for this Kashgar rec. regularly reads bodhisattvotpāda, KN note to l.c.); parallel with the virtual synonym anūsāsani, q.v., Mv iii.51.16-17 karaṇiyo ovādo karaṇiyā anusāsani; these two often compounded as avavādānūsāsani (Mv ovādānu°, dvandva, but regularly sg. with fem. gender (§ 23.3): LV 244.15 (read with mss. avavādānūsāsani, or °nim, asya; the reading of both edd. is impossible), admonition and instruction: Divy 318.24; 340.28 = 567.9; Mv iii.60.16; 206.4; Bbh 178.17; 224.16; Bhik 5a.1.

avavādaka, adj. (to avavadati; = Pali ovādaka), instructing, admonishing; m., instructor (in religion); nt. also used of a text: Divy 48.26 ya teṣām ṣṣr avavādakaḥ; 385.8 °kānām agro; 493.5 (ko °mākam) avavādaka ājñaptāḥ; 254.10 kulāvavādaka, a family (religious) instructor, of a rich man; Gv 171.14 mahāyānasyāvavādakāni (are instructors in the Mahāyāna) mama kalyāṇamitrāni; nt., of a work, Rājāvavādakam, see this.

avavād(ay)ati, ovā° = avavadati; noted only in iminā ovādena ovādito Mv iii.53.8 and ... ovāditvā 10; prob. denom. to ovāda (ava°).

avavāditar (n. ag. to avavadati, or to prec.?), one who instructs or admonishes: Gv 463.3 °tārah pārāmitāsu.

ava-vidhyana, see ovidhyana-khā.

avaśayati (nowhere recorded), lies down: Divy 559.14 (vs) paryāṇke °vaśayitvā (ger.). Cf. avaśayita.

avaśākha, or ośākha, only in °kha-praśākha, adj., having down-hanging twigs or branches, said of several kinds of trees: ośākha-praśākham (nyagrodhapotam) Mv iii.302.1; °kho (kakubho nāma vṛkṣo) 313.9; avaśākha-praśākha (haritaki) 311.4.

avaśayita, ppp. (cf. avaśayati; this form could be m.c. for avasayita), lying, resting, bedded: Mv ii.351.19 (vs) dārikā dārakā caiva śayyāsanaśayitāḥ (Senart; mss. śayyāyām avaś°, śayyāsanaśayitā, the latter metrically bad).

avaśavaśam, adv. (āmreḍita cpd.; avasam, adv. from Skt. avasā), quite certainly: Mv iii.88.18.

avaśīrati, ośīrati, °reti (also spelled with s, s for ś, and mss. sometimes show a for i after the sibilant, ośarati, (2) osarati; see avasarati; cf. Pkt. Lex. osiraṇa = vyutsarjana, parityāga, Sheth; etym. obscure, cf. avaśeṣa, adj. (= Pali avaseṣa), left over, remaining: Mv 1.7.6 yaṃ teṣāṃ aśṭhīni avaseṣāni (but so only 1 ms., the other 5 avaseṣanti) bhūyo °pi mānsachavi(?) ... upajāyati, when (only) their bones are left, flesh and skin is produced again. See also kalpāvaśeṣam, niravaśeṣa, saṃghāvaśeṣa, sāvaśeṣa.

avaśya, ośa (m. or nt.; = AMg. ośa; Skt. avaśyāya, once Lex. avāśyā, f.), hoarfrost, as symbol of transitoriness, used of life or worldly things: LV 214.8 (vs) ośavindūpamā ... śūnyasvabhāva(h), like drops of hoarfrost (fleeting and vain); Samādh 22.6 jīviti svapnanibhe caī °vaśye (Régamey's note states that Tib. renders hoarfrost, which he unwisely abandons); Śikṣ 18.12 (vs, cited from Candrapradīpa Sūtra = Samādh, but not the same vs) jīvite caīcale °vaśye māyāsvapnanibhōpame. In the LV ośa could be m.c. for ośā = Skt. (Lex.) avāśyā; but the loc. (a)vaśye in the others points to a m. or nt. stem; AMg. ośa is given by Ratnach. as m.

avaśyāya-paṭṭa or -paṭa, m., lit. frost-cloth, a fine silk fabric, allegedly 'used for protection against frost' (Das) = Tib. dar-la (which also renders paṭṭāṃsu Mvy 5881 and amśuka 9166); Mvy 5880 °paṭṭaḥ (v.l. °paṭaḥ: Mironov °paṭṭaḥ, no v.l.); LV 162.17 (prose) avāśyāya-paṭa-vitāta-vitāne.

avaśruta, f. °tā (= Pali avassuta; cf. an-ava°; derived from Skt. root sru, for which even Skt. texts often read śru), (sexually) lustful: Bhik 27b.5 bhikṣuṇī avaśrutā avaśrutena puruṣeṇa ...; 28a.3 (see s.v. saṃcagghati).

avaśaṅga, m., some part of a building: Mvy 5570 = Tib. ya phubs (? top roof?). Prof. Lo Ch'ang-pei informs me that the Chin. translation now means grand, huge or empty, but that the 'radical' of the sign suggests a possible original meaning roof. In MPS 34.61 acc. to Tib. large beam, gduḥ bo che.

avaśtabhya, ger. (cf. BR s.v. stabh with ava, 4), embracing, enveloping: Laṅk 16.5 bhagavantam bodhisattvāṃs ca ratnājālenāva°, embracing, enclosing in a (? magic) network (? mass) of jewels.

avasarati, (1) osarati, once ośar°(?); on forms with -sār- see below, but also caus. s.v. 1 osarati (cf. Pali avasaratī, osarati, to enter, to arrive, CPD), (1) approaches, arrives: Mv 1.13.6 (vs) tasmiṃ narake osaranti, they arrive at this hell (otherwise Senart); osarantasya Mv II.108.7, 9, 11, and °nto 10 (pres. pple.), approaching, drawing near; aor. avasāri or °rīm, 1st or 3d sg., in phrase yena ... tad avasāri(m), arrived at, went to where ... was (on the long ā see § 38.23; the corresponding Pali phrase is tad avasārī, e.g. Vin. SP 449.3, see avaśīratī 4, WT vajrāmaya-parvato yadi ghaṭanārthāya hi mūrdhni ośaret, should alight, fall upon his head, which is perhaps possible; (2) osarati and its forms also are written for ośīratī (avaśīratī, q.v.); in my opinion this set of forms must be wholly unrelated to the above (despite Senart i note 380). Perhaps ośīr° (or osīr°) should always be read by em. when osar° occurs in the mss. in the meanings of avaśīratī. Note especially Mv III.1.4 osare(yam), mss. (Senart osīr°), but in 1.6 and 2.11 mss. ośīratī in precisely similar context.

avasavya, adj. (Skt. and Pali apasavya; Pkt. avasavaya, cf. AMg. avasavya, a particular kind of the motions of the planets), not left, right (-hand): °vyam Sādh 20.5; °vyena (adv.) on the right 20.10; utsaṅgasthītāvasavyahastam 24.10.

avasāda, m. (to avaśādayati), abuse: Mvy 2636 = Tib. smad pa, or spyo ba.

avasādana (to avaśādayati), (1) adj., f. °nī, censuring, rebuking: Bbh 220.3 (kuśale sthāne pratīṣṭhāpanārtham ...) saṃcodanāvasādanī priyavāditā; (2) °nā, subst. f. censure, rebuke: Bbh 83.18 avasādanā madhyame vyatikrame, censure (is appropriate) in case of a transgression (of) middling (gravity); 179.18, see s.v. avaśādayati; 295.21 avasādanāsādhyaḥ, to be perfected by censure; Jm 217.8 tām avasādanām amṛṣyamāṇāḥ, impatient of this rebuke; Divy 490.5, 6 avasādanāvineyaḥ, to be converted (substantially = °nā-sādhya, above) by rebuke (which is applied in 7 in the words tvam tāvac cūḍaḥ etc.; ed. Index discouragement, not quite rightly; the opposite is utsahanā-vineya, see utsahanā); in LV 70.11 (saṃcārya) vitāryāvasādanākāreṇa paṇiṃ saṃcārayati sma (subject, the Bodhisattva in his mother's womb); Foucaux, 'en l'étendant pour le signal du départ' (sc. for the attendant gods), but avasādanā can hardly mean this. Tib. had a quite different reading, containing smṛtaḥ samprajānan as in I. 15 (dran zhiḥ śes bzhiḥ du, both times). I cannot solve the passage but think it probably corrupt, despite the lack of variants. Perhaps follow the lead of Tib.

avasādanikā, censure, rebuke: Bbh 150.22, see prec. and s.v. avaśādayati; similarly 151.3, 4.

avaśādayati (= Pali apasādayati, in both mgs.; cf. prec. two), (1) rejects, repulses: Mv III.184.11 tāye mānavikāye ... avasādito, rejected by this girl (with whom he was in love); (2) censures, rebukes: Bbh 150.22 (mṛdv- aparādham mṛdu-vyatikramam ...) mṛdvyā (text mṛdhvyā) avasādanikayā avasādayati; so also 151.3; Bbh 107.16 toṣayātā utsāhayatā anayasādayatā, by him gratifying, enthralling, not reproaching; Bbh 179.18–20 bodhisattvaḥ avasādanārhan ... pravāsānārhan klīṣṭacitto nāvasādayati, avasādayati vā na ca daṇḍakarmaṇā samanāśāsti; °yitavyaḥ MSV III.53.11.

avasrjana, nt. (to Skt. avasrjati), emission, pouring forth: Gv 18.9 (prose) bodhisattvanirmitameghāvasrjanam.

avasevita-vant (no ava-sev is recorded), having cultivated, devoted oneself to: LV 10.5–6 pañcavidhapanūyakriyāvastv-avasevitavatas (bodhisattvasya); Calc. 11.1 reads upasev° for avasev°, unsupported by any of Lefm.'s mss.

avaskandanā (cf. Skt. avaskandana, nt., accusation, legal attack; to ava-skand-, attack, usually in military sense), (verbal) attack; injurious speech; °skandanā is read for °sphaṇḍanam in a text parallel to Śikṣ 172.1 idam agram pāruṣyaṇam yad utāryaṇam avasphaṇḍanam, see Bendall's note p. 408; Tib. gnod pa, injure.

avaskhalita, adj. (ppp. of Skt. skhal, not cpd. with ava in Skt.; cf. Pali avakkhalita, n., offense), guilty, at fault; having offended: Divy 359.26 (tvam hi) bhagavatya asakṛd-asakṛd avaskhalito.

aviddasu, adj. (= Pali id.; see avidvasu), ignorant: su*, n. sg. (or perhaps sū*, cf. ms. B in l. 16 abhidāśū) is plausibly conjectured by Senart for corrupt readings of mss. Mv II.369.5 and 16.

avidyatā, ignorance (= avidyā): LV 420.13 (vs) tāyāḥ*.

avidyā, ignorance, occurs in Mv II.99.10 (text without v.l.) in the place of abhidhyā in a list of the 10 karmapatha; certainly in some sense secondary and perhaps a mere textual corruption for abhidhyā, covetousness.

Avidyāndhakāravidhvamsanakara, n. of a former Buddha: Sukh 6.1.

avyavacāra, m., (neg. of vyavacāra, q.v.), non-consideration, contempt, despising (Tib. khvad du gsoḍ pa, despise): Mvy 8510, in Śikṣāpadadravyatāvyaavacārah, which I analyze °dravyatā-avyavacārah, as the Tib. and the sense seem to require (the situation is that of Vin. iv.143.16-19; the Pali equivalent is vivaṇṇaka, line 19). It seems hardly possible that vyavacāra, without a neg., should have this mg.

a-vyavahāra, adj., not capable of discussion (mention in words, see BR s.v. vyavahāra 8); followed by syn. anabhilāpya, Vaj 45.6, or anabhilāpya, Śikṣ 251.11.

avyāpāda, m. (= Pali id.; neg. of vyāpāda, q.v.), non-malice: LV 32.22, see s.v. vyāpāda; Mvy 1597, see id.; Ud xv.18, read avyāpāde for text tyāpāde with initial syllable missing. (Tib. hchi ba med, non-death or non-killing, is due to false rendering of vyāpāda, in accord with regular Skt. usage.)

a-vyābadhya or °vadhya, adj. and nt. subst. (see next, and cf. Pali avyāpajjha, as mentioned there), (1) adj., that cannot be injured or disturbed, inviolable: Mv ii.259.15 °dhyam (ms.) . . . dharmam deśayisyati; 279.9 °dhyam artham prārthayamāno; in both of these spelled avyābadhyam, and associated with asādhāraṇam; (2) apparently subst., not doing harm (so Tib., gnod pa mi byed): LV 380.17 avyābadhyam (Foucaux la mansuétude) sukham loke. There is a v.l. in mss. usually regarded as the best, adhyābadhya; one might conjecture a-vyābadhya, or °bādhya, ger., not committing injury. But the context suggests that a nom. sg. noun is intended, sukham being apparently predicate (Foucaux douce); so Tib. takes it. In all of these forms the root vadh may have been felt to be concerned; or the short a of the root may be semi-MIndic (based on forms of *bād*h which are certainly commoner).

a-vyābādha, also written °vādha, in MSV i.97.19 wrongly °vāda, adj. (cf. prec. and next, also vyābādha etc.; corresponds to Pali avyāpajjha, avyābajjha), apparently usually free from injury, inviolable, secure, but possibly in some passages free from injuriousness, i. e. not given to injuring others, kindly; the Pali equivalent appears to be interpreted in the same two ways, but it is not easy to distinguish them clearly: Mvy 1508 maṭṭrisahagatena cittaṇ' vairenā °sapatienā °vyābādhenā; to this passage corresponds Mv iii.213.13 (cetasā . . .) avaireṇā °vyābādhenā (so Senart em., mss. °vyābaddhenā or °rdhdhenā); also Dbh 34.(18)-19 (maṭṭrisahagatena cittaṇa . . .) avaireṇā °sapatienā °nāvaraṇenā °vyābādhenā; and in Pali DN ii.242.11 (cetasā . . .) averena avyāpajjhena; the mg.

uninjuriously, kindly might be assumed in SP 288.8 (prose) (bodhisattva . . .) avyāvādho bhavati, but Kern unmolested, and similarly Burnouf. Cf. avyābādhyā, said of a Bodhisattva, Bbh 73.21.

a-vyābādhyā, adj. (cf. prec.), that cannot be injured, inviolable, undisturbed: said of puṇya Bbh 19.21, 22; 20.24, 26; of sukha, 25.13; 26.9 (there are four avyā° su°, listed as naiṣkramya-, praviveka-, upaśama-, and sam-bodhi-su°); 27.2, 6; of a Bodhisattva, 73.21 (cf. avyābādhyā SP 288.8).

a-vyōṣita, adj., ppp. (neg. of Skt. vyavasita; but actually Sktization of Pall a-v(y)osita, acc. to CPD who has not reached his place of rest, i. e. final emancipation), restless, unsteady, activated by desires (for, loc.): pāpecca (text pāye°) vyoṣita (read avyo°) pātra-civare Samādh p. 53 line 4 (vs); kūleṣu (read ku°?) cāvyoṣita lābhakāmāh 5 (vs); bhonti utsukāh, pāneṣu cāvyoṣita teṣu lajjāh (?doubtless corrupt; lagnāh?) 12 (vs).

asābala, adj. (= Pall asabala, in same sense and associated with akammāsa, DN II.80.24), unspotted, pure, of brahmacharya (together with akalmāṣa, q.v.): Mv I.211.11 = II.15.10; of śīla, MPS 2.34.

asāta, also asāta, adj. (and subst. nt.?) (= Pall asāta; neg. of sāta, q.v.), unpleasant, disagreeable: asātā vedanā (acc. pl.), disagreeable pains (same phrase in Pall) Mv I.5.9; asātānubhavanam (Śikṣ asāt°) duḥkham Śāl 81.2; Śikṣ 222.9 anandāsātākāntārāpi AsP 367.19; displeased, averse, offended: Mv III.16.4 sudarśanāpi . . . asātā vāreti. Cf. also viśāta.

asāśvatam (after anucchedam) in LV 423.10 (prose), applied to the (dharma-)cakra, is misunderstood by Foucaux (non immobile). Like everything in the universe acc. to the śūnyavāda, it is neither annihilable nor eternal; neither of these attributes, nor any attribute contrastable with an opposite, can be predicated of anything. Tib. rtag pa med pa, not eternal. See śāśvatoccheda and references there to Lañk.

In Mvy 1156-64 they are listed, each cpd. with -saṃjñā: (1) vinīlaka-, (2) vipūyaka- (so read), (3) vipaḍumaka-, (4) vyādhmātaka-, (5) vilohitaka-, (6) vikhāditaka-, (7) vikṣiptaka-, (8) vidagdhaka-, (9) asthi-saṃjñā (see each of these). Bhik 27a.2-3 agrees except that it transposes Nos. 5 and 6 and accidentally omits 8 (which perhaps should be put after 9; only Mvy has it before 9). There are three lists (one incomplete, one very corrupt) in ŚsP 59.1 ff., 1258.5 ff., 1431.19 ff. (six items only; cited from the last, with only four items one of which is not in this ŚsP list, in Śikṣ 211.1). Barring corruptions, the ŚsP lists agree with Mvy and Bhik except in order of the terms, in which they show some (slight) resemblance to the Pall (Vism.) arrangement. ŚsP 1 (Śikṣ 1) = Vism 1 = Mvy 4; ŚsP^a (= 1431.19 ff.) 2 = Śikṣ 2 = Vism 2 = ŚsP¹ (= 59.1 ff.) and ^a (= 1258.5 ff.) 5 = Mvy 1; ŚsP and Śikṣ 3 = Vism 3 = Mvy 2; Śikṣ 4 (not in ŚsP^a) = ŚsP¹ and ^a 2 = Vism 9 = Mvy 3; ŚsP¹ and ^a 4 = ŚsP^a 5 = Vism 8 = Mvy 5 (Bhik 6); ŚsP¹ and ^a 6 = ŚsP^a 4 = Vism 5 = Mvy 6 (Bhik 5); ŚsP¹ and ^a 7, Mvy 7 = ŚsP^a, Vism 6; ŚsP¹ and ^a 8 = Vism 10 = Mvy 9; ŚsP¹ and ^a 9 = Mvy 8 (omitted in Bhik; Vism 4 has a different term, vicchiddaka, fissured Pe Maung Tin; Vism 7 hata-vikkhittaka is a variation on Vism 7 vikkhittaka = Mvy 7). aśaikṣa, m. (= Pall asekha, asekka; neg. of śaikṣa, q.v.), one who no longer needs religious training, being in the 8th stage (see Childers s.v. sekho); = arhaṇa: °śaḥ Mvy 1734; °śa-mārgaḥ Mvy 1320, the third parivarta of the dharmacakra, in which 'misery is known, its origin abandoned, its suppression attained, the way leading to its suppression realized' (1321-24). Often in cpd. śaikṣaśaikṣa, or bracketed with śaikṣa as separate word; see śaikṣa; its place may be taken by arhant, e. g. Mv I.158.7; Divy 399.24. Written aśaiṣya in LV 250.18, see s.v. śaiṣya.

Asōka, n. pr.: (1) name of a former Buddha, Mv III.238.6, 7; (2) name of a nephew and disciple of the Buddha Kāśyapa, Av I.237.14 ff.; (3) name of a king who lived in the time of the Buddha Krakucchanda, Divy 418.26 f.; (4) name of a yakṣa, Māy 68; (5) name of an uncle of King Mahāprajāpāda, and previous incarnation of Bhaddālīn, q.v., Divy 59.20; 60.10; (6) name of the historic emperor, Mvy 3653; Mmk 606.14; Karmav 154.14; was given the epithet Dharmāśōka, q.v.; his family name was Maurya, q.v.; he lived 100 years after Buddha's death acc. to Av II.200.7; in Divy 364.17 ff. is told first his previous life as Jaya, in which he gave some dust (this is the pāṃsu-pradāna) to the Buddha, made a prañidhāna, and hence became later the emperor Asōka, 368.26 ff.; his birth and life as emperor, 370.10 ff.

aśōka-bhāṇḍa, nt., LV 141.13; Mv II.48.4; and -bhāṇḍaka, nt., LV 141.10, 16; 142.3, 5, 6, 11 (but many mss. -bhāṇḍa in some of these), perhaps lit. good-luck (no-sorrow) articles-of-value; gifts of largess, said of presents (of gold, silver, and jewels, LV 141.14) provided by Śuddhodana for Prince Siddhārtha to give to the maidens who appeared before him as possible brides. Acc. to pw, present to an affianced bride; but note that the prince gives them to all the girls who present themselves, LV 142.4-5.

aṣṭa, ppp. of aśnoti (Vedic -aṣṭa in cpds.), obtained: LV 390.9 (vs) aṣṭam artham. A word-play is clearly intended; see Aṣṭamga. (Calc. reads iṣṭam, without support of any of Lefm.'s mss.)

Aṣṭaka (= Pali Aṭṭhaka), n. of a king: Mv 11.375.7 (vs); he is otherwise in Mv always called Aṣṭamaka, q.v. aṣṭaka-rātri, in LV 251.6 (prose) halmantikāsv aṣṭakarātriṣu (read aṣṭakā°?), the nights between the eighth days after the full moon of the two winter months, see CPD s.vv. aṭṭhakā, antarāṭṭhaka.

Aṣṭamga, m. (for *Aṣṭamga = Pali Aṭṭhamga; Skt. Asta; ṣṭ for st seems arbitrarily used for the sake of word-play with aṣṭam in the next line, § 2.61, see aṣṭa), n. of the western (sunset) mountain: LV 390.8 aṣṭamga nāma parvataḥ ... aṣṭam artham dadātu vaḥ. (Some mss. aṣṭamo, so Calc.; all have ṣṭ.)

aṣṭamaka, (1) adj. or subst. m. (= Pali aṭṭhamaka, see CPD s.v.), one who is in the eighth (and lowest) stage of (Hīnayāna) religious development, = srotāṣṭanna-phala-pratipannaka (Dharmas 102; for the Pali see Childers, cited s.v. śaikṣa): Mv 1.120.9 (prose) aṣṭamake dhutavedanāgrddhā bhāvanān (so with all mss.; or read °nām; Senart em. °nā) uttrasanti, said of backsliding Bodhisattvas, being eager for the sensations which are (or should be) destroyed (even) in a person in the lowest stage of religious development, they shrink from self-cultivation (bhāvanā); Senart fails to understand; Mv 1.159.8 aṣṭama-kādikā pudgalā yāvad arhatpudgalā (mss. puṃgalā both times), from the srotāṣṭanna to the arhat; aṣṭamaka-bhūmi, here the third of the (seven) bhūmi of a śrāvaka, Mvy 1143; ŚsP 1473.12 et alibi, see bhūmi 4; aṣṭamaka-dharma, the conditions (or religious principles) of a person in this stage, ŚsP 1555.11; (2) m., n. of the king otherwise called Aṣṭaka, q.v.: Mv 11.364.7; 365.18; 366.7; 373.23; (3) n. of a nāga king: Māy 246.22; (4) n. of a maharṣi: Māy 256.13.

Aṣṭamahābhaya-tārā, Sādh 208.6, or -tārīṇī, 207.1, n. of a goddess, a form of Tārā.

aṣṭamika, nt. (also aṣṭa°, q.v.), food given away on the feast of the eighth lunar day: Mvy 5758.

aṣṭavat-, in cpd., seems = aṣṭa, eight (§ 22.50): prāsādā uccaistvenāṣṭavat-talāḥ SP 341.10 (vs), palaces eight floors in height; so Tib. bryad brtseg.

Aṣṭasāhasrikā-prajñāpāramitā, n. of a work (= AsP): Mvy 1328; referred to Śiks 37.13 as Prajñāpāramitā Aṣṭasāhasrikā.

aṣṭamśa, adj. (= Pali aṭṭhamśa; for Skt. aṣṭāśri, perhaps by confusion with Skt. amśa), eight-edged, of the jewel (mañi-ratna) of a cakravartin: MSV 1.36.5. aṣṭāṅga (Pali aṭṭhaṅga), (1) having 8 members or parts; so often of the 8-fold way, e.g. Mv 11.332.10 ārya-ṣṭāṅgo mārgo; Gv 521.5 aṣṭāṅga-poṣadhe (see poṣadha;

Pali aṭṭhaṅguposatha; = observance of the sabbath maintaining the 8 [first of the 10] precepts, śīla, see CPD s.v.; prob. this is meant by °ga-samanvāgataṃ vṛataṃ Av 1.170.13 and °ga-samanvāgata upavāsa 339.7 ff.; (2) either alone, as Bhv., or aṣṭāṅgopeta, having 8 (unspecified good) qualities, substantially = excellent, fine, supreme, so Pali aṭṭhaṅga (-samannāgata, etc.), said of food, fields, men, a voice; in BHS I have recorded it only of water (! with never any indication of any specific 8 qualities): Mv ii.365.7 aṣṭāṅga-jala (mss., confirmed by quotation Śikṣ 299.13); 386.20 (vs) aṣṭāṅgupetāṃ (but prob. read with v.l. °tam, and jala as separate word) jala (text cpds. with next) śobhamānāṃ ... puṣkiriṇyo; Av ii.84.15 aṣṭāṅgupetaṃ pāṇiyam; Śikṣ 350.8 aṣṭāṅgupetaṃ pāṇiya; aṣṭāṅgopeta-, also of water, Kv 8.1; 60.11; Mmk 105.20; Gv 100.25 (misprinted °pata); 163.10; 193.20; 202.20; AsP 363.5; Sukh 93.16; aṣṭāṅga-vāriparipūrṇā Kv 12.20; aṣṭāṅga-salladhārābhīh Mmk 444.3; aṣṭāṅga sad-vāri Gv 336.7 (vs); °ga-sammitam (mss. °matam, read so?) Mv iii.94.5 (vs), ep. of sopāṇiya(m), q.v.

aṣṭāṅgika, adj. (= Pali aṭṭhaṅgika), of 8 members, said of the way (mārga) to the release from misery (more commonly aṣṭāṅga): LV 183.7; 414.13; Mv iii.456.21; Ud xii.4 (these all vss); Dharmas 50 (here the 8 stages are listed).

Aṣṭādaśavakra, m., n. of a mountain: Divy 103.2; 106.26, 28.

Aṣṭādaśavakrikā, n. of a river: Divy 106.28; 107.1. [aṣṭuṣṭaka, nt., var. for ākaṇṭuka, q.v.]

a-saṃvara (m.; Pali id.; neg. of saṃvara, q.v.), instr. °reṇa KP 130.1-2, 3, 4, 8, or abl. °rato 130.6, not according to prescription or rule: 130.1-2 bheṣajyam (= bhai) upayujyāsaṃvareṇa kālāṃ kuryāt, using medicine not in the way prescribed, he would die. Tib. renders cho ga, usually = vidhi or ācāra, but later sdom pa (= saṃvara, Mvy 1608 etc.); (in the more usual sense of saṃvara) KP 103.3 tatra na saṃvaro (restraint) nāsaṃvaraḥ.

a-saṃvaraṇa, adj. (neg. of Skt. saṃvaraṇa), free from obstruction: Mv i.204.5 = ii.7.20 sarvadiśā (or °śāṃ) kurūtha asaṃvaraṇā (or °ṇām), make all directions free from obstruction (for him).

a-saṃvāsika, m., and f. °kā (cf. next, and Pali id. and asaṃvāsa, same mg.), (a monk or nun) that is denied the right of living with the order; one expelled from the monastic community: °kaḥ Mvy 8758; MSV ii.204.11; °kā Bhik 16b.2.

a-saṃvāsiya, and f. °yā (cf. Pali asaṃvāsiya; see PTSD s.v. saṃvāsiya), = prec.: °yaḥ, °yo Prāt 477.2; Bbh 46.19; °yā Bhik 28b.1.

asaṃvidita, perhaps unperceived, not consciously grasped: in Mv i.41.5 and iii.334.8 (both somewhat corrupt, prob. intending) asaṃviditā asaṃviditapūrvā (lokāntarikā, sc. nirayā or narakā); in Mv ii.162.10 Senart also reads asaṃviditapūrvā, mss. (aghā-saṃvidhipūrvā. The three other Mv versions of this formulaic passage have (aghā) aghasaṃbhūtapūrvā, or (aghā) asaṃbhūtā asaṃbhūtapūrvā. All these are corruptions of an original prob. to be reconstructed as aghā aghasaṃvṛtā; the Pali has aghā asaṃvṛtā (brilliantly corrected by Senart, Mv i n. 405-6, to aghā aghasaṃvṛtā); LV and ŚsP aghā aghasphuṭā (full of misery, substantially = aghasaṃvṛtā enwrapped in misery). See discussion of the passage s.v. lokāntarikā.

asaṃvṛta, (1) adj. (= Pali asaṃvṛta; apparently not in this sense in Skt., tho saṃvṛta restrained occurs), uncontrolled, unrestrained (cf. saṃvara, saṃvṛti): LV 87.13; 138.13; vācā asaṃ° MSV ii.210.14; (2) subst. nt.:

LV 372.7 (vs) ṣoḍaśa asaṃvṛtāni the 16 uncontrolled things {... chinnāni mayeḥa saṃstheṇa; said by the Buddha at the Bodhimanda}. I have no clue to what is meant and have found no parallel. The passage is omitted in Foucaux's Tib.; his transl. of Skt. says omissions. Cf. asaṃvara, 'indiscipline', AbhidhK. LaV-P. iv. 57 (?).

asaṃskṛta, adj. and subst. nt. (= Pali asaṃkhata, ep. of nibbāna, perh. as uncreated by a combination of factors, but see CPD), unconditioned; as nt., one of three unconditioned things. The adj. occurs e.g. Laṅk 189.14. The three asaṃskṛtāni are ākāśa, pratisaṃkhyā-nirodha (which = nirvāṇa), aprati° (see pratisaṃkhyā and aprati°), Dharmas 32; in Mvy 2184 °tam, but 2185-6 name only the 2d and 3d, not ākāśa; without mention of the term asaṃskṛta, and with substitution of nirvāṇa-(-dhātu) for pratisaṃkhyā-nirodha, the three are named Laṅk 177.3; 197.12; see also AbhidhK. La V-P. i.7.8.

a-saṃkathya, adj. (neg. gḍve. of Skt. saṃkathayati), not fit to be talked with; to be avoided in social relations: Laṅk 61.13; 331.10 °yāḥ.

Asaṃkīrṇa, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.139.1. asaṃkrānti-tā, condition of not passing (into another state): Dbh 36.25 sa sarvadharmāṇāṃ asaṃkrāntitāṃ cāvināśitāṃ ... vyavalokayati.

a-saṃkliṣṭa (= Pali asaṃkiliṭṭha), not impure, see saṃkliṣyati.

asaṃkhyā, nt., a high number: Mvy 8040. ? asaṃkhyaya, adj., innumerable, occurs repeatedly (instead of regular asaṃkhyeya) in mss. of LV, and is sometimes adopted by Lefm. in the text: 86.15 (vv. II. asaṃkhyā, asaṃkhyeya); 112.4 (with most mss., v.l. °khyeya). Weller 23 would read asaṃkhyeya always, perhaps rightly; but the frequent occurrence of °khyaya in the mss. is strange. Like Weller I am unable to understand the long ā in asaṃkhyayā-kalpakoṭi- 86.15; probably read °ya- as in 112.4. Instr. of a-saṃkhyā unlikely.

asaṃkhyeya, (1) adj. (= Skt. id., Pali asaṃkheyya), innumerable. In Pali (see Childers s.v. kappo) as an adj., applied to kappa (see BHS kalpa), denotes a world-age of a certain extent; in some definitions at least, of a length intermediate between a mahā- and an antara-k°. Acc. to La Vallée Poussin, AbhidhK iii.188, asaṃkhyeya kalpa means here le temps que durent un nombre asaṃkhyeya (10 à la 59me puissance) de mahākalpas. I have not noted the Pali usage in the texts excerpted by me (but see Przyluski, Açoka, 408). Typical of their use of this adjective with kalpa is SP 17.8 asaṃkhyeyaiḥ kalpair asaṃkhyeyatarair vipulair aprameyair acintyair etc., in which asaṃkhyeya has its normal Skt. mg. of innumerable; (2) nt., a very high number: Mvy 7802; 7932 (cited from Gv); Gv 106.20; 134.5; SP 316.7; Sukh 31.2; Divy 245.11 tribhīr asaṃkhyeyair; 246.2; 254.3. asaṃkhyeya-parivarta, m. (Mvy) or nt. (Gv 134.6), square of prec. (2): Mvy 7803; 7933 (cited from Gv): Gv 106.20 (gen.); 134.6 °tam, n. sg.

asamjñin (= Pali asaññin), unconscious, only noted in the cpds. which follow; cf. also āsamjñika.

asamjñi-sattva (= Pali asañña-satta), having a nature that is free from consciousness, or acc. to CPD Unconscious Beings, n. of a class of gods (see s.v. deva), one (in Dharmas and LV the 4th) of the classes of rūpāvacara gods of the 4th dhyāna-bhūmi (missing in the other standard lists of gods, but required to make up the standard count of 18 classes of gods in BHS or 16 in Pali): Dharmas 128; LV 150.9; Divy 505.23 (see s.v. āsamjñika); in Mvy 2297 mentioned as an example of dwellers in the 9th and highest sattvāvāsa, but this is certainly an error; they belong in the 5th sattvāvāsa, see this word. This is confirmed AbhidhK. LaV-P. II.199 f., where the name is discussed, and it is said that they dwell in (a specially high part of) the brhathphala heaven.

asamjñi-samāpatti, f., also asamjñā, q.v., attainment of the state of those who are without consciousness (asamjñin, q.v.), or unconscious state of attainment: Mvy 1987; AbhidhK. LaV-P. II.200 f., with notes (it is lower than nirodha-samā). See also āsamjñika.

Asaṅḍasagunakirtidhvaja, n. of a Tathāgata: Gv 422.22.

a-saddadhāna, pres. m. pple. (MIndic for a-śradda°, which is a v.l. here), not believing: °no Mv II.338.10.

asadhā, read asādha? (see s.v. śādha), not tricky: in Mv II.63.15 (vs) read prob. asadh' (mss. cited as asadh') rjjubhūto.

Asanī (read Aśanī, devouring one?), n. of a piśāci: Māy 239.6; n. of a rākṣasi: Māy 243.19.

asantaka, adj. (a-santa-ka, cf. santaka); ka-extension of a-extension of Skt. asa(n)t, unreal: SP 281.9 (vs) asantakā dharma ime.

a-saṃdhi, in Lañk 160.11 ff. non-attachment = parimocana, release; neg. of saṃdhi, q.v., in the unusual sense of attachment, binding, which it has in this passage.

asamanta, m. (Mvy) or nt. (Gv 134.9), a high number: Mvy 7808; 7940 (here cited from Gv); Gv 106.22 (gen.); 134.9 °tam (n. sg.).

asamanta-parivarta, m. (Mvy) or nt. (Gv 134.10), square of prec.: Mvy 7809; 7941 (here cited from Gv); Gv 106.22 (gen.); 134.10 °tam (n. sg.).

a-samanvāharitvā (neg. ger. of samanvāharati; cf. °vāhṛtya), without giving thought to the matter; negligently: Mv II.97.10.

a-samanvāhāra, m. (cf. Pali asamannāhāra; neg. of samanvāhāra, q.v.), lack of concentration (with additional connotation of heedlessness, negligence): Divy 190.28 f.

a-samanvāhṛtya (neg. ger. of samanvāharati, q.v.; cf. °vāharitvā), without having concentrated the mind (by a special effort); in the phrase asamanvāhṛtyā rhatām (or, 'rhacchrāvaka-pratyekabuddhānām; or, śrāvaka-pratyekabuddhānām) jñānadarśanam na pravartate, without having concentrated the mind (by a special effort), the insight-into-truth of arhats (etc.) does not operate: Divy 84.6; 190.8; 313.10 etc.; Av I.244.16; 255.5.

asamaya-vimukta, adj. (= Pali °vimutta; opp. of samaya-vi°, q.v., with references), released finally, without term, absolutely: Mvy 1026.

asama-sama, adj. (= Pali id.), without a peer, unequalled, supreme (lit. having no equal like him? Müller, in Transl. of Sukh 9.16, equal to the unequalled): Mvy 6379; usually ep. of Buddhas or Bodhisattvas, LV 100.2; RP 4.12; Śikṣ 139.5; Sukh 9.16; of the five groups (skandha, 3) of factors in the development of dharma, Mvy 103; as n. of a former Buddha, Mv III.231.3 f.; as n. of a saṃādhi, Mvy 587 (text asamasamā, but Index °mo, and so Mironov) = ŚsP 1422.13 (°mo).

asamprakampin, adj. (= Pali asampak°; to sampra-kamp°; cf. samprakampana), not subject to shaking: Mv I.292.15 caturbhi vātehi asamprakampi.

a-samprakhyaṇa, nt. (neg. of saṃ°, q.v.), lack of clarity, obscurity, confusion: Mvy 2672 (follows saṃ°); 2478 = Tib. mi gsal ba (in a list of vices and faults). Note that samprakhyaṇa, q.v., is equated with a-saṃmoṣa, non-confusion, implying synonymy of saṃmoṣa and asamprakhyaṇa.

a-saṃprajanya, (1) nt. (neg. of saṃ°, q.v.; = Pali asampajañña), lack of intelligence or mindfulness (CPD, want of consideration or self-control): Dharmas 69 (one of the upakṣeṣa); Mvy 1978; Śikṣ 82.21 °nya-cārin, behaving with ...; 123.14 °nya-paratantra, subject to ...; (2) adj. (Bahuvrīhi), lacking in saṃprajanya: Śikṣ 108.8 muṣṭasrutīś cāpi asamprajanyo; °tā, state of being ...: KP 95.10 (eittavikṣepa)-asamprajanyatā-duṣprajñatā.

asamprajñāna, nt. (neg. to an unrecorded samprajñāna, from Skt. sam-pra-jñā), lack of perfect knowledge: Mvy 6893 = Tib. śes bzhiṅ ma yin pa.

a-samprabhīta, adv. °tam (neg. of ppp. of sampra-bhī, unrecorded), in an unterrified manner: Mv II.281.3 °tam ca viloketi (mss. °kesi).

a-saṃpramuṣita (neg. of ppp. of saṃpramuṣyate) (1) not deprived (of what is expressed by preceding member of cpd.): Mvy 803 -cittāsaṃpramuṣitāḥ; LV 275.6 sarva-dharma-dhāraṇya-saṃpramuṣitāḥ; (2) not taken away or not lost: Gv 521.17 asampramuṣitena smṛtibālādāhena.

Asampramoṣa, m., n. of a saṃādhi: Mvy 526; ŚsP 1416.22 (misprinted °modho); 1417.2. Cf. Bodhicittāsaṃpramoṣa. As common noun (neg. of Skt. sampramoṣa, disappearance, loss, see s.v. saṃpramuṣyate) the word hardly needs recording; it means non-disappearance, non-deprivation, non-loss, e. g. Mvy 785; 961; etc.

a-sampramoṣaṇa (nt.; cf. prec. two), the non-loss: Suv 103.6 smṛty-asampramoṣaṇāya, unto non-loss of memory or mindfulness.

a-sampravāṇa-tā (? neg. of saṃ plus pravāṇa, Pali poṇa), (state of being) not devoted to, bent upon (in comp.): Gv 525.12 kāyacittāsaṃpravāṇatayā (see s.v. anāyūha).

a-sampravedhana (nt.; to sampravedhati, q.v.), non-shaking, non-perturbation: Gv 463.22, cited Śikṣ 35.7 sarvaduḥkhāsaṃpravedhana-tayā, because of the state of not being subject to perturbation by any sorrow.

a-saṃpravedhin, adj. (= Pali asampa°; as prec.), not subject to shaking or perturbation: Mv II.300.5 (vs) acalo asampravedhi (n. sg. m.); 383.22 °vedhī (n. sg. m.).

Asaṃbhrāntavacana, n. of a former Buddha: Mv I.141.12.

asaṃmoṣa (m.; prob. Sktized from Pali asaṃmosa, neg. of sammosa, to mussati, historically connected with Skt. mṛṣyati; but acc. to CPD to Skt. root muṣ), non-confusion (synonym of samprakhyaṇa, clarity, q.v.): asaṃmoṣa-dharmāṇo Buddhā Bhagavantaḥ Divy 49.10; 50.21; 154.15; 178.6; 190.11; -jñāna-praveśāsaṃmoṣa-smṛti-vyūha-gato (2d ed. °garbho) nāma eṣa vimokṣaḥ Gv 524.12. Cf. next.

a-saṃmoṣaṇa-tā (cf. prec. and Pali asaṃmosana-rasa, CPD), state of having no (mental) confusion: LV 440.17 (smṛti-nidhānaṃ, sc. pratilapsyate) asaṃmoṣaṇa-tayā.

a-sahita, adj. (= Pali id.), not sensible, see sahita (1).

a-sahya, (1) adj. (in Skt. unendurable, insupportable; irresistible), that cannot be supported, and so in hopeless state, lost, of a ship doomed to destruction: Divy 229.17 asahyam vahanam; 502.14; (2) subst. (nt.), (what is insupportable), ill-health or bad luck (cf. sahya): Divy 258.16 sahyāsahyam prṣṭvā, having asked about good or bad health (fortune); (3) m., n. of a former Buddha (irresistible): Mv iii.237.8.

asahya-sāhin, adj. (only m. as epithet of a Buddha; = Pali asayha-sāhin, also so used), prob. enduring (or sustaining, accomplishing) what cannot be endured (accomplished, sc. by others); so the Pali comms. (e.g. on Pv ii.9.22) seem to take it; cf. Senart i n. 571, suggesting also the possibility conquering the unconquerable (but preferring the other): Mv i.255.16; 256.1 °sāhi (n. sg.), of Buddha; in Mv iii.109.19 read buddhasya asahyasāhino (for text °tāyino), with same verse in Pali Therag. 536 (asayhasā°).

a-sāmpreya, adj. (neg. of sām°, q.v.; = Pali asap-pāya), unfit, improper: Prāt 526.15, as quasi-subst., an improper thing: (garhaniyam... sthānam āpanno 'smy) asāmpreyam pratideśaniyam (in a formula of confession).

asāraka, adj. (= Pali id., Skt. asāra), unsubstantial, empty, worthless (see synonyms below): LV 242.15 and Suv 57.14, of the body (kāya); SP 282.1, read with WT asārakā for KN na sārakā, of conditions of existence (dharmāḥ); Mv ii.145.19 (sarvadharmam) riktakam tucchakam asārakam, empty, vain, unsubstantial; AsP 346. (9-10) (punyābhisamskāro bodhisattvasya... śūnyaka... riktaka)... tucchaka... asāraka ity evākyāyate; śāstrāṇi... °kāni (so, with n) Mv i.79.5 (vs), worthless (false) sciences (of the world). In some or all of these pejorative force may reside in the suffix -ka.

Asiccheda, n. of a hell (cf. Asipattra): Kv 50.3 °de mahānarakē.

asita, (1) adj. (black, and hence) inauspicious, offensive; so AMg. asiya = aśubha, Sheth, Ratnach.; not in Skt. or Pali: LV 327.8 (vs) na ca jara asitā, and (while) there is no offensive old age (so Tlb, mi śis, normally = aśubha); (2) adj. (= Pali id.; a-sita), unfettered, free: of Buddha, MPS 12.9; MSV i.12.14; (3) m. (= Pali id.), n. of a well-known sage, 'the Buddhist Simeon': LV 101.1 ff. (his story told); 253.1, 15; Mv ii.30.13 ff. (his story; in 37.13' called Kāla (5), q.v., if Senart is right); 144.8; 151.12; he was the maternal uncle of Nālaka, q.v., Mv iii.382.16; Divy 391.6; (4) n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.18; (5) m. or nt., n. of a plant, as var. in mss. for āsītakī, q.v.

Asitabhānu, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.139.5.

Asidharā, n. of a rākṣasi: Māy 241.33.

(asipattra, occurs as n. of a hell in Skt., see Schmidt's Nachträge, and in Mmk 115.1 °ttre; presumably = the commoner asipattravana = Skt. id., Pali °patta°, sword-leaf-wood, e.g. Mmk 635.23; in this the trees have swords as leaves, which the wind blows down on those who live in it, Mv i.7.8.)

Asimuśaladharā, n. of a rākṣasi: Māy 243.32.

Asurakā, n. of a pool near Nirati, the city of the Kīṃnaras: Mv ii.111.5.

Asuradeva, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.141.2.

Asuranemin, n. of a maharṣi: Māy 256.29. Cf. Suranemin.

Asuraprāmbhāra (I read °prāgbhāra?), n. of a mountain: Māy 253.34.

Asura-lipi, n. of a kind of script: LV 126.3 (confirmed by Tlb. lha ma yin = asura).

Asurendrā, n. of a kīṃnara-maid: Kv 6.21.

asecana, adj. (Pali id., CPD; = next; partly m.c.? § 22.24), delightful, blissful: (of salvation) Mv iii.421.19 adhiḡacchatī (mss. °anti) padaṃ śāntaṃ asecanam ca mocanam (°nakaṃ would be unmetrical); manāpāsecana- Mv iii.66.4-5 (prose).

asecanaka, adj. (= Pali id.; in BHS also asecaniya, asecana; and āsec°, qq.v.; etym. uncertain, cf. Tlb. below), charming, pleasing, almost always, as in Pali, of sights (particularly of the appearance of persons, notably a Buddha) or sounds: Mvy 392 asecanako rūpeṇa (of Tathāgatas) = Tlb. sku byad bīta bas chog mi śes pa (chog śes pa = content), having beauty of form which one cannot be satiated with looking at, perhaps analyzing a-plus a form of secayati cause to drip, saturate, and so saltate; but I find no such meaning recorded for secayati or any relative. See CPD on Pali exegesis. Often associated with apratikūla, not repulsive, of both sights and sounds: asecanaka-darśana, of lovely aspect, of Buddhas LV 427.20; Mv iii.259.17; Divy 226.27; 251.21; 547.12; of a stūpa Divy 23.13; of the ocean, as compared to a park Gv 194.21 (mahodyānam... mahāsāgaram iva...) asecanaka-darśanam (1st ed. asevanaka°); foll. by apratikūla, darśanāye (or °ya), fair and lovely to see, of Buddhas Mv iii.64.10; 379.9; 407.8; 425.8; °nako (both edd. °kā-) rūpeṇa, of an emperor Gv 333.19; pañcā °secanakā darśanena, hastī nāgaś ca rājā ca sāgaraś ca śiloccayo °secanakā darśanena, Buddhas ca bhagavatām vara iti Divy 334.15-16; of sounds, (ghoṣo...) manojñāḥ asecanakaḥ apratikūlaḥ śravaṇāya Mv iii.226.17; 229.3; almost the same Sukh 36.1; 38.6; asecanakaś ca... apratikūlaś ca, of Buddha's voice Mv iii.343.1; (mahāpṛthivī... kampe, or kampakayati...) ullokanīyam ca asecanakam (so, or asecanīyam, q.v., mss.; Senart sometimes em. āsec°) ca apratikūlaṃ ca (adverbs: in an admirable, charming, unrepellent way) Mv i.207.1 = ii.10.11; iii.341.8 (of the quaking of the earth).

asecaniya, adj. (= asecanaka, q.v.), charming, pleasing, of sounds (śabdāḥ) LV 52.7; 411.10 (here several mss. asecanakā); and v.l. (one ms.) °yam for asecanakam, adv., Mv i.207.1 = ii.10.11.

Askhalitapravaraṅgra, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.137.8.

astamgama (m.; = Pali atthamgama, used as synonym of nirodha, as in LV; not in Skt., which has astamgamana, setting, of heavenly bodies, disappearance, cessation: LV 263.(12-13) jātījarāmaraṇasambhāvānām astamgamāya (v.l. °gamanāya).

astambhin, adj. (= BHS and Pali acchambhin, q.v.), not paralyzed with fear, not frightened: LV 84.14 asamtrastah, astambhi; 318.12 anuttrasto °stambhi adīno °linah.

I asti, (there, it) is: (1) alone or with nāma, in strong asseverations: Mv ii.145.15 (also 18, etc.), in response to a question, I hope you don't see any bodily affliction, etc.: asti tāta śarīre pratipīḍam paśyāmi, I do indeed (I certainly do) see affliction in the body! etc.; iii.440.7 (without preceding question) asti nāma tvam mohapurūṣo, you are most certainly a man of delusion! (in response to a question, as in Mv ii.145.15) Jm 17.12 asti deva kīmcid aham api... samanumarāmi, O yes indeed, my lord, I too have some remembrance...; Mv i.346.20 and 347.8

(and 1.346.13 where text erroneously api for asti) asti nāma tvam... adinnam anyātakam śālm ādiyasi, you most certainly are taking ...; (2) in Divy 424.27 astī khalu me (printed as a complete sentence): ?perhaps I have it! = I know what I have to do! (followed by: pūrvam rājño 'śokasya gṛhadvāram anuprāptaḥ); (3) as prior member of noun cpds. (Pali also atthi-dhamma, -bhāva, and natthi^o): asti-dharma, m., condition of being, and asti-nāsti-bhāva, condition of being and not being: LV 393.7 (vs) na ca punar iha kaścid astidharmaḥ, so 'pi na vidyati yasya nāstibhāvāḥ, (8) ... tasya na bhoṭ' iha asti-nāsti-bhāvāḥ.

2 asti, noun (f.?), property, goods, only in comp. with parityāga or gin: Gv 332.21 sarvāstiparityāgatayā, by the process of giving away all property (to beggars); 333.24 sarvāstiparityāgi; 540.6 sarvāstiparityāgena.

asthāna, nt. (= Pali aṭṭhāna), opp. sthāna (4, 5), q.v., (1) an impossibility, generally followed by a clause introduced by yat: LV 232.17 asthānam etad... yat kumāro aprāpya bodhiṃ punar iha āgameyā, it is impossible that the prince should return here without having attained enlightenment; Av II.4.6; often followed by the synonym anavakāśo (yat...), as in Pali aṭṭhānam (etaṃ) anavakāśo: Gv 498.5; Divy 174.1; 207.9; 264.5; 270.13-14; Dbh 25.14; Lañk 198.9 asthānam anavakāśam cōktaṃ; in cpd. sthānāsthāna, possibilities and impossibilities, sound and unsound propositions or conclusions, Bbh 4.8; Mv 1.134.12 sarvakarmesu nānāsthānāsthānakuśalāḥ clever in regard to various sound and unsound conclusions (or, possibilities and impossibilities) in dealing with all actions; sthānāsthāna-jñāna (Pali ṭhānatṭhāna-jñāna), knowledge of..., the first of the 10 bala of a Tathāgata, Mvy 120; Dharmas 76; LV 433.4; (2) impropriety (this is closer to Skt. usage, BR and pw); in Mv 1.101.7 read asthānato for mss. asthānanto (Senart em. asthānatāye, unmetr.) from (because of) non-place, non propriety, impropriety, see s.v. asthānatā.

asthāna-tā, impropriety (cf. asthāna 2): Mv 1.101.2 kevaṭṭakāni karmāni asthānatāye na samupacaranti, what actions do they refrain from performing, because (such actions) are improper? Senart omits na, which mss. read, and so misunderstands the sentence (pp. xxx and 455). Below in 1.7 read asthānato, see asthāna.

asthi-bheda, m., acc. to pw 7 App., Knochenbruch; but rather pain in the bones, n. of a kind of disease: in lists of diseases, Bhik 17a.2; Mvy 9525 = Tib. rus pa la zug pa, or, rus pa zugs pa; Chin. also bone-pain.

asthi-yantira, skeleton, in phrase asthiyantravad ucchrita, of pretas: Divy 7.20; 8.19; MSV 1.59.20; Av 1.243.9 (Féer se dressant comme un squelette).

asthi-śakalā, śaṅkalā, śamkalikā, śakalikṛta, śamkalibhūta (Pali aṭṭhi-samkhalā, ṭṭhikā, see CPD), (made, become) a skeleton: śaṅkalā, thrice in Kalpanāmaṇḍitīkā, see Lüders, Kl. Skt. Texte 2, 42; śamkalikā Mv 1.21.9 ('kāḥ, v.l. sakal'), parivarjyanti nirmānsā snāyu-samyuktāḥ; 22.2 ('kāyo, mss. (aṭṭhi-samkalā, ṭṭhikā; but in AMg. the words for chain, saṅkala, ṭā, ṭṭhiyā (surely related to Skt.

śṛṅkhālā) have k for kh, presumably by influence of AMg. saṅkala = Skt. saṅkalita, united etc. (cf. also Pkt. saṅkalaṇa, Skt. ṇa), and the BHS words here treated might have a like origin. It is significant that BHS, like AMg., seems clearly to have śaṅkalā and saṅkalā, qq.v., chain.

asthi-samghāta, m. (= Pali aṭṭhi-sam^o), heap of bones, skeleton: Divy 61.21 yatra kāśyapasya bhikṣor asthisamghāto 'vikopitas tiṣṭhati; 61.24; 76.27; 465.25.

asthi-samjñā (= Pali aṭṭhika-saññā), (contemplation of) the notion of a skeleton; one of the aśubha-bhāvanā or -samjñā, q.v.: Mvy 1164; Bhik 27a.3; ŚsP 59.15; 1258.7 (here corruptly asmi!).

Asthisena (= Pali Aṭṭhisena; and the 'correct' Skt. form prob. Arṣṭiṣeṇa, cf. CPD), n. of a purohita's son, previous incarnation of the Buddha: Mv III.418.19 ff. (called a vanipaka).

Asthisenasya jātakaṃ (colophon), see prec., n. of a jātaka (= Pali Jāt. 403): Mv III.420.5.

asthikṛtya, ger. (= Pali atthikatvā, ṭvāna), paying careful heed to: Mvy 1809. The Pali form is taken by comm. and modern exegetes as for arthikṛtvā. Our form might be a false Sktization of this. But Tib. rus śiñ ltar ḥdzin pa, taking hold in persevering (rus śiñ; but lit. bone-like? rus pa, bone) fashion (alternatively, ched cher ḥdzin pa, taking hold more and more, with intensity). Is the resemblance of rus śiñ to rus (pa) bone a mere coincidence? There is, however, a v.l. āsthi^o, which suggests derivation from a form of āsthā; cf. āsthi.

a-sparśa-vihāra, m. (cf. sparśa-vihāra-tā; = Pali aphāsu-vihāra), discomfort: AsP 253.9 na cāsyā asparśavihāra amanaāpāḥ kāye utpadyeta.

[asmi-samjñā, ŚsP 1258.7, read asthi-samjñā, q.v.] asya, also syā, apparently particle of emphasis; acc. to Senart on Mv 1.45.1, = Skt. svid, Pali su (also assu). (Note that PTSD s.v. su^o derives this not only from Skt. svid but also from Skt. sma, for which it there states that Pali also has sa and assa; but neither of these forms is cited in their proper places in PTSD; Andersen, Reader, Glossary s.v. sudam, also mentions sa and assa as occurring for Skt. sma but does not list them; PTSD s.v. assu cites once assa as v.l. for assu; otherwise I have no record of Pali (as)sa as a particle.) In mss. of Mv anya or anyam is sometimes read for asya: evam asya syāt Mv 1.45.1, 5, 9, 12; kim asya nāma 1.343.4; tasya sya dharmā 1.292.1; kim sya nāma, and kena sya nāma, 1.346.8 and 9, 15 and 16; 347.3.

?aha, interj. of grief or objurgation (such a form may have existed in Pali, see PTSD s.v.; cf. Skt. and Pali ahaha and aho), oh! fie!: prob. read aha bhoḥ Mv 1.8.1 (Senart em. ahaha bhoḥ).

ahamghāta, m., in Kv 94.23 apparently self-slayer, suicide; text seems corrupt: ye māṭapitrghātakā ahamghāta stūpabhedakā-s (so printed); ahamghāta can hardly be part of the cpd. stūpabhedakā-s; should we read ahamghātakāḥ, assuming accidental omission of the syllable kāḥ?

a-hasita-keśa, adj. Bhvr. (a-hasita, neg. of Pali hāsita = Skt. hr̥ṣita, of hair), with hair not standing on end; so read with mss. Mv II.44.10 (Senart em. sahita-keśa); one of the anuvyaṭṭjana of the Buddha.

ahārya-hāriṇī, said of a river, acc. to Speyer carrying away rocks or boulders: Av 1.235.11 sā ca nadi ah^o śighrasrotās te ca mṛgā durbalāḥ. Perhaps rather, (capa-

? ahr̥svara, m. or nt., or adj., (making) a piteous sound, lament(ing); in Mv ii.43.3, 6; 45.17 the mss. almost unanimously read ahr̥svaraṃ (or °rā; once one ms. ahr̥s-varā) krandamānā(h), crying piteously, of hell-inhabitants. I cannot explain the form (it could be an adverb); but Senart's violent em. bhīśmasvaram is unconvincing, even to himself (see his note).

ākalana (not in Pali, very rare in Skt., see pw 5 and 6 App.), in Bbh 251.8 paravādibhir ākalanānuyogo, an activity of Bodhisattvas, perhaps regular practice (see anuyoga) of investigation (? careful consideration) by reason of (? under the stimulus of) opposing teachers.

ākaluṣa, adj. somewhat turbid: Jm 145.14 °śā kṛṣā ca (arthasiddhiḥ).

ākappa (m.), probably = Pali ākappa in sense of behavior, deportment (PTSD): Gv 22.20 (prose) vividhākalpēyāpathānām... manuṣyāṇām, men of various deportment and behavior (see īryāpatha 4); and 22.24 nāneryāpathākalpavihāriṇām (janakāyam). (The meaning adornment attributed to this word in Skt surely does not fit.)

ākāṅkṣati, °te (cf. kāṅkṣati, kāṅkṣā; in Skt. only desires, and so app. Pali ākāṅkhati), doubts: Mv i.165.3 ākāṅkṣamānā... vipaṇḍitā sattvā na jānanti... sukham samādhim, creatures that are doubting and ignorant do not know bliss or concentration; perhaps Lañk 14.19 (pracalita-maulin) yad-yad evākāṅkṣasi ahaṃ te tasya-tasyaiva praśnasya vyākaranena, (O chief of confused ones,) what-ever you are doubtful about, by explaining every such question to you I (etc.) (otherwise Suzuki); Sukh 99.6 is interpreted by the ed. as mākāṅkṣayatha (i. e. mā āk°) mama ca teṣāṃ ca buddhānām... and have no doubt both of me and of these Buddhas; but it could as well be mā kāṅkṣayatha (= kāṅkṣatha). (Also desires as in Skt., e. g. Mv i.158.14.)

Ākāṅkṣitamukha, m. pl., n. of a group of Bodhisattvas in Sukhāvati: Kv 13.23.

Not in Pali, which uses āgantuka (= Skt.) instead as pendant to gamika (q.v.): Mvy 8748, Tib. hoṅs pa, arrival. Note that 8746 also has āgantuka, defined Tib. blo bur du hoṅs pa, sudden arrival.

āgamyā (orig. ger. of ā-gam; = Pali āgama, in both mgs.), with acc., with reference to, patrinā ā° Divy 269.16; (much more commonly) owing to, because of, on account of, thanks to, (kalyāṇamitrāṇy) ā° Mv 1.243.13; kalyāṇamitrām Av i.210.11; 211.14; Mālinī Mv i.313.5; Bhagavantam Divy 95.10; 97.18; 309.29; -bodhisattvam Śīkṣ 91.6; Devadattam SP 259.3, 6; tau śramaṇerāv Divy 404.25; tat sarvam imaṃ markāṭam āgamyā Divy 350.17 all that is owing to this ape (so mss., ed. wrongly em. āgamyāt); yam Divy 173.16; 175.25; -svāgatam Divy 188.6; tam Divy 514.23; tvām Divy 129.25; 549.21; tava (as acc.) āgādha-tara, adj. compv. (to Pali āgālha; cf. next, and samāgādha-tara), more serious (of evils): SP 227.6-7 °taraṃ pāpakaṃ karma; very serious SP 483.2 (same phrase).

āgādhi-karoti, fut. °karīṣyāmi (cf. prec. and Pali āgālha), I will make firm or strong: Mvy 6997 = Tib. dam por (or, sra bar) byed pa; the alternative Tib. renderings daṅ por (or, dra bar) byed pa seem to be corruptions.

āgāmika, adj. (Skt. Lex.; no literary occurrence found, tho not marked * in pw; cf. Skt. āgāmin, future) of or pertaining to the future (opp. to sāmdrṣṭika, q.v.): Mv ii.405.16 (vs) mā āgāmike viḥanyāhi hitvā sāmdrṣṭikam phalam, do not be subject to disappointment in regard to future (fruit), abandoning visible (actual, of the present life) fruit (reward). Senart's note is wrong.

āgāra, (1) m., a high number: °raḥ Mvy 7831 = Tib. yid yal; cited from Gv, but Gv 133.1 reads magāra; see also agāra; (2) see stry-āgāra.

āgārika (m., perh. also adj.; = Pali id., see CPD s.v. āgārika, a form not noted in BHS), householder, one living in worldly life: Divy 275.17 na bhikṣuṇā āgārikasya purastād iḍḍhir vidarsayitavyā; MSV 1.248.19; in Bbh 26.13, in comp., pravrajitasya āgārika-vicitra-vyāsaṅga-duḥkha-nirmokṣāt, could be either n., householder, or adj., of the householder's life.

Āguhyakādhipati, m. = (and prob. wrong reading for) Guhyakādhipati, q.v., ep. of Vajrapāṇi and styled lord of yakṣas (yakṣendra): Mmk 25.12 evam ukta Āguḥ° patinā.

āgrhita (= Pali aggahita; cf. an-āg° and āgraha), held back = niggardly; āgrhita cetasā (cf. Pali anagga-hita-citta) Divy 291.3; 298.11; Av i.173.12; 174.7; nāgrhita-cittatayāvasṛjan Śīkṣ 28.7, releasing (gifts) without niggardliness of heart; āgrhita-parīṣkāra, having utensils held back, stingy with objects, Divy 302.3; Av i.250.16; and repeatedly in a cliché with matsarin and kuṭukucāka, see the latter for references.

āgneya, (1) nt., fiery (jewel), n. of a kind of gem: Mv ii.296.8 (vs) āgneyamaṇīnām (mss. agneya°) yā ābhā gagane vidyutāna vā; Gv 499.23 (prose) āgneyam nāma mahāmaṇiratnam sarvatamo'ndhakāraṃ vidhamati; (2) m., with jaṭila (cf. Pali aggika), fire-worshipping, a kind of ascetic: MPS 40.51 (v.l. ag°).

Āgneyī, so doubtless read for text Agneyī, n. of a mātar, the śakti of Agni: Māy 242.19.

āgrathita, perh. ppp. to Skt. ā with gra(n)th, wrapped up (?): Mmk 145.(22-23) khadirakāṣṭhāir agniṃ prajvālya, paṭasyāgrataś caturhastapramāṇam āgrathitaḥ āhutiṃ sahasrāṣṭam (read °tām?) juhuyāt (etc.).

āgraha (presumably m.; cf. āgrhita), niggardliness, holding back (from giving): SP 257.1 (after long description of how the Bodhisattva gave away everything, even his life) na ca me kadācid āgrahacittam utpannam, and I never conceived a thought of holding back (wrongly Burnouf and Kern); Av i.174.5 (vs; after 4 nādatvā paribhuñjīran na syur matsariṇas tathā), na caṣaṃ āgraha cittam utpa-dyeta kadācana, and there would never arise for them a thought of holding back (from giving). As Speyer points out in his Index to Av, KSS 90.22 probably contains the word āgrahaṇa with niggardliness, holding back from giving; but this mg. has not been recognized; the ordinary Skt. usage is not quite the same.

? āgrivāṇiya, pl. °yā, represents some word for a tradesman or artisan; so Senart with mss. at Mv iii.113.10; corresponds to aṭṭiyānika or °vānika (q.v.) at 442.15.

āglāyati, āglāy° (= Pali āglāyati), gets weary: Mv iii.206.3 mā ... āglāyatu (mss. āgīrā°; Senart em. crāyatu, clearly wrongly). See also āvilāyati.

āghātana, equated by Tib. with nimitta, mark, sign, as boundary: teṣām °nānām MSV iv.93.4 ff.

āghaṭṭana (presumably nt.; cf. Skt. āghaṭṭanā), scrapping, running aground upon (submarine rocks, of a ship), with gen.: Divy 229.24 antarjalagatānām parvatānām āghaṭṭana-bhayaṃ (said in reference to ships).

āghatana, prob. m.c. for āghātana (= Pali āghātana, in same sense, Skt. id. slaughter-house, so also in Pali), place of execution (of criminals): SP 449.7 (vs) saci āghatane (2 mss. āghātane, unmetr.) upasthito. In LV 207.3 ed. āghātana, but see s.v. āghātin.

āgharate (Skt. Dhātup. only, gharati; Vedic jigharti, with ā- in different mg.), drips: Śikṣ 82.6 (vs) kakṣāsv āgharate svedo. Tib. cited as ḥdzag, drip.

āghāta, m. (= Pali id.), malicious feeling, anger, hatred: Mvy 210.4 (Tib. kun nas mnar sems pa, inaccurately, very tormented spirit); Mv i.79.15 āghāta-bahulās ca bhavanti (a cause of backsliding of Bodhisattvas); Av ii.129.3 yo 'bhūt sattveṣv āghātaḥ sa prativigataḥ (anger had characterized the person referred to); Bbh 161.12 āghāta-cittāḥ pratigha-citto vā; Karmav 27.17 mā te bhaviṣyati āghātaś cakṣāntīś ca.

āghātana, see āghatana; in this sense MSV iv.64.2. āghātayati (°teti; denom. from āghāta, q.v.; = Pali āghāteyyi, with cittam and loc.), with cittam, hardens one's heart against, cherishes hatred for, with loc.: Mv iii.56.3 mahākāśyape cittam āghāteṭvā; Śikṣ 188.9-10 cittam nāghātayitavyam (no loc.).

āghātin, adj.-subst. (from āghāta slaying with -in), murderous (person), murderer: LV 207.3 (vs) āghātinā (so read with all mss. but one which omits the syllable ti; Lefm. em. °tana, wrongly) iva vadhyāḥ, like murderers to be executed. In Ud ix.16 ms. āghātināḥ could possibly stand for āghātināḥ, but more likely read āghāvināḥ with Chakravartī.

Āngīrasa (cf. Āngīrasa), ep. of Buddha: Mvy 77 = Tib. fil maḥi rgyud, (of the) family of the sun; MSV i.274.4. ācāriya, m. (= Pali id.; MIndic for Skt. ācārya), teacher; only in vss of most texts, but in prose Mv ii.87.12 °rīyo; in vss, m.c., ācāriya(h) LV 125.5; lokācāriyāna (gen. pl.) SP 59.5; °riyāḥ 118.1; °rīyeḥ 374.3 (note below in 374.7, vs, ācārya-bhūmau).

ācāryaka, f. °ikā (as subst. = Pali ācāriyaka, teacher; Skt. ācārya plus -ka), (1) adj. of a teacher: °ryakam padam avāpa, attained the station of a teacher Jm 2.5-6 (sakalāsu kalāsv); 142.16 (teṣv, sc. dharmasāstreṣu); (2) subst. teacher, esp. in Bhvr. cpds., as SP 81.1 (prose) svayambhujñānam anācāryakam jñānam, ... that needs no teacher; LV 377.14 svayam-ācāryakam jñānam, that is self-instructing, acts itself as teacher; Av i.193.8 saccāryakāni tāni kulāni; but also as separate word Bhik 10b.3 ācāryike (voc.) and 4 °yikām (acc.), both fem.; ācāryakatvam Bbh 226.16 (prose) teacherhood, state of being a teacher (bodhisattvamāge).

ācārya-muṣṭi, m. or f. (= Pali ācāriya-muṭṭhi), close-fistedness of a teacher, keeping things (particularly instruction) back from pupils: Mvy 6525 = Tib. slob dpon gyi dpe mkhyud (so also Tib. on KP) a teacher's refusing to lend books; LV 179.12 °ti-vigato (preceded by: dharmadānenāmatsarah); KP 1.4 dharmācāryamuṣṭim, cf. 1.11 (vs) ācāryamuṣṭim ... dharme; Bbh 41.28 na ca pareṣām °tīm karoti; 106.18 nācāryamuṣṭim dharmeṣu karoti; 363.14.

ācīkṣati (cf. also abhy-ā-; hyper-Skt. based on Pali ācikkhati, AMg āikkhai, under influence of Epic Skt. ācākṣati; the Pali forms are ignored in Geiger's Index; Pischel 492 considers the Pkt. forms redupl. from Skt. root khyā, while Ratnach. derives āikkhai from ā-cakṣ, abbhāikkhai from both -khyā and -cakṣ. There is no doubt that BHS abhy-ā-cikṣ- is associated with the noun abhyākhyāna; Pali has equivalents of both; and I believe with Pischel that the whole group is based primarily on khyā; but at least in BHS it is blended with cakṣ; Skt. ā-cakṣ and ā-khyā are synonyms), tells, says, only in Mv: °ati i.243.6; 244.6 (em.); ii.408.7; 463.19; 464.17; 486.14; iii.74.16; 125.17; 132.16; 149.10; 164.15, etc.; °anti ii.132.3; impv. °a ii.57.17; 58.15; °āhi iii.192.13; °atha iii.72.16; fut. °iṣyāmi iii.74.3 (em.), 8; °iṣyam iii.258.13 ff.; °iṣyati iii.256.12; °iṣyanti 1.272.5; ppp. °ita i.355.2, 5; ii.73.14; 178.6; iii.40.4; gḍve. °itavya ii.73.13; iii.256.12. Note ācīkṣanti Mv ii.132.3, in a passage where all other texts incl. Mv i.228.7 have ācaksate; but Pali ācikkhanti.

ācinati (= Pali id.) = Skt. ācnoti, accumulates: Ud xvii.5, pūryati bālo pāpēna stokastokam pi ācinam (= ācinan; text unmetr. ācinam; Pali Dhp. 121 correctly ācinam; n. sg. m. pres. pple.).

ācīrna-danḍa-tā (v.l. acīrna°, so Mironov without v.l., but a- seems impossible), practise (or occupation) of wielding a club: Mvy 3812 = Tib. dbug pa good pa, app. wielding a club; Chin. seems to mean use by a horseback-rider or messenger of a stick in driving his horse. The next word in Mvy is dūṭaḥ, messenger.

ācūṣayati (cf. Skt. cūṣayati and ācūṣaṇa), sucks up or in: °yanti Sādh 125.12 (svarān); 149.14 (makarandam).

āchāda, m. (cf. the following items), gift, present (not necessarily a garment!); Mv ii.98.3 lubdhakena vipulo āchādo (a rich reward) labdho; iii.128.10 vipulo āchādo dinno; 162.16 teṣām āchādām dāsyāmi (here gold minted and unminted, and garments, lines 14, 15); food, bhaktāchādēna (Speyer em. °chādanena; not food and dress but a gift of food) paripālanam kariṣyati Av ii.112.7; dharmāchādā, a pious or religious gift, SP 445.12 (dāsyāmo ... avalokiteśvarāya ...) dharmaprābhṛtam dharmāchādām (note āchāda as synonym of prābhṛta! the gift given was a necklace, muktāhāra, 446.1, again called dharmāchādā 446.2); LV 352.5 f. dharmāchādāmś ca sampreṣayanti sma (by which, yair dharmāchādair, the universe became covered with many jewelled parasols).

āchādāna, nt. = prec. (cf. next), gift, present (not necessarily clothes): LV 58.2 āchādānāni codgrhya; this vs deals with the same events described in prose 58.6 sampravāryāchādānāni ca dattvā (clothes might, but need not necessarily, be meant); Mv iii.177.16 -pauruseyā veṣṭetavyā (see veṣṭeti) bhojanāchādānena sarveḥ ca utsaveḥi samanvāharitavyā; Bbh 115.7 kaścit pareṣām bhaktāchādānaheṭoḥ dāsabhāvam upagacchet; 269.24 tasyāham ucitam vā bhaktāchādānam samucchetsyāmi ..., I will deprive him of his customary gift of food; bhaktāchādāna MSV i.51.22. (Some take bhojanāch°, bhaktāch° as dvandvas, food and clothing; while perhaps not impossible, this seems to me unlikely.)

āchādayati (Skt. id. and Pali acchādeti used of presenting with clothes, only, so far as appears; in BHS also used of presents of clothes, but extended to other kinds of gifts; see āchāda, °dana), presents, with instr., rarely acc., of thing given, which may be garments, Divy 29.6, 9 (vastrair āchāditaḥ); 89.18 (bhikṣuḥ ... vastreṇāchāditaḥ); 254.23 (navena paṇenāchāditaḥ); Av i.32.5 (vastreṇāchādya); 43.2 (vastreṇāchāditaḥ); or the price of a garment, Prāt 492.14 (civara-cetanakair ...) bhikṣum āchādayiṣyāmi; but also gold, Mv iii.38.12 prabhūtam ca hiranyasuvarṇam āchādayanti (recipient not mentioned); life, Divy 136.18-19 ko mā ... aśaraṇam iṣṭena jīvitēnāchādayed iti; 137.12, 13 jīvitēnāchādāya, °dayitum; Av i.236.10 jīvitēnāchāditaḥ(h); 300.17 °ditaḥ; a gift of villages, Divy 445.9 (sa ca lubdhāḥ) pañcagṛāmavareṇāchāditaḥ.

āchāya, m. (Prakritic for āchāda, q.v.), gift, present: Mv iii.449.12 vipulo (mss. vipulena, but see the same phrase s.v. āchāda) āchāyo dinno.

āchindana(-tā), (cf. Pali acchindana), breaking, violation, in an-ā, non-violation: Śikṣ 126.15 guruva-nānavamardanatayā paravacanānāchindanatayā cādeya-grāhyavacano bhavati.

āchodita (°), ppp. (for āchorita, cf. Skt. āchurita, KSS, scratched, drawn?), set, inlaid (with strings of jewels): SP 151.9 (prose) suvarṇasūtrāchoditam (buddhakṣetram). So both edd., but with only 1 ms. (KN); the others 'āchādita covered. However, Tib. bris pa (acc. to WT), scratched, drawn, inscribed (if connected with hbri ba), would seem to support this reading.

ājanya, also ājāniya, ājānya, ājāniya, ājāneya, adj. (= Pali ājāṇṇa, ājāniya, ājāniya, ājāneyya), of noble race, blooded, primarily of animals, esp. horses; by extension used of men, esp. Buddhas and Bodhisattvas, and very rarely (meaning noble) of other, inanimate entities. Tib. (e.g. Mvy 1080, 4769, etc.) regularly renders cañ śes (pa), omniscient, falsely interpreting the word as derived from jñā know. In composition, the word in all its forms regularly (not always) follows the noun, e.g. aśvājāneya, a blooded horse (orig. perhaps a thoroughbred of a horse?), below. As separate word: of animals, yo aśvavaram damayed ājāneyan (= °yam) va saindhavam Ud xix.7; ājāneyā hayottamāḥ Mv ii.487.20; iii.22.11; cf. yuktāni ājānyarathāni Mv iii.441.10 chariots (of drawn by) blooded (horses), all hitched up; ājāneyau dvau balivardhāv LV 381.7; ājāniyo hastipoto Mv iii.130.7 (prose, no v.l.); of men, ājāneyānām sattvānām Gv 322.8; 'neyaḥ Mvy 1080, of śrāvakas; 'neya ity ucyate LV 425.19, of the Tathāgata; ājāneyo kahn ti nāma (so Senart em., mss. kāma) bhoṭi Mv iii.397.14, answered by ... ājāneyo (v.l. °ya) tam (Senart em. ti tam) āhu bhūripajāṇā (mss. °jāo) 398.12; voc. ājanya, addressed to Buddha, namas te muktāyājanya Mmk 4.22; cf. Divy 617.16 ājāneya-mānā, paying reverence to the Noble One (the Buddha); in KP 9.5 and 10.5 dāntājāneya-prāpta; 9.14; 10.17 and 20 ājānya-prāpta, all of Bodhisattvas (cf. 10.1 ājāneyā bodhisattvāḥ), become noble (steeds), see s.v. prāpta; the figure of a horse is surely intended here, since there is contrast with KP 9.1 bodhisattva-khaṇḍukāḥ, the latter (q.v.) being a term pertaining in its literal sense to horses; here may also belong Mv ii.264.14 ājāneya-vikrāntam vikramantam, said of the Bodhisattva, striding with the stride of a blooded horse, or of a noble person (cf. the next following mahāpuruṣavikrāntam vikr°), but possibly striding with a noble stride (cf. the preceding aparājītavikrāntam vikr°), as in the next example; as prior member of karmadhāraya cpds. or bahuvrīhis based on them, occasionally noble, distinguished, in application to other than animate beings: cataśra imā ... ājāneya-gatayo bodhisattvenānugantavyāḥ RP 14.13, noble procedures (listed as sugatipratilābha, guruśūśrūṣaṇā, prāntaśayyāsanābhīrati, pratibhānapratilābha; is the literal meaning gaits of a blooded horse?); ājāneya-svaraḥ Mv iii.343.5 could, then, also be taken as having a noble sound (ep. of the Buddha's voice), but in view of the preceding vṛṣabhasvaraḥ and the following krauñcasvaraḥ it probably means having the sound of a blooded (horse) and belongs above; once, at least, this adj. precedes in composition the name of the animal to which it is applied, ājāneya-hasty-upetān Śikṣ 26.14; but regularly this order is reversed (as in such cpds. as nara-śārdūla) and we find aśvājāneya, m. (lit. thoroughbred of a horse) Mvy 4773 (misunderstood pw s.v. ājāneya); Divy 510.21, 22; 511.1 ff.; Mv ii.270.11 (mss.); Gv 400.13; Śikṣ 28.3 (ms. aśvāyāneyān); bhadrāśvājāneya-Sukh 60.8-9; hastyājāneya Mvy 4771; Gv 400.12; Śikṣ 27.21; śimhājāneya Mvy 4769; and (cf. above, and Pali purisājāneyya) by extension purisājāneya (the corruptions puruṣājāneya and °śajāna occur in mss. and sometimes in edd.) LV 350.11, corresponds to Mv i.229.8; Mv ii.133.8; 284.18; in Mv i.316.4 ed. em. puruṣājāniyam, mss. corrupt, reading doubtful; puruṣājāneya Mv iii.109.5 (vs); Bbh 50.6 (voc., to the Buddha).

ājavamjava (m. or nt.), coming and going, moving to and fro (in the samsāra): Mvy 5393 °va- (Mironov ājāvam°, but v.l. text) samāpannaḥ = Tib. hoṅ ba dañ hgro bar (coming and going) gyur ba; LV 205.12 (lokasya, people) ... ājavamjavasamāpannasyāsmāḥ lokāt param lokam paralokād imam lokam samdhāvataḥ samsarataḥ. See next two items. The word contains double forms of java or at least the root ju but its precise formation is not clear to me; is ājāva moving swiftly hither, and java hastening away? For the preceding part of this cliché see s.v. guṇāvagunṭhitabhūta; but the Pali correspondent does not contain ājavamjava°, at least in most of its occurrences.

ājavamjava-tā = prec.: Buddhacarita xii.41 °tām hitvā prāpnoti padam akṣaram (Johnston's rushing torrent of birth and death seems to me not quite accurate, but obviously the samsāra is meant).

ājavamjavibhāva, m. (see prec. two), state of moving restlessly to and fro (in the samsāra): MadhK 218.4 °bhāvena janmamaraṇaparamparayā samsaraṇam syāt; 529.1 ya ājavamjavibhāva upādāya pratītya vā.

āṇapaka, m. (to āṇapeti, with suffix aka), one who orders or gives instructions: Mv 1.361.21; 362.4, 6; 363.2, 3, 5, 12. Senart reads āṇapaka in each case; the mss. are corrupt but invariably show short -a- in the second syllable (altho Pali has only āṇapaka).

āṇapeti (for Skt. āñāpayati, rarely āñāp°(?); § 2.15; Pali only āṇapeti, q.v. in BHS; Pkt. āṇāvei and āṇā°) commands (only noted in Mv; cf. prec. and foll. items); commoner than āṇapeti, but sometimes wrongly replaced by the latter in Senart's text: pres. °peti Mv iii.125.21 (mss.); 264.2; °pesi, 2 sg. ii.490.8, 16; impv. °pehi ii.108.15; 247.6 (mss. °yehi); in 1.223.4 = ii.25.15

mss. āṇayasi (sic) or āṇayati (v.l. °tti), 3 sg. orders, Senart em. āṇāpesi or °ti, read prob. āṇapati or at best āṇapeti; in 1.362.2, 5 read with mss. āṇāpehi (v.l. °yehi) for Senart āṇāpehi (impv.); in 1.362.17 Senart āṇāpiyanti, and in 364.20, 365.4 and 5, Senart āṇāpyati, all passives, and all to be read with short a, as the mss. clearly indicate tho with more or less corruption; read respectively āṇāpiyanti and āṇāpyati (passives to āṇapeti).

āṇā (= Pali id., Skt. āñā), command: Mv iii.7.16 yā me (so Senart em.; mss. corrupt, one mam, perhaps read mam-) āṇā (so one ms., acc. sg.; v.l. [pr]āṇā; Senart em. āṇām, unnecessarily) pratikrośe...

Once printed attamanas, q.v. This word is to be analyzed as a cpd. of Skt. ātta, ppp. of ā-dā, with manas. The alternant āptamanas is analyzable as āpta, ppp. of āp (cf. manaāpa, manāpa) plus manas. Pall attamana(s) could represent both; both may be Sktizations of that MIndic form.

ātmapūrvāpara, adj., perhaps having continuity with itself: Mv 11.13-14 °raṃ ca tam kulam bhavati, of the family in which the Bodhisattva is born. Corresponds to labdha-pūrvāpara Mv 1.198.3; not in corresponding passage LV p. 24. Senart keeps the form with mss., but in his note suggests that it is false Sktization of MIndic attā- = ātta- (synonym of labdha-).

ātmabhāva, m. The fact has not been recognized sufficiently clearly that this is a quite plain and simple synonym of śarīra, body. The same is in general true of Pall, tho I am not prepared to say that it always has that mg. there. The Pall dictionaries (even CPD) do not bring this out clearly.

such, viz. killing of mother, father, or an arhant, causing dissension in the order of monks, and deliberately causing a Tathāgata's blood to flow (same list in Pali): pañcānantaryāni Mvy 2323 (Kyoto ed. *taryāni but Mironov *taryāni; list of 5 given 2324–28); Dharmas 60 (with list); Mv 1.243.18 *ryāni kṛtāni (listed and described in the following, down to) 244.17 etāni pañcānantaryāni karmāni kṛtvā mahānarakeṣūpapanno; Śikṣ 257.11, 12 and Lañk 138.2, 3, 8 (without karmāni); Mmk 57.2 pañcānantaryakārīṇasyāpi, even of a doer of . . . ; Śikṣ 60.5 (after a list of the five crimes) ebhiḥ pañcabhiḥ ānantaryālḥ karmabhiḥ . . . ; two or three of the list mentioned, Divy 260.5–8 yadā tasya trīṇy ānantaryāni paripūrṇāni . . . pāpa eṣa pītṛghātako 'rhadghātako mātṛghātakaś ca, trīṇy anenānantaryāni narakakarmasamvartanīyāni karmāni kṛtāny upacitāni; Divy 567.27 dve tvayā ānantaryakarmāni kṛte (killing of father and of an arhant bhikṣu); others, Gv 228.21–22 *rya-karma-kārīṇām . . . sattvānām; Bbh 166.8 *ryam karma kṛtvā; Sukh 15.4 *rya-kārīṇaḥ . . . sattvān.

Ānantaryasamādhi, the fifth of the adhimuktīcaryā-bhūmi, Mvy 901. (Printed Anant°; correct in Index and in Mironov.) See ānantarya. In Sūtrāl. xiv.26, comm., identified with laukikāgāra-dharma, q.v., 4th and highest of nirvedha(-bhaga), q.v.; lb. 27 explains that it is called this, yato grāhākaviksepo hīyate tadānantaram, because the 'dispersion' (confusion) of the Subject (grāhaka) is abandoned immediately after (attainment of) it. Lit., then, immediate concentration or concentration of immediacy. In Dharmas 101 occurs as the 4th of four samādhi (q.v.). Mv 1.291.11 (vs) yam āhu ānantariyam (mss. āhuḥ an°, meter demands Senart's em.) samādhīm, samādhino tasya samo na vidyate.

Ānanda (= Pali id.), (1) n. of a well-known disciple of the Buddha, a Śākyan: son of Śuklodana Mv iii.176.14, and of Mṛgi Mv ii.157.9; iii.176.15; called servant (upasthāyaka) of Buddha Divy 90.7–8; 396.15–18; 612.1–2; called Ānanda-sthāvira Mv ii.114.9, Ānanda-bhadra SP 217.8; 218.12; in Mv iii.47.10 ff. story of how his followers among the monks proved imperfect, and how he was rebuked and instructed by Mahākāśyapa; called a śaikṣa SP 2.8; a few (out of many) other occurrences are Mv 1.77.16; iii.225.10 ff.; SP 215.1; 216.3; 221.3; Divy 20.6; 56.2; 69.9; 72.17; 76.10 (= 465.11); 91.21; LV 2.4; 60.12; 73.2; 87.3; 443.7; Suv 202.5, 6; Sukh 2.11; 92.7; Karmav 155.2; Bhik 3b.2; (2) n. of a Śākyan youth (perhaps a prec.): LV 152.12; 153.21; (3) n. of a cakravartī-rājau (listed among other names ordinarily applied to disciples of Buddha): Mvy 3609; (4) n. of a devaputra: LV 6.12 (but omitted in some mss. and prob. not original); (5) n. of a yakṣa: Māy 18; (6) n. of a king (prob. not = 3): MSV 1.114.7.

Ānandacandra, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.139.9.

ānanda-paṭṭika, m. (nom. *kaḥ), Mvy 9191 (so also Mironov) = mthāḥ skor, defined in Das by Skt. ānanta-paṭṭikā, Eng. all round; . . . the whole circumference, the perimeter. So also Chin. circumference (edge going all around). Context seems to indicate circumference (of a robe); perhaps hem? Cf. ānandā.

Ānanda-bhadra, see Ānanda (1).

Ānandamāla, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.139.9. ānandā, app. hem (or fringe?), around a cushioned seat, cf. ānanda-paṭṭika: MSV iv.75.10.

ānandika, a kind of ascetic: Mv iii.412.7, see s.v. tredaṇḍika.

Ānandita, n. of Māra's doorkeeper: LV 302.11.

ānandī, joy: Divy 37.24 *dyā nandīsaumanasyam bhavati. Acc. to PTSD, this stem occurs in Pali, Jāt. vi.589.11, where ānandī-cittā should be read for *dī vittā.

ān-abhīramya, adj., m.c. for an°, q.v.

ānāpāna (= Pali id.), breath (see below): *na-bhāvanā-vidhiḥ Mvy 1165; *na-smṛti (= Pali *na-sati), mind- fulness of breathing, Mvy 1166; Bbh 110.24; 204.26; 396.22; Ud xv.1; *nānasmṛti, id., ŚsP 60.8; on this and ŚsP 1443.8 (where text ānāpāna-smṛti) see s.v. anumṛti. The word is an old dvandva; āna (= prāṇa) plus apāna (cf. Skt. prāṇāpāna, on which see G. W. Brown, JAOS 39.104 ff.). In Pali commentarial diction replaced by assāsa-passāsa (= āśvāsa-praśvāsa, q.v.). Tib. on Mvy 1166 ānāpāna (-smṛtiḥ) renders dbugṣ riub pa dañ hbyuñ ba, breathing in and out; the same or related terms are used for āśvāsa and praśvāsa. It is clear that Tib. understands āna = āśvāsa as inbreathing, apāna = praśvāsa as outbreathing. There is BHS evidence supporting this interpretation of āśvāsa-praśvāsa, q.v.

ānāpeti (= Pali id.), caus. to ā-ni, see § 38.55.

ānāha (m.; Skt. Lex. id., not in Pali or Pkt.), height (of a man): Divy 546.12 kīdrās tasya rājño ānāha-paripāhaḥ. Usually āroha (which read?).

ānījya = anījya, q.v.: adj., Av ii.199.5 ānījyām sāntim; in Mv ii.132.15 there is a v.l. anījya- or ān- for *nījya- of text.

ānījja = anījja, q.v. (Mv i.34.11; ii.419.11).

ānījya = anījya, q.v.

Āninetra, Āninema, see Āni°.

ānimitta, adj. and subst. nt. (from Skt. animitta plus suffix -a), causeless(ness); usually parallel with śūnyatā and apraṇihita, qq.v.; as in the case of apraṇihita, it is often hard to be sure whether adj. or subst. is intended, but sometimes certainly the latter; sometimes preceded by śūnyatā in comp. so that an- or ān- would be equally possible, see śūnyatā; clearly subst. nt. Dbh.g. 29(55).6 bhavate idam ānimittam; AsP 204.12 (nāpi) ānimittam pravartate; 256.13 na ca . . . ānimittam vā apraṇihitam vā anabhisamskāro vā (and other noms. masc.) . . . lujyate; Bbh 317.3 dve ānimitte (the only noun which could be understood is vihāra, masc.); more or less clearly adj. Bbh 276.10 ānimittāḥ samādhīḥ (in 2 śūnyatā-samādhīḥ, 5 apraṇihitāḥ sa°); KP 125.3 śūnyatā ānimittā apraṇihitāḥ (all seemingly acc. pl.) ca dharmām śrutvā; other cases, LV 428.9 ānimitta-vihāri; KP 94.4 (prose) *tta (read *ttam? prob. subst.) cikitsā; Lañk 274.4 yogi ānimitta-pratīṣṭhitā; AsP 298.6 *tta-gatikā(h) . . . sarvadharmās (cf. parallel 5 śūnyatā-gatikā); Dbh.g. 29(55).14 *tta-varadam; śūnyatam . . . ānimittam (corr. *ttām, which would make the form adj.) RP 16.13 (see s.v. adhimukta).

āṇisada (= Pali ānisada, nt.), sit-down, rump, buttocks: Mv ii.125.13 (prose), mss. evam evā (me) anuśīdana (Senart em., 'desperately' as he says, parśukā) abhūṇsuḥ. True approximate reading proved by Pali parallel, MN 1.80.14 = 245.29, āṇisadam hoti. In Mv pl. verb seems to indicate that the noun was pl. (for dual); the stem may have been āṇisidana, or the like.

ānucchavika, adj. (= Pali anu°), suitable, conformable, appropriate: Mvy 7175; 7019; Bbh 145.22 *kair aupayikalīḥ pratrīrūpāḥ . . . *sambhārāḥ.

ānudhārma, f. *ī, adj., conformable to religion: Bbh 61.23 ānudharmyā (v.l. anudharmyayā, see anudharmya) kathayā, instr.

ānupathika, adj. or subst. m. (to Skt. anupatham with -ika), (person) along the road: *kair dṛṣṭās MSV 1.52.8.

ānupūrvā (= Skt. °va, nt., and °vi, f.; perhaps read °vi here?), regular order: Mv ii.224.(11)–12 (jātena jīvaloke sarveṇa avasyam, for which read °ya m.c., martavyam) eṣā kilānupūrvā.

ānubhāva, m. (= Pali id., Skt. anu°) dignity, power, greatness: SP 175.8 (vs) upapannu tasyo ayam ānubhāvo. Here ā could be m.c., but it is regular in Pali in prose as well as vs (see CPD s.v. anubhāva); the explanations in PTSD s.v. and Gelger 24 do not satisfy me.

ānulomika, adj., f. *kā or (oftener) *kī (= Skt. Gr. id.; rarely anu°, q.v., the only form recorded in Pali), conformable, suitable: m. and nt. °kaḷh (padavyañjanalḥ) Mvy 7018; (-bhaḷsajyāny) °kāni Divy 109.26; °kaḷr bhaisajyair Bbh 283.1; śṛṇoti dharmā nāyakāna śāntam °kam RP 12.8 (vs); °kaḷr ... āṅgasambhāraḷh Bbh 145.22; °kena ca kāyavākkarmanā Bbh 255.1; °ko ... upāyaḥ Bbh 264.8, and bodhisattvasyānulomika upāyaḥ 10; f. °kā, abhijñā pañca ... labdha °kā (n. pl.) LV 172.20 (vs); °kām api kṣāntim RP 34.13 (prose); f. °kī, with kṣānti (q.v.; cf. prec.) Mvy 6571; Dbh 53.24; °kī (so mss., Lefm. em. °ka-) dharmakṣānti (read °tīr) dharmālokaṃ mukhaṃ LV 35.20 (prose); °kīm dharmadeśanām Kv 49.10; °kīm śraddhām Gv 239.12; °kī (no noun) Mvy 2678; with caryā, q.v. (also anuloma-caryā), caryām caritvā tada ānulomikīm SP 27.2 (vs), carrying along the true religious course, that which leads to continued religious progress; cārṇa ca caryā vara ānulomikī SP 27.13 (vs); carisyate carya tadānulomikīm SP 149.8 (vs).

ānuśāstī, f. (= anu°; acc. to CPD, Pali also -ānu-satthī, f.), instruction: Mv II.323.21 (vs) ānuśāstīm; the ā could be m.c.

ānśaṃsa = anu°, ānu°, see s.v. ānuśaṃsa.

āneñjya = āneñjya, q.v.: Śāl 82.4, 7 °jyopaga (of saṃskāras; cited Śikṣ 223.1 as āneñjy°, 3' and 4 as āneñjy° in ms.); see under āneñjya for cases where saṃdhi makes initial quantity obscure.

ānta, adj. (cited in MW without reference; not in BR or pw or Schmidt; Skt. back-formation, or error, based on Pali anta = Skt. antya; cf. antakā), ultimate, final, extreme, supreme: Kv 89.6 āntas tvam kulaputra kṛtas te sattvapariṇākaḥ, you are a supreme one ... (it would seem more natural, if only tvam were omitted, to make āntas agree with sattvapariṇākaḥ; perhaps the passage is corrupt).

āntahpura, f. °rī, adj. or subst. (cf. Skt. āntahpurikā), (women) of the harem: LV 211.7 (vs) vijahya-m-āntahpuri (acc. pl.; most mss. °raṃ, unmetr.), abandoning the women of the harem.

āntarābhavika, adj. (= antara°, q.v.), of or belonging to (or existing in) the intermediate state (āntarābhava, q.v.): °kaḥ Bbh 295.24 one who is living in ...; in a list, following divyamānuṣyakaḥ; of vipāka, AbhidhK. LaV-P. IV.129; °ka-skandha-sambhavāt MadhK 286.9, so text by em., but read antar° with mss.

āntarāyika (= ant°, q.v.), causing obstacles; obstructive: like ant° and Pali ant°, regularly of dharmas, Bhik 9a.2 °kān dharmān prṣtvā, after inquiring (whether there are) obstructive conditions; LV 434.2 (in saṃdhi, could be ant°) °ka-dharma-; Bbh 402.11 °kā dharmāḥ; MSV III.30.6; also with hetu, Bbh 98.6 utpattāv āntarāyiko hetur virodhahetuḥ.

āntarikā (= ant°, q.v.; some cases there cited may belong here), space between, interval, interstice: LV 254.11 gopānasy-āntarikāś (n. pl.), interstices of the roof-frame; Gv 268.18 ekaikasyām ca nady-āntarikāyām, and in each interval between the rivers.

āntarikṣa-vāsin (so Mironov; Kyoto ed. indicates both this and āntari° as var. readings), m. pl. °naḥ, dwelling in the atmosphere, n. of a class of gods: Mvy 3077; = antarikṣa, °rikṣa, °rikṣecara, qq.v.; see also deva.

āntra-guṇa, m. (pl.), = antra-guṇa, q.v.: ŚsP 1430.21; 1431.11; read in both (āntram) āntraguṇā(h). (In Gv 328.19 could be intended as well as antra°.)

āpa (= Pali id., thematization of Skt. āp, ap), water; clear cases noted only in cpd. āpa-skandha mass of water, SP 126.7 (vs) sa calva sama muñceta āpaskandham anal-pakam; with adhaḥ or heṣṭā, heṣṭī, of subterranean mass of water, LV 64.12 adha-āpaskandham; 298.20 (vs) heṣṭāpaskandha (acc. sg.; so divide) caranālḥ pratigrāhyamānāḥ, being caused to receive with their feet the mass of water underneath (the earth); 368.19 (vs) heṣṭī śatasahasram yāvataś cāpaskandho (contrasted with dharapitalu, next line). In Mv II.92.5 (vs) āpaṃ, acc. sg., could be referred to this stem, or regarded as belonging to the Skt. stem āp, ap, transferred to the sing. (cf. Wackernagel-Debrunner 3.240 f.).

Āpajjura, n. of a grove at Sāmkāśya: Av II.94.8, 14.

-āpanika, in comp. (= Pali id.; rare in Skt., see Schmidt, Nachträge), dealer, shopkeeper: Av I.198.12 pitā te gāndhikāpanika āsīd, perfume-shopkeeper.

āpatti, f. (= Pali and Skt. Lex. id.), sin (see also anāpatti, mūlāpatti): °tiḥ Mvy 9222; nalhsargikāpattiḥ (so correctly Index and Mironov; see nalhsargika) Mvy 9309; °tyā codayati, see this; duṣṭhulām (q.v.) āpattim Prāt 504.1; abhiḥkṣāpatti-āpadyana-tā KP 119.2 state of constantly committing sins (cf. abhiḥkṣāpattika); (bodhisattvasy) āpattir api veditavyā Bbh 160.11; °ty-anadhyācāra-vyutthāne Bbh 289.22; (see s.v. anadhyāpatti) ŚsP 56.5; five groups of sins to which monks may be subject, Sūtrā. -āpatti-ka = āpatti in Bhvr. cpd.; see an-ā°, abhiḥkṣāpattika, sāpattika.

āpadā (Pali and Skt. Lex. id., Skt. āpad; cf. § 15.9), disaster: āpadāsu MSV IV.115.14; 116.1, 7.

āpadyana, also °na-tā (from āpadyate, °ti, with suffix ana, n. act.), the getting into, or commission (of a sin): KP 119.2 (prose) abhiḥkṣāpatti-āpadyana-tā, see s.v. āpatti; Mmk 202.24 (vs) na te bheje devamukhyānām (bad meter!) tarjanyāpadyanālaye (?obscure; app. tarjanī, or a case-form of it, compounded with or followed by cpd. of āpadyana and ālaya).

āpanna, ppp.-adj. (to āpatti), guilty of a sin (Is Pali āpanna so used without complement?): yad uta, āpanna itī vā anāpanna itī vā MSV II.176.6.

Apannaka, n. of a yakṣa: MSV I.xvii.10.

āparāntika, f. °kī, adj. (from aparānta, q.v., plus ika), future, of the future: Gv 160.2 (prose) āparāntikāvīcikaduḥkheṇa (2d ed. °khe); Dbh 51.3 (cited Śikṣ 228.2) eṣāparāntiky apekṣā.

āpaśyati (recorded once in AV.), beholds: LV 344.18 (prose) sattvān āpaśyati sma (so Lefm. with best mss.); doubtful; in parallel 344.10 all mss. and both edd. paśyati, with v.l. here.

°apas-kara, m., action of water: Mv II.366.13 (na tasya caurā rājāno dhanaskandha [so one ms., Senart with v.l. °dham] parāṃṣe) agnir vā āpaskaro (read °kāro?) vā (one ms. om. vā; Senart em. apaskaroti, very implausibly) pūjām kṛtvā tathāgate.

°āpāya, adj. = āpāyika (āpāya with suffix -a), in Śikṣ 46.6 pāścalnāṃś codayisyāmo bhūtam āpāya-gocarān, and afterwards we will incite them who are veritably in a sphere-of-existence characterized by evil fate. So if text be kept; note states that Tib. (sdg med) points to apāpa-, and Bendall and Rouse p. 47 translate with this, so that they may ... be beyond the sphere of sin.

āpāyaka (cf. āpāyita, āpāyaka), giving to drink, nourishing: °kam poṣakam samvardhakam Bbh 118.28.

āpāyika, f. °kī, adj. and subst. (= Pali id.; from apāya with suffix ika), pertaining or leading to an evil fate (such as existence in hell); subst., one doomed to, or suffering, such an existence: Gv 407.14 °ke karmaṇi ca pravṛttā; Jm 192.21-22 tena drṣṭivyaasanopapātenāpāyika-kena lokānarthākarabhūtena; Bbh 10.14 tivram āpāyikīm duḥkhām vedanām; 245.10 āyatyām āpāyikam duḥkhām pratyānubhavati; 356.17 °ka-kleśa-pakṣyasya; 368.1 °kam karma; subst., Mv II.214.6, 13 (vs) āpāyikā nirvṛtā brahmalokaṃ (cf. Pali DN II.242.18); Divy 165.19 (vs) āpāyiko nalrayiko.

āpāyita, ppp. (cf. āpāyaka; to ā-pā-, caus.), given to drink, nourished: °tā poṣitā samvardhitā MSV II.17.5. This and āpyāka together forbid em. to āpyāy-. The same three ppp. stems MSV II.25.3; 80.6.

āpīḍaka (= Skt. āpīḍa, chaplet, wreath), only in °ka-jāta hung with wreaths, noted only as ep. of trees: °ka-jātam Mvy 6061 (context suggests that it was prob. epithet of a tree, or at least referred to trees); °ka-jātān (vrkṣān) Divy 215.25, 27; 216.1; °ka-jātāh (phalavrkṣāh) Divy 221.14 (so certainly read as suggested in note; text with mss. āpinaka-).

°āpīrā, in (-hūn)āpīrā (sc. lipī), n. of some kind of writing: Mv I.135.7 (v.l. °āpīrā or °ro). Senart would understand abhīrā (preferably the regular Skt. ābhīrā).

āptamanas (also °nas-ka, MPS 32.29) = āttamanas, q.v.: Hoernle MR 26, Obv. 3 idam avocat bhagavān, āptamanas (read °manasas) te bhikṣavo...; 39 Rev. 5, same phrase, reading °manasas; cf. 26 n. 2 and 198 (erroneously rendered with receptive mind); Stöner, SBBA 1904 p. 1283, line 30; Ud xiv.13 āptamanā, n. sg. m.; neg. anāptamanā(h), n. sg. m., Prāt 500.8 abhikṣakta kupitāh caṇḍikṛto °nāpta°; 505.7 abhikṣakta-kupitāh caṇḍikṛto °nāpta°.

āpya, nt. (gdve. of āp-), what can be received (of food), one's fill: (ghṛtasya madhunaś) cāpyam pūrayitvā MSV II.24.10, having given (the infant) all he could eat of ghee and honey; so app. Tib. de ḥdraṅs par bsñod nas.

āpyāyaka, adj. or subst. (m.), nourishing, nourisher: Divy 51.20 putrasya mātāpitarāv āpyāyakau poṣakau... Cf. āpyāka (which perh. read?).

āprāpya, adj. (possibly read apr°? corresp. to Pali apaṇṇa-ka, q.v. in CPD; cf. apaṇṇakaṅga, CPD unique or universal factor; etymology unknown), perfect, in āprāpyāṅga, of perfect qualities: Mmk 57.(15-16) (see Lalou, Iconographie, p. 22) (nīhitam tu tato kṛtvā dhūpayet karpūradhūpanaḥ; read with Lalou) āprāpyāṅga-samuttham vā (Lalou, ou avec un produit sans parcelles vivantes, etymologizing as from a-prāṇa) kuṅkumacandanādibhiḥ. The evident correspondence between our word and Pali apaṇṇa(ka) makes Lalou's interpretation hardly possible. Our word is a secondary hyper-Sktism, but the history of it remains quite unknown.

ābaddhaka, adj. or subst. (Skt. ābaddha, with suffix ka, perhaps specifying, § 22.39), (something that is) tied on (as an ornament): Mv II.68.5 (prose) tasyāpi rājño śata-sahasramūlyo hāro ābaddhako, tasya ca hārasya...; 72.19 (prose) yo kumārasya hāro ābaddhako mahāraho śata-sahasramūlyo, so hāro...; II.352.9 = III.276.11 (vs) ābaddhaka manuṣyāṇām (apparently agreeing with words in prec. line which Senart reads by em. hārā and niṣkāni [sic, °ni]; the mss. are very corrupt).

ābaddha-parikara, adj., lit. having tied one's girdle, i. e. girded one's loins, or freely, vigorously setting out upon action: °raḥ Mvy 6428; Tib. renders approximately going out without being touched at all; Chin. (walking) without leaning on others (or, without help of others).

ābandhya, adj. (from Skt. ābandha with suffix ya), serving or intended for binding, capturing (animals): Divy 583.1 mamāmi kūṭāh pāśālepāś cābandhyāḥ (said by a hunter).

ābādika, adj. (= Pali id.; from Skt. ābādha with suffix ika), sick, ailing: Mv III.348.9 tasya pratyekabuddhasya pittābādikasya (v.l. °dhitasya); Bbh 268.6 ābādhi-kānām sattvānām vyādhitānām; Samy Āg 13 verse 1 bhikṣur ābādiko duḥkhito; Samādh p. 52 line 21, read ābādiko for text ābodhiko. See also vāyva-ābādika.

ābrmhaṇa (cf. Pali abbāhana, abbūhana, nom. act.), instrument for extraction (of thorns, splinters, etc.): Gv 495.13 (prose) ābrmhaṇabhūtam satkāyaśālyasamābrmhaṇatayā. Said of bodhicitta.

ābrmhitā, see āvr̥mhitā.

ābrḍha-, ppp. of ābrhati, in ābrḍha-śālya (= Pali abbūḍha-salla), having the sting (of craving) pulled out: Mvy 7216 (v.l. ābrīḍha°, so Mironov, with v.l. āvr̥ṭa°) = Tib. (zug-rñu) byun ba; cf. āvrīḍha, to āvarhati, MSV III.74.6 ff. This word, in some form, is certainly intended by the corrupt āpratṭa-śālya of Samādh p. 28 line 14; and by text (vicikitsā-kathamkathā-śālyah samūla) ārudho Divy 84.10, where presumably read ābūḍho, see Pali above; MSV I.83.9 (same passage) āvr̥ḍho.

ābrhati (and āvr̥hati; see also āvr̥mhati) both occur in Skt. in mg. extracts, draws out, and in Pali as abbahati, abbuhati, abbū°, abbāheti, id. (as, thorns); both are so used also in BHS; but in BHS they both (oftener, it seems, spelled with v) have also the meaning exclusively noted for āvarhati, restores (a monk to good standing), which in Pali is abbheti (noun, abbhāṇa), apparently from Skt. āhvayati. I shall record such mgs., even where texts read āb°, under āvarhati; in BHS the two groups are not clearly distinguishable. They may even be identical in origin, as N: Dutt holds, MSV III.74 n. 3 (withdrawal of offences committed by the monk implies restoration to good standing); so also in essence, tho doubtfully, Finot, Prāt 488 n. 1. But on this theory it is hard to explain Pali abbheti (abbhāṇa), and I incline to believe that BHS has a secondary and confused blend, in which a form close to the Pali, meaning recall, was adapted to the word meaning extract, remove.

ābha, m. pl. (= Pali id., misprinted once Abha, see CPD s.v. Abhā), n. of a class of rūpāvacara gods of the 2d dhyāna-bhūmi, see deva (only in a few lists): Mv II.314.7 ābhā devā(h); 348.19 ābhā (v.l. ābhās) ca (sc. devāh); 360.15 ābhām (acc. pl.; v.l. ābhā) paśyati devatām (v.l. °tāh).

ābhakṣaṇa, only in comp. with sambhākṣaṇa, q.v., and associated with other social activities; perhaps feasting (in groups); distinction from sambhākṣaṇa is not clear: Bbh 7.7 āvāha-vivāhābhakṣaṇa-sambhākṣaṇeṣv evam-bhāgīyeṣu (sc. parakṛtyeṣu, 7.2) sahāyibhāvam gacchati; 267.13 (after āvāha-vivāhārthikānām) ābhakṣaṇa-sambhākṣaṇārthikānām kṛtyasahāyārthikānām ca sattvānām... Neither word is known in this use outside BHS.

ābharāṇa, ornament, as m. (recorded only as nt. in Skt., Pali, and Pkt.): SP 362.12 (vs) ye (so, or ye hy, all mss.; ed. em. yā) ābharāṇā bhavanti... vicitrarūpāḥ (so all Nep. mss.; ed. °pā); LV 194.17 (vs) sarve ābharāṇā vikīraṇa patitā muhyanti te vārīṇā, and 18 (with mss.) bhartuś cābharāṇā (acc. pl.; with adṛī 15) savastramukutām śayyagatām vyākulām (Lefm. omits the three anus-vāras).

ābharāṇachattranirghoṣa, n. of a Tathāgata: Gv 422.3.

ābharāṇa-puṣkarīṇī, n. of the pool into which the Bodhisattva's ornaments were cast: LV 229.19.

ābhāsvara = ābhāsvara, a class of gods: Ud xxx.49.

ābhāṣati, addresses insultingly: (kulastri...) ākrusṭā bhavaty ābhāṣtā(h) parāmṛṣṭā vā MSV IV.119.10; Tib. kha nan smras, bad-mouth-speak.

ābhāsa, m. (in Pali only in the Skt. meaning of light, radiance; so also in BHS, e. g. Mv I.83.5), appearance and hence range, scope, of sense organs: Mv III.66.4 ff., where each of the external (bāhīrāṇi) āyatanāni (i. e. the objects of sense) comes into the range of the corresponding internal (ādhyātmiḥkāni) āyatanāni (i. e. the sense organs or powers), e. g. rūpo ca bāhīram āyatanam cakṣuṣaḥ ābhāsam āgatam bhavati. In a similar Pali passage, MN I.190.21 ff., āpātha takes the place of our ābhāsa. Similarly Mv I.6.3 manuṣyāṇām śrotābhāsam āgacchati, comes within the range of men's hearing; Śikṣ 128.13 cakṣuṣa ābhāsam āgacchanti; ābhāsibhavi (see ābhāsa), comes into range, into play; becomes perceptible: Dbh 64.27 ... nimitta-samudācāro vā nābhāsibhavi.

ābhāsvara, m., generally pl. (= Pali ābhassara; cf. ābhasvara), one (usually the 3d) of the classes of rūpāvacara gods in the 2d dhyaṇa-bhūmi (see deva): sing. of one of the class, LV 44.12 (see Prabhāvūha); Mmk 19.9 mahābrahmā ʾraḥ prabhāsvaraḥ śuddhābhāḥ etc.; in Mmk 69.7 also sg. in a list of sg. deities; ābhāsvare devanikāye Divy 327.21–22, as a place of happy rebirth, in this class of gods (or in their dwelling-place); several times in Mv this place or state of existence is mentioned as the abode of creatures in general, or of a Buddha and his disciples, in interim periods between world aeons, after destruction and before re-creation of the world, so Mv 152.4 ābhāsvare devanikāye upapadyanti, and 6–7 ʾrād devanikāyato cyavittvā; similarly 63.7; 338.15 ff.; pl. of the class as a whole, Mv 309.2; Dharmas 128; SP 359.1; 365.3; LV 150.7; 315.5; 359.3; 396.15; Mv 1314.7; 319.4; 348.19; Divy 68.15; 367.12; Av 15.2, etc.; in Mv 2291 named as an example of creatures in the third sattvāyāsa (q.v.), characterized as ekatvakāyā nānātvasamjñīnas.

ābhicāruka, adj. and subst., repeatedly in Mmk = Skt. ābhicārika, pertaining to (hostile, black) magic or as subst. (perh. by ellipsis of karman) a performance or practice of (hostile, black) magic: Mmk 25.19; 33.24 ʾkeṣu sarveṣu (subst.); 124.18 ʾka-kāṣṭhāni; 174.7 ardharaṭre sthite candre kuryāt karmābhicārukam; 174.11, 17; 178.9; 189.10 ʾka-karmāni; 320.10 (aśeṣam karmā) karoti, varjayitvā kāmopasamhitam, ābhicārukam ca; in 465.8–9 contrasted with śāntika, pacifying (performance), as antonym, ābhicāruke mahāmāmsena, śāntike mṛgaromāṇi ... Many other occurrences, but not noted outside of Mmk. One might be tempted to emend to ʾrika, were the cases not so numerous.

ābhīprāyika, adj. (from Skt. abhiprāya with suffix ika; once in Skt. in Sāmav. Br., BR 7 App., nach Belieben geschehend, beliebig, with karman), (specially, esoterically) intentional, intended: Bbh 265.5 (gambhīrāṇām tathāgata-bhāṣitānām ... sūtrāntānām) ʾkam tathāgataṇām artham aviññāya; 303.26–304.1 ʾka-nigūḍha-dharma-samjñārtha-vibhāvanatā. See s.v. samdhā.

ābhīmānika, adj. (= abhi° 1; once in Skt. in different mg., pw 7.318), proud: SP 38.12 and 39.4 (prose); both times v.l. ādhi° or adhi°; 43.13 (prose, no v.l.); Śiks 126.8 (prose) ʾka-vyākaraṇa-vacanā; KP 1.6 (prose) ʾkaś ca bhavaty ātmotkarṣi.

ābhirūpa (nt.; from Skt. abhirūpa, beautiful, with suffix ya; once Lex. in Skt., BR 5 App.), beauty: Bbh 245.21 ʾpya-kāmasya cākāmaṃ vairūpyataḥ.

ābhisamskārika, f. ʾkī (cf. an-ābhisamskārika, and Pali abhisamkhārika; Suzuki Index records abhi°, but 211.15 has ā- while 361.17 could intend either ā- or a-), characterized by accumulation (of karman; ābhisamskāra): Lañk 211.15 ābhisamskāriki ... nirodhasamāpatthi; Lañk 361.17 nābhisamskārikair buddhā lakṣaṇair lakṣaṇānvitāḥ.

ābhisamkṣepika (adj.), ʾkam, adv. (to ābhisamkṣepa, q.v.), app. in a manner produced by compression, condensation: Mv 7476 (so also Mironov; pw 7.306 abhi°) = Tib. bsdu pa las gyur pa; but the real meaning of this seemingly technical term escapes me. The next word is abhyavakāśikam (ābhy°), q.v.

ābhikṣṇaka, adj. (from Skt. ābhikṣṇam; cf. Skt. Lex. ābhikṣṇa, nt.), recurring, repeated, constant: Bbh 142.1 yam ābhikṣṇakam vipratīṣāram ādinavadarśanam āgamyā...

ābhujati, or also ābhuñjati, recorded only in ger. forms with object paryāṅkam (= Pali pallaṅkam ābhuj-; Skt. seems to have used badhnāti instead, but BR, pw record only noun cpds. such as paryāṅka-bandha; BHS also uses forms of bandhati, as paryāṅka bandhittvā SP 23.11 (vs); a theory of the orig. mg. in BR which is not repeated in pw; for other theories see PTSD s.vv. ābhujati, pallaṅka), having assumed a sitting posture with the legs doubled under the buttocks; in prose of all texts except Mv, only paryāṅkam ābhujya: Mvy 6283; SP 5.9 (here Kashgar rec. baddhvā, cf. above); 19.13; 409.9; LV 59.22; 244.18; 251.4; 289.16; 410.8; Divy 20.17; 162.12; 294.3, etc.; in vss, ʾkam ābhujīya LV 133.20; ʾkam ābhujitvā 259.5; in prose of Mv ʾkam ābhuñjittvā 1.144.11; 11.131.15, also v.l. 11.268.4 where Senart ābhujitvā; the latter is a v.l. for text ābhujj° 11.16.12 (= 1.213.8, mss. corrupt); ābhujjittvāna mss. at 11.245.2 (vs, bad meter).

ābhoga, m. (derived by Leumann, Das nordarische Leirgedicht des Buddhismus, AKM 20.1, p. 68, from bhuj bend, as Anlegung = Anlehnung; an-ā°, ohne Anlehnung d.h. ohne Rückhalt oder Stützpunkt. Some Pali interpreters also derive from this root, see PTSD. Whatever the etymology, the primary mg. in BHS is clearly effort; so some Skt. lexx., = yatna. This also fits at least many Pali occurrences of ābhoga, but in Pali the word needs more study; dict. definitions are all unsatisfactory; it is often bracketed or equated with manasikāra, esp. with cetaso or cittassa, DN comm. 1.122.6–7, perhaps as (mental) effort, e.g. Mlln. 97.10, effort, earnest application (directed towards, loc.); Mvy 2092 = Tib. sgrim pa, hjug pa, bzo (gzo) ba, endeavor; setting about; work; śīle ābhogam kṛtvāna, having made effort for (in regard to) morality Mv 11.358.7; 360.9; ekāntasukleṣv eva karmasy ābhogaḥ karaṇīyaḥ, one must strive for ... See anābhoga, sābhoga, both clearly supporting mg. effort.

Ārāḍa (also Ārāḍa, q.v., and see next; = Pali Ālāra), n. of a sage under whom Śākyamuni studied for a time; in a dvandva cpd. Ārāḍodraḥ (-Udraḥ) Divy 392.1 (see also under Ārāḍa and Ārāḍaka); generally surnamed Kālāma (= Pali id.); °ḍa-Kāl° as one word Mvy 3515, but regularly two words: Mv II.118.1 ff.; 198.1; III.322.15, 17; in LV 238.14, 19 f.; 239.6, 12; 403.20; 404.2-3, 3-4, Lefmann reads the surname always Kālāpa; the mss. generally vary, in 404.3 all have Kālāma. However, there seems to have been some support in northern tradition for the ending -pa, for Tib. on Mvy and LV renders sgyu rtsal ṣes (byed), knowing arts, which seems to point to analysis into kalā plus a form of root āp-.

Arāḍaka = prec.: Divy 392.3 (vs), in a dvandva, Udrakārāḍakā (see under prec. and Arāḍa); the -ka is probably m.c.

ārāti, m.c. for arati, displeasure (in this mg. Skt. arati), by em. (required by meter) in LV 325.11, where word-division should be: ārātiya rātiya (both instr. sg.) saṃvase na ca sārḍhaṃ, and I do not dwell together with displeasure or pleasure.

[ārāmātha, grove, = ārāma, acc. to KN in SP 61.10 ārāmātha vṛkṣamūlam; but read ārām' atha.]

ārāmika, m. (in sense 1 once in Rājat., pw; in Pali apparently only in sense 2, and so usually in BHS), (1) gardener: Av 1.36.10 ff.; 120.14; 124.6, et alibi; (2) an attendant in a Buddhist ārāma, i. e. a grove used by monks: Mvy 3843; Mv 1.325.19 °ka-sahasraṇi upasthāpayiṣyanti (in a grove for monks); Divy 43.20 (here Tib. khim pa zhiḡ, Bailey, JRAS 1950.180; agārika?); 155.13; 157.25, 27 et alibi; Bbh 166.25; Prāt 494.10; Laṅk 308.6.

ārāva, nt., a high number: Mvy 7839 = Tib. rig(s) sdom; cited from Gv; var. agava, q.v. But Gv 133.3 reads avaga (nt.), which has the same Tib. rendering Mvy 7713 and is probably to be read for ārāva. Mironov reads arāvam, noting vv.ll. agavam, aravam. In Gv 105.21 replaced by vipāsa.

ārāvita, ppp. (of denom. to Skt. and Pali ārāva, cry, not to caus. of ā-ru which is unrecorded), made resonant: Mv 11.215.13 (sarvaṃ vanakhaṇḍam ... nīnāḍitam mṛgapakṣiravehi) ca ārāvitaṃ (mss. °pitam).

(āruta, in Jm 123.18, cry (noun), not ppp. of ā-ru as stated in pw 7.371. The noun is Skt.: BR 6.355, s.v. ā-ru.)

I have no interpretation to propose. Followed by maṇḍa-lako ca adbhivāso ca, qq.v.

Ardravallipratirūpa, n. of a former Buddha: Mv 1.141.5.

Āryaka, n. of a cakravartin: SP 160.14 mahārājñā cakravartināryakeṇa mahākoṣeṇa. Burnouf and Kern take this word as an adj. and Cakravartin as the king's name, which I think unlikely.

āryakā (= Pali ayyakā), grandmother: MSV II.70.2 f.

Āryadeva, n. of a teacher: Mvy 3476.

Āryapakṣa, m., group of noble persons, designation of a list of 500 Tathāgatas (divided into two halves, and each half into two hundred plus fifty — approximately): Mv 1.137.9; 138.8; 140.6; 141.8. See Senart's note, p. 485.

āryapuṅgala, m. (= Pali ariya-puggala), a model human personality: LV 423.13 parijñātam (so read with v.l. for text °nam) āryapuṅgalair (said of the dharma-cakra). Prob. refers to persons in the eight stages of (Hīnayāna) religious development, Dharmas 102; see aṣṭamaka, śaīkṣa.

Āryabhṛkūṭi, n. of a goddess, Mvy 4282; certainly the same as Bhṛkūṭi, q.v.

ārya-mahāsimha-ukkāsita, nt. (MIndic for °utkā-sita), Exalted-Great-Lion's-throat-clearing: Mv II.281.12 (here ārya is accidentally omitted), 14, 16, 18 (bodhisattvo ... caturvidham) °sitam ukkāsi. Cf. next two. The four ways are listed.

ārya-mahāsimha-vijṛmbhita, nt., Exalted-Great-Lion's-gaun: Mv II.281.7–11 (bodhisattvo ... caturvidham) °bhitam vijṛmbheti. Cf. prec. and next. The four ways are listed.

ārya-mahāsimha-vilokita, nt., Exalted-Great-Lion's gaze: Mv II.281.1–5 (bodhisattvo ... caturvidham) °kitam viloketi. Cf. prec. two. The four ways are listed.

ārya-māna, m. or nt., exalted pride: Mv II.279.1 ff. (bodhisattvo ... dvātriṃśata-kārasamanvāgatam) °nam praghñe. The 32 forms are then listed. On dvātriṃśata-see § 19.34.

āryavamsa (m.; = Pali ariyavamsa, see CPD s.v.), the (fourfold) attitudes (lit. 'stocks', sources) of the Buddhist saint, listed AbhidhK. LaV-P. vi.146 ff.: RP 13.17–18 caturṇām °śānam anuvartanātā; 14.7 caturāryavamsāni-ratā; KP 6.17 (vs) ājīvaśuddho sthita āryavamse; 123.3 samtuṣṭaḥ caturbhir āryavamsair (the first three are contentment with garments, food, seat-and-bed of monks; acc. to AbhidhK. the fourth is devotion to the way to release, by appropriate behavior); 126.7 (vs) °vamsehi samanvito °pi; Śikṣ 105.8 caturāryavamsāparivarjanatayā (due to lābhasatkāra; misunderstood by Bendall and Rouse); 191.10 °vamśa-samtuṣṭi (cf. above).

Āryavamsaketu, n. of a former Buddha: Mv 1.141.6.

Āryavati, n. of a river: Karmav 162.14; prob. false Sktization for Pali Acravati = BHS Ajiravati, q.v., (thru a MIndic *Ayravati, *Ariyavati); cf. Lévi's note, which states that it is the same river as the Hiranyavati (q.v.; on what evidence I do not know).

Āryaśūra, n. of a teacher: Mvy 3479.

ārya-satya, nt. (= Pali ariya-sacca), (the four) noble truths: listed, Mvy 1310 ff.; Dharmas 21 (duḥkham, samudayaḥ, nirodhaḥ, mārgaḥ); SP 179.2–3; Mv II.138.4; Bbh 38.9 (as in Dharmas); full statements of all four, Mv III.331.17 ff.; LV 417.2 ff. The standard names are duḥkham, duḥkhasamudayaḥ, duḥkhanirodhaḥ, duḥkhanirodhagāminī pratipat.

Āryasatyaka Parivarta (m.), n. of a work, or part of a work (cf. Bendall 407, note): Śikṣ 165.17.

Āryasammatīya, m. pl., n. of a school: Mvy 9085.

Ārya-sarvāstivāda, m. pl., n. of a school: Mvy 9077 °vādāḥ; Śikṣ 148.13 °vādānām (so ed. with ms.; Bendall's note suggests reading °vādinām) ca paṭhyate (a quotation follows).

Ārya-sthāvira, m. pl., n. of a school: Mvy 9095 (printed °sthaviraḥ, both a's short, but Index °sthāviraḥ, and so Mironov).

Āryasthāviriya Nikāya, n. of a work belonging to that (prec.) school, from which Jm xvi vss 2–3 are quoted: Jm 98.24. The verses occur in the Pali Dhp.

ārya-smita (nt.), Exalted-smile or smile of an Exalted One (or saint): Mv II.280.15 ff. (Bodhisattvo ... pañcavi-dham) āryasmitam prādurkare. The five kinds are then listed.

Āryā, n. of a yakṣiṇī: Sādh 561.1, 11; 562.5.

Āryākṣa (? mss. Āryakṣa), n. of a former Buddha: Mv 1.137.14.

Āryāsaṅga, n. of a teacher: Mvy 3477. Cf. Asaṅga.

āryikā (Skt. Gr. and lex.; f. to Skt. āryaka), a venerable woman, used of Buddhist nuns: °kā-saṃghaḥ (read as cpd.) Bhik 17b.1 and ff.

ārṣabha, adj. (= Pali āsabha; °bham, often written °bhaṇ-, ṭhānam paṭijñāti MN 1.69.32; SN II.27.26 etc., cf. below), of the first rank (esp. religiously), prime, worthy of admiration: udāram ārṣabham sthānam paṭijñāti Dhs 209.10; 211.4 etc.; ... paṭijñānte Av II.105.15; ... pra-jānāmi (read pratijā?) ŚsP 1448.12; ... draṣṭavyam Bbh 386.13; in Bbh 385.17 (after 15 nīrvānam udāram ity ucyate, cf. the above phrase), read ārṣabham (text ārṣam; refers to nīrvāna; meaning supported by Tib. and Chin.) ity ucyate; of the teeth of a mahāpuruṣa, in a list of the lakṣaṇa, Gv 401.(7–)8 (avirālā) aviśamārsā (read aviśamārsabhā, for °mā ārṣabhā; same corruption as in Bbh 385.17 above) asya dantā abhūvan.

Ārṣiṣeṇa, m. pl. (cf. Asthisena), n. of a brahmanical school, of the chandogas: Divy 637.27.

ālākṣya (nt. ? in Skt. as adj., wahrzunehmen, sichtbar), visible sign, emblem: Divy 118.24 (īdam ... maṇiratnam...) cihnabhūtam ālakṣyabhūtam maṇḍanabhūtam ca.

ālapṭaka, m., one with whom one talks familiarly: Mvy 2711. In section entitled mitrakāryam; pw 7.319 gesprächig, leutselig. Tib. gtam ḥdres pa, defined by Das ālapṭakā (so), mixed-up stories, garbled accounts, which cannot be the mg.; MSV II.131.11 ālapṭakenālapṭakasya (sc. upasthānam, waiting on when sick, karaṇyam), which makes the mg. certain; cf. samlapṭaka.

ālabdha, ppp., in Mv II.479.10 mālā ca se ālabdhā, and a garland was hung on him. As Senart's note indicates, this seems to require ālambitā, and to imply confusion of roots labh and lamb; note pw 5.217 ālambhe Rājat. 2.212 'fehlerhaft für ālambhe'.

-ālambaka = Skt. ālamba, support, at end of Bhvr. cpd.: Bbh 242.3 dharmālambaka-maitrī, love (benevolence) that is based on dharma.

ālambana, nt. (in mg. 1, essentially = Skt. id.; in mg. 2 = ārambana, q.v.), (1) basis, ground, reason (= Skt. id.); ālambana-pratyaya, third of four pratyaya, q.v., cf. ārambana, 1, end: Mvy 2269; (2) object of sense (= ārambana, 3): LV 392.15 sarvālambana-samati-krāntaḥ (dharmatā); Bbh 384.8 (see s.v. samprakhyāna); Sūtrāḥ. IV.1 (see Lévi's note in Transl.; seems restricted to correspondence with citta = manas(?), at least acc. to Tib.); (3) architectural term, part of a railing or balustrade; bar, crossbar (functioning as support), esp. of a vedikā-(jāla), q.v., one of the cross-pieces of a balustrade or railing; = ārambanaka, q.v.; associated with adhiṣṭhāna (q.v., 4) or °naka (q.v.); repeatedly a sūci (sūcika) is stated to function as ālambana to the upright pitars (pādaka) of a vedikā-jāla (Mv), or simply to a vedikā (Divy): Mv i.195.1 sūcikā ālambanam adhiṣṭhānam ca abhūṣi; iii.227.7 ff. sūcikā ālambanam adhiṣṭhānam ca (In some repetitions below, abhūṣi is added); Divy 221.9 sūcī ālambanam adhiṣṭhānam (sc. āstī); see next.

ālambanaka, nt., = ālabhana (3); varies with °bana in repetitions of Mv iii.227.7, above, viz. in 9, 10, 11, 12, 13 (in some v.l. °banam).

ālambu = alambu, q.v.

?ālambuṣa (m. or nt.), n. of a plant: Mmk 82.18 ālambuṣa-mūlam kṣreṇa saha pṣayitvā. Prose; perhaps error for alambuṣa, which is the only form recorded in literary Skt. (Lex alambuṣa; no āl° is recorded anywhere).

ālambhya, adj. (gdve.) or subst., thing to be supported: Lañk 153.6 ālambhyavagatam... samskr̥tam, free from support and from anything to be supported; 169.5 and 170.9 yadā tv ālambyam artham nopalabhate jñānam, but when knowledge finds no object which can be supported (by it); see also nir-ālambhya.

ālaya, m., rarely nt. (In Skt. 'home', also in BHS; Pali id., same mgs. as BHS): (1) (habitation, hence) firm basis, fundamental base, in an-ālaya, ālaya-vijñāna, qq.v. for Tib.; also Lañk 374.3 mano hy ālayasambhūtam, 4 ālayat sarvaccittāni pravartanti taraṅgavat (In both of these substantially = ālaya-vijñāna; perhaps here also Av ii.175.2-3 tatas tena bhagavato 'ntike cittam prasāditam teṣām ca mahāśrāvakāṇāṃ ālayasamāpannānām (arrived at the fundamental basis, the proper mental state?); (2) attachment, clinging: Mvy 5382 kāmālayaḥ, attachment (Tib. zhen pa) to desires (Tib. ḥdod pa la); Mv iii.314.2 (mss. corrupt, ed. incorrect; read) ālayārāmā... ālayaratā ālayasamuditā (prajā), mankind takes pleasure, joy, delight in attachment (to lusts; see samuditā, and Pali parallels SN i.136.11 ff.; Vin. i.4.35 ff.); Mv iii.400.3 hitvā ālayāni (em., from Pali Sn 535; mss. ālepati); Ud xii.18 ālayāms trin (= the three trṣṇā 2 = Pali taṇhā; cf. Sn 635 ālayā, comm. taṇhā); Mv iii.200.11 ālayasamudghāto, rooting out of attachment, cf. Pali AN ii.34.24; Vism. 293.9, 25 f. See also nirālaya.

ālayana (= Skt. ālaya; Deśin. 1.66 and 8.58 ālaya-nam, vāsagham), or (v.l.) ālayaka, nt., dwelling, nest, lair (of animals): SP 84.3 (vs) nikṣipanti te potakāny ālayanāni (v.l. °kāni) kṛtvā.

ālaya-vijñāna (see ālaya, 1) connaissance-réceptacle (E. Lamotte, L'Ālayavijñāna [Le Réceptacle] dans le Mahāyāna-saṃgraha, Mēl. chin. et boud., vol. 3, Brussels, 1935, 169 ff.), or basic, fundamental, underlying vijñāna: Mvy 2017, where ālaya = kun gzhi, ultimate basis, identified sometimes with citta (Lévi, Sūtrāl. i.18, n. 2 in Transl.), and opp. to manas. Frequent in Lañk; notably 2.13 (samudratarāṅgān avaloky) ālaya-vijñānodadhipravṛtīvijñānapavanaviṣaye peritāms... cittāny avalokya, looking on the waves of the sea, stirred in the range (viṣaye) of the wind of the active vijñāna and the ocean of the basal viḥ, and looking on the minds (of the people there; ālaya-vi° is the ocean, pravṛtti-vi° the wind which stirs it; see under ālaya 1).

ālambu = alambu, q.v.

āl, f. (m.? nom. āliḥ), (1) small ditch (for water): Mvy 4177 = Tib. yur phran; cf. the Pali (and Skt. Lex.) meaning dike; (2) a-series (i.e. a plus āli), name for a series of syllables (chiefly vowels and combinations of a or ā with semivowels), used as a magic formula in Sādh, and defined there 478.7 ff. Cf. kālī.

Ālikāvendā, n. of a yakṣiṇī: MSV i.17.7. Foll. by Maghā (perh. part of same name?).

ālikhana (nt.°; cf. Skt. likhana and ālekhaṇa), painting, depiction, delineation: Mmk 67.6 (vs) paṭa-m-ālikhanād (cpd.; m is hiatus-bridge); 524.12 (vs) maṇḍalālikhane.

āliṅga (m. or nt.; cf. next; = Pall, AMg., Skt. Lex. id.), a kind of drum: Mv ii.159.7 (prose) kācīd āliṅgam (In a series of mus. instruments); iii.70.14 (prose) mṛdaṅga-vādyesu āliṅgavādyesu; 82.3 (vs; mss. slightly corrupt).

āliṅgikā (to prec.; prob. dim. -ka), a kind of drum: Mv iii.407.20 (prose) kācīd mṛdaṅgam kācīd āliṅgikām (mss. āliṅgikā).

āliḍha, ppp. of ā-lih, in an-āliḍha Lañk 14.13; 172.12 (Suzuki) not tasted, prob. rather not 'licked' = not grazed, not (even) lightly touched (by sectarian or heretical theorists); applied to questions or doctrines to be expounded.

ālu, m. (or f.; Skt. Lex. nt., and Skt. āluka, nt.; Pali ālu, nt. acc. to PTSD; but AMg. ālu, m. acc. to Ratnach., Pkt. m. and nt. acc. to Sheth), a certain edible tuber: Mvy 5730 āluḥ.

ālekhyā, or (v.l.) ālekha, m., Mvy 5234, defined Tib. and Chin. as synonym of vipratīṣāra, kaukr̥tya, and vilekha, vilekhyā, qq.v.

āloka, m. (once nt.), light, as in Skt.; (1) fig., see dharmāloka (-mukha); like this, -jñānāloka mukha Gv 169.24, introduction to the light of knowledge; -pratibhānāloka mukha Gv 174.13-14; (prajñā udapāsi) ālokaṃ (n. sg. nt.) prādur-abhūṣi Mv iii.332.15 illumination (of the mind) became manifested (virtually = enlightenment, true knowledge); (2) m., a high number: Gv 133.13 (= aloka, q.v.). See the following items.

Ālokakara, m., n. of a samādhi: Mvy 557; ŚsP 1419.11.

ālokati (hardly = ālokatyati or the rare Skt. ālokatē, sees, perceives; not even in the 'sens moral' suggested by Senart; rather denom. to āloka, q.v.), furnishes light: Mv i.165.7 (vs, addressed to Buddha) yadā ca ālokasi nāgagāmi, yadā ca āgata maraṇāya pāram, when you provide illumination (for creatures lost in the darkness of ignorance, i. 3 ff.)... and when you have arrived at the shore beyond death (? readings here uncertain),... (then the earth is shaken etc.)

Ālokamaṇḍalaprabha, n. of a Buddha: Gv 285.6.

āloka-lābha, m. (so read for edd. °labdha; see Lévi Sūtrāl. n. 1 on xiv.24), attainment of illumination, one of the adhimukti-caryā-bhūmi: Mvy 898.

āloka-vṛddhi, f., increase of illumination, one of the adhimukti-caryā-bhūmi: Mvy 899.

āloka-saṃdhi (m. or f.; = Pali id.), light-joint, opening for light, window: Jm 113.23 °dhīm divasaḥ karotu. Prob. read this for āloka-saṃta (-bhūmi, then lacuna), which seems corrupt, in Prāt 506.11; Chin. mentions windows. On the passage see dvāra-kośa.

Ālokasuvegadhvaṇa, n. of a serpent king: Mvy 3431.

ālokita-vilokita (nt., dvandva; on Pali see below), look and gaze; in a cliché (prāsādikena...) 'kitena Mv i.301.6; iii.60.6; 182.12; in other forms of the same cliché avalokita and vyavalokita are substituted; see these on the Tib. interpretation of the difference of mg. between them, to which I do not attach much importance (it sounds etymologizing). However, acc. to Pali DN comm. i.193.17 these two words mean looking ahead and looking all around, which substantially = Tib.

Ālokinī, acc. to printed text also Lokinī, n. of a yakṣiṇī: Mmk 566.13 ālokinīya mantrāḥ: om lokinī lokavati svāhā (seeming to use both forms as equivalents). Mmk 564.26 probably contained a form of this name originally, but is hopelessly corrupt and unusable.

ālopa, m. (= Pali id.), mouthful (of food); cf. next: Mv i.339.13 ālopa-kāram (ger., see §§ 22.5; 35.3, 5) āhāram āhāresī (so with v.l.), and 16 ālopa-kārakam (ger.) āhāram āhāresuḥ, making a mouthful of it, took food; Mvy 5766; 8572; 8574-6; Prāt 533.1-6 (= Mvy 8572-6); Divy 290.23 carama ālopa; 470.17; 481.9; Av i.341.13 °pam anuprayacchati; Śikṣ 84.3; 138.5; 215.16; Bbh 76.19 (na) cāvāsiṣṭaṃ bhavati yāvad dvitīyam ālopaṃ prakṣipati.

-ālopaka, m. or nt. (from prec. plus suffix ka), in ekālopa° and saptālopa°, the practice of eating only (one, or seven) mouthful(s) of almsfood: LV 248.21, 22, ekālopa-kair, and saptālopakair; so read for °lāp° of both edd., no v.l.; cf. Pali ekālopika, sattālopika, DN i.166.11 and 12, one who adheres to these respective practices. Confirmed by Tib. kham.

āvāḍi (f.; = Skt. āvali, °li), row, line: SP 340.14 chattrāvāḍibhīr anvitāḥ.

Avantaka, m. pl., v.l. (read by Mironov) for Avantaka, q.v.: Mvy 9087.

āvaraṇa, nt. (= Pali id.; see also an-āv° and āvrti), hindrance, obstruction (= pratighātaḥ Bbh 38.19; in Tib. standardly rendered sgrib pa, darkness, obscuration, hence sin); Lévi, Sūtrāl. i.6, note. Two kinds, kleśāv° (moral faults) and jñeyāv° (intellectual faults); gotra of śrāvakas and pratyekabuddhas free from the former, that of bodhisattvas, only, free also from the latter, Bbh 3.13 ff.; the two kinds mentioned also Bbh 37.6 f.; 88.3; Dharmas 115; āvaraṇa-dvayaṃ Lañk 140.16; karmāv°, obstruction due to past actions, Mvy 845; 1383; Av ii.155.9; Śikṣ 68.14; six obstacles to samādhi, samādhy-āv° Dharmas 118 (kausīdyam mānaṃ sāthyam auddhatyam anābhogaḥ satyābhogaḥ ceti); general, Mvy 814; 6512; Bhad 57 āvaraṇām (acc. pl.) vinivartīya sarvām; Mvy 814 sarvāvaraṇa-vivaraṇa; Gv 107.22, 24 āvaraṇāya (see s.v. vimātratā), etc., common.

āvaraṇīya, adj., pertaining to (causing) obstruction (āvaraṇa, q.v.): of karman Śikṣ 280.3; Gv 20.5; of dharma conditions, states of being LV 424.18; Bbh 193.18; of thoughts (citta) Bhad 19; as quasi-subst., without noun, things that cause obstruction, Gv 462.19 viśodhakāni ... āvaraṇīyānām.

āvarjana, nt. (to āvarjayati, q.v.; see also āvarjana; substantially as in Skt., once, das Sich-gezeigt-Machen, Gewinnen, BR 5.1123), wrongly defined for LV and Divy in pw; attraction, winning to oneself: LV 250.(7)-8 (dhyānagocarāṇām ca rūpāvacarāṇām) ca devānām dhyānaviśeṣopadaśanād āvarjanam kuryām (by performing severe austerities; said by the Bodhisattva); 250.22 devānām cāvarjanārtham; Mv ii.423.18 āvarjana-sampanno (Senart doué de bonne grâce, d'affabilité; i. e. gifted with winning ways; followed by mārāvāsampanno aparūṣo); especially (cf. āvarjayati) conversion: Bbh 180.5-6 āvarjanārhanām sattvānām āvarjanāya (contrasts with preceding uttrāsānārhanām sattvānām uttrāsānāya); often this is accomplished by miracles, because, as Divy 133.9 says, āśu prthagjanāvarjanakārī rddhiḥ, magic converts the vulgar quickly; virtually the same words 192.8; 313.15; 539.5; Bbh 80.6 and 82.5 rddhy-āvarjanatā, process of conversion by (exhibitions of) magic; Av i.9.12 tad atyad-bhutam devamanuṣyāvarjanakaram prātihāryam drṣtvā; the same ii.4.4-5 etc.

āvarjanā = āvarjana, winning to oneself, the making kindly disposed: in LV 245.14-15-read: bodhisattvo rudrakasya rāmaputrasya saśīgyasyāvarjanām (so 2 mss. incl. the best; ed. °janī-) kṛtvā ... prakramad. (The gen. requires noun āvarjanām.) Tib. ḥdun par byas nas, which is wrongly rendered by Foucaux; it appears to mean lit. having made reconciled or desirous, i. e. having made to be, of good will (towards himself, the Bodhisattva).

āvarjayati (Skt., sich Jmd gezeigt machen, für sich gewinnen, BR), in BHS specifically converts; cf. prec. two (Pali āvajeti not recognized in this sense; but acc. to PTSD often rendered in comms. by parināmeti, which could surely mean brings to religious maturity): Mv i.34.9 (bhagavān ... nirvāṇe pratiṣṭhāpayanto) āvarjayitvā an-gamagadhām etc. (long list of peoples), having converted...; closely similar is ii.419.8; Divy 355.14 Vāsavadattā sam-sārād udvignā buddhagūṇānusrāṇāc cāvarjitahṛdayo-vāca, ... her heart converted, turned (to religion); Bbh 180.7 nāvarjayati, does not convert (people); often this is done by miracles, Av i.3.4 yan nv aham Pūrṇa-brāhmaṇam rddhiprātihāryeṇāvarjayeyam; Divy 365.19 prātihāryair āvarjitāḥ; Bbh 82.10 (prātihāryeṇ-āvarjitamānasā(h)); Mvy 2429 āvarjitamānasah; see under āvarjana.

āvarta, m., n. of a sea and of a mountain: Divy 102.28; 103.23-104.20. Note: as common noun, āvarta seems to me to have only meanings which it has in Skt., as turn, turning, turning-place (dhāraṇyāvartam ... dhāraṇīm SP 475.8 etc.); eddy, whirlpool (Mvy 7037); etc.; in LV 126.7, several times, probably of turns (curves, or the like) of alphabetic signs; see utkṣepa-lipi.

āvartana, nt., (1) wandering, straying about (= Pali āvattana; in Skt. not after RV.): Mvy 6868 (= skor ba; followed by parivartanam); Divy 194.6 adraṅścī Chakro ... tam devaputram atyartham prthivyaṃ āvartanam parivartantam; (2) devious winding, with implication of deceptive, wily movements (= Pali āvaṭṭana): Dh 72.1 sarvamārapathāvartana-vivartana-jñānānugataḥ, pursuing knowledge of all the devious windings and turnings-back of the paths of Māra.

āvart(t)i, seems = āvartana, q.v., wandering, (re-)turn, in Gv 37.8 sarvalokāvarty-anupravartana-karuṇāgarbha, n. of samādhi, full of the compassion (born of) following the wanderings (rebirths) of all (the) world(s).

āvarhaṇa, nt. (to next with -ana; cf. Pali abbhāna, extraction, as of thorns; but the real Pali equivalent is abbhāna), removal, freeing (of a monk from certain penances): Mvy 8656 = Tib. dbyun ba, removal, also freeing; MSV ii.203.16, 18 ff. (requires a quorum of twenty monks); iii.51.9; 53.4.

āvarhati, ābrhati, also ābrah- (on origin and Pali relations see s.v. ābrhati), frees a monk from religious disabilities (cf. prec.): ābrahitavya, gdve., Prāt 488.1; ābrhyāt, prec., 2; ābrhita, ppp., 3; āvarhata MSV iii.49.11; °hatu 51.9; °het 53.10; āvarhitavya, gdve., 49.17; °hitum, inf., 57.2; ppp. āvarhitāḥ 57.4; 58.18; āvriḍhaḥ 74.6, 16; 75.10, 20, etc. (cf. ābriḍha to ābrhati, extracted, s.v. ābrḍha-).

āvāsānika (from avasāna plus -ika), of the end, final: Bbh 97.24 tatra bījam āvasānikasya svapthalasyākṣepahetuḥ.

āvāra- (m.; rare in Skt. except in cpds., cf. durāvāra, BR), guard, in °ra-nibandhana, nt., imprisonment under guard: Mv i.188.17 (vs) kṛtvāvarānibandhanam, making (i. e. applying to his victims) ... (so mss., possibly intending vāra°, but this word is hardly used except at the end of cpds.; āvāra occurs also in Pali; Senart emends to kāra-nib°).

āvārī (once acc. °rīm, otherwise all unambiguous forms show ā- and -ī; Skt. Lex. āvārī; Deśn. 1.12 avārī and avāra), shop, bazaar, only noted in Divy: °ryām vyāpāram kuru 27.3; 28.7; °ri-samutthitam dravyam 27.8; kāśikavastrāvārī 29.4-5, 7, and other cpds. in °rī 29.7, 12, etc.; °ri-gatam kṣetragatam ca śasyāddidhana-jātam tad apy agnīnā dagdham 169.28; bhāṇḍāvārīm (in 15 °rīm) gatvā 256.15, 27.

āvāsāśuddha, m. pl., a class of gods, = śuddhāvāsa, q.v.; only in vs, presumably m.c.: Mv ii.346.15 °ddhā upagatā devaputrāḥ.

āvāsika, adj. (= Pali id.), resident? (in a monastery; said of a monk) or possibly servant, see s.v. navakarmika: Av i.286.8-9 sa cāvāsiko bhikṣus tatra nāṣit ... bhakte sajjikṛte āvāsiko bhikṣur āgataḥ (in 286.4 and 287.1 called naivāsika, q.v.); Jm 113.22 °kaḥ so °stu mahāvīhāre; āvāsika-naivāsikair bhikṣubhīr MSV iv.84.7.

āvāsīn (Skt. ifc.), dweller (with, near, in the confines of; with gen.): brāhmaṇagrhapatayaḥ (sc. varṣāḥ, see 109.17) upagatakānām (sc. bhikṣūnām) āvāsi (n. pl.) ... anuprayacchanti MSV II.110.2, and fl., brahmans and householders living (in the confines settled upon) for (the monks) that have entered into residence (for the rains) ...

āvāha, m. (= Pali id.), taking in marriage, taking to wife; as in Pali, compounded or associated with vivāha (q.v. in PTSD) giving (a girl) in marriage: Mvy 9465 = Tib. bag mar blaṅ(s) pa (vivāha 9466 = bag mar blaṅ ba); āvāha-vivāha-, cpd., Bbh 7.7; 267.12, taking and giving in marriage; often rendered, approximately, marriage of a son and of a daughter; āvāho vā vivāho vā MSV II.119.3; III.138.9. Skt. vivāha marriage seems usually to have no such limitation of meaning, but perhaps āvāha and vivāha have the BHS mgs. in Mbh 13.3232 (otherwise BR 5.1124).

āvāhaka, f. °ikā, adj. (to Skt. ā-vah-), bringing in, introductive, inductive: Bbh 97.12 āvāhaka-hetuḥ (one of 10 kinds of hetu); 98.1 (tat punar bijanirvṛttam) phalam uttarasya bijākṣiptaphalasyāvāhakahetuḥ; 99.26 (... tasyāḥ sasyaniṣpatteḥ sasya-) paripākasyāvāhakahetuḥ; AsP 203.10 (sā ... prajñāpāramitā na kasyacit dharmasyāveśikā) vā ... āvāhikā vā nirvāhikā vā.

? āvigalita, perhaps slightly (ā) fallen down (see vigalita): Mv I.154.12, a corrupt and dubious line of vs: kiṃ dāni āvigalitā (mss. °to) vara- (mss. vana-) keśa- (so 5 mss., Senart with 1 ms. kośa-) bhārā (mss. °ro) vāspaughasamstaragatā madanābhlhūtā; said of the harem-women's expected reaction to the Bodhisattva's impending departure. If -keśa- be adopted, possibly with their beautiful masses of hair somewhat loosened (dishevelled).

āviddha, ppp. of ā-vyadh, in Av I.87.5 vihārah ... āviddhaprākātorāṇo, prob. (with walls and arched gateways) fastened on, attached, or possibly pierced. Acc. to Speyer curved, crooked; he refers to LV 207.16, but here the word is applied to a potter's wheel and means whirled, set in motion, made to revolve.

? āviddhaka, m., in Mv III.113.10 (prose) °kā(h), n. pl., n. of some kind of tradesman or artisan; in a long list of such. Senart also reads so by em. at III.442.15, where mss. ācambika or āvambikā. In both followed by guḍapācakāḥ. Obscure and prob. corrupt.

? āvilāyati, is tired or aches (Tib. mi bde, not well), only in prṣṭhi me °ti MPS 30.5 = Pali piṭṭhi me āgilāyati (stock phrase). The seeming denom. from Skt. āvīla is prob. a corruption or rationalization for āgilāyati, q.v. (MIndic form, perh. deliberately made over).

āvīci = āvīci, n. of a hell: °cim ādim kṛtvā LV 86.11 (prose), so both edd. without v.l.; but Lefm.'s Index reads āvīci, referring to this passage.

āyus = āyus, life? (§ 2.31) So acc. to Senart, Mv I.176.7 (prose) samaye ca āyusā (one ms. āyusā, dental s) dayanto (mss. °nte), presumed to mean and on occasion giving alms with their lives. Doubtful.

āvusa, and other forms based on Pali āvuso, brother! (see s.v. āyusman): āvusa, as if voc. to a stem of that form, is used repeatedly as an address in AdP, e.g. 13.4, 10, 22, etc. In Mv I.91.6 (vs) Senart reads āvuso; meter needs — x; mss. āyusaḥ (note that no form of āyusmant is metrically possible), ānuṣaḥ, onuṣaḥ, ānuṣa; in SP 378.1 (prose) Kashgar rec. āvusāho (for ed. āyusmanto), certainly to be read (voc. pl. of a stem āvusa, as in AdP, with ending āho, § 8.88); in Mv I.317.15, 16 (prose) āvusāvo seems to be found in the same sense (mss. unanimous on -vo; see § 8.89; in 16 mss. ānusāvo or anu°, but no v.l. in 15).

āvustam, ppp. of ā-vas (= Pali āvuttha), inhabited: so read for avustam (both edd., no v.l.) LV 388.13 (vs; meter indifferent).

āvṛṇhati (see āvṛhati, āvṛṇhana, etc.), removes, tears away: Mv I.18.12 (prose) teṣām āvṛṇhitam (v.l. āvṛh°) tac chavimānsalohitam vyavadahyati; in Mv I.13.2 read with mss. āvṛmhato (pres. pple.) chavimānsarudhiram vā prasāraye, tearing off the very skin, flesh, and blood, would remove them.

āvṛta, ppp. (corresp. to Pali ovaṭa, as Vin. II.255.23), forbidden (also an-ā°, q.v.): Bhik 5a.5 āvṛtam ānanda bhikṣuṇyā bhikṣum codayitum (5b.1) ... anāvṛtam bhikṣor bhikṣuṇīm codayitum ... it is forbidden for a nun to warn a monk, not for a monk to warn a nun.

āvṛti, f. = āvaraṇa, q.v.: Gv 32.23 (vs) kṣapayaty āvṛti sarvā(h); cited Śikṣ 311.3 with āvṛtiḥ; Tib. sgrīb pa, regularly = āvaraṇa.

? āveṭhita, ppp. (= Pali id.; see veṭhayati), put around: Mv III.225.6 (prose) āveṭhita- (but only by em.; mss. āveṭi-) prākāra, fig. of Buddhas, having encircling (moral) walls. Could āveṭhi be defended, as a noun, from the same root?

āveṇika, adj. (= Pali id. or °ṇiya; etym. obscure; see also āveṇiya, āvedanika, and Konow, Avhandl. Norske Viden. Akad. 1941, II. Hist.-Fil. Kl., p. 41), peculiar, individual, particular, special: Divy 2.3 (a cliché, practically identical with Av I.14.7 etc.) pañcāveṇikā dharmā ekatye paṇḍitajāṭīye mātṛgrāme, there are five peculiar characteristics in every intelligent woman (listed in the sequel); Divy 302.24 °kā ime svāṛthā anuprāpto bhaviṣyāmi, I shall have attained these special purposes of mine (iti sampaśyatā paṇḍitenālam eva pravrajyādhimuktena bhavitum); Mv III.320.6 ye te sattvā āveṇikā bhavanti, evamrūpāḥ sattvā (sc. Buddhas, special creatures) āryadharmacakraṃ pravartenti; there are three āveṇika smṛtyupasthāna (q.v.) in a Buddha, Divy 182.20; Av I.7.5; listed Mvy 187-190; (referred to without the adjective āveṇika, Sūtrāl. xx.53; AbhidhK. La V-P. vii.76;) especially used of the 18 āveṇika buddhadharma of a Buddha, listed Mvy 135-153 (Tib. ma ḥdres pa, unmixed, undullerated, pure); the list here is, (1) nāsti tathāgatasya skhalitam, (2) nāsti ravitam, (3) nāsti muṣṭitasmrītā (or °tiḥ), (4) nāsty asamāhitacittam, (5) nāsti nānātvasamjñā, (6) nāsty apratiṣamkhyāyopekṣā, (7) nāsti chandasya hānīḥ, (8) nāsti vīryasya hānīḥ, (9) nāsti smṛtihanīḥ, (10) nāsti samādhihānīḥ, (11) nāsti prajñāyā hānīḥ, (12) nāsti vimuktihānīḥ, (13) sarva-kāya-karma jñānapūrvam-gamam jñānanuparivartī, (14 and 15) id. with vāk, manāḥ, for kāya, (16-18) atite 17 anāgate, 18 pratyuppanne) 'dhvany asaṅgam apratihatam jñānadarśanam pravartate; similarly Mv I.160.8 ff. Konow, l.c. above); references to the 18 āv°(bu°)dh°, SP 62.4; 259.5; LV 160.15; 275.10-11 (text corrupt, see Weller and Foucaux); 403.2; 428.6; Mv I.38.14; 50.4; 237.9; 335.13; III.64.4; 138.12; 407.3; āveṇika bu° dh° (no number given) SP 77.7; Divy 148.23; Dbh 13.26; 63.22; eighteen āveṇika (no noun expressed) LV 438.8; āveṇika, without number or noun but obviously meaning the same 18, SP 29.11; LV 343.4; acc. to Bbh 88.27 ff. and 375.3 ff., 140 āveṇika buddhadharma, listed (incl. the 32 lakṣaṇa, 80 anuvyañjana, etc., but not the 18 usually recognized); in Mvy 786-804 a totally different list of 18 āveṇika bodhisattva-dharma.

āveṇīya, adj. = āveṇika, q.v.: Divy 98.22 and 440.16 pañcāveṇiyā dharmā lhaikatye paṇḍitajātiye mātṛgrāme, see the same cliché under āvenika.

āvedanika, adj., used in AdP for āvenika, by false Sktization (Konow MASI 69 p. 11, and loc. cit. s.v. āvenika; for Mīndic (Pall) āveniya, 'analyzed as āveyāṇiya from āvedanika': 13.38-39 aṣṭādaśasv āvedanikeṣu buddhadharmeṣu; 14.19 etc., regularly; yet in 35.16 āvenika (still in text of AdP).

āvedha, (1) (m.?): not in this sense Skt. or Pall; not in Pkt.), depth (of a sea or river; lit. penetration? cf. udvedha): Sukh 31.10 mahāsamudrāc caturāṣṭiyojanasahasrāṇy āvedhena tiryag-aprameyāt, from the great ocean, 84,000 yojanas in depth and immeasurable across; 37.18 (santi yāvad ...) -pañcāśadyojanavistārā (sc. mahānadyo) yāvad dvādaśayojanāvedhāḥ, (there are great rivers, up to) 50 yojanas in width, up to 12 yojanas in depth; (2) m., continuing force, as of an arrow that has been shot, or as of the shoot of a plant growing forth, and fig. of the continuative force of life which manifests itself in the skandha, see AbhidhK. LaV-P. II.217; pūrvāvedhāt = pūrvābhyaśāt III.118, from the continuing force of past activity: nikāya-sabhāgasyāvedhāḥ Mvy 7004, the continuative force of the common element in the class (of living beings, sattva; see sabhāga 2), which causes rebirth; Tib. ḥphen pa, something like projection. So also āvedhāḥ Mvy 7535 = Tib. ḥphen pa, or ugs, inherent power, energy (Jā.). In Mvy 6857 āvedhāḥ (between ākṣepaḥ and prasabham), physical projection, penetration (cf. Pall id.); Tib. also ḥphen pa.

āveśa, in LV 163.14 (vs) āveśād (but best ms. ādeśād) ... jñottamānām, equivalent to buddhānām ... adhiṣṭhānena (q.v.: by the supernatural power of the Buddhas) in 9-10 above. Our phrase, as in text, could mean because of entrance, possession, on the part of the Buddhas (BR s.v. 2 and 3); or, reading ādeśād, by command of them. Tib. mthu, power (esp. of magic).

āvyūhati = āyūhati, exerts oneself towards, carries out, performs, with acc.: MadhK 298.13; 517.20 sa na kamcid dharmam āvyūhati nirvyūhati tasyaiva anāvyūhato 'nirvyūhatas traidhātuke cittaṃ na sajjati. Is nirvyūhati a near-synonym of āvyūhati, as nirvyūhati certainly is of āyūhati in Gv? Or is it (as assumed by Tib. and La Vallée-Poussin) an antonym of āvyūhati, as nirvyūhati is of āyūhati in Lañk, and as (a)nirvyūha is of (an)āyūha? See s.vv anāyūha, anāvyūha, anirvyūha.

āvṛdha, ppp. to āvarhati, q.v.

āśāṅkitavya-(sahavratā), Mv II.118.3 (mss. āśāṅkitavyam or āśakitavyam sahavratāya), is certainly a corruption for ākīrcanyāyatana-(sahavratā), q.v., as in LV 238.16; cf. Mv II.119.9 f. = LV 243.17.]

āśa-pātri, food-bowl: in Divy 246.18 (cf. note p. 707) read sauvarṇāśapātri (= 'nā āśa'), for text 'nā sapātri.

āśaya, as in Skt., and Pall āśaya, mental disposition, intent (La Vallée-Poussin, AbhidhK. IV.24 intention); common, but not specifically Buddhist, except the adverbs āśayena heartily, earnestly RP 12.9 (ms. āśrayena; cf. adhyāśayena), and āśayataḥ ibid. Mvy 7119; Divy 281.4, 10; Av II.151.2; Dhg. 16(352).11. The mgs. abode, basis etc. are also standard Skt. Cf. adhyāśaya, which is specifically Buddhist. If Senart is right in keeping āśayāni in Mv III.400.3, it would have to be understood as = āśayāni, (evil) intentions or inclinations; but see āśaya. Often cpd. with anāśaya, q.v.

Āśā, (1) n. of one of four daughters of Indra: Mv II.58.22 ff.; all four are among eight devakumārīkā in the northern quarter, Mv III.909.9 = LV 391.4; (2) n. of a female lay-disciple (upāsikā): Gv 99.12 ff. In mg. 1 certainly a personification of āśa hope; the other three are Śraddhā, Śrī, and Hṛī, qq.v.

[āśāṭavi, conjectured (Index to Divy) to mean great wood: Divy 7.5 yāvad anyatamāśāṭavi praviṣṭā (mss. 'tāh). Tib., cited by Bailey, JRAS 1950.169, shows true reading, 'tamā śālāṭavi.]

āśāṭikā (dental t; = Pall āśāṭikā), egg of a fly or other insect; nit (Childers compares Marathi āśāṭi); as vermin afflicting cattle, Kalpanāmaṇḍitkā 196.V.2 (Lüders Kl. Skt. Texte 2 p. 177, cf. pp. 43, 63, with comparison of corresponding Pall text).

āśāsti, f. (once in Skt., pw 3.256 Gebet; from ā-śās, wish, desire), desire: Ud xxx.29 sarvā hy āśāstaya(s) chit(t)ivā, = Pall (Vin. II.156.27 et alibi) āsattiyo, but this Pall word = Skt. āśakti, attachment, and so substantially the same as longing, desire. Is āśāsti false Skt. for Pall āsatti (used in the Pall form of the same verse where it occurs in Ud)?

[āśāivrate, LV 275.20 (vs), Lefm.'s em.; read with most mss. (some āśā-) āśāivrate, in the solemn-undertaking of his aspiration (āśā, proved by Tib. bsam pa). Cf LV 285.15 (vs) prapūrnā ti āśā (= āśā).]

āśitaki, or ās, also written āśitaka, āśita, āśitaka, āsita, the a-stems being prob. m. (Mv II.231.13); the Pall equivalent is āstika, m. (not 'kā, f., as stated in PTSD), n. of some plant; occurs, regularly in comp. with -parvāṇi (as in Pall with -pabbāni, MN I.80.11 = 245.27), in the account of the Bodhisattva's emaciated state after his long fast, his members being compared to the joints of this plant. The reading āsita(ka) is prob. due to popular etymology, association with āsita black; kāla, q.v., occurs in the context, and note kālāśitako (perhaps read 'ke with v.l.) Mv II.231.13. Other cases, all in comp. with -parvāṇi: LV 254.7 āśitaki-; 255.21 āśitaki- (all mss.; Lefm. inexplicably reads āśitaki- here!); Mv II.126.18 āśitaka- (v.l. āsita-); in 125.12 Senart omits the word with one ms., but the other ms. has āsita-parvāṇi; 128.5 āśitaka- (one ms., the other omits, Senart em. āśitaka-); 129.7 āśita- (v.l. āsita-). The evidence points, on the whole, to āśitaka- or 'ki- as the original-form.

āśīviṣa, m. (In Skt., and Pall-Pkt. āśīviṣa, only serpent; so also here, even in LV, e.g. 317.9; 339.2), serpent-venom, repeatedly in LV: 'śān vamaṇti sma 305.13, 'śān ... bhakṣayanti sma 14; 'śān nīścārayanti sma 306.13, ... vamaṇto 21. In 306.18 āśīviṣapariveṣṭitaśarīrāḥ is taken by Foucaux in this sense, le corps enduit de venin de serpent; but surely it is rather living bodies entwined by serpents, despite neighboring passages showing the other mg. See sumbhalikā.

āśīviṣa-nadī, f. pl., n. of certain rivers: Divy 107.23 'nadīnām tīre śālmāliṇam. See Saptāśīviṣa-, and next.

āśīviṣa, n. of a river: 'śāyām, loc., Divy 451.6, 10; 456.24, 28. See under prec.

[āśu: Johnston, notes on Saundarān. vi.9 and Buddhac. vi.64, assumes use as 'expletive', 'to strengthen the force of the verb', 'in epic and Buddhist Skt.', and suggests relation to the Pall particle assu. He so interprets āśu in Manu 4.171. I disagree on all this; it seems to me that there is no reason to assume any āśu except the adj. and adverb, quick(ly). Tib. renders quickly at Buddhac. vi.64.]

Āśukāri(n), n. of a former Buddha: Mv I.136.16 (n. sg., mss. 'rīḥ or 'rīḥ, Senart em. 'rī; prose, followed by dh-).

Āśuketu, n. of a king, former incarnation of Buddha: RP 24.14.

Āśugandha, n. of a Bodhisattva: Mvy 714.

āśraddhya, nt. (also āśrāddhya, q.v.; = Pall assaddhiya), disbelief, lack of (true) faith: Bbh 15.1; Mvy 1973 acc. to text of Kyoto ed. and v.l. of Mironov; text of Mironov āśraddhya; Index to Kyoto ed. cites both.

āśraya, m. (Skt., basis etc.), (1) in Lañk., acc. to Suzuki, the ālaya-vijñāna (q.v.) as basis of all vijñānas; one must make it converted, in revulsion (parāvṛtta, cf. Lañk 9.11 parāvṛttāśraya); Lañk 10.5 anyathā dṛśyamāna ucchedam āśraye (so read with v.l. for 'yo, text 'yaḥ), if the basis is otherwise regarded (loc. abs.), (there is) destruction (it is fatal to the holder of such a view); (2) acc. to citation in Burnouf Introd. 449, six āśraya = the six sense organs (as one of the three groups constituting the 18 dhātus); this is said to be attributed to the Yogācāras in 'le commentaire de L'Abhidharma'; it does not seem to occur in AbhidhK. and I have not noted precisely this usage in any text, but cf. next; (3) acc. to AbhidhK. LaV-P. iii.126, le corps muni d'organes, qui est le point d'appui (āśraya) de ce qui est appuyé (āśrita) sur lui: à savoir de la pensée et des mentaux (cittacaitta). Is the obscure passage Mv ii.153.1-2 somehow concerned here? It reads, in a verse (see my Reader, Four Sights [Mv], n. 40) describing disease (vyādhī): ... śokānāra prabhavo rativyupasamo (i. e. 'samo) cittāśrayānām nidhi, dharmasyopasamaḥ (lacuna of 6 syllables) gātrāśritānām gṛhaṃ, yo lokam pibate vapuś ca grāsate etc. I should be inclined to emend to cittāśrayānām (cf. LV 345.21, below), but for the phrase gātrāśritānām gṛhaṃ, which implies support for āśraya; Senart refers to Burnouf (l. c.), but finds it hard to apply āśraya and āśrita as used in that passage; (4) commonly, body (cf. prec.): LV 324.16 (vs) subhato (= śu) kalpayamāna āśrayam vitathena, falsely imagining the body to be handsome; RP 6.13 lakṣaṇaiś ca pratimaṇḍitāśrayo; 23.1 me jvalita āśrayaḥ, my body was burned; 25.7 me tyakta varāśrayaḥ; 26.8; 27.16; Dh 16.10; Av i.175.4 pretāśrayasadrśāḥ; 264.9 pretīm vikṛtāśrayām; 272.3; 291.17; 332.9; 356.7; 361.2; ii.172.9; see also cañcittāśraya; [in LV 345.21 āśraya-(kṣaya-jñāna-) without v.l., but Tib. translates āśraya, which must be adopted: knowledge leading to destruction of the impurities, not ... of the body]. See next.

āśvāsaka, m. (1) (= Pkt. āśāsaa, Sheth; Skt. āśvāsa), chapter, section (in a book): Mv 1468; (2) (= Pali assā-saka), desire, aspiration: MSV ii.6.8.

āśvāsani, n. of a kīṃnara maid: Kv 6.16.

āśvāsa-praśvāsa (Pali assāsa-passāsa), m. dual or pl., breath; usually used without clear indication of difference between the two terms, like ānāpāna, q.v.: LV 251.15-16 nāsikātas cāśvāsapraśvāsāv uparuddhāv abhūtām; 252.3 'sā ūrdhvaṃ śīraḥkapālām upanighnanti sma; as separate words, 259.7 āśvāsaviprahīnāḥ praśvāsarajitu; Mv ii.124.10 (and ff.) mukhato nāsikāśrotrēhi ca āśvāsapraśvāsā uparundhi (1 sg. aor.); Mv iii.179.19 'sehi tathāgatam upahanati; Śāl 78.3, 17 kāyasyāśvāsapraśvāsakṛtyam; Sādh 61.19 'sādikam; the verb uśvasati, q.v., corresponds to āśvāsa in Mv ii.208.3-4 āśvāsapraśvāsā uparuddhā ... no pi uśvasati na praśvasati (the two verbs repeated twice in lines 8, 9), cf. LV 189.12 ucchvasantam praśvasantam, rendered by Tib. dbugs dbyuñ zhiñ rñub breathing out and in, but in line 15 below praśvasantaḥ is rendered dbugs dbyuñ, breathing out (implying that ucchvasantam was understood as breathing in); ucchvāsa-praśvāso (sg.) also occurs, seemingly = āśvāsa-pra°, Śikṣ 42.5; in Sādh 146.17 ff. it is entirely certain that praśvāsa is understood as outbreathing and āśvāsa inbreathing, tadanu tan mithunam praśvāsavāyurathārdham nāsikāvivareṇa niḥsṛtya ... sattvānām kāyavākcittāni viśodhya gṛhītvā ca punar āśvāsavāyum āruhya tenaiva pathā svahr̥tkamalakarnīkāyām praviśet; consistent with this is Amg. ussāsa (and relatives), which BHS usage would clearly have associated with āśvāsa, and which acc. to Ratnach. means breathing in; Pali tradition is indeterminate, see Vism i.272.1 which states that Vin. comm. defines assāsa as outgoing, passāsa as incoming breath, but that in Sutta comms. (Suttantaṭṭhakathāsu) the reverse is taught (the passage is misunderstood by PTSD and Pe Maung Tin; uppattipāṭiyā = Pkt. upparivādi, inverted, transposed). Tib. regularly āśvasati = dbugs brñubs (or cognate) breathe in Mvy 1173, 1175, etc., praśvasati = dbugs phyuñ (or cognate) breathe out Mvy 1174, 1176, etc.; it therefore supports Sādh 146.17 ff., and incidentally the equation of āśvāsa with āna and praśvāsa with apāna (see ānāpāna). How old this interpretation is remains uncertain, esp. in view of the fact that in Pali the comms. differed; Buddhaghosa himself, in the Vism. passage cited, declines to arbitrate between the two opposing views. Whatever may have been the meaning of the two terms, it seems clear that the cpd. (like ānāpāna) was commonly used in the sense of breath, collectively and as a whole.

āsana, nt. (= Pali id., Vv 1.5, taken by comm. 24.16-17 as dim.), seat (= Skt. āsana), here certainly not dim.: Av i.321.10 (rājā ...) Bhagavato rthena āsana-kāni prajñāpya, having provided seats for the Lord's use; MSV i.79.14.

āsana-tā (= Skt. āsana as nom. act.), seating, the giving a seat (to someone, as a courtesy): Mv i.298.18 pratyutthānam (mss. paryut) āsanatām tato ca (... mahājano prito karoti); ŚsP 1470.1 (?not clear).

āsannaka, adj. (= Skt. āsanna; perhaps m.c.), near: Śikṣ 305.11 (vs) 'ko bhavati tathāgatānām (= Mv ii.388.18 with different and secondary meter, reading āsannapṛāpto).

āsannībhavati (āsanna with bhū), comes near, approaches (with gen.): AsP 11.7-8 evaṃ carata(h)... bodhisattvasya... sarvajñatā āsannībhavati; ŚsP 825.5-6 āsannībhavaty ayaṃ bodhisattvo... sarvākārajñatāyā iti; ppp. °bhūtaḥ Mvy 5109.

āsamudācārika, adj., with dharma, (rule) applying to customary behavior (samudācāra 1): Bhik 11a.1 keśavā-tārikāyā ahaṃ... bhikṣuṇyā āsamudācārikān dharmān prajñāpayāmi... (2) keśavā-tārikā bhikṣuṇī yathāprajñāp-tān āsamudācārikān dharmān āsamādāya vartate, sāti-sārā bhavati; MSV i.vi.9, 13; vii.15 etc.

āśaya, nt., in Mv iii.400.3 hitvā ālayāni (see ālaya) āśayāni (v.l. āsanāni); the Pall parallel Sn 535 reads āśavāni = BHS āśravāpi, āś°, which must probably be read, since āśaya (q.v.) seems not to be used in a pejorative sense, and no other interpretation for āśaya seems possible.

āsarita, nt., and nihsarita, nt.; °taṃ Gv 351.18, 19 respectively: the first two of ten 'bodily conditions' (śarīrasthā dharmāḥ), the other 8 being cold, heat, hunger, thirst, delight, anger, birth-old-age-disease-and-death, and pain (piḍā). Context throws no further light. Interpretation of these two terms obscure. Are they somehow related to āsarlo = sammukhāgataḥ Deśn. 1.69, and nihsaritaṃ = srastam ibid. 4.40? Something like slack condition, slumped-down state might be intended by nihsarita; would āsarita be its opposite, a state arrived at the right point?

āsādāna (nt.) or °nā, n. act. to āśādāyati (not in PTSD, but occurs in Pall Vin. iv.84.16 āśādānapekkho, same passage as Prāt 510.1; could be °na or °nā, annoyance: Prāt 510.1 (bhūṅkṣvety) āśādānaprekṣi, seeking to annoy (him); Jm 199.24 evaṃ āśādānāṃ api... pratindanti.

āsādāyati (= Pall āśādeti, not in Skt. in this sense; cf. prec.), annoys, troubles, disturbs: ppp. Prāt 510.2 (kaccid eṣa bhikṣur muhūrtam apy) āśāditaḥ syād, should (might) be annoyed.

āsiyati Mv iii.86.3 (vs), apparently 3 sg. pass. of ās, impersonal, it is sat, one sits; but the passage is obscure to me.

āśivaka, m., app. only by em. for āsevaka, q.v.] āsupta, ppp. of °āsvapati (cf. āśvāpana), gone to sleep: Mv I.227.16 (prose) kilāntaṃ antaḥpuram āsuptam.

āsurya (nt.?), n. of some art or philosophy or science, in a list: °ye LV 156.21 (prose), after āmbhīrye; Tib. lha ma yin gyl lugs, way or system of the asuras.

āsecanaka, adj. (= asecanaka, q.v.), charming, pleasing, of sights and sounds: darśaniyo °ko apratikūlo Mv I.237.13, of the appearance of a Buddha; darśayanti ca ātmānāṃ āsecanakavīgraham Sādh 16.8, and sarvāṅga-pratyāṅgāsecanakavīgraham (here could be asecanaka) 22.15, both said of Buddhas; of sound, (ghoṣo...) manojñāḥ °ko apratikūlo śravaṇāya Mv i.194.13, 14; 196.8, 10. (In Mv I.207.1 = ii.10.11 read with mss. asecanaka or asecanīya.)

āsevaka, or °kā, some kind of garment: SP 283.9 (vs), cited Śiḥs 352.13, āsevaka (unmetr.) one ms. and Śiḥs °kaṃ; WT with most mss. °kāṃ; Kashgar rec. °kā) kṣṣa tathādaditvā. Tib. acc. to Bendall rdul gzan, dust garment (Jā. cloak, against dust on a journey), but acc. to WT, and my own copy of Tib. SP, rdul gzan, which = samkaksikā, q.v.; Burnouf and Kern woolen garment; note that Tib. rdul and rdul are very easily confused in writing; in MSV ii.52.5 āsevaka (ms., ed. em. āśivaka) seems to mean patch (so Tib., lhan thabs kyis klan pa); in the next line, 6, sevakaṃ (ms., ed. em. sīv°) dattvā dhāraya, seems to show the same mg., and in 11 below, text āśivakāms (by em.? ms. āsev° as before?) tu dattvā dhārayitvayam, confirms this mg. (reference is to materials unsuitable for making robes).

āsevanā (= Pall id.; Skt. only °na, nt., recorded), cultivation (of), devotion (to), at end of cpd.: Bbh 35.28 (bhogātmabhāvasampādo) hetv-āsevanā.

āstīryati = ar(t)ītyati, q.v.: Karmav 47.26; 49.2. āstopaka, or (v.l.) āstomaka, āstoka (could also be understood as having initial ā-), in LV 249.2-3 ārdrapaṭ-āstopaka-jāla-śayanāś ca (in list of ascetic practices); this part of cpd. in Tib. rendered stegs buhi steṅ, top surface of a board, which makes sense (lying or sleeping in wet clothes, ... or in water; read jāla for jāla, as Tib. proves). This word is prob. corrupt, and in fact the mss. vary greatly; the best ones °maka.

āsthiti (f.; not recorded, but see below), perseverance, persistence: in °ti-kriyā, acting with ... Mvy 1797; = Pall aṭṭhita-kiriyatā, id. (CPD), which would be °āsthita-kriyatā. See s.v. āsthiṣṭya.

[āsparsā, supposedly contact, assumed by Senart in a cpd. Mv ii.115.12; but see sparśita.]

āsparaṇaka-samādhi, name of a dhyāna: n. sg. °dhiḥ Mvy 1487; Tib. mkhaḥ khyab, expanse of heaven; cf. under āsphānaka.

āspḥāyati, tears, rends: ger. āspḥātya Divy 375.25; 376.5 (santi sattvā... yān narakapālā... ayomayena sūtreṇa... āspḥātya...).

āsphānaka, nt. (= Pall appānaka, °naka; etym. and lit. mg. obscure; doubtless = āsparaṇaka (-samādhi), q.v.; CPD conjectures relation to (ā-)sphāyate, swells, grows; LV seems to think of forms of spharati, but this may be etymological fancy, despite the Mvy āsparaṇaka-), n. of a kind of dhyāna (either alone, or in cpd. °ka-dhyāna): LV 250.14 °ka-dhyānam samāpadyate... °nakam iti; explained lines 19-20 ākāśam āsparaṇam akaraṇam avikaraṇam tac ca sarvaṃ spharatiṭi hy ākāśasamaṃ tad dhyānam (cf. [āspḥāra, tearing, acc. to Senart, Mv I.9.16, in a corrupt line of vs; ed. em. sadāyasaphālāspḥārā, see note p. 377. But Senart failed to note that the passage I.9.8-12.14 is repeated in iii.454.7-456.20. This line occurs iii.454.15, reading kadaryatapanā ghorā, which disproves at least part of Senart's em. and is close enough to the reading of the mss. at I.9.16 to make it acceptable as a whole.]

āsmākina, adj. (prescribed Pān. 4.3.2), our: Av I.327.4; so best ms., v.l. asm°, which is the form regularly recorded in Av (see āsmākina) and which Speyer adopts in the text here; but in li p. 210 he withdraws that reading in favor of āsm°. There is no record of either form, nor of any Mīdic equivalent, elsewhere.

āsrava (perhaps oftener written āśrava), m. āsvapati, nowhere recorded except in BHS ppp. āsupta, and caus. adj. or nom. act. āsvāpana, qq.v.; must have meant goes to sleep (caus. puts to sleep).

āsvādanīya, (1) adj. (gdve.), enjoyable, pleasant (of sounds): Mvy 391 °nyo ghoṣeṇa (of Tathāgata); (2) subst. The gdve. assādanīya exists in Pali and assāyanīja in AMg. (tasteful; full of relish, Ratnach.), but no equivalent of the word seems to be recorded elsewhere in the BHS meanings.

āsvāpana, nt. (adj. or nom. act. to caus. of āsvapati, q.v.), sleeping potion or charm (lit. putting to sleep): Divy 526.23, 25 rājñāḥ śāntaḥpurasyāsvāpanam dattvā (25 dattam).

IV.159.16 (nāvam) āharitvā gāmato, apparently having towed away from the village; cf. also āharaṇa; (2) in Mvy 798 = Tib. rgyud, usually = tantra; perhaps a mystic technique in general, or possibly bringing in in a more specific sense, see s.v. yamaka; (3) district, province: Māy 28; see Hultsch, Aśoka, 163 n. 11; (4) āhāra, nt. = Skt. āhāra, m. food: Divy 13.7 °raṃ, n. sg.; same MSV III.22.10. On āhāra-kṛtya see s.v. kṛtya (2).

āhāraka, m. in Mvy 3851, acc. to Tib. sñod cñ stobs pa, which seems to mean someone concerned with food; so also Chin. Prob. this is etymological guesswork (Skt. āhāra). Certainly it refers to some member of a ship's crew; see āhāra, āharaṇa; perhaps one who tows (or otherwise propels?) a boat, as in Pali āharitvā (nāvam) Jāt. IV.159.16.

īṅga, a large number or method of computation: LV 148.15; no v.l., but Mvy 7982, citing this LV passage, īṭṭā; Tib. for both gtan la hbebs pa (v.l. in Mvy gdan for gtan), which regularly = vinīścaya; is it intended here to render the root ṅg in the sense of separation? Cf. the phonetic-grammatical use of the root, esp. s.v. ṅgya in BR.

icchatva = (and prob. false reading for) itthatva, q.v. However, if Wogihara were right in his interpretation of icchantika, q.v., this would support derivation of icchatva from itthatva.

icchantika, adj. or subst. m., acc. to Suzuki (Studies, 219 n. 1, and 391), one destitute of Buddha-nature: Mvy 2210, 2223 = Tib. ḥdod chen (po), (subject to) great desire (somehow based on pres. pple. of icchati); Lañk 27.5 katham 'ko bhavet; 65.17 'kāṇam... anicchantikatā-mokṣam (read as one cpd. word) kena pravartate; and often in Lañk. itiḥāsaka, nt. (1 = Skt. itihāsa, m.), history, story, legend: Mvy 4971 *kam, n. sg. (follows purāṇam; gender influenced by this?).

itthatva, nt. (= Pall itthātta), the being in this world: Mv iii.447.8 (kṣiṇā me jātīr ...) noparim itthatvam iti prajānāti. Recorded as icchatva Mv i.52.7 devanikāyato cyavivā icchatvam āgacchanti, and in similar phrases 52.8; 338.18; ii.133.4. Senart allows icchatva to stand, regarding it as a genuine phonetic alternative form (i.417); and all mss. read so in these passages. But in view of iii.447.8 it seems to me likely that icchatva is a mere graphic corruption, § 2.22. See however icchatva.

ityukta (nt.), cited by Burnouf, Intr. 60 f., and Kern, SBE 21.45 n. 4; not noted in texts; = next.

ityuktaka (nt.; cf. prec.; = itivṛttaka, q.v.; a more historical Sktization of Pall itivuttaka), sayings (sc. of the Buddha), n. of a canonical work or type of literature: ŚsP 1460.5 gāthoddānanidānatyuktaka- (read *nidānet-yuktaka)-jātaka-.

itvara, adj. (= Pall itvara; Skt. Lex., rare and late in lit., see pw; cf. itara, which in Pall is commonly treated as the same word but seems to be unrelated in origin; possibly secondary blending has occurred between the two words), slight, small, trivial, unimportant; brief, momentary (of time): Mvy 2699 *ram (n. sg.); Mv iii.186.4 *ram khu ayam tāpo, this (sun's) heat is a trivial thing; LV 123.4 (vs) kim tasyābharanebhīr (so, as one word) itvarāḥ, what need has he of trivial (ordinary, worthless) ornaments?; RP 39.12 asāram itvaram ca lokam (acc. sg.); Śikṣ 167.8 mahākāruṇyacyaitotpādenetvareṇa kāmopasamhitena, by an impulse of pity, tho vile (? better trivial, slight), and full of desire (Bendall-Rouse); of virtue, merit, etc., Gv 529.9 itvara-guṇa-saṃtuṣṭair, satisfied with slight virtues; LV 271.3 (vs) itvarapūṇya devamanujā; Gv 508.24 itvara-kuśalamūlānām devamanuṣyāṇām (of those who do not follow the Mahāyāna); Śikṣ 60.14 itvara-kuśalamūlāḥ; of time, Bbh 87.4 itvarakālābhyāsāt (short), contrasted with dirghakālābhyāsāt line 3; vijñāyate netvara-darsanena Ud xxix.11 = Pall SN i.79.17 (momentary, fleeting glance); of gifts, Divy 317.8 kim punar me itvareṇa dānena pradattena.

indra, m. (1) as in Pall (Sakko devānam indo), the deva who in Skt. is named Indra (but frequently also called Śakra) is in BHS often called Śakra, devānam indra, Śakra king of the gods, the word indra being clearly a common, not a proper, noun; so SP 69.8; LV 62.14; 66.4; etc., passim; this is specially clear when the n. pr. Śakra is omitted but the gen. devānam retained, as in LV 62.15, 18 devānam indra, O king of the gods! (2) a high number: Mvy 8022 indraḥ = Tib. dbaṅ po, lord (regularly = indra); (3) n. of a yakṣa: Māy 29; 236.25; (4) n. of a brahman: Divy 74.17 ff.; (5) n. of a king: Mmk 625.21.

-indraka (= Pall -indaka), at end of Bhvr. cpds., = indra (either as n. pr. or in the sense of lord, king): LV 54.13 (vs) devadānavagaṇāḥ sa-indrakāḥ; 391.14 (vs) devāḥ sa-indrakāḥ; Mv ii.260.4 (prose) sendrakā devā.

indrakīla, m. Indradhvajaketu, n. of a Tathāgata: Gv 281.7; same as Candradhvajaśrīketu 280.12.

indra-paṭa, nt., acc. to pw 2.294, Luftgewand, so v.a. Nacktheit: °taṃ śvetapaṭaṃ dhyuṣṭapaṭaṃ Kv 81.6-7; but can indra- have this mg. (= sky, air, as in digambara)? I find no basis for the theory. All the context shows is that persons dressed in these garbs should not be consecrated (dikṣ). What the garb of Indra (? of a prince) means is not clear. It is true that śveta-paṭa is recorded as used of the Jain sect otherwise called śvetāmbara; doubtless this was the reason for Boehtlingk's conjecture, based on the assumption that this word equals digambara; but I doubt that this is sufficient to support it. That a real sort of cloth is meant is suggested by nānā-paṭeṣu, line 6.

Indrapura, n. of a town: Māy 29.

indrahasta, m. (°taḥ, n. sg.), Mvy 5823, or °stā, f. (n. sg.), Suv 104.7; Tib. in both dbaṅ poḥi lag (pa), a literal rendering of the Skt., which Das says means 'a plant the viscid aromatic root of which resembles the human arm in shape'; in both Mvy and Suv one item in lists of herbs, oṣadhī (Suv auśadhayo, n. pl.). Mvy has other Tib. renderings, apparently foreign words and not in Dictt., ḥab ṣaṅ tse ḥu (which also renders prativiṣam, Mvy 5822) and ḥa ba ṣa tshe ḥu.

Indrāyudhaśikhin, n. of a nāga: Mvy 3356.

Indriya, (1) nt. (Pali also uses the word of this group, see PTSD s.v., B, Nos. 15-19), one of the five moral faculties (śraddhā, vīrya, smṛti, samādhi, prajñā), to which correspond five powers (bala) with the same names: listed Mvy 976-981; Sūtrāl. xviii.55 (and cf. xi.12, Transl. 106, n. 10); Dharmas 47; each treated as a dharmāloka-mukha, LV 33.17-20; mentioned, with balas, but not listed, SP 47.2; 80.1; (2) a high number, Gv 106.3 sattvendriyasya.

Indriyeśvara, n. of a boy: Gv 131.5 ff.

imamhi, loc. sg. of idam, = iha, here; repeatedly in Mv, e.g. ii.107.6; 478.7; see § 21.66.

iyamtata, adj., of such an extent, so great, or (here) so small: Sukh 32.1 (prose) tad yathā sa ekavindur iyamtataḥ sa prathamasaṃnipāto (see saṃnipāta) °bhūt. Could this be an error for iyantaḥ = Skt. iyaṇ, n. sg. m. of iyaṇ? But I have not noted such MIndic morphology in the prose of Sukh. Emendation to iyattakaḥ (Vedic only and rare) is not attractive.

iyamduḥkha, adj., having torments to this extent (iyam for Skt. iyaṭ, see § 18.54): Divy 375.15, 21; 376.1, 9 °khā hi bhikṣavo narakāḥ (or narakāḥ).

Idṛśika, f. °kī, adj. (cf. Skt. Idṛśaka; no form in °ika seems recorded), such: SP 325.11 (vs) kriyām Idṛśikīm (no v.l.).

Iryā or iryā (chiefly the latter, semi-MIndic, has been noted; = Pali and AMg. iriyā) = the much commoner iryā-patha (or iryā°), deportment, behavior, particularly good, dignified, proper deportment: Mv 1.302.10 iryam (mss., Senart iryām) paśyitvā (of a Pratyekabuddha); III.60.9 (kalyāṇā) punar iyam pravrajitasya iryā (Senart iryā); 92.10 iryā (Senart iryā); LV 115.2 (vs) teṣa (gods) yathā ca iryā; 116.7 (vs) yatha irya netra vimalāprabha, since he possesses proper deportment and an eye of pure splendor (so better than taking irya-netra as cpd. with Foucaux); 330.12 (vs) iryām (no v.l. in mss.) caryām ca prekṣate, he (Bodhisattva) regards (considers duly) proper deportment and conduct; MSV II.186.10 (prose) tayā iryayā caryayā.

iryā-patha, m. (= Pali iriyā-patha, AMg. iriyā-vaha; in mss., esp. of Mv and LV, often written iryā° or iryyā°, semi-MIndic, which Lefm. usually keeps but Senart emends to iryā°; once, at least, iriyā-patha, as in Pall, Mv II.157.1, prose, kept by Senart; also airyāpatha, q.v.; see prec. and next), much commoner than the synonymous iryā, (1) movement (of physical movements of any sort): Mv 1.22.11 (prose) chinna-iryāpathā (all mss., Sen. em. °iryā) gacchanti (mss. gacchati), sinners in hell, confined in huts (gharakehi oruddhā), go with (freedom of) movement cut off, i. e. suffer restraint of movement (but possibly more specifically, suffer restraint of posture, see 4 below, e. g. are not allowed to sit or lie down); (2) applied to any particular course of religious, esp. ascetic, performance, and specifically to disapproved ascetic practices of heretics, such as the 'five-fire' practice (mentioned in the prec.): Divy 350.7 (sa) teṣām-teṣām (of heretical ascetics) iryāpathān vikopayitum ārabdhāḥ; (3) generally less specific, behavior, deportment, good or bad, of people in general; but esp. of the approved deportment of pious Buddhists, of monks, or of Bodhisattvas or Buddhas; most commonly with favorable implication; but this may be made clear by an adjective, esp. prāsādika, gracious, (religiously) attractive: Mv III.27.3-4 prāsādikena iryāpathena (v.l. iryyā°), of a Pratyekabuddha; in Śikṣ 348.6 prāsādika and aprāsādika iryā°, good and bad deportment, contrasted; Divy 82.14 śān-Iryāvant, adj. (recorded only in semi-MIndic form Iryavant, with short a m.c.; from Iryā), characterized by proper deportment: LV 113.20 and 114.7 (vss) Iryavantaḥ, n. pl. (of gods); 240.10 (vs) Iryavanto, n. sg. (of the Bodhisattva).

Irṣi, or Irṣi = Skt. Irṣyā, envy (see § 3.115): LV 75.10 (vs) kāmachandu naiva tasya Irṣi (some mss. Irṣyā, unmetr., while Irṣya would be possible; v.l. also Irṣu) naiva himsītā.

Irṣu, Irṣuka, see an-ī°.

Irṣyāyate, °ti, is jealous: Mv II.480.5 (prose) °yase; Śikṣ 62.2 (prose) te pareṣāṃ Irṣyānti. Must have existed in Skt. since the ppp. Irṣyāyita, as nt. nom. act., is recorded; see pw. Denom. from Irṣyā.)

Irṣyālu, adj. (= Skt. Irṣyālu), jealous, envious: SP 429.6 (prose) mā ... sattvā Irṣyālukā mā matsarīṇo ...; Samādh p. 53, line 5 (vs; here -ka could be m.c.).

Isādhara, m., n. of a mountain: Dharmas 125; Mironov for Mv 4144 (with v.l. Isādhāra). See under Isādhara.

ukara- (v.l. udakara-, utkara-; cf. ugra-lipi), in Mv 1.135.6 (prose) ukara-madhura-darada-cīṇa- (etc.), sc. lipi, a list of various kinds of writing. Senart would em. ukaramadhura to uttara-kuru, very implausibly; the parallel LV passage has ugra-lipi which surely represents the same original as this word.

ukirati (m.c. for o-k° = ava-k°; § 3.55), scatters, throws down upon (acc.): °ranti naranāyakkottamam Sukh 49.7 (all mss. uk°); 50.3 (mss. ok°, unmetr.; Müller ok° both times).

ukkarikā (= Skt. utk°), a kind of sweetmeat: Divy 500.23, 24, 26 ukkarikāpaṇaḥ (and acc. °ṇaṃ). Cf. ukkārika.

Ukkala, nt. (presumably = Skt. Utkala, Orissa; cf. Pali Ukkalā), n. of a locality (adhīsthāna), where Trapaṣa and Bhalika originated; when they visited Buddha they were journeying from the south (Mv III.303.6), presumably homeward bound (so also in LV 381.4-6, where they are described as uttarāpathakau); Mv III.303.4 uttarāpathe ukkalam nāmādhīsthānaṃ tato ukkalāto ... trapaṣo ca bhaliko ca ...

ukkārika, nt. (cf. ukkarikā), some kind of sweetmeat or delicacy: Mv II.190.6 (prose) anye nānāprakārāṇi khajjakāni allyanti, anye ukkārikāni allyanti, anye modakāni allyanti; III.158.9, 12 (modakāni ca) ukkārikāni ca. (In line 12 v.l. ukvāritāni.)

ukkāsati (MIndic for Skt. utkā°; = Pali id.), coughs, clears the throat: Mv II.281.13, 18 ukkāsi, 14, 15 ukkāse (both aor.). See next two.

ukkāsana (nt.; = Skt. utkā°; cf. prec. and next), Isādhāra, (1) n. of a nāga, Mironov's reading for Isā° Mvy 3333; (2) m. pl., n. of a range of mountains (= Isā°; see under Isādhara): Śikṣ 246.4 °rā(h).

Isāra, (1) n. of a rich householder's son in Campā: Karmav 66.9; (2) n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.9.

Isāraguṇaparājitadhvaḥ, n. of a Tathāgata: Gv 380.22; later, in vs, called Isārajitaguṇadhvaḥ, 383.14.

Isāragupta, n. of a former Buddha: Mv I.141.4.

Isāradeva, n. of (apparently) two Bodhisattvas (in the same list! Is one an error?): Gv 442.8, 10.

Isārajitaguṇadhvaḥ, see Isāraguṇaparājita-dhvaḥ.

Isāriya, nt. (= Pali issariya, AMg. id. or Isāriya; penultimate i may be m.c.), sovereignty: Mv II.395.6 (vs) na tasya ko pi (by em.; one ms. vi) jane Isāriyam The Śikṣ parallel, 308.4, has Isāratvam.

Isādhara, m. (= Pali Isādhara), n. of a mountain (one of the seven ranges surrounding Sumeru; Kirfel, Kosm. 186): Mv 4144 (but Mironov Isā°, with v.l. Isādhāra). Cf. next, Isāmdhara (Isam°), Isādhāra, Isādhara. Kyoto ed. text Isā°, Index °Isā° (Isā°).

Isādhāra, m. (see under prec.), (1) n. of a mountain or mountain-range: Divy 217.12, 14; MSV 1.94.6; (2) n. of a deity (giving rain): Śikṣ 247.7 (or may be Isā°; samdhi ambiguous); (3) implied by Tib. instead of Isādhāra, q.v.

Isi, Isit, adv. (= AMg. Isi; Skt. Isat; form lacking -t noted only in vss, but regularly in metr. indifferent positions, hence not m.c.), a little, slightly; only noted in Mmk, but common there: Isimītamukhaṃ 133.3; 135.2; °mukhā 236.11; 239.21; Isitkāyāvanāmitam 133.6; mahātmā... Isi dṛṣyati tatkaṇṭhā 240.1; Isit pracoditā 363.25; in prose, Isitprahasitavadanaḥ 41.22; Isid avanāmayet 391.2; others 388.3; 390.22; etc.

a cough, or clearing of the throat: Mv II.418.16 °na-śabdena māro ... bhagio; 419.16, 18.

ukkāsita (nt.; = Pali id.), = prec.: Mv II.281.13 (mahāśimha-) ukkāsitāṃ ukkāsi (repetitions in sequel); 410.4 (bodhisattvena ca) ukkāsiśabdena bhagio (sc. māro).

ukramati (for o- = ava-k° § 3.54), see avakramati. ukṣa, m. (false Skt. for Pali, AMg. ukkhā, each recorded once, cf. Pischel 194, or for Skt. ukhā), pot, vessel: LV 324.13 (vs) udaro mūtrapurīṣasaṃcayo asucokṣaḥ, the belly is a heap of urine and dung, a vessel of impurities. Is the masc. gender due to assimilation to udara, in this isolated occurrence?

Uggata, see Udgata.

uggam-, uggir- (or uggur-), MIndic for Skt. ud-g°, see § 2.9.

Ugra, (1) n. of a nāga king, previous incarnation of Buddha: Mv I.131.5; (2) n. of a householder (grihapati; prob. = Pali Ugga, in DPPN no. 5), character in the Ugrasūtra, q.v.: Karmav 162.6, 10. See Lévi's note, and Pali AN III.51.

Ugrateja, (1) n. of a former Buddha: LV 5.11 (2) n. of a god (devaputrā): LV 39.13 (prose; °tejo, i. sg.); (3) n. of a son of Māra, unfavorable to the Bodhisattva: LV 310.9 °tejā(s), n. sg.

Ugradattaparipṛcchā, n. of a work, = next: Śikṣ 18.18; 37.7; 78.7; 180.1, 14; 192.11; 193.3; 196.7; 198.1; 290.1.

Ugraparipṛcchā, = prec.: Mvy 1396; Śikṣ 11.2;

120.3; 131.10; 315.14; called Ugrapariṣṭhā-sūtra (cf. Ugrasūtra?), Śikṣ 136.1.

Ugra-lipi, a kind of writing: LV 125.22. Tib. drag sul can confirm ugra-; cf. under ukara-.

Ugra-sūtra, n. of a work: Karmav 162.6; see s.v. Ugra (2), and Lévi's note. The passage here cited does not occur among the Śikṣ citations from the Ugrapariṣṭhā(sūtra), which may or may not be a different work.

Ugrasena (= Pali Uggasena), n. of a king of Benares, in story of the nāga Campaka (Pali Campeyya Jātaka): Mv ii.177.9 ff.

ucita, nt., merit: Karmav 26.23 yathā hy ucitam niksīptam, evam... gacchanti durgatim, for as their merit has been thrown away (laid down), so they go to an evil fate. Contrasts with duritam, sin, in 29.14 yathā duritam niksīptam, evam... gacchanti sadgatim. (This specialized use of ucita seems nowhere recorded.)

uccagghati, also °ghayati (= Pali ujjagghati; cf. samagghati; sometimes written °caghati, doubtless by mere error; c for j is surely secondary but unexplained, cf. Pischel 190, 191, and Wogihara, Lex. 41), laughs at, mocks, sneers at, derides; often with forms of ul-lap- (-lāp-), q.v.: SP 382.12 ye te tam bodhisattvaṃ... ullāpitavanta uccagghatavantaḥ (WT uccaggh*), who yelled derisively and laughed at that B.; Śikṣ 12.15 uccagghataḥ prakrāmeyuḥ, would depart sneering (at not receiving promised food); 13.1 devatā uccagghanti vivādayanti (a Bodhisattva who falls in his duty); 49.12 (prose) evaṃ vijrmbhamānā uccagghanto; AsP 232.(12-13) (te vijrmbhamānā) hasanta uccagghayanto likhīsyanti; 18 parasparam uccagghayamānā (v.l. °yanto) likhīsyanti; 385.13 anyān... avamamsyate uccagghayīsyati ullāpayīsyati kut-sayīsyati pamsayīsyati; 388.19.

uccagghana, nt., and °nā (to prec.; sometimes written with gh for ggh), mocking, laughing at: Mvy 5226 °nam (followed by ullāpanam); SP 482.6 (ya evaṃ) sūtrāntalekhakānām uccagghanam karīsyanty ullāpīsyanti; LV 431.18 hāsyocagghanavivarjana- (so read for Lefm. °occatyana°); Śikṣ 45.7 uccagghanam tarjanam ca; 185.1 uccagghanam (read -ggh-) sahate, unmananām kutsanām sahate; 271.6 nāsty uccagghanollāpana-dānam, there is no giving with sneers and derisive yells.

uccaṃgama, m. (uccam, adv., = Pali id., see Childers, plus gama, going aloft), a kind of bird: Divy 476.10 ff.; 480.11.

[uccatyaṇa, LV 431.18, error for uccagghana, q.v.] uccataraka, adj. (cf. Pali uccatara, see PTSD s.v. ucca; Skt. uccastara), higher: Mvy 8603 na nīcatarake niṣaṇṇa uccatarake āsane niṣaṇṇāyāglānāya dharmam deśayīsyāmaḥ.

uccati, MIndic for Skt. ucyate, is said: Mv ii.101.2. Uccadhvaḥ, nt., n. of a palace in the Tuṣṭi heaven: LV 29.14 °jam nāma tuṣṭīlaye mahāvīmānam.

uccandra-bhakta, adj., eating at night (? in the last part of the night, if Skt. Lex. definition of uccandra cited in BR is correct; rather, when the moon has risen?): °tāḥ MSV I.15.1 (as an ādinava).

uccā- (adv., Vedic), as in Pali in cpds., aloft, on high, high(ly): uccā-praghitān SP 75.6 (most mss.; ed. uccān pra° with 1 ms.).

uccāvaca-tā (to Skt. uccāvaca), state of being greater or less; variation: Mv I.59.5 antarā ca °tā āyuṣaḥ (sc. manuṣyānām), and between them there was variation of (length of) life.

ucchaṅkha-, ucchaṅga-, utsaṅga-, cpd. with -pāda (or -caraṇa), (= Pali ussaṅkha-pāda), ep. of a mahā-puruṣa (esp. Buddha), no. 7 of the 32 lakṣaṇa; orig. form, etym., and mg. obscure; acc. to Pali DN comm. ii.446.28 ff. it means that the soles of the feet can be seen as they walk, because 'the ankles are fixed high'; if from utsaṅga, having feet characterized by a 'lap' (an up-curve under the foot, making the sole visible?). Tib. on Mvy 260 says having the ankle-bone (or, joint of the ankle-bone) not visible (so one Chin. version, and Jap.); but Tib. on Bbh 375.14, cited by Wogihara, having feet not uneven; another Chin. gloss (also cited in Mvy 260, and elsewhere, Burnouf infra) refers the epithet to the knees; Gv 399.24 glosses suvyak-taparamopaśobhitopari-pādacchavikuksumagarbhātireka-prabhāsvārā (not very clear or specific). These northern interpretations make the impression of floundering in a morass of ignorance. See Burnouf, Lotus, 573. Forms: utsaṅga-pāda Mvy 260 (but Mironov ucchaṅkha-); LV 106.1; Dharmas 83 (v.l. utsaṅkha-); utsaṅga-caraṇa Bbh 375.14; 378.19; 379.9; 381.10; ucchaṅga-pāda LV 429.13-14; ucchaṅkha-pāda, Mironov Mvy (see above); Mv I.226.16; II.29.19; 304.19 (the mss. clearly intend this all three times! correct Senart's text); Gv 399.24 (note also v.l. utsaṅkha- in Dharmas 83, above). This form ucchaṅkha is closest to the Pali; the very obscurity of its etymology may argue for its originality.

ucchaṅga, nt. = 2 utsaṅga, q.v.; and see prec. [ucchata, Mmk 371.24, 25; 372.13; read ucchrita, or possibly ucchṛta, q.v., cf. 373.12, 21.]

ucchada- (1) (= Pali ussada; = ucchādāna, q.v.), shampooing, rubbing down: KP 152.2 ucchada-snapanaparmardana-bhedana-vikrāpa-vidhvaṃsana-dharmah (of the body); (2) in Śikṣ 208.11 -sāntarocchada-ṭṭikobhaya-kṛtopadhāneṣu paryāṇkeṣu śayitvā; Bendall and Rouse ap. understand ucchada as some kind of cloth (cf. ucchadaka); but the preceding sāntara, which certainly goes closely with what follows it, is hard to interpret on that theory, and suggests em. to sāntarottara (q.v.), a cpd. known to Pali; it might mean here... having cushions made on both sides with woolen cloths inside and outside; (3) in Av I.354.10 Speyer's em. is certainly wrong. The ms. is quoted as prāptaucchadakāyaś ca; certainly ucchada = utsada (1), Pali ussada, elevation on the 7 parts of the body which show this feature in a mahāpuruṣa; Tib. mtho ba confirms this. Acc. to Speyer, Tib. has mdun, fore-part, before that word; but surely Tib. read, or intended, bdun, seven, and we must read sapto- for prāptau-; the cpd. means with a body possessing the 7 high places or protuberances (see under utsada (1), and cf. Bbh 375.20 saptotsadakāyaḥ). — Add to (2): my suggestion on Śikṣ 208.11 is made dubious by sōttarocchada-ṭṭa (ms.; ed. em. sōttaracch°), adj., MPS 34.68 and 69.

ucchadaka, m. (? cf. ucchada, utsada, Pali ussada), only noted SP 341.14 (vs) bahu-ucchadakāś caiva bahurūpavitritāḥ (dattāḥ, viz. to monasteries); Burnouf cousins; Kern elegant objects; Tib. for the pāda reads kun dgaḥ dag dad ḥchag sa byin, in which I cannot discern a rendering of anything which ucchadaka could represent; ḥchag sa = caṅkrama, place of promenade (for monks); neither high places nor cloths seem to fit here.

uccharkara, adj. (subst. ? n. sg. °raḥ; so Mironov; Kyoto ed. ucchagara, ucchakara, var. ucarkara, and in Index ucakara, uccharkara; evidently from ud plus śar-karā), stony (stony ground?): Mvy 9338-9 = (h)gram sa, gram pa; Das cites gram sa, stony, = uccharkara.

ucchādāna (= Pali id., also Skt., but see below), in Mv ii.269.15 and 278.1, ucchādāna (in 278.1 Senart em. āchādāna)-parimardana-svapna- (278.1 supana)-bhedana-vikīraṇa-vidhvamsana-dharma, ep. of the body; corresp. to Pali anicc'ucchādāna-parimaddana-bhedana-vidhvamsana-dhammo, e. g. DN i.76.18, of which I believe the true interpretation was given by Rhys Davids, Dialogues 1 (1899), p. 87 and note; ucchādāna and parimardana are primarily shampooers' terms, shampooing and rubbing down (so Skt.), but with double entente (not recognized in Pali comms.) also destruction and wiping out; BR suggested that Skt. ucchādāna was MIndic for utsādāna, which means both rubbing down and destruction; Skt. śātayati, cuts off, destroys (n. act. śātana), and root śad-, fall (n. act. sādāna, das Ausfallen), may also be concerned, at least in part; see śātana, used in a cpd. very similar to that of Mv above; parimardana is noted in Skt. and MIndic only of shampooing (so also Mvy 6779), but the verb Skt. parimardati means also crushes, destroys. In KP 152.2 ucchāda (q.v.) must have been limited to its shampooers' mg., since snāpana follows. But in some BHS texts śātana, q.v., is substituted, eliminating that mg. and bringing in exclusively what I (with Rh.D.) regard as the secondary, punning mg. of the Pali cpd. Rhys Davids renders erosion, abrasion, admitting that the pun is untranslatable. In American gangsters' jargon, to rub out means to obliterate, kill. We might render Mv: (the body) which is characterized by rubbing down ('off'), wiping away ('out'), sleep (or dreams, often symbol of impermanence; here, too, a sort of word-play), breaking up, scattering, destruction.

ucchādita, ppp. (to Pali ucchādeti = Skt. utsādayati, see s.v. ucchādāna; ger. ucchādaya recorded in Skt., BR s.v. ucchādāna), shampooed, anointed: Mv i.213.10 = ii.16.14 (prose) ucchādita-snāpita-viśada-gātro; i.217.14 °gātram.

ucchādaya, ger. (to ucchādayati*, MIndic for avachād°, § 3.54, cf. AMg. ucchālya, covered, Ratnach., = avachādita), covering: LV 227.11 (prose) svavadanāni vastrair ucchādaya (all mss.; only Calc. āchādaya).

ucchitya? seemingly ger.; so mss., Divy 103.22 ... unmādam api prāpnoty ucchitya vā kālam karoti. Ed. em. ucchritya, which seems to make no sense; it means having lifted, raised up, trans., and there is no object here; even if intrans., having risen, I do not see that it makes sense. There is some corruption, but I see no good em.

(ucchinna, ppp. (Skt.), cut off: SP 43.12 (prose) ucchinno 'smi buddhayānād iti vaded, would say 'I am cut off from the Buddha-vehicle'. Mss. vary and text has been questioned (Kern, Transl., adopts another reading), but it is supported by Tib. na ni saṅs rgyas kyi theg pa bcad pa ho.)

ucchiraska, adj. (= Skt. ucchiras; Skt. has -śiraska in other cpds., but this form may have -ka m.c.), with head uplifted: Jm 119.21 (vs) krodhacchiraskān iva kṛṣṇa-sarpān.

ucchu (m.; = Pali id., Skt. ikṣu), sugar-cane: Mv i.241.11 (vs) ucchusamavarṇam (of Dīpaṃkara), of color like-sugar-cane. So read also with Senart in same vs i.236.17 (mss. corrupt). And in RP 59.5 (vs) jñānam tatra utpādaye cchu ivātra, we may understand utpādaye(t) (u)cchu, or possibly (i)cchu, as in Pkt.

ucchurita, ppp. (to ud plus Skt. churayati), beset, bestrewn: Divy 594.28 (vs) jvālākālāpocchuritormicakram (samudram).

Ucchuṣma, n. of a deity: Mvy 4332.

ucchrta, ppp. (hyper-Skt., if not corruption, for Skt. ucchrta; cf. utsrta), raised: SP 235.14 (vs) śuṣkapaṃsur itocchrtaḥ (both edd., no v.l.), for ita(s) ucch°; also Mmk 373.12 (= ucchrta 21), see ucchata.

uccheda, nt. (m. in Skt.), cutting off, destruction: Lañk 10.5 f. (prose) anyathā dṛṣyamāna (= 'ne) ucchedam (n. sg.; or for uccheda plus m., Hiatusbrider?) āśraye (so read with v.l. for 'yah), if the basis (of the universe, or of consciousness) is viewed otherwise, (it is) destruction (acc. to Chin. cited in note, of insight; or, perhaps, simply ruin, fatal consequences). Suzuki nihilism (see śāśva-toccheda), but this seems hardly appropriate to this context.

ucchedana; f. ni, adj. (= Pali id.; in Skt. nt. subst.), cutting off, destroying, or destroyer: Jm 103.10 ni vittavatām kulānām (surā). Same line in Pali Jāt. v.16.27.

[uccheṣṭum*, v.l. ucchreṣṭum, infin., to send forth, emit, hurl out: Divy 186.5 (nāgo 'ngāravarṣam) ucch° ārabdhah (against a monk). But ud plus śiṣ can hardly have the required meaning, and the v.l., tho nonsensical, seems to point in the right direction: read utsraṣṭum, from ud plus srj (or a MIndic or false hyper-Skt. form thereof).]

(ucchoṣa, (m.; Skt., see Schmidt, Nachtr.), drying up, extirpation: Mmk 495.15 (vs) read, sarva (or sarve) ucchoṣam (text sarvecchoṣam) āyānti (meter is thus corrected).)

ucchraya (m.; = samucchraya, q.v.), body, bodily existence: SP 145.12 (vs) sa pāślime cocchrayi... (Also used as in Skt. in sense of height, e. g. SP 159.9, prose.)

ucchrāpayati (= Pali ussāpeti; VS 23.26 ucchrā-paya, isolated; caus. to ud plus śri; see also ucchrāyayati, ucchrepayati), raises, sets up: LV 193.6 (vs) prākāra ucchrāpitā(h); Mv i.176.6 (vs) ucchrāpitā-dharma-dhvajā; ii.112.18 patākān ucchrāpayanti; 343.22 (vs) (dhvajāna koṭīnayutāsahasrā) ucchrāpayetsu (aor.); Av i.384.10 patākāh... ucchrāpitā(h). ucchrāyayati (caus. to ud plus śri; = ucchrāpayati, q.v.), raises, sets up: Divy 76.6 (yaṣṭir) ucchrāyitā; 77.20; 466.16, 20 śarīrasaṃghāta ucchrāyitaḥ (in 76.6; 77.20 ed. em. ucchrāpi°).

ucchrepana (nt.; nom. act. to next), the lifting up: Bbh 379.1 (bhaiṣajyam ca) dattvā vyādhy-avanatocchrepanān mātrāsi ca...

ucchrepayati, te (= ucchrāpayati, q.v.; cf. prec.; on form see § 38.65), raises, sets up: LV 213.18 pitam* vajjayantāsamaṃ; 351.7 pito* dharma-dhvajā(h); 394.22 (vs) payasva* mahadarmamayūpaṃ; 399.19 (vs) paya*... tathāgatadhvajam; 413.17 (prose) paya* mahādharma-dhvajam; Suv 62.8 (vs) pitam* dharma-dhvajam (note in prose 90.11 ucchrāyīṣyasi, v.l. ucchrāpayīṣyasi).

ucchvāsa-prāśvāsa, m., = śśvāsa-prāśvāsa, q.v.: Śikṣ 42.5.

ucyati (only Vedic, and not quite in this sense; here perhaps back-formation from ppp. ucita, the only form known in Skt. and MIndic), suits, is pleasing: Mv i.348.18 (prose) tad yusmākaṃ kiṃ varam ucyati, so what boon seems good to you?

ujjaṅkikā, some kind of attitude or behavior which monks must avoid in begging food: Mvy 8546 nojjāṅkikāyā (instr.). Tib. hjol thabs su (? perhaps with robe dragging, sc. on the ground?); Chin. (here) apparently pulling at clothes while walking; elsewhere, acc. to Wogihara, Lex. 41, Chin. walking on tiptoe, and so Jap. on Mvy. The pw 7.322 says the 'correct' reading would be ujjākṣikā, and Wogihara, Lex. 41, suggests that the corresponding Pali is ujjhaggikā (or rather, by em. ujjagghikā), Vin. iv.187.16, which means laughing, derision, see uccagghati; this seems indeed quite possible.

ujjaṅgala, adj. (= Pali id.; defined DN comm. ii.586.22 by visama, Vv comm. 335.15 by jaṅgalaṃ, lūkha- dhūsaro anudako bhūmippadeso . . . jaṅgalato pi ukkam-sena jaṅgalam, on Vv 84.5, desert, waste (land): SP 233.2 °le prthivipradeśe; AsP 429.4 (prthivipradeśā ya) ūsarā ujjāṅgalā(h); Mv II.207.5, 8 (vss) ujjāṅgalo ca jaṅgalo (Senart, Index, treats ujj° as n. pr.).

ujjighrant, pres. pple. (cf. Skt. Gr. ujjighra; otherwise no form of ud plus glūd seems to be recorded), sniffing, smelling (at food): Prāt 533.8 nojjighrantah piṇḍapātām paribhoksyāmah. (Same passage cited from a Stein ms. fragment, La Vallée Poussin JRAS 1913.846, top.)

Ujjitapara (mss. mostly Ujita°; Senart Ujjhita°, which seems implausible), n. of a former Buddha: Mv I.141.2.

ujju, adj. (= Pali id., beside uju; Skt. rju; cf. next, rju, and anujjuka), straight, right; usually in vss where jj could be m.c., but once in prose in Mv III.225.1 ujjucittā; the rest in vss: Mv III.436.3 °gateṣu; LV 133.20 uju karitva kāyam; 138.20 uju-bhraṣṭā; 295.8 sadojjuprasāho (so read; = sadā uju°).

ujjuka (= prec., q.v.; also rjuka; Pali id., beside ujuka): SP 125.14 (vs) dṛṣṭim kurvāmi ujjukām; in SP 324.2 ms. K' indicates ujjuka for text -rjuka (rj°).

Ujjhebhaka Tōnehāra, n. of a king: Mv III.382.10–11 (prose); called Tōnehāra 386.9 (vs).

-ujjā-ka, lfc. Bhvr. (to *ujjā = Pali uññā for Skt. avajñā; see § 3.55), contempt, in a-śaṭh'-ūññakāś ca (ū may be in samāhi for a-u), free from deceitfulness and contempt: Dbh.g. 6(342).21.

uṭṭāṅkikā, some kind of attitude or behavior which monks must avoid in begging food: Mvy 8545 notṭāṅkikayā (instr.). Tib. brañ bas (? brañ breast; also dwelling); Chin. (here), perhaps walking with the palm of the foot (? or, with hands touching the feet?); acc. to Wogihara, Lex. 41, another Chin. renders limping (das Hinken); Jap. squatting (at the entrance of a house).

uḍaya (m. or nt.; = AMg. id., Skt. uṭaja), hut: Mmk 37.3 ekānte uḍayam ghrvā pratīstavyam; 83.5; 106.21; 113.18; 121.20; 145.19; 524.19; 573.18.

uḍigalla (or oḍi°), only in gūthoḍi°, q.v. See Lévi's note, Karmav (22-) 25 f., where Dravidian origin is suggested: Telugu oḍagala-vādu (= Hindi -wāla), sweeper (in the Indian sense, cleaner of toilets); Tamil oḍuḡal, conduite d'eau.

uḍḍara-, in °ra-dharma-vihāriṇam (acc. sg.), Thomas, ap. Hoernle MR 119, cf. 121 note 22 (from Ratnarāśi Sātra), conjecturally rendered (practising) heretical (principles).

Uḍḍiyāna = Oḍḍiyāna: Sādh 361.16.

Uḍḍiyānaka = prec.: Māy 97 (see Lévi p. 105 ff.).

? utacchiyam, Ud xviii.22, is prob. a mere corruption: yo rāgam utacchiyam aśeṣam = Pali Sn 2, yo rāgam udacchidā aśeṣam, who has cut off passion without remainder. If a substitute for ud-acchidat is intended (which should end in a long syllable; °yam?), it would seem to show t for d (by hyper-Sktism? § 2.29) and y for the second d (Pktic). I do not understand Chakravartī's note.

utapta(vant), m.c. for Skt. utta°, glowing etc.: utapta Dbh.g. 41(67).10; °ta-vatī Śikṣ 337.12 (= uttap° 7, where meter also requires uta°).

utittira, onomat., a sound said to be uttered exceptionally by a tittira bird; see MSV I.118.10; 120.18. (Tib. says only a different sound.)

utkaca, adj. (in Skt. rare and doubtful in mg.), with hair standing up: Mvy 9197; Bhik 28b.4; MSV III.7.14 (see s.v. prakaca).

Utkāṣa, m., nt., or °tā, f., n. of a town (droṇamukha, °khyā, q.v.): Mvy 5285 °to nāma droṇamukham; Divy 620.12 °tām nāma droṇa° (acc.), 28 utkāṣadroṇamukhyam; 621.10 yenotkāṣam droṇamukham (nom., nt.), 19 °tān utkatṭati, or (MIndic) ukka° (see s.v. kaṭṭati), takes out: Mv III.158.13 yamalakāto (see yamalaka) modakam ukkatṭetvā; 431.7 tam bhāṇḍam sarvam ukkatṭitam (sc. from a river); in Mv II.249.11 read mama hrdayo udumbare utkatṭito sthapito (Senart with one ms. utkanṭhito, v.l. utkarito; in the other two passages above Senart em. ukkaḍḍh-).

(abl.); fem. 620.21 °tām nāma droṇamukham (acc.), °tā 26. From a verbally close Pali parallel DN 1.87.6 it appears that the town called in Pali Ukkatṭhā (see DPPN) is the same; see Puṣkarasārin.

utkanṭhati, and ppp. utkanṭhita (cf. next; in Skt. only longs for; longing; but Pali utkanṭhati also is annoyed, °hita annoyed), is annoyed; annoyed; the ppp. in Mv II.272.7 rājā śrutvā utkanṭhito evaṃ jāto, the king, hearing (this), became annoyed, as follows (here certainly not desirous!); similarly II.274.11 so utkanṭhito (context makes desirous impossible). In Bbh 193.6 (tair bodhisattvaḥ lūhah stokair asatkrtya dhandham) ca labdhair notkanṭhyate na paritasyati, prob. is not made annoyed (pass. of caus.). There may be other cases; many are ambiguous.

utkanṭhā (see prec.; Pali utkanṭhā), possibly annoyance, mental distress: AsP 494.8, see s.v. paritasana.

Utkarika, n. of a merchant: Divy 227.26 tatrānyataraś cotkariko nāma baṇḍ . . . Cf. Otkarika (the same person as Utk°). There seems to be no reason to connect this n. pr. with aukarika (okkarika), qq.v., as has been assumed by Feer, Speyer (on Av, Index, s.v. okkarika) and Cowell and Neil (Index to Divy). But perhaps we should read cautk° in 227.26 and assume Otk° as the name.

utkarṣaṇa (nt.), °nā, and °nā-tā (= Pali (att-)ukkamsana, °nā; cf. next), praise, laudation, exaltation (regularly of oneself, or one's own): LV 32.14–15 ātmān-utkarṣaṇa-tā (i. e. ātma-an-utk°); KP 1.15 (vs) ātmotkarṣaṇi (loc.); 135.6–7 (prose) ātmaślotkarṣaṇā; Bbh 158.4 ātmotkarṣaṇā; Śikṣ 126.6 svapakṣotkarṣaṇa-(vacana).

utkarṣayati (cf. prec.; not in this sense Skt.; = Pali ukkamsati, °seti), exalts, i. e. praises: gdve., Śikṣ 197.10 sacce cañcalendriyo (rājā) bhavati, utkarṣayitavyam (sc. bhikṣuṇā), if (the king) is lightly (unstable), praise must be bestowed (saying: It is very meritorious on your part that your kingdom contains so many worthy monks and brahmins who live undisturbed by thieves etc.). Acc. to Bendall, Tib. has bstan par bya ho, and accordingly Transl. renders 'the Brother should admonish him' (more exactly, the Tib. means elucidate, make intelligible). But I do not see how the BHS word can mean this. The mg. of the Pali word is appropriate here; by encouraging flattery the king is to be strengthened in a good course.

utkārika, m., the expression even: Mvy 7618 = Tib. de bzhin no zhes bya ba (Chin. similarly). There is a var. udgārikaḥ (cf. Skt. udgāra, sound, utterance?), but Mironov utkā° without v.l. I do not understand the etym. (ut-kr, °karoti, or °kirati°).

utkāreti (°rayati, °ratī°), ger. °ritvā, having emptied: Mv I.327.3 (prose) (bhājanāni . . .) pūretvā utkāritvā, having filled and emptied the pots. The mg. is clear; etym. ? to utkirati° Senart em. utkiritvā, without good reason.

utkāśa, m., see next. Perhaps utkāśaḥ, alone, is to be read in this sense for text utkāśaḥ in Gv 307.23 (prose); after a Tathāgata's parinirvāṇa, by a follower of his, udvegasaṃjñanānārtham dhārmika utkāśaḥ (i. e. °śaḥ?) kṛto 'bhūt: aho bateyam . . . mahādharmaḥkāntardhāsyatīti samvegajñanānyā kathā kṛtā. But cf. utkāśa.

utkāśana-śabda, m. (ud plus kāś; cf. next), conspicuous, vigorous pronouncement (so Tib. on Mvy): Mvy 2799; Divy 517.25 bhagavatotkāśaśabdaḥ kṛtāḥ . . . parivrajako (26) bhagavata utkāśaśabdāḥ śuśrāva; also 27.

utkāśa-śabda, m. = prec., q.v.: Divy 517.25. See also utkāśa, m., perhaps used in this same sense.

utkāsa, (1) (m.), clearing of the throat (= Skt. utkāśana): LV 416.11 (vs) utkāśābaddu napī śrūyati tam-muhūrtaṃ (mss. vary greatly, but Tib. lud pañi sgra confirms this form and mg.); (2) m. utkāsaḥ, see s.v. utkāśa; if the theory there stated be rejected, the word would have to be classed with (1) and would seem to mean something like hemming and hawing, or rather ominous sound (calling attention to the future disappearance of the dharma), in Gv 307.23.

-utkīra, m. (in Skt. adj., aufhäufend), heap, something thrown or dug up, in mūṣi-utkīra, see s.v. mūṣi.

Utkilaka, m., n. of a mountain: Divy 450.9, 11; 455.28, 29.

utkuṭa (?reading stated in note to be 'not clear'; cf. utkuṭuka?), seems to designate some kind of entertainer: Śiṅ 330.16 (vs; after ṇaṭa-nartaka jhallaka-mallāḥ) utkuṭa-śobhika-hāraka (qq.v.) ... (Tib. cited as bhugs; not clear to me.)

utkuṭa-sthāyin (cf. prec. and next), lit. remaining in a squatting position (?), designation of certain ascetics, app. Ājlvikas (cf. note in ed., and 332.1): "yina ekacarāṇām Śiṅ 332.7. utkuṭuka, adj. (cf. utkuṭa-; acc. to BR, occurs in Skt. (Sūśruta) only as utkaṭaka or utkuṭaka; the Pali form is app. only ukkuṭika; AMg. usually ukkuṭua, "duga, "duyā, but also ukkaḍuya), squatting on the heels (see PTSD s.v. ukkuṭika for detailed description); as adj. applied to persons, to postures, also in comp. either adjectivally or adverbially; adv. utkuṭukam (?), "kena, in squatting posture: "kā niṣaṇṇā (n. sg. f.) Av 1.315.11; "kāṃ niṣādayitvā Bhik 16a.1 having made her sit squatting, but in 10b.3 "tukeṇa niṣāḍya, sitting in a squatting posture (adv.); in 10a.4 "tukeṇa niṣāḍya, in sense = 16a.1, "kaṃ either adv., or MIndic (or corruption?) for "kāṃ; "kena adv. also Mv 1.144.10 (na ...) bodhisattvā mātuḥ kuṭṣigatā utkuṭukena (so read, Senart "tukeṇa, mss. utkutumbakeṇa) pārśvena vā yathā kathamcid vā sthitā bhavanti (but paryāṇkam ābhūjītvā); in 1.213.7; 1.16.11 situation is the same, but adj. is used, na utkuṭuko (so Senart with both mss. 1.16.11; in 1.213.7 Senart "tiko, but one ms. has -uko); in cpds., Mvy 6709 "kāsanam, Tib. tsog tsog por; 9275 "ka-sthah, Tib. cog (read tsog bur; see next; "ka-prahāṇam (see this), an ascetic exercise, = Pali ukkuṭika-(p)padhāṇam, Mv 1.412.17 (vs) = Divy 339.24 = Pali Dh. 141; "ka-sthaṇḍila-śāyanaḥ ca LV 249.4, and by sleeping in a squatting posture or on bare ground; 258.15 (vs) utkuṭuka-dhyāyī (so read with best mss., metr. superior to Lefm.'s reading utkuṭa-dh"), meditating in a squatting posture; "tuka-sthiteṇa, adv., while sitting in a squatting posture, Bbh 153.12; 181.20.

utkuṭukikā (to prec.), squatting posture: Mvy 8548 notkuṭukikayā (instr.); Tib. rtsog (read tsog?) bus mayin, (Jäschke and Das record tsog pu, squatting; the French Catholic Dict. tsog pu or "bu; see prec.)

utkubjāpayati, caus. (to Pali denom. ukkujjati), causes to be set (right side) up: "yisyatha MSV 1v.140.15.

utkumbhati, prob. rears (of a balky horse; so guessed from context): KP 108.2 (yatra ...) āśva(h) skhalati utkumbhati vā khaḍunka- (q.v.)-kriyā vā karoti, when a horse stumbles or rears or acts viciously. Tib. seems to have no correspondent for this word; the several Chin. versions, likewise, fail to clarify it; they seem to have only two verbal expressions for three of the BHS.

utkūla, adj., high, rising; only with nikūla, low, descending, and usually in cpd. utkūla-nikūla (cf. Pali ukkulā-vikūla, interpreted as high and low, AN comm. 11.35.21), high and low, hence uneven: Mvy 2708 "lam, and 2709 nikūlam (the Tib. definitions, šaṅ nam soṅ 2708, ḥbar ḥbur ram mtho dman 2709, seem to refer confusedly to the pair of words together, and mean uneven, high-and-low); LV 77.17 utkūlanikūlāś ca prthiviprādeśāḥ samāḥ samavasthitāḥ, and the high-and-low (uneven) places became even; 272.17 utkūla-nikūla-sama-kara-ṇa-gatīḥ (of the Bodhisattva's gait), ... making even places that were uneven; MSV 1.14.19 (as an ādinava). The cpd. utkūla-nikūla occurs VS 30.14, where it is unexplained in comm. and not definable by context; utkūla occurs once or twice besides; nikūla is hardly recorded otherwise, and seems to be unknown in MIndic (Pali has vikūla instead, above).

Utkūlaka, m., n. of a mountain (= Kūlaka, q.v.): Divy 450.10. Cf. preceding.

utkrṣṭataraka, adj. (compv. of utkrṣṭa plus ka), rather superior: Bbh 16.8 (prose) utkrṣṭatarakebhyo guṇebhyo na vicchandya ... nihnatarakeṣu guṇeṣu samādāpayati.

utkrṣṭikā, prob. cocking or throwing back or up (of the head): Mvy 8541 notkrṣṭikayā; Tib. (mgo mi gyog, head not covered; or) mgo mi brdze (= our def.); "kā-kṛta, one who has adopted the above attitude: Mvy 8607 "krṭāya (Tib. only brdzes, or rdzes, pa, as above); Prāt 536.4 "krṭasya (but here Chin. is said to mean qui a la poitrine décuverte).

utkoṭana, nt. (see below), or (var. in Kyoto ed.; and Mironov without v.l.) khoṭana, nt.: "nam Mvy 8423. Both form and mg. obscure; occurs between bhikṣu-paiśunyaṃ and duṣṭhulārocanaṃ. Tib. skyo sñogs (var. brñogs) byed pa, causing quarrels; Chin. disturbing the saṃgha; Jap. raising questions about a matter already decided. The last implies derivation from utkoṭayati, q.v. Skt. has nothing helpful on either reading. Pali ukkoṭana-ka, Vin. 11.94.7, means reopening a settled question (wrongly PTSD), just as the verb ukkoṭeti seems always so used. But ukkoṭana is defined by DN comm. 1.79.30 as taking bribes (to obstruct justice), which finds support in AMg. ukkoḍā, bribery (Ratnach.), and seems to fit better the Pali occurrences; it is always found in a list of instances of trickery and deceit (typical is DN 1.5.22 ukkoṭana-vañcana-nikāti-sācīyogā paṭivirato); cf. the Skt. root kuṭ. If khoṭana (Skt. Gr., limping) is the true reading, I know of no plausible interpretation.

utkoṭayati (= Pali ukkoṭeti; cf. prec.), reopens a question already legally settled: Prāt 503.4 (yaḥ punar bhikṣur jānam saṃghena yathādharmam) nikṣiptam adhi-karaṇam punaḥ karmaṇy utkoṭayet, pātayantikā.

utkrośa, m. (to ut-kruś; nowhere recorded except as n. of a bird), outcry: LV 230.5 (vs) utkrosu (n. sg.) mukto, and 8 utkrosu (acc. sg.) kṛtvā aho mama eka-puṭro!; 232.20 (vs) utkrosu (mss. utkrāsu, utkāsu) kṛtvā dharapitale niraṣto; Gv 326.6 mahāntam ārtasvaram utkroṣam akārṣuḥ. Uncertain is Divy 453.21 (in a list of five individuals who sleep little at night) utkrośa (v.l. utkoṇa) ṇṇi; possibly a debtor in case of an outcry (made against him by his creditor? understanding utkrośe). But Tib., as translated in the note p. 709, is said to render utkrośaḥ the red duck (see below; in Skt. a bird, Seeadler), and seems to omit ṇṇi; probably read for this prāṇi (below). Divy Index watchman (?); implausible; PTSD compares this word with Pali ukkusa, a bird, apparently osprey (= kurara). Lacuna in this story MSV 1.149.10; N. Dutt, on basis of Tib. srog chags (living being) nur pa (red duck), conjectures utkrośa-prāṇi. Should not Tib. be corrected to ñu ba, weep(ing), = ut-kruś?

utkrośate (not recorded in this sense), cries for, demands (alms): Divy 473.11 (Śakro ...) dvāri sthītva bhalkṣyam utkrośate.

utkrośana (nt.; = utkrośa, q.v.), outcry: Gv 326.21 mahāntam ārtasvaram utkrośana-śabdaṃ śrutvā.

utkrośayati (denom. to AMg. ukkosa, see below), exalts, magnifies: AsP 419.4 ātmānam utkrośayati parāṇ pamsayati. The AMg. ukkosa is derived by Sheth and Ratnach. from utkarṣa (or utkrṣṭa) and defined as adj., highest, supreme, or, as n., pride. If this is the true etym., our word would be a hyper-Sktism, by false etym. Possibly, however, the AMg. word may really represent a Skt. *utkrośa, which, like Eng. a crying-up, could conceivably have meant glorification. To be sure I find no record, otherwise, of such a mg. in any deriv. of ut-kruś.

utkṣipāṇa (nt.; from ut-kṣip plus -ana, but new MIndic formation, like Pali ukkhipāṇa; cf. Skt. utkṣepāṇa), lifting up, nom. act.: LV 114.10 (vs) caraṇotkṣipāṇe, in the lifting of their feet.

utkṣipati (Skt. in mg. lifts up, etc.), (1) lets up in sense of permits to ascend, opp. nikṣipati: LV 186.(12)-13f. ekaikasya ca prāsādasya sopānāni pañca-pañca puruṣa-śatāny utkṣipanti sma nikṣipanti sma (let go up and down); teṣāṃ tathotkṣipyamāṇānām nikṣipyamāṇānām ca śabdo 'rdhayojane śrūyate sma; (2) (= Pali ukkhipati) suspends (from the order of monks); ppp. utkṣipta: Bhk 29b.1 utkṣiptānuvartaka (see anuvartaka); similarly Mvy 8480 utkṣiptānuvṛttih, the following (cleaving to) a suspended (monk), so Tib. spaṅs paḥi...; (3) averts (the senses, particularly the eyes, from forbidden objects): Divy 278.29 indriyāny utkṣipati, and in the following lines; indriyāny utkṣipyāvasthitāḥ MSV iii.18.11, stood averting their eyes (in embarrassment); in this sense = Pali (indriyāni) okkhipati from avakṣipati, see avakṣipta; apparently BHS utkṣ° is false Skt. for MIndic okkh°; acc. to Chin. (eyes not cast to one side), anutkṣiptacakṣuṣo Prāt 529.10 would belong here; curiously the Pali equivalent, Vin. iv.186.29 okkhittacakkhu (note lack of negative!), appears to mean with downcast eyes, which the old comm. interprets by observing that it is a sin to enter a house or sit down looking around at this or that (tahaṃ tahaṃ olokento), so that okkhitta-, as opposite of this, would mean essentially the same as BHS an-utkṣipta- as interpreted by Chin. But for this evidence, an-utkṣipta- might be interpreted, in accordance with Skt. usage, as not lifted up (thus in another way = okkhitta-).

utkṣiptaka, m. (°pta, see prec. 2, plus specifying -ka; = Pali ukkhittaka), (a monk) that has been suspended: MSV ii.113.12, 15, etc. Read this for utkṣepaka(-tva) MSV iii.67.11, 12; cf. 69.6.

utkṣepaka, m. (= Pali ukkhepaka, Vin. i.338.24 ff.; to utkṣipati 2 with -aka), one who moves suspension (of a monk): MSV ii.177.6 ff.; 191.7 ff. See prec. for MSV iii.67.11, 12.

utkṣepāṇiya, adj. (gdve., to utkṣipati, 2; = Pali ukkhepāṇiya, with kamma), with karman, (ceremony) of suspension (from the order): Mvy 8646 °ṇiyam (doubtless supply karma); Divy 329.10 kurutāsyotkṣepāṇiyam (so text) karma; Bhk 28b.4 yasya bhikṣoḥ samagreṇa bhikṣuṣamghenotkṣepāṇiyam karma kṛtam; MSV ii.176.4; 201.13; penalty for refusal to recognize or correct sins, MSV iii.28.10 ff. (as in Pali Vin. ii.21.21 ff.), or for heresy, ib. 30.9 ff.

utkṣepa-lipi, n. of a kind of script: LV 126.5; followed by nikṣepa°, vikṣepa°, and (6) prakṣepa-lipi; also, line 7, utkṣepāvarta-lipi, and (in some mss., supported by Tib.) nikṣepāvarta-lipi. All these terms seem to be intended to refer to the shape of the letters, rather than to the countries where they are used. It is hardly possible to guess what the author meant by them, and the woodenly literal Tib. translations give little help; Tib. renders utkṣepa, gdge pa, elevation (and āvarta, skor ba, turn); nikṣepa, bzhaḡ pa or bzhog pa, putting down; vikṣepa (which Tib. transposes to the point in line 6 where Lefm.'s ms. A has it), rnam ḥthor, scattering; prakṣepa, bsnan pa, addition, increase.

Utkhalin, m., n. of one of the 16 devaputra guardians of the Bodhimaṇḍa: LV 277.12. (Tib. ut-ka-li.) Cf. next.

Utkhalī, or (v.l. supported as to vocalism by Tib. u-khu-li) Utkhuri, n. of a goddess, attendant on the Bodhisattva in his mother's womb: LV 66.8. Cf. prec.

utkhāṭayitar, m. (cf. Dhātup. khāḍayati = bhedane?) is there some confused relation to Pali ukkheṭṭita, Vin. iii.97.21, abandoned?, one who causes to depart from (abl.), to abandon: Gv 462.23 (kalyāṇamitrāṇi) ... °tāro lokaniketāt (sc. for a Bodhisattva).

Utkhuri, see Utkhalī.

[utta], implied in (duḥkkena) cotto LV 133.16; read either cāto = ca-āto, with ms. A, or cārto = ca-ārto (one ms. cited as cortto); Foucaux affecté par la douleur, which must be substantially the meaning.]

-uttaka, adj. ifc., perhaps made, produced: Mv ii.457.14 (prose) hastiśālāya paṭalāni ghanāni mahantāni bahujaṇa-uttakāni, (when a fire had broken out in the elephant-stables)... the thatches of the elephant stable, thick, great, made by many people... This assumes a ka-extension of AMg. -utta in deva-utta, bambha-utta, produced (created) by (the) god(s), by Brahmā (see citation in Sheth s.v. utta). The origin of the word is obscure; Sheth and Ratnach. regard it as identical with Skt. upta, sown. Senart has no suggestion as to mg. or etym.

uttanūruha, adj. (ut plus tanū°), with hair erect (thru joy): Jm 204.18 mudottanūruhāḥ. uttapta, ppp. (to Skt. uttapati, cf. BHS uttāpayati), orig. (= Pall uttarimanussadhamma, superhuman faculties or conditions; the analysis of the Pall comm. cited by Childers is inconsistent with that indicated by LV 246.16 and 263.11) must be assumed in Mv II.130.12 kamcid uttarimanuṣyadharmam; Divy 145.21, 28 and 146.16 uttarimanuṣyadharme (so with mss., ed. wrongly em. uttare man°); Śiḥs 62.4 uttarimanuṣyadharmā; besides this, the same cpd. is recorded in BHS (not in Pall) as uttara-manuṣyadharmā-(pralāpa, m.), Mvy 8367, declaring (falsely the possession of) superhuman faculties (one of the parajika sins); also uttaram-man° Divy 144.4, 28; 145.18 (mss., in 144.4 ed. em. °re); Bhīk 26a.3; uttare-man° Divy 144.9, 13, 21, 23, 27; 145.3, 11, 13, 17; 146.8, 25 (in all these read as cpd.; ed. takes uttare as separate adj., misled by the fact that the cpd. is a loc., ending °dharme; see above for evidence that uttare = uttari as adv. and prep.); in Divy 144.5 apparently anuttare is used as synonym of uttare in this cpd. (taken by ed. as separate adj.), yady ekam śramaṇo Gautamo 'nuttare-manuṣyadharme riddhi-prāthīhāyam vidarsayisyati vāyam dve (see anuttara; but this word does not fit and must be either a corruption, or a sign of misunderstanding by the author of the passage; elsewhere in the same passage only forms of uttara-, uttari- etc. are used).

uttarika (Pall, see below), in Śiḥs 332.1 (vs) ājivika-dharma-carāṇāṃ uttarikāṇa anuttarikāṇāṃ, of Ājivika-sectarians, superior and not superior(?); acc. to Bendall and Rouse, Transl., those who have or those who have not the higher aim, which is hardly illuminating. See Bendall's note in Text p. 414 for report of a Chin. interpretation, for which I find no basis in Indic. In Pall uttarika is reported only Nett. 50.10 °kāṇam phalāṇam pattiyā; obviously superior or the like. Pall has no anuttarika.

1 uttarya, nt., and °ryā, f. (cf. Skt. and Pall uttariya, AMg. uttariya; perhaps a hyper-Skt. form for the latter?), apparently a covering (for a part of the body: hands, ears, or back), but cf. 2 uttarya: karna-prsthottaryāṇi stambhāni (!?) mapratnakataḥakeyūrakāṇi pralambitāni samdṛśyante sma Kv 7.20; in Kv 30.12 in a long cpd. describing ornaments and clothes of girls, keyūra-... kaṭimekhalā-hastottaryā-karnaprsthottaryā-hastāṅguliya-samāyuktāṇāṃ (kumārīṇāṃ); in Kv 78.(20-)21 at end of a long cpd., list of ornaments and garments, maullikūṇḍala-... ratnahāra-skandhopariṣvajāṇika-(corrupt?) -prsthottaryāṇy anguṣṭha-vibhedikāṇy (q.v.) anyāni ca vividhāni vastrāṇi.

2 uttarya, ger., in Kv 32.17 vāmanakarūpam abhinirmāya, mrgājñinenottarya, venudaṇḍam upagrhya ..., evidently covering (with a deerskin). Cf. 1 uttarya. As a ger. the form seems inexplicable, unless as an extension of the Skt. usage with ut-thā-, ut-tambh-; is a MIndic uttharya intended (to utstarati, see s.v. uttharati, = str̥ṇoti; or to Skt. ava plus str̥-)? Note that Kv is also the only text where 1 uttarya is recorded; has the noun influenced the form of the gerund?

uttāna, adj. uttāraṇa (nt.; in this sense not Skt. or Pall; see uttarayati), carrying out (of a promise): Śiḥs 126.7 pratijñottāraṇavacanā vā; a neg. is needed; either delete preceding punctuation and understand a-prati°, in samdhi with preceding vā; or read with ms. of Bodhicaryāy. pañjikā on 5.54 (ed. 124.3, with note) pratijñānuttāraṇavacanā; in either case, not carrying out one's promise. La Vallée Poussin erroneously corrects to the reading of Bendall's text of Śiḥs.

uttarayati (in this sense not recorded), carries out, fulfils: LV 184.14 (vs) °raya pratijñāṃ, fulfil your promise; or rather, with Corrigenda (and metrical requirements) pratikāṅkṣām, carry out the expectation (of people, i.e. what they hope from you). Peculiar is saptotsada in Divy 620.13 (Utkaṭaṃ nāma droṇamukhaṃ paribhukte sma) saptotsadam satṛṇakāṣṭhodakam dhānya-sahagatam ... brahmadeyam, and 620.28–621.1, similarly, with sa-saptotsada; a close parallel in Pali, DN 1.87.(6)–7 Ukkatṭhaṃ ajjhāvasati sattussadam (comm. i.245.20 sattēhi ussadam, ussannaṃ bahujaṇaṃ ākiṇṇamanussaṃ ... anekasattasamākiṇṇaṃ ca) satṛṇakāṣṭhodakam sadhaññaṃ ... brahmadeyyam; cf. also Pv comm. 221.11 sattussadan ti pāpakārihi sattēhi ussannaṃ (this, in line 16, = uparūpari nicitaṃ). It seems clear that this sattussada in Pali = Skt. sattvotsada*, abounding in living creatures. It seems to have been falsely Sktized in Divy (which, or its source, obviously followed closely a MIndic original very close to the Pali of DN) to saptotsada, because the adapter knew familiarly this cpd. as one of the 32 lakṣaṇa (above, 1). Presumably he thought it meant here containing seven elevations of some sort, but I see no use in speculating further as to his intentions.

utsadana, nt. (= utsīdana; with mg. 1 cf. Skt. utsīdati; with mg. 2 cf. prec. and an-utsanna), (1) coming to grief, ruin: sthale utsadanam MSV I.49.10, 17 (in 2 above read utsatsyati for utpat); (2) superfluous abundance, excess, in na-dharmakam* (bhaktam) Divy 307.23, 27, of food offered to monks and not fully used by them, of the nature of excess (pw 7.323 zum Wegräumen bestimmt). For Mvy 6781 utsādanam = Tib. dril ba (rolling, in sense of rubbing down, massage; so Skt.), Minayev and Mironov read utsadanam, apparently a faulty reading.

utsaraṇa, nt., ascent, marching up, in Mvy 4485 pipillikotsaraṇam = Tib. grog ma gyen du ḥdzeg pa, ants marching up hill (a term used in logic).

utsarpita, adj. (ppp. of ud plus srp, caus.), app. laid by as balance, left over (from a sum of money): Divy 23.11 aparam utsarpitam; 16 (nāsmābhīḥ kiṃcid uddharikṛtaṃ) kiṃ tv aparam utsarpitaṃ tiṣṭhati, (we have not incurred any debt) but the rest remains put aside as left over.

utsaryati (semi-MIndic for utsāryate, § 3.34, pass. of utsārayati, also Skt., q.v.), is put aside, is violated: Mv ii.92.18 katham tu utsaryati dharmaśāstram.

utsavika, adj. (Skt. utsava plus ika), pertaining to festivals: Mv ii.84.20 vastrā ca utsavikā, holiday clothes; iii.177.17 vyayakarmena (em.) utsavikena, matters of expense due to festivals.

utsahana-tā (to Skt. utsahati; cf. next), fortitude, persistent energy, endurance: ŚsP 1461.11 (a Bodhisattva resolves to endure infinite torments in hells to bring creatures to enlightenment: evaṃ yāvat sarvasattvānām) kṛte yāty utsahanatā aparikhedāḥ (are the two last words a cpd.? lack of weariness in fortitude, endurance?).

utsahanā (to Skt. utsahati; but perhaps better read utsāhanā, to caus. utsāhayati, encouragement, enthusiasm, energy (?): Divy 490.5 kiṃ nv ayam utsahanā-vineyaḥ āhosvid avasādanā (q.v.)-vineyaḥ.

utsāraka, m. or f. pl., n. of a class of malevolent superhuman beings: Mmk 17.5; foll. by mahotsārakā(h); in a long list of demons etc.

utsāraṇa, nt. (to next with -ana), acc. to N. Dutt (Introd. xxii) = āvarhaṇa; it seems, at any rate, to mean removal of religious disabilities from a monk, cf. the following osāraṇa (206.16): MSV ii.206.12, 14.

utsārayati (specialized mg. of caus. of Skt. utsarati; see also utsaryati), frees (from religious disabilities), see prec.: MSV ii.206.13–16; Tib. seems to be cited as smoṅ (zhig), which I cannot interpret; ib. 113.13 (see Corrigenda), cf. *osāray 115.2 etc. See (v)osārayati.

utsāhana (nt.; cf. utsahanā, and next), inspiration, the making energetic: in title of SP chap. 26, samantabhadrotsāhana-parivarta, SP 483.5, 7.

utsāhani (cf. prec. and next), in Divy 654.27 either noun, energy, or adj. with ūtīr, energetic or inspired, inspiring: ny ūtīr aprativāṇiḥ* (qq.v.) smṛtyā samprajānyenāpṛamādato (see samprajānya) yogaḥ karaṇīyāḥ.

utsrjyate = Skt. utsrjati, abandons: Mvy 2558 = Tib. gtoṅ ba.

utsrta, adj. (hyper-Skt., § 2.19, for Pali ussita, Skt. ucchrita, for which utsrta is recorded rarely, at least as v.l., in Skt.; cf. ucchr̥ta), high: Mv ii.239.18 ta-dhvaṇām* (note in 240.8 ucchrita-dhvaṇa, of the same entity); Mmk 407.9, read dvau-m-utsrtau (text mṛsrtau*), and 419.12 dvi-m-utsrta(h) ... tri-m-utsrtaḥ (in all with hiatus-bridging m).

utsōḍhi, f. (?m.; = Pali ussolhi; cf. also utsūḍhi; in mg. = Skt. utsāha), exertion, strenuousness: Gv 109.11 (prose) bodhisattvānām ḍhiḥ ājāyate*.

utskhalati, or (semi-MIndic) utkhalati, trips, stumbles: ppp. lita*, as active, Mv iii.223.19 (prose) brāhmaṇa-grhapatikā nigamaṇānapadā utkhalitā (so Senart with 1 ms.; v.l. *uskha, intending *utskha).

utstīrya (ger. to ut-str*), wiping away (tears): MPS 31.71 (see Waldschmidt's n. 3).

The adj. also occurs in senses recorded in Skt.; intense, Bbh 11.11 udagra-pratata-vīrya-samanvāgataḥ.

udagrī (cf. udagra), joy, in °grī-bahula Dbh 12.10, preceded by prāmodya-; prasāda-, prīti-, utplāvanā-bahula, and foll. by uśī- (q.v.), utsāha-b°. Is the fem. form due to attraction to the surrounding fem. stems?

uda-candra = udaka-c° and daka-c°, qq.v.: °dra-samā lmi kāmaguṇāḥ LV 174.5 (vs), cited Śīkṣ 204.15, reading dakacandranibhā.

?ud-āṇicati (= Skt. °cayati), makes (voice) resound: perh. to be read in LV 394.18, see s.v. āṇja(s). udapāsi, aor. 3 sg., originated, was produced, for Skt. ud-apādi, Mv i.248.7 etc. (only in Mv; see § 32.60 for list of occurrences; sometimes written udupāsi in mss.).

udaya (m., as in Skt.), (1) with vyaya (cf. Pali khaṇḍhaṇaṃ udayavyaya or udayabbaya, as cpd.; see also samudayaśtaṃgama), arising and passing away (of skandhas): SP 69.16 (vs) (dharmacakram...) skandhāṇaṃ udayam vyayam, (the wheel of the law...) which is (consists of) the (doctrine of the) arising and passing away of the skandhas (wrongly Burnouf, not quite rightly Kern); (2) n. of a mleccha king: Mmk 622.1.

Udayagāmi(n), n. of a former Buddha: n. sg. °miḥ, Mv i.138.7 (so Index; text Udagra°, apparently misprint).

Udayana, (1) n. of Śuddhodana's purohita (father of Udayin 1): LV 121.1; (2) n. of nāga: Mvy 3324. (Also n. of the well-known king of Vatsa, as in Skt., Mv ii.2.12; cf. next.)

Udayanavatsarājapariprcchā, n. of a work: Śīkṣ 80.13.

Udayin, see Udayin.

Udayibhadra (in Pali Udayibhadda), n. of a son of Ajātasatru: Divy 369.10. In the same line he is called Udayin (n. sg. °yī); prob. read Udayibhadda.

Udayā, n. of a yakṣiṇī: MSV i.xviii.17.

[udaśvin, read udaśvit (Skt., see BR), a mixture of buttermilk and water: MSV ii.34.8; 35.1.]

uda-hāraka, adj. or subst. m. (= Pali id.; Skt. uda-hāra; see s.v. hāraka), carrying (one who carries) water: Av ii.69.10.

Udagata (v.l. Udaragata) n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.137.8.

Udattakīrti (v.l. Udānta°), n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.138.11.

Udattavarṇa (by em.; mss. Udānta°), n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.137.15.

Udattavastra (v.l. Udānta°), n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.139.13.

udāna, m. or nt. (= Pali id.; with acc. pron. usually imam, sometimes idam), a solemn but joyous utterance (acc. to PTSD sometimes a sorrowful one in Pali), usually but not always having religious bearings; almost always in modulation of phrase imam (less often idam, as LV 350.21; Mv ii.286.1; or omitted) udānam udānayati (usually with sma after verb), very common: LV 103.13; 159.14; 380.15; Lañk 2.15; Mv iii.254.13; Divy 558.1; 3 pl. udānayanti LV 31.5; Divy 163.28; aor. udānaye Mv i.351.13; ii.417.8, 13; iii.412.14; udānesi ii.286.1; udān udānayi (3 sg. aor.) Gv 489.11 (vs); perf. udānayām āsa Suv 193.2; °āsuḥ LV 278.8; udānitavān Karmav 155.18; in non-religious connexions, udānam udānayati Divy 2.11; Av i.14.13; udānayetsu (3 pl. aor.) Mv i.340.14; udānesi (3 sg. aor.) iii.162.7; nt. udānam, as n. of a type or class of Buddh. literature, one of the 12 (Mvy) or 9 (Dharmas) pravacanāni, Mvy 1271; Dharmas 62; Udāna-varga, n. of a specific work (abbreviated Ud).

udānayati, denom., utters an udāna: used virtually always with object udānam, q.v. for forms and passages; used absolutely, without object, Mv iii.111.8 (vs) trikhuttam udānayati sulabdhā lābhā (so Senart, but mss. lābhā sulabdhā; meter is bad in either case).

[Udānta-, in proper names, see Udānta-.]

Udayin (or Udayin? below), (1) = Kālodāyin (also appears as °dayin), q.v. (in Pali he is also called Udayī): Mvy 1056, in text (also Mironov) printed Udayī, but Index Udayin; Mv ii.234.8; iii.91.8; 93.3; LV 121.1 (son of the purohita Udayana); (2) one of the ṣaḍvārgika monks: Mvy 9476. (Tho not named in Pali as one of the Chabbaggiya monks, 2. Udayī in DPPN seems to have had a character deserving this reproach and is doubtless the same person as ours.) Named Divy 543.24 as type of a monk who might commit a sin; subjected to parivāsa and succeeding penances, MSV iii.32.14 ff. (in Divy and MSV not identified with the ṣaḍvārgika); (3) n. of a son of Ajātasatru and ancestor of Aśoka (= Pali Udayibhadda): Divy 369.10; in the same line called, acc. to text, Udayibhadra; MSV ii.42.11 ff.

udāra, adj. (= audāra, °rika; neither Skt. udāra nor Pali udāra, ulāra, seems so used), coarse: Samādh 22.26 (vs) yasya codāra samjñādi nāmarūpasmi vartate, visabhāgāya samjñāya udāram citta jāyate, if in the nāma-rūpa of someone there works a coarse samjñā etc., then, since this samjñā is not homogeneous [with the pure mind], the mind becomes coarse too (Régamey).

Udāragata, v.l. for Udāgata, q.v.

Udāragupta, n. of a former Buddha: Mv 1.138.12. udārataraḥ, adj. (compv. of udāra plus ka), more exalted: AsP 373.5.

Udāradeva, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.14.

udārika, adj. = audārika 2 (if reading is correct), exalted, abundant: SP 164.3 mahataś codārikasyāvabhāsasya (both edd., no v.l., but perhaps read caudār°) loke prādurbhāvo 'bhūt.

udāhāra, m. (= Pali id.; Skt. Lex.), lifting up (of the voice); utterance; often in comp. with vacana or another word denoting voice or some form of utterance: ekavacanodāhāreṇa, with one voice (-utterance), Mvy 2792; LV 147.1 (śākyakumārasatāny) ekavacanodāhāreṇāpūrvacaritam samuddisanti sma; Samādh 19.9 (devāḥ...) evam caikodāhārasvareṇa (with the sound of a single utterance) vāco bhāṣante sma; in ŚSP 567.6-7 read ekodāhāreṣu na sthātavyam prthagudāhāreṣu (or °hāre) na sthātavyam vyudāhāre na sthātavyam, and in 615.7-8 read ekodāhāro (text °haro) nimittam vyudāhāro (text °haro) nimittam prthagudāhāro (text °haro) nimittam (see the several cpds.); ghoṣodāhāre - utterance of sound (in speech), Dbh 56.9 buddhānām bhagavatām ghoṣodāhārasattvasamtoṣaṇam; Gv 543.2 ghoṣodāhāra-samatām (... anuprāptaḥ); Gv 390.22 ayaṃ prāsnodāhārah, this utterance of a question; SP 18.4 etena paramparodāhāreṇa by this successive expression (utterance); here substantially the same as word, name; of a succession of Tathāgatas all bearing the same name); an-udāhāra, adj., without utterance, not capable of being spoken, LV 392.15 (a-ruto 'ghoṣo) °nudāhārah, said of the Buddha's dharma; KP 59.3 (yo 'syānta-dvaya-syānugamo) °nudāhāro °pravayāhāra(h).

udikṣati (for udikṣ°, § 3.38), looks (up): 3 pl. aor. udikṣiṣu twice, in bah(u) ud° LV 364.11 (vs; Tib. sdod, wait); and sarva udikṣiṣu prāñjalibhūtāḥ Śikṣ 343.18 (vs; Bendall wrongly; the Tib. he cites as lha zhiñ must surely be read lta zhiñ).

Udiyāna, n. of a country: Mmk 325.10 °ne, loc. sg. See s.v. Kāviśa.

udu-pāna (= Aśoka id.), m. or nt., for Skt. uda°, well, spring: so repeatedly mss. of Mv, kept by Senart, who suggests (note on 1.220.20) assimilation to initial u- (so Hultzsch, Inscr. Aśoka, lxx): 1.220.20 (here one ms. uda°); in the rest no v.l.) = II.23.5; I.308.5; II.39.5; 438.6, 7; III.380.13. It may be noted that the Mv mss. often write uapāsi for udapāsi, q.v.

Udumā, n. of a city, home of Kaṇvaya: MSV I.255.14ff. Identified by N. Dutt with Pali Ātumā; but the corresponding story is located in Āpaṇa in Pali.

Udumbara (= Pali id., n. of a village? cf. also Lévi p. 94), n. of a town: Māy 51 (°re, loc.).

udūḍha, adj. (ppp.; Skt. Lex. = sthūla, pīvara), coarse, or gross, swollen(?): Divy 83.22 udūḍha-śraskāḥ śaṇaśāṭikā-nivāsitaḥ (mss. saṇa°) sphaṭṭapāṇipādo; same passage MSV I.82.13 uddhūta, which seems not to fit.

udga, adj. (cf. uga, cited as Ap. from Plīṅg. in Sheth, = udgata, udita), arising, arisen: Gv 266.16 (vs) tadā saukhyam udgu (n. sg. nt.) mam' udāram abhūt.

Udgata, (1) (= Pali Uggata) n. of a king of Danta-pura in Kalīṅga: Mv III.364.3 (here ed. with one ms. Uggata, v.l. Udg°); 365.19; 366.8; 374.1; (2) n. of a maharaja: Māy 256.23.

udgataka, f. °ika (§ 22.34) = udgata, high, elevated:

LV 322.17 (vs) kaṭhinapīnapayodhara-udgatkām, of the daughters of Māra.

udgamayati, with aruṇam, lit. makes the dawn arise: tatra (sc. in or on heresy) cāruṇam °yati MSV IV.53.16; i. e., prob., either (1) and attaches great importance to it (cf. Eng. he thinks the sun rises and sets on...), or (2) spends all his nights (in meditating) on it; said of a tīrthikāva-krāntaka (see avakrāntaka). Tib. translates literally.

udgarika, v.l. for utkārīka, q.v.

udgunṭhika (cf. Skt. Lex. avagunṭhikā, and Pali ogunṭheti, °ṭhita), veil, head-covering: nodgunṭhikayā Mvy 3540; -krta, (one) having the head covered (so Tib.), Mvy 8606 nodgunṭhikākrtyāyāglānāya dharmam deśayisyāmaḥ; similarly Bbh 106.12.

udgurana, or udgūr°, or udgīr°, nt. (ud plus gr [grati? or gurate?]; Skt. records udgoraṇa once), brandishing (of weapons): Mvy 8472 udguraṇam (Mironov udgūr°, v.l. udgur°) = Tib. gzas pa, brandishing (Das); SP 271.9 (vs) daṇḍa-udguraṇāni, by em., kept without note in WT; mss. udgīr° (except Kāshgar rec. which is altered).

udgrhṇāti (1) (= Pali uggaṇhāti), acquires (knowledge of truth), learns, comprehends: ger. often followed by pariyavāpya, Divy 18.12 uddesayogamanasikārān udgrhya pariyavāpya; 77.21 udgrhṇita bhikṣavo nimittam antar-dhāsyati, antarhitaḥ; 207.27 te (dharmāḥ) bhikṣubhir udgrhya pariyavāpya... dhārayitavyā(h) etc.; Mvy 784 sadodgrhita-dharmāvismarāṇa; Samādh 8.15 imaṃ samādhim udgrhītavān, udgrhya pariyavāpya dhārayitvā... 19.4 samādhim śroṣyati śrutvā codgrahīsyati dhārayiṣyati... 22.39 na sukaram... kāyasya pramāṇam udgrahitum; Dbh 80.14 (sarvasattvarutapadavyañjanam) udgrhṇīyād udgrhya ca...; Karmav 28.11 atha śuko... bhagavatā bhāṣitam udgrhya pariyavāpya...; RP 42.3, 4 na jātu rūpanimittam udgrhītavān... na sparśanimitam udgrhītavān; Kv 28.6, 11; 29.11 udgrhītum (so text each time); (2) holds fast to, keeps hold of, so AMg. ugghṇhati, = dhār rakhnā, Ratnach.; Mv 1.52.1 so loko udgrhīto sarvehi, all (the monks attendant on the Buddha Samitāvin) held fast to this world (i. e. imitated him in determining to remain until a new Buddha arose).

udgraha (m. or nt.; to prec.; cf. Pali uggaha, not in this mg.), taking hold (sc. of a woman's person); a samghāvaśeṣa sin (= kāyasamsarga): MSV III.87.16.

udgrahana, nt. (= Pali uggahana; to udgrhṇāti; cf. ograhaka), grasping (intellectually), comprehension: Mvy 908 = Tib. hdzin pa (id.); 782; Gv 496.9-10 sarva-buddhadharmodgrahanatayā; Dbh 79.21-22 (na tv eva mahābāhuśrutya-prāptaḥ śrāvakaḥ śrutodgrahanadhāraṇi-pratīlabdhaḥ kalpaśatasahasrodgrahanādhiṣṭhānena).

udghaṭaka, m. (see also udghaṭaka, ghaṭaka; twice recorded udghaṭaka in mss.), lit. one who opens or reveals, i. e. explains (science or techniques; so Leumann, cited by Wogihara, Lex. 19); in cliché (aṣṭāsu parikṣāsu, not in 100.5) udghaṭako vācakaḥ paṇḍitaḥ paṭupracārah (...) saṃvṛttaḥ Divy 3.19; 26.14; 58.20; 100.5 (in the last two udghaṭakah); same cliché reading ghaṭako for udgh° Divy 442.1; 523.25; and with udghaṭako MSV I.133.3; III.20.2; he became an expounder, explainer, scholar, one of skillful performance (in the 'eight testings' of valuable things).

udghaṭṭa-jña, adj. or subst. m. (= Pali ugghaṭṭa-taṇṇu; see Wogihara, Lex. 19: 'das Geöffnete kennend' = 'sich auf das Offenliegende d.h. auf eine kurze Darstellung verstehend'), understanding (by) a condensed statement, opp. to vipaṭcitajña, vyañjitajña, qq.v., understanding (by) a full, detailed explanation: udghaṭṭajñān (so with v.l., for text udghāt°) vipaṭcitajñān LV 400.1 (in a list of creatures, sattvān, of all kinds); same passage Mv III.318.3 (read as in LV, or possibly °jñān, but accs. pl.); Mvy 2384 °jñāḥ (Mironov udghaṭṭita°), 2385 vipaṇcitajñāḥ (Tib. on 2384 mgo smos pas go pa, understanding by mention of chief points); AsP 243.19 nodghaṭṭajñāḥ (so two mss.; text 'ghaṭṭ') vā na vā vipaṇcitajñāḥ 'nabhiṇṇo vā bhaviṣyati'; Bbh 295.15 vyañjita-jñāḥ (q.v.) udghaṭṭajñāḥ; implies high intellectual capacity, Mv iii.382.15 nipuṇo medhāvī udghaṭṭajñāḥ (so read) tikṣṇa-buddhiko; other passages Mv iii.270.9; SP 473.7 (here most mss. udghā°).

udghaṭṭayati (note spelling udghaṭṭaka for udghaṭṭaka, q.v., and cf. sam plus ud plus ghaṭṭ-, BR 5.1400), opens, loosens, undoes; pāsāv udghaṭṭayām āsa Jm 135.2; phutṭakavastrāvārī udghaṭṭitā Divy 29.12, mss. (ed. em. udghaṭṭitā with 29.8); for udghaṭṭita-jñāḥ (see this) Mvy 2384, Mironov udghaṭṭita°. Cf. ghaṭṭita.

udghaṭṭaka, m. (adj.?), = udghaṭṭaka, q.v., one who reveals or expounds: Divy 329.20 śāsanakoṭim udghaṭṭaka, one who explains the height of the religious doctrine; MSV i.133.3; iii.20.2.

udghaṭṭikā (v.l. °tikā; to ud plus han), in vāsodgh°, lit. perh. interruption of, intervals between (or, postponement of) lodging, i.e. spending the nights (on a journey) in different places in succession: Divy 173.20 tvam paścād vāsodghaṭṭikayā gaccha, aham tavārthe āhāram sthāpāyāmi; 24 so 'pi vāsodghaṭṭikayā gantum ārabdhaḥ (the other person places caches of food for him at various points).

Uddaka, the Pali form of Udraka, q.v., varies with the latter (and Udraka) in mss. and ed. of Mv ii.120.10, 11; in Mv ii.207.15 ed. prints Udraka (not in Index; by misprint for Udraka?) with v.l. Uddaka; the latter also v.l. in Mv iii.322.11, 13.

uddahati (= Pali uddahati), burns up: ger. uddahitvā Śiṅs 324.15 (vs); ppp. uddagdhā daṇḍakavanam LV 316.2 (vs); pass. Mv ii.262.12 (samvartamāne ... loke ...) prthivipradeśo uddahati, is burnt up. See also Waldschmidt, Kl. Skt. Texte 3.117, note 2. Cf. uddāha, °hana.

uddāna, nt. (= Pali id.; see also antaroddāna, piṇḍodd°), summary, brief statement, esp. of the contents of a longer literary work or passage: Mvy 1476 = Tib. sdom, summary; Gv 496.10, cited Śiṅs 6.6, uddānabhūtam sarvabodhisattvacaryāpṛaṇidhāna-saṃgrahaṇatayā, it is like a summary, because it comprises all ...; Ud xx.23 uddānam, applied to the following verse, which lists simply the titles of ten chapters of Ud; Karmav 82.8 asyoddānam, this is a summary of it (viz. of the results of a certain kind of good action; there follows in 5-6 lines the summary statement); Bbh 22.9 (refers to the following verse summarizing seven points listed just before); similarly 114.1; 137.1; 189.1; 200.1 etc.; MSV i.66.1; catvārimāni dharmoddānāni Bbh 277.5 (and ff.), four summary statements of doctrine, which are then listed: (1) anityāḥ sarvasaṃskārāḥ, (2) duḥkhāḥ sarva°, (3) anātmanāḥ sarva°, (4) śāntam nirvānam; ŚsP 1460.5, here by error for uddāna, q.v., and see s.v. ityuktaka.

ud-dāyāda, adj., (one) who has no heir: Mvy 6972 = Tib. rabs chad pa, having lineage cut off; MSV i.99.14.

uddāha (m.; cf. uddahati and next; = AMg. id., also uddāha; not noted in Pali; once in Skt., pw 7.386), consumption by fire, particularly in kalpoddāha, the world-conflagration: Śiṅs 177.14 kalpoddāhāgnibhūtam (sc. bodhicittam) sarvaduṣkṛtanīrdahanatayā; 324.15; Laṅk 231.18 prthivi kalpoddāhe dahyamānā; Gv 389.4 kalpoddāhe (misprinted kulp°) yathā vahnīḥ.

uddāhana (nt.? cf. prec.), in kalpodd°, (world-) conflagration: Gv 494.25 kalpoddāhanabhūtam (sc. bodhicittam) sarvaduṣkṛtanīrdahanatayā (cf. Śiṅs 177.14, s.v. uddāha, cited from Maitreyavimokṣa; our passage is from the Maitreya chapter of Gv, extracts from which, not including this one, are cited from Gv by name in Śiṅs 5.20 ff.; the two seem not to be identical).

uddisati, poses, proposes (a mathematical problem; Tib. rtsis mgo phogs, set the beginning of a calculation): LV 146.12 tatra bodhisattvaś coddisati, ekaś ca śākyakumāro nikṣipati (figures, works out the problem) sma; na ca pariprāpayati sma bodhisattvasyaikadvau ... yāvat pañcāpi śākyakumārasatāni yugapatkāle nikṣipanti sma, na ca pariprāpayanti sma; tato bodhisattva āha: uddisata yūyam, aham nikṣepsyāmi ... (19) pañcāpi śākyakumārasatāni yugapad uddisanti sma, na ca pariprāpayanti sma bodhisattvasya nikṣipataḥ; 146.22; in 147.1 samuddisanti, same mg. The Tib. renders nikṣipati by brtsis (brtsi, fut.), rtsis, calculate, figure. In same sense, uddisati sma Mvy 6657 = Tib. sbañs (? sbyañs?) pa, or luñ phog pa (?); Chin. uses the word used for BHIS vyākaraṇa (3).

uddisana (nt.? to uddisati), prescription, order: RP 31.11 (vs) śayyāsanaoddisana (n. sg.) teṣaṃ naiva bhaviṣyate 'pi ca kadācit no order for them is needed; they are provided without it).

uddisayati (= uddisati; not recorded in this sense), recognizes: Divy 191.3 (mām ...) śāstāraṃ uddisayadbhīr madyam apayam, those who recognize me as teacher must not drink liquor.

uddiṣṭaka (ppp. of uddisati plus -ka, perhaps specifying, § 22.39; cf. AMg. uddiṭṭha [food etc.] specially prepared for an ascetic, Ratnach.), (one who or that which has been) appointed, specified, prescribed; only in saṃghoddiṣṭaka, ... by the brotherhood: Mmk 291.15 °kāṃ bhikṣāṃ bhojayitvā, having fed them the food prescribed by the brotherhood; same, with bhikṣāṃ understood, 294.7; in 701.20 saṃghoddiṣṭaka-bhikṣavo (monks [as] directed by the assembly) bhojayitavyā(ḥ); 711.24 prabhāte saṃghoddiṣṭakā bhikṣavo (n. pl.) bhojayitavyā(ḥ); °kāṃ bhikṣūṇ MSV iii.20.14.

(uddesa, m. [= Pali uddesa; the Skt. use, see BR s.v. 2, is perhaps close enough to justify calling it the same mg.], exposition, explanation, setting forth (of a doctrine): Bbh 68.15 °śaḥ svādhyāyo vinīśayaḥ ...; 264.25 °śa-dānena; 297.3 °śa-svādhyāya-saṃpratipattipāraṃparya-yogena; 410.3. See śramaṇoddesa, °śikā.)

-uddesaṅka, m. (= Pali uddesaṅka), director, manager: Mvy 9056 viharoddes°; 9057 bhaktoddes° (= Pali bhat-toddes°).

-uddesika, adj. (= Pali uddesika), intended for, in ātmadde° intended for oneself: Prāt 480.8 °kaṃ (kuṭim, huf), in parallel to Pali Vin. iii.149.11, where attuddesaṃ (sc. kuṭim).

uddhara (m.? only in comp.; to Skt. ud with hr; also an-uddhara-tā below), neglect, ignoring: LV 342.8 (vs) evaṃ hi teṣa bhavate guru-uddharāṇām (so best mss. and ed.), for so it happens to those who ignore (the words of the Master; RP 37.14 na karmakriyoddhareṇa (bhavitavyam), one must not ignore, neglect ...; an-ud° non-neglect, LV 432.18 -ānuśāsany-anuddhara-, non-neglect of instruction; in LV 440.4 (prose), for ed. anuddhuratayā, read anuddharatayā (anuddhara-tā, abstr.; grāhyavacanātām, sc. pratilapsyate), (he will attain a state of having his words accepted) because (they) will not be ignored, lit. by reason of non-ignored-ness. (Possibly read with some mss. an-uddharaṇa-tayā, which would mean the same.)

uddharati (special mg. of Skt. id.; Pali has ppp. ubbhata, of kaṭhina, Vin. i.255.19, = BHIS uddhṛta), suspends, stops, cancels (the kaṭhina ceremony); cf. Pali (kaṭhin)uddhāra: uddhṛte kaṭhine Prāt 490.10 and ff. (Chin. as rendered by Flnot otherwise); MSV ii.157.9 (the kaṭhināstāraka speaks, in ending the ceremony) āva āyusmantāḥ kaṭhinam uddharīṣyāmi, yūyam svakasvakāni cvarāṇy adhiṭṭiṣṭhata (take possession of ...); 158.7 (corair muṣṭikānām) bhikṣūṇām arthāya kaṭhinam (which had been concluded) uddhartavyam (must be suspended); 158.19 uddhṛtam saṃghena coramuṣṭikānām bhikṣūṇām arthāya; 159.1-2 bhājite yasyābhipretam tena svakāt pratyamāṣat coramuṣitakānām bhikṣūṇām saṃvibhāgaḥ kartavyaḥ.

[uddhartya MSV III.137.8, having lifted up, read prob. udvartya, cf. parallel II.129.15 udvartitaḥ; uddhṛtya would also be possible.]

uddhava (m.? cf. Deśn. I.106 uddhava [comm. uddhavaa] = ukṣipta), perhaps pride, arrogance (so pw 7.324); or excitement (so pw 6.298; in some passages the context seems more favorable to this): in a verse found twice in Divy (69.13; 72.22) and repeatedly in Av (I.6.8; 12.4 etc.), vigatoddhavā dānyamadaprahīṇā buddhā(h); otherwise recorded only in Jm: 70.22 avinaya-ślāghānuvṛtti-uddhavāt; 74.15 yuddhoddhavābhimukhatām; 124.15 darpoddhavād apratisamkhyayā vā; 141.15 amarṣa-darpoddhava-karkaṣāni; 200.20 naṣṭa-harṣoddhava-dra-vaḥ; 227.11 vyāvṛtta-pramododdhavana manasā; 233.4 durjanaḥ paṭutarāvalepoddhavaḥ.

uddhānana, or (v.l., and Mironov's text, with v.l. uddhā) uddhanana, nt., rude behavior: Mvy 5193 = Tib. rgod byed (which probably has this meaning, despite Das); so one Chin. interpretation. Cf. samuddhānana ('dhanana).

uddhāra (m.?), (1) some branch of mathematics, perhaps subtraction (or debts? accounting of debts, cf. 2), in a cliché, list of subjects studied by youths, mudrāyām uddhāre nyāse nīkṣepe ... Divy 3.18; 26.12; 58.17; 100.1; 441.28; MSV III.20.1; seems to be replaced in Mv by dhāraṇa, 'nā, q.v.; (2) (= Pall id., and once in Skt., Kāty. Dharmas., acc. to Stenzler cited in pw) debt, in uddhārikṛtam, Divy 23.15 kimcid ud° has anything been incurred as a debt?; (3) kaṭhinoddhāra (see uddharati; Pall uddhāra and ubbhāra), suspension, cancellation: MSV II.161.14 ff.

uddhāraka (m. or nt.), act of lifting, in pādoddhārakeṇa, instr., with lifting up of the feet: Divy 211.26 yadā teṣāṃ ṛṣikopena pakṣāṇi śīrṇāni tatas te pādod° prasthitaḥ; 211.27, 28.

[uddhura, in anuddhuratayā LV 440.4, read uddhara, q.v.]

? uddhya (m.? so Skt. Lex., once in literature, BR), perhaps river, stream (suspected by BR of being only n. pr. of a river); in LV 274.12 (prose) (mahatā) puṣpādhyena (pravaraṣatā), should mean with a great stream of flowers raining down. Both edd. puṣpādhyena, which can only be understood if a noun for stream or rain is supplied; nearly all mss. puṣpodyena; udyā is recorded as v.l. in a Hindu Lex. for uddhya, see BR; perhaps read puṣpodhyena, or even puṣpodyena with mss.? Tib. me tog mañ poñl char chen po ni hbebs, a great ratn of many flowers rained down.

uddhvasyate (pass. to Skt. ud-dhvams-), and caus. °syāpayati, is (causes to be) insulted or mocked; so read in Śikṣ 57.6, 8, see s.v. udvaśyate.

udbilya, udvilya, nt. (= audbilya, q.v.), joy, pleasurable excitement: prabhayā kāyacittodbilyasaṃjananyā LV 41.5 (cf. under audbilya, also with prabhā); (prabhayā ...) kāyacittaprahāḍodbilyaṃjananyā LV 281.11 (so most mss., Lefm. °daudbilya°); (vāk ...) kāyacittodbilyakaraṇi LV 286.12; kāyacittodbilyakaraṇatayā (of speech) LV 440.6; udvilya-(mss. udvīla, °ra)-harṣā hāhākāram udiretsuḥ Mv I.266.14; cittodbilya-karī (of Buddha's voice; n. sg. f.) Mvy 462; cittodbilyaṃ pratilabhante Sukh 58.3; cittodbilyasamanvāgatāḥ Sukh 61.13.

udbhāvaka, f. 'ikā, adj. (cf. next), manifesting, declaring, setting forth: dharmaparyāyodbhāvika priyavādītā Bbh 219.20, and similarly in foll. lines.

udbhāvana, nt., and °nā, f. (= AMg. °nā; °na recorded in this mg. once in Skt., pw 1.298), (laudatory) manifestation, making known, declaration: LV 5.19 mahāyānodbhāvanārtham; 5.20 sarvabodhisattvānām codbhāvanārtham; otherwise noted only in cpd. guṇodbhāvanā, rarely °na, manifestation or making known, proclamation of virtues: Divy 184.21 Svāgatasya guṇodbhāvanām kartukāmaḥ; 492.23 °nāsyā kartavyā; Kv 14.17 (śrutā ...) āryāvalokiteśvarasya guṇ°nā; same 14.19, 20; 15.12; 16.2; āryāvalokiteśvarasya guṇ°nām kurute (in words then quoted) 18.10; nt., vikurvitāni śrāyante guṇodbhāvanāni ca 24.10, but 24.13 guṇodbhāvanām śrṇu; 48.17 °nām bhāṣitum ārabdhāḥ.

udbhida, m. (= Pall, in cpd. ubbhidodaka; Skt. udbhid, acc. to pw fem.), spring, fountain: Mvy 4176 = Tib. chu mig.

—udbhuta (m.c. for udbhūta), manifested, appeared: LV 282.2 (vs); read gātrodbhuta (= gātrā ud°) with mss. and Tib.

udbhūta-vastuka, adj., for which the site (vastu) is visible: (kalpika-śāla ...) °tukā MSV I.235.5; glossed in 14 by prahīṇa-vastukā, the site for which has been abandoned (i. e. not in use otherwise); seems to correspond to Pall gahapati ('ti?) Vin. I.240.2 (see comm. 1099.17 ff.), one offered by a layman.

Udyataka (m.?), n. of an ocean (samudra) in which the nāḍikerī tree grows: Gv 501.26.

udyāna (In Skt. nt., park, and so Pall uyyāna), (1) park, as m. (? with m. form of pron.): udyāna sarve (n. pl.) LV 231.1 (vs); (2) advance (of an army), one of the arts mastered by the young Bodhisattva: LV 156.12 udyāne (Tib. mdun du bsnur ba, moving forward) nīryāṇe avayāne ...; (3) in Dbh.g. 20(356).11 divide, probably, udyāna (for °nam) dhāraṇ' (for °ṇām!) § 10.207) ita (= itaḥ) pañcamim (sc. bhūmim) ākramanti, for this reason (so Chin.) they enter the fifth (stage), a garden of dhāraṇis (so Chin.). Were it not for the Chin. translation, I should be tempted to understand udyāna-dhāraṇ(am) ..., they proceed to maintenance of progress (in general; an extension of 2, above) from this point to the fifth (stage). It may, however, be noted that in the prose of Dbh, 5th Bhūmi, the words udyāna (in mg. park) and dhāraṇi occur, not to be sure together, but in 45.24 and 46.12 respectively.

udyāma, m. (cf. Vedic id., the mg. of which in some places, ŚB 8.5.1.13, is not clear), in sūtrodyāmaḥ Divy 643.1 = 644.9, perhaps extension, drawing out (of thread), see s.v. tatṣaṇa; but the precise meaning of the phrase escapes me. It may mean effort, exertion (Skt. udyama), as in Aśoka u(y)dyāma, Rock Ed. (Kalsi) 13.18. In this sense probably read nīr-udyāmā, as suggested by Kashgar rec., SP 100.9 (prose).

udyūthikā, f. subst. (adj.?), (cf. Pall uyyodhika, Vin. IV.107.26, old comm. = yattha sampahāro dissati, the correspondent of our word, which seems to have been Skitized by association with yūtha, prob. unhistorically; root yudh is doubtless the true source; but mg. is rather obscure, see Childers, who guesses sham fight), perhaps some sort of military exercise, such as sham battle; in Mvy 8470 °kā-gamanam = Tib. gyul bśams pā hkrug tu (hgro ba), (going to) an army prepared for battle? or a battle-prepared combat (i. e. a military maneuver)?; in Prāt 512.6 seemingly adj. with senā, udyūthikām senām darśanāya (Chin. regarder les manœuvres, Flinot); in accord with this possibly udyūthikā in Mvy may imply senā, meaning (an army) ready for military operations (?).

Udyogapāla, n. of a yakṣa-leader: Māy 235.31.

? udyojayati (see also s.v. udyojita), acc. to Bendall and Rouse, Śikṣ Transl. 57 note 1, = Pall uyyojeti, dismisses, sends away: Śikṣ 58.2 yāvad dhāmasaṃvāṇikāś codyojayitavyāḥ parśanmaṇḍalam parisamsthāpayitavyam; but Tib. brtson par hgyur, = (to be) made zealous, the regular Skt. mg.; yāvad can be understood as up to the point (in the text where it is said -), thus fitting this mg., and B. and R.'s interpretation seems implausible.

They assume the same mg. for Mv iii.141.12 (bhagavān . . . asuranayutāni . . . samyaksambodhiye vyākariṭvā bahūni ca prāṇisahasrāṇi āryadharmeṣu pratīṣṭhāpayitvā rājānaṃ śuddhodanaṃ ca) saparivāraṃ ca udyōjaye; but here too this verb (mss. udyōjeya or °yam) may well mean aroused, inspired, as regularly in Skt.; this accords well with the preceding parts of the sentence, and seems more natural than dismissed (tho S. and his followers did in fact depart, as the next sentence says).

? udyōṭita, in Prāt 513.7 eṣa bhikṣu(r) muhūrtam apy udyōṭitaḥ syād, acc. to Chin. (Finot) would seem to mean (may this monk be) annoyed (if only for a moment). But for this, I should assume a substitute for udyōṭitaḥ, dismissed, sent away (ppp. to udyōjayati, q.v., in mg. of Pall uyyōjeti). Cf. AMg. jōḍiya (= yōjita, Ratnach.), united; Hindi jōṛnā; Skt. Dhātup. juṭ, juḍ, join.

Udraka Rāmaputta (= Pall Uddaka, which also occurs in mss. of Mv, see s.v., Rāmaputta; see also Rudraka), n. of a teacher with whom the Bodhisattva studied for a time: Mv ii.119.8 ff.; 200.13; iii.322.11, 13; Mvy 3516; Udraka (alone), associated with Ārāḍa, q.v., Divy 392.1, 3; Mv ii.200.8; and with Devadatta (as persons of bad conduct), Śikṣ 105.17. Udraka also Buddhacarita 12.84 ff. Tib. lhaḡ spyod (superior conduct) for Udraka (Mvy) and Rudraka (LV 243.15 ff.).

Udrāyana, (1) n. of a disciple of Śākyamuni (= Pall DPPN 2 Udena?); Mvy 1060; (2) another form of Rudrāyana, q.v., a king of Roruka: Divy 565.30 (prose; mss.); 567.20 (vs; here Rudr° would be metrically impossible; nevertheless the same pāda is repeated 570.4 with the unmetrical reading Rudr°!).

(udvartayati [= Pall ubbaṭṭeti; in Skt. rare and chiefly ppp. udvartita], rubs down, anoints, or the like: Mv ii.423.7 (kumāraṃ) . . . udvarteti supeti; so 433.12; °teti ca snāpeti ca iii.405.7.)

udvahanā (nt.; perhaps Sktization of Pall *ubbahana, to ubbahati pluck out, destroy, prob. from Skt. ud-vrḥ-), removal, destruction: duḥkḥodvahanacittāḥ ca Bbh 248.8; samsāre sarva-duḥkḥodvahanāya bhavati 249.6.

? udvighāṭana, opening (?); see vighāṭana.

udviciya, ger. (perhaps to otherwise unrecorded ud-vi-ci-, pluck, gather): Mv ii.244.7 (prose) puṣpāṇi udviciya, gathering flowers (v.l. uddhirciya).

udvikṣya, adj. (gdve., to ud-vi-lkṣ-), (worthy to be gazed at), beautiful: Mv iii.69.16 bhavanāni (houses, palaces) . . . udvikṣyāṇi.

udvetana (m. or nt.), a high number: Gv 106.17; corresponds to upavarta, q.v.

udvedha (m.? = Pall ubbedha, defined as height; AMg. uvveha, defined by Ratnach. only as depth; Pkt. uvveha, acc. to Sheth height or depth, also zamīn-ka avagāha, penetration of the ground [?]), height (so surely in most cases): Śikṣ 246.5 lokadhātuḥ samtiṣṭhate, caturaśtīrojanasahasrāṇy udvedhena; Mv i.196.17; iii.229.14; 232.10 (yaṣṭi, or yaṣṭi . . .) dvādaśayojanāni udvedhena; Mv i.196.2 (iṣikāni, so text . . .) dvādaśapauruṣā udvedhena; here preceded by figures relating to depth (extent of penetration of the ground), see naikhanya, and circumference (? see parigohya); in a close parallel, Mv iii.228.13, (iṣikāni . . .) dvādaśapuruṣa-udvedhena (mss. udvehena, uddehena) is preceded by the statement of depth (naikhanya) and by a form read by Senart tripauruṣocāni, which would refer to height and so be inconsistent with -udvedhena (which, however, if it meant depth, would be inconsistent with the preceding form containing naikhanya); it seems that Senart should have assumed -parigohya udveṣṭayati, tears apart, destroys: (tadāsyā gṛhād ekalkām) ślām °yāma iti MSV i.229.5; = Tib. bkogs te gzhig go, pulling apart we will destroy.

(as in i.196.2; or some form relating to circumference) instead of -ucca (mss. read -pauruṣarocāni or -puruṣaroddha, perhaps showing, in the syllable -ro-, a faint trace of that original). Senart himself saw this in his note on i.196.2, but overlooked it on iii.228.13. Cf. āvedha, pravedha.

udvyastikā, a posture with hands joined at the back of the neck: Mvy 8543; so Tib. (gñah goṅ du [mi = Skt. na] bsnol) and Chin.; = vyastikā (-kṛta); cf. also vinyastikā, atyastikā, one of which probably = this.

unnaḍa, adj. (= Pall unnaḍa; doubtless dial. form of next), haughty, arrogant: Śikṣ 120.4 an-un°, foll. by parallel anuddhata.

unnata, (1) adj. (ppp.; cf. prec. and next; not recorded in this evil sense), arrogant: Mv i.305.15 uddhatām unnatām drṣṭvā capalām . . .; Śikṣ 158.5 bodhisattvo 'n-unnata-vīro bhavati; (2) n. of a former Buddha: LV 5.8; Mv i.137.12 (here of course in the good sense recorded in Skt. and Pall, lofty).

unnati, f. (not recorded in this evil sense; cf. prec. and unnamana), pride, arrogance: Śikṣ 157.14 °tiṃ varjayet sadā.

Unnatoṣṇiṣa, n. of one of the 8 Uṣṇiṣa-rājānaḥ (see uṣṇiṣa 3): Mmk 41.11.

unnamana (nt.), or °nā (= unnati, q.v.), pride, arrogance: Bbh 201.18 (vigatamānaṃ) tena vīryāram-bheṇānunnamanāt (neg. an-un°); Sukh 7.20 (vs) tenonnamanā na cāsti śāstuh.

unnayati (not recorded in this sense), brings up = raises (a child); pass. unniyate (°ti): Mv ii.210.14 tahiṃ āsramapade so mānavako unniyati, in this hermitage-place the boy was brought up.

(an-)unnahana(-tā), (cf. Skt. unna: lha, haughty), (state of absence of) pride: Śikṣ 119.5.

unnāma (AMg. upnāma, unnāma, elation, pride; in Skt. one doubtful occurrence where, if correct, it means [physical] elevation; not in Pall), elevation (of spirits), elation; usually in comp. with its opposite avanāma or °mana, once with nāma, also of opposite mg.: Gv 244.3 an-unnāmāvanāma-tām, state of not being elated or depressed; Śikṣ 105.5 lābhālābhatayā unnāmāvanāma-karo, causing elation or depression by getting or not getting; Śikṣ 108.12 (vs) unnāma-nāmāni bahūni gacchati, goes to many fits of elation and depression, see s.v. nāma = avanāma; Śikṣ 150.6 nonnāmajāto bhavati; LV 33.7, text an-unnāmāvanāmana-tāyai, unto being not subject to elation or depression (mss. vary greatly).

-unnodana(-tā, in comp.; nom. act. to ud-nud-, no form or deriv. of which is otherwise recorded), thrusting forth (from), driving out (of): Gv 491.19-20 sarvālayanila-yonnodanatāyai, said of activities of a candidate for Bodhisattvahood.

unmatti, f. (= Skt. unmāda), madness: Mmk 567.5 (prose) (yadl gacchen) maraṇonmattiṃ vā prayacchante.

Unmāda, m., n. of a demon that causes madness: Mvy 4760 = Tib. smyo byed. Cf. Unmāda, in similar list of demons.

unmananā, disrespect, contemptuous treatment: Śikṣ 185.1 °nām kutsanāṃ sahate. No *un-man- seems recorded.

unmardana (m.), n. or epithet of some hostile (magic or supernatural) power: Māy 237.27 °nātaḥ, abl.; follows huvanātaḥ, see huvana; followed by bhūtātaḥ vetāḍātaḥ etc.

Unmāda, n. of a class of demons (causing madness), = Unmāda, which occurs in a similar list: Māy 219.9 etc.

Unmādayanti, n. of a woman: Jm 81.8. In Pall version of same story called Ummadanti; see DPPN.

unmijitakā (?), a turning sideways: in śīrṣonmijitakayā, instr., LV 62.21 (prose), with a turning of their heads to one side (they gazed at the Blessed One); of gods. So apparently Tib. mgo byol nas. Is the word somehow related to un-miñj- (see the foll. words)? The only v.l. is A śīrāmñijitakāyā; I have thought of śīrāmñijitakāyā(h), with bodies unmoved as to the heads (see anñijita). But Tib. clearly has no such reading (and no word for body).

unmiñja, m. (to ud-miñj, cf. under miñj-; and next), apparently lit. opening, and so starting, initial development, initiation of something: Dbh 18.17 sattveṣu mahākaruṇa-miñjaḥ sambhavati, and 19 mahāmaṭṭryunmiñjaḥ, of Bodhisattvas; Sukh 4.4 (udāraḥ khalu ta) unmiñjo bhadrīkā mīmāṃsā kalyāṇaṃ pratibhāṇaṃ. Müller (SBE 49 Pt. 2, p. 4) translates question, stating that 'all the Chinese translators' translate so.

unmiñjita, nt. and adj. (see s.v. miñj-, and cf. prec. two), (1) nt. opening, as of the mouth (so Mvy 6303): Mvy 2670; 6303 (in both Tib. phyé ba); Asp 268.19 ff. parapudgalānām unmiñjita-nimiñjītāni, lit. openings and closings of (or, things opened and closed by = beginnings and endings, starts and finishes, of) other individuals; Gv 84.21, of an ascetic, tasya ... śāntasya nirunmiñjītasya (without initiation of anything) nīrālambasya; (2) adj. opened = initiated, begun: Dbh 39.22 °tāni nimiñjītāni vicintitāni vitarkitāni ... (see kelāyati) nīketasthānāni tāni sarvāpi vigatāni bhavānti sma; (3) nt. mouthful (lit. opening, sc. of the mouth, as in Mvy 6303) Śīks 215.16 (śvasv apl ...) ekaudanonmiñjītam ekālopaṃ vā paritya-jati, throws even to dogs ... a single mouthful of porridge or a single bit of food.

unmūḍha, adj. (ppp. to ud-muh-; = Pkt. ummūḍha), inquieted: Śīks 185.4 °ḍha-cittam nigghṇāti.

? unmūḍhi, suggested em. for utsūḍhi, q.v.: Mvy 7683.

unmūrdhaka, f. °ikā, adj. (= unmūrdhan, mit aufgerichtem Kopfe, pw 5.250), with head thrown back: Mv II.452.6 (rājā) kuṣo ... sudarśanāye devīye unmūrdhikāye (i. e. trying to escape from his violent embrace) ālīngito (the king, whom the queen did not recognize, was hideously ugly).

(-) upaka, (1) at end of cpds, (= Pali -upaka, -ūpaka, °ikā f.; BHS also has equivalent -upaga, q.v.), pertaining, belonging to ...; suitable, appropriate (to) ...; fit (for) ...; like: Vaj. fragment in Pargiter ap. Hoernle MR 180.3-4 naivasamjñānopakā(h), haplog. for naivasamjñānāsamjñā-yatanopakāḥ, which read, belonging to the ... (= °yatano-pagāḥ Dharmas 129, see -upaga; Vaj. ed. 20.18-19 reads naivasamjñāno nāsamjñāno, a secondary recast); kulopaka (= Pali kulūpaka), lit. belonging to a family, = family associate, said of a monk who is regularly supported by a certain family, Mv I.244.12 (tasya yo mātāpitṛṇām, so mss., Senart em. °tṛṇām) bhikṣu kulopako āsi; (in Av II.67.9 replaced by kulopagata, q.v.; in Mv III.453.3 wrongly read by em. in text, see s.v. kalopī); also, by extension, said of the houses visited by such monks, Divy 307.2 kulopaka- (mss. kulopā-) gheṣu gatvā, and 3 te kulopakagrhāy upasamkrantāḥ; prob. by analogy with this word Mv III.372.16 prajñopaka (em. for ājñop°, ājñāp°; context makes em. seem quite certain), dependent on prajñā, (śīlaṃ śīrīm [so mss.] caiva kṛtājñatā ca) prajñopakā tu pravaraḥ bhavanti, but (the virtues of) morality, majesty, and gratitude are excellent (but) subordinate to prajñā; akāryopaka, not fit for use, KP 131.2 anargham valdūryamahāmaṇiratnam uccāre patitam akāryopakaṃ bhavati; yathopakam, adv., according to what is fitting, Mv III.257.6; 272.4 (after a seat of honor has been provided for the Buddha) °kaṃ ca bhikṣusamghasya, and (seats) for the assembly of monks according to propriety (i. e. relative rank); nirupaka, apparently adj., without a correspondent or match, peerless, unequalled, Gv 301.11 (vs) dharmas ca me nirupakāyu (i. e. nirupaka = °kaḥ plus ayu = ayam) śrutah; (2) (= Pali id.) n. of a Ājīvaka, with whom Buddha conversed while going to Benares to deliver his First Sermon: Mv II.325.12 ff. (note esp. 326.20 tasmā ahaṃ upaka jīno, a line which elsewhere contains the form Upaga, q.v.); (3) n. of a purohita's son in the Upāli-Gaṅgapāla Jātaka: Mv III.184.1 ff.; corresponds to the character Aḍḍhamāsaka in the Pali Gaṅgamāla Jāt., see DPPN.

upakaṇṭhaka (nt.? = Skt. °ṭha), vicinity: Divy 174.3 (prose) udapānopakaṇṭhake viśrāntah.

Upakambala, n. of a nāga king: Mmk 18.9.

upakara, adj. (and subst. m.?; to Skt. upa-kr), beneficent: Bbh 218.1 vāg upakara; 218.6, 16 upakaraṃ (in 16 text °karaṃ, erroneously) vācam; Śakraprasnasūtra, Waldschmidt, Kl. Skt. Texte 4, 113.2-4 upakaraṃ tvam tāta pañcaśikhāsmāka(m u)pakaraṃ ca yo hi nāma ...; MSV I.287.13.

upakaraṇa, = bhoga, food: Bbh 246.24 upakaraṇa-vaikālyā-jam (duḥkham), one of 5 kinds of duḥkha, clearly = 293.10 bhoga-vaikālyā-duḥkha-, pain due to defects in food; prob. in this mg. Bbh 11.1 upakaraṇa-vikalasya jlvikāpekṣāyam caturtha upakileṣaḥ; MSV III.19.20; 134.10. Cf. upakaraṇa.

-upakaraṣṭkā, acc. to Tib. dishevelled state (of the hair of the head): LV 227.9 (prose); of the harem women mourning the loss of the Bodhisattva) kāścic chīrṣopakar-ṣikayā ... rudanti sma (Tib. mgo ḥbal lo, had their heads dishevelled).

Upakāra, n. of a nāga king: Māy 247.24.

? upakāraṇa (cf. AMg. uvagāraṇa = Skt. upakāra? or for Skt. and Pali upakaraṇa?), in Mmk 48.10 evaṃ laḍḍukāgarbhoktārakaviṣeṣān (? seems corrupt) pūpoka-kāraṇān sarvadevabhūtagaṇān sarvasattvāś ca mantropetān vidhinā niryatayet. We seem to need dat. instead of acc. forms for °gaṇān and °sattvāś (as in the following parallel sentence); with that change, pūpoka-kāraṇāni might mean benefactions consisting of cakes, or instruments (cf. upakaraṇa) of (making) cakes; or, with a mg. characteristic of upakaraṇa in Pali rather than Skt., commodities consisting of cakes; or finally, if = BHS upakaraṇa in Bbh 246.24 (see s.v.), food consisting of cakes.

Upakāla (= next; associated in both mgs. with Kāla, q.v.), (1) n. of a nāga king: Mvy 325.2; (2) n. of a yakṣa leader: Māy 236.10 (prose).

Upakālaka (= prec.), (1) n. of a nāga king: Māy 247.4 (prose); (2) n. of a yakṣa: Māy 7 (vs; cpd. Kālopa-kālaka).

upakileṣa = upakileṣa, q.v.

upakīrṇaka (cf. Skt. upakīrṇa, covered, bestrewn), in Rājopakīrṇaka (sūtra, q.v.; mg. not clear, but the subject of the story suggests falling, reverting (to the king; of the property of one who dies without heirs), or that which has reverted etc.

Upakuṣa, n. of a cakravartin king: Mvy 356.7.

Upakeśinī, n. of a Buddhist deity or yakṣiṇī, always associated with Keśinī, q.v.: Sādh 118.18; 120.4; 121.19; 131.18 (all prose). See next.

Upakeśī, once for Upakeśinī in vs (doubtless m.c.): Sādh 113.19.

upakrama, m. (= Pali upakkama; to upakramati; see also upasaṃkrama), violence, doing violence to ... attack (by violence): LV 258.2 (vs) kāyopakrama-karaṇai(r) manyante bālīśāḥ suddhiṃ; Mv II.448.12 °meṇa ātmānaṃ māyeyā; 492.1 ātmānaṃ ca upakramaṇa māritukāmaḥ; similarly 493.20; Divy 235.9 sa evaṃvidha upakramaḥ kṛtāḥ; Bbh 244.6 ātmopakrama-duḥkham, and 7 paropakrama-duḥkham, ... thru violence by oneself and by others.

upakramaṇa (nt.? = Pali upakkamaṇa), = upakrama, violent attack: Gv 244.1 sarvasattvākāyotpiḍano-pakramaṇādhivāsayaṃnān, enduring ... violent attacks.

upakramati, also °meti (= Pali upakkamati; Skt. upakramati in this sense once, Mbh 13.6716; cf. upakrama, °mana, °mika, aupakramika), attacks, does violence to: Mv II.459.16 upakramemi ātmānam mārayiṣyam; 492.(7)-8 mātmanam (mss.) upakramāhi; III.25.2 ātmānam upakramiṣyāmi, and 4 °nam upakramitukāmaḥ; Divy 264.12 upakrāntā, ppp., see s.v. upasaṃkrama.

-upakramika, adj. (also aupa°, q.v.; upakrama plus ika: = Pali opakramika), due to, caused by violence, violent attack: Gv 152.6 (vyādhin...) amanuṣyavaikārikān api viṣayaparopakramikān api (cf. Bbh 63.5 s.v. aupakramika); (ābādhō...) ātmopakramiko vā paropakramiko vā MSV II.45.8; otherwise recorded only in a cliché, ātmopakramikām (due to self-inflicted violence) śarīropatāpikām duḥkhāṃ tivrām kharām kaṭukām amanāpām (te added once) vedanāṃ vedayanti LV 246.14 (vedayante); 263.7; (in Mv amanāpām omitted) Mv II.121.5, 10-11; 122.1, 8, 16; 123.5; 130.7-8, 10. A shorter Pali form MN 1.241.10 opakramikā dukkhā tippā kaṭuka vedanā vediyanti (Pali has no *ātopakkamika). In Mv vedanā is usually recorded instead of °nām.

upakliṣyate (cf. Pali ppp. upakkiliṭṭha; and upakleśa), is stained: Bbh 10.8 (caturbhīr upakleśair...) upakliṣṭo bhavati; Śikṣ 234.8 (prose) āgantukalḥ kleśair upakliṣyate, in passage cited from 'Ratnakūṭa' = KP 99.2, of which however text reads ... upakleśe (read °śaiḥ) saṃkliṣyate.

upakleśa, m. (cf. Skt. upakliṣṇa, rotten), putrefaction: Gv 401.9 nābhūt ... upakleśo (of the teeth, of the mahā-purusa).

upakleśa, m. (also semi-MIndic °kleśa; cf. upakliṣyate; = Pali upakkileśa, of which 5, 10, or 18 are enumerated; evidently there was no definitively fixed list), (minor, secondary) impurity, stain, depravity; in most texts no very clear distinction is made between them and the kleśa in principle, but AbhidhK. La V-P. v.88 ff. (see esp. 89 of Transl. note 2) insists on the fundamental distinction, and comm. cites a list of 21 upa°; they 'proceed from' kleśa, 91; a list of 24 in Dharmas 69, whereas in 67 the 6 kleśa have been listed; 4 upak° listed Bbh 10.7 (caturbhīr upakleśair ... upakliṣṭo bhavati) and 22 ff. (no relation to Dharmas list); Mvy 2138, following saṃyojana, bandhana, anuśaya, paryutthāna, and followed by paryavasthāna (so read); cf. Bbh 202.20 saṃyojana-bandhanānuśayopakleśa-paryavasthānānām; Śikṣ 222.10 (defining upāyāsa) (ye cānya evamādaya) upakleśās ta upāyāsāḥ; cf. KP 93.3 sopadavaḥ sopakleśa(h) sopāyāso; KP 99.2, see s.v. upakliṣyate; Mv I.228.11, 15 vīgatopakleśeṇa; SP 318.2 (sattvānām alpakuśalamūlānām) bahūpakleśānām; Lañk 358.11 (vs) upakleśair manāḍibhīḥ (see s.v. mana, app. m.c. for māna, which however is standardly one of the kleśa); 369.4 °śair na lipyate. The word seems likely to have been originally a noun cpd., upa plus kleśa; the rare verb upakliṣyate may be a back-formation from it; yet the ppp. upakkiliṭṭha occurs in canonical Pali.

upakṣetra, nt., subordinate (Buddha-)field: Mv I.121.9, 12, stated to be four times the size of a (Buddha-)kṣetra; the implication seems to be that the environs of the kṣetra constitute the upakṣetra. But no other reference has been noted.

upagataka, also an-upa° (to Skt. °ta with specifying -ka), pl., those that have (or, have not) entered (here, to residence for rains): MSV II.110.2 ff., see āvāsin; in 114.14 Tib. cited as dam bcas pa, entered upon a vow.

upagama, m., Mvy 7801, or nt., id. 7929, cited from Gv 134.5, a high number (in Gv 106.20 text upāgama°, q.v.)

upacita, adj.-ppp. (Skt., heaped up), (1) technically applied to karman, piled up; aggravated (Lévi): Karmav 30.14 ff.; 47.25 ff. (as explained here, acts may be kṛta, done, or not done, and both kinds may be upacita or not; see AbhidhK. La V-P. IV.114 n., 242); (2) honored (perhaps error for apacita): Mv II.416.14 tasya (sc. Buddhasya) devamanuṣopacitasya (read °jāpacitasya?) añjalim kurutha.

Upacitaskandha, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 443.1.

Upacitahanu, n. of a former Buddha: Mv I.141.16.

upacitra, °traka, adj. (in Skt. °tra only as n. of a meter), (somewhat) variegated: citropacitra Mv I.363.18 (of the deer-king); citropacitrāṇi pratyāstarāṇāni MSV II.90.8. The cpd. seems to be intensive. Also, citropacitrako vatso MSV IV.196.15.

Upacelā, n. of a daughter of Sīṃha (8): MSV II.8.12 (cf. Celā).

upaceṣṭita, ppp. (to upa-ceṣṭ-, unrecorded), performed: Mmk 152.21 (vs) kṛtyā ... sattvopaceṣṭita.

upacchinatti (= Pali upacchinatti; Skt. has no cpd. of upa and chid; cf. upaccheda-(na) etc., an-upacchinna), cuts off, interrupts: AsP 177.4 kathām nopacchinatti.

upaccheda, m. upacchedana (nt.), cutting off: vaṭṭopacchedana° LV 127.17, see vaṭṭa. See also upacchinatti, and an-upacchedana-(tā).

upajanayati, also °jān° (see under janayati, and Senart n. on Mv I.248.2), conceives (lit. produces) a thought or feeling, in oneself: Mv I.248.2 dullabhasamjñām upajanetvā, conceiving the thought that it is hard to get; II.135.4 (vs) upajānaya tvam sukhāni, rejoice!; in LV 36.20 (vs) Lefm. gauravam upajenitvā (best mss. °janitvā; read °janitvā, as meter requires long initial syllable?), conceiving veneration.

upajīvita, nt. (to Skt. and Pall upajīvati; cf. Skt. upajīvana), dependence, living a subject life: LV 262.10 (vs) varam mṛtyu (most mss. °yuh) prāṇaharo dhig grām-yam nopajīvitam, better death that takes away life; fie! is not dependence vulgar?

Upatīṣya (= Pall Upatissa; cf. Tīṣya 6-9), the given name of Śāriputra: Mv III.56.11 ff. (story of his conversion); 269.11; 271.7; in Mvy 1047 mentioned in a list of śrāvakas, following Tīṣya, but not juxtaposed with Śāriputra (who occurs in 1032 in the same list).

upadarśayati, °śeti, (1) exhibits (in words) as a future prospect; promises, predicts (for someone): trīṇi yānāy upadarśayitvā SP 76.6; 79.5-6 (°darśayati); 82.4, 7, having held out a prospect of (promised) three vehicles; kusumāyām (loc., so read with mss.) mahāvīcim upadarśeti nāyakaḥ Mv I.184.4 (vs), the Leader holds out for Kusumā the prospect of (predicts, prophesies) the (hell called) Great Avice (as recompense for sin); (2) as in normal Skt., exhibits, displays (e.g. an art or skill: LV 143.22 śakyasi... śīlpam upadarśayitum, can you exhibit an art?); in LV 143.20 mayā sārddham samarthah śīlpena śīlpam upadarśayitum, lit. able to display art for art with me, i.e. to vie with me in such displays.

upadīśyati (seml-Mīndic for Skt. °dīś°, appears, perh. to be read in Mv I.50.15 and 51.11, see § 31.1 s.v. pad).

Upadukura, n. of a nāga king: Mmk 18.11.

Upadundubhi, n. of a nāga king: Māy 247.16.

upadeśa, m., n. of a type of Buddhist literature, one of the pravacana (last in both lists, ninth in Dharmas, twelfth in Mvy), lit. instruction: Dharmas 62; Mvy 1278. App. not so used in Pall. See Burnouf, Intr. 65 f.

upadeśeti (°śayati), exhibits, displays: Mv I.169.16 jarām ca upadeśenti, na calśām vidyate jarā; and 19, ārabdham (? mss. alabdhī) upadeśenti eṣā lokānuvartanā (see anuvartanā). Similarly 170.2 (they are not born or begotten, yet) mātāpitṛṇ ca deśenti eṣā lokānuvarjanā; 170.10 alpotsukatvam pradeśenti eṣā. The mg. is regular for Skt. deśayati and for upadīśati, pradiśati, but not recorded for the causatives of the two latter. Nevertheless it seems necessary to keep the mss. readings, rather than read (upa-, pra-)darśenti, as Senart in his note was tempted to do (and that altho forms of darśayati are similarly used in the context, e.g. 170.4, 6).

upadrotar (to Skt. upa-dru-), oppressor, aggressor:

Mvy 2959 °tāraḥ (n. pl.? or intended as n. sg.? cf. § 13.19; all other nouns in the section are sg.).

Upadharma, n. of one of the brothers of Śāriputra: Mv III.56.11.

upadhi (m.; = Pall upadhi, and also Pall upādī), (1) substratum of continued existence; attachment, bond uniting one to existence. Acc. to Childers upādī means the khandhas alone, while upadhi includes also kilesa (with which PTSD makes it 'almost synonymous'), kāma, and kamma; but acc. to PTSD upadhi is sometimes equated with the pañca-kkhandhā. In Pall, upādī is, acc. to PTSD, used only in comp. with -sesa, in cpds. usually beginning sa- or an- and regularly epithets of nibbāna (-dhātu); these are represented in BHS by anupadhīśeṣa, nirupa°, sopa°, qq.v. But BHS also has upadhi and nir-up° (m.c. niropadhi) = Pall (nir-)upadhi. The passages here listed belong exclusively to this latter class, = Pall upadhi. (But it seems that even in Pall, upadhi and upādī are not always clearly distinguished.) upadhi-kṣīṇā LV 358.18 (vs); sarvopadhi-pratīnihsarga the getting rid of all up° LV 31.21; Mv II.285.20; III.314.4; sarvopadhi-nīhsarga (Bhvr., with dharma) LV 392.11; 395.21; sarvopadhikṣaya- Mv I.115.8; cf. Others s.v. niropadhi. In Mvy 6499 upadhi has three Tib. definitions; the first, phuṇ po, regularly = skandha (as Pall upādī = khandha); the third, ñon moṇs pa, regularly = kīleśa (as Pall upadhi, 'almost syn. with kilesa', PTSD); while the second, rdzas, thing, substance, matter, belongs to a meaning of the word app. unknown to Pall, viz. (2) material thing, 'chose matérielle' (Lévi, = Tib. dños, which also = Skt. vastu), Sūtrāl. xvII.3 (n. 1 in Transl.); see also La Vallée Poussin, AbhidhK. IV.15 with n. 1: 'Par upadhi, il faut entendre la chose (ārāma, vihāra, etc.) donnée à un moine ou au Saṃgha: le mérite qui procède (tadbhava) de cet upadhi s'appelle aupadhika' (q.v.). Hence, (3) in Divy 50.28 bhagavān upadhau vartate, the Lord was acting in regard to material things (of the assembly of monks), i.e. in the function of an upadhi-vārika, q.v. (= aupadhika Divy 542.17). (See also s.v. plotikā.)

upadhika, adj. = aupadhika, q.v.: LV 32.1 (prose) sarvopadhika-puṇyakriyāvastv-abhībāvanatāyāi (no v.l.). Weller 18 assumes sarv' opadhika-, MIndic for aup', which seems less plausible than assumption of the form lacking vrddhi.

upadhi-vāra, m., guardianship of material objects, the office of an upadhi-vārika, q.v.: Divy 54.17 anyatamasyārhatā upadhivārah prāptāḥ; 21 kasya dāsiputra-syopadhivāra itl. (Divy Index wrongly treats this as equivalent to vārika.)

upadhi-vārika (only Divy 542.21), regularly vārika, m. (from prec.; see upadhi 3), lit. guardian of material objects; beadle or provost of a monastery, in charge of physical properties: Mvy 9067 = Tib. dge skos (Jā. dge bskos, Das dge skyos or bskyos), lit. virtue (or welfare, or alms) commissioner; see AbhidhK. LaV-P. iv.237 note 1; Divy 50.27 upadhivārikasya; 81.27 (= MSV i.80.5) *kaḥ prṣṭāḥ; 237.16 (Dharmaruci) viḥāre *ko vyavasthāpitāḥ; 237.24; 542.21 vārikasya, but 543.17, repeating the substance of 542.21, vārikasya; Av ii.87.2 tata upadhivārikeṇa gaṇḍīr ākōtītā; he announced the day of the half-month to the monks, MSV iii.98.8-9. Acc. to Das, this officer was 'a supervisor or director of monks ... a sort of provost-sergeant ... who keeps strict order and punishes transgressors.' This fits well the usual mg. of Tib. dge ba (virtue).

upadhyāyati, blames, finds fault with, thinks (or speaks) ill of: LV 157.11 (prose) te tām upadhyāyanti.

Upananda, (1) n. of a monk, disciple of the Buddha: SP 2.6; one of the ṣaḍvārgika or ṣaḍvargiya group, Mvy 9472 (with Nanda, 9471; cf. Nandopananda); MSV ii.99.4 fl.; 117.6 fl.; 199.14 fl.; (2) n. of a nāga-king, always associated and almost always compounded with Nanda, 2, q.v. for references.

upa-naśyati, perishes: Sukh 4.13 (na ca tathāgata-syendriyāṇy) upanaśyeyur.

upanahyati = Skt. id., Pali upanayhati; in Dh. 3.4 PTSD defines (ye tam) upanayhanti by bear enmity towards; but most interpreters take it in the usual sense, ye tam upanayhanti, who are attached to this (thought). The same vss Ud xiv.9, 10; MSV ii.184.2, 4 read atra ye copanahyanti (Ud 10, MSV 4 nopa'; MSV 2 ye upa'); here atra, loc., depends on the verb: who are (not) attached to this (thought). However, note the BHS and Pali upānaha, q.v.) upanāmayati, te, nāmeti (= Pali upanāmeti, brings, presents; once in Skt., GobhGS. 2.1.7 (piṇḍān) kumārāy upanāmayet, he shall offer [tender, hold out] to the girl); most mgs. classifiable under the two headings brings (to a person or place), and presents, offers; but the two shade into each other, and there are aberrant cases; in practically all, the thing (or person) brought or presented is acc., or nom. in passive expressions; the goal or recipient is sometimes acc., rarely loc., but much more commonly gen., rarely dat., with both act. and pass. expressions; very rarely nom., subject of a pass., the thing presented being then acc., LV 386.17 (vs), read with best mss. āhāram upanāmye 'yam (for 'yet-ayam; Lefm. The forms of our word, besides the regular upaniśadam, are: upaniśām SP 333.7 (ed., but most mss. *śadam; one *śām api *śadam api); RP; KP; *śām AsP both times, and see SP 333.7 above; *śām Sukh; Gv; Dbh; in AsP (both times), as in one ms. of SP 333.7 (above), the item is duplicated, reading upaniśām apy upaniśadam (72.4 *śadam) api; for the verb, na kṣamate (or pl. *nte) and nopaiti are equally common, while Sukh has the isolated na gaṇito bhavet. Tib. (on Mvy, and acc. to Bendall on Śīks 187.1) renders upaniśad in this passage by rgyu, cause, but this clearly makes no sense. upalagna, ppp. (= JM. Ap. uvalagga), attached, clinging: Mmk 62.26 (prose) (daśa)balajaṭāntopalagnopa-viṣṭam.

upalabdha, ppp. (in specialized mg., which I have failed to find elsewhere), won over, persuaded to one's wishes: (tayā ta) upalabdhā uktāś ca MSV ii.22.8.

upalabhyate, *ti (in mg. 1 = Pali upalabbhati, pass. of upa-labh, much commoner than the act.): (1) is found, occurs, like Skt. vidyate. This mg. seems probable in KP 98.1, where for corrupt text read prob. nobhayayor antarāle upalabhyate, or perh. with the quotation Śikṣ 234.2 nobhayam antareṇopa*; and KP 102.1-2 yan na labhyate tan nopalabhyate, what is not found, does not occur (exist?); it must however be noted that Tib. renders mi dmigs pa, is not conceived mentally, fancied (see under upalambha); (2) is upbraided, reproached: Mv iii.291.16 *yati; 295.13 *yamāno; no v.l., but as Senart notes, this is the regular mg. of Skt. upālabbhyate; perhaps read upā°, but note the curious fact that Das cites a Tib. dmigs paḥi (regularly = upa-labh and derivatives!) smra (speech), defined by excretion, reviling (apavāda)!

upalambha (cf. Skt. id.; not recorded in Pali; cf. prec., an-upa°, an-upalabdhī, the next items, and anupalambhika), acc. to standard interpretation, mental perception or apperception, realization by the intellect: Sūtrā. xviii.92 comm. buddhyā pratipattiḥ; Tib. dmigs (-pa) thought, fancy, imagination; to construe in one's mind, etc.; see also La Vallée-Poussin, AbhidhK. Index s.v. upalabdhī. Were it not for this persistent tradition, some occurrences, esp. of the neg. forms (an-upalambha, labdhī), could easily be interpreted as related to upalabhyate (1) and mg. (non-)occurrence, (non-)existence. These mgs. are attributed by CPD to an-upalabdhī, labbhana; and tho not recognized in PTSD, occurrence, existence seems to me the probable mg. of upalabdhī in the two passages cited for it, Miln. 268.7 and Vv. comm. 279.10. In many BHS places inconceivability or non-occurrence, non-reality would make equally good sense for an-upa°. I do not, however, venture to abandon what seems to have been the standard tradition. Reliance on upalambha, mental perception, fancy, is an error, stigmatized as upalambha-drṣṭi, the heresy that relies on upalambha, LV 35.6 (or as Bhvr., one who adheres to that heresy, SP 383.12); see also °drṣṭika. Similarly upalambha-samjñin Śikṣ 315.1, having the (false) notion of upalambha; upalambha-yogena, by the (erroneous) method of upalambha, Śp 1042.16, repeated formulaically (cf. anupalambha-yogena s.v. anupalambha).

upalambha-drṣṭika (see prec.) one who holds the heretical view of reliance on mental perception or imagination (see upalambha): RP 18.18 *ko . . . bodhisattvena na sevītavayaḥ; KP 123.6; 134.14.

upalāḍana, nt. (= Pali id.; to next), wheeling, cajoling, humbugging: Śikṣ 261.8 bālopalāḍanam (. . . of fools, or children) mūrkhassaṃmohanam. The more usual term is bālollāḍana, see ullāḍana.

upalāḍayati (cf. Pali upalāpeti, and prec.), flatters, cheers up: pass. pres. pple., Jm 113.11 strīṃttagatīr upalāpyamānaḥ.

Upalāla, n. of a nāga king: Kv 2.9.

upavartana (nt.; Pali Upavattana, see below; Skt. upavartana, nt., country, Lex., and once Śukasaptati text. orn. p. 340 (24), line 32, virāṭopavartane), land, country (? in Pali, at least later, n. of a locality in the Malla country or of the śāl-grove there where Buddha entered nirvāṇa): Divy 208.25, 209.3 (tathāgato . . . pari)nirvāṇāya gamiṣyati Mallānām upavartanam Yamakaśālavanam; Av i.227.6 (viharatī sma Mallānām) upavartane (ms. °tate) Yamakaśālavane; virtually the same Av ii.197.5; Mmk 580.9(-10) (vss) Mallānām upavartane (text °te), Yamakaśālakavane madhye nirvāṇam me bhaviṣyati; 580.17 (vs) Yamakaśālakavane tatra Mallānām upavartane (so read for text upadartate!); 598.22-24 (vss) Yamakaśālavane vane caitye makuṭabandhe tu (cf. 580.11 caitye makuṭavardhane) Mallānām upavartane, parinirvṛte (? read °to or °taś) ca tatrāhaṃ . . . Occurs in Pali and BHS only in reference to the place of the Buddha's parinirvāṇa. In the canonical Pali texts, e.g. DN ii.137.3 (cf. comm. ii.572-573) yena Kusinārā upavattanam Mallānām sālanam ten(a) . . . , and cf. esp. Dpv. 15.70 Kusinārāyam bhagavā Mallānām upavattane, it could be understood as the country (of the Mallas); but the comms. seem to have taken it as a place-name, specifically the name of the śāl-grove where the Buddha died. And this is perhaps confirmed by one passage, Dpv. 6.19 yaḍā ca parinibbāyī sambuddho Upavattane, where the gen. Mallānaṃ is not found, and Upa° most naturally would be a n. of a place (but see below). In Akanuma's Dictionary of the Proper Names of Indian Buddhism the word is misquoted as Upavattava = Skt. °vartava (but the Chinese transcriptions quoted end consistently in -tan, supporting °vartana); the Chin. translations seem regularly to interpret it as a common noun, uncultivated land (the word for land usually rendering bhūmi, land, country). This may be interpreted as support for use as a common noun, as it is used (rarely) in Skt. Note that in BHS the name of the grove is clearly Yamakaśāla(kaj)yana, q.v., not so in Pall. Modern editors and interpreters seem unanimously to take Pall Upavattana as n. of the grove (see DPPN s.v. for some other references; but the important Dpv. 6.19 is not cited there). On the other hand, Divy ed. prints upavartanaṃ with a small initial letter; it fails to record the word in Index or Notes. I am inclined, with some dubiety, to understand the BHS word as a common noun, country. Even the Pall word may have had that meaning originally, and in the canonical passages still. Later, the Pall comms. seem clearly to have understood it as the n. of the śāl-grove; and in Dpv. 6.19 it looks like a place name. Yet, if the Chin. translation uncultivated (waste, barren) land be accepted, perhaps upavattane might be understood in this sense in that passage.

upahāra, m. (nt. once; = Skt., Pali, Pkt. id.), fundamentally gift, (loving) present, in BHS as elsewhere; e. g. (with change of gender) Av i.378.2 (prose) sarvopahārāni copadhaukitāni. In a Mv passage beginning i.177.13 used repeatedly in a somewhat peculiar way which misled Senart, who in two notes (i.518 f., 523 f.) offers three different interpretations, all wrong (the passage cited 519 from SP contains a false reading; the SP ed. 476.5-6 does not contain the word cited by Senart, not even as a v.l.). In this Mv passage, the word applies to various acts by which the Buddha miraculously intervenes to save someone from an intended grievous sin or to convert him from a dangerously false heresy. It should be rendered by something like (kindly or compassionate) favor, gift, beneficial service: Mv i.177.13-15 introduces the detailed stories of specific acts called upahāra thus: paropahārāms ca... upaharanti (they present beneficial favors to others) samyaksambuddhāḥ sattvānām anugrahārthaṁ. tad yathā, kalingarājñāḥ kusumāye devyā paropahārām bhagavān vṛttavām, dhruvasya śreṣṭhino vacanopahārām (a benefit by spoken words) bhagavān vṛttavām; the cpd. paropa° also 178.5; 180.12; vacanopa° also 178.2. Other occurrences: 178.7-3 (vs) etām sarvām pravakṣyāmi upahārām manoramām, tasya sattvapradhānasya śṛṇu vikṛitām śubham; 184.(17-18) (vs) (koṭṭiyo dvādaśa munīḥ) mānuṣānām vinayati, upahāro ayam iti; 185.3 upahāro vidhātavyo (to prevent Dhruva from burning his parents); 188.(10-11) (vs) (yat tasya parikarma tat...) tam āhur upahāro ti; 192.(10-11) (vs) (ye tatra nīrmitā bhikṣuḥ na calte bhikṣuṇo matā,) upahārām vadanty etām jinā śāstravīśārādāḥ.

upekṣā (Skt. id., used in much the same sense, but in BHS like Pali upekkhā, upekhā, technical religious term, while also used in general untechnical sense), indifference (Tib. btañ sñoms), putting up with whatever happens, patience, long-suffering: non-religious, LV 304.11 (vs) śreyo upekṣa ma raṇe paribhāvu gacchet, (a son of Māra advises him not to fight the Bodhisattva) better is patience (to put up with what can't be helped), lest one arrive at humiliation in battle; religious, as the 7th bodhy-aṅga and as one of the 4 apramāṇa, qq.v.; LV 129.10 (prose) aduḥkhāsukham upekṣāsmṛtipariśuddham caturtham dhyānam; 224.2 (vs) mudito upekṣa-dhyāyī brāhma pathi vidhijñāḥ; 275.18 (yasyā ... brāhmaṇ patho jñāyate) maitrī vā karuṇā upekṣa muditā (see s.v. apramāṇa); in 442.5 acquisition of upekṣā leads to getting rid of love and hatred, anunayapratighotsargāya; its six aṅga, see this.

Upeṇḍra, n. of a nāga king: Mvy 3265; Māy 246.15. upodbala, nt. (cf. Skt. °balana, to °balayati), strengthening, increase of strength: Mvy 7677 = Tib. stobs skyed pa. upoṣaṇiya, adj. (gdve. to next), in °ya-prabha, ep. of Amitābha: Sukh 29.14; Müller SBE 49.2, p. 29, (possessed of) pleasant (light), the basis of which is obscure to me; either gdve. of next or of Skt. upa-vas as in BR s.v. (5), to which one should devote oneself, or (less likely) to be honored with observances like those of the upoṣadha (°dha).

upoṣati (cf. Skt. upavasati, which alone is recorded in Pali too), keeps (the sabbath), observes (upoṣadha, which may well have influenced the form): Mv 11.177.20 upoṣadham upoṣati (no v.l.).

Upoṣadha, n. of a nāga king: MPS 34.132.

upoṣadha, (1) nt. (but see under poṣadha, posatha; = Pali (u)posatha, m.; Jain Skt. pauṣadha, m.; AMg. posaha, m. and nt.; except a single case of posatha, q.v., BHS seems to have only forms ending in -dha, whereas Pali has only -tha; see prec. and foll. items), the Buddhist 'sabbath', four times a month, on which good laymen observed 8 śīla (see aṣṭāṅga), confessed, etc.: Mvy 7137 °dham, n. sg.; Mv 1.255.13 °dhe; 11.177.20 (see upoṣati); 11.97.20 and 98.2 (vss), mss. poṣadham (acc.), Senart em. upo° m.c.; Divy 116.22 upoṣadhoṣitaḥ, but 116.21 poṣadhe and 118.27 poṣadhoṣitaḥ (all prose); (2) m., n. of a (cakravartin) king of old, grandson of Kalyāṇa, father of Māndhātā (= Pali Uposatha): Mvy 3556; Mv 1.348.8; Divy 210.13 ff.; MSV 1.66.7 ff.; 92.16; (3) m., n. of a devaputra who visited Buddha: Av 1.336.1 ff.

upoṣadhika, f. °ikā (= Pali (u)posadhika; cf. poṣadhika, °dhin), observing (one who observes) the 'sabbath': masc., Mmk 49.5; 75.12; 304.15; 318.7; fem. °ikāyām, loc., Mv 1.205.7 = 11.82.0.

Uppalaka = Utpalaka (1), q.v.; cf. also Upala (for Uppala = Utpala).

uppharitvā or upphāritvā, see utpharati.

ubhayam, in cobhayam (= Pali cūbhayam, PTSD s.v. ubhaya), both, after two coordinates: kṛṇṇanti ramanti cobhayam MPS 12.9, they sport and take delight both.

ubhayato-bhāga-vimukta, adj. (= Pali ubhato-bhāga-vimutta), emancipated from both parts: Mvy 1028 (misprinted °bhaga°; corr. Index); Divy 404.24 (read: ubhau hi tau ubhayatobhāgavimuktau); Rñk 27b.1; cf. AbhidhK. LaV-P. 11.205; vi.275-7. Often add. (Pali and BHS) print ubha(ya)to as separate word, wrongly; it modifies bhāga- directly, as part of the cpd. Tib. on Mvy gñis kaḥi cha las ... from both parts; Pali MN comm. 11.188.7 = DN comm. 11.514.3 dvīhi bhāgehi vimutto, arūpasamāpattiyā rūpakāyato vimutto, maggena nāmakāyato (i.e. from the skhandha other than rūpa) vimutto. The AbhidhK. vi.276 has a different interpretation acc. to LaV-P., delivered from the obstacle of the passions (impurities, kleśāvaraṇa), and from the obstacle to (the 8) vimokṣa (which is stated to be akarmānyatā, l'impuissance corporelle et mentale). This seems to be a later reinterpretation; the Pall comms. make it simpler, referring to the physical and mental constituents. Which was meant in our texts is not clear from the contexts.

ubhayavyaṣṭjana, adj., f. °nā (= Pall ubhato-byaṣṭjanaka), having the marks of both (sexes), hermaphrodite: °naḥ Mvy 8775; °nā Bhik 11a.4; 16a.5 (in questioning a candidate for ordination).

umaka-, in comp. with -puṣpa, nt. (from Skt. umā), flower of the flax plant (blue): Mvy 1522 rūpāni ... nīlāni ... tad yathā umakapuspam. Tib. zar ma, usually sesame, but also (Das) = kṣauma, linen.

Umeśvara, n. of a future Buddha; as such it is prophesied that the goddess Umā will be reborn: Kv 90.20. uyate, pass. to Skt. vā, weave (cf. ūyate, B.S. in Wh. Roots), is woven, in uyamāna (pres. pple.)-vardhanam Mvy 8410 (so Mironov and v.l. Kyoto ed. for text upamāna-), magnification of (a robe that is) being woven (for oneself), a sin for a monk; Tib. ḥthag pa (weave) (b)skyed pa (make increase). The short u is supported by Skt. uta (beside ūta), ppp.

urabhra, m. (in Skt. only sheep, and so MIndic equivalents), said to mean goat in Mvy 4824 acc. to Tib. (ra).

urasa, adj. (= AMg. id.; Skt. aurasa, Pali orasa), own (son): Mv 11.278.20 urasā lokanāthasya te khu bheṣyanti harṣitā. Both mss. urasā; same line 11.354.16 orasā (for aur°, MIndic; read 2d half as in 11.278.20, cf. reading of ms. C). The AMg. form prob. justifies Senart in keeping ur°.

Urumuṇḍa, m. (also occurs as Rurumuṇḍa, q.v.), n. of a mountain: Divy 349.19; 350.22 ff.; 385.10, 18, 27; MSV 1.3.17.

uruvilvaka, adj., of Uruvilvā: Mv 11.207.19; 208.1 °vake vanaṣaṇḍe, or (208.1 and v.l. of 207.19) °khaṇḍe. Uruvilvā (= Pali Uruvelā), n. of a village where the Bodhisattva sought enlightenment for a time: called a senāpati-grāma(ka), LV 248.7; 267.13; Mv 11.415.11; 425.17; other occurrences LV 261.3; 269.9; Mv 11.123.16; 200.9 ff.; 207.1, etc.; Divy 202.7.

Uruvilvākappa, m. (nt.? = Pali Uruvelākappa), n. of a town: LV 406.20 °kappa, acc.

Uruvilvā-kāśyapa (in MSV Uruvilvā°; = Pali Uruvelā-kassapa), n. of one of Buddha's disciples: Av 1.148.10 (ms. Uparivilvā°, ed. em. Uruvilvā° wrongly); Karmav 157.3; originally a jaṭila ascetic; story of his conversion, Mv 11.424.6 ff.; usually mentioned with his brothers Nadi-kāśyapa and Gayā-k°, q.v., Mv 11.102.12, 20; 430.12, 18; 432.7; SP 2.1; 207.3; LV 1.10; MSV 1.196.5; Mvy 1049 (Nadi-k° 1050, Gayā-k° later, 1064); Sukh 2.4. ulana, nt., a high number; app. error for tulana, q.v., tho it occurs three times in Gv 133.7.

Uluka, v.l. for Huluka, q.v.

Uluvillikā, n. of a village chief's daughter: LV 265.5. ulūka-pakṣika- (in comp.; = Pall ulūka-pakkhika, AN 1.241.1, 296.1), (a dress or decoration) made of owl's feathers, worn by certain ascetics: Mv 11.412.8 °ka-bhagini (n. pr. acc. to Senart p. xxxvii) śramaṇā. Cf. LV 249.1 grddholūkapakṣadhāraṇālā ca (āṭāpanaparitāpanalḥ).

Ulkādhārin, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.25.

ulkāmukha, (1) (nt., = Pall ukkāmukha) a (gold-smith's) smelting-pot or furnace: LV 405.14 -niṣka ulkāmukhaprakṛṣṭo; Sukh 3.5 (-niṣko ...) ulkāmukhe (so v.l., better than °khena text) sampraveśya supariṇiṣṭhitāḥ; Śikṣ 182.3 °kham vā hriyamāṇasya (as a form of torture); (2) nt., in Mvy 6900, following dīpaḥ, ulkā, followed by pradīpaḥ, = Tib. skar mda-ḥi gdoñ ḥam snañ (read prob. sna with Das), which acc. to Das = one having either his face or his nose (sna; snañ = light) glowing as a meteor; a demon (so Skt.); a meteor-mouthed arrow; a kind of fire-arm; (3) m. (= Pall Okkāmukha), n. of a son of King Sujāta Ikṣvāku: Mv 1.348.12; 352.9; and of a later descendant, 352.12.

Ulkāmukhī, n. of a rākṣasi: Māy 243.24. Cf. Skt. Ulkāmukhaḥ, a kind of ghost (preta); n. of a rākṣas (BR); and see prec. (2), Tib. (Das).

ulkin (Skt. ulkā plus -in), perhaps a portent containing a meteor, or some personified power characterized by, carrying, wielding a meteor(?); the passages are obscure and in part clearly corrupt; in verses: Mmk 198.15 °nām (gen. pl.?), 25 °naḥ (gen. sg., see prapata); 200.15 ulkino (nom. pl.) bahudhākārā dṛṣyante vividhāśrayā; 204.5 °nām (gen. pl.); 223.2 nirghāta ulkinām (gen. pl.).

ulla, adj. (= AMg. id., for Skt. ārdra), wet; of sorrow, fresh, new (so Skt. ārdra, BR): Mv 11.116.8, read ullenaiva śokena, substantially with mss.; Senart em. wrongly.

ullaṅghikā, act of jumping, springing, leaping: Mvy 8547 nollaṅghikayā. (So Tib. mchoñ, and Chin.)

ullapati, or ullāpayati (see s.v. ullāpana; in Skt. ullapati recorded only in mg. whedde, flatter, coax; in Pali app. only boast, brag (falsely); noun derivs. show mgs. pointing to deceive, but no verb forms with this mg. have been noted), shouts or yells derisively at (acc.); associated with uccagghati, q.v.: SP 382.12 (prose) ye te taṃ bodhisattvaṃ ... ullāpitavanta (but most mss. ullap°) ucca(g)ghitavantaḥ; 482.6 sūtrāntalekhakānām uccagghanam karīṣyanti ullāpiṣyanti; AsP 385.13 and 388.19 ullāpiṣyati (see uccagghati).

ullaḍayati? perhaps stirs (food, in cooking): Divy 285.25 ārabdhāḥ ... khādyakāny ullaḍayitum; cf. AMg. ullāliya, ppp., struck, beaten, tossed or flung up (Ratnach.); note to Divy suggests em. ulloḍayitum (cf. Skt. loḍayati, Pali ullola, commotion); but khādyakāny ullaḍayata MSV 1.264.1; 11.138.7 (text here ullaṭṭayata).

ullāpana (to ullapati, q.v.; see also next two), (1) nt., shouting or yelling derisively, abusive derision (this may possibly be the mg. of Skt. ullāpa in khalollāpāḥ Ind. Spr. 2047, for which Boehti. harte Worte von schlechten Menschen): Mvy 5227 °nam (follows uccagghanam) = Tib. ullāpanaka, adj. or subst. (see prec., next, and ulla-pati), deceiving, deceiver; or perhaps deception: LV 371.19

(vs) iha te ciraṃ samāyata ullāpanakā (n. pl.) vināśaparyantāḥ, here these (my) deceivers (?deceptions; refers to ignorance, error, and the like) have at long last ended in destruction.

ullāpin, adj. (see s.v. ullāpana, 2), deceiving; fem. °ini: Lañk 77.7 mṛgatṛṣṇikā mṛgollāpinī, a mirage that deceives deer.

ullipta, ppp. (= Pali ullittha, chiefly in cpd. ullit-tāvalittha, e.g. Vin. ii.117.23; of kūṭāgarāṇi, AN i.101.10; comm. ii.168.5 on the latter, anto ca bahi ca littāni, and similarly comm. on Vin.), in Mv ii.115.11 kūṭāgarāṇi kārayet ulliptāvalitpāni (mss. ulliptā ca lippāni); if Pali comms. may be trusted the cpd. means smeared inside and out. (PTSD smeared up and down, evidently an etymological rendering.)

Ulluka, v.l. for Huluka, q.v.

ullumpati (= Pali id.; Skt. herausgreifen, °fischen, BR.), saves, rescues: Bhik 19a.3 ullumpatu mām bhadantā ubhayasamghaḥ (by ordination; said by the candidate); Mvy 8704 °patu mām (same situation; so also in Pali). [Cf. ullopana.]

ullokanaka (for olok°, q.v.; § 3.54, window: gavākṣa-ullokanakehi (cpd., instr. pl.) SP 85.1 (vs); same form in Nep. mss. SP 114.3 (vs), where Kashgar rec. aulok°, and ed. with Foucaux olok°; WT gavākṣa olokanake °pl (citing their ms. K' as °lokanakeṣu).

ullokanīya, adj. (gdve. to ullokayati, q.v.), to be looked up to, worthy of admiration, of reverence: of persons, Mv i.103.5, see s.v. avalokanīya; ii.378.8 (vs) °niyo sada puṇyavanto; 391.17 °niyo bhavati mahānubhāvo; 393.3 °niyo bahujaṇapūjito; (in Śikṣ 302.10, parallel to Mv 378.8, replaced by udvṛkṣāṇi, in 308.4, parallel to 393.3, by vilokanīya); LV 85.7 ullokaniyo bhaviṣyāmi sarvasatvānām (said by the Bodhisattva); ullokaniyam, adverb, of sounds, Mv i.206.17 = ii.10.10 = iii.341.8 (of sounds of auspicious earthquakes), in a way worthy of admiration, substantially = agreeably, enjoyably, nirvarṇaniyam (see this; iii.341.8 instead nirvāpanīyam, q.v.) ca ullokaniyam ca āścanakam ca.

ullokayati, °te (see prec. and an-ullokita; = Pali ulloketi), looks up to (in admiration or reverence): SP 54.14 ullokeyan pādapam eva tatra (at the tree of enlightenment); 100.6 (bhagavantam) abhimukham ullokeyamānā(h); 215.10 bhagavantam ullokeyamāne (dual); Mv i.204.17 = ii.8.12 ullokayanti tuṣiṭeṣu jinaṃ; ppp. ullokita, seems to mean looking up, upturned, of eyes or face, Gv 46.21 ullokita-vadanair devendair (in reverence or supplication); in Mvy 6635 ullokitah, perhaps also thus used (or perhaps passive, looked up to? lack of context leaves doubt); Tib. gyen du (or, yar; both upward) blta ba (look).

[ullopāna, nt. (ul-lup- not recorded in this mg.; contrast ullumpati), deceit, in bālollopānam Mvy 7312 = Tib. byis pa bhrīd pa, deceit of children or fools. But read ullāpanam with Mironov, tho against most mss.]

uvyadha, m. (so also Mironov, as separate item, after utphikā), n. of some disease: Mvy 9543; acc. to Tib. mgo glog, perh. head-ulcer (see s.v. utphikā); Chin. dizziness in the head.

uśī (?cf. Skt. Lex. uśī, wish?), perhaps joy, or energy: in uśī-bahula, Dbh 12.10, followed by utsāhabahula, but preceded by udagribahula and synonyms of this, see udagrī.

Uśira-giri, m., n. of a mountain: Mvy 4126; or Uśira-giri, Divy 22.2 (to the north); cf. Pali Uśiraddhaja, a northern mountain range, and Skt. Uśira-bīja (or Uś°), n. of a mountain.

uśvasati, false Skt. for ucchvasati, apparently breathes in (see s.v. āśvāsa-praśvāsa): Mv ii.208.4, 8, 9 (paired with praśvasati); correlated with noun āśvāsa.

uṣita (seemingly only Lex. in Skt.), ppp. to uṣ, burnt: jvālūṣitā SP 85.9 (vs), for jvāla-uṣ°, burnt with flames; so WT (Kashgar rec. jalūṣ°, i. e. for jvāla-uṣ°; KN sam-lūṣitā); see § 4.31.

uṣitavant, adj. (perf. act. pple. of vas; = Pali vusitavant(a), ep. of arhats), having lived the (proper, right) life, ep. of arhats: Sukh 1.14 arhaddhīh ... uṣitavad-bhīh.

Uṣidatta, see Rṣi°.

uṣṭradhūmaka (m.?), lit. camel-smoke, a kind of worm, cause of calamities: KP 93.2 yasmin ... deśe °ka kṛṣṇāśira uttānāśāyī bhavati, sa deśa sopadravaḥ ... Tib. srin bu rña mo dud ka zhes bya ba, the worm called camel-smoke. See Das s.v. rña mo dud (mistake for dud) ka, where full confirmation of the KP passage is found.

Uṣṭrapāda, n. of a yakṣa: Māy 82.

(uṣṭrikā, camel-shaped vessel, occurs in Skt., Kauṭ. Arth. Sham. 411.14; 416.4; see Meyer, 650 n. 1: Karmav 45.14 yatroṣṭrikāmātrāṇi phalāni; large, rich fruits are compared to it because of its size and bulging shape; see Lévi's note.)

uṣṇi (m. or nt.), app. = uṣṇīṣa in sense 1, q.v.: twice in vss of RP, supported by meter: 46.13 giritatam iva (ms. iha) haima śobhate cāśya coṣṇi (end of line); 50.11 girirājatulya tava coṣṇir iha.

uṣṇīṣa (m.c. for uṣṇīṣa), excrescence on the head: °ṣodgato (= °ṣa udgataḥ) RP 6.18 (vs).

uṣṇibhavati (to Skt. uṣṇa), becomes hot: Divy 68.2 °bhūtvā, ger.

uṣṇīṣa, (1) nt. (in Skt. also m.; = Pali uṇhīsa), in Skt. only turban; in cpd. uṣṇīṣa-śīra(n) or -śīras(ka), 32d of the 32 lakṣaṇa, q.v. (Pali uṇhīsa-sīsa), acc. to Pali DN comm. ii.452.1 ff. having a head the size and shape of which makes it seem turbanned. But in BHS (and Pali) interpreted as having a head surmounted by an excrescence, whether a top-knot of hair, or a growth in the skull. So Tib. regularly (uṣṇīṣa = gtsug tor), e.g. on Mvy 236 uṣṇīṣa-śīrasaka-tā. Confirmed by Gv 401.26 ff. mūrdhni cāśyoṣṇīṣam abhinirvṛttam abhūt, sujātam samanta-parimaṇḍalam madhyābhiniyastakeśālamkāraṃ koṭīśatasa-hasrapatratratnapadmasaṃdarśitam samantāt samabhā-gapratīṣṭhitam aparimitamahārghyatāpradhānamadhyam. Cf. also uṣṇi, apparently = uṣṇīṣa in this sense, and uṣṇīṣa. In comp. as one of the lakṣaṇa, LV 105.11; 432.13; Dharmas 83; Mv i.227.3; ii.30.6; 307.4; Bbh 376.7; (2) m., one of ten Krodha: Dharmas 11; (3) in Mmk 41.7 aṣṭau uṣṇīṣarājāṇaḥ are mentioned as to be depicted in a rite; their names, given 41.10–11, are Cakravartin, Uṣṇīṣa, Abhyudgatoṣṇīṣa, Sītātāpatra, Jayoṣṇīṣa, Kamaloṣṇīṣa, Tejorāśi, Unnatoṣṇīṣa. They seem not to be related to the Krodha of Dharmas 11, tho the first two names also occur in that list. Nothing significant is said of them.

Uṣṇīṣakośasārvadharmaprabhāmaṇḍalamegha, n. of a Tathāgata: Gv 311.16.

Uṣṇīṣavijayā, n. of a goddess: Sādh 180.7 etc.

Uṣṇīṣaśrī, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.9.

uṣmagata, or uṣma°, adj., become warm; applied to the first stage of nirvedha-bhāgiya, q.v., or to things (cittāni, kuśalamūlāni, etc.) pertaining to it: Mvy 1212; Divy 80.1 (erroneously uṣṇa-gatāni); 166.15; 240.20; 271.12 (uṣma-gatāni); 469.12; Sūtrāl. xiv.26 comm.; AbhidhK. La-V-P. vi.163 f.; (uṣmagatam) MSV i.224.10.

Uśragiri = Uśira°, q.v.

uhoḍima, ed. with v.l. once aho°, n. pl. °mā(h), probably deformed: Lañk 27.4; 33.15; see s.v. avakoṭimaka.

ujña, uñā, or uñā (Skt. avajñā), see s.v. ujña-ka. ūti, f., effort (cf. BR s.v. 7: cited once from BhagP.; no other mg. seems possible in Divy): Divy 654.27; 655.2 utsāhany ūtir apratīvaṇṇi . . . yogaḥ karaṇīyah.

Uddhata, in Ud xii.2 tam raja(h), raised*, for uddhata; note suggests that ū is due to confusion with Pall ūhata; a later var. is uddhṛtam; it may be noted that PTSD associates Pall uddhata with Skt. uddhṛta, from ud-dhr.

ūna-māna, m., pride of (thinking something) too little (i. e. unworthy of oneself): Mvy 1951. So Tib.: chun zad sñam pañi ña rgyal, pride of thinking small.

ūna-vāda, m. (corresp. to Pall omasa-vāda, Vln. iv.6.5; see Childers; not in PTSD), deprecativ language, speaking of defects (of others): Mvy 8421 = Tib. skyon (nas) smra ba.

-ūrupikā, ftc. Bhvr., fem. (to ūru, thigh; on formation see § 22.45), having . . . thighs: LV 322.21 (vs) gajabhujasamñibha-ūrupikāṃ, having thighs like an elephant's trunk.

Urnatejas (v.l. Urñ°; read Urñā°? Tib. mdzod spu = ūrñā), n. of a former Buddha: LV 5.8 (prose).

ūrñapāśa, see ūrñakośa.

Urnāśiriprabhāsamatī, n. of a former Buddha: Gv 258.16 (vs); & here may be m.c.

ūrñā (= Pall unnā; very rare in Skt. in this sense, see pw; essentially Buddhist term; cf. ūrñā-kośa, which seems unknown in Skt.), the circle of hair between the eyebrows of a Buddha (or other mahāpuruṣa): LV 316.9; chiefly in the 31st of the 32 lakṣaṇa, q.v. (elsewhere ūrñakośa is generally used); white color is prevailingly mentioned.

ūrñā-kośa, m., = ūrñā, q.v.; usually as place from which a Buddha emits rays of brilliant light (raśmi, prabhā): bhagavāms . . . ūrñakośād raśmim prāmūṇicat SP 243.3; similarly LV 393.17; Mmk 169.4; Lañk 13.4; ūrñā-(m.c.)-kośā LV 116.7 (vs); bhṛtūvivarāntarād ūrñakośād SP 20.8 (ekā raśmim niścaritā); LV 300.7; rarely in lists of 32 lakṣaṇa, Mvy 239, where erroneously keśa* for kośa* (so also Mironov; Burnouf, Lotus 563, records the same error once); Tib., as regularly for both ūrñā and ūrñakośa, mdzod (= kośa) spu (= hatr). In LV 357.9 (vs) na tapati abhībūtā bhānuvatyornapāśā (v.l. nakośā*), does not shine, being surpassed by the (Buddha's) resplendent hair-curl, I understand bhānuvatyā ūrñā-(m.c. for ūrñā)-pāśā (or -kośā), instr. sg. (pāśa, tie, knot, mass; but in view of the fem. adj. perhaps an otherwise unknown fem. pāśā must be assumed).

ūrdha- (semi-MIndic, or possibly orthographic error) for ūrdhva of Skt., cf. Weller 23, Senart note on Mv i.116.3 (where ūrdha is said to be the reading of mss., tho the Crit. App. omits r; Lefm. regularly ūrdha, usually without note of variant); LV 85.6; 129.19; 208.11; 249.10-11; 258.13 (twice); 306.19; 307.8, 12, 16; 408.10; 413.9.

? ūrdhva, adj. (in fig. sense), exalted, lofty, great, of power: Mv i.116.3 adhivāsanaṃ viditvā rājāsyā durjayor-dhva- (mss. yorddha-, or yoddha-, see prec.) bala (mss. balam) eva. Senart's note suggests em. durjayarddhi-bala. For this mgi. of ūrdhva may be compared Pall uddhehi vatthehi Jāt. iv.154.15, in rich, lofty clothes (PTSD, doubtfully); but Dutoit's transl. understands with up-lifted garments (presumably to wipe his eyes; the person is weeping).

ūrdhvajaṭā (printed ūrdhva°), n. of a rākṣasi: Māy 243.27.

ūrdhvabhāgiya, adj. (Pali uddhambhāgiya), (binding) to higher states (viz. rūpa-, arūpa-dhātu), only said of the second group of five samyojana (q.v.), cf. avara-bhāgiya: Mvy 2155 (without mention of samyojana); this in Pugg. 22.14-15 called external (bahiddhā).

ūrdhva-lokanā, consent (so Tib., gnañ har): nā dātavyā* MSV iv.98.11.

ūrdhva-virecana (nt.; = Pali uddha-vi°), 'purging upward', emetic treatment (for disease): MSV ii.45.12 °nena.

? ūrdhvasamdhī, see Oddhasamdhī.

ūrdhva-srota(s), °srotas (= Pall uddham-sota, going upward in the stream (of transmigration, i.e. to better existences; so comm. on Dh. 218): Mvy 1019 °srotāḥ; Ud ii.9 (= Dh. 218) °sroto; both nom. sg.

ūrdhvāgra- (ūrdhvāṅga-, ūrdhvaṃga-, ūrdhvaga-; also written ūrdhā° without v, see ūrdha-; for other variants see below) -roma(n), adj. (= Pall uddhagga-loma), having (body-)hair standing up, lit. with upright tips, one of the 32 lakṣaṇa, q.v. The form ūrdh(v)āgra, supported by Pall, is prob. orig. (so Burnouf, Lotus, 571); it is found in Dharmas 83; Mv i.226.18 (mss. krtyāgra; ii.305.15 (mss. ūrdhāgraromarājīno or uddhā°); but in ii.30.2 mss. ūrdhāṅga, urddham ca (Senart ūrdhvāgra). Mvy 257 has ūrdhva-ga-romāḥ, but Mironov ūrdhvaṃga° (both going upward; cf. mss. in Mv ii.30.2); and Bbh 375.17; 381.24 also ūrdhvaṅga-romā, adj.; romatā, subst.). In Bbh 379.10 the ms. has the further change to ūrdhvāṅga-romatām; ed. em. ūrdhvaṅga, as if ūrdhva-āṅga-roma-; so Gv 402.9-10 ūrdhvāṅgaromā (Bhvr.); LV 429.15 ūrdhvāṅga-(dakṣiṇāvarta)-romakūpa(h). Finally in LV 105.21 there is great confusion; Lefm. (only with B mss.) ūrdhāgrā(bhīpradākṣiṇāvarta)-romāḥ (read °mā, Bhvr.); other mss. u(d)dhāṅgā°, uccāśā° (ucca-āśā); Tib. obscure, yan lag gi spu gyas phyogs nas gyen du ḥkhyil ba, lit. hair of member(s), from (after) right direction (generally = diś or āśā), upward twist (generally = āvarta). As Burnouf points out, Foucaux's transl. is inaccurate. The expression (abhi-pra-dākṣiṇāvarta) is inserted here in the epithet only in LV (both passages); it is attached to the lakṣaṇa ekaikaroma(n) in Mvy 256 and Dharmas 83, and in the commentarial expansion of the latter Gv 402.9; but Pall commentarial expansions of uddhagga-loma have a corresponding term, Burnouf, Lotus, 571.

ūrmi, m. or f. (in this sense AMg. ummi, see Ratnach., but not Skt. ūrmi, Pall ūmi, ummi), crowd, throng (of creatures): Mv i.222.14 = ii.24.22 samantormijātā, forming a crowd all around (here of gods); LV 173.13 (vs) nataraṅgasamā jagi-r-ūrmi-cuti, like an actor's stage-set is the passing of the crowd (of people) in the world; so if Lefm.'s text is right, but v.l. janmi for r-ūrmi, which (or rather janma) seems supported by Tib. skye.

ūhata, ppp. (both mgs. = Pall id.; cf. § 3.2 and samūhata; in Skt. uddhṛta has both mgs.; uddhata, to root han, is somewhat dubiously assigned to mg. 2, still more dubiously to mg. 1; but BHS has ūhanati, q.v. in mg. 1), (1) removed, put away, destroyed: Mv i.247.17 rāgaḍveṣā ca ūhatā (mss. °tam); 354.4 tīṣṭhaṃ yathā kāṣṭhagataṃ an-ūhatam (the context resembles Dh. 338); Ud x.13 tāla-mastur (see mastu) iv' ūhataḥ, like the top of a palm-tree destroyed; (2) arisen: Mv ii.58.12 (vs) aruṇasmim (read °smim or °smi, m.c.) ūhate; 415.14 ūhate ca aruṇe; so with mss. both times; Senart em. uggate, but cf. Pall Jāt. v.403.30 aruṇasmim (mss.; ed. em. °smi, m.c.) ūhate (comm. gloss uggate).

ūhate (Vedic ohate, to root ūh- or oh-, see Neisser, Z. Wbch.d.RV., s.v.; not in this sense Skt.), heeds, pays attention to: Mv 1.163.(3)-4 parehi ukto paruṣaṃ punaḥ-punaḥ, prabhuḥ samāno kṣamate na ūhate (v.l. ūhyate, uhy°), . . . he endures it, pays no attention.

Ūhanati (= Pall id.; cf. § 3.2; Skt. uddhanti in this sense at most Ved. and BhāṣP., hardly Class. Skt.), removes, puts away, destroys, gets rid of: Mv 1.404.14 (adya sarvabhavamūlam aśeṣaṃ) ūhanāmi. Cf. ūhata, the ppp. to this (? or = Skt. uddhṛta).

Ūhasati (= Pall id.; whether it represents Skt. ud-, ava-, or upa-has- is a moot question), laughs (in joy):

Mv 1.218.18 = 11.20.20 (vs), all mss. mahāhāsaṃ ca ūhati, kept by Senart (see his note); I think we must read ūhasi (or °se), 3 sg. aor.; 11.268.13 ff. mahā-ūhasitaṃ ūhase (repeated several times), laughed a loud laugh; 1.221.20 = 11.24.7 (vs) ūhasāsi (seems guaranteed by meter and sense; mss. in 11.24.7 ūhāsasi, ūhasari; in 1.221.20 more remote; the laugh is one of joy over the following thought:) ayaṃ dānim eko bhavo paścimo (t)ti.

Ūhasita, nt. (orig. ppp. of prec.; cf. Pkt. ūhasiya, used Deśn. 1.140 as gloss on Deśi ūhattha), a laugh: Mv 11.268.13 ff., see ūhasati.

ṛgava, nt., a high number, corruption for mṛgava, q.v. (but occurs 3 times): Gv 133.3.

ṛg-iti (also rig-iti) = ṛt-iti, q.v., instantly: Mvy 8223 (also in Mironov). Cf. Skt. jhaḡ-iti for the more usual jhaṭ-iti.

ṛji-kṛta-vant, adj. (perf. act. pple.), having made straight: LV 10.11 (prose) adhimuktim ṛjikṛtavataḥ (gen. sg.). Regular Skt. would be ṛjū°; the only v.l. cited is ms. A ṛjvi°; even Calc. ṛjī°; Tib. also draṅ por byas pa, having made straight. Presumably I is due to analog. influence of stem-form in I from stems in a, ā, i, I before kṛ-.

ṛjuka, adj. (also ujjuka; = Pall ujuka, ujjuka; Skt. ṛju plus ka), straight, right: SP 324.2 (but see s.v. ujjuka); KP 8.1 (prose) ṛjukasya bodhisattvasya ṛjukalakṣaṇāni; Śikṣ 285.9 (prose) (āśayo . . .) ṛjukaḥ akutilatvāt; MSV 1.47.4; adv. °kena, straight out, straightforwardly, honestly (before a daśavarga of monks), Śikṣ 169.1 (prose) āpatir daśavarge ṛjukena deśayitavyā; adv. ṛjukam, id., Bbh 6.17 (prose) arthilkeṣu ca sattveṣu ṛjukam pratipadyate, na māyāśāṭhyenainān vilobhayati; abstr. °ka-tā, Gv 186.8 (prose) mārgakuṭilatam mārgarjukatam anuvilokya (here literally, straightness).

ṛjubhāva, m. (= Pall uju°), uprightness: Mv 11.97.10 °vena.

ṛjju, adj. (also ujju; for ṛju, § 2.82; Pall ujju beside uju; AMg. app. only ujju), straight, right, honest: Mv 11.63.15, read asaṭh' (or asaḍh' ? mss. asadh') ṛjubhūto (with one ms.); in 11.80.13 mss. ṛjubhūtaḥ or ṛjū°, meter demands ṛjju°.

ṛt-iti (also rg-, rig-iti, qq.v.), instantly: Mvy 8224 (also in Mironov); Dbh.g. 51(77).27, repeated 52(78).2. 18; the same line repeated with sapadi instead of ṛt-iti 52(78).6, 10, 14. But for the repeated occurrence one might suspect a merely graphic corruption for Skt. jhaṭ-iti (var. jhaḡ-iti).

ṛṇa-dhāra or °hara, °hāraka, adj., in cliché said after birth of a son, jāto 'smākam ṛṇaharo (254.11 °dhara; 87.17 °hārako) dhanaharo (om. 498.21; 87.18 °hārakaś ca) Divy 87.17-18; 254.11; 301.10; 498.20-21; MSV 1.87.5. After saying this, the father announces his intention of going on a business trip to make money. The situation suggests ṛṇadhara, debt-establisher, and dhanahara, remover of wealth; i. e. a financial liability; cf. AMg. apa-dhāraka, rendered debtor (Ratnach., Sheth). But (a) ṛṇahara rather than ṛṇadhara, (or else ṛṇahāraka,) is read every time but once (h MIndic for dh?); and (b) in Divy 5.12 mahāsamudram avatīro dhanahārakaḥ, the latter means to get wealth (see hāraka; Index with money, not accurately); similarly, mahāsamudram avatareyam dhanahārakaḥ (read °rakah? but cf. s.v. -hāraka) Divy 100.28. Not clear.

ṛtuka, adj. (lfc.) and subst. nt. (Pali -utuka, in sabbotuka), (1) of, belonging to, a season: Divy 167.8 kālartukalāś (of the time and season) copakaraṇal anuvihiyate; Mmk 27.21 yathartukena (text yathā°) vā sugandhapuṣpeṇa; (2) fruit of the season: Divy 531.5 (navaśasyāni navaphalāni) navartukāni; so MSV 1.7.6; Divy 531.8 navaiḥ phalaiḥ navaiḥ śasyakair navartukaiḥ.

ṛtu-pariṇāma and ṛtu-vipariṇāma: cf. Pall utu-pariṇāma, change of season, as a source of disease, e. g. AN 11.87.30-31 (vedayitāni . . .) utupariṇāma-jāni (comm. 111.114.19 = utupariṇāmato atisīta-atīuṇha-ututo jātāni); ṛtupariṇāmāye, Mv 11.15.6 (Senart wrongly), or ṛtuvipariṇāma 11.424.(3)-4, perh. adj. subject to change of season; or, prob. reading °nāma-tāye, because of change of season?; in vipācaniye grahaṇiye samanvāgatā nāpy atisīṭṭāye nāpy atīuṣṇāye (424.3 na cāti° both times) ṛtu- (424.4 ṛtu-vi-) pariṇāmāye. A like passage Mv 1.211.7 reads, instead of ṛtu(vi)pari°, in the mss. samāye cintamatāye (v.l. vinta°), which is obscure; Senart em. sammāpariṇāmāye, but this seems violent; samāye seems sound, as it occurs just before. Senart understands this as causing good digestion, and infers that ṛtu-pari° means the same. He does not mention 11.424.3-4, which reads vipariṇāma; this, unlike pariṇāma, seems never to be used in Skt., Pall or Pkt. in the sense of digestion; and the established Pall cpd. utu-pariṇāma certainly goes against Senart's view. The only question is, can ṛtupariṇāmāye, fem., be an adj. going with grahaṇiye, or should we take it as a noun? In the latter case an em. to °matāye seems probable.

ṛtupariṇāmika, adj. (to prec. plus -ika), due to change of season (disease): MSV 11.45.9 (ābādha).

ṛddhati = Skt. rdhyati, is successful (§ 28.19): Divy 102.9 ṛddhiṣyati te praṇidhīr iti.

ṛddhi, f. (= Skt. id., Pall iddhi), supernatural or magic power, hardly significantly different from its Skt. use; ṛddhi-vaśitā Mvy 779, one of the 10 vaśitā of a Bodhisattva; knowledge of ṛ° is the fifth abhijñā, q.v.; ṛddhi-prāṭihārya, see prāti°; ṛddhi-balatā and -vaśitā, Mv 11.67.2; alśvarya-ṛ° Mv 11.166.8 simply the magic power of alśvarya, as in Skt. (otherwise Senart); see ṛddhi-pāda separately.

-ṛddhika, lfc. Bhvr., in maharddhika, q.v.; in Karmav 35.8 Lévi reads nāgena ghoṛeṇa ṛddhikena, but by em.; ms. marddhikena; read maharddhikena, which gives correct meter and sense. There seems to be no Skt. ṛddhika nor Pall iddhika, uncpd.

[Ṛddhidatta, error of mss. at Av 11.9.7 for Ṛṣidatta, q.v.]

ṛddhi-pāda, m. (= Pall iddhi°), usually pl., the (four) elements or bases of supernatural power, viz. (Mvy 966-970; Dharmas 46) 1 chanda- (2 citta-, 3 vīrya-, 4 mīmāṃsā-)samādhi-prahāṇa- (Dharmas prahāṇāya; see s.v. prahāṇa 1)-saṃskāra-samanvāgata rddhipādaḥ; with number four, Mv II.324.4; Divy 95.14; 201.9; 208.8; Av I.16.11; KP 95.8; without number, LV 8.5; 183.5; Mv I.74.4; III.120.12; Divy 264.29; Av I.327.6, 8 (rddhipāda-yāna-yāyin); RP 5.17.

Rddhipāda-nīpāta (m. or nt.), n. of a section of the canon: Karmav 161.10; cf. Pali Iddhipāda-vagga (part of AN), and four Iddhipāda-suttas (see DPPN), but it is not clear that any of these contains the passage cited. rddhi-prātihārya, see prātihārya.

Rddhilamātara, n. of a female lay-disciple: Divy 160.6.

Rddhivikrīṣṭa, n. of a samādhi: SP 424.5.

? rddhyati, perhaps in transitive sense (so Vedic, not Class. Skt.), makes perfect, makes successful: LV 178.10 (vs) (svargāmṛtadvāra muñcahi) rddhyahi (so Lefm., em.; mss. rddhyabhi-, rddho bhi-, rddhyehi, rddhyebhiḥ; Calc. rddhi hi, Foucaux rddhihi as impv.) śīlavato cintitaṃ. Tib. is confused in order but if I understand correctly it reads for this phrase: tshul khrims ldan paḥi bsam pa hgrub hgyur gyis, which seems to support an impv.: make to become accomplished the thought of (the) one endowed with morality.

ṛḷa, m. (cf. next), something like prize-fighter: naṭa-nartaka-ṛḷa-malla- etc. Mv I.231.12, and in similar cpds. Mv I.259.5; II.100.10; 150.4; 153.17; 156.9; III.57.9; 113.3; 141.17; 161.3; 255.11; 266.5; 442.9. Senart on I.231.12, note, was inclined to think the word a graphic error for jhalla, as was Burnouf (see next); but he kept the mss. reading, which seems too common to emend.

ṛḷaka, m., = preceding: SP 480.9 (prose) na ṛḷakā, all mss. that contain the word (ed. narīlakā); in SP 280.6 Burnouf (fol. 150 b) says all his 3 mss. read ṛḷakebhir, which KN report for only one ms. (their text jhall°).

Ṛṣabhendrarāja, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 4.7.

Ṛṣi, pl., n. of a brahmanical (Yajurvedic) school (1): Divy 633.6, 8 ṛṣayah.

Ṛṣikuśa, n. of a brother of Kuśa: Mv II.433.16.

Ṛṣigupta, n. of a former Buddha: Mv I.137.11: LV 5.7 (confirmed Tib.).

ṛṣi-tapas-taptā, sc. lipi, a kind of script: LV 126.10;

Tib. ṛṣi-penance-performed (spyad pa). A v.l. in Lefm. points to prāptā or samprāptā for taptā.

Ṛṣidatta, (1) n. of a sthapati of Śrāvastī, otherwise called (semi-Mind.) Ṛṣi° and Ṛṣi-datta, qq.v.: Av II.9.7, by Speyer's em. for mss. Rddhidatta- (-purāṇābhyām); Tib. (draṇ sroṇ = ṛṣi) supports the em., as well as the parallel texts; MSV I.75.15 text Uṣidatta (same text as Divy 466.23 Ṛṣi°); (2) n. of a monk, associate of Ṛṣila: MSV II.108.20.

Ṛṣideva, (1) n. of a legendary king: Mv I.92.5; (2) n. of a former Buddha: LV 5.5 (confirmed Tib.); Mv I.137.12.

Ṛṣipātana (in mss. also °paṭana, °paṭṭana, °pattana, °bhavana), or Ṛṣivadana, nt. or (LV) m., n. of the deer-park at Benares where Buddha preached his first sermon. On the forms of the name, see Senart, Mv I.631; Lévi, JA 1912 (vol. 20), 499 f.; Pali Isipātana; this form supported by widely-known etym., Mv I.359.17 ṛṣayo 'tra patitā ṛṣipātanaṃ, similarly LV 19.3, and in Pali; -vadana acc. to Senart and Lévi Prakritic. Both forms Mvy 4130 °paṭanam, Tib. lhuṇ ba, fall, and 4131 °vaḍanam, Tib. smra ba, speak (Mironov °pattanam for the latter, but he records v.l. °paḍanam; Tib. supports °vad°). In Mv, mss. usually vary between -vadana and -pattana, Senart always (in these cases) adopting the former: I.43.15 (one ms. °bhavana); 161.4; 174.2; 307.5; 313.16, 19; 323.14, 16 (in 16 -pahana instead of -pattana); 330.4; 331.3; 337.11; III.330.3, 17. But in I.243.3 Senart reads -bhavanasmim with mss. (v.l. °nesmim), and (besides I.359.17 above) in II.138.2; III.323.3; 328.20 -patana (only v.l. -pattana in all three); in I.366.8 mss. °paṭṭane, Senart pattano. Divy has only -vadana, 393.21; 464.16; Av only -patana, I.42.9 etc., passim (in I.237.13 the former Buddha Kāśyapa stays there). SP has -patana, once, 69.12; and LV app. only -patana, 18.20; 19.3; 264.22; 402.3; 404.17; 407.16; 413.1; 421.16 (v.l. -paṭana 18.20; 19.3); in 407.16 nom. sg. °no (the only form in LV unambiguous as to gender).

Ṛṣirakṣitika, n. of a piśāci: Māy 239.23.

Ṛṣila (ms. Ṛṣila), n. of a monk, associate of Ṛṣidatta (2): MSV II.108.6, 20.

Ṛṣivadana = Ṛṣipātana, q.v.

Ṛṣīśrṅga, n. of a maharṣi (doubtless false form for Ṛṣyaśrṅga): Māy 256.31. Cf. Ekaśrṅga.

Ṛṣika, n. of a nāga: Māy 221.29.

? Ṛṣṭa, n. of a pratyekabuddha: Mmk 111.10; in a list, followed by Upāriṣṭa; this suggests that Ṛṣṭa may be a corruption for Ariṣṭa = Pali Ariṭṭha, preceding Upariṭṭha in a list of paccekabuddhas MN III.69.29.

ekātmanibhūtvā, ger. (to *nībhavati; ek-ātmanī-based on 'na, a-extension of ekātman; regular Skt. would be ekātmi-), becoming of one spirit, concordant: Av 1.378.1 (prose) (sarvair ekasamūhībhūtaiḥ prasannacittakalḥ pritiñātaiḥ) ekātmanibhūtais.

Ekādaśā (by em.), (1) n. of a devakumārīkā in the west: LV 390.6; mss. Ekāhamsā-, Ekāndaśā, 'daśā; in parallel Mv 11.308.9 mss. Ekānavā (v.l. 'nam-vā); Tib. not quoted by Foucaux; (2) a kind of musical instrument, = next: Mv 11.442.11 (prose; mss. ekāśā, em. Senart); read ekādaśām (acc. sg.) also, with one ms. (v.l. 'śa), in Mv 11.82.4 (Senart em. 'daśīm).

ekādaśīkā, = 'daśā (2): Mv 11.70.15; 407.20.

ekāntaka, adj. (= Skt. ekānta), entire, complete: in prior member of cpd. Mv 1.6.4 (prose) ekāntaka-duḥkha-vedanā. The form ekantaka is apparently used in Pali as alternative title for the Sedaka and Janapada Suttas; SN v.168 and 169.

Ekāntarājan, see Ekakāntarājan.

Ekānta-raurava (most mss. Ekanta-, MIndic), n. of a hell (cf. Raurava): Mv 1.5.13.

ekāntīkaroti (to Skt. ekānta), makes all right, makes perfect, completes: Divy 572.1 putra jñānakovidāḥ praṣṭavyās te etad ekāntīkarīṣyanti; MSV 1.55.20.

(ekāyana; adj. with mārga (also in Skt. in literal sense; = Pali ekāyano maggo), narrow (path), traversible only by one at a time: Divy 158.22 (teṣāṃ, sc. rīṣṇām, āgacchatām Bhagavatā) ekāyano mārgo 'dhiṣṭhitāḥ; here app. in the literal, physical sense. In Pali it is also applied to the religious 'Path', prob. in the sense of traversable only by One (the Buddha); but several other interpretations are offered in the comms., e. g. MN comm. 1.229.)

ekārakṣa, m. (= Pali ekārakkha), having a single guardian or protector, ep. of a Tathāgata: Mvy 428; in Divy ekarākṣa (by error of tradition?), q.v. The 'single guardian' is smṛti, Pali sati: DN 11.269.27 f. . . . ekārakkho hoti . . . satārakkhena cetasā samannāgato . . .; comm. 1051.15 f. sati-arakkha-kiccaṃ sādheti.

(ekārāma, adj. [= Skt. and Pali id.] delighting in solitude: in Mv 11.201.1 read eko ekārāmo ekārāmanāmatām anuyukto [ed. partly with mss., which have n for r, eko nāma ekanāmanāmatām; my reading is proved by a Pall parallel DN 11.223.20], . . . the state of having [deserving] the name of one who delights in solitude; Śikṣ 191.10 ekārāmatā, abstr., delight in solitude [Bendall and Rouse keeping to one monastery!].)

Ekārthadarsīn, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 441.26.

ekālāpaka, read 'lopaka, see ālopaka.

ekāvācāraka, m., perhaps having a unitary or single explanation: Mvy 7615 = Tib. gcig nas rtog(s) pa, explanation (or the like) from one; so Chin. may intend. Das defines gcig nas rtogs pa by ekavācāraka, apparently a corruption; his English, one who deliberates with undivided attention, is evidently based on -vicāra(ka), and does not seem to fit the surroundings of Mvy 7615.

ekāvalikā (= Skt. 'lī, 'lī), an ornament consisting of a single string of pearls: Mv 11.492.6, 8 ff. (prose).

ekāsānika, adj. (= Pali id.; BHS also aikā), observing the rule of using the same seat (for eating his meal), one of the 12 dhūtaḡaṇa: Dharmas 63; AsP 387.5; MSV 11.122.5; aikā° Mvy 1132. See Pali Vism. 1.69 for explanation.

ekāhatya, adj. (= AMg. egāhacca), to be struck down in a single blow: Mv 11.74.15 (devadattena) so hastināgo . . . ekāhatyaṃ kṛtvā tatraiva . . . nihato.

ekāhika, adj. m. (= Pall id., Skt. aik°), recurring daily, quotidian (of fever): Mvy 9531; SP 401.6 (prose); Bhik 17a.2; Māy 220.19.

ekībhūta, ppp. (cf. ekībhāva, solitude; in Skt. ekībhavati recorded only in mg. becomes united, and so all derivs.), isolated, lonely: LV 227.5 (prose) ekībhūtābhiḥ kurarībhīr iva.

ekoti-(°ti)-bhāva, m. (= Pali ekodi°, app. not recorded with l, which is commoner in BHS tho both are written; etym. and lit. mg. much disputed, see refs. in Lévi Sūtrāl. xiv.14n., Renou JA 1939 p. 393 note 1, referring esp. to ŚB 12.2.2.4 prāṇā nānā santa ekotayaḥ samānam (so, not 'nām!) ūtim anusamcaranti; here ūti surely means web, and it is hard to believe with Eggeling's transl. (note) that the second part of the cpd. ekoti could mean anything else; cf. the next two items), the becoming concentrated, concentration (of mind, cetasaḥ; seems to mean about the same as Skt. ekagrātā manasaḥ); chiefly in formulaic statement of process leading out of the first dhyāna into the second, found (with slight variants) Mvy 1479; LV 129.3; 343.17; Mv 1.228.5; 11.131.18; 283.8; 11.213.9 (here, by a strange confusion of formulas, applies to entrance into first dhyāna); Dbh 34.2: sa vitarkavicārāṇām (var., taking sa as associative prefix, savitarkāṇām savicārāṇām, or the like) vyūpaśamad adhyātmasamprasādaḥ cetasa ekotībhāvād (once 'vā; ekoti° Mvy; Mv 1.228.5; 11.213.9; Dbh; and vv.ll. LV 343.17; Mv 11.131.18) avitarkam avicāram samādhijam pritisukhaṃ dvitīyaṃ (Mv 11.213.9 prathamam) dhyānam upasampadaya viharati (or other form of this verb); this passage is prose and the var. in quantity cannot be m.c.; other occurrences, Mvy 1656 ekotībhāvāḥ; Gv 490.15 (prose) sa ekotībhāvagataḥ sarvabuddhadharmesu; Gv 305.7 (prose) ekotībhāvagataṃ dharmadhātum avatārāmi.

ekoti-(°ti)-bhūta, adj. (ppp.; = Pali ekodi°; see prec.), concentrated (without dependent modifier, but doubtless implying a form of cetasa, in mind): Mv 11.212.16 (vs; ekoti-, i could be but prob. is not m.c.); 213.10 (prose: Senart ekoti° but mss. 'ti°, 'ni°).

ekotīkaroti (= Pall ekodi°; see prec. two), concentrates: Bbh 109.17 (cittam . . .) ekotīkaroti samādhatte. ekoti-bhāva, -bhūta, see ekoti°.

Ekottara, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.18.

Ekottarika, nt. (Karmav 153.12 'ke, loc.), or 'kā, i. (Divy 329.1 ff.; 333.13; Karmav 167.2 'kā-sūtram, a sūtra of the Ek°), a section of the canon, corresponding to Pali Anguttara-nikāya; forms ambiguous in gender ('ka or 'kā), Karmav 157.9; Ekottarikāgama, m., Mvy 1421.

?ekotsava, adj. or subst., n. or epithet of mus. instruments, in a list of such: SP 51.14 (vs) ekotsavā(h), n. pl.; so 3 mss.; v.l. ekonnaḍā; Kashgar rec. ekāvaccārā (for ekotsavā vā). Burnouf, qui ne servent que pour une fête; Kern, who in his Transl. knows only the reading ekonnaḍā, leaves it untranslated.

ekodāhāra, m., untitled, unified, single utterance, see s.v. udāhāra.

ēḍaka-mūka, adj. = eḍa-mūka, q.v.: Śikṣ 188.8 idam mayā naiva vaktavyam, jaḍasamena eḍakamūka-samena mayā kalahavivādeṣu bhavitavyam (so punctuate). Here perhaps the literal idea, speechless, is dominant, tho the parallel jaḍa-samena suggests that overtones of dull, stupid must also be present.

ēḍaka-rajas (= avi-rajas, q.v.), lit. sheep-speck, a small unit of matter; like avi-rajas Mvy 8195, it occurs LV 149.6 and Divy 645.11 in tabular lists of very small weights or measures; in all three, seven śaśa-rajāmsi (q.v.) make one eḍaka-(avi-)r° and seven of these make one go-rajas (q.v.). Acc. to St. Julien, cited by Weber IST. 8.436 note, the mg. is said by Hlueh Ts'ang and a Chin. transl. of LV to be a grain of dust on the hide of a hare (sheep, beeve). But Tib. on both Mvy and LV says simply hare- (sheep-, cow-) speck (rdul); to be sure, Das s.v. rdul declares that glaḥ rdul means a mote in the dung of an ox, a small particle of cowdung. But this, as well as the different guess from Chin., can hardly be anything but implausible guesswork. Why should a speck on the skin, or in the dung, of an animal vary with the size of the animal? The Tib. itself gives no such indication. It seems safe to assume that hare-speck, sheep-speck, and cow-speck mean only three different sizes of small particles. ēḍamūka, adj. (cf. eḍaka-mūka; = Pall eḍamūga), stupid (lit. dumb) as a sheep (this, not deaf and dumb, seems to be the regular mg. in Pall and BHS, see CPD s.v. an-elaṃūga, an-eḷa°, and e.g. Miln. 251.1-2 dupaṇṇā jaḷā eḷamūgā mūlhā dandhagatikā janā: Mvy 7684 = Tib. lug ltar (sheep-like) lkug pa (dumb, also stupid); Chin. also dumb, dumb like sheep, but Jap. deaf and dumb; it must be admitted the Jap. editor's view gets some support from the next word in Mvy, hasta-samvācakaḥ (see samvācaka); AsP 113.2 eḍamūka-jā-tiyā(h) prajñāparihāṇas; *ka-samga MSV II.116.18, 21; Śikṣ 51.6 dhanva-(= dhandha-, q.v.)-gatim jaḍaiḍa-mūka-gatim; 284.1 dha- (erasure, read nva for ndha)-jaḍa-eḍamūka-jātiyāḥ. Skt. lexicons seem to have abstracted from this cpd. an adj. eḍa, deaf, assuming that the cpd. means deaf and dumb; and in some late texts (see Schmidt, Nachtr.), perhaps by direct borrowing from lexx., this usage is actually found in literature. Did Mvy also know this interpretation? Sheep are proverbially stupid in other countries than India.

ēḍākṣi-puṣpa, nt. (presumably = Skt. eḍikākṣi, see pw), n. of a certain flower: Mvy 6177 (Tib. renders lit., sheep's-eye-flower).

epi (jaṅgha), see epi° and epeya°.

Epi (= Pall id.), n. of a river: Karmav 34.14, 15.

epi-, epi- (these appear to belong primarily in prior member of cpds. only; see below epi-mrga and -jaṅgha), and epeya, m. (= Pall epi-miga, also epimiga Jāt. v.416.23; epi-jaṅgha, also epi° MN II.136.14, but v.l. epi°; and epeya, m.; = Skt. epa, m., epi, f., and aṃpeya, regularly adj. but rarely recorded as subst. = epa), a kind of deer, the black antelope: (1) epi, abbreviation meant to suggest *jaṅgha, as one of the 32 lakṣaṇa: Mv 1.226.17 (here mss. vani); II.30.1; (2) epijaṅghā ca te āsi Mv II.305.3, and thou haḍst antelope-legs (one of the lakṣaṇa); this lakṣaṇa = Pall epijaṅgha (above); (3) epimrga, m. (= Pall epi°, epim°, above). = Skt. epa, the black antelope: Mv

II.221.19 (vs) °gāṇa yūthāni; (4) epeya, subst., Mv III.70.13 (in list of flesh of various animals, all nouns, prior parts of cpds., ending) kapiṇjāla-mānsāni epeya-mānsāni; Gv 400.7 epeyasyeva mrgarājñi (tasya jaṅghe), in expl. of aṃpeya-jaṅgha-tā (as lakṣaṇa); (5) epeya-jaṅgha, having legs like the black antelope (this is the usual form of the lakṣaṇa in BHS; but see also aṃpeya-j°): LV 105.22 (here °ya-mrgarāja-j°); 429.17 (all mss. so, both times); Bbh 375.15; RP 51.3.

Etadagra, n. of a work, or section of one, which = or contains the Dakṣiṇāvibhaṅga sūtra: Karmav 156.12 Bhagavataitadagre Dakṣiṇāvibhaṅge sūtra uktam. It is not the Etadagga-vagga AN I.23 ff. (cf. Agraṭa-sūtra); nor does Lévi's identification with AN Book 4, No. 15 (II.17) seem certain, since the precise quotation does not occur there.

etarahi (= Pall id.) and etarahim, at this time, Skt. etarhi; see the next two. Only in Mv, but both very common, and that too in prose; mss. often vary in same passage. All the foll. are prose; in few are mss. unanimous; often etarhi or etarahim (or even etarahesi) occurs in same vicinity or in v.l. of same passage: Mv I.39.4, 13; 50.2, 5; 54.12; 56.6; 60.5 ff.; 128.14; 238.16, 19, 20; 239.2 (in 13 etarhi, no v.l.); 262.2; 286.19, 20; 313.2; 330.7, 8; 331.6, 8; 332.9, 10; 11; 335.16 ff.; II.130.9; III.67.11; 200.8, 13; 201.2, 7, 10, 14; 202.1; 272.15 etc.

etarahesi, at this time, = prec. and next: Mv I.38.13; 39.1, 3. Speculations on the strange form in Senart's note, I.404.

etarhim = etarahi(m), Skt. etarhi; not infrequent in variants of mss.; esp. Mv I.34.16; 239.15; 331.7.

etādrśaka, adj. (= Skt. °śa), such: SP 15.13; 87.11 (both vss., -ka may be m.c.).

eti, = Skt. aiti, comes: kuta eti (WT enti) ime śūrā(h) SP 307.2 (vs).

etta, adv. (in mg. = Skt. atra; = Pall etta, at least once for usual ettha, Pv I.5.6, repeated comm., to be sure with v.l. ettha, but the gloss 28.33 has etta without v.l.; cf. ettha), here, hither: Mv I.35.5 etta, etta, here, here! (so app. all mss., at least as far as tt, not tth, is concerned); for SP 16.5 (vs) WT read with their ms. K' kāraṇam etta (= atra), for KN kāraṇeva (unmetr.) allegedly with all Nep. mss. (Kashgar rec. quoted as kāraṇam eta).

ettaka, f. 'akā, 'ikā, adj. (= Pall id.; origin of formation disputed; one theory Geiger 27.7; cf. next), so great, so much; pl. so many; (sg.) SP 208.8 (vs) triguṇam tato ettakam eva kālam; Śikṣ 174.15 (prose) ettakā (f.) guṇānūsamsā; ettakena kṣaṇavītiḥāreṇa, in just so large (here = no larger, so small) an instant-passage (of time), Mv I.56.9; III.425.16, 22; 450.16; (same phrase I.55.14, Senart ettakena but mss. ekena which is quite sound, as parallels cited s.v. vītiḥāra, vyatīḥāra prove; note also I.55.2 ekakṣaṇena padavītiḥāreṇa;) ettako 'yam... dharmo, (is) this all of...? Mv II.118.14, 16; ettakasya janakāyasya, of such a great crowd, II.157.17; ettakam prāṇavadhaṃ II.99.2; *kam hiraṇyasuvārṇam II.169.6; ettaka-mātram arhāmi, do I deserve only so much? II.64.10; pl. so many, Mv I.18.2 f. On Mv III.277.13 (one ms. ettikā, t. pl.) see s.v. ettiya.

ettāvat-, in cpd. (= Skt. etāvat, cf. prec.; Pall adv. ettāvatā), to this extent, noted only in Mv II.180.8, 11. where mss. are corrupt but Senart's text and interpretation are certainly wrong; read probably, ettāvatpāram ito imaṃ pi keci nābhisaṃbhūṇanti. or possibly nāpi sam° (they experience pains) to so great an extent as this, and after this (to; cf. Pall parallel, MN I.246.22, 25 etāva-paramaṃ na-y-ito bhiyo: also parallel LV 263.8 etāvat-paramam te dukkham anubhavanti) some do not attain even this (degree of success; said of ascetics who practise self-torture). At any rate, divide ettāvatpāram from ito (Senart °pāramite).

ettiya, adj. (= AMg. ettiya, ettia), = ettaka, so many: Mv ii.353.10 (vs) ettiyā (f. pl.; no v.l.) sattvakotīyo; in same vs iii.277.13 Senart also ettiyā, but one ms. ettikā (f. of ettaka), the other etti, with accidental omission of final syllable.

etto, adv. (= Pall id.; abl.), in yāva(d) etto, up to this point (yāvat with abl., as in both Skt. and Pall): Mv i.327.20; 329.5; in both read, as clearly indicated by the mss. despite some corruption, yāvad etto pi ativisvasto, even to such an extent very intimate (wrongly Senart).

ettha, adv. (= Pall id.; see etta and next), here: Mv i.28.11 (three times) ettha vāyam (khādisyāmah etc.); ii.178.6 ettha (v.l. ettham) caturmahāpathe; 248.2 ettha samudrapāre (no v.l.).

ettham, adv. (= ettha; not recorded elsewhere; only in prose, hence not m.c.; Senart em. first two passages to ettha, but keeps ettham iii.316.11; 317.4; 417.6; see below), here: Mv i.24.2; ii.99.3 yattakā ete prāṇa ettham yajñe hanisanti; repeatedly ettham etam śrūyati, here the following is recorded, Mv iii.316.11; 317.4; 417.6, and one ms. in 416.8 where Senart reads ittham with v.l. and with 418.7, where both mss. ittham. The mg. seems to be here, not thus; but perhaps the form is blended with ittham.

edānim, adv. (§ 3.59; Pkt. eyānim, acc. to Sheth, from the drama Rambhāmāñjari, dialect unspecified; = Skt. idānim), now: Mmk 55.19 (prose) (aham apy) edānim bhāsiṣye; apy edānim... MSV i.67.2; 226.14; ii.178.3, 8; 180.11.

edṛśa, f. °śā, °śī, adj. (= Pall edisa, Skt. id°; Pischel 121 has a highly implausible explanation of e-; Gelger 11 a less implausible one), such; very common in Mv but rare elsewhere: SP 70.7 (vs); Idṛśa in same position 70.4; 336.7 (vs); Mv i.225.8 and °śī, f., by em.) 9, 258.21 and 261.14 (°śāye, inst. f.); 284.9; 289.1; 308.16 (°śāye); 364.8; ii.35.3; 58.10 (°śī); 76.16; 110.1; 144.17; 146.13; 147.15 (°śī); 180.1; 208.16; 215.14, 15; 274.9; 307.18; 433.2; 447.3; iii.130.15; 264.6 f., etc.

edṛśaka (= Pall edisaka), = edṛśa, such: Mv ii.7.7 (vs; v.l. edṛśam; meter is bad either way); ii.35.2 (vs; here -ka may be m.c.).

em, adv. [eminā(pi), Mv iii.403.12, 14, see s.v. acchindati 1.] eyam, m.c. for iyaṃ (§ 3.60), this (f.); SP 306.7 (vs); so also emām, m.c. for imām, SP 355.4 (vs). Both edd., all mss., read so.

eraka, m. (Divy.) or nt. (Mvy.), (= Pall eraka, see PTSD, or eragu, see below), a kind of grass, prob. = Skt. erakā, used in making coverlets, or a coverlet made of it; in a list of four such materials, Mvy 9180 erakam (= Tib. mal stan, bed-cover, var. bal stan, woolen cover; Chin. mattress); 9181 merakam (= śin śun gyl stan, coverlet of tree-bark; Chin. mattress of leaves, or of bark); 9182 syandarakaḥ (Mironov v.l. syandu°; = Tib. srin bal gyl stan, coverlet of cotton or silk, and so Chin.); 9183 mandurakam (= Tib. ras bal gyl stan, coverlet of cotton cloth); same passage Divy 19.22 evamrūpam āstaraṇam pratyāstaraṇam, tad yathā, erako merako jandurako mandurakaḥ; and in Pall, Vin.i.196.6 eragu moragu majjhāru (v.l. majjhāru) jantu; see the other words; eraka occurs also Mv i.19.10, where prob. read eraka (°kā?) vārṣikā as separate words, grass-coverlets for the rainy season, see s.v. vārṣikā.

Erakakṣa (= Pall Erakaccha, see DPPN), n. of a locality: Māy 51, 69. So all Lévi's mss. in 51 (v.l. Bharukaccha in 69); he em. Ekakakṣa with Chin. versions, not knowing the Pall form. The Chin. doubtless have a rationalization.

Eravana, m. (= Pall, Pkt. Erā°, Skt. Airā°), n. of Indra's elephant: Mv ii.275.7, 8 (prose). The short a may be only an error, tho it is repeated; it is otherwise unknown; v.l. both times ai°; e for ai, § 3.67.

erita, ppp. (= Pall id., to ereti; Skt. irita, to irayati, which takes the preverb ā only in the Veda, and no erita, ppp., seems recorded even there), stirred, moved (by wind), or (of musical instruments) struck: LV 194.10 (vs) vṛkṣā māruta-eritā (cf. Skt. vāy-v-irita, Mbh., BR); so Lefm., most mss. -Ir°; Mv iii.367.12, 17 (vs) (gandho...) upavāyati erito mārutena; Divy 251.3 an-eritānī vādītrabhāṇḍānī madhuraśābdānī nīścārayanti.

ela, (1) m. or nt., a high number: Mvy 7759 (m.) = Tib. yal ḥdas, ya lad; 7872 (nt.) = Tib. thal thal, cited from Gv, which has elam 133.14; (2) m., n. of a nāga king: Mvy 3263; Māy 247.28; also dual dvandva Ela-melau, two nāga kings, Māy 247.33.

elaka (= Pall elaka), threshold, perhaps to be read in Mv i.195.15; see s.v. eluka (1).

elata, a high number, = next: Gv 106.5.

elada, m. or nt., a high number: Mvy 7746 (m.), 7875 (nt.), both = Tib. thal yas; the latter cited from Gv, the text of which has instead elata° or eluda, qq.v.

elapatra, m., (1) one of four 'great treasures' (mahānidhi; cf. a similar group of four treasures in Pall, DN comm. i.284.8, saṅkha, ela, uppala, puṇḍarika), each presided over by a nāga-king (presumably) the same name (so definitely stated for Elapatra): Mv iii.383.18–384.1 catvāro mahānidhaya saṃkha vārāṇasyāṃ mithilāyāṃ (19) padumo kaṇṭheṣu piṅgalo takṣaśilāyāṃ elapatro; vārāṇasyāṃ saṃkhasya māśiko (20) samājo vartati; tahiṃ nidhānādhipatayo nāgarājāno nimantritakā āgatā; (384.1) tatra ca elapatrena nāgarājāṇā prasnā sthāpitā (see below for Pall equivalent); (2) Elapatra, in Mv iii.384.1, above, n. of a nāga-king presiding over the 'treasure' of the same name; presumably the same as the nāga (or nāga-king) named (without reference to the 'treasure') Mvy 3271 (Kyoto ed. Elāpatra, by error; Mironov Ela° with no v.l.); Suv 162.9; Mmk 452.20; Kv 2.9; Māy 222.3; 247.2; certainly the same as the Elapatra (mss.; ed. wrongly em. Elā°) of Divy 61.4, tho here he is not called a nāga but one of the four 'kings' presiding over the four treasures (cf. Mv iii.383.18 ff. above), (Divy 61.1) atha catvāro mahārājās caturmahānidhiśthāḥ, (3–4, vs) Piṅgalas ca Kaṇṭheṣu Mithilāyāṃ ca Pāṇḍukāḥ, Elapatras ca Gāndhāre Saṅkha Vārāṇasīpura. Besides the Pall parallel, DN comm. above, cf. the 9 treasures of Kubera which include Saṅkha and Padma (with presiding personages of the same names), and among the Jains the 9 treasures of a cakravartin, which in their AMg. forms include piṅgala, paṇḍua (= pāṇḍuka), and saṃkha; the Skt. forms of these are recorded at least lexically. Note also in Pall the nāga-king Erakapatta, of Dhṛp. comm. iii.231 ff., who however does not seem to be brought into relation to the 'treasure' called in Pall ela (above); but the vss attributed to him, and the replies to them, in Dhṛp. comm. are reproduced in Mv iii.384, see above.

Elabhadra, n. of a nāga: Hoernle, MR 27.3 (Ātānāṭṭiya Sūtra).

[Ela-mela, Mironov Eḍa-meḍa, n. of a nāga king: Mvy 3291. But a var. in both edd., supported by Tib., makes Ela-Mela a dvandva cpd.; see Ela and Mela.]

Elavarṇa, n. of a nāga king: Mvy 3267; Māy 247.28. elā, a high number: Gv 106.9; corresp. to elu.

elu, m. or f., a high number: Mvy 7888 (eluh, = Tib. yal, or ya lad), cited from Gv which reads elā or delu (nt.) qq.v.

eluka (m. or nt.), (1) (= AMg. eluya, threshold of a door; cf. Pali elaka, id., wrongly queried in PTSD; DN comm. ii.355.5, on DN i.166.5, = ummāra; possibly supported by Mv i.195.15), threshold: (teṣām...) dvārāṇām... elukā (pl.; Senart elūkā with v.l. iii.228.11; in i.195.15 both mss. valakā, perhaps to be read elakā in agreement with Pall, above) abhūṣi (i.195.15 abhunsu) Mv i.195.15; iii.228.11; (2) (= Skt. eḍuka, m., and Lex. eḍuka), monument for containing the ashes of a dead person (occurs as eḍukān, acc. pl., and eḍūka-, in cpd., Mbh. Cr. ed. 3.188.64, 66, of heretical relic-shrines; prob. Buddhist word): Mv ii.486.5 (prose; refers to the 'bones' of ordinary laymen, not religious persons) asthīni sāhareyevā (so mss., Senart asthīni saṃharayitvā) tato me elūkām (so text, but v.l. elukām; acc. pl.) kārāpayesi. tatra ca elukadvāre (so both mss.; Senart em. elūkā) ...; iii.20.9, 10 (same situation, story told in vss) ekamante dahāpetvā elukām (mss., Senart em. elūkām) mama kāraye, elukām (mss., Senart em. elūkām) me karitvāna... Since Skt. Lexx. record eḍuka, and eḍūka is read only in one ms. in one passage, it seems best to read eluka in both.

eluda, nt., a high number: Gv 133.15; cited Mvy as elada, q.v.

1 eva (as in Pali kociḍ-eva, see PTSD s.v. ka, 2) after kaścid, has extreme indefinitizing force, some... or other (not only unnamed and unknown, but usually imaginary, as in a parable): kaścid eva puruṣaḥ, some man or other (any one at all), after tad yathāpi nāma, SP 101.11; 320.6 (valdya-puruṣo); Śikṣ 166.6 (all prose); taṃ kaścid eva puruṣa upasaṃkramya Śikṣ 166.7, to him some (different) man or other approaching...; kenacid eva karaṇīyena MSV i.62.3.

2 eva in the sense of evam, occurs in the cpd. evarūpa, q.v.; also (in vss, m.c.) as separate word, LV 55.21; 76.2; 216.8. In LV 238.18 (prose) Lefm. reads: te 'bruvan, eva hi etat paśyāmaḥ; Calc. evaṃ for eva (not noted by Lefm.); Weller ignores the passage; the only v.l. is naiva for eva; either this, or evaṃ, must surely be read. Possibly (since the Calc. v.l. evaṃ is not noted) eva is a mere misprint (but it is not corrected).

evamvidhi, adj. (= Skt. °vidha), of such a sort, such: °dhiḥ prābhṛto (q.v.) Divy 36.21.

evamkāra, adj. (= Pali id., Jāt. v.148.21), acting thus (correl. to kathamkāra): Mv iii.373.5 (vs, = Jāt. above) °ro prajñāvaṃ bhoṭi manye (mss. manyo, read martyo, cf. Pali macco?), 13.

[evata, acc. to Bendall, Śikṣ 343.3 and 7 (vss), taken as a single word, 'connected with evaṃ' and translated even so. On the contrary, it represents two words, eva = evam in 7 but eṣa (with mss.) in 3, followed by (a)ta = ataḥ; eṣ' ata, this (ray) therefore (in 3), ev' ata, so therefore (in 7). See §§ 4.21 ff., esp. 4.29.]

evamdarśana, adj. Bhvr., = next, holding such a view: Mv ii.119.3 evamdarśanaṃ ca samānaṃ samānārthatāye sthāpayet, and (me) being a holder of such an opinion (agreeing with his own, Ārāḍa Kālāma's)... See also tathādarśana.

evamdrṣṭi, adj. Bhvr. (= Pali evamdiṭṭhi), = prec. and tathādarśana, holding such a view or opinion: Av ii.188.5 ff. eka evamdrṣṭir bhavaty evamvādi, sarvaṃ me kṣamata iti (etc., similar phrases).

evarūpa, adj. (= Pali id.; Skt. evamrūpa), of such a sort or form: very common in vss, SP 83.14; 86.14; 93.4; 94.1; 95.4, 12; 96.8; 97.6; LV 55.9; Dbh.g. 12(348).16;

Sukh 50.12; but also in prose, esp. of Mv, e.g. i.39.8; 329.7, 21; 330.11; ii.257.12; iii.317.7; 444.6, etc.; also in prose of LV, 13.22 and 307.13 (so all Lefm.'s mss. and Weller's ms., certainly not misprint as suggested by Weller 16), as well as 441.12, eṣāṃ evarūpāṇāṃ dharmāṇāṃ (no v.l. except Calc. evamrū°, cited by Lefm., so that evarū° is not a misprint; not noted by Weller). Pall also uses evarūpa in prose as well as verse. (PTSD cites this cpd. under eva; of course it should be under evaṃ.) Cf. keva-rūpa.

evala, adj. (= Ap. evaḍa = lyat, Hem. 4.408; cf. Jacobi, Bhav. Gloss., evaḍḍa, id.), so many: Mmk 507.14 (vs) evalā mudravarety āhu = mudrā varā(h) ity āhur(?).

eṣaka, adj. (= Pali eṣaka, Dhṃ. comm. iii.417.10; not in PTSD; to eṣati), seeking, striving: Bbh 204.4 eṣakaṃ vīryaṃ bodhisattvasya, sarvaśāsthanāparyeṣanātayā.

eṣati, °te (= Pali eṣati; very rare in Skt., BhāḡP. in pw, which associates this with iṣyati; in mg. it belongs with icchatī; cf. adhy°, anv°, pary-eṣati), seeks: SP 54.10 (vs) na buddham eṣanti; LV 242.10 (vs) na ca so tṛpti labheta bhūyu eṣan; 354.2 (vs) bodhi vara eṣatā (Inst. pr. pple.); 364.9 (vs) eṣati; 379.11 (vs) agādhe gādham eṣatha (so read with v.l.); RP 5.14 (vs) eṣamāna varabodhiṃ uttamām; 15.14 (vs) na ca punar eṣati kasyacit sa doṣam.

? eha = iha (§ 3.59), here, in app-eha (read rather apy-eha?): MSV iv.220.4, 5.

ehipaśyika, adj. (= Pali ehipassika; based on ehi paśya, come see; also aihi°, q.v.), that invites (every man) to come and see, ep. of the Buddha's dharma (and, in Mv, vinaya; in Pali, of dhamma): Mv iii.200.10 (svā-khyāto... tathāgata... dharmaṇa... sāmānyāka... akāliko ehipaśyikaḥ aupanayikaḥ etc. (essentially same formula in Pali and in passages cited s.v. aihipaśyika).

ehibhikṣukā, the act or formula of ordination as monk by pronouncing the words beginning ehi bhikṣu (bhikṣo; Pali ehi bhikkhu; or pl. bhikṣavo); one of the four forms of upasampadā (ā), q.v.: ehibhikṣukāya (inst.) upasampadā Mv i.2.15; often followed by the words of the formula, in Mv regularly ehibhikṣukāye (or °ya, inst.) ābhāse (3 sg. aor; rarely abhībhāse, iii.379.13), or ābhāṣto, °tā (ppp., subject the Initiates): ehi bhikṣu (sometimes followed by the name, as Upāli iii.180.12; or pl. etha bhikṣavo) cara (caratha) tathāgata brahmacaryaṃ Mv ii.234.2 (read etha for Senart's em. ehatha); iii.65.2; 92.7; 180.12; 181.3; 379.13; 413.10; in Divy 48.18; 281.22; 341.27; 558.18 ehibhikṣukāyā ābhāṣitaḥ (or °tāḥ; 341.27 mss. ābhāṣya, ger.) ehi bhikṣo cara (eta bhikṣavaḥ carata) brahmacaryaṃ (omitting tathāgata); also used without quotation of the formula, the instr. °kāye or °kāya (in Mv; °kāyā Divy and Av) being followed by ppp. pravrajito (°tāḥ, or °tā = °tāḥ; Mv adds upasampādito or °tā = °tāḥ) Mv iii. 376.14; 401.16; 430.14; Divy 463.25; Av ii.113.5; (ayaṃ ca me) caramo bhaviṣyati sāṅgāc-chrāvakaṇāṃ ehibhikṣukāyā pravrajitānām (non-caus.), ... of disciples who have become monks through (my saying) the ehibhikṣukā formula, Av i.230.16.

ehibhikṣuṇī-vāda (m.; cf. Pali ehi bhikkhuni, fem. to ehi bhikkhu), = (the fem. equivalent of) prec., the ordination of a nun by the formula ehi bhikṣuṇi: Divy 616.19 mātaṅgadārīkām ehi vādena pravrajāyitvā.

ehiśvāgatavādin, adj., and °vādi-tā (Pali ehiśvāgata-vādi, or °svāgata°), (the state or actions of) one who (habitually) says 'come, welcome' (ehi svāgata): Bbh 254.20 (sattvānām) pūrvābhilāpī ca bhavati ehiśvāgatavādi; Bbh 146.6 saṃmodayati °di-tayā; 217.11 °di-tayā... sattvān pratisaṃmodayati.

aikāsanika, Mvy 1132, = ekās°, q.v.

aiṇeya-jaṅgha(-tā), (state of) having legs like a black antelope (= the more usual eṇeya°, q.v. under eṇī-); Mvy 267; Dharmas 83 (text aiṇeya°); Gv 400.6 °gha-tā, glossed in 7 eṇeyasyeva mṛgarājñō (indicating that aiṇ° is adj., eṇ° noun).

aindramārga (m.), lit. path of Indra = the open air: °ge Mv II.157.7. See s.v. ajina-khipa.

Airāvata, m., n. of a mountain (= next; occurs as n. of several mountains in Brahmanical and Jain Skt., see Kirfel, Kosm., Index s.v.): Divy 450.11.

Airāvataka, m. = prec., Divy 455.29.

Airāvati, n. of a yoginī: Sādh 427.5.

airyāpatha, m., = Iryāpatha, q.v., in mg. 3, proper deportment; the form with vṛddhi of first syllable is not recorded elsewhere but seems guaranteed by LV 127.9, in the Bodhisattva's spelling lesson, where the letter ai stands for alryāpathaḥ (so prob. read, Lefm. °patha- with ms. A, other mss. alrapathah) śreyān; LV 191.16, text with most mss. prāsādikena alryāpathena (one ms. °kena iryā°) sampannaṃ (bhikṣum); ŚsP 96.7 sarvasattvān alryāpatha-sahagata puṇyakriyāvastuni pratiṣṭhāpayitukāmena (bodhisattvena).

aiṣikā (= Pali eṣikā; proverbially 'stable, firm', see refs. in PTSD), pillar (as that which makes firm, steadfast): Śikṣ 3.7 (vs) nīśraya (separate!) kleśa-adharśikā-tāyai aiṣika (m.c. for °kā; possibly read eṣika?) śraddha svayambhugunānām, faith is a support, so as not to be subject to attack by the depravities, a pillar for the excellent qualities of the Self-existent. (Bendall and Rouse wrongly derive from eṣaka, to eṣati.)

aihipaśyika, adj., = chipaśyika, q.v.; ep. of dharma: Mvy 1296; Śikṣ 323.6.

o-: see also ava- for words with this initial. When the form with ava- is normal Skt., the form with o- is sometimes omitted here; cf. § 3.76.

Oka, n. of a rich merchant, father of Yaśoda: Mv III.404.12.

okaṭṭati, once avak° (see s.v. kaṭṭati), (1) draws down (= Pali ava-, o-kaḍḍhati); Mv III.29.13 to 30.10, always of a water-ogre who draws down into the water creatures who come to drink (Senart always em. °kaḍḍh°): °ati 29.13, 15 'here Senart with ms. ā-k°, but o-k° must be read), 16; °iyā (opt.; Senart em. °eyā) 30.8; °itāni, ppp. 29.17; °iyanti, and pres. pple. °iyanto (pass.), 30.3 and 4; °itum, inf. 30.10; avakaṭṭitum 30.6; (2) draws out or forth (in this sense = Pali apakaḍḍhati, but in Pali ava- and even o- occur, at least in the mss., in this mg. also): Mv III.34.8 dāruskandham nadiye ... oruhyantam okaṭṭitum (inf.); 34.10 okaṭṭitam (mss. °tum by error; ppp.).

okasta, taken by Senart I note p. 556 as ppp. of ava with root kas (see BR), gone down, descended. I cannot improve on this suggestion, altho no form of this cpd. has been recorded elsewhere. Usually with acc. or loc. of that to (sometimes into) which the subject has gone down, the pple. °to or °tā being a periphrasis for a past tense: to the sea, in order to embark, Mv I.245.4; to a river, II.212.15 (to draw water); III.313.8; to a pool, II.450.2 (by a staircase, sopānena), 15; III.24.19; 29.16; from the Himalayan region into another country Mv I.232.3 (text uncertain), 12; to the bazaar-street III.35.17; 37.3; from a wagon III.39.16; a nāga enters into the Buddha's alms-bowl, III.429.3. Not found outside of Mv.

okkarika, m. (= aukarika, q.v.; acc. to Feer, Transl. of Av, = Tib. yul tsoñ [read tshoñ] pa, see below), some kind of tradesman; Feer, 'country merchant'; but yul, which indeed often means janapada (opp. to town), in comp. with tshoñ pa, merchant, could possibly mean dealer in agricultural products, something like truck-farmer; possibly cf. ogara, oggara, cited by Sheth from Prakṛta-piṅgala as meaning a kind of grain or rice. Certainly not a keeper of a shop in the country, for the story shows that it means a member of an urban tradesman's guild, parallel with perfumers: Av I.198.7 pitā te okkarika āśid; 10 tenaukkarikāpaṇo vyavasthāpitah; 12 tenaukkarika-tvam tyaktvā. The story is the same as that in which Divy uses aukarika. I see no reason to associate with either of these words the n. pr. Utkarika or Otk°, qq.v.

o-kṣapayati (for ava-kṣ°, caus. to Skt. apa-kṣi), causes to be done away with, orders put away, with 'inner accusative' vadham, to death, i. e. orders executed: Mv I.96.7 (prose), read with 5 of 6 mss. (aparādham ca ananuyujyā, read °jya, q.v.) vadham okṣapayanti (one ms. ākṣap°; Senart em. ākṣep°).

ogamana, nt. (= Pali id.; Skt. ava-ga° not in this sense), going down, setting (of heavenly bodies): Mv II.163.8 (prose; candrasūryānām ...) ogamanāni.

ogrāhaka, m., one who grasps (intellectually), acquires (knowledge): Mv III.373.3 (vs) ogrāhako ca paripreṇchamāno (... evaṃkaro prajñāvaṃ bhoṭi). Prob. false Sktization of Pali uggāhako (vā paripucchako siyā, same line as above, Jāt. v.148.19). Alternatively, might be false Sktization of a Pali °ogāhaka to ogāhati, °heti (= Skt. ava-gāh-), penetrates (used once with object lokanāthassa sāsanam, Pv. comm. 287.12).

ogha, m. (= Pali id.), flood (of evils, passions, or depravities, 'crossing' of which, tar- or ut-tar-, is necessary for salvation); usually four in number, presumably as in Pali = the 4 āsava or yōga, qq.v. (cf. Mvy 2141 āsavaḥ, 2142 oghaḥ); catur-ogha-pāra-gāmitābhīprāyasya (bodhisattvasya) LV 8.16 (read so with Tib. pha rol tu ḡgro bañi bsam pa-can, intending to go to the further shore ...; best ms. A °pāramitābhi°, Lefm. with others °pāragāminā-bhi°); LV 195.18 (vs) ogha catvāri tīrtvā; caturoghottīrṇānām (Buddhānām) Divy 95.15; Av I.16.11; sattvānām caturoghottaraṇatāyāi Gv 492.1; five or six ogha, Mv III.283.18 (vs) pañcoghatirno taratīha saṣṭham (text saṣṭam; = Pali Sn I.126.22; cf. Windisch, Māra and Buddha, 122 note 1; it is not clear what these are; for one not very plausible conjecture see PTSD s.v.).

Oghaja, n. of two former Buddhas, in the same list: Mv III.231.5; 237.1 (v.l. both times Oghamjana or Oghajana). Ojahpratyāhārīṇī, n. of a goddess: Mvy 4285.

? ojas, nt., a high number: Sukh 31.2 (by plausible em.; follows srotas, precedes aprameya). Cf. bala (4).

-ojaska = ojas, strength, in Bhvr. cpds.: SP 105.10

(prose) alpaujaskau; Jm 200.20 (vs) anojasko (mss. anau°); 234.2 (vs) svabhāva-saujaska-.

ojā (= Pali id.; derived by Childers and Senart from Skt. ūrj, by PTSD from ojas, which seems more plausible), food: Mv 1.210.19 = 11.14.20 (prose) (lābhini bhavati divyānām gandhānām... mālyānām... vilepanānām) divyānām ojanām; 11.131.3 (and 6) (prose) (vayaṃ te roma-kūpa- [mss. °pe] vivarāntareṣu) divyām ojam adhyohari-śyāmāḥ; see s.v. adhyoharati (used in Pali, like its noun ajjohāra, of food). It seems clear that in BHS, at least, oja means simply food, not essence or the like.

Ojopati (for Ojahpati), n. of one of 4 (masc.) devatās of the Bodhivṛkṣa: LV 278.10 (so all mss.; Lefm. em. Ojāpati). Cf. next.

Ojobalā, n. of one of 8 (fem.) devatās of the Bodhivṛkṣa: LV 331.21. Cf. prec.; but there is otherwise no resemblance between the two lists.

ojovanta-tara, adj. compv. (cf. Pali ojavant(a), Vedic ojasvant; in Skt. only ojasvin), strong-er: Suv 164.8 (vs) ojavantatārā bhonti lakṣmīviryabalanvītāḥ.

ojohāra, adj. and subst. (f. °rī), lit. strength-robber; ep. of rākṣasas: Divy 295.6 rākṣasa eva ojuhāra ihāgacchati; of yakṣas, Jm 41.14 ojuhārāḥ pañca yakṣāḥ; subst. m. and f., in a list of evil supernatural beings, ojuhāro vaujuhārī vā Lañk 261.11; 262.13. Cf. next two. See also s.v. 2 -hāra; in both Divy and Jm the mg. to rob the strength (of people) would be possible.

ojo-hāraka, adj. or subst. m. (cf. prec., but see also s.v. 2 -hāra, hāraka), strength-robbering, -robber; or, as expression of purpose, to rob the strength (of people): Mv 1.253.3, said of the 1000 sons of a yakṣiṇī: te 'pi vaiśālīm ojuhārakā preṣitā, vaiśālīm gatvā manuṣyāṇām ojam haranti (so that they all became sick).

ottānaka, adj. (= utt°; cf. Pkt. ottāna for utt°, Sheth): Mv 11.16.11 (= 1.213.7 uttānako, q.v.).

otrāpa, otrāpya (nt.°; cf. an-otrāpa, apatrāpya, Pall otrappa; the short vowel in the penult is doubtless of Mīdic character, and the single p, when it occurs, doubtless m.c., as in an-otrāpa), modesty, shame, decency: Mv 11.357.14, mss. hīri-otrasya (v.l. -otasya)-samppanno; Senart 'ottappa', but read rather 'otrāpya'; LV 329.13 lajji (read as separate word) hīrotrapāt tu, Lefm., but most and best mss. end in -patta for -pāt tu, and this may be the orig. form (abl., see § 8.56).

-odaka (as in Pali, e.g. anodaka) = Skt. udaka, water, at end of cpds.; see an-, nir-od°.

odadhāti, see ava-da°, and cf. s.v. odahana.

odanakulmāṣopacaya, adj. (= Pali °kummāsūpa-caya, MN 11.17.6; wrong ref. in PTSD; in same formula as Mv), built up or grown by porridge and gruel, ep. of the body (kāya), in a formulaic list of such: Mv 11.269.15; 277.18.

odahana, in Pali, attention, application, from odahati = avadadhāti, q.v.; not noted in BHS, but see anvodahāna, samod°.

odumbara, adj. (= Skt. aud°), of the udumbara: °ram iva kusumam Mv 1.270.3.

? Oddha-samdhī, n. of a former Buddha: Mv 1.137.11. So mss.; Senart em. Urdhva°; should we understand Oddha- as for Mīdic Uddha- (= Urdhva-), or emend with Senart?

odhṛta (looks as if = avadhṛta; but ava-dhṛ is not so used, and it is no doubt really a false Sktization of a Mīdic equivalent of Skt. uddhṛta), removed, laid down (of a burden): Mv 11.95.4 (rājā Subāhuḥ) rājakṛtyato odhṛtabhāro, having laid down the burden of (lit. from) royal duties. Perh. cf. AMg. oharīya, ppp., taken down, placed down (Ratnach.), supposedly for avadhṛta.

opalambhika = aupa°, q.v. (prob. with Mīdic o for au, or possibly with o m.c. for u, i. e. upalambhika, without vṛddhi; the first passage might be for ca-u°, and in the others meter requires a long), subject to the upalambha heresy: ye °opalambhikāḥ SP 335.1; opalambhikā(h) SP 384.5, 9. opalipyate, m.c. for upa°, is stained: no ca loki kva ci opalipyase LV 53.22 (vs).

Opāsimbha (! nothing like it found recorded), n. of a mountain: Māy 254.9.

(opunati,) caus. opunāpayati (Pali opunāti, opunāpeti; cf. Skt. nakhāvapṭa, MS only, pw 7.351), (winnows;) caus., causes to be winnowed: Mv 11.178.5 (prose) (dhānya-jātāni...) khaladhāneṣu (mss. °hāneṣu, q.v.) samhārā-payitavyāni opunāpayitavyāni (gdve.).

Opura (for Avapura), n. of a son of King Sujāta Ikṣvāku: Mv 1.348.11; 352.9, 11.

Obhāsa- (in cpds.) = Avabhāsa-, q.v.

omāraka, m., n. of a demoniac being (for °ava-mā°): SP 401.5 stabdho vomārako vostārako, in a list of such creatures (vom° = vā om°, see s.v. ostārako).

omuddhaka, adj. (Mīdic for avamūrdhaka, q.v.; cf. also next, and AMg. omuddhaga), with head hanging down: Mv 11.283.1 omuddhakā prapatetsuḥ, of the discomfited party of Māra; cf. Mv 11.412.16, under next.

omūrdhaka, f. °ikā, adj. (= ava-m°), = prec.: Mv 11.412.16 °dhakā prapatetsuḥ (of the discomfited host of Māra, cf. under prec.); Mv ii.172.13–14 omūrdhikāṃ lambāviya (so mss.), having hung her head downwards; LV 213.12 (vs) omūrdhakāś, of ascetics.

ora (= Pali id., Skt. avara), hither, nearer, or lower; in ora-pāra (Pali id.), the nearer and the farther (state of existence), substantially the present life and any future life: Ud xviii.21 so bhikṣu jahāti orapāraṃ = Pali Sn i.(1)–5 so bhikkhu etc.

oravati (ava plus Skt. ravati; not recorded elsewhere), murmurs, complains: Mv ii.100.17 (prose) (rājñā...) śabdāpito putro (so with mss.): jānapadā oravanti, ... the people of the country are complaining.

orasa, adj., subst. (= Pali id., Skt. aur°, own, self-begotten (son)): SP 88.3; 192.9; Mv ii.354.16.

orāṭika (cf. Skt. raṭ-; o- for ava-), howling, loud crying: MSV iv.64.12.

[orāpayi, SP 331.11, doubtless misprint, read oropayi with WT (for ava-ropayati).]

? oruṇḍa, adj., perhaps for ava-ruṇḍa = ruṇḍa, mutilated (cf. ava-kubja, ava-koṭimaka): LV 333.16 (vs) chinna-kara-carāṇa ivoruṇḍaḥ, mutilated, as if having hands and feet cut off. But possibly understand ivo (m.c. for iva, § 3.82) ruṇḍaḥ; in a verse, the meter of which is Māndik and obscure to me.

olaṅka, m. (Skt. Gr. udaṅka, Pali uluṅka), ladle: Mv ii.244.10 śobhano mama ayaṃ adya kacchapo olaṅko bhaviṣyati.

Olambā (for Avalambā), n. of a piśāci: Māy 238.19 (prose).

olokanaka, nt. (= Pali id.; BHS also avalokanaka, ullok°, qq.v.), window: Mv iii.266.15 (read) olokanakāni dhāvanti, (girls) run to the windows (to look at Rāhula as he passes); SP 114.3, see ullokanaka.

ovattikā (Pali °ka, nt., id.), girdle: Mv i.321.2 māṇavaṃ ovattikāyāṃ (mss.; Senart em. kṛkātikāyāṃ) grhya; in Mv ii.311.11 perhaps read ovattikāhi (or °kehi, nt. as in Pali?) for mss. ovātakehi (Senart āvāpakehi) ratana-dāmakehi paṭṭadāmakehi ... samalamkṛtaṃ bodhivṛkṣaṃ saṃjānetsuḥ.

o-vadati, o-vāda-, see ava-v°.

ovācu, m.c. for uvāca, said: Gv 212.16 (vs); § 3.71; ending of 3 pl. (cf. § 25.30).

o-vāyati (cf. RV ava-vāti, twice; otherwise no ava-vā blows is recorded), blows (intrans.): Mv ii.275.9–10 (prose; no v.l.) mṛdukā ca vātā ovāyanti.

ovidhyana-khā (so recorded; n. pl.? wrongly divided in Kyoto ed. ovidhya-nakhā; ovidhyana is n. act. from Pali ovijjhati shoots down, to Skt. ava-vyadh), parapel, battlement, lit. holes for shooting (arrows) down: Mv 5524 = Tib. mdaḥ yab, or, ba gam, both having substantially this mg., but the first seems to mean lit. arrow-shelter.

ovṛṣṭa, ppp. (to Vedic ava-varṣ-; cf. Pali an-ovassa, °ssaka), rained upon: Ud iii.9, old and best ms. ovṛṣṭā (later ms. avāvṛṣṭā, with poorer meter) biraṇā (Skt. vir°) yathā.

osaṭuka, nt. (var. oṣaṭuka), prob. some kind of plaster: Mv 9364 = Tib. ḥdag rdzas, a kind of clay (Das dry or wet); Chin. a substance for smearing, or sticky stuff.

osākha-, see avasākha-.

osirati, see ava-s°.

ośadha (= Skt. auś°, medicine): LV 197.11 (vs).

ośadhi (= Pali osadhi), n. or epithet of a particular star: n. sg. °dhi or °dhi, Mv ii.56.20 and 58.13 (vs) tāra-varā va ośadhi, by Senart's em., which is proved by the Pali parallel Jāt. v.398.30. In Pali more often called osadhi-tārakā, star of medicine.

Ośadhirāja, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.21.

oṣarati, see s.v. avasīrati (oṣaret SP 449.3).

? oṣita, in RP 19.10 (vs) apy oṣitā āmiṣapātracivare (so apparently divide), set upon, intent upon worldly things (like) bowl and robe (see āmiṣa). Cf. Pali an-osita, not occupied (of houses; CPD). If correct, oṣita seems = Skt. avasita; used with loc. But api at the beginning is suspicious, and s does not normally become ṣ after Māndik o for ava. I suspect corruption.

osa, see avasāya.

osanna, adj. (= Skt. avasanna; in this sense, of flowers, not recorded), wilted, of flowers: Mv ii.394.5 (vs) osanna-puṣpaṃ jīnacetiyeṣu (equivalent to jīraṇaṃ puṣpaṃ 394.2, puṣpaṃ purimaṃ milānaṃ 393.9, and others in the vicinity).

osaraṇa, nt. (to next; = Pali id.), entrance, approach: Mv ii.37.9 osaraṇe (mss. osakaṇe) ca bharitā addaṣi pramadā, at the entrance (to the king's palace) ... (otherwise Senart); ii.108.8 kasya eṣa osaraṇasābdāḥ (? mss. te saraṇa°, or te śaraṣa°, whose noise of approach is this? In Mv iii.401.1 osaraṇāni, in a line otherwise hopelessly corrupt, corresponds to the same word in the same vs of Pali Sn 538, the rest of which seems also corrupt (so ed.); the comm. says it means heretical views (ogahanāni titthāni, diṭṭhiyo). Senart's em. and interpretation of the line are unconvincing; but the Pali is also dubious, and its comm. questionable. I cannot solve the problem.

osāraṇā, nt. (to prec.; cf. Pali id.; cf. avasāraṇa; to prec., 2, plus -aṇā), restitution (to good standing, of a monk or nun that has been disciplined): °nām yācantam Bhik 28b.5; 29a.4; °nām yācasva 29a.1; °nā yācitavyā MSV ii.192.6; °nam 193.2, 6–7, etc. See also utsāraṇa.

osāraṇīya, adj., with karman (cf. prec.), (rite) of restitution: MSV ii.193.17 ff.

osupta (= Skt. avasupta, see s.v. avasvāpayati), ppp. to osopati, q.v.

osopati (= Skt. °ava-svapiti; see s.v. avasvāpayati; cf. sopita, and next), sleeps, is asleep (ppp. osupta): Mv ii.31.21 (āgamehi muhūrtam, kumāro samprati) osupto. ṛṣi āha: mahārāja na kumāro osopati; ii.159.4 (bodhi-satto) pratibuddho paśyati antaḥpuram osuptam.

osopana, nt. (to prec.; cf. AMg. osovaṇi, profound sleep acc. to Ratnach.), sleep, or putting to sleep: Mv ii.160.6 devehi sarvasya janasya ... osopanaṃ kṛtam. Cf. also osvāpana, apasvāpana.

Non-causative mg. would be possible in both cases, t.l.o. causative mg. would seem more natural; but see under apasvāpana; see also osopati, °pana.

ohana, nt. (cf. Skt. ūhati, ūha, change, derangement, etc.? or Pali ūhanati disturbs?), acc. to Tib. the making deluded or disturbed: Mvy 4371 °nam = Tib. ħkhrul byed, or ħkhrug byed.

ohāra (m.; perh. cf. AMg. oharai, establish, settle, 'sthāpan karnā, pratiṣṭhit karnā'; derived by Ratnach. from upa-har-), domicile, abode: Mv III.36.19 te ... svakam ohāram gatā; 37.3 tato ohārāto (mss. °rito) nirgamyā; 40.1. ohāram prasthito.

ohita-bhāra, adj. (= Pali id.; but see apahrta-bhāra, which is prob. the true orig. of the Pali; Mv simply keeps the Mindic form), who has laid aside his burdens: Mv III.262.13, 14 (of Buddha); -tā, state of (such a one), Mv II.260.17 °tām anuprāpnuvanti (Bodhisattvas).

aukarika, m., some sort of tradesman, the same as that designated by the Av form of the same story as okkarika, q.v. for discussion: Divy 590.2 (vs) putrakaukarikatvena (so mss.) pitā te mām apūpuṣat; 5 (prose) aukarikāpaṇam prasasāra; 12 clrantanā aukarikās.

autkara (m. or nt.), ? some subject that was part of the education of a brahman: in a list of such, Divy 485.7 (... upanyastaḥ ... samudācāre bhasmagrahe) autkare bhoskāre (mss. bhoṭk°) ṛgvede ...; same passage MSV IV.15.19 reads ḍoṅkāre (for aut°) bhoṅkāre.

auttarāpathika, adj. (Skt. uttarāpatha plus -ika), of the north country: MSV I.239.1. autpātika, nt. (v.l. autpatika, which is Mironov's reading but can hardly be right; to utpāta plus -ika, cf. So also in Mv II.131.1 and 8, read with mss. audārikam āhāram (Senart em. audar°); the Pali parallel MN I.247.8 ff. has oḷārika; so Mv II.241.1, 3 (in 3 mss. app. °dar°); and in Mv II.277.18 read with mss. kāyo audāriko (Senart em. audar°), of the Buddha's body.]

audariyaka, nt. (cf. Pali udariya, some abdominal organ, said to be the stomach), a presumably abdominal organ, only noted in lists of parts of the body: Mvy 4028 = Tib. sgañ pa (? perhaps back?) or lgañ pa, bladder; so Chin.; Bcṭ 295.6 (text audanīyakam); and cf. next.

audaryaka, nt., presumably = prec., in a list of parts of the body: Śikṣ 209.9; Bendall assumes bladder, but states that Tib. gives leñ ga = Skt. liṅga; perhaps error for loṇ ga = intestines, entrails, guts (Jā.).

audāra, adj. (cf. Pali oḷāra, once, Pv. comm. 110.2 in gloss on atulam, = appamāṇam oḷāram paṇṇam, but PTSD would read uḷāram with v.l.; = Skt. udāra, or BHS audārika), (1) large, vast, of radiance, avabhāsa: Divy 207.6 audāre avabhāsanimitte prāviṣṭe; cf. 63.17 ff. udārāvabhāsaḥ, and 201.22 audārike avabhāsanimitte prāviṣṭkriyamāṇe; the usual mg. of audārika might suggest material, corporeal, i. e. physically actualized, but the parallels are against this; cf. Mv I.41.3 aprameyasya udārasya ca mahato avabhāsasya ..., and similarly in parallels (collected s.v. lokāntarikā); (2) gross, unrefined (= audārika): Gv 534.20 audārādhimuktikānām viśuddhaye; this cannot = udāra- (tho this is compounded elsewhere with adhimuktika, q.v.) since that is a complimentary term, and this is not (cf. the parallel 534.23 saṃkṣiptānām sattvānām viśuddhaye, and similarly 534.26).

audārika, adj. Kaṅkāli (cf. Skt. Kaṅkālin, n. of a yakṣa; °lini, a form of Durgā), n. of a yoginī: Sādh 584.12; 589.15.

kaca, m., Mvy 5870, acc. to Tib. srin bal = cotton or raw silk (Chin. app. cotton thread); occurs in a list of textile materials.

Kacaṅgala (= Pali Kajaṅgala, °la), (1) n. of a town: Jm 113.22 °lāyām, loc.; Av ii.41.5 f., id.; (2) n. of an old woman who lived in this town, who had been the mother of the Bodhisattva in former births and whom the Buddha initiated as a nun: Av II.41.6 ff. (this is an embroidered form of the Pali story of the nun Kaṇḍāla, AN v.54 ff.); MSV I.20.4 ff.

kaccati (nt.? cited in this form, without ending; Mironov v.l. kacchati), corslet acc. to Tib., synonym of kavacikā (q.v.) which follows it in text: Mvy 6077.

kaccha (Skt. kakṣa, kakṣā, MIndic and Skt. Lex. kaccha, kacchā, at least in mgs. 1, 2), (1) arm-pit: Mv II.124.3 kacchehi svedā muktā; (2) hem of (lower) garment: Mv III.13.3 kaccham bandhivā (Pali id.), girding himself (for action, by tying the undergarment at the waist); (3) in nikkaṭa-kacchā Mv II.87.17 (see nikkaṭa), possibly edge (of a needle)? One expects the mg. point, but I find no evidence for it. The allegation that Pali kaccha means arrow (PTSD) seems unfounded.

Kacchapā, n. of a river: Māy 253.3. In list of rivers, placed between Narmadā and Payoṣṇī.

kacchātīkā (Skt. Lex. id.; cf. Pkt. [called Deśi; Rambhāmājarī] kacchātī, id.; deriv. of Skt. kakṣa girdle; end of lower garment tucked in at the waist), in Mvy 5851 = Tib. ske rags, ska rags, defined as girdle, prob. also end of lower garment tucked in at the waist. Next item is baddha-kakṣyā 5852.

kacchāhāra (m. or nt.; cited in stem form, also in Mironov; v.l. in both edd. kacāhara), acc. to Tib. an ornamental girdle: Mvy 5854 = Tib. ska rags phu (Das pho) gu can (acc. to Das = Skt. kakṣa-hāra).

kacchula, adj. (cf. Skt. Lex. kacchura; AMg. kacchulla, printed kacchūla in Ratnach.), afflicted with itching (kacchū), with a skin-disease: Mv II.150.9; 152.3; 153.19; 156.12.

kaṭaccha, and kaṭacchaka (m. or nt.), = kaṭacchu(ka), q.v.: °ccha- Divy 165.18; °cchaka, Mmk 322.25.

kaṭacchu, m. or f., °chuka (once nt.) and °chukā (?), also °cha and °chaka (app. = Pali kaṭacchu, spoon, ladle; cf. Deśi. 2.7 kaḍacchū, comm. ayodarvī), in most occurrences could be either spoon or bowl; it seems that Tib. and Chin. sources support mg. bowl, vessel; so Mvy 901.3 kaṭacchuḥ, Tib. nal ze, which I do not find in Diett., but nal may be connected with na ll, bowl, basin (of iron or china, Jā.), while Chin. gives (1) pillow (often made of porcelain), or (2) bowl, basin; on Suv 86.3 and Mmk 65.2 Tib. is cited as snod, vessel (Mmk ap. Lalou, Iconographic, p. 84, line 11, who nevertheless translates culler, pp. 37, 44); in favor of mg. spoon may be cited (besides the Pali and Deśi words) Megh 310.10 sapta-dhūpa-kaṭacchukām utkṣīped ākāṣe (hardly bowlful if text is right acc. sg. f., but perhaps this represents °kān, acc. pl. m.); most commonly in cpds. preceded by dhūpa-, incense-spoon (? -bowl), generally as held in the hand by a painted image, dhūpa-kaṭacchuka-vyagra-hasta Mmk 65.2; 69.12, etc.; 322.25 (here °kaṭacchaka°); eka-dhūpa-kaṭacchu-hasta-parigṛhītān Suv 86.3; dhūpa-kaṭacchukam ādāya Divy 398.28-29; (dakṣiṇahaste) dhūpa-kaṭacchukam (n. sg. nt. l) kartavyam Kv 74.20; dhūpa-°ke dhūpaḥ copasthāpayitavyaḥ MSV III.97.16; in Divy 165.18 acc. to Index vessel, but this seems less than certain, (Pūraṇam, q.v., dharmasātapratichannam) kaṭaccha-vrata-bhojanam (might mean eating according to a vow of spoonfuls, i. e. of limiting his food to a definite number of them, rather than eating by a vow of the begging-bowl). In Divy 475.21 kāṇḍa-kaṭacchu-pūra-kūrca-bhaisajya-sthavikāś is obscure to me at more than one point; the cpd. evidently lists articles pertaining to children, and either spoon or bowl is conceivable.

kaṭasī (= Pali id., °sīm vaḍḍheti), cemetery, place where unburied corpses are left: Mvy 7105 = Tib. dur khrod (id.); 7419 °sī vardhitā; SP 48.4 (vs) kaṭasī ca vardhenti punaḥ-punas te (i. e. they die again and again; Pali also uses the word only with forms of this verb).

kaṭkāra, m. (so also Mironov; vv.ll. in the two edd. kadgara, kaṭkara, kaṅkara), some kind of bird: Mvy 489.4; acc. to Tib. (one rendering) and Chin. = the prec. item, krakara, 489.3, which in Skt. means a kind of part-ridge; cf. also Pali kakkara, said to mean jungle-cock; Tib. also bya bañ, which acc. to Jā. means night-hawk, goat-sucker; or bat.

kaṭṭati (corresponds to Pali kaḍḍhati, Skt. kṛṣ-; sometimes associated with forms of kṛṣ in BHS, see below; occurs also with cpds., ā-, ut-, o- (ava-), niṣ-, sam-; Senart reads always kaḍḍhi-, but his mss. invariably kaṭṭ(except once or twice kaṭṭh-, doubtless a graphic variant); ākaṭṭati occurs also once in Megh; -kaḍḍh-, on the other hand, is recorded in SP, see s.vv. ākaḍḍhana, vikaḍḍhate), draws, pulls; takes away, removes: Mv 1.217.7 (deviye nāvāyānena) kaṭṭiyantiye while the queen was being drawn along by a boat; II.75.3 dvāro sapta padām (acc. pl.) kaṭṭito, c. line 5 sapta padāni apakaṣitvā; line 11 sapta padāni kaṭṭito; 241.18 tataḥ paṃjarehi (abl.) kaṭṭiyanti (birds); 429.15 (rājagrāho) kaṭṭiyamāni (see s.v. ākaṭṭati). Note that all these forms are passive.

? kaṭṭāmkriyati (contains a form derived from kaṭṭ-ati, q.v., compounded with kriyati = °te; possibly read kaṭṭikriyati with Senart's text), is dragged, hauled away: Mv II.429.12, see ākaṭṭati.

kaṭhala, kaṭhalya, kaṭhalla, kaḍhalya, m. (in Pali only kaṭhala; not in Skt. or Pkt.), gravel, regularly assoc. with śarkara, sand or pebbles; kaṭhala noted only Divy 45.10 and Av 1.64.3 (v.l. °lla); kaḍhalya only LV 39.22 (with all mss.), also v.l. LV 276.21; kaṭhanna erroneously printed for kaṭhalla Mmk 37.5; 525.20; kaṭhalya SP 144.9; Divy 155.24; LV 301.10; Mv III.69.11; Av I.139.12; Karmav 79.4; kaṭhalla in the rest below; masc. wherever used as noun with generically distinctive forms, Mvy 5304 °llaḥ = Tib. gyo mo, gravel; Mv I.308.2 aśuci-pāṣāṇa-śarkara-kaṭhalla bhūmim praviṣanti; Mmk 525.20 kaṭhalah (text °ṇṇah) śarkarāṅgrāḥ; other substantival occurrences, Lañk 268.3 tṛṇa-kāṣṭha-kaṭhallesu yathā māyā virajāte (Suzuki transl. bricks, which is another mg. of Tib. gyo mo but surely inappropriate here); Mv I.15.10 macchā kaṭhalla-gatā (mss. kabhalla°) yathā, like fish on gravel; Karmav 79.4 (prthivyaṃ) śarkara-kaṭhalyādini ... prādurbhavanti; usually in adj. cpds., especially apagata-pāṣāṇa-śarkara- (or °sark°) -kaṭh° Mv III.79.18; 141.16; 255.9; Divy 45.10; 155.23-24; 441.12-13; 460.16; Av 1.64.3; 76.2; 97.3-4; 107.10; 139.11-12; 144.11; SP 144.9; apagata-śarkara- (°sark°)-kaṭh° Mv III.69.11; 266.9; LV 276.21; apagata-pāṣāṇa-kaṭh° (printed kaṭhanna)-bhasmāṅgrā- (etc.) Mmk 37.5; utsanna-śarkarakaṭh° Gv 328.25; ākirṇa-śarkara- (°sark°) -kaṭh° LV 301.10; Gv 166.18-19; -śarkara-kaṭhalla-ākirṇāyāṃ (... dharanyāṃ) Gv 226.6.

kaṭhina, nt., (1) (= Pali id.), the rough cloth from which monks' robes were made: Mvy 8687; 9035; 9104; 9406 (= Tib. sra brkyaṅ); Prāt 490.10 uddhrte (see ud-dharati) kaṭhine; cpds., kaṭhina-civara (= Pali id.), a robe made of k. cloth, Av II.13.6; 18.1; kaṭhināstarāṇa, nt., Mvy 8685; °stāra, m. (so Mironov) or °stāraṇa, nt. (not in Mironov), Mvy 9407; °stara, MSV II.152.9; all = Pali kaṭhinattharaṇa or °tthāra, the ceremony of 'spreading out' or dedicating the kaṭhina; kaṭhināstāraka, m., (the monk) who superintends this ceremony, Mvy 8686 (with Index); MSV II.154.10 ff.; on the ceremony cf. SBE 17.148 ff. with notes; MSV II.151 ff. (long description); (2) hut (of a caṇḍāla): Av II.114.9 anyataracaṇḍāla-kaṭhinam piṇḍāya praviṣṭaḥ; 114.13; 115.3 piṇḍapātām ādāya caṇḍāla-kaṭhinān nirgataḥ.

kaḍaṅgara, (1) nt. (= Skt. Lex. and late lit., Schmidt, Nachtr., defined as straw; AMg. id., a kind of grass, Ratnach.; Pali kaliṅgara, kaḷi°, defined in comms. as stick of wood), stick of wood (? the mg. straw would also be appropriate; something thrown away as worthless): Ud 1.35 (kāyo 'yaṃ prthivim achiṣeṣyati) ... nirastam vā kaḍaṅgaram (same vs in Pali, Dh. 41, kaliṅgaram); (2) (= Pali Kālīṅga, Kal°) n. of an upāsaka in Nāḍika: MPS 9.13.

kaḍatra (nt.; Skt. Lex., = kalatra, in its BHS sense, see s.v.), family: Bbh 18.12 sarvasattvāms ca kaḍatra-bhāvena pariṅṇāti, he cherishes (or adopts) ... as his own family; °tra-bhāvena pariṅṇitāḥ 192.1; (mātā-pitr-putra-dārādī-kaḍatra- 310.15; sarva-gṛha-kaḍatra-bhogān (house and family enjoyments) utsrjya ... pravrajya 331.23; kaḍatra-parṣatparigrahaṃ 349.4.

Kaḍambā (or °bakā? see ed. note), n. of a yakṣiṇī: Mahāsamāj 187.1 (Waldschmidt, Kl. Skt. Texte 4); corresp. to Pali Karumhā (Chin. Ka-da-m-ra).

kaḍimṭala, m. (cf. Skt. Lex. kaḍitula), Mvy 6093, = Tib. rāḡ gri dgu po, crooked sword, scimitar. Same form in Mironov; Kyoto ed. Index cites (as variants?) also kaḍitula, kaḍimṭula, but neither ed. records them as variants in text.

kaḍevara, nt. (Divy 234.8; 383.18, the only cases where gender is clear; = Skt. kalevara), cadaver, corpse: Divy 39.11; 234.8; 383.18; Av II.26.1; Śikṣ 208.12; Gv 157.13; Jm 45.18; 211.3 (here the ed. strangely emends to kale°). Mvy 3933 reads kalevaram without v.l., but Mironov kaḍe°.

kaṇa, m. (= Pali id.; app. not in this sense in Skt., where mg. is kernel etc.), the red coating between the kernel and the husk of rice: Mv 1.343.19 tasya śāliṣya kaṇo ca tuṣo ca prādurbhavati. See also akapa(ka), niṣkaṇa.

kaṇaya or kanaya (m. or nt.; = Pali id.; on Skt. see below), some kind of weapon, said to be a kind of spear or lance; occurs only in long cpds. consisting of lists of weapons of all kinds: -kaṇaya- LV 305.9 (no v.l.); 306.14 (-kan°, v.l. -kanapa-); 317.15 (several good mss. -kanaya-); -kanaya- LV 218.12 (no v.l.). The form kaṇaya is recorded as v.l. for kaṇapa in some Skt. passages, BR 2.30, and twice without record of v.l. in late Skt., see Schmidt, Nachtr. The form kaṇapa is not very common in Skt. itself, see BR I.c. and pw; it is found Mbh.Cr. ed. 1.218.24 (Calc. 1.8257) and 3.83* (after 3.21.32 ab; Calc. 3.810 kaṇapa, Bomb. kaṇapa); no Mbh. ms. is recorded with ya for pa in either place. Yet it seems probable that the variation between y and p is purely graphic; Pali and BHS clearly support y, which even Skt. sometimes shows as v.l. for p and which may be the original (relatively very few occurrences are noted).

Kaṇima, or Kanima, n. pl., n. of a brahmanical school, of the Yajurveda (mentioned between the Kāthas and Vājasaneyins, and all called adhvaryavaḥ): Divy 633.5 Kaṇimā(h), 6 Kanimā(h) acc. to mss.

kaṇeruka (cf. Pali and Skt. Lex. kaṇeru, Skt. kareṇu), a kind of elephant: MPS 31.21.

kaṇṭaka, (1) see prṣṭha- (°thi-, °ṭhi-)kaṇṭaka; (2) (nt.? = kṛṭaka, q.v.), ring on which the alms-bowl is hung: Divy 227.29 (mudgāḥ) catvāraḥ pātre patitā ekaḥ kaṇṭakam āhatya bhūmau patitāḥ; 228.10 mudgah pātra-kaṇṭakam āhatya bhūmau patitāḥ; (3) in prakāra-k° Divy 578.18, perhaps point, projection (of a wall), i. e. a jutting battlement occupied by a guard: sā anyatamena puruṣeṇa prakāra-kaṇṭake sthiteṇa ... gacchanti dṛṣṭā. (So Index.) See kaṇṭhakāpāsraya.

kaṇṭhaka, m. (1) as in Pali, alternative spelling for kaṇṭakā, thorn: SP 420.4; Mv I.91.16; Divy 350.8 °kān uddharati; see also next, and prṣṭhi-kaṇṭhaka; (2) n. of the Bodhisattva's horse (here as in Pali also Kanthaka, but rarely): Kaṇṭh° Mv I.154.6 ff.; II.114.14; 159.13 ff.; 189.2 ff.; III.120.4; 262.5; dies mourning for the B.'s departure, II.190.9, and is reborn as a god of the same name, II; LV 94.14; 95.11; 217.11; 221.8; 225.8 ff.; 228.17 ff.; spelling Kanthaka noted only Mvy 4772.

kaṇṭhakāpāsraya (= Pali kaṇṭhakāpassaya; kaṇṭhaka, q.v., for kaṇṭaka), m. pl., (ascetics) who lie on beds of thorns: Divy 350.5, 7 (Index 'corrects' to kaṇṭa°).

kaṇṭha-nāḍyā, see -nāḍyā; cf. next.

kaṇṭhanālikā (= Skt. °nālī, also °nāla; cf. prec.), throat, gullet: Mvy 3961.

kaṇṭhamāṇi (m. or f.; = Skt. Lex. id. only Trik.), Adam's apple: °ṇiḥ Mvy 3962.

kaṇṭhikā, embrace: Mv III.258.10-11 Rāhulo dāni mātrkaruṇakaṇṭhikāya (Inst., with a pathetic embrace of his mother, i. e. putting his arms around her neck) yācati. In Skt. only necklace; AMg. kaṇṭhiyā (1) necklace, (2) a part of a neck, (3) a cover of a book (Ratnach.).

kaṇṭheguṇa, m., nt.; in MSV 1.215.10 kaṇṭha° (= AMg. kaṇṭhe°, a gold necklace, Ratnach.), an ornament for the neck, made of a string of flowers: udārapuspāir āsakta- (mss. °puṣpāvāsakta-) kaṇṭheguṇā(h) Av 1.163.8; esp. one made of karavira flowers, placed (as in Palli) around the neck of a condemned criminal, karaviramālā-baddha- (II.182.6 °lāsakta-) kaṇṭheguṇo (°guṇaḥ; in 1.102.8 mss. °kaṇṭhena, em. Speyer) Av 1.102.8; II.182.6 (said of a criminal); kaṇṭheguṇāni Mv 1.463.3 ff., repeatedly, so mss. always, Senart em. kaṇṭha°; kaṇṭheguṇena (mss.) Mv 1.168.9.

? kaṇḍa, m. or nt. (either false reading, as Senart assumes, or Mindic, = Palli id., for Skt. kāṇḍa, arrow: Mv 11.82.14, 15, mss. kaṇṭho, once kantho; 18 v.l. kaṇḍāto; Senart reads kāṇḍ- always, with both mss. 11.82.17; 83.8, and one in 82.18.

kaṇḍita, ppp. (= AMg. kaṇḍiya, pounded; kaṇḍanta, pres. pple.; cf. Skt. kaṇḍikaroti, pounds, Caraka; ultimately perhaps related to Skt. khaṇḍayati?), pounded, crushed: RP 44.10 (vs) dhik kaṇḍitasya tribhave nṛpa kāmaraḡaḥ.

kaṇḍuka, kaṇḍu-kāra, see kanduka.

kaṇḍūśika, m. (so one var. in Mvy, others gaṇḍūśika, °mika; so also Mironov, v.l. °śika; note dental s!; MSV gaṇḍūśa; cf. Palli kaṇḍusa, Vin. 1.254.31; °śaka 290.16, a small piece of cloth sewn on as a mark or as a patch), patch (on a monk's robe): Mvy 9193 = Tib. lhan pa klon pa (or gon pa), a patch or patched garment; MSV 11.159.4 gaṇḍūśam, nt.; 8 °śa-clivareṇa.

[kata- in kata-puṇyo Mv 1.198.17 is prob. only a misprint for kṛta-, since it is not mentioned in Senart's notes nor listed in his Index. If correct it would be Mindic for kṛta-; cf. Palli katapuṇña.]

katamatra, loc. adv., used instead of loc. sg. fem. of katama, which?: Mv 11.72.17-18 °tra kanyāye kumārasya cakṣu (n. pl.) nipatanti, on which girl...?

katamad-vidha, adj. (katamad- as grammatical stem seems to be unrecorded), of what kinds?: LV 383.5 (prose) °dhalḥ pātraliḥ... pratighṛtam.

katara, pron. adj. (see also katira; cf. anyatara; used in this way sometimes in Palli and apparently even in Skt., where however the cases are rare and not always certain), which (of more than two)?: Divy 102.17; 308.8; 371.23 katarāḥ (of several) kumāro... rājā bhaviṣyati; Śikṣ 75.4; KP 97.4 katarām (cited Śikṣ 233.15 as katarat) cittam; MSV 11.136.10 (read katarām tat), 12. In LV 239.15 (Ārāḍasya dharmo...) na niryāti tat-katarasya samyagduḥkhaḥkṣayāya, and Mv 11.119.5 (nāyaṃ) Ārāḍasya dharmo niryāti tat-katarasya (so mss.) samyagduḥkhaḥkṣayāye, could at best (but implausibly) be taken to mean A's religion does not result in the complete destruction of the misery of anyone. But Senart emended to tat-karasya, of (for) the one who performs it (sc. A's religion), which is confirmed by Tib. on LV de byed pa, one who has done that. It is indeed strange to find the same corruption in both texts; but the em. seems quite certain; it is confirmed by Palli takkarassa DN 1.235.17; MN 1.68.12, in a quite similar phrase; and in a close parallel Mv 11.120.16 one ms. reads tatkarasya (the other corruptly taktenasya).

katima, adj. (= Palli id., M. kaima; not derived from kati (PTSD), but = Skt. katama modified to -ima, see § 22.16), which (of more than two)?: Kv 80.5, read: katimāḥ ṣaṭ kleśā(h), which are the six impurities? (text kati māśāḥ kleśā). See next.

katira, adj. (= katara, q.v., but like it used in sense of katama; in form based on °atirna, q.v. by analogy of tara: tama forms), which (of many)?: Suv 60.4 (vs; read with mss., after 3 paṣyāhi... eta dharmān), katiro °tra sattvas tatha pudgalo vā, which among these (dharma) is the creature, or the person too? Nobel em. katir atra; kati is, however, not used as sg., and all mss. read -ro.

katīya, adj. (from kati, with suffix iya, cf. dvītiya, tṛtiya, and tādīya etc.), amounting to how much?: Karmav 70.10 °yaṃ mahārāja gṛhapater dravyaṃ gṛhitam. (There is a v.l. kevati; cf. kevātika).

katuṅka, v.l. for khaṭ°, q.v.

See next.

kathamkathin, adj. (= Palli id.; to prec.), having doubts: ŚsP 1453.2 na °thi bhaviṣyati; SP 35.4 (vs) °thi (n. pl.; v.l. °thā) vicintenta; MSV 1.274.3.

kathamkara, adj. (= Palli id.; cf. evamkara), acting how?: Mv 1.284.17; 11.212.12 (mss. corrupt); 372.21 kathamkaro prajñāvām bhoṭi...

kathatva (nt.; to katham, with -tva; cf. Skt. kathamtā, rare), how-ness, manner: Gv 526.23 (prose) dharmadhātū-prakṛti-kathatvāyatana-m-ucitavān na kṣānyante sarvaviśayeṣu (bodhisattvāḥ); -ucitavān can only be construed as part of preceding cpd. (m° Hlatus-bridger); the text seems rather suspicious.

? katha, m. = Skt. kathā, talk: SP 283.13 (vs) upasamharec citrakathān bahūmś ca, so all Nep. mss.; Kashgar rec. °kathām bahumvidhām, which perhaps read; both edd. em. °kathā bahūś ca.

kathāpuruṣa, m., narrator, teller of the story (of the dharma or the like): Gv 528.(9)-10 (daśadik)sarvaloka-dhātūṣu kathāpuruṣo Mañjuśrīḥ; -tva, state of being a ka°: Gv 417.(23)-24 (sa tasya bhagavato dharmacakram) pratichhitavān samdhāritavān kathāpuruṣatvaṃ ca kārayām āsa.

kathina, adj. (= Skt. kathina), hard: °ślavat °nān-tarātmā LV 158.5, so all mss. acc. to Lefm.; Calc. kath°.

kathāyitta, m. (v.l. kathya°; so Mironov, same v.l.), Mvy 3814, acc. to Chln. messenger; Tib. pho fia (messenger) rañ rta (? see s.v. kāṭhikavitta). The preceding word is dūta.

kadarya, adj. (Skt. stingy, and so Palli kadariya), perh. evil, wicked (of persons): °ya-tapanā ghorā Mv 11.454.15 = (so read also) 1.9.16; see P. Mus, La Lumière des six voles, 95 f. The mg. assumed by Mus is attributed by Wilson to Skt. kadarya.

? kadākhya (so Skt. Lex., nt., a name for the kuṣṭha plant), a name of some plant: Mv 11.86.11 (vs) yato yavā kadākhya (Senart's em., mss. kadāyā, kaṭhāyā) ca kovidārā ca phullitā. Very uncertain.

kadācīkāt, adv. (= kadācīti, formed on the model of noun-adj. formations in suffix ka; see Edgerton, JAOS 31.113, § 37), now and then: Mmk 340.12 (vs) bhavet kadācīkāt siddhiḥ. Is there quasi-diminutive force here, barely now and then, less than frequently? Or possibly the extra syllable only m. c?

kadgara, var. for kaṭkāra, q.v.

kandaraka (m. or nt.; = Skt. °ra; -ka prob. m.c.), cave: Samādh 19.28 (vs) ye vanakandarake °bhīramanti.

kandali-chinna, adj. (m.), ? Mvy 8797; °nna-ka, id., MSV 1v.68.14; Chin. one who is in debt; Tib. gtaḥ (=pledge, pawn) gam(s) pa (? perhaps to ḥgam pa, one mg. of which acc. to Jā. is to threaten, menace). A kind of person who should not be initiated into the order; seems possibly to correspond to Pali kaṇḍara-chinna, Vin. 1.91.10, interpreted as one the tendons of whose feet are cut.

kanduka, and kandu-kāra(ka), or (vv.11.) kaṇḍu°, m. (presumably from Skt. kandu, AMg. id. or kaṇḍu, iron pan), an artisan of some sort, presumably maker (seller) of iron pans; only in nom. pl. in long lists of persons of various occupations: Mv 11.113.9 kaṇḍukā(h), v.l. kandrukā; 442.14 mss. kandukā(h), Senart em. kaṇḍ°; 443.2 kandu-kārakā(h), v.l. kaṇḍukāro (intending °rā).

Kandha, n. of a yakṣa: Mv 11.328.2 (lives in Gandha-pura, which suggests the possible emendation Gandha, or vice versa; but no v.l. in mss.).

kanyakubjaka, adj., of (the city) Kanyakubja: Mv 11.460.12 (prose) Mahendrakasya kanyakubjakasya Madra-karājñō dhītā.

[kaṇḍa-, error for kavaḍa-(chedaka), q.v.]

Kapardin, n. of a nāga: Mmk 454.15.

kapāṭa, in LV 376.13 (vs), to be read approximately: nivaraṇa-kapāṭās ca pañca mayeḥ pradārītā sarve, perh. all the five doors (gates, as obstacles) of the hindrances have been cleft by me here. Note however that AMg. kavāḍa = kapāṭa is a homonym of kavāḍa = kapāla; I suspect that the latter is really meant here (falsely Sktized), in some such sense as hard shells.

? kapāpikā (var. kaṣāyikā, which is read by Mironov with vv.11. kapāyikā, °vikā), felt: Mvy 5863 (= namata, q.v., Tib. hphyiñ ba).

kapāla-koṭaṇi (cf. koṭayati, ā-ko°), with vidyā, the art of knocking on the skull of a dead person and predicting his future fate (in Pali chava-sīsa-mānta, DPPN): MSV 11.80.8.

kapāla-mocanī (once kapālī°) vidyā, a prized aspect of surgical art: MSV 11.26.6 (here kapālī°), 7, 9; 30.17 ff.; it involves opening a man's skull and extracting an insect (prāṇaka), which caused a disease (kapāla-vyādhi, 30.18), see 31.6 ff., also 33.12 (a centipede is thus removed).

Kapālīnī, n. of a goddess: Sādh 502.6.

kapi-citta, adj. (= Pali id.), 'monkey-minded', fickle: in LV 178.20 (vs) read, kapicittā 'ryapathe sthaṇesha haṃ, I shall establish the fickle ones in the noble path. Not only Tib. but a BHS ms. reported by Foucaux (Notes p. 139 l. 2) supports kapi-, and the Pali form confirms it.

kapittha, m. (Skt. id., the wood-apple tree, and nt. its fruit), in Mvy 5941 in a list of (colors and) articles used in painting, dyeing, etc.; perhaps the fruit, or some other product of the tree, used in some such way. Tib. translates.

Kapitthaka, m. or nt., n. of an āśrama on the Godā-vārī river where Sarabhaṅga took residence: Mv 11.363.2. In Pali Sarabhaṅga lived in Kapitṭhavana on the Godāvarī.

? Kapinahya (nt.; v.l. °naptam or °najyam, read °nātyam? cf. Pali Kapinaccanā, DPPN), n. of a caitya in or near Vaiśālī: Mv 1.300.10.

Kapila, n. of a yakṣa (in Skt. of a nāga, inter alia): Suv 161.13 (vs; Piṅgala-Kapilas, text, supported by Tib. acc. to Nobel, but most mss. Piṅgala alone, without K., and the one which has K. reads Piṅgala-Kapilas; one name or two?); Māy 15, 30, 53; 235.12.

Kapilapura, nt.: = next: LV 243.2 (vs).

Kapilavastu (or °vāstu), nt. (= Pali Kapilavattnu); see also prec., and Kapilasāhvaya, Kapilāhvaya; n. of the city in which Śākyamuni Buddha was born: its foundation, with explanation of the name (the Śākya princes founded it on the site of the hermitage of the ṛṣi Kapila with his permission), Mv i.351.19 ff.; spelling °vāstu (rare and dubious) Mvy 4118 (but Mironov °vastu); Divy 67.3 (text, but not repeated thus in Index; °vastu 90.30; 390.26); best ms. of Av °vāstu ii.98.5 ff., several times, and 111.7 (here acc. sg. in ms. °vāstum, Speyer em. °vastu; foll. by vowel, m. hiatus-bridge? prose), but usually °vastu in Av, as i.345.6, 12, etc.; °vastu otherwise, SP 311.2; LV 26.13 etc., very common here and in Mv (see Indexes), also in Gv, e. g. 222.26 ff., and elsewhere.

Kapilavāstavya, adj., of Kapilavastu: Mv iii.101.17 sarve °vyāh Sākyā; 113.12 sarve ca °vyā śīlpāyatanā.

Kapilasāhvaya, = Kapilāhvaya, q.v. (Kapilavastu): LV 54.12 (vs) °yam puram (perh. m.c.).

Kapilā, (1) n. of a kinnara maid: Kv 6.5; (2) n. of a rākṣasi: Māy 240.7; 243.8.

Kapilāṅga = Kapila, the 'Sāṃkhya' philosopher: Lañk 334.13 °go 'pi durmatīḥ (Suzuki 'the school of Kapila', but I know of no such use of āṅga; the word is clearly an epithet of the man himself, 'lawny-bodied' = 'Tawny').

Kapilāhvaya, usually as adj. with pura or nagara, (the city) named Kapila-(vastu), cf. Kapilasāhvaya; °ye pure LV 28.3; °ye mahāpuravare LV 48.22; 59.18 (both prose), etc.; without noun accompaniment, e. g. LV 47.19 (vs), read °ya tam (text °yatam); common also elsewhere, as Mv (see Index); also SP 312.15 (vs), and other texts.

Kapīṣṭhalāyana (mss. Kapīṣṭhīl), m. pl., n. of a brahmanical gotra (= Skt. Kapīṣṭhala): Divy 635.22.

kapota-mālā (v.l. °mālā; Mironov kapota-mālā, but most of his mss. °mālā, no report of kapoṭa-; cf. however AMg. kavoda = kapota, pigeon), Mvy 9345 = Tib. stegs bu, stand, board, table, but also 'a turret where sparrows make their nest', Das; Chin. platform-foundation; Jap. place where droppings of doves (qy: reading -malā?) accumulate, also, where doves perch in rows; upper part of a pagoda.

Kapphīna or °na or other vv.ll., see below (see also Mahā-ka): = Pali Kappina or Mahā-ka, the only forms noted DPPN, n. of one of Buddha's disciples: MSV i.266.5 ff. (Brāhmaṇa-K°); Kapphīna SP 207.4 (vv.ll. °na, Kapphīna, Kapphīna); Av ii.102.1 ff. (no v.l.); Kapphīna, text, SP 2.4 (vv.ll. Kaphina, Kamphina, Kaphilla, Kaphiṇḍa); Kaphilla LV 1.14 (no v.l. in Lefm., but Tib. Ka-pi-na); Kaphina Mv 64.11.

kapyāri, m. or f., °riḥ Mvy 3841, following kalpikāra, q.v., and similarly defined in Tib.; Chin. male or female slave. Appears to be Sktization of MIndic form representing kalpikāra or °rin (something like *kapplyāri).

kaphalikā (prob. = kabhalli-, q.v.), Mvy 9012, pot (? in the shape of a skull); Chin. cooking-pot; Tib. = slañ, sla ṇa, defined as a large iron pan for roasting grain.

Kapphīna, see Kapphīna.

kaphin (= Skt. Lex. id.), characterized by phlegm, foam (one of the bodily humors): Mmk 146.22; 147.1, 7 etc. °ne, dat.

Kaphina, Kaphila, Kaphilla, see Kapphīna.

kabhalli (? last akṣara uncertain; cf. kaphalikā, and AMg. kabhalla, skull, which Fischel 208 connects via *kaphāla with Skt. kapāla), in ka°-tāpa, a form of torture in hell: Śikṣ 80.11 (vs) °tāpān atha dhūmagārān (... pādasya cārcchanti hi kāmadaśā itī); Bendaal and Rouse boiling tortures of the skull; perhaps rather, boiling in pots (so named from their resemblance to a skull in shape). The AMg. suggests em. to kabhalla-.

kama (m.c. for MIndic kamma, Skt. karma-n), action, rite: read veda-kamāpanītam (= vedakarma-apa°) Dbh.g. 29(55).2, with Rahder (see note), for text °karmā° (unmetr.).

Kamaṇḍaluka, n. of a nāga king: Mv iii.327.20; lived at Lohitavastuka; entertained Buddha.

amara (nt.? gen. °rasya), a high number: Gv 106.14 (follows kamala, q.v.); in position corresponds to agava, q.v.

kamaraka, m., purse: MSV i.252.19 (in place of nakulaka 2 of Divy 133.23, same passage, and MSV i.241.8).

kamala, (1) nt., a high number: Mvy 7775; 7904 (the latter cited from Gv); Gv 106.14 (see kamara); 133.24; (2) m., n. of a mlecca king: Mmk 621.25.

Kamatadalavimalanākṣatrarājasamkusumitābhijña, n. of a Buddha in a distant lokadhātu: SP 423.5 ff.

Kamaladhara, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.141.4.

Kamalākara, name of a certain laudation (stava) of 'all the Buddhas': Suv 45.1, 5 (ch. IV, entitled Kamalākara-parivarta); 51.9 (but here text corrupt); 54.14.

Kamalākṣa, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.137.7.

Kamaṣṇīṣa, n. of one of the 8 Uṣṇīṣa-rājāṇaḥ (see uṣṇīṣa 3): Mmk 41.11.

? kamibala, m. or nt., a kind of tree: MSV i.286.10 (so text; but Tib. cited as ka-pi-da-ka; cf. Skt. kapitaka, pw).

? Kampila, n. of a disciple of Buddha: Sukh 2.8; so 1 ms. only; one Karmira; two omit the name; possibly = Pali Kimbila?

Kampilla, nt. (= Pali id.; MIndic for Skt. kāmṇīya), n. of a city of the Pañcālas: Mv i.283.11 ff.; iii.26.20; 34.3, 5 etc.; 158.6; 160.8 etc.; 361.16 ff. Cf. s.v. Kāmpillaka (v.l. Kam°).

kambuka, m. or nt. (= Skt. and Pali kambu), a shell-bracelet, forbidden monks to wear: MSV ii.95.7, 15; orig. was prob. kañcuka (as Skt.) with Pali Vin. i.306.27.

Kambugrīvā, n. of a piśāci: May 238.20.

kamboja (cf. Kāmbojī), m. or f. pl., designation of a class of malevolent supernatural beings: Mmk 17.4 (prose) (vetāḍā) mahāvetāḍā-kambojā mahākambojā bhagīno mahābhagīno etc.

kambojaka, adj., of (the land) Kamboja: Mv ii.185.12, 17 (vs) °kā aśvavarā sudāntā.

-kara (m. or nt.; apparently related to Skt. and Pali kaṭaka; also karaka; see next), ring on which the alms-bowl is fastened; only in pātra-kara-vyagra-hasta: Divy 48.21; 159.9; 281.24; Av i.347.10.

karaka, (1) = prec., in same cpd.: Divy 37.1-2; 341.29; Av i.3.5; Speyer, Index, takes kara(ka) in this cpd. as = Skt. and Pali karaka, water-pot, but see s.v. kāṭaka, which may be related (in cpd. pātra-k°), and even if not related, seems to disprove Speyer; (2) (= AMg. karaga; in Skt. kāraka, not karaka, is used in this sense, as also in Pali) doer, one who does: LV 340.4 (vs) karaka-vedaka-vitvṛttāḥ (most mss. kāraka, unmetr.); Dbh.g. 27(53).11 karak'apeta, without a doer; in view of Dbh 49.6 (prose) kāraka-vedaka-virahita, the short a is prob. m.c. despite the following, all from prose, where to be sure the word is adjectival, making, producing: bodhi-karakair dharmalḥ Av i.69.12; 75.4 etc.; bodhisattva-karakair dharmalḥ Av i.86.15.

Karakaṇḍa, °ḍaka, (= Pali id., also Karaṇḍu, Karakaṇḍu, etc., DN i.92.18, comm. i.258.21), n. of a son of King Sujāta Ikṣvāku: Mv i.348.11 (°ḍaka, v.l. °ḍuka); 352.9 (here Senart Karaṇḍaka, with one ms., a form known in Pali mss.; v.l. Kacakaṇḍaka); also of a later descendant, i.352.11; both °ḍa and °ḍaka.

karakandikara, m., ? .p. of Buddha: Mv iii.269.4 (vs) śrāvakayugaṃ daśabalo āmantraye karakandikaro. Senart can do nothing with it; neither can I; I have thought of divaṃkara-karo, corrupted and metathetized, sun-rayed, cf. Pali divaṃkara = divākara, but it does not yield the meter required.

Karakarṇin (cf. Karakarṇa, BR s.v.?), n. of a man: Mvy 3663.

karakiṇi (cf. Skt. and Pali karaka, water-pot), some kind of vessel or bottle, app. for carrying water: Mvy 9386 (said to be synonym of kuṇḍikā, 9387) = Tib. ril ba spyi (phyi) blugs, gourd-shaped bottle (Das); Chin. bottle for (water for) washing clean hands.

karaṅka, nt. (in Skt. skull; in JM. skeleton, heap of bones, also bone in general), skeleton or heap of bones: Mv III.297.1 sarvaṃ khāditaṃ, asthikaraṅkāni avasēṣīkṛtāni; 14 hasti-karaṅkāni cāsvakaraṅkāni ca; 16 karaṅkāny evāvasēṣitāni; 298.1, 2; LV 174.4 (vs; text doubtful, cf. citation Śikṣ 204.14, and Lefm.'s Crit. App.), read probably: yatha śvāna karaṅka (n. pl.) śavair amukhā (?); LV 207.7 (prose) (iha te bālā adhyavaśītāḥ (read 'sitāḥ) kukkurā ivāsthikaraṅkamadhye.

karaṅjaka? (Mv II.470.8, mss.), see s.v. kalandaka.

karaṇā (cf. karaṇi; both = Skt. karaṇā, nt.), means, cause: LV 434.2, repeated 3-4, sarva-sāṃkleśikāntarāyika-dharmāntarāya-karaṇā-nirvāṇasye 'ti (both times one ms., a different one each time, with Calc. 'karaṇa-).

karaṇi (cf. karaṇā, q.v., and karaṇi), means, cause: LV 432.2-3 (twice in one long cpd.) -muditā-prāmodya-karaṇi- (only Calc. 'karaṇa-; one ms. 'karī-)-snigdha-madhura-ślakṣṇa-hṛdayaṃgama-sarvendriya-prahlāda-karaṇi-(so all mss., only Calc. 'ṇa-)-samyagvākya-samyak-prayogadvāḍ.

karaṇiṇya (nt.; = Pall id.; rare in Skt., but cf. pw 2.297), affair, business, duty (thing to be done, fundamentally gḍve.): deva-karaṇiyeṣu Mv I.32.12 (gods occupied) in affairs, matters of business, of the gods; see sa-karaṇiṇya; prob. here also cakṣu-karaṇiṇya Mv III.331.8, 10, 15, jñāna-kar- 11 (of the madhyamā pratipadā), having insight (knowledge) as its business, i. e. cause of insight (knowledge); in Pall parallels cakkhu-karaṇi, jñāna-karaṇi.

karaṇḍaka, nt., in cīvara-k° Mvy 9379, would naturally be taken as box (for monk's robe), as in normal Skt. and Pall. So one Tib. version (sprog. or dprog). But another Tib. version is sgrog, cord, and Das cites the cpd. chos gos kyl sgrog ma, strings or bands for fastening a religious robe, giving the Skt. as cīvara-karaṇḍaka. Corruption in Tib.? See Jäschke's Grammar 8: pr = Skt. ṭ, gr = Skt. ḍ. The Chin. rendering of Mvy gives cord, with the second Tib. (Note: on Karaṇḍaka-nivāpa see s.v. Kalandaka-n°.) karati, see Chap. 43, s.v. kr.

[? karada, m., small bit: mss. at Divy 290.23 apaści-maḥ karaḍas carama ālopaḥ; ed. em. kavaḍas, doubtless rightly, as in same phrase 298.5 where mss. kavaḍas. Pall (tiṇa-)karala ('[a], perhaps wisp or bundle (of grass), is not likely to be concerned here.]

karanta? (Mv II.470.9, mss.), see s.v. kalandaka.

Karandaka-nivāpa (m.), = Kalandaka-ni°, q.v.: Av I.107.5 (no v.l.); ed. Divy 143.1, but with only 1 ms., 3 mss. kal°; for other cases of v.l. Karandaka-, and even Karaṇḍaka-, see s.v. Kala°.

karapatṭrika (= Skt. 'pattra and Lex. 'pattra), saw: Divy 31.4 'patṭrikayā catasrah khaṇḍikāḥ kṛtāḥ.

karaphu, m. or f. (nom. 'phur), a high number: LV 148.5, cited Mvy 7967 (from LV); = Tib. lag sbyin, hand-giving; acc. to ed. note in Mvy, Chin. points to karabha, q.v.; most LV mss. kalahu.

karabha, m., a high number: Mvy 8020 = Tib. ḥod mdzes, beautiful light.

karama, nt. (= kalama, q.v.), reed (-pen, for writing): Kv 69.16 (bhūṛjap na samvidyate na masim na) karamam; 69.17.

karaviṅka, m. (in mg. = Pall karavi, °vika; in form blend of this with kalaviṅka, q.v., which in Skt. = sparrow, the Indian cuckoo, proverbial for its sweet voice; LV 323.19 'ka-rutena svareṇa; 338.3 (vs) 'ka-ruta-svareṇa; Mv II.415.3 (vs) 'ka-kokilā; KP 84.1 'ka-potaka (h, n. sg.).

(karavira = Skt. id., oleander-flower; for its use in making garlands for criminals, as in Pall, see s.v. kaṇ-ṭheḡuṇa. Cf. next.)

karavirikā = prec.: Mmk 720.20 (prose) °kām. karaḍa (cf. karaḷa?), a kind of elephant: °ḍa-hastin MPS 31.21.

karāpayati, see § 38.53.

Karāla, n. of a yakṣa: Māy 97.

Karāladanti, n. of a rākṣasi: Māy 243.33.

Karālikā, n. of a yoginī, = Karālī: Sādh 589.15 (vs; prob. m.c. -kā).

Karālī, n. of a yoginī (cf. prec.): Sādh 584.12; name of a piśāci: Māy 238.20; n. of a rākṣasi: Māy 243.15.

? karikāra (-dharma), ? Mv II.384.14' (vs) dharmam karitvā karikāradharmam ārogyapṛāpto care sarvalokaṃ (mss., ed. em. °ke); said of one who is thus rewarded for having decorated a caitya. I am as unable to interpret or emend the form as Senart was.

-kariṇa, adj. or subst. ifc., doing or one who does: Mmk 57.2 pañcānantarya-kariṇasyāpi, even of a doer of the five deadly crimes (see ānantarya). (JM. kariṇa = Skt. karin, elephant; Mīdic from Skt. karin, which is recorded in this sense only once from Kās. in pw, and nowhere else in any dialect).

kariya (nt.), Mīdic from Skt. kārya, deed: iti-pramukhā kariyā (n.-acc. pl.) LV 168.1, 10; 169.4 (vss). The shortening of ā to a is regular enough, § 3.103, but this form seems, as far as I can find, not to be recorded in the Mīdic Dict.; and it may be only m.c. in this phrase.

Karuṇatejas (m.c. for Karuṇā° ?), n. of a Buddha: Gv 257.22 (vs) °tejā(h), n. sg.

? Karuṇā, n. of a yakṣiṇī: Mahāsamāḥ 187.1 (Waldschmidt, Kl. Skt. Texte 4). But Pall Aruṇā, which may be right (reading Kaḍambakā before it for Kaḍambā, q.v., and see ed. note).

Karuṇābhīdhāna, n. of an author: Sādh 391.6, 10; 590.11.

Karuṇāvicintin, used in vs, Samādh 8.26 for Mahā-karuṇācintin, q.v.

Karuṇāvṛkṣa, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.26.

karōṭa (m. or nt.; cf. next; = Skt. and Pall karōṭi, cup, basin, also skull), lit. cup, basin (so in karōṭa-pāṇi, q.v.); in LV (at least 305.22) fig. skull: LV 258.6 (vs) na ca kumbhamukha-karōṭāṇ (abl.) na dhārakuśalāntarāc ca gṛhṇanti; 305.22 (In description of monsters in Māra's host) kumbhodarāḥ karōṭapādā(h) (Tib. with feet resembling skulls, rkaṇ pa mgoḥi thod pa ltar ḥdug pa).

karōṭaka (m. or nt.; = prec.), cup, vessel: Sādh 47.21 nānāsugandhikūsumaparipūrṇasukla-karōṭakam (Bhvr.); loha-ka° MPS 26.16.

karōṭa-pāṇi, m. (in Pall karōṭi, same mg., Jāt. I.204.3), n. of a class of yakṣas who act as guards for the gods, esp. the Trayastrīmśa gods: Divy 218.8 (devānām trayastrīmśānām pañcarakṣāḥ) sthāpitāḥ, ... karōṭapāṇayo devā(h) ... (mālādhārāḥ, sadāmattāḥ); 319.24 karōṭa-pāṇibhir yakṣaiḥ; Mvy 3150 = Tib. lag na gzhon thogs, (Cath. Miss. Dict.) qui tient un bassin à la main, un certain génie; Mmk 19.13 sadāmattā mālādhārā karōṭa-pāṇayaḥ vināṭṛityakāḥ; 43.19 (sadāmattāḥ mālādhārīṇo) karōṭapāṇayaḥ vinādvitīyakā lekhyāḥ; 232.10 (vs) karōṭa-pāṇayo devā sadāmattāḥ ca vipakāḥ; Mv I.30.7 'pāṇayo nāma yakṣā (foll. by mālādhārāḥ, sadāmattāḥ); all three also MSV I.95.6.

karoti, makes: (idiomatic uses) Mv II.247.4 (prose) sā dāni śūsumārī glānakam kṛtvā āsati, the she-crocodile now sat pretending to be sick (Senart compares faire le malade). Or is glānakam a Mīdic acc. sg. f. for glānakām? Or even a corruption therefor? See further s.v. a-, an-, neg. prefix. For other forms from this root see Chap. 43.

karkaṭaka (m. or nt.; cf. karkaṭa, actually 'takāṇ-ghri, a moulding, a kind of joinery resembling the crab's leg, Achary: Dict. Hindu Arch. 115), (1) a kind of moulding on a toraṇa (°ṇā): Mv III.178.16 tasya nirdhāvantasya torāṇāye karkāṭakasmiṃ makuṭam lagnaṃ, and 20 (uttamāṅgato makuṭam torāṇāgrāto) karkāṭakena utksip-tam; (2) in Divy 274.23 (and 281.2) *kena, defined Index as hook, but rather tongs, a mg. found in Skt.; (3) *likā, f., heart of a flower: Mvy 6239 = Tib. sññ po, which also renders karpikā 6238; also in Indranīla-kark° 6244; of a lotus, Gv 434.14 mahāratnarājapadma-karkāṭikāyām; lfc. Bhvr. 434.13 (pañktivairocana)mañirāja-karkāṭikam; (4) *taka (= Pali Kakkata), n. of an upāsaka in Nādikā: MPS 9.12.

Karkarabhadrā, n. of a locality of the Śākyas: Mv 1.355.12.

karkarava, m., Mvy 6204, and mahā-k°, m., 6205 (cf. Pali kakkaru, a kind of creeper, and see karkārava), a (heavenly) flower; = Tib. mdog dkar, white color.

karkarī (? mss. kakarī both times; Skt. karkarī, AMg. kakkarī, pot), lit. pot, applied to some protuberance on the head of a crocodile (cf. kumbha, applied to a frontal protuberance on an elephant's head): Mv ii.249.2 (śuśumāro āha, ahaṃ te neṣyāmi, mama) iha grīvāyām āruhya upaśchi, ubhayehi ca hastehi karkariya lagnehi; 249.5 °riya lagna.

karmapatha, m. (nt. noted only Kv 46.1-2 daśa kuśalāni karmapathāny; = Pali kammapatha; seems to be a fundamentally Buddhist term, though recorded once by BR in Mbh. Calc. 13.583, which is followed by a list of the ten items substantially as in Buddhism, belief in the law of fruition of actions taking the place of No. 10, abstention from heresy), course of action; almost always, as in Pali, of a set of ten good (kuśala) actions consisting in avoidance of ten bad (akuśala) actions, three of body (taking life, theft, fornication or adultery), four of speech (lying, harsh speech, spiteful speech, idle or silly, disconnected speech), and three of mind (covetousness, malevolence, heresy); these are listed without use of the term karmapatha, as daśakuśalāni and or daśa kuśalāni, in Dharmas 56 and Mvy 1681-4, 1685-1698; but the same list is given in texts as the ten (a)kuśala karmapatha, so Mv i.107.13-15; Divy 301.22-25; 302.7-10; Śikṣ 69.13 ff. and Dbh 23.6 ff., in both of which each item is treated at some length, esp. in Śikṣ which describes the torments suffered in hell by those guilty of each of the 10 sins; in Mv ii.99.5-12 the ten karmapatha are slightly different; a fourth sin of the body (use of liquor) is added, and the number ten is kept by omitting one of the 4 sins of speech (harshness), also avidyā, ignorance, replaces abhidhyā, covetousness (this seems likely to be a mere corruption of tradition); in Mv i.26.12 akuśala karmapatha is used more loosely, of sinful acts in general, specifically exemplified by the five ānantarya, q.v.; in Mv i.282.14 the term ten kuśala karmapatha (in prose) is immediately followed (in verses) by a list of ten vaśitā, apparently implying that they are the same (not the usual 10 karmapatha); in Suv 6.11 the expression is daśakuśalamūlakarmapatha; often a form of the verb saṃ-ā-dā-, adopt, take to, adhere to, governs the noun, as in Mv ii.77.11 daśa kuśalakarmapathāṃ (acc. pl.) saṃādāya; Suv 6.11 ... °tham saṃādāpayet; in Mv ii.425.10 read with mss. daśa-kuśalakarmapatha-saṃādānaṃ vartitvā (= vartayitvā, having practised the taking-upon-oneself, the vow, of...); cf. saṃādiyati, °dāpayati, °dāna; other references to the 10 kuśala, or akuśala, karmapatha, without listing, are found Mv i.3.1; 46.10; 101.18; 193.15; iii.357.14; Divy 318.22; Karmav 31.13, 14; Gv 521.14.

Karmavajrī, n. of a goddess: Sādh 160.7.

karma-vācanā (= Pali kamma-vācā; PTSD definition does not fit very well Vin. i.317.30 ff., where this Pali word is used exactly like the BHS), the stating of the matter that has been moved in the assembly of monks or nuns, see s.v. jñapti; it takes the form of a demand that they consent by silence, or oppose by speaking; in the case of jñapti-caturtha the question is triple, prathamā, dvitīyā and trītiyā karma: Mvy 8663-6; Bhik 18b.4, MSV iii.13.6 f.

Karmavibhaṅga, m. (Pali Kamma), 'classification of acts', n. of a work (edited by Lévi; our Karmav: Mvy 1372; Karmav 29.31; 105.13 (colophon); 154.10; 163.3; also called Mahā-karmav°, q.v.

karṣika, m. (cf. Skt. kārṣaka, and tila-kārṣika; perh. semi-Mindic in having a for ā; or Skt. karṣin plus -ka), plowman, farmer: Mv iii.108.20 (vs) punaḥ-punaḥ lābhaṃ labhanti karṣikā.

? karha-cid, adv. (cf. Skt. karhi-cid; = Pali karahaci, only after kadā-ci, and in same mg. acc. to DN comm. i.110.3), ever, at any time: in one old ms. of SP inserted after kadācid SP 257.1 (prose), Baruch, Beiträge zum Saddharmapūṇḍarikasūtra, 23 and 28; omitted in all other mss. The coincidence with Pali usage is so extraordinary that I am inclined with Baruch to regard it as old.

kala, perh. = Skt. kara, hand, in LV 12.11 (vs) kena sa kalagata (Lefm. prints sakalagata) tī bodhi (so read with ms. A m.c., for bodhi); so Foucaux and Tib. App. one ms.; v.l. kalkatvaṃ (impurity? cf. Skt. kalka); but Senart's note cites mss. as kakka° instead of kalka°; he em. kakkhaṭatvaṃ.

kalpa, m., also nt. (1) (cf. Skt. id. style, manner, fashion, chiefly in Bhvr. cpds., BR s.v. 2b), in tatpuruṣa cpds., esp. gṛhi-kalpa, tīrthika-k°, ṛṣi-k°, appearance, aspect (of), resemblance (to), sometimes replaced by ākalpa (as in Skt., ornament or attire), and parallel with gupti (gupta), līṅga, dhvaja (see s.v. gupti for citations); (2) ifc., said to mean indifferent, alike in regard to..., in vāścānadanakalpa, q.v.; (3) (not recognized in Skt. or Pali Dict., tho Childers gives thought as one mg. of kappā), (false fancy, vain imagining, often with vikalpa and parikalpa, qq.v.: LV 34.11 (prose) sarva-kalpa-vikalpa-parikalpa-prahāṇāya; others s.v. parikalpa; 250.16 (prose) akalpaṃ tad dhyānam avikalpam aññājanam...; 419.17 (vs) saṃkalpa-(q.v.; instr.?)-kalpañanitena ayonisenā bhavate avidya...; 420.11 (vs) yasmin na kalpa na vikalpa (so most mss.); 422.20 akalpāvikalpa-dharmanayavistīraṇa-cakram; Lañk 57.3 (vividha-) kalpa-vikalpitam, discriminated by various false imaginings; et alibi in Lañk; Divy 629.18 (vs, printed as prose) (a list of sins attributed to brahmins, ... śāṭhyaṃ) ca dhaurtyaṃ ca tathaiṃva kalpam (nom. sg.!). (4) as in Skt. (and Pali kappā), world-age; various kinds, largely but not entirely parallel to Pali usage (best statement of this in Childers): Dharmas 87 lists antara-, maḥā-, śūnya-, sāra-k° (all m.), qq.v.; Mvy has the first two, also bhadra-k°, q.v., 8292; samvarta- and vivarta-k°, qq.v., 8279-80; see asamkhyeya, adj., which does not seem to be used in BHS, or at least in the texts included in this Dict., as it is stated to be in Pali, as n. of a particular kind of kalpa; (5) n. of a king: Av ii.102.6 ff. See kalpa-kaṣāya and following cpds.; also kalpam, adv.; in kalpa-dūṣya or °dūṣya, and °puṣpa, qq.v., kalpa = kalpa-vṛkṣa, as in Skt. Lex.

(kalpaka, m., in BR, pw, recorded only as Lex., but cf. pw 2.297; occurs however in Kaut. Arth. 1.21, Shama Sastri 1st ed. 44.4; = Pali kappaka, barber: Mv ii.489.8; iii.70.5; 92.5; 180.10; 191.9, 15; Av ii.112.5.)

kalpa-kaṣāya, m. (see also s.v. kaṣāya), degradation (degraded state) of a world-age: SP 65.13 sa tathāgato (Padmaprabha) na kalpakaṣāya utpatsyate, api tu prañ-dhānavaśena dharmam deśayisyati (but see s.v. kaṣāya, esp. Mmk 5.23; SP 56.8); Gv 307.19-20 anantara-kalpa-kaṣāye pratyupasthite (after disappearance of a Buddha's teaching).

kalpakāra, m., attendant (on monks): MSV 1.248.10 (allowed to take money for travel-expenses of monks).

kalpa-duṣya, or °duṣya, nt. (see duṣya, dūṣya; Senart always prints duṣya in Mv text but cites dūṣya in Index), (fine) cloth made from the kalpa-vṛkṣa (for which kalpa is cited Skt. Lex.): Mvy 5883 °duṣyam (so also Mironov) = Tib. dpag bsam śiñ las byuñ pañi gos; Mv 1.216.7 = II.19.4 (vs); II.337.6; kalpadūṣyavṛkṣāḥ, trees that bear such materials, Divy 215.28 ff.; 221.18.

Kalpaduṣyagupta, n. of a former Buddha: Mv 1.138.3 (text °duṣya°; Index °dūṣya°).

kalpaṇuṣpa, nt., flower of the kalpa-vṛkṣa: Mv II.33.20 °puṣpāni.

(kalpana, Skt. nt. once das Bilden in der Phantasie, Erfinden, pw, = kalpa (3), (false) fancy, imagining: Lañk 9.5 (vs) mohitā vīśvakalpanāḥ, or °tā hi svakalpanāḥ, see note.)

Kalpanāmaṇḍitikā, n. of a work, of which Central Asiatic fragments ed. Lüders 1926, = Kleinere Skt. Texte II; p. 38 'Die Sprache... ist durchweg das korrekte Sanskrit der Grammatiker.' But a few items of vocabulary, listed pp. 42–45, have been incorporated here so far as they seemed to me pertinent.

kalpam, adv. (from kalpa, q.v.; = Pali kappam), lit. and orig. for a kalpa, = for a long time: SP 227.5 (prose) (yaḥ... tathāgatasya) sammukhaṃ kalpam avarṇaṃ bhāṣet, who should for a long time speak ill before (= towards) a T. (The translators misunderstand.) The verse account has (229.7) yaś caiva... jīnasya sammukhaṃ śrāveḍ avarṇaṃ paripūrṇakalpam, ... for a full kalpa, which may therefore be the mg. of 227.5; but the Pali adv. is well established.

kalpayati, with śāyām (= Pali seyyam kappeti), lies down: Mv 1.210.(13–)14 (prose) (sukhaṃ gacchati) tiṣṭhati pi niṣṭhati pi śāyām api kalpayati; nearly same phrase II.14.(12–)13. See also kalpāpayati.

kalpa-vṛnda (nt.), the whole mass of (brahmanical) ritual regulations: °dam prahāya, abandoning (these), said of 'śis' (pre-Buddhist ascetics): Divy 210.11.

kalpa-sthiti, adj. Bhvr. (cf. also next), abiding for a world-age: LV 200.2 kalpasthitiya (nom. pl.) ṛṣayo.

kalpa-sthītika (= Pali kappatthitika; see sthītika), = prec.: °kenāyuspramāṇena LV 442.20; Dbh.g. 56(82).8 (both prose!); cf. also kalpakotī... (etc.)-sahasrasthiti-kenāpy āyuspramāṇena Sukh 62.2. kalpāpayati (caus. to Pali kappeti, as in MN II.155.6 kesamassuṃ kappetvā), causes to be trimmed (hair and beard): Mv II.489.8 keśaśmaśrūṇi kalpāpayitvā. Skt. kṛpta, ppp. of simplex kalpati, is used in mg. trimmed (of hair).

kalpāvasēṣam, adv. (= Pali kappāvasesaṃ), more than a kalpa, in the phrase (kalpam) vā... vā (nīrdīśet, he might expound) LV 436.6; (tiṣṭhet, would last) Divy 201.9; 207.1. So Foucaux, apparently supported by Pali DN com. 554.32 (on DN II.103.4) appaṃ vā bhīryo ti, vutta-vassa-satato (= kappam = āyukappam) atirekam vā, a little more, or in excess of the stated 100 years (the extreme life of a man, which Pali exegesis takes as the mg. of kappam here). So also Tib. on MPS 15.10 = Divy 201.9. But CPD and PTSD (for) the rest of a kalpa.

kalpika, adj. (= Pali kappiya; see also akalpika, kalpiya), suitable, proper: Mvy 9196; of a monk's (nun's) robe, cīvara, LV 267.10; Prāt 494.6; Bhik 15a.1; of food, °kam nīravacyam ca māṃsaṃ Lañk 258.15, cited Śikṣ 133.15; meat, when kalpika, when not, MSV 1.236.17 ff.; of gifts, dāna, Bbh 123.7; of monkish paraphernalia in general, LV 2.22; even more generally, of all sorts of useful and ornamental objects, Gv 164.14 (bracketed with anavadya). See also next.

kalpika-śālā, also °ka-sthāna, corresp. to Pali kappiya-kuṭī (also -bhūmi), which is variously rendered (in SBE 13.304, on Vin. I.139.36, kitchen), in MSV 1.235.2, kalpikāra, m. (cf. kapyāri; possibly connected with Pali kappiyakāra, Vin 1.206.12, but the traditional interpretation is different; see also next), Mvy 3840; ? acc. to confused definitions in Tib., Chin., and Jap., would seem to mean some kind of servant of monks in a temple or monastery.

4 (°śālā, 8 ff. (°sthāna), introduced as a place where broth for a sick monk could be heated, and seems to mean lit. either hall (place) for allowable (proper) perquisites (see prec.), or possibly hall (place) for preparation of such perquisites (?); five are listed (cf. the somewhat diff. list of four in Pali Vin. I.240.1 ff.), ārabhyamāṇāntikā (sc. śālā; whose boundaries, anta, are being proposed), ucchriyamāṇāntikā, goniśādikā, udbhūtavastukā, sammatikā; all are 'explained' in 3 ff., but the glosses are not all very clear. In 1.234.4 kalpika-sthāna refers to a proper place for preparing (perhaps also storing? see pratiśāgati) food, and ten akalpikāni (sthānāni) are listed 5 ff.

kalpikāraka, m., = prec.: Divy 343.15 (parallel cited with varr. Śikṣ 59.2) te Kāśyapasya samyaksaṃ-buddhasya °kā āsan (Śikṣ inserts bhikṣūpām upasthāpakāḥ), te bhikṣūpām bhāṣajyāni kvāthayamānāḥ sthālikāṃ bhañjante (mss.; Śikṣ varies but same general sense).

kalpita, nt. (= kalpa 3, kalpana; also substantially = vikalpita 2), (false) fancy, (vain) 'imagining': LV 374.6 (vs) (parikṣiṇā) kalpita-vikalpitāni (dvandva cpd.) ca (certainly noui!); LV 178.1 (vs) viparīta-abhūta-kalpitāḥ, by perverted and false imaginings, parallel with rāgadoṣaḥ (paridāhyate jagat); so better than with Foucaux as adj. modifier of rāgadoṣaḥ; as ppp., = vikalpita, SP 281.12 (vs), read (cf. WT) anutthitās cāpi ajāta-dharmā jātā tha bhūtā viparīta-kalpitāḥ, and the states of being that have never originated or been produced are falsely conceived as produced and real; kalpito, imagined, Śsp 1534.7.

kalpiya, kalpya, m.c. kalpiya (= Pali kappiya; not recorded in this sense in Skt.), suitable, proper: Mv III.305.5 (vs) kalpiyam (tarpaṇam, food and drink; v.l. kalpitam); Lañk 250.3 kalpyam (bhojanam; prose); kalpiyāni (garments) ca saṃnivāsyā (q.v.) LV 271.18 (vs). Cf. kalpika, akalpya.

kalpikaroti, prepares, makes ready: °kṛtya MSV I.vii.3.

kalmāśaka, adj. (= Skt. °śa; perhaps m.c.), spotted: SP 94.7 (vs) varṇena te kālaka tatra bhonti, kalmāśakā...

Kalmāśadamya (= Pali Kammāśadamma), n. of a town in the Kuru country, home of Mākaṇḍika (as of Māgandīya in Pali): Divy 515.13 ff.

Kalmāśapāda, n. of a yakṣa: Māy 9. (Cf. the same as n. of a prince changed into a rākṣasa, in Skt. and in Jm 209.9).

kalyato (°tas), adv. (cf. next; in Skt. kalyam, kalye, kālyam, kālye), early in the morning: Mv III.177.13 (prose) °to evotthitena.

kalyasya, or kāl°, adv., = prec., q.v.; only in phrase °syaiva nivāsayitvā Mv 1.34.14 (Senart kāl° with 3 mss., but 3 mss. incl. the two best kāl°; most mss. lp for ly); III.60.3 (Senart kāl° with 1 ms., v.l. kāl°); 142.10 (both mss. kāl°); 414.5 (mss. kāl°, Senart strangely em. kāl°).

Kalyāna (= Pali id.), n. of a mythical early king: Mvy 3554; Mv 1.348.8. In Mvy son of Roca and grandson of Mahāsammata; in Mv son of the latter; in Pali son of Vararoja, the son of Roja = Roca.

Kalyāṇa-kāma, adj. (= Pali id.); -tā, state of being desirous of pleasant things (a sin in a monk): Prāt 497.1, 7 etc.

Kalyāṇagarbha, n. of an author: Sādh 471.18.

Kalyāṇabhadra, n. of a householder of Benares: MSV III.132.15; called Kalyāṇabhadrika 132.19; 133.1.

kalyāṇa-mitra, nt., f. °ā (= Pali °mitta; there often tho not always ep. of Buddha), good friend, regularly said of one (not as a rule a Buddha) who helps in conversion or religious progress: Mv i.243.12 °mitrāṇy āgamyā; 313.5 asmākaṃ Mālīni °mitrā (f.; she was the cause of their conversion); Mvy 2380 °tra-parigṛhita; Divy 347.17 °tram āgamyā; Av i.240.8 id.; °tra-tā, state of ... Av i.240.2. Very common.

kalla, adj. (cf. Skt. kalla-tā acc. to Galanos; and Dhātup. kall-), clammering: Mvy 7156 = Tib. dig pa, ldihs pa; AsP 427.1.

kallavāla, m. (cf. kalapālī; Skt. kalyapāla, pw 2.38, 297; AMg. kallāla), liquor-dealer: Mvy 3779.

kavacikā (Skt. kavaca; in AMg. kavacyā defined by Ratnach. as a kind of vessel, pātra), Mvy 6078 = Tib. ḥthab ber, war-coat, i. e. corslet, battle-garment.

kavacita, denom. pple. (from Skt. kavaca; = Skt. Lex. id., and cf. kavacayati, once, pw 5.251), armored, often in fig. (religious) sense: Mvy 5203; saṃnaddha-k° Mv i.313.16, 18; saṃnaddhavarṃā kavacitavarṃā ii.320.1; (susamnaddha-dṛḍhavarṃā-k° LV 82.2; saṃnaddha-dṛḍhavarṃā-k° 209.19; dṛḍhasaṃnaddha-varṃā-k° 218.12; armored with the (32) lakṣaṇa, said of Buddha, LV 110.8, 21; 240.13; Mv ii.299.13; 371.14; miscellaneous, LV 181.5; 311.21; 361.5; Mv ii.316.8.

kavaḍa, m. (Skt. id. in sense of mouth-rinsing water; Skt. kavala in both senses), morsel, mouthful (of food): AsP 234.5; Divy 290.23 etc. See next.

[kavaḍaka (m. or nt.) = prec. (In comp., -kavaḍakāhāra-) Gv 145.19 (prose). But 2d ed. kavaḍikāhāra; read °kārāhāra, see kavalikārāhāra.]

kavaḍa-chedakam, adv., (in the manner of) dividing morsels (of food): na ka° Mvy 8585; the complete phrase in La Vallée Poussin JRAS 1913.845, Stein ms. fragm. 1.2.11, na ka° (ms. kapaḍa) piṇḍapātaṃ pari-bhokṣyāma iti. The Pali is kabaḷavacchedakam, Vin. iv.196.1.

kavalikāra (-bhojana), see next.

kavalikārāhāra, m. (cf. Skt. kavalikāra, pw 4.297; = Pali kabalimkāra° or °likāra°, so Mvy (Kyoto) and Dharmas (text), or kavaḍi° (Bbh; so read in Gv 145.19, see kavaḍaka; also AbhidhK, see La Vallée Poussin's Index) or kavaḍimk° (Mvy v.l., and Mironov text), food making a lump or morsel, i. e. real, material food: Bbh 99.18; the first of four 'foods' (with sparśāhāra, manāḥ-saṃcetanā°, vijñānā°, qq.v.; Pali has same list); Mvy 2284; in Dharmas 70 five kinds, see s.vv. pratyāhāra and dhyanāhāra; Mmk 103.25 (vs) seems to contain this word, tho the metrical structure is monstrous and some words besides this are corrupt, audārika-m-ākāra-kavaḍikā(rā, not in text!)-hāraś ca kīrtitāḥ, (26) sūks-māhārikasattvā vai ity uvāca tathāgataḥ; in Mmk 104.3 (vs) read kavalikāra-bhojanāḥ (= °kārāhārāḥ) for corrupt and unmetr. kavalikāhārabhojanāḥ.

kavita, denom. pple. from Skt. kavī, fanciful, thought up, invented: RP 28.15; AdP, Konow MASI 69.17.23 kavitaḥ kāveyāś (q.v.) caitāḥ (sc. pāramitās), they are fanciful, the product of poetic invention (preceded by naitā bhoṇ pāramitās tathāgatair ... bhāsitāḥ, they were not spoken by the T's).

kaśambaka-jāta (also written kaś°, kaś°; = Pali kasambu-jāta, with var. kasambuka-j°), acc. to Tib. on Mvy, rotten; this is consistent with the lit. mg. in Pali, applied to a tree the inside of which is rotten, see s.v. avasruta; the orig. mg. was forgotten in Pali at an early time, as the vague and inconsistent Pali commss. show; e. g. Vin. ii.236.26, comm. 1287.5 = ākinṇadosatāya saṃkiliṭṭhajātam; Pugg. p. 27.10, comm. 207.25 either kasambu = kacavara, rubbish, or = tinta-kunapa-gatam kaśaṭa-udakam (evidently guessing): Mvy 9139 kaś° (but Mironov kaś°) = Tib. śin rul ba (rotten) lta bur gyur pa; follows antarpūty avasrutāḥ (all part of a longer cliché found repeatedly in Pali, e. g. in Vin. and Pugg.p., ll.cc.); MSV i.50.7 kaś°; Śīks 67.20 kaśambakajāto aśramāṇaḥ etc. (as in Mvy 9143-4); AsP 181.20 kaś°. Could this word be related to kasavva Deśin. 2.53, said to have four mgs., (1) stokam, (2) ārdram, wet, (3) pracuram, (4) bāspaḥ? By the 'law of morae' kasamba could be related to Deśi kasavva.

kaśāhata, adj. (= Pali kaśā°, Vin. i.75.29), (marked by being) beaten with a whip (as punishment): MSV iv.68.6.

kaśmala, m. pl., apparently n. of a class of evil supernatural beings: Mmk 538.26 (et alibi) sarve dākinyaḥ sarve bhūtagrahaḥ sarve ca kaśmalāḥ vaśā bhavanti.

Kaśyapiya, see s.v. Kaśyapiya.

kaśaca, or (with v.l., and Mironov without v.l.) kaśava, nt., a high number: Mvy 7908 (cited from Gv) = Tib. cha tshogs; cf. kajāva, kaḷapa.

kaśaṭa (m. or nt.; cf. kaśaṭṭa, and Pali kaśaṭa, which PTSD takes to mean dregs in Vv.comm. 288.21, but both form and mg. are doubtful), prob. dregs, in fig. sense, i. e. lowest part: parṣat-kaśaṭu (WT's ms. K' °ṭa) tāñ jñātvā SP 44.11° (vs), knowing them (to be) the dregs of the assembly (WT em. kaśāya-tām, but this is unnecessary).

kaśaṭṭa, m. (= AMg. kaśaṭṭa, refuse, dross, and cf. kaśaṭa, dregs, sediment, impurity: °ṭaḥ (Mironov °ṭāḥ, m. pl.) Mvy 7638 = Tib. sñigs ma, or tshigs ma, sediment, impurity).

kaśambaka-jāta, see kaśam°.

kaśāya, m. (= Skt. id., BR s.v. 2c; Pali kaśāya), sediment, and so impurity, degradation, etc.: five such, āyuh°, dṛṣṭi°, kleśa°, sattva°, kalpa-k° Mvy 2335-40; (order varies) Dharmas 91; SP 43.4-5; Bbh 252.17-19; pañca-kaśāya-kāle SP 58.11; LV 248.13; pañcasu kaśāya-kāle LV 257.21 (vs); pañcakaśāye loke Śīks 60.14; pañcakaśāye kāle buddho ... śākyamunir utpannaḥ Mmk 5.23; kaśāya-kālāḥ Bbh 15.3; ahaṃ (sc. the Buddha) ... utpanna sattivāna kaśāyamadhye SP 56.8 (vs); see also s.v. kalpa-kaśāya; in vs m.c. for kaśāya, q.v., KP 117.5 (twice, once in text, the other time required by meter for text kaśāya; five k° in a different sense, astrigent substances (as Skt.), products of five plants, MSV i.iv.5.

kaśāyikā, var. for kapāpikā, q.v. Seems most likely secondary (influenced by the familiar word kaśāya).

kaśmīlita, acc. to Tib. distorted, in °litākṣa, adj.: Mvy 8926 = Tib. mig sle ḥo, (having) distorted eyes.

kasambaka-jāta, see kaśam°.

? kasina (Pali kasīṇa) for Skt. kṛtsna; śubha-k° seems to be the intention of the corrupt mss. at Mv ii.319.5 for śubha-kṛtsna, q.v., which Senart adopts by em.; see §§ 3.90, 111.

kasulā, v.l. °rā, adj. fem. (Senart's text prints kasulā, but he cites all mss. with u), sc. lipl, some kind of script: Mv i.135.7. Etym. and mg. unknown.

kastūrikāṇḍa, nt. (or kastur°, Mironov; cpd. of Skt. °ikā and aṇḍa; Wilson recorded °ikāṇḍaja in same mg., BR), musk: Mvy 5932 = Tib. gla rtsi.

[Kasphila, a disciple of Buddha; so both edd. LV 1.16, no v.l. It could be understood as intended for Kap-phīṇa or °la, who however occurs shortly before in the same list as Kaphila, or acc. to Tib. °na. And Tib. here reads hug pa, = Kauśika, which I believe is the true reading; and which see.]

kahāpaṇa (= Pali id., for Skt. kārṣāpaṇa, a coin), only in °ṇa-māmsika, nt., or °kā, f., or °kaṃ, adv. (so read for Senart's text °māmsikaṃ, see esp. the ms. reading at iii.260.14), cutting from the body pieces of flesh the size of a small coin, a form of torture, called in Pali kahāpaṇaka: Mv iii.258.18 (kāmaṃ) khalu me śākyā kāyaṃ tikṣṇeṇa śāstreṇa kahāpaṇa-māmsikaṃ (°kāṃ?) pi chin-detsuḥ; in Pali lists of tortures, e. g. MN i.87.16, kahā-paṇakam is regularly preceded by balisa-mamsikam (bal?), see s.v. bilisa-; in Mv iii.260.14, verse version of the same passage, Senart reads kārṣāpaṇa-, but the single ms. obviously read kārṣāpaṇa-māmsikam (°kām?), i. e. the Sktized form; see this, and kārṣāpaṇa-chedikam, another expression for the same.

kahi, kahim (cit), as loc. of ka-, see § 21.22; sometimes varies in mss. with karhi.

kāmsa- (false Skt., instead of kāmsya, for MIndic kāmsa-, q.v.), brass; brazen: LV 318.22 kāmsa-pātri (in Mv kāmsa-pātri, q.v.); Bbh 28.25 kāmsa-kūṭa (v.l. kāmsa), = Pali kāmsa-kūṭa, one who cheats by (substituting) brass (for gold; followed by -tulā-kūṭādhīhi, see tulakūṭa).

kāmsika, adj. (from kāmsa or kāmsa, qq.v., plus -ika), made of brass: SP 50.15 kāmsikā... (sugatāna bimbā).

kāmsikā (AMg. kāmsiā, also kāmsiā; see Sheth), prob. a musical instrument (so AMg.; so pw 7.331; Divy Index vessel) made of brass: Divy 529.23 tadā tvam sopānake °kām pātayisyasiti; 24 °kā pātītā.

kāka-cañcuka, nt., a knife shaped like a crow's beak: Mvy 8976; so Tib. gri bya rog gi mchu lta bu.

Kāka-jātaka, nt., Crow-Jātaka: Mv iii.129.17, colophon to story beginning 125.10, = Pali Supatta-Jāt., No. 292.

kākani (nt.?), f. °ni (Pali °na, nt., and °nikā; Skt. kākinī, °ni, °nikā, and acc. to Galanos kākani), a small weight (of a valuable substance): ekaratnakākaniḥ prati-pāditā Gv 205.9; a small coin: Mvy 9375, in both edd. printed °ni without ending (nt.?). Divy 396.6 °niḥ, 8 °ni (nom. sg.).

Kākavarṇin, n. of an ancestor of Aśoka: Divy 369.10 f.

kāka-vāṇi, lit. crow's speech, n. of a kind of magic: Divy 636.28 °ni ca mantram ca indrajālam ca bhāñjanī. (Qy: ventriloquism, as sounding non-human?).

kāka-śaṅkin, adj., lit. afraid of crows, i. e. easily frightened or suspicious: °kino hi rājānaḥ MSV ii.5.2; 72.6.

kāka-śira(s), adj. (Pali kākasira, ep. of the horse Valāha(ka), Jāt ii.129.9), crow-headed, ep. of the horse Valāha: Mv iii.85.11 °śiro, nom. sg.

kākāsyaka, adj., in full bloom (of a flower): Mvy 6231 = Tib. me tog (flower) kha phyē ba, or kha bye ba, both = phukita, vikasita; ed. implausibly suggests em. prākāsyaka; Minayev is cited in ed. note as having explained 'become' open like a crow's mouth' (kāka-asya).

? Kākī, n. of a piśāci: Māy 238.20.

kākḥorda, m. (Iranian loanword, Burrow, BSOS 7.781), a kind of evil spirit, often associated with vetālas (vetādas): Mvy 4375 = Tib. byad, an evil demon: Suv 3.2 (vs) °da-dāruṇa-grahe; 157.8 (vs) °da-graḥa-dāruṇā; 104.4 and 107.8 sarva-kākḥorda-vetāḍāḥ (107.8 °dān); Śikṣ 192.8 (daṇḍanitisāstrāṇi) kākḥorda-sāstrāṇi vādavi-dyā-śā (transl. charms for procuring death, but better devil-lore); Gv 214.6 (vs) vetālamāntra tha kākḥorda (m.c. ka-) sadā prayuktā; 450.25 kākḥorda-vetāḍa-prati-gḥāteṣu; Sādh 309.11; 406.10; Māy 220.18 etc.

kāṅkṣati (= Pali kaṅkhati; cf. kāṅkṣa, and ff.; in Skt. only desires; see also ākāṅkṣati), doubts: Mv i.85.12 buddhe dharma ca saṃghe ca na kāṅkṣanti...; worries, Mv ii.55.21, read bhumjāhi mā (so v.l.) kāṅkṣiṣu (see § 30.16) bhojam (read bhojyam? Senart bhogam) uttamam; cf. corresponding Pali vs Jāt. v.397.5 mā vicārāy = mā kāṅkṣiṣu, don't worry; Sukh 99.6, read prob. mā kāṅkṣayatha, don't doubt, see s.v. ākāṅkṣati; dvayoh kāṅkṣati MSV i.274.2, he was troubled regarding two (which he didn't find).

kāṅkṣā (also °sa-, m. or nt.? = Pali kaṅkhā; in Skt. only mg. desire; cf. prec. and next; this word and relatives are also used as in Skt., tho much less commonly, cf. dharmakāṅkṣā, desire for dh°, SP 258.6; kāṅkṣiṇo, desirous, LV 399.8), doubt: °sām tatha samsāyam ca SP 49.1 (vs); very common, e. g. Kāṅgi, n. of a rākṣasi: Māy 243.18.

kāca (I) m. or nt. (Pali, and Skt. Lex., id.; acc. to BR strictly the cord used on a carrying-pole for suspending burdens), carrying-pole, pingo (for carrying burdens at each end): Jm 137.4 (vs) svasthābaddhāḥ adhiropya kācam; 8 (prose) tau ... kācenādāya; (2) see s.v. kāci.

kācaka, m. (acc. to Wilson, glass; stone; Skt., Pali kāca), Mvy 5971, acc. to one Tib. definition = hchā bu, spurious, glass jewel.

Kacaṅgaliya, adj., of (the town) Kacaṅgala: Av ii.41.5 °ye vanaṣaṇḍe.

kācamāṇika, m. (= Skt. °ni; pejorative -ka), (cheap) crystal, (worthless) quartz-gem: Gv 500.5, see § 22.37; KP 85.2 (prose; valdūryam...) °nikān abhībhavati; 91.1, 2 (prose). In verses, 85.6; 91.7, kācamāṇi.

Kācarā, n. of a rākṣasi: Māy 240.23.

kācākṣa, adj., Mvy 8836, lit. glass-eyed; Tib. śel mig, glass-eye, acc. to Das used for spectacles. Does it orig. mean having a glass eye, literally? Or glassy-eyed, perh. = staring-eyed (so Chin.)? Occurs in a list of monstrous or deformed characteristics; followed by skandhākṣa, q.v.

kācilindika, nt. (also kāca), Mvy 5879, both edd.; Mv i.152.16; ii.29.13; 262.4 (mss.); and v.l. i.226.10; the readings kācaciñcika, kāciñ, cited by BR from LV, are worthless corruptions found once each in Calc. but in no mss.), n. of some kind of very soft textile stuff: Mvy 5879 °kam (Tib. transliterates, adding gos, general word for cloth, clothing); mṛdu(ka)-kācalindika-praveṇi- Mv i.152.16 = 226.10 (kāci°, v.l. kāca°) = ii.29.13; Mv i.235.19 (text troublesome, but has kācilindika without v.l., clearly applied to clothes); °dika-mṛdu-sama-cittatām Mv ii.261.2; 262.4 (so with mss., except that in 261.2 they read pama for sama); mṛdukā keśā kācilindika-sādrśā (m.c. for sādrśā) Mv ii.307.2 (vs); °dika-mṛdu-sparśopama-cittā Mv iii.225.5; °dika-prāvaraṇa- Śikṣ 208.11; very often in cpd. kācilindika-sukha-samparsā (Bhvr.) LV 17.12; 27.4; 64.8; 65.15; 82.21; 163.3; 276.22; 286.6; Gv 194.10; Sukh 43.11; ŚsP 11.16.

? Kāci, pl., adopted by Lévi Māy 68 (Kāciṣu, loc.) as n. of a people or region, but apparently by his own em.; if I understand him, all his mss. and Chin. and Tib. transl. vary (Kāca, Kāsi, Kāñci, etc.). Since this form seems unrecorded, it would seem better to have adopted some form supported by at least one authority.

kāñcana, m. (1) gold (in Skt. only nt.): LV 122.16 (vs) nā bhāsi itarāḥ sa kāñcana (read °naḥ, m.c.) prabhasi-rāhitāḥ; (2) n. of a kind of tree (in Skt. Lexx. applied to several trees; Pkt. kañcana, m., acc. to Sheth a kind

kāñcana-cakra, nt., gold-orn., under the earth (see La Vallée-Poussin, AbhidhK III.138 ff., esp. kāñcanamayī bhūmi 140): Divy 197.8 (yāvati bhūmir ākrāntā adho 'ṣṭiyojanasahasraṇi) yāvat kāñcana-cakram...; same passage, with a few slight variants, cited Śikṣ 148.(14-15), from some unnamed work of the Sarvāstivāda school, doubtless MSV, tho not found there in I-III; cf. Winternitz, Hist. Ind. Lit., 2 (1933), 284-5. The same is called Kāñcanamayī bhūmi, q.v., in Kv.

Kāñcanapārvata, n. of a Buddha: Gv 259.1.

Kāñcanamayī bhūmi = Kāñcana-cakra, q.v., where AbhidhK. is cited: Kv 24.22 f. sā Kāñcanamayī nāma bhūmir asti yad uttarasāyām Kāñcanamayyām bhūmyām gatvā Avalokiteśvaro ... 'dhomukhānām sat-tvānām dharmaṃ deśayati sma.

Kāñcanamālā, (1) n. of the wife of Kunāla: Divy 406.19; 413.3, 22; (2) n. of an aparasā: Kv 3.14.

Kāñcanavarṇa, n. of a king, previous incarnation of the Buddha: RP 24.2. (Not the same as Kanakavarṇa, q.v.)

? kāñcu (cf. Pkt., acc. to Sheth, kañcu as well as kañcu = Skt. kañcuka, woman's bodice; perhaps read kañcu, but not kañci, girdle, with Senart's em.), woman's bodice: Mv II.59.15 (vs) (kā drṣṭāsi ...) śihāṅgadā (v.l. siṃh°, q.v.) kāñcu (so mss.) pramṛṣṭa (or prarṣṭa with v.l.?) dhāraṇi (prob. divide so).

kāñcukiya, m. (occurs in Skt., see pw, which calls it a false reading for kañc°, q.v.; acc. to Tib. on LV, e. g. 186.2, = fiuñ rum, more specifically eunuch), eunuch (? Skt. kañc°, usually defined less specifically as attendant (in a harem): LV 42.17; 135.3; 186.2; 198.7, 8; Mv II.422.4 kuḥja-vāmana-kirāta-varṣavara-kāñcukiyeḥ; 426.9, 10; 427.13-14 rājā varṣavarām kāñcukiyaṃś ca prcchati; 427.15.

-kaṭaka, nt., in pātra-kātakam Mvy 8952, ring on which the almsbowl is fastened, = Tib. lhuñ gzéd (bzéd, gzhaḡ paḡ gdu bu, ring for putting almsbowl. BR cite the passage with kaṭaka (as in Skt. and Pali), but Mironov also kā; no v.l. in either ed. (but Index to Kyoto ed. cites both forms). However a form found with the same mg. in Divy and Av is -karaka or -kara, qq.v. On the other hand, Divy likewise has a form kaṭaka, q.v., clearly meaning the same thing, which raises doubts as to the etym. Cf. kaṭaka.

kāḍa, adj. (= Pali kālā, Skt. kālā), black: Prāt 496.6. See next.

kāḍisāma, read prob. kāḍa°, adj. (= Pali kālāsāma; cf. prec.; Skt. kālā plus śyāma), some kind of dark color, acc. to Chin. version of Prāt reported as black; acc. to PTSD on the Pali, dark gray: Prāt 517.7 (a monk must make the color of a new robe either) nīlaṃ vā kardamo vā kāmo vā; same passage in Pali, Vin IV.120.22 nīlaṃ vā kaddamaṃ vā kālāsāmaṃ vā; old comm. glosses yaṃ kiñci kālāsāmakam (1).

Kāpa, n. of a nāga king: Māy 247.24.

kāpaka, adj. (= Skt. kāpa; pejorative ka; or m.c.?), one-eyed: SP 113.11 (vs) vañkāś ca ye kāpaka kuṇṭhakāś ca; in SP 94.13 (vs) KN bībhatsakāḥ kāpaku (nom. pl.) kaṇḍakāś ca, but read with WT for the last kuṇṭhakāś ca, and possibly before it kāpa ku-(kuṇṭh°), see kuṇṭhaka.

-kaṇḍaka (= AMg. kaṇḍaka, kaṇḍaya; Skt. kāṇḍa, perh. with dim. ka?), small ptece, in trikāṇḍakaḥ Mvy 6716 (lit. rendering in Tib.; real mg. unknown).

kāṇḍa-kāṇḍi or °ḍi, in °ḍim kṛtvā, perh. making an accumulation of injuries (lit. darts, Skt. kāṇḍa in mg. arrow): MSV II.6.11; Tib. mdaḡ daṃ mdaḡ dag hdes par byas nas, making darts with darts in mixture, i. e. adding one injury to another.

kāṇḍarika, m. (v.l. kaṇḍ°, but no v.l. in Mironov), Mvy 8783, defined by Tib. smad ḥchal, which is reported to mean prostitution, dissoluteness (and Jap. one who frequents prostitutes); MSV IV.68.11. But Chin. one who is defective in the lower parts; and the surrounding terms in Mvy and MSV (khañja, khela, kāpa, etc.) are all adjectives referring to physical deformities, thus supporting the Chin. The Tib. word smad means lower, and may be used of the lower limbs; ḥchol (ḥchal) ba may mean to be confused, deranged.

Kāṇḍāyana, n. of a maharṣi: Māy 256.33.

Kātyāyana (= Pali Kaccāyana, Kaccāna; occurs Mv III.382.13 and Divy 635.15 as n. of a brahmanical gotra, as in Skt.; perhaps the same is that mentioned Lañk 361.1 as the gotra of the Buddha Virāja 2, q.v.), n. of an important disciple of the Buddha (Śākyamuni): Mv I.76.5 ff. (here he is made to deliver a discourse on the ten bhūmi); SP 152.3; Divy 11.29; 550.2; identical with Mahākātyāyana, which is commoner; in Divy 573.8 he appears to have the epithet (Ārya-) Kāśyapa, q.v. (or are they different persons?); Kātyāyana-vādā MPS 29.15 (see Waldschmidt, p. 284 n. 6).

kāntāra, m. or nt. (see Gray, ZDMG 60.360, citing this word from Vāsavadattā, expl. in comm. by durbhikṣā; Pali kantāra, cpd. with prec. durbhikkha-; said by PTSD to mean hardship, trouble in general): famine: Av II.83.8 tena khalu samayena durbhikṣam abhūt kṛcchram, kāntāra-durlambhaḥ piṇḍako yācanakena; Kv 47.15 nādyalva māmsabhakṣaṇam vimṣati-varṣāni paripūrṇāni kāntārya ca pratipannasya ca nātra kiñci annapānam samvidyate; 47.20; MSV I.237.15; in SP 81.11 perhaps in more general sense of troubles, difficulty, disaster: parimuktāḥ sarvabhayopadrava-kāntārebhyo nirvṛtisukhaprāptāḥ.

Kāpiñjaleya, m. pl., n. of a brahmanical school (of the Chandogas): Divy 637.27. (Cf. Kāpiñjalāda, pw.)

Kāpilavastava, adj. (= Pali °vatthava), of Kapila-vastu: Mahāsamāj., Waldschmidt, Kl. Skt. Texte 4.167.14 vanam °vam; 169.2 id.

kāpileya (cf. Skt. kapila), adj. ? drawn by tawny oxen ? or subst., tawny cattle?: Mv III.50.14 (in description of luxurious state abandoned by Kāśyapa on taking up religious life), ekūṇaṃ ca hālasahasraṃ bhadrām kāpileyaṃ (could be acc. pl. m. or sg. f.) suvarṇasīrikāṃ (so Senart em., cf. hālā-sīra; but mss. suvarṇasamīkā or (?) °saṃvikā) avahāya.

Kāpiśī, n. of a locality: Māy 83; 94; cf. Lévi p. 102; the name occurs in Pāp. 4.2.99, which Lévi fails to note.

kāpuruṣa, m. (= Pali kāpurisa; in Skt. apparently used only in sense of coward, contemptible person), evil, wicked man: Mv I.131.7 prāpyo (mss. °ya) khalv ayaṃ mama kāpuruṣo bhasmīkartum (said by a nāga-king of a snake-charmer who was at his mercy).

kāpotaka, m., acc. to Tib. (phug ron) = Skt. kapota(ka), pigeon: LV 248.20 (prose) śārasikāpotaka-saṃdam-śikotsṛṣṭasamprakṣālakaiḥ (of a certain type of ascetics, or their practices, in a list of such types). The ā is strange, and I am not sure that we should not divide śārasikā-potaka, the young of female cranes; but Tib. is very clear. (AMg. kāvoya, a type of ascetics, and kāvoya, 'taking food with great care, like pigeons'. Ratnach., seem not to be relevant here.) Foucaux: qui mangent, après l'avoir lavé, ce qui, mordu par les grues et les pigeons, en a été rejeté; so Tib.

kāma, nt. (so cited Skt. Lex. object of desire, BR; acc. to PTSD nt. as well as m. in Pali), (object of) desire: LV 215.7 (vs) bhukta kāmāni (so Lefm. with only ms. A, the best; the others kāmān imāṃ which is bad in meter and sense and seems an attempt to 'correct' the form) rūpāś ca śabdāś ca ... nānāvīdhā.

kāmakārika-tā, condition (or power) of making at will: Mv III.335.14 (repeated 16, 18, etc.) (idaṃ rūpaṃ ce, v.l. ced, bhikṣavaḥ ātmā abhaviṣyat), na ca (so read with mss., Senart va) rūpaṃ ābādhāya duḥkhāya saṃvarteta, ṛdhyāc ca rūpe kāmākārikatā, evaṃ me rūpaṃ bhavatu evaṃ mā bhavatu (etc.), ... one could make what he pleased in regard to his form ... See in Pali Vin. i.13.19 ff., essentially the same passage (but without this word).

kāma-guṇa, m. pl. (= Pali id., defined as the objects of the five senses, e. g. AN iii.411.4 ff.), qualities of desire, regularly five in number, in some passages clearly understood as the objects of the five senses as in Pali; so Mv iii.417.2 pañca kāmāguṇe (n. pl.; read °pā?) loke manah-ṣaṭthā praveditā (so read with mss.), tatra me vigaṭo chando ...; SP 79.8 (mā ... 'bhīramadhvaṃ hīneṣu) rūpa-śabda-gandha-rasa-sparṣeṣu; atra hi yūyaṃ traidhātuke 'bhīratāḥ pañca-kāmāguṇa-sahagatayā tṛṣṇayā dahyatha; yet in Mv ii.116.17 pañca kāmāguṇāḥ (acc. pl.), specifically listed as nāṭyaṃ gītāṃ vāditaṃ tūryaṃ striyaṃ; the fact seems to be that the phrase became a stock formula or cliché, often used without definite association with any list; so Mvy 5378, 7373 mentions the 5 kāmāguṇa, but never lists them (in 871 even the number 5 is lacking). The old tradition that they are the objects of the 5 senses never died out, however; see LaVallée-Poussin, AbhidhK. iii.86 note 2. With the number 5 they are mentioned SP 78.12; 111.6; 213.6; LV 186.19; 215.3; Mv i.31.5; ii.170.13, etc.; without the number e. g. LV 45.4; 173.19 and 22 (cited Śikṣ 204.7 and 10); Mv ii.142.5, 12.

kāmāṃgama, adj. or subst. m. and f. °mā (= Pali id., Childers, without reference; cf. Skt. kāmaga and Lex. kāmāgāmin, kāmāṃgāmin; all these in mg. 1), (1) going at will, freely, where one lists: Śikṣ 32.15 (sarvasattvā) kāmāṃgamā bhavantu sarvatragāminibuddhabhūmipratilābhāḥ; (2) going according to the desire (of someone else, sc. a master); a servant: Divy 302.26 yeṣāṃ ahaṃ dāsaḥ preṣyo nirdeśyo bhujṣyo nayena kāmāṃgamas teṣāṃ pūjyaḥ ca bhaviṣyāmi; Gv 412.7 (ahaṃ te ...) yathecchā-paribhogyā yena kāmāṃgamā sarvatratyāntānugāmini ... sarvakāryotsukā.

kāmacchanda, m. (= Pali id.), desire for lusts, one of the 5 nīvaraṇa, q.v. (as in Pali): Mvy 2218.

Kāmada, m. or nt., n. of a locality: Māy 93.

Kāmadeva, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.140.14.

kāma-dhātu, m. (= Pali id.), the world (region, sphere) of desire, including all states of existence up to and including that of the paranirmitavaśavartin gods; the gods who live in this region are called kāmāvacara (see deva); very common, e. g. Mv ii.314.12; LV 45.15; 48.17; 299.20; Jm 192.11; esp. contrasting with rūpa-dhātu and ārūpya-dhātu, qq.v., LV 428.19; Mvy 3072; KP 94.4.

kāmadhātuka, adj., of the kāma-dhātu, q.v.: Gv 203.8 (sarva-) kāmadhātuka-deva-manuṣyātīkrānta.

kāmāmdada, adj. (cf. -dada), desire-giving; with vrkṣa, = Skt. kalpavrkṣa: Gv 495.3 °dada-vrkṣa-bhūtaṃ (bodhicittam). See also kāma-dada, s.v. -dada.

Kāmarūpin, n. of a mountain: °pī Divy 450.10; 455.29.

Kāmarūpiṇī, n. of a kind of magic: Divy 636.27.

kāma-vitarka, m. (= Pali °vitarka), (sinful) thinking on lusts: Mv i.145.16 = 202.13 = ii.6.10.

Kāmaśreṣṭha (cf. Pali Kāmaśeṭṭha, n. of a yakṣa), (1) n. of a yakṣa: Māy 236.27; (2) n. of a gandharva: Suv 162.4.

Kāmāpavādakasūtra, nt., n. of a work: Śikṣ 76.16.

kāmāvacara, m. (rarely f., see below; = Pali id.; cf. -avacara), dwelling in the kāma-dhātu or the realm of desire, ep. of a group (regularly six; ṣaṭ-kāmāvacarā devāḥ Dharmas 127; LV 290.2) of classes of gods (for list see s.v. deva): LV 30.5; 59.17 (they are kāmādhātu-stha 59.11); 83.6 (read °cara-deve°); 99.8; 273.16; 290.2; 300.3; 302.5 (here a list of some of their 'overlords'); 369.12; 413.5; Divy 140.18; 203.11; 327.29; Mv i.159.6; 209.6 = ii.11.13; i.265.18; ii.2.8; iii.223.8; Mvy 6895; Suv 10.3; Mmk kāminikā (= Skt. kāmīnī), a loving woman (endearing dim., § 22.34); applied to daughters of Māra: LV 322.20 (vs) prekṣasu nātha (perhaps read prekṣa sunātha, § 30.16) su-kāminikāṃ; 323.14 (vs) na hi bhūṇiṣa kāminikāṃ.

Kāminī, n. of a goddess: Sādh 502.8.

Kāmpillaka (v.l. Kam°), adj., of Kāmpilla (Kāmpilya): Mv iii.156.12 °ko ca rājā Brahmadatto.

Kāmbojaka, adj., f. °ikā (Skt. Gr. id.), of Kāmboja: °ikānām kanyānām MSV iii.136.20.

Kāmbojī, n. of a rākṣasi: Māy 240.23; cf. kāmboja kāya, normally m. (= Skt., but sometimes nt., LV 289.20, vs, naivāsanaṅ kāyam ataś caṣṣyate, my body shall by no means move from this seat; Mv i.44.4 hāyisyati asura-kāyam, n. sg.; ii.124.2-3 idam eva kāyam, acc. sg., twice; SP 52.8, vs, avanāmitāṃ kāyu, n. sg.; but WT with ms. ? kāyitāntya, acc. 'tyaṃ (read prob. kāya-; second member uncertain; to tānta with -ya?), acc. to Tib. (lus kyls sfog par byed) making lust with the body (towards women): MSV 111.16.3; see s.v. drava.

kāyūṣa, Mvy 5830, or kāyūṣa, 5937, nt. (varr. with a for ā, p for y, s for ś or ṣ; Mironov adopts kayūṣa in 5937 but records numerous varr.), acc. to Tib. green vitriol, green or black sulphate of iron, Skt. (puṣpa-) kāsīsa, which is rendered by the same Tib. (nag tshur) at Mvy 5829, 5938.

Kāyeṣa (kāya-īṣa), a name for Vairocana (3) as one of the 5 'transcendant' Buddhas, replacing V. in a list of these at Sādh 164.9.

kāyoddharṣaṇa, nt., Mvy 9001, acc. to Chin. fine-meshed cloth; Tib. rnag gzan, lit. pus-eater (var. gnag gzan, prob. intending the same); possibly gauze-like cloth for binding suppurated sores? The apparent composition, kāya-uddharṣaṇa, should mean something like enlivener of the body!

1 kāra, m. sg. or (oftener) pl. (= Pali id.; pw 7.331 identifies with Vedic kāra, hymn of praise, but BHS always makes it object of a form of karoti), homage, act of worship: sg. kāraḥ kṛto Divy 133.17; (blend-form in mss.) kāraḥ kṛto (!) 134.1, 6, 10; otherwise only pl., kāraḥ kṛtāḥ Divy 133.12, 22 (mss.); 192.19; 539.10; Av 1.349.13; te kāraḥ kṛtās (note masc. pronoun) 11.108.1; kāra (for 'rāḥ) kṛtā a- Divy 289.6; 583.29; kāra na kṛtā yena Divy 82.15; 88.18; kāraḥ kartavyā itī Av 1.308.7; kāraṇ, acc. pl. (kāra); so Divy 47.21, 24; 135.18; 245.1, 3, 9; 251.14; 289.15; 366.18; 420.16; 423.11; 531.8; 579.6; Śīkṣ 150.2; Bbh 233.12; 234.16. The very rare sg. occurrences may be corruptions; standardly the word is m. pl.

2 kāra = Skt. kāla, time (cf. -kārika and vikāra for vikāla, q.v.): LV 79.18 (vs) kāru (only one inferior ms. kālu) deva pratīkṣa, await the (proper) time, sire!

-kāraka, see puruṣa-k°.

-kārakam, adv., quasi-gerund, ifc., making...; see §§ 22.5; 35.5: ālopa-kārakam, making a morsel of it, Mv 1.339.16; 344.14 etc. (prose); na cuccu-k°, not making the noise cuccu, Mvy 8577 (similar onomatopoeitic forms 8578-8580); na sikhapṛthak-kārakam 8582; nāvrapakārakam, not making dispraise, not complaining(ly), 8583. So also in Pali, e.g. capucapu-kār° Vin. 11.221.35.

kāraṇa, cause (as in Skt.; a few special uses): (1) Lañk 9.18 f. sarva-kāraṇa-tīrthya-vyapeta-buddheḥ (Lañkādhipateḥ), prob. having his intellect turned away from the heretics (who are characterized by the view that) all things are caused (Suzuki's version is impossible); (2) acc. adv., for the sake of (of, gen.): SP 74.8 (prose) āgacchata (read prob. 'tha with most mss.) śighram teṣāṃ kāraṇam nirdhāvata ('tha), come, run forth quickly for the sake of (getting) these (toys)!; (3) loc., quasi-adv., used in a way resembling Skt. sthāne, with good reason: Jm 223.20 (vs) jagad idam avakīrṇam kāraṇe tvadyasobhīḥ.

kāraṇā (= Pali id.; essentially Buddhist word, tho cited in Skt. Lexx. and once from Daśak., BR s.v.), torture, torment, esp. applied to torments of hell: with kārayati, causes to undergo, inflicts, 'nām kārayanti Divy 376.12; 'nāḥ (so with mss.) satti-vānām ārabdhāḥ kārayitum id. 16; kāraṇāviśeṣāḥ (in hell) pratiprasrabhyante, are allayed, quieted, Divy 68.3; 138.10; 265.23 ('sradbhāḥ); 568.15; Av 1.4.10-11; 10.10-11, etc.; kāraṇābhīḥ kārīto, tortured with torments (in hell and elsewhere) Śīkṣ 186.11; of earthly torments, kāraṇās ca kārenti LV 259.19 (vs), they make him (the Bodhisattva, practising austerities) undergo (physical) torments; ātmanāḥ kāraṇāṃ kārayasi Śīkṣ 39.3; you inflict torture on yourself.

-kāraṇika, adj. or subst. m. (not recorded in this mg.; from Skt. kāraṇa plus -ika), one who holds... to be the cause (of existence, etc.): Jm 149.24 īśvara-k°, one who holds God to be the Cause.

? kāraṇi, adj. f. or subst. assimilated in gender to f. subject, cause, thing that gives rise to (gen.): Lañk 109.4 yadi... māyāprakhya bhrāntis tenānyasyā bhrānteḥ (read bhrāntiḥ with all mss. except one bhrāntiḥ) kāraṇi bhaviṣyati. But kāraṇibhaviṣyati (one word) may be intended; not however stem kāraṇin* with Suzuki, Index. Cf. kāraṇi.

kāraṇḍava, m. (in Pali chaff, rubbish; cf. next), a kind of grain: Mvy 5669 = Tib. sre da, a kind of corn; confirmed by context (list of cereals).

kāraṇḍavaka, m. (cf. prec.; Pali 'va, chaff, rubbish), chaff as symbol of worthlessness, fig. bodhisattva-k°, a worthless B.: AsP 394.17 'ko veditavyaś cauraḥ śramaṇa-veṣeṇa.

Kāraṇḍavyūha, n. of a work: Kv 13.20; 23.6 'mahāyāna-sūtra-ratna-rāja', etc.; Sādh 30.21.

kārayati, with object kāraṇam or 'nāḥ, causes to undergo (torments), inflicts; hence once with instr. vividhā-bhīḥ ca kāraṇābhīḥ kārīto Śīkṣ 186.11 (prose), inflicted with various tortures (see s.v. kāraṇā). Cf. kāritaka, kāritakāraṇa.

kāravālika, m. (Skt. karavāla plus -ika), (royal) sword-bearer: Mvy 3729 (in list of royal officers).

kārasūtra, see kāla°.

-kārākāra, m., n. of a samādhī, see kāryakara.

Kārā-dvīpa (m. or nt.), n. of a dvīpa: Jm 34.16.

kārānūsārī(n) = kālānu°, q.v. (with r for l in kāla, black; cf. kārasūtra, and kāra = kāla, time), a kind of sandalwood: -ri- (in comp.) LV 274.7 (all mss., both edd.); Mv 111.261.4 (so mss., Senart em. kāl°).

kārāpaka, m. (cf. Pali id.; to kārāpayati, with -aka), he who causes to act, used in a formulaic list of terms applied to the (heretically alleged) ātman, and as such rejected: Mvy 4678 (follows kāraka); Mv iii.447.11, 16 (kārako vā) °pako vā utthāpako vā . . .; ŚsP 120.18 °pakah °paka iti vyavahriyate sa ca yathābhūtam parigaveśyamāno nopala-bhyate.

kārāpaṇa, nt. (= Pali id.; to next, with suffix -ana), the causing to be built: Karmav 39.10 caityastūpa-kārāpaṇam.

kārāpayati, and °peti (Pali id.), see Chap. 43, s.v. kṛ (4).

kārāhva (Skt. kārā-āhvā), what is called a prison: Mv iii.105.9 (vs), read with mss. bandhasya katham mukto vacanena kārāhvam abhikrameya, how, having been freed from a bond by a word, would one enter into what is called a prison (viz. sensual life)? Meter is to be sure bad, but the sense is perfect; Senart em. wrongly.

-kārika, adj. (= Skt. kālīka; cf. 2 kāra), etc., belonging to a . . . time: LV 40.11 (prose) nānāpūṣaphalavṛkṣā nānar-tukārikās (only one inferior ms. °kālīkās), . . . trees belonging to the time of various seasons, or to various seasons and times.

Kārīṇī, n. of a goddess: Sādh 502.9.

kāritaka, adj. (kārita, ppp. of kārayati in sense of karoti, § 38.6, plus -ka, perhaps specifying, § 22.39, or perhaps m.c.), (the one that had been) constructed: Mmk 640.7 (vs) pāsyate . . . caityaṃ kāritakam hi talh, saw the caitya that had been constructed by them.

kārita-kāraṇa, adj. (on kārita, ppp. of kārayati = karoti, cf. prec.), having performed his duties, done what he had to do, said of a Buddha (or a disciple, iii.60.7, or Pratyekabuddha, i.301.7) compared to an elephant: nāgo viya (iii.64.6 yathā) kāritakāraṇo Mv i.237.10; 301.7; iii.60.7; 64.6. Senart, i note p. 560, aptly compares SP 1.7 (arhadbhiḥ . . .) mahānāgaiḥ kṛtakṛtyaiḥ kṛtakaraṇī-yair.

kāritra, nt. (apparently based on Skt. cāritra, blended with forms of kar-, kār-), action, operation: Mvy 6698; 7250 (Tib. byed pa, action); Bct 261.4; 372.5, 10; repeatedly in AbhidhK, see La Vallée Poussin's Index; repeatedly in Abhisamayālamkāraśloka (GOS 62), e.g. 276.18 kāritra-duṣkaratā; 362.4 (vs) pāścīmanḥ gatikāritram idaṃ kāritra-lakṣaṇam.

[kārīṣi? form and mg. doubtful, in refrain pāda: kārīṣi (so the mss. seem clearly to indicate; sometimes they read °su, and other vv.ll.) dattvā jinacetiyeṣu Mv ii.384.17, repeated 21, 385.3, 7, 11, 19, 23. A parallel vs occurring in the midst of these, 385.15, has (na) tailavindum jina-stūpe dattvā; and in a following vs 386.1 tallasya vindum jinacetiyeṣu occurs. This suggests that possibly tālīśa (°su, for °sam?) should be read, = Pali tālīsa, tālīssa, a 'powder or ointment' (PTSD) made from the plant named in Skt. tālīśa; tālīśa occurs, perhaps in this mg. (associated with tallam), in Mvy 5787, see s.v. It seems at any rate appropriate; some oily substance used in decorating a caitya is indicated.]

kāruṇa (nowhere recorded), (1) adj. (= Skt. kāruṇika), compassionate: Mv i.179.6 (vs, metr. indifferent) tato lokānukampārthanā kāruṇo (mss. °nā) mahadviśādaḥ; (2) subst. nt. (= Skt. kāruṇya), compassion: Mv i.51.2-3 . . . samyaksambuddhasya mahatā kāruṇena (no v.l.) sam-anvāgatasya sattveṣu mahākāruṇam (no v.l.) okrami.

Kāruṇika, n. of a former Buddha: Sukh 6.15.

kāruṇyatā (= Pali kāruṇīyatā; Skt. °nya plus tā, § 22.43), compassion: Divy 194.16.

kārpāsaka, nt. (= Skt. °sa), cotton cloth: Mvy 9164 °kam.

kārpāsika, m. (= AMg. kappāsika; one doubtful Skt. occurrence, pw 6.300), dealer in cotton goods: Mv iii.442.14 °kā, n. pl., in a list of merchants and artisans. Cf. karpāsika, used in very similar list.

Kāryakara, m., n. of a samādhi: Mvy 558. In same list ŚsP 1419.14 kārākāra; read kārākāra? or kārya? as in Mvy? Explained by yatra samādhau sthitvā sarvasa-mādhnām kāragatām kriyām karoti.

Kāryatāvicāra, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.141.6.

kārvaṭika, m. (Skt. karvaṭa plus -ika; cf. karvaṭaka), chief of a village (mountain hamlet?): Divy 445.23; 446.5, 20; 531.11; in MSV i.102.13 read -nyatamaḥ kārvaṭiko vyutthitah (text has nt. forms), cf. 17 taṃ kārvaṭikam nirjitya.

kārṣa, m. (Skt. Gr.), plowman: Divy 463.8 (prose) (pañca), kārṣa-śatāny, prob. error; in the sequel, 463.11 ff., repeatedly replaced by kārṣaka (Skt.); same passage MSV i.71.3 ff. kārṣika (Skt., KSS.) thruout.

kārṣāpaṇa-chedikam, adv. (or acc. sg. of °ka or °kā?), in °kam vā chidyamānasya Śikṣ 182.5, or being cut up into small pieces the size of a coin, a form of torture; = next, and see kahāpaṇa (-māmsika).

kārṣāpaṇa-māmsika, see kahāpaṇa (-mā).

kārṣikā (or °ka; cf. Skt. karṣa), a small weight, app. = karṣa: Lañk 31.9 (vs) karṣo hi dharapāḥ kyantaḥ, palam val katī kārṣikā (one ms. °kam; must be n. pl.), how many dharapāḥ make a karṣa, how many kārṣikā (°kas?) a pala? (Tib. however is reported to render kārṣikā by zho, which is one-tenth of a sraṇ, the word used for karṣa in the same line.)

-kārṣi, see gomaya-k.

1 kāla (adj., black, as in Skt.), (1) (m.? = kālaka 3, which is more usual in this sense and which see), black-head, pimple: Mvy 309 vyapagata-tilaka-kāla-gātra, one of the anuvyañjana; so Kyōtō ed., but Mironov °kālaka?; (2) n. of some plant: sayyathāpi nāma kālaparvāṇi vā (v.l. adds aṣṭaparvāṇi vā) evam eva me aṅgāni abhūnsuḥ Mv ii.125.12, and similarly 126.17; 128.5; 129.7; see discussion s.v. aṣṭakti; in parallel LV 254.8 kālaparvāṇi (but most mss. omit), which agrees with the corresp. Pali text kālapabbāni MN i.80.12; 245.27, but the comm. on the former reads kāla-pabbāni (as in Mv!) and repeats the same form in its gloss (kālavalliyā vā samdhittāṇesu); it may mean the same plant designated as kālā in Skt. (and Pali); (3) (= Pali Kāla, Mahākāla; cf. Kālaka 4 and Kālīka) n. of a nāga king, who came in contact with the Bodhisattva shortly before he reached the bodhi-tree: Mv ii.265.7 ff.; 302.14; 304.5; 308.4; 397.9 ff.; 400.10 ff.; after the enlightenment he saluted the Buddha and invited him to his home, where B. spent the fourth week after the enlightenment, Mv iii.300.10 ff.; mentioned Mvy 3251; Māy 221.29; (4) n. of a yakṣa: Māy 7; 236.10; (5) apparently n. of Asita, or epithet given him (synonym in literal mg.), see Asita (2); Mv ii.37.13; (6) n. of a disciple of Buddha (doubtless intends one of the several disciples named Kāla in Pali): SP 207.3; (7) n. of a minister of Māra: Mv ii.409.19; (8) n. of a brother of King Prasenajit (cf. Gaṇḍaka 3): Divy 153.21 ff.; 160.5; (9) n. of a mountain, perhaps = Kāla-parvata (?), q.v.: Kv 91.13 Kāla-mahākāla parvatarājāna.

2 kāla, m. (as in Skt. time, death, etc.) (1) day, opp. to night, see s.v. akāla; cf. kālaka, (1) adj. (= Pali kāḷaka; Skt. very rarely for kāla, see BR s.v.), black: Mvy 8397 suddhaka-kāla-kānām (Kyōtō text 'nam; Mironov 'nām), sc. eqakalom-nām (same passage in Pali suddha-kāḷakānām, Vin. III.225.28); varṇena te kālaka tatra bhonti SP 94.7 (vs; here ka could be pejorative, or m.c.); kālako vata bhoḥ śramaṇo gautamaḥ LV 255.4; 256.7 (prose); could be pejorative ka); (2) black spot on a garment, and also moral defilement (= Pali kāḷaka, id.), see s.v. apagata-kālaka and sarvakālaka; (3) (m.?) blackhead, pimple on skin (= Skt. Lex., perh. once lit., id.; Pali kāḷaka; = BHS 1 kāla 1, q.v., rare): vyapagata-tila-kālaka-gātra, one of the anuvyañjana, Mironov's Mvy for Kyōtō 'kāla° 309, and similarly LV 107.5; Mv II.43.13; (4) (cf. 1 Kāla 3 and Kālika) n. of a nāga: Mvy 3327 (here definitely distinguished as a 'commoner' of the nāgas from Kāla, who is a 'nāga-king'); Māy 221.24; 247.3; however, in Māy 247.13 dvau Kālakau nāgarājānau. See next.

kālaka-prṣṭha (ms. thrice kālaka-p°), adj., acc. to Tib. (quite literally) having a black back (rgyab nag po), applied to a man suffering for past misdeeds: MSV II.89.7, 8, 12; in 89.13, 90.1 ff. text kālaka° without note.

kālakarṇin, adj. or subst. m. (Skt. Lex., allegedly 'nī f.; in Pali and BHS clearly 'nin, cf. Jāt. II.153.23, prose, kālakaṇṇi-sakuṇena, omen of bad luck; 'Jonah': Mv I.257.6 (prose) (tatra), sarve Iti (mss. iti) -kālī-kālakarṇi (Senart em. 'nī; n. pl.) praśāmyanti; Divy 40.16, 17, 19, asau (...) kālakarṇi-prakhyāḥ, said of a man, Pūrṇaka; 19 śrīr vā bhavatu kālakarṇi (surely n. sg. m.) vāgacchaikadhaye prativasāmah. The lit. mg. is doubtless black-eared.

kāla-kriyā (= Pali 'kiriya; cf. Skt. kāla-karman, once in Rām., BR), death: SP 102.11 (prose) mā haiva mama °yā bhavet; 112.2; 347.7 (prose) abhyāśibhūtās caite kālakriyāyāḥ; Mv II.32.10 (prose) nacireṇa kālena °yam karisyāmi.

kāla-(v.l. kāra)-patṭrika, m. pl., some sort of artisan or trader, in a list of such: Mv III.113.16; 443.3; follows vardhakirūpakārakā(h), carpenters and carvers (sculptors), and followed by śelālakā(h) or pela°, q.v. (masons?). Senart em. to kālapatṭrika, q.v., but this obviously does not fit here.

Kāla-parvata (= Pali Kāla-pabbata; cf. also 1 Kāla 9 and Mahākāla), n. of a mountain range, always m. pl. when not in comp.; cf. Burnouf, Lotus, 842 ff.: SP 244.10 (in comp.); m. pl. Mv II.300.19; Śīks 246.4; LV 277.9 (prose) na ca kālaparvatā(h).

kāla-pāṭrika, adj. or subst. m., (a monk) with black (alms-) bowl: Mvy 8749; rendered lit. in Tib. and Chin.; the Kyōtō ed. suggests that it means a bad, unworthy monk, noting that it is followed by saṃjñā-bhikṣu and pratijñā-(bh°), qq.v.; this is confirmed MSV IV.67.2, 3 (term of abuse). See kālapatṭrika.

Kālarātri, n. of a rākṣasi: Māy 243.25.

? kāla-valla-: Mv II.288.13 evamrūpāḥ sattvāḥ (sc., like the Bodhisattva) kālavalla-sampannāḥ, perfect in...(?); in a series of like formulas, preceded by varṇa-sampannāḥ, followed by adhyāśaya-sampannāḥ. Senart em. kāra-varṇa-sam°, which inspires no confidence; but I have found no light on the word. There is a v.l. kālavallabha, which seems no better.

kālavastu, nt., abode of death (i. e. place of desolation; so Senart): Mv III.360.1 (vs) uddahyatu imaṃ nagaram kālavastum (n. sg.) karīyatu. But possibly, as suggested by PTSD s.v. tāla-vatthu, a corruption for tāla-vastu (or tālavastu); the Pali word means destroyed utterly.

[? kāla-veśin, n. sg. °veśi, said of the Bodhisattva: LV 160.22 and 161.11 (prose), parallel and evidently equivalent to kālākālājña or kālājña, respectively. One ms. in 160.22 (H, generally a poor one) and three (H and B) in 161.11 read kāla-gaveśi, and this seems the only possible reading: seeking the right occasions. So Tib., dus la ita zhiñ, considering (having regard for, caring for) time(s).]

kālasūtra, m.; Pali kālasutta, m.; occurs in Skt. but there regularly nt.; n. of a hell: Dharmas 121 (a hot hell); Mvy 4921; etc.; Mv I.5.7 °treṇa sūtrītāṅga (? em.), here taken by Senart as an 'instrument' of torture, better 'an accessory', blackened cord (for marking bodies to be cut), see P. Mus, La Lumière des six voies 79, referring to F.W.K. Müller, Ethnologisches, Notizblatt I.3 (1896), p. 23 ff.; in Kv 35.10 text kāra°, cf. kārānusāri(n); common in BHS. Cf. sūtrayati.

kālākāle, loc. quasi-adv. (kāla plus akāla), in and out of season: Śīks 167.1: °le punar anenopekṣā karaṇīyati. [kālākṣaṇṇadharma LV 181.7, read vālākṣaṇa-dh°; see vālavedhin and akṣaṇavedhin.]

kālājñanikā (cf. Skt. Lex. °janī), n. of some plant: Mmk 317.28 (prose) °kā-kusumānām aṣṭaśaṣraṃ juhuyāt.

kālānukālam, adv. (= Pali id., Dh. comm. I.323.4; see s.v. 1 anu), from time to time: Kv 24.19 tadā kālān° mayā tasya ... sakṣāt guṇodbhāvanāvalokiteśv arasya ... śrutā; MSV II.100.16.

kālānusāri ('rin?), or °ra (once), also kārānu°, q.v. (= Pali id., or kāl°, some kind of sandal; in Skt. said to mean another fragrant substance, gum benzoin, but Skt. Lex. define relatives, viz. °sāraka, °sārya, as kinds of fragrant wood or specifically sandal), some kind of sandalwood: Mvy 6256 °ri-candanam, Tib. dus kyi rjes su hbrañ bañ tsañ dan (so also in rendering LV; a woodenly lit. version, ... which follows after time!; acc. to Das the Tib. phrase means yellow sandal, which however appears to be based on Das's interpretation of the Skt. equivalent); SP 406.8 (prose) °ri-candana-meghaḥ kṛta uragasāra-candana-varṣam abhivavrṣtam; LV 204.11 pūjākarmaṇe kālānusāri-megham abhinirmāyoragasāra-candana-cūrṇa-varṣam abhivavrṣayisyāmaḥ; 294.1 pūjākarmaṇe °sāry-aguru-megham abhinirmāya (etc.)... Kālāpa, var. for Kālāma, q.v.

kālāpadeśa, m. (see apadeśa), acc. to Tib. cited by Woghara 'black doctrine', nag-po bstan pa; but this can hardly be right; perhaps 'timely expression'; something which a Bodhisattva must know, along with maḥāpadeśa (of which the precise mg. is also unknown; Tib. renders literally): Bbh 108.10-11 °śa-mahāpadeśaṃ ca yathābhūtam prajāñāti; 257.2 °śaṃ ca mahāpadeśaṃ ca yathā° praj°; 108.25 °śa-mahāpadeśa-kuśalo bodhisattvaḥ.

Kālāma (= Pali id.), surname of Ārāḍa or Ar°, qq.v.; var. Kālāpa.

Kālāma-sūtra (to be read for Kāma-sūtra of text), n. of a work: Bbh 389.10 (the Tib. cited in note = Kālāma or °pa, see Mvy 3515). Perhaps means the equivalent of Pali AN III.165 (PTS ed. I.188 ff.), preached to the Kālāma tribe.

kāli, f. (ka plus āli), ka-series, name for a series of syllables beginning with ka (consonants plus a or ā), used as a magic formula in Sādh and defined there 478.13 ff. Cf. āli (2).

Kālīka (cf. 1 Kāla 3, Kālaka 4), n. of a nāga-king: Mvy 3258 (here seems to be distinguished from both Kāla and Kālaka); but in LV 281.10 ff.; 284.11; Divy 392.14 ff. he plays the same rôle attributed to the nāga-king 1 Kāla 3, q.v., before the Bodhisattva's enlightenment; see also Māy 247.22.

Kālīka-sūtra, n. of a work: Karmav 33.9 (passage cited corresp. to Pali AN IV.247.8 ff.).

Kālīkā, n. of a rākṣasī: Māy 241.13; Av II.66.4.

kālīkā-vāta, m. (cf. AMg. kāliā, hurricane; Skt. kālīkā, defined pw as a dark mass of clouds, Rām.), tempestuous gale, hurricane: °vātena rākṣasīdvīpe kṣiptaḥ SP 439.5; °vāta-bhayaṃ Divy 41.11, 13 (mahā-kāl°); 229.24; °vātāḥ ... pratīnīrvṛtaḥ Divy 42.10; vahanam °vātena sprīyate 12; °vātena tad vahanam ... paribhrāmyate Av II.62.1; °vāta-vitrāsītāni II.139.4.

Kālīṅga-pravarāṇa (nt.? cf. AMg. kallīṅga, a cloth made in the Kālīṅga country, Ratnach.), Kālīṅga-coverlet, doubtless = a coverlet made of a textile material characteristic of Kālīṅga: Sukh 67.7 (paryāṅkaḥ ...) °raṇa-pratyāstarāṇa-sottarapada-chada(h); Kālīṅga-prāvāra, an outer-garment of this material, which was soft and pleasant to touch, MSV I.36.20 °ga-prāvāra-mṛdu-saṃsparsāni.

Kālīyaka (= Skt. Kālīya; cf. also Kālīka), n. of a nāga king: Samādh p. 42 line 31.

(Kālī, prob. the name of the well-known Hindu goddess, used as (1) n. of a yoginī: Sādh 584.12; 589.15; (2) n. of a piśāci: Māy 238.20; (3) n. of a rākṣasī: Māy 243.13.)

kālūṣa, either = Skt. kālūṣya, turbidity, or perhaps error for kaluṣa, turbid: Gv 327.13 Irṣyā-mātsarya-māyā-sāthya-kālūṣasāyaḥ.

Kālodayin (= Pali Kāḷodayin; also called Udayin, and possibly Udayin, see the former (1); spelling Kālodayin also occurs, see below), a son of Śuddhodana's purohita, playfellow of the Bodhisattva in his youth, who was sent (with Chandaka) as a messenger from Śuddhodana to the Buddha after his enlightenment: Mv II.233.11 ff.; III.91.14; 93.9; sent by Buddha as messenger to Śuddhodana, Mv III.103.7 ff.; he was given the title first of those who conciliate the family (of the Buddha), kulaprasādakāṇām ... agro, which must be read in Mv III.104.7 (cf. Pali AN I.25.5 kulappasādakāṇām, sc. agro, as his standing epithet); also mentioned SP 207.3; Jm 116.2; spelled Kālodayin, Sukh 92.8; Karmav 78.16.

[kālpam LV 407.13, error or misprint for kālyam, early in the morning.]

kālyasya, see kal°.

Kāviśa, n. of a country (only loc. °śe), evidently in the north; in vss: Mmk 88.4 Kāśmīre Cīnadēśe ca Nepāle Kāviśe tathā; 325.10 Kāviśe Vakhale caiva Udiyāne samantataḥ (in next line, Kāśmīre); 333.4 (in same line Kāśmīre) Kāviśe ca janālaye.

kāveya, produced by poetic invention: AdP Konow MASI 69.17.23, see s.v. kavita. Cf. Pali kāveyya, poetic composition, a reprobated occupation among Buddhists. (From Skt. kavi.)

kāśī (see also kāśī-sūkṣma), in mg. 1 also kāśī (f.? in mg. 1 = kāśīka or °kā 1; in mg. 2 = Pali kāśī, Buddha-ghosa on Vin. I.281.18, 20, cited SBE 17.195 n. 3, where transl. departs from comm.; this interpretation is confirmed by our word, which can have no other mg. than some large number), (1) some valuable textile product of Benares, fine cotton cloth (?): Divy 388.17 (vs) tūlopaṃāḥ kāśī-samopamāś ca; Ślkṣ 208.3 (prose) kāśī-kaṣṭeya-dūḥāla; kāśī-, Divy 579.8 kāśī-maha, festival of kāśī-cloth; (2) a thousand (pieces of money): Mv III.375.18 (gaṇikā) sarvām kāśībhūmīm kṣamati, was worth (as a fee) the whole sum of a thousand; 376.1 uparddha- (mss., for upārdha-, q.v.) kāśīm kṣamati, was worth half a thousand. Cf. Kāśīka, Uparddha-kāśīka, as proper names (the women were so called because of these rates). The same mg. is given to Pali kāśī by comm. on Vin., above, and in Vin. I.281.24 occurs upaḍḍha-kāśinaṃ khamamāno, confirming this mg.; see s.v. kṣamati.

kāśīka, adj., and subst. m. or nt. (see s.v. kāśī; as adj. Skt. Gr.; in Pali recorded only as adj., chiefly with vattha, also uttama), adj. of Benares; once kāśīka-candanaṃ Mv I.286.5; otherwise only of a kind of cloth, or garments made of it, kāśīkair vastraiḥ Divy 391.26; °ka-vastra- Divy 29.4-5 ff.; Av I.107.1; 109.12; Kv 39.5; 72.5; 78.23; 86.17; Mv III.119.8; °ka-śuci-vastra- Mv III.412.12; °ka-pratyāstarapaṃ Mv I.306.9; °kāṃsu- (see aṃsu) Divy 316.27; °kottama-dhārīṇaḥ (mss. °vārīṇaḥ; see s.v. uttama 2) Mv I.296.4; as subst., a garment of this cloth, nt., lubdhakasya kāśīkāni dattvā Mv II.189.11; or m., kāśīkau (dual) gṛhṇitvā (gṛhṇitvā) Mv II.195.8 and 9; hitvā ... kautumba-kāśīkān (dvandva) Divy 559.10 (fol. by dhārayan pāṃsukūlāni; vs); the cpd. kāśīka-sūkṣma occurs as adj., °māṇī prāvṛtāni Mv II.159.11, °māṇī vastrāṇi Mv III.264.6, but also as subst. nt., Mvy 9176 °mam (Tib. fine cloth of Kāśī), and Mv II.116.7 (vivīdhāni vastrāṇi ... sayyathidam) kāśīkasūkṣmāṇi kambalasūkṣmāṇi; cf. also kāśī-sūkṣma, s.v.; as subst. f. kāśīka, see next. The word is variously interpreted, sometimes (e.g. Divy Index) as silk, but the preponderance of opinion favors a fine cotton or muslin.

kāśīkā (see prec.), (1) a piece or garment of Benares cloth: Divy 576.29-30 putra vātāyanena kāśīkāṃ niṣkāsayeti. tena vātāyanena kāśīkā niṣkāsitā; 579.7 kāśīkā dattā; (2) n. of a courtesan in Benares: Mv III.375.16 ff.; the story told here (see 375.18) is that she got her name not from the city, but because she was worth a fee of a thousand (see kāśī 2, bhūmi 2, and kṣamati); her sister was called Uparddhakāśīkā, q.v.

Kāśī-kośala, and °laka, n. of a (single) people, or part of a people (the Kośalas): Mv I.350.5 and 12 °lena rājñā; 7 °lakā manuṣyā(h); 10 °la-rājño. Contrasted with the Kośalas of Śāketa, Śāketa api Kośalā(h) I.350.19. On the relation between the Kośalas and Kāśī see DPPN s.v. Kāśī.

Kāśivardhana, n. of a city: Mv I.184.19 °ne. Senart, Introduction xxxix, assumes that Benares is meant.

Kāśīsundara, n. of a prince (the Bodhisattva): Av II.27.14 ff.

Kāśīsundarī, n. of a princess of Benares: Av II.31.13 ff.

kāśī-sūkṣma, nt., = kāśīka-sūkṣma, nt. (see s.v. kāśīka): Bhik 22b.4 kṣaṇvarṇā (q.v.) vā kāśīsūkṣmaṃ vā.

kāśī = kāśī (1), q.v.

Kāśmīra-pura, the city (capital) of Kashmir: °pure Divy 399.11. Cf. next.

Kāśmīra, the capital city of Kashmir: Karmav 32.12 °rāyāṃ mahānagaryāṃ; 61.12; 62.1; 72.3. Cf. prec. Lévi translates the last three as if they referred to the country.

Kāśyapa (= Pali Kassapa; Tib. ḥod sruṅs, light-guard, e.g. on Mvy 93), (1) n. of a former Buddha, the one immediately preceding Śākyamuni: often mentioned as having predicted the latter, and esp. as one of a group of three, the others being Krakucchanda and Kanakamuni, or equivalents; see the former for list of such references; also °alone (it being not always certain that this particular Buddha is meant, cf. Mv I.58.8, ref. to 90,000 Buddhas of this name), Mv I.307.4 ff.; 312.2; 318.7 ff.; iii.249.8; Divy 22.4 ff.; 54.12, 25; 76.26 ff.; 192.25 ff.; 233.21 ff.; 336.21; 337.17; 344.4 ff.; 347.1 ff.; 465.25 ff.; 504.26; Av 1.237.11; 247.15, et alibi; Karmav 159.7; LV 172.9; 260.10; Mmk 104.17 ff.; (2) n. of one of Buddha's leading disciples, also called Mahā-k° (= Pali Kassapa or Mahā-k°), q.v.; there is no doubt that the same person is, as a rule at least, meant by the two forms, notably Kā° in Mvy 1031; Mv iii.48.2; SP 116.4; 121.3 ff.; 144.2 ff.; 206.8 ff.; Divy 83.10 ff.; 396.1; K. is given the title dhutagunāgraparāga Mv 1.64.14 (ff.), where he is involved as an interlocutor at the First Council, perhaps its presiding officer (as in Pali, DPPN); he then and there causes Kātyāyana to discourse on the 10 bhūmi; similarly Divy 61.28 calls him dhutaguna-vādinām agro, and cf. Pali AN i.23.19 where Mahākassapa is dhutavādānam (v.l. dhutaṅghadharānam) agga; mentioned in Candrapama Sūtra, Hoernle MR 40 ff., = Pali SN ii.197 ff. where (Mahā) Kassapa corresponds; among mahāśrāvakas, Divy 182.22; 268.6; in Divy 573.8 it appears, strangely, that ārya-kāśyapasya is an epithet of (the next word) Kātyāyanasya (pañcaśataparivārasya; in the story which follows only Mahākātyāyana appears!); it is not clear whether the same person is meant by āyusmān dasabalaḥ Kāśyapaḥ Divy 275.5, and 7 dasabala-Kāś°; *no monk of this title is recorded in Pali; in Vv. comm. 148.24 Kassapassa dasaballaśa kāle refers to the Buddha Kāś°, the I find no evidence to support PTSD and DPPN in stating that dasabala was 'especially' an epithet of his, 'to distinguish him from other Kassapas' as DPPN says; dasabala (BHS daśa°) of course usually refers to a Buddha, and in Pali generally to the B. Gotama; there are at least four other disciples of his having this name, see Uruvilvā-k°, Kumāra-k°, Gayā-k°, Nadi-k°; (3) n. of an ascetic (rṣi) who once lived in the Himālaya: Mv ii.106.16, a previous birth of Mahākāśyapa, q.v., 114.12; (4) n. of another (?) ascetic (rṣi) who lived in the hermitage sāhamjanī (q.v.; this is not mentioned in connection with the prec. Kā°, and the stories told of them are different): Mv iii.143.13 ff. (in story of Ekaśṛṅga and Nalinī; = Pali Kassapa 9 in DPPN); prob. the same (at least also living in Sāhamjanī) Mv iii.362.14; 363.19. See also Pūraṇa Kāśyapa; Jāṅghā-k°; Vṛddha-k°. — *Correction in proof: MPS 49.16 names four mahāsthavirāḥ in the world (prthivyām) at the time of Buddha's death; two of them were Daśabala-Kāśyapa (one word) and Mahā-Kāśyapa. This settles the above question; D.K. is a separate person.

Kāśyapa-parivarta, n. of a work (our KP); see Stael-Holstein, Intr., XIV note 4; generally called Ratnakūṭa or Mahā-r°, in itself, and in Śikṣ. (The text, even in its prose parts, contains an exceptional number of MIndic forms.)

Kāśyapa Pūraṇa, see Pūraṇa Kāśyapa.

Kāśyapiya, m. pl., (1) followers or disciples of the Buddha Kāśyapa: Divy 336.2 (here text Kaś°); 337.5; 338.5; MSV i.57.8; (2) n. of a (Buddhist) sect: Mvy 9079 (v.l. Kaś°).

kāśāya (= Skt. kaśāya; cf. Skt. kāsāya, Pali kāsāya, which = Skt. kaśāya in other mgs.), (1) nt., decoction: Mv iii.70.11 ... kaṭukāgrāṇi kāsāyaṇi; (2) impurity, in sakāśāyasya ca kāsāya-dhāraṇam KP 117.1-2 (prose), the wearing of the yellow (robe); Skt. kāsāya and Pali kāsāya are used in this sense on the part of one characterized by impurity; Tib. of impure thoughts, which also translates sakāśāyacittasya (kāsāya-dhāraṇam) 117.5 (vs), where note short a in -kaśāya, m.c.; read also kaśāya-dhāraṇam, m.c.

Kāśāya-grahaṇa, nt., n. of a caitya on the spot of the Bodhisattva's first assumption of monk's garb: LV 226.12.

Kāśāyadhvajā, n. of a lokadhātu: Gv 81.7.

kāṣṭha-puṣpa, nt. (pl.), some kind of flowers; perhaps flowers of woody plants or trees: Kv 8.4-6 tatra vividhāni °pāny utpadyante, tad yathā: campakāśoka-karavīra-pāṭalānirmuktaka-sumanā-gandhavārṣikāṇi, etāni manoramāṇi kāṣṭhapuṣpāṇi ...; Kv 79.2 vividhāni kāṣṭhapuṣpāṇi (text °puṇyāṇi), campaka-karavīra- etc. (similar list).

kāṣṭha-bhāraka, m. (= Skt. °ra plus -ka svārthe), load of wood: MSV ii.32.13, 15 (prose).

kāṣṭha-hāraka, m. (= Pali kaṭṭha-hā°; see hāraka), wood-gatherer: Mvy 3776; Divy 500.3 ff.; Av ii.101.5; Śikṣ 9.5-6.

kāṣṭhikavitta, m. (var. °kācinta; Mironov id., vv.ii. kaṣṭhikavitta, kāṣṭhikacitta), Mvy 3815, acc. to Chin. messenger; follows kathyāyitta, q.v.; Tib. rañ rta, which is not in Tib. Dict. (rañ = self, rta = horse).

kāsana, and °naka, adj. (cf. AMG. kāsana, nt., act of coughing), afflicted with coughing: Mv iii.3.15 (vs) kāsano mūrchito cāham; ii.428.1 (prose) aham jīrṇo vṛddho kāsanaśo ca.

kāsi, etc., aor. of kṛ, q.v. in Chap. 43.

-kāsi, see s.v. gomaya-kārṣi.

kāhala, adj. (in this mg. only Pkt. acc. to Hem. i.214, 254), downcast, fainthearted (= kāṭara, Hem.): mā °lo bhava MSV ii.20.11; so Tib., ml dgyes par ma mdzad cig.

kāhiti, etc., fut. of kṛ, q.v. in Chap. 43.

[kimkara, (prob. corruption) for kaṃkara, q.v.: Gv 133.1.]

Kimkara, n. of a yakṣa: Māy 90.

kimkaraṇi, prob. error or misprint for next, q.v.: Gv 463.25 (prose) kimkaraṇi-pradakṣiṇa-grāha-tayā (see pradakṣiṇagrāha-tā°).

kimkaraṇīya, also °ya-ka (m. or nt.), and °ya-tā (all = Pali kimkaraṇīya; cf. Skt. kimkartavyatā), job to be done: Mv i.211.3 (prose) kimkaraṇīyaka-pratisaṃyuktehi (not 'abstract-forming suffix ka' with Senart; same mg. as °ṇīya); Śikṣ 21.23 ayam eva mayā kāyaḥ sarvasattvānām kimkaraṇīyeṣu kṣapayitavyaḥ; 143.9 sarvasattva-kimkaraṇīya-prāpaṇatayā; °yeṣu MSV i.50.2; °ṇīya-tā, Mvy 6448 (sarvasattvānām); Śikṣ 230.2 (sarvasattvānām ...) °tāyaḥ utsuko bhavati. Cf. also prec.

kimkīṇīka (Skt. °ṇīka, m., and °ṇīkā; Pali °ṇīka, m., nt., see also next), bell: Mv iii.227.15, 16; (with v.l. °ṇīkā) 229.1.

kimkīṇīyā (so Senart, m.c.; mss. °ya-), = prec. (or Skt. kimkīṇī), bell: Mv i.235.4 (vs) tapanīya-kimkīṇīyā-rucirā.

kimcana (= Pali id.), prob. attachment, defilement (see Childers and PTSD): RP 35.12 kleśābhībūtāḥ sa-khilāḥ sa-kimcanāḥ (Bhvr.). Undoubtedly sa-ki° and the noun kimcana (in Pali) were abstracted from a-kimcana, adj., orig. having nothing, then disinterested, unattached, without attachment or defilement, whence finally (sa-)kimcana, as above. In late Skt. (Schmidt, Nachtr.) sa-kimcana occurs, glossed sa-dhana. In RP it could possibly mean property, interested in wealth, but Pali usage is prob. to be followed.

Kimcanaka, n. of a nāga-king: Mvy 3259; Māy 247.23.

Kimcanin, n. of a nāga-king: Māy 247.23, °ni, n. sg.

kimcītka (= Pali kiñcikkha) to which it may be a hyper-Skt. back formation; kimcīt plus ka), a tiny bit, noted only in āmiṣa-k°: āmiṣakimcītkahetoh (= Pali āmiṣakiñcikkahetoh), for the sake of a trifle of worldly things, Mvy 2475; Bbh 166.4; āmiṣakimcītkābhilāṣi (n. sg. to °ṣin) AsP 246.21.

Kimcīt-prāṇa, adj. (recorded by Monier Williams as Skt., without reference, but not found otherwise), barely alive: LV 227.17 (prose) dharaṇītale vinipatitāḥ kimcītpṛāṇāḥ; 253.6 (vs) ko me dady' (= dadyā, dadyāt) ekaputrasya kimcitrāṇasya jīvitam, who would give life to my only son that is almost dead?

Kiṭāgiri (= Pali id.), n. of town (region?) among the Kāśī, home of Aśvaka and Punarvasu: MSV iii.17.7, 8 etc.

Kiṭāgiriya, adj., belonging to the prec.: MSV iii.15.21; 17.14.

kiṭāla-piṇḍa(ka), m., lump of iron-rust (? cf. Skt. kiṭṭa and Lex. kiṭṭāla), supposed to have medicinal value: MSV ii.28.14 ff.; used in a poultice, 29.10; Tib. phrum tshud, which I cannot interpret. See koṭaka.

Kiṭi, n. of an attendant on the four direction-rulers: Mahāsamāj. 173.9 (Waldschmidt, Kl. Skt. Texte 4).

? kiṭika, m. or nt.: Divy 374.7 (prose) pañcaśrīśatāni kiṭikalāḥ saṃveṣṭya dagdhāni. (Burnouf, Intr. 365 note 1, conjectures kāṣṭ[h]akalāḥ, implausibly.) Perhaps same word as Pali kiṭāka, in Pv. i.9.2 and 4, something (acc. to comm. [hot] copper plates) into which the clothing of the petas is changed; thus it fits the Divy passage. There is also a Pali kiṭika, Vin. ii.152.26 and 153.5, perhaps also some sort of covering, but very obscure; comm. repeats it without glossing.

[kiṭibhaka, m., corruption for Kirīṭaka, q.v.]

? kiṭaka, see koṭaka, iron-rust.

kiṇikīṇāyamānā, fem. pres. mid. pple., onomat. ? (cf. Pali kiṇi; Pkt. kiṇikīṇinta), applied to sandals: MSV iv.206.11.

kiṇikṛta, ppp. (Skt. kiṇa plus kṛ-), made callous, hardened, in fig. sense, of mentality (as in Eng. hard or callous): SP 319.8 (prose), for KN kiṇikṛta-saṃjñā(h), read with WT and their K' kiṇi, their fancy made callous; Lañk 253.7, read kiṇikṛta-rūkṣa-cetasām (rākṣasānām iva), having minds calloused and harsh: one ms. kiṇi, another kiṇi; text kiṇikanikṛta-rūkṣa. Suzuki implausibly em. (a-)kiṇikarīkṛta.

kiṇṭikara, adj. (Pali id.), doing what? Mv iii.212.12, acc. to Senart's em. following Pali Jāt. iv.339.25; v.148.14; the mss. are hopelessly corrupt.

Kimnara, n. of a yakṣa: Māy 40.

kiṇṇara-lipi, a kind of script: LV 126.3.

(śrī-) Kimnari-jātaka, nt., n. of a jāataka-tale: (colophon) Mv ii.115.5.

kimarthyā, adj. (= Pali kimatthiya; Skt. *kimarthyā, from kimartha), having what as its purpose?: Mv iii.373.22 (vs), read with mss. kimarthyāṃ āgamanam abhūṣi.

kimi (m.; § 2.6; = Pali id., glow-worm, as well as worm in general; in this specialized sense Skt. kṛmi, krimi is not recorded), glow-worm: Mv i.73.20 (vs) udgate dinakare yathā kimi nīsprabho bhavati.

kimpaka (also mahā-ki), m. pl., a class of malevolent superhuman beings: Mmk 17.6.

kimpala (once kimpala), m. (or nt.), a kind of musical instrument; pw suggests loan from Gk. κύμβαλον: LV 163.6 (here ed. kipala, without v.l.; Calc. lacks the word; doubtless misprint, or error); 206.14; 212.4 (all prose, in cpd. lists of instruments of music); Mv ii.322.14 (vs) nakulaka-kimphalāṃ ca (with false etym. adaptation to phala?).

kimpila (m. or nt.?), acc. to Tib. owl, in kimpilākṣaḥ Mvy 8910 = Tib. hug mig po, owl-eyed.

[kimpuruṣa, Mv i.23.2, or śaka, i.20.6; Senart reads *śakānām (all mss. dental n) in 20.6, *śāpām (but mss. again end in -kānām) in 23.2, assuming mg. monkey; but only by violent em. of mss., which, combining the two passages, point rather to something like tampuruṣa or tamb; in any case, monkey is implausible in mg., since reference seems to be made to animals living in holes; see s.v. gutti. I cannot solve this word.]

kimpṛatyaya, adj. Bhvr. (Childers records adv.

kimpaccayā in Pali), having what as cause?: LV 346.6 (so also 8, etc.) kimpṛatyayam (Lefm. prints as two words) ca punar jarāmaraṇam, and what further is the cause of old age and death?

kimprāptin, adj. (Skt. kim plus prāpta plus -in; = Pali kimpattin, Sn 513, 518, etc.), having obtained what?: Mv iii.395.6 (here text kimprāptam, to be em.); 396.10; 397.12 (kimprāptinam āhu vedako ti, the others similarly), in vss corresp. to Sn (in the Sabhiya Sutta; see Sabbhika).

kimbhūta, adj., lit. become what? = destroyed, obliterated: Mv iii.347.2, read with mss. apāyā tatra kimbhūta (v.l. ki-bh) svayambhū tava tejaśā, evils there are obliterated, Self-existent, by thy glory. (In this sense not recorded; misunderstood and emended by Senart.)

kiyat in comp., in interrogative-exclamatory function (in Skt. only with pejorative connotation, = very little), with complimentary, or at least (when prefixed to a word in itself uncomplimentary) augmentative force, = exceedingly, in high degree: LV 158.2 (vs) kiyaḍ-vibhūṣito bālāḥ pāpācārī na śobhate, (even) highly adorned, a foolish evil-doer does not shine; foll. by api, Śiṅṣ 130.1 kiyaṭpraṇītam api bhojanam, even very fine (? however fine) food; 130.11 kiyaḍ-lāhenāpi bhojanena, even with very poor food; 151.5 kiyaḍ-dhīnānam api sattvānam, even of extremely low creatures. Foucaux takes the LV passage as having indefinite kiyaṭ-; even when the cpd. beginning with kiyaṭ- is followed by api, as in the Śiṅṣ passages, it can hardly be taken as the indefinitizing api. PTSD interprets Pali kiyaṭ as indefinite in Sn 959, but this is an error; it is interrogative (-exclamatory). Cf. next.

kiyattama, adj. (superl. of kiyaṭ), very few: 'mair divasaṭ āgata eva MSV ii.23.20.

kiraṇa, m., a kind of evil spirit (associated with kākḥorda, vetāla or °ḍa): Mvy 4374; Māy 220.18. Tib. on Mvy gyeṅs byed, which acc. to Das = Skt. kiṭi, 'fig. a pig'. For Skt. kiṭi, wild hog, Lexx. give also kira, kirī. But our word certainly means a demon (possibly supposed to resemble a swine?).

kirāta-lipi, a kind of script: LV 125.21. Tib. transliterates ki-ra-ṭa, with domal ṭ; Pali has Kirāṭa beside °ta for Skt. °ta. No ms. of LV is reported with °ṭa, but some have °ri, instead. See kuta-lipi.

Kirīṭaka, n. of a nāga: MSV i.145.5 = 153.1. The Divy (450.17; 456.6) version of this story has corruptly kiṭibhakaś ca; the rest of the line is also corrupt; read as in MSV.

Kirīṭavatsa (Pali Tirīṭavacca or Tirīṭi°), n. of the father of Unmādayanti: Jm 83.12.

kirttiya (semi-Sktized from MIndic kittiyā = Skt. kṛttikā; see kirtika), n. of a nakṣatra: Thomas ap. Hoernle MR 122.7.

[? kilañjaka, mat (note Skt. kilañja, BR 5.1297, beside kilīñja), read by Senart Mv ii.38.3; 470.8; but see s.v. kalandaka.]

kilamati (MIndic for Skt. klam-), ppp. kilānta, kilanta, etc., is wearied, see § 3.109 and Chap. 43, s.v. klam. Cf. klāmāti.

kilāsa, m., Mvy 6650 = Tib. sñoms las, indolence (Jā. and Das; but sñoms (pa), weariness). This noun is probably a back-formation from the adj. kilāsin.

kilāsita, indolence (see next): SP 128.12; 129.4; 284.3 (cited Śiṅṣ 353.5).

kilāsin, weary, indolent, faint-hearted. Certainly = Pali kilāsu, which Geiger 39.1 derives with Trenckner from Skt. glāṣnu; perhaps rightly; change of g to k may be due to confusion with forms of klam- (Pali kilam-), or even with Skt. kilāsin, leprous; in this sense in Mv ii.383.16-17 na jātu gilāno (note this form of glā) bhava pāṇḍurāgo, na cāpi kuṣṭhi nāpi ca kilāsi (clearly leprous). Defined āla-syopeta, vīryarāhita, in Abhisamayālamkāraśāloka (GOS 62) 320.15: °si, n. sg. m., Śikṣ 49.16; AsP 243.10. See also kilāsitā, aklāsin, °sitā; and kilāsa.

kilikila, nt., and °lā, f. (cf. Skt. kilakilā, and kilakilāyate, °layati, also Pall kilikilāyati), a loud noise (onomatopoeic): nt. Mv ii.410.7 °lā- (acc. to text in comp.; but read °lā with mss.; perh. fem.), of noises made by the army of Māra, in attacking the Bodhisattva; °lāni Mv iii.312.13, of applause; fem. Mvy 2800; Divy 459.16, of astonishment; Samādh 19.8 of joy, applause; AsP 203.12 (read kilikilā with most mss. for text kilā°), of joy, applause. Usually associated or cpd. with hāhākāra and prakṣve-dita. See next.

kilikilate, makes a loud noise (of Māra's army): pres. pple. °lamānā(h), n. pl., seems the probable reading at Mv ii.339.6 (vs), as suggested by mss. (which have hyper-Skt. krīḍ- for kil-) and meter; Senart reads kilikilāyamanā, which gives the meaning required (see s.v. kilikila), but is hypermetric by one short syllable.

kileśa, see kleśa.

kilviṣa (nt.; in Skt., and Pall kibbisa, apparently only of moral evils), (physical) filth (cf. bibhatsa, given by Ratnach. as one rendering of AMg. kibbisa): LV 208.15 (vs) vasti-pūya-vasā-samastaka-rasaliḥ pūrṇam tathā kilvi-ṣaliḥ, nityaprasravitaḥ ... (said of the body).

kiśala, m. or nt. (= Skt. kiśalaya, kiś°; Skt. Lex. kiśala, so also Pkt., Hem. 1.269), leaf-bud, young sprout (of a tree): LV 166.21 (vs) suvidita sugaṇita yatha tahl (sc. tarau) kiśalā (n. pl.).

kiśara, (1) adj. and subst. (= Pall kasira, Skt. kṛcchra), difficulty, only in akisara-lābhin and alpa-kiśareṇa, qq.v. The use of the former, beside akṛcchra-1°, proves that the two forms were not felt as identical. In Pall also (Geiger 59.2) kiśchena kasireṇa are used together, and evidently taken as 'different words'. Pkt. only kiścha; our kiśara (perhaps influenced by Pall-Pkt. kiśa = kṛśa) has no recorded parallel in MIndic; (2) m. or nt., 'eine Art wohlriechender Stoff': Kalpanāmaṇḍitikā, Lüders, Kl. Skt. Texte 2.43.

kiṣa (m. or nt.; = Skt. Lex. id., BR 5.1298), excrement: Śikṣ 81.5 (vs) kiṣakumbho (chamber-pot) yathā ... pūrṇo mūtrapuriṣeṇa. So with Tib.; Bendall and Rouse very implausibly pot of worms.

kirtana (nt.?), some kind of building; Speyer, temple; pw 7, App., Denkmal, Monument: Jm 219.14 śrīmanti kirtanaśatāni niveśitāni, satṭhājirāśramapadāni sabhāḥ prapāṣ ca.

Kirtaniya (mss. Kirti°), n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.197.14.

Kīrti, m., (1) n. of a maharṣi: Māy 256.24; (2) n. of one of the oxen of Trapaṣa and Bhalika: LV 381.7, 17.

kīrtika (m. or nt.; hyper-Skt. for AMg. kittiā = Skt. kṛttikā; Pall only kattikā, °ka), n. of a nakṣatra (Skt. kṛttikā): Mv iii.303.7 eko sujāṭeṇa nakṣatre jātako, aparo kīrtike. Cf. kīrttiya, karthika.

Kīrtimant, n. of a disciple of the Buddha: Mv i.182.18.

kilayate, °ti (denom. to kila; Skt. has ppp. kilāta only), fastens, binds, fixes: Mmk 476.1 (vs) punaḥ kilayate mudrāṃ bandhanorundhanādibhiḥ kriyaliḥ; Sādh 171.4 (kaṭakena) tu tasyā mukhaṃ kilayet, prativādimukhaṃ kilītaṃ bhavati.

kumsana, m. or nt. (also written kunsana; by 'Morengesetz', § 3.4, for °kussana = Skt. kutsana; so Tib., smod pa; Pall and Pkt. record only kuccha- for Skt. kuts-, but cf. e. g. Pall ussava = utsava), blame, abuse:

KP 8.6 (prose) ākrośa-paribhāṣaṇa-kumsana-pamsana- (etc.); 8.16 (vs) ākrośanā-kunsana-pamsanāsu; 23.6 (prose) pareṣaṃ jñānākunsanātā (jñāna-ak°) nīradhimānatayā. Cf. kucchatī.

kukuṭa-sampāta-mātra (read kukkuṭa°?), adj. (cf. Pall kukkuṭa-sampāta, °pātika, °pāda, Vin. iv.63.28, see comm. 806.2 ff.; DN iii.75.9, comm. iii.855.27; AN i.159.30, comm. ii.256 infra; wrong interpretation Morris JPTS 1885, 38, adopted PTSD s.v. kukkuṭa), lit. cock's-alighting (or flight)-measured, i. e. so close together that a cock could fly from one to another: Divy 316.11 (saumyā janapadā) babhūvuḥ °mātrās ca grāma-nigama-rāṣṭra-rājadhānyo babhūvuḥ (in a kind of golden age in the past; the population was so large that inhabited places were close together).

Kukustā (Pali Kukuṭṭhā, Ka°, Kakutthā), n. of a river: MPS 27.12 (Tib. Ka-kus-sta; Chin. both Ka- and Ku-).

kukūla, nt. (in Skt. chaff; a fire made of chaff), n. of a hell (acc. to Tib. heading, a cold hell): Mvy 4937; v.l. kukkula, q.v.; Tib. me ma mur, apparently coals in a pit or the like.

kukkuṭa-pakṣaka, nt., a knife shaped like a cock's wing: Mvy 8977; so Tib., except that there is some question of the specific bird meant by bya gag = kukkuṭa (acc. to Jā. a kind of duck); in Mvy 4904 kukkuṭa is rendered khyim bya.

Kukkuṭāgāra (m. or nt.) = Kurkuṭārāma, q.v.: Av ii.203.1 °raṃ, acc. sg.

Kukkuṭārāma (m.) = Kurku°, q.v.: Svay 19.8.

kukkura-vratika, adj. (= Pall °vatika), applied to certain non-Buddhist ascetics who took a vow to live like dogs (cf. Pall MN i.387.18 chamā-nikkhittam bhujjati, and comm. iii.100.25; DN comm. iii.819.17 sunakho viya ghāyitvā khādati, uddhana-vāre nipajjati, aññam pi sunakhakiriyam eva karoti): Karmav 44.19 govratika- (q.v.)-kukkura-vratika-prabhṛtinām; Śikṣ 332.3 kukkura-govratika; cf. Kukkuri(n), n. of an author: Sādh 468.13 (°ri-pādānām, in colophon).

kukkula (nt. or m.; = kukūla, q.v.; = Pall kukkuja), n. of a hell: Mv i.6.16; i.11.1, 5 = iii.455.13, 17; iii.185.16; 369.4. In Pall the word is recorded as meaning also hot ashes, embers.

kukṣi (and kukṣimatī; in Skt. only m., except acc. to one Lex. f., and mg. only belly or womb; so also Pall, Pkt. kucchi), as fem., LV 75.6 (vs) kukṣiye (loc. sg.) pratīṣṭhitam; (like garbha) with mg. embryo (and hence kukṣimatī, pregnant): Mv ii.432.11 devīye kukṣiḥ pratilabdhā (the queen conceived); evaṃ dāni pañca devīśatāni kukṣimantāni (so Senart; mss. °matinī, °matinām; read °matinī?) samvṛttāni; Divy 264.10 kukṣimatya eṣā nūnam asyāḥ prasavakāla iti.

ku-gaṇin, m., bad teacher (Inaccurately BR): °pi-pratāpakah LV 4.3 (vs); °pi-pramathi RP 51.11 (vs); °pi-gaṇa- LV 273.2 (prose); Mv i.117.11 (vs; so all mss., Senart °gaṇi°). See gaṇin.

ku-celaka, adj. (= Skt. ku-cela), having bad clothes: SP 113.12 (vs) °kā, n. pl. m. (so read with most mss., ed. ku-cal° with 1 ms.).

kucchatī (MIndic, § 2.18, for kutsati, or more regularly kutsayati; cf. Pall ppp. kucchita; AMg. kucchal), contemns: Mv i.106.9 kucchanti. Cf. kumsana.

Kuñjaragati, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.137.1. kuṭukuṇḍaka, kuṭa°, var. kuṭku°, adj., f. *ikā (cf. Pali kaṭukaṇḍuka-tā, kaṭa°, kaṭakuṇḍa°), nitgardiḥ: Mvy 2491 (var. kurukuci; acc. to Tib. hypocrite, ṇan gyo ḥam tshul ḥchos pa, but this seems clearly an error); Divy 8.3 (with matsarin); Śikṣ 149.13 (so read, see p. 279, n. 3); in a cliché with matsarin and āgrhītapariṣkāra, see āgrhīta, Divy 302.3; Av 1.257.4; 289.9; 1.158.3; fem. *ikā, same cliché, Av 1.248.2; 262.3; MSV 11.20.17 (kuṭa°); Bbh 124.16 (kuṭa°).

kuṭṭana (m. or nt.), in ayo-kuṭṭanehi kuṭṭiyantā Mv 1.6.5 (prose), being pounded with iron hammers. Cf. Pali ayo-kūṭa, and Skt. kūṭa, iron hammer (once, Mbh.); the word kuṭṭana is found in Skt. as noun of action, pounding (cf. kuṭṭ-ayati); our form looks like an etymological blending, with influence of the 'Morengesetz' (§ 3.4a).

kuṭṭ(ayati), as in Skt. pounds, crushes: Mv 1.6.5 kuṭṭiyantā, pres. pple. pass., being pounded; also reviles (Dhātup.), see prec., anukuṭṭaka, parikuṭṭaka, and kuṭṭi.

kuṭṭā and kuṭṭāvitā, two large numbers or ways of calculation (gaṇanā), Mvy 7983 and 7984 (cited from LV), for Lefmann's kuruṭu and kuruṭāvi, qq.v.; Tib. gcod rtogs (Das = kuṭṭa-cinta) and gcod rtogs ldan, which should render °vatī, as suggested in note to Mvy 7984 (for °vitā).

kuṭṭitika, see ikṣu-kuṭṭitikam.

kuṭṭi, reviling? (see s.v. kuṭṭ-ayati): SP 274.2 (vs) bahukṭi bahūvidhā, with Nep. mss.; but Kashgar rec. upakrośa for bahuk° (confirmed La Vallée-Poussin, JRAS 1911, 1076); WT read bandha- (citing Tib. as bcñ, binding) -kuṭṭi, imprisonment and reviling.

kuṭmalibhūta, adj., budded (of flowers): LV 76.11 (prose). Skt. kuṭmala occurs beside the more usual kuṭmala.

kuṭhāri (= Pali and Skt. Lex. id.; in Skt. lit. only °ra, m., whereas Pali records only the f.), axe, hatchet: Mv 1.16.14 vāsīhi paraśūhi kuṭhārihi; 11.35.13 (vs) kuṭhāri-hastā (short i m.c.); Ud viii.2 kuṭhāri (v.l. °ri; metr. indifferent) jāyate mukhe (same vs, with kuṭhāri, in Pali, Sn 657 et al.).

kuḍḍa (Pali id., = Skt. kuḍya), wall: Mv 1.25.14 ff. kuḍmalaka-(jātam), (= Skt. kuḍmala), bud: Mvy 6229.

kuḍya-mūla (nt.; = Pali kuḍḍa-mūla, Vin. 11.15.38, wrongly defined PTSD), base of a wall: AsP 498.(2)-3, cited Śikṣ 38.(15)-16 dakṣiṇam coru (Śikṣ coruṃ) viddhvā nirmāmsaṃ (Śikṣ adds ca) kṛtvāsthi bhettuṃ kuḍyam upasaṃkrāmatī (sma, Śikṣ om.); kuḍyamūlaṃ nīśritya paribhuktam Divy 82.25.

kuḍyā (or kuḍya, m.? in Skt. nt., except f. Gr. and once BhāṅP., see BR; acc. to Sheth m. or nt. in Pkt.), wall: SP 83.5 (vs) kuḍyās (WT em. °yā) ca bhittīś ca (influence of the gender of bhittī?); n. pl.

kuṇapa, nt. (cited pw 7, App., as m. in Mvy; but Mironov as well as Kyōtō ed. nt.), n. of a hell, acc. to Mv 1.7.3 a narakotsada (see utsada 2) or supplementary hell, acc. to Tib. on Mvy a cold hell: Mvy 4938; Mv 1.7.1, 3; 11.5, 9 = 11.455.17, 21.

kuṇāla, or kunāla; see also koṇāla; m., (1) (= Pali kuṇāla; not in Pkt. or Skt. in this sense), a kind of bird, in Pali apparently the Indian cuckoo, Skt. kokila: kuṇ° Mvy 4880; LV 40.5; 286.13; 301.14; Av 11.201.2, 4; RP 26.15; Śikṣ 329.6; Gv 100.26; 194.12; kun° LV 162.19-20 (most mss. kun°) and in a passage found only in ms. H but confirmed by Tib. (ku na la; ms. H kunāra), see Crit. App. on LV 11.3; RP 41.9; Divy 406.6 ff.; (2) (in this sense not recorded in Pali or Skt., but AMg. Kuṇāla), n. of a son of King Aśoka, so named because his eyes were like those of the bird acc. to Av 11.201.4 ff. (Kun°) and Divy 406.14 ff.; other occurrences Divy 403.8 ff.; 405.14 (in Divy always Kun°); Kunālāvadāna, colophon to Divy chap. 27, Divy 419.13.

kuṇṭha, adj. (in Skt. only blunt, dull; in Pali also (a) mutilated (person), Jāt. 11.117.18, also koṇṭha in same context; cf. Skt. Dhātup. kuṇṭ-, vikālīkarane; and cf. the following items), probably mutilated, maimed (or possibly deformed): AsP 426.18 (prose) na kāṇo bhavati na kuṇṭho bhavati na kubjo...

kuṇṭhaka, adj., = prec., q.v.; see also kuṇḍa(ka): SP 94.13 (vs), for KN kāṇaku kaṇḍakās ca, read with WT (and their ms. K') kā° kuṇṭhakās ca, or perhaps kāṇa ku-kuṇṭhakās ca (see s.v. kāṇaka); SP 113.11 (vs) ye kāṇaka kuṇṭhakās ca.

Kuṇṭhā (to kuṇṭha, q.v.), n. of a rākṣasī: Māy 240.6.

kuṇḍa, adj., (1) in the sense of Skt. (and Pali) kuṇṭha, dull, blunt: LV 252.2 (prose) kuṇḍayā śaktyā śiraḥka-pālam upahanyād; Tib. rtul pos, dull, blunt; despite this, and on no apparent ground, Foucaux translates both the Skt. and even the Tib. (1) by aiguë!; no v.l. reported by Lefm.; (2) in Mvy 7363 and 8875 acc. to Tib. lag rdum, maimed in the hand; so also Chin. and Jap.; same mg. perh. in Pali, Pv. comm. 181.9 catūhi aṅgehi kuṇḍa (bent, PTSD); pw 7.332 krüppelicht, lahmt; cf. Dhātup. kuṇḍ-, vaikalye, and the use of kuṇṭha (Skt. blunt, a mg. which BHS kuṇḍa has) in BHS and Pali in the additional sense of mutilated, maimed. See also next.

kuṇḍaka, adj., presumably = kuṇḍa 2, maimed (in the hand?): SP 95.5 (vs) te kuṇḍakā (Kashgar rec. kuḍḍakā) laṇḍaka (q.v.) bhonti tatra; WT keep kuṇḍakā, altho their ms. K' reads kuṇṭhakā (see s.v.), because Kumārajīva's Chinese, they say, this time is different and suggests kuṇḍa of Mvy.

kuṇḍana (to the root of kuṇḍa, q.v.; but the Skt. Dhātup. assigns to this root the mg. burn as well as mutilate, prob. mutilation (barely possibly, burning), in a list of tortures in hell: ŚsP 1461.9 tatra (sc. nirayeṣu) chedana-bhedana-kuṇḍana-snedana- (1 see s.v.) -pacanāny anubhaveyam.

kuṇḍalā (1) (nt.) coil (of rope): Jm 23.11 anyatra rajju-kuṇḍalād dātrac calkasmāt; see next (1); (2) in LV 276.22 nīla-mṛdu-kuṇḍala-jāta-pradakṣiṇa-nandyavarta-kācīlindika-sukhasaṃsparśalā ca tṛṇair, the word kuṇḍala (vv. ll. kuntala, kuṇṭaka) is obscure; it is omitted from the cpd. in Foucaux's Tib.; a late Skt. Lex. records the meaning thick for kuṇṭaka; this mg. would fit here but there is no other support for a word kuṇṭaka. On the other hand, perhaps kuṇḍala-jāta means simply curling (of blades of grass, tṛṇa); cf. kuṇḍalaka (2) -jāta, of hair; Foucaux's Note p. 167, bottom, actually cites this form of the cpd. as the reading of one ms., but adds that Tib. indicates a reading kuṣa-jāta (of this his Tib. text and its transl. contain no trace); curling seems to me a curious epithet to be applied to grass; (3) (cf. Skt. Lex. id. = pāśa), a ring as a kind of fetter: Gv 353.12, see s.v. kaṭaka; (4) m., n. of a form of a mendicant, created magically by Māra to obstruct Buddha: Mv 1.270.13.

kuṇḍalaka, nt., (1) (= prec.; Pali id., Vv. comm. 212.13 rajju-kuṇḍalaka-), coil (of rope): Jm 23.14-15 tad rajju-kuṇḍalakam ...; 24.4 id.; (2) (perhaps adj.?) curl, or curling (of hair), in *ka-jātaṃ (roma; said of a mahā-puruṣa): Bbh 375.18 (ekalkam asya) roma kāye jātaṃ nīlam kuṇḍalaka-jātaṃ ...; (3) (cf. kuṇḍalikā) in Mvy 9007 *kam, acc. to Tib. zaṃs bum, copper vessel; Chin. cooking vessel: Mvy 9443 *kam, acc. to Tib. bkru bśal gyi snod, wash-basin, so also Chin.

kuṇḍala-vardhana, nt., Mv iii.263.16 and 18, a name for some brahmanical saṃskāra or similar rite performed for a boy (here Rāhula); bracketed with jātikarma (or in 15 jāta) and cūḍākaraṇa (or in 16 jāṭākaraṇakarma). Could vardhana here mean cutting (as in nābhi-var?), and kuṇḍala curls (of hair, cf. kuṇḍalaka, 2)? Then cutting of the (infant's) locks of hair?

Kuṇḍalā, n. of a yakṣiṇī: Mv 1.253.1.

kuṇḍalikā (cf. *laka, 3), water-jar: Av ii.87.5 udakapūrṇā *kā dattā; so mss., to be kept; confirmed by *laka (3) and Tib. spyi blugs, vase (Das); Speyer em. unnecessarily to kuṇḍikā.

[Kuṇḍaśrīyārcīscandra(sya), n. of a Bodhisattva, Gv 442.26, 1st ed.; read with 2d ed. Kuṇḍaśrīyo *rciśc°, two names.]

Kuṇḍaśrī, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.26 (see prec.).

kuṇḍika (m. or nt.; cf. AMg. kuṇḍiya, water-pot, acc. to Ratnach. m.; Skt. kuṇḍaka, kuṇḍikā), water-pot: LV 249.9 (prose; no v.l.) (aṅgārādhatu-kaśāya-tridaṇḍa-muṇḍika)-kuṇḍika-kapāla-khaṭvāṅga-dhāraṇaś ca (all ascetics' paraphernalia).

? kuṇḍiraka (m. or nt.), some article used to cover a lamp and keep its light unseen: tayā pradīpam prajvālyā *rakena pracchādyā sthāpitāḥ MSV 1.102.9. (Related to Skt. kuṇḍī, pot?).

Kuṇḍopadhāniyaka, lit. app. using a water-jar for a pillow (so BR), ep. of Pūrṇa (4), q.v.: Divy 44.8; 45.1, where he is declared by the Buddha to be the first of receivers of food-tickets (śālākā, 3, q.v.) among his disciples. This identifies him with Pali Kuṇḍa-dhāna (see DPPN s.v.), a name also applied in DPPN to 1 Puṇṇa; Kuṇḍ seems to be his regular name, but it is said to have been originally Dhāna, and the prefixation of Kuṇḍa- is explained in a way which would not fit the BHS epithet.

? Kutarārkaka, n. of a yakṣa in Kurukṣetra: Māy 57; dual dvandva, Tarārkakutarārkakau; division between the two names uncertain, but Tarārkaku-tarārkakau seems implausible. Lévi, p. 97, refers to Tarantukārantu-kayor (loc. du.) Mbh. 3.81.178 (Calc. 3.7078), which he calls the name of two yakṣas; but it is obviously the name of two localities (acc. to BR, tirthas) in Kurukṣetra.

kuta-lipi (or, with v.l., kutana-lipi), some kind of script: Mv 1.135.6. Senart thinks of reading kuṭa, referring to Kuṭaka as n. of a people, but this is recorded only once from the BhāṅgP., and seems implausible here. The word seems to correspond to kirāta-lipi of LV 125.21.

kutupa, m., nt. (Skt. Gr.-Lex. and AMg. id., m.), oil-flask: *pam, nt., Mvy 9016; tallā-pāḥ, m. pl. (ms. *kutapāḥ) MSV ii.141.16.

kutūhala-śālā (= Pali *sālā; expl. DN comm. 369.6 ff. etc.), hall of discussion, in which various opinions are expressed and questions disputed; ordinarily used of gatherings of non-Buddhists: Divy 143.13; MSV 1.221.7.

-kuttam, see -kṛtvā for Skt. kṛtvas.

-kutsaka, ifc. (to Skt. kutsayati), adj. or subst., blaming, condemning; one who contemns: apamārgaka- (q.v.)-kutsakā(h) Mv 1.176.8 (prose).

kutsaniya, adj. (cf. prec., and AMg. kucchaṇijja), offensive: LV 189.17 (vs) mūtre puriṣi svaki tiṣṭhati kutsaniye.

ku-daṇḍa, m. (= Pali ku-daṇḍaka, Jāt. iii.204.16 *ka-baddhā, bound by an unmerited punishment; misinterpreted in translations and PTSD), unjust punishment: Mvy 5355 *ḍaḥ; LV 43.7 (vs) na tathā kudaṇḍā not-piḍaṇā ...; Gv 213.24 (vs) haḍi-daṇḍa-bandha-nigāḍāś ca tathā kudaṇḍā(h).

Kunikaṇṭha (cf. Pali Kinnughaṇḍu, n. of a yakṣa?), n. of a yakṣa: Māy 236.27.

kunta (1) m. (Skt. Lex.; see kunta-pipilikā), a small insect (ant?); Mvy 4851 *taḥ = Tib. srin bu phre-ḥu, small insect; followed by 4852 pipilikā; (2) nt., tax, tribute: Mvy 7301 *tam = Tib. dpya.

Kuntadamaṣṭrā (text *dāmṣṭrā), n. of a rākṣasī: Māy 241.14.

kunta-palaka, m., spear-point: Mvy 9350 = Tib. mduñ rtse.

kunta-pipilika, also *laka, m., a small insect, presumably a kind of ant (see also s.v. kunta, m.): Bhik 25b.1 antataḥ *ko 'pi prāṇi jīvitaṃ na vyaparopitavyaḥ; corresp. to Pali kuntha-kipillaka (*laka, *ikā?), acc. to note in Bhik. also kunda-kimipṇaka (! cited without reference from Kammavākyā; not in Dictt.); *likasya Divy 51.4; Gv 160.4; *liko 'pi Divy 161.24; *likā api (n. pl.) Divy 77.15; *likādayo Divy 466.12; *lako 'pi (mss.) Av ii.130.4; *lakam MSV ii.43.12.

kuntala, nt. (in Skt. and Pkt. only m.), hair (of the head): LV 49.20 (vs) kuntalāni (-ī m.c.).

Kuntī, or *ti (cf. Pali Kuntī, n. of a kimnarī?), (1) n. of a rākṣasī: *ti SP 400.6; *ti, voc., 403.6; *ti-, stem in comp., 402.12 (all prose); (2) n. of a yakṣiṇī: Suv 163.2; MSV i.xviii.18 ff.

Kuntinagara, n. of a city: MSV i.xviii.18 ff.

Kundapuspagandha, n. of two former Buddhas: Mv 1.141.5, 9 (in the same list).

kundasaka, m., acc. to Dutt = Tib. pho loñ, 'a kind of jasmine': MSV iv.76.6.

kupina, nt., and *nī, f. (= Skt. Lex. *nī; Pali kumina, nt.), fish-net: Śikṣ 77.4 (matsyānām) bandhanāya kupinam (Tib. dol, fish-net); Ud iii.3 baddhā matsyā vā (read va) kupinimukhe (Pali parallel vs Ud vii.4 kumināmukhe, with ā m.c.). kupyaka, m. or nt., n. of some unknown tree: Mv ii.203.6 *ka-vana-śākhā; iii.80.5 *ka-vāṣika-mallika- etc. (names of plants).

kupsara, nt., some unknown part of a chariot: Mv ii.62.8 (vs) heṣṭā manesi upariṃ ca kupsaram, suvarṇa-candrā ca rathe upagatā. Mg. of this word and manesi both unknown. The vs should correspond to Jāt. v.408.32-409.2, but shows no resemblance to it; there is, however, some resemblance to 407.22 navamhi kocchamhi yadā upāvisi(tl), and kupsara might correspond to koccha, seat (comm. kañcanapīṭhasaṃkhāte kocche), the etym. of which is unknown.

Kubera, as one of the four mahārāja(n), see this.

Kubela = Skt. Kubera, n. of a god: LV 130.13 (vs; but several mss. *ra).

Kubjottarā (= Pali Khujjuttarā), n. of a servant of Syāmāvati (1): Divy 533.5; 538.10; 539.16; 541.4; Jm 115.24 (identified with a slave-girl in a Jātaka, as also in the same Jāt. in Pali).

Kumāra-kāśyapa (= Pali 'kassapa), n. of a disciple of the Buddha: Sukh 2.6; Karmav 80.4.

Kumārādarśana, n. of a gandharva-king: Kv 2.20.
kumāra-bhūta, adj., while still a youth; remaining a youth; a stock epithet of Mañjuśrī, q.v., who is perennially young: SP 7.8-9; 260.16; 275.1 ff.; Mvy 650; but also of others, esp. Bodhisattvas, Mvy 693-5, 698-9, and cf. 883 te ca bodhisattvā...bhūyastvena sarve kumāra-bhūtāḥ; also of Buddhas, with reference to the period before their enlightenment, SP 19.2; 160.9; 311.2 (here of Śākyamuni); and even of an ordinary human being, Jīvaka, Divy 270.12, 20; 506.8 ff.; but this is probably based on a misunderstanding and consequent re-formation of next, q.v.

Kumāra-bhṛta (Pali Komārabhacca), ep. of Jīvaka; interpreted here, as in Pali, as meaning raised by the prince (Abhaya 5); cf. under prec.: MSV ii.25.5 ff.

Kumāravaradhana, nt., n. of a city: MSV i.66.2, 6 ff.
Kumārākara Gupta, n. of an author: Sādh 574.9.
Kumārīkā, see s.v. Kumārī (2).

Kumārī, (1), n. of four female deities (mahāyākṣiṇyaḥ Mmk 575.10), also called Bhagīnī, q.v., and noted only in Mmk; they have a brother called Kumāra (but apparently not = Kārtikeya), 45.17; 518.14; but his real name seems to have been Tumburu (otherwise known in Skt. as a gandharva), 537.7; 538.1, et alibi; 575.10; in 538.1; 542.9 he is called sārthavāha; otherwise they may be simply bhṛtṛ-paṇicamāḥ, 44.25; they are to be portrayed standing on ships and living in the ocean, 44.25; 45.17; 575.11; they are called Kumārī 45.17; 518.14; 575.10, but Bhagīnī 17.4; 44.25; 519.8 ff. The last begins a long passage dealing with them, extending to p. 546, in which repeatedly their names appear as Jayā, Vijayā, Ajītā, and Aparājītā (523.6 ff.; 528.2, 9 ff.; 537.7 ff.; 539.7, 25; 540.5; 543.3 ff.); (2) n. of one specific yakṣiṇī (hardly one of the above-mentioned four): Mmk 567.11; 569.5; also called (yakṣa-) Kumārīkā Mmk 569.4.

Kumudagandha, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.140.12.

Kumudapūṣpā, n. of a gandharva maid: Kv 5.5.

Kumudākaramati, n. of an author: Sādh 14.10.

kumbhaka, m., the base of a pillar or column: Mvy 5574 = Tib. ka rten. Not recorded in any Dict., but in Acharya, Dict. Hindu Architecture s.v., from inscriptions at Mathurā (Sanskrit?).

kumbhakāraka, m. (not recorded in any Dict. except by Wilson; fem. 'rikā occurs in Kathās.), potter (= 'kāra): LV 207.16 (prose) 'ka-cakram (ms. A 'kāra-ca').

Kumbhakārī, (1) n. of the daughter of a village chief (grāmika): LV 265.5; (2) in Divy 348.20 taken by ed. as n. pr., of a caṇḍālī cowherdess: Apalāla-nāgam vinīya Kumbhakārī caṇḍālīm gopālīm ca tesām Mathurām anuprāptā. But in 385.(3-4) text has (Apalālam nāgam damayitvā) kumbhakālām (1) caṇḍālī-gopālīm ca nāgam ca Mathurām anuprāptas... Burnout, Intr. 377, understands Gopālī as the n. pr., and takes Kumbh° as meaning potter's wife.

kumbhatūṇa, m. or nt. (Pali 'thūṇa; see the derivs. following; sometimes spelled with n for ṇ, but never with th for t, which should always be kept, as Senart belatedly recognized, iii.472; cf. also tūṇa(ka), and tūṇa), some musical instrument, in Pali acc. to Dict. a kind of drum (Skt. tūṇava said to be a flute): Mv ii.52.15 (the corrupt mss. clearly indicate 'tūṇam, acc. sg., as the true reading); followed by mṛdaṅga-.

kumbhatūṇin, m. (= next; cf. under prec.), a player on the kumbhatūṇa: Mv ii.150.4-5 (prose) 'nī, acc. pl.

kumbhatūṇika, m., = prec.: Mv ii.100.10; 153.17;

156.9; iii.57.10; 113.3; 141.18; 255.11; 442.9 (regularly prose).

(kumbhadāsī, once in Harṣac., pw; = Pali id., misdefined PTSD; harlot: Mv ii.58.3, read 'dāsīye, = Jāt. v.403.6 'dāsīyā; 'dāsīye Mv iii.264.10 [text 'vāsīye, but see note]; 270.1.)

kumbhāṇḍa, 'aṇḍa, m. (= Pali kumbhāṇḍa, which is recorded in BHS Gv 46.18; 102.25; 119.23, all prose, tho the Sktized ā is printed later in Gv, see below: = Skt. kuṣmāṇḍa, kūṣ°; in all verse passages where meter determines the quantity of the first syllable, it is short, except only in Gv 214.11; note that in Mv ii.203.16 it is necessary to read with mss. kumbhāṇḍa-su (mss. śu)-bhairava-rutān, Senart erroneously em. by omitting su, the syllable kum° being short metrically), a kind of evil spirit, commonly mentioned with yakṣas, piśācas, bhūtas, etc., and esp. rākṣasas; Virūdhaka is standardly their lord: LV 217.21; 389.2; SP 399.6; cf. Mvy 3436-7; but in LV 130.9 Rudra is called their overlord (adhipati); in LV 302.3 mentioned among Māra's followers, along with yakṣas, rākṣasas, and gandharvas; occurrences in verses where first syllable is short, LV 50.6; 54.13; 307.18; 341.16; Mv ii.203.16 (see above); Bhad 18; Śikṣ 333.9; in verses where meter is indecisive or in prose, SP 86.11; 401.5; LV 249.17; Mv i.257.5; 350.9; ii.106.13; 212.10; 296.10; 351.17; 410.5; iii.71.20; Mvy 3225; 4755; Divy 105.28; 119.9; Av 1.67.10; 108.9; Kv 76.10 (in Kv 11.20 the Skt. form kuṣmāṇḍa is printed, prob. by misprint or graphic corruption); Gv (cf. above) 120.2; 169.10; 190.23; Laṅk 261.8; Sādh 411.2; Bhik 26a.5. Cf. next two.

kumbhāṇḍaka, m. (ka may be m.c.), = prec.: SP 84.7; 85.9; 86.1 (all vss; quantity of first syllable indifferent).

kumbhāṇḍī (= Pali 'bhaṇḍī), (1) a female kumbhāṇḍa: Laṅk 261.8; (2) n. of a rākṣasī: Māy 241.14; 243.17.

Kumbhīra, (1) (= Pali id.) n. of a yakṣa: Suv 161.13; Māy 101; Mahāsamāj. 169.9 (Waldschmidt, Kl. Skt. Texte 4); (2) n. of a nāga: Māy 221.28 (misprinted 'ira).

Kumbhodara, n. of a yakṣa: Māy 98.

kuraṇṭa (m.; = Skt. Lex.; cf. Skt. and Pali kuraṇṭaka), a kind of tree: Mv iii.80.2, so read with 1 ms., v.l. kulamba, Senart em. kulathā.

Kuru, m. = Uttara-kuru; see s.v. dvīpa.

kuru, nt. (= Skt. Lex. id.), boiled rice: Mv i.28.10 (prose) asti kuru (v.l. kurum; n. sg.) asti yvāgū. Senart em. to kūrām, which is Skt.; in i.29.3 he reads kūrō ti loke pretasmīm paśya yāva sudurlabham (note nt. adj.!), but mss. all kuro (except one karo); perh. read kurū, kurum, or even kuro with mss. (o for final u, favored by meter).

kurukuci, var. for kuṭukucika, q.v.

Kurukulla (-parvata), n. of a mountain: Sādh 343.11 etc.

Kurukullakā (in a vs, Sādh 354.13, prob. m.c.), or Kurukullā, Sādh 343.3 etc., n. of a goddess.

kurutu, nt., and kurutāvi (vv.ii. 'tūvi, 'tāvi, 'āpi), nt., two large numbers or ways of calculation (gaṇanā): LV 148.16 (In Calc. only kurutū; only A, Lefm.'s best ms., has both; most mss. om. kurutū). In the list cited from this LV passage in Mvy the two forms are kuṭṭā and kuṭṭāvitā, qq.v.

kuruvinda, m. (Pali 'vindaka, a powder for the bath, made from a 'stone', -pāsāṇa-, acc. to Vln. Comm. 1200.1), a sort of bath-powder, acc. to Tib. made of ground lead (zha ñe brdar): Mvy 9291. In Mvy 5981 the same word (m.) certainly means ruby as in Skt.; it follows words for gold and silver. Tib. transliterates, or alternatively renders by zha ñe, lead (base metals are named in the sequel); Chin. tin.

Kurkuṭārāma (m.; also Kukku°, Kukkuṭāgāra, qq.v.; = Pali Kukku°), n. of a grove and monastery at Pāṭaliputra: Divy 375.7; 381.12; 384.28; 406.20; 423.11; 430.14 ff. (here one ms., D, has Kukku° several times); 434.5 (here text is found only in D, which writes Kukku°).

kurvati, see Chap. 43, s.v. kṛ.

kulaṃkula, m. (= Pali kolaṃkola), one destined to be reborn in several families before liberation: Mvy 1011 = Tib. rigs nas rigs su skye ba; Dharmas 103 deva-k° manuṣya-k°. One of the stages of a śrāvaka; cf. ekavācika. In corresp. Pali passage AN 1.233.15 kolaṃkolo hoti dve vā tpi vā kulāni saṃdhāvitvā saṃsāritvā dukkhassa antaṃ karoti. See also kuḷākula.

[kuḷaccha, is surely only a graphic corruption for kuḷattha, not a genuine variant for it as Senart assumes on Mv 11.131.9 (-yūṣaṃ, cf. Pali kuḷatthayūsaṃ MN 1.245.19) and 204.19.]

kulajyeṣṭhāpacāyaka, see apacāyaka.

kula-dūṣaka, m. (= Pali °saka), in MSV 11.88.4 written °śika, infurer or spoiler of families (this is a saṃghāvaśeṣa sin): Mvy 8380; Prāt 485.1; MSV 11.15.22. Corresp. to Pali Vin. 11.184.9 ff.; acc. to 185.1 ff. the 'injury' or 'spoiling' consists in the erring monk's imposing on lay families improper services.

Kulanandana, n. of a former Buddha: Mv 1.138.7.

kula-puruṣakeṇa, adv., at the rate of one man per family: Mv 11.176.10 (°keṇa tatra śalākāni cārīyanti), 11, 12 (in the first occurrence, only, v.l. °ṣeṇa).

? kula-baddha, consort, wife (?): (Māyā . . .) Śuddho-danasya °ddha-kalpena (as Ś.'s wife?) Siddhārthaṃ bodhisattvaṃ janitravati (q.v.) Gv 439.1.

kuḷala, m. (n. pl. °lā; = Pali id.), some bird of prey, associated with gr̥dhra and kāka (as in Pali with gijjha and kāka): Mv 1.7.4 °lā ca gr̥dhra ca kākolūkā ca; 11.11. One might identify it with Skt. and Pali kurara, osprey; but the latter is not used in Pali in close association with gijjha and kāka. In AMg. defined as a vulture, or (another) kind of bird.

kuḷavaka, m. = Skt. kuravaka, a kind of tree: Mv 11.80.1 (vs), with only 1 ms. (the other omits the word).

kula-śulka, nt.: acc. to pw and Jap., betrothal-price, paid for a bride to her father: Mvy 6797; no Chin. given; Tib. gñod, strength (! but also, in Dict. Cath. Miss., gñod ka, prix, valeur).

kula-sāmpreya, adj., substantially = sāmpreya, q.v., appropriate to (your?, or, a good?) family, or whole-some in (for) a (good) family; of food: Av 1.255.2 °yena bhojanena (sc. ine prayojanaṃ; said by a pratyekabuddha). Speyer (Index) would em. to kila sām°, very implausibly.

kuḷākula, nt., the state of a kuḷamkula, q.v.: SP 27.8 (vs) kuḷākulaṃ ca pratipannam (WT °na with ms. K') āsit, and he had attained the stage of one destined to be reborn in several families (before enlightenment). (ā = am, § 3.3.)

ku-lābha, m., slight acquisition (so Tib.): MSV 11.97. 14 ff.

kuḷāyaka, adj., m., confined to worldly existence: Divy 562.9 (vs) etac ca dṛṣṭveha parivrajanti, kuḷāyakās te na bhavanti santaḥ; te sarvasaṅgān abhisamprahāya, na garbhaśayyaṃ punar āvasanti. Prob. from kuḷāya, cage, and lit. caged, confined; less likely cpd. of kula plus āyaka (Skt. gr.) or ayaka* (cf. Skt. aya).

kuḷika, adj. (not in Pali, except in aggakuḷika; see agra°), of good family: Divy 366.6 eko 'grakuḷikaputro dvitīyaḥ kuḷikaputraś ca.

Kuḷīśika, n. of a nāga king: Mmk 18.11 (prose).

Kuḷīśēsvari, n. of a goddess: Sādh 598.17.

kuḷopaka, see upaka (1).

kuḷopagata, m., = kuḷopaka (cf. upaga = upaka, with etymologizing adaptation to root upa-gam°, further adapted here to ppp. -gata), family associate, see -upaka 1: Av 11.67.9 tasmiṃś ca gr̥he sthaviro 'niruddhaḥ kuḷopagataḥ.

[kuḷopi(yaṃ), Mv 11.453.3, mss., see kalopi.]

Kuvalayā, n. of a daughter of a dancing-teacher: Av 11.24.8 ff.

Kuvera, as one of the four mahārāja(n), see this.

Kuśa, (1) n. of a king, previous incarnation of the Buddha (in the 7th bhūmi): Mv 1.128.13 ff.; (2) = Pali Kusa (hero of Kusa Jātaka); his story is told in Mv twice at great length, Mv 11.433.19 ff. and 11.8.3 ff.; (kuśajātakaṃ samāptam 11.27.21;) also MSV 1.100.11 ff.; probably referred to (rather than 1 above) in Mvy 3566, in list of cakravartin kings.

kuśaṇḍikā (see BR 5.1313; BHS goes against Aufrecht's em. reported pw 6.300, kuśa-kaṇḍikā), something used for a seat, prob. some kind of reed or grass, or a seat made thereof: Sādh 11.18 pallavopaviṣṭaḥ kuśaṇḍikopaviṣṭo vā.

Kuśadruma, n. of a brother of Kuśa (2), q.v.: Mv 11.446.12 ff.; 460.18; 11.10.10; 15.4.

Kuśanagara, nt., = Kuśinagara, q.v.

Kuśamālin, m. (= Pali Kusamāli), n. of a mythical sea: Jm 91.24 °li samudro 'yaṃ.

kuśala, nt. (= Pali kusala, synonym of puñña; in Skt. Lex. only, also syn. of puṇya), good in a moral sense (not so in Skt. literature), merit, righteous action; there are 10 kuśala (= Pali 10 kusala or sila), Mvy 1685, listed 1686-98, = (kuśala) karmapatha, q.v. for list. See the next items.

kuśala-pakṣa (m., = Pali kusala-pakkha), the side of virtue, good morals: °kṣaṃ prattijāgrhīti Av 11.145.2; °kṣaṃ prattijāgrhethi MSV 1.237.8; in Śikṣ 128.1 (prose) atisaṃlikhito hi kuśalapakṣa-parāṇmukho bhavati, too severely restricted (in food), he becomes averse to the virtuous life (wrongly Bendall and Rouse). See saṃlikhita.

kuśalapuñya, meritorious deed of virtue, in Mv 1.81.1-2 contrasted with kuśalamūla, but whether the former marks a higher, more developed stage of religious advancement than the latter (as Senart seems to believe), is not clear to me: (ye punar . . .) bodhisattvā avalavartikāṭṭhāy parīṇāmenti, kin tu khalu teṣāṃ upacita-kuśala-puñyānāṃ prathamā prapīdhīr utpadyati, āho svid upacita-kuśalamūlānāṃ iti. The reply, in vss, first says that worship of Buddhas etc. does not suffice. Then (81.16) te yadā vipula-puñya-saṃcayā, bhonti bhāvita-śarīra-mānasāḥ; te . . . bodhaye upajānenti mānasam; yaṃ mayā kuśalamūlam arjitam, tena me bhavatu sarvadarśitā; . . . (82.3) yaś ca me kuśalamūla-saṃcayo, so mahā bhavatu sarvaprāṇibhīḥ . . . Is puñya of 81.16 something else than kuśala-puñya of 81.1-2? Both it and kuśala-mūla seem, as far as I can tell, to have the same effect in the verses; no clear answer to the question in the prose has been discovered by me.

kuśala-mūla, nt., usually pl. (= Pali kus°), root(s) of merit; Pali has three, alobha, adosa, amoha; the same, with adveṣa = Pali adosa, in Mvy 1936-8; Dharmas 138; two other kinds named separately Mvy 1208-9, abhisamayāntikam ku°, and kṣayaññānalābhikam ku°; a different list of three in Dharmas 15, bodhicittotpāda, āśayaviśuddhi, ahaṃkāra-mamakāra-parityāga; Mvy 7417 avaropita-kuśalamūla, one who has planted (see avaropayati) roots of merit; very many other occurrences, e. g. LV 429.14; Mv (see kuśala-puñya) 1.134.3; 142.11; Divy 23.18; 65.10; 95.25; Av 1.4.2, et passim; often referred to in prapīdhāna as basis for making the 'earnest wish'.

kuśala-varta, m., prob. auspicious procedure or functioning: Mv 2738, introductory to Chap. 138 kuśalā-dayah; no Tib., Chin., or Jap. translation; cf. s.v. varta, and Pali vatta. Here kuśala has its normal Skt. mg., not that peculiar to Buddh. language.

-kuśalin, in daśa-kuśali, n. sg. m.: LV 169.11 (vs), possessing the ten kuśala (q.v.), i. e. living a moral life.

Kuśākṣi, n. of a rākṣasi: Māy 240.23.

Kuśāvati, (1) name given to Kuśa's city: MSV 1.106.18; (2) (= Pali Kuśā) former name of Kuśinagarī: MPS 34.1 ff.

Kuśi-grāmaka (? text with 1 ms.; vv.ll. Kuśila-grā°, Kuśala°, nt., = Kuṣṭha-grāmaka, q.v.: Divy 208.14. (Not = next.)

Kuśinagarī (also Kuśanagaram, Mvy 4125; Kuśinagarī, Karmav 36.11), = Pali Kusinārā, n. of a town of the Mallas, where the Buddha entered nirvāṇa: Divy 394.6; Av 1.227.5; II.197.5; MPS 30.4 and 32.4 (which together guarantee the form).

kuśida, see kuśida.

Kuśinagarī = Kuśi, q.v.

Kuṣṭha-grāmaka, m., n. of a Vṛji village near Vaiśālī: MPS 20.2; 21.6. Not in Pali; Tib. first ku-sti, later ru-rta ('a spicy root', Jā., = kuṣṭha); on Divy equivalent see Kuśi-grāmaka (not = Kuśinagarī!).

kuṣṭhila, adj. (cf. Skt. kuṣṭha, kuṣṭhīn; on the suffix § 22.17), leprous: RP 30.7 (vs) kuṣṭhīlās, n. pl.

kuśida, kuś, (1) adj. (cf. kuśida, TS 7.3.11.1, rendered inert, Keith; = Pali kuśita; cf. akuśida-, kausīdya), stolid. The mg. of this essentially Pali-BHS word is made clear by collocations like Mv III.436.6 kuśido hīnavīryavān; Bbh 182.26 na kuśido... na hīnavīryo; Gv 220.7 kuśida-nyasta-prayogān sattvān; and see s.v. kausīdya. The spelling with ś seems to be always found in Mv (I.79.11; II.93.5, 16; 220.16), and occurs also LV 35.4; Av II.107.3 (mss., Speyer em. to s); RP 18.7; 34.8; Śikṣ 52.6; so also most mss. Sukh 74.3 (ed. s); otherwise with s, SP 27.7; 203.11 hīnādhimuktās ca kuśidarūpā; Av I.15.15 ff.; 216.1; Śikṣ 50.17; 275.4; Mmk 73.12; (2) noun, m. or nt., sloth (not so recorded in Pali; = kausīdya), clearly in RP 35.13 (vs) lābhābhībhūtasya kuśida (n. sg.) vardhate, kuśidabhūtasya prapaṣṭa śraddhā; perhaps also in Gv 220.7, above.

kusuma, (1) lit. flower, used in comp. Lañk 43.15, -kusuma-dharma-paryāya, lit. flower (of a) dharma-p, i. e. supreme, beautiful, noble one? Tib. renders literally; Suzuki most subtle doctrine (does 'most subtle' represent kusuma?); (2) n. of two future Buddhas: dvau buddhau kusumanāmau ('nāmānau') Mv II.355.8 = III.279.13; n. of a future Buddha, Gv 441.25; followed by Kusumaśrī, the two corresponding to Mv's two Kusumas (on the passage see s.v. Maitreya); (3) n. of a king, former incarnation of Śākyamuni: RP 24.10.

Kusumakuśa, n. of a brother of Kuśa (2): Mv II.433.17.

Kusumaketu, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 3.19.

Kusumaketumandalin, n. of a kimpāra: Mvy 3416.

Kusumagarbha, n. of a Buddha: Gv 256.8.

Kusumagupta, n. of a former Buddha: Mv I.136.17.

Kusumacūḍa, n. of a cakravartin: Mv I.153.16.

Kusumadhvaṇja, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 2.18.

Kusumaprabha, n. of a former Buddha: Sukh 6.7.

Kusumarāśi, n. of a Buddha: Gv 258.26.

Kusumavṛṣṭyabhiprakīrṇa, n. of a former Buddha: Sukh 6.7.

Kusumaśayana, n. of a former Buddha: Mv I.140.8.

Kusumaśrī, n. of a future Buddha: Gv 441.25 (see Kusuma); one of 'the 35 Buddhas', Śikṣ 169.12.

Kusumaśrīgarbha, n. of a Bodhisattva: Dbh 2.10.

Kusumasambhava, n. of a former Buddha: Sukh 6.5.

? Kusumaheṣṭha (so Senart; 6 mss. vary greatly; a better guess might be 'hemastha, with one good ms.)), n. of a former Buddha: Mv I.138.11.

Kusumā, n. of a legendary queen, instructed and saved by Buddha (wife of Kusumbha): Mv I.177.14; 180.14, 17; 181.7 ff.

Kusumābhijña, n. of a former Buddha: Sukh 6.12.

Kusumārcisāgarapradīpa, n. of a Buddha: Gv 256.18.

Kusumāvati, n. of a lokadhātu, presided over by Samkusumitārāja ('Ṛājendra'): Mmk 2.5; 5.11; 79.27.

Kusumottama, n. of a Buddha: Mmk 426.7.

Kusumottarajñānin, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 2.14.

Kusumottariya, n. of a former Buddha: Mv I.141.7.

Kusumotpala (mss. °para), n. of a former Buddha: Mv I.140.3.

Kusumbha, n. of a king, husband of Kusumā: devī Kusumbharājasya Mv I.180.14, 15.

kusulaka, nt. (also kuśūlaka, q.v.), a woman's breast-covering: Mvy 9000. So apparently Tib.: śiñ ṇa (d)puñ chad, cf. Jā. dpuñ pa bcad, the part of a woman's dress covering the chest.

? kusuvā, sc. lipi, a kind of writing: Mv I.135.8 (but v.l. kumuvā).

? ku-sūtra, in Mv I.144.5 (prose), mss. kuśūtre; Senart em. kuśūtram, rendering a very fine thread (hardly plausible, since ku- is regularly pejorative). The passage is extremely corrupt and its mg. obscure; Senart makes sweeping emendations.

kuśūlaka, (1) nt., = kusulaka, q.v.: Bhik 15a.2 evam uttarāsaṅgam antarvāsaṃ kuśūlakam samkaksikā adhiṣṭhātavyā; (2) m., a man's garment: Rāhulasya °kaḥ MSV II.48.15.

kuha, adv. (so Pkt. id., Saptaśatakam, ed. Weber, 507; more usual Pkt. kaham, kaha), how?: Mv III.264.14 (prose) taṃ kuha (mss.; Senart em. kuham!) nāma sam-bhūṣiyasi (mss. °ti, em. Senart), how will you get that? (or perhaps with °ti of mss., how will that be got?).

kuhaka, adj. or subst. m. (= Pali id.; see next), hypocritical, or a hypocrite (in the sense explained s.v. kuhana): Śikṣ 20.16 kuhako vatāyaṃ, lapako vatāyaṃ, naṣṭadharmo...

kuhana, nt., or °nā (Skt. both Lex.; Pali °nā, in same technical sense as BHS), lit. trickery; as one of the 5 mithyājīva, q.v., for a monk, see Woghara, Lex. 21 ff., hypocrisy, specifically display of behavior designed to stimulate laymen to give gifts: Mvy 2493 °nā; na lapanā na kuhanā kartavyā Śikṣ 131.3; citta-kuhanā, 131.6; 268.3; kāya-, vāk-kuhanā 268.1; °nām lapanām naimittikatām naispeṣikatām lābhaṇa lābham (read lābha) nīścīkṛṣutām (the 5 mithyājīva) Bbh 168.21-22; a-kuhanatā a-naispeṣikatā (so read), in a list of virtues, Śikṣ 183.15; na ca pareṣāṃ kuhanārtham dānaṃ dadatī Bbh 122.1 (of a Bodhisattva); kuhanārtham, also Bbh 234.20; kuhana-lapana-, in lists of vices, Jm 110.20; LV 372.17; Śikṣ 268.6; kuhana-lapana-tayā KP 123.4; RP 17.5 (so read for text °lepana°; prose); kuhana-lapana- (text °lepana)-nīspeṣaṇaparivarjitasya RP 15.10. Cf. further La Vallée Poussin, AbhidhK. IV.165, n. 4; and Pali and Chin. parallels, with general discussion, Woghara I.c.

1 kuhā (or kuha, with ā m.c.? Skt. and Pali kuha, only adj. or nom. ag., deceitful, deceiver; cf. kuhana), deceit: RP 13.9 (vs) māyā-kuhā-varjitaḥ.

[2 Kuhā, n. of a river: Māy 252.35; prob. error for Skt. Kuhū.]

? Kūjaka, n. of a mountain: MSV I.152.12. But Divy here Kūlaka, q.v., and earlier Utkūlaka, q.v. (for the latter MSV I.144.16 is said to read Kulako in ms., ed. em. Kūjako); and since the ms. has a lacuna covering I.152 (see I.149, note 1), I presume Kūjaka must be based on Tib. (sgra can? see I.144, n. 2).

Kūṭagrāmaka, see Kuṭigrāmaka.

Kūṭadamṣṭra, n. of a yakṣa: Māy 27.

Kṛkin (= Pali Kikī(n); chiefly Skt. in-stem forms have been noted outside of Mv), n. of a legendary king of Benares in the time of the Buddha Kāśyapa (Mv and Av), father of Mālinī: Mv 1.303.5, 7 kṛkīsa, gen.; kṛkī, n., Mv 1.313.3; 323.14, 17; 325.13, etc.; kṛkim, v.l. kṛkī in virtually all mss. (ed. kyanto), and in 31.5, 7, 9 (vss) all mss. kṛntāḥ, kṛnto (ed. em. kyantāḥ, kyanto). We seem to be dealing with a hyper-Skt. substitute for a MIndic form related to Pali kittaka, how many? (minus -ka, which is metr. impossible).

kṛtya, (1) m., a kind of demon (cf. Skt. kṛtyā, of which this may be a masc. correspondent created for the nonce, in this passage which is a list of masc. evil spirits): SP 401.5-6 kṛtyo vā vetāḍo vā... (6) yakṣakṛtyo vāmanu-ṣyakṛtyo vā manuṣyakṛtyo vā; (2) nt., or at end of adj.
cpds., business etc., in some cases apparently transcending normal Skt. usage; bhakta-kṛtya (= Pali bhatta-kicca), lit. business of food, so a meal: Divy 185.22 'tyam kartum ārabdhah; āhāra-kṛtya, id., Divy 82.26 nānenāharenāhārakṛtyam karīṣyati, he will not make his meal(s) on this food,
i. e. live on this alone; Divy 236.6, text āhāram (read 'ra-?) kṛtyam kuru, get your sustenance; acc. to Senart, note on Mv 1.349.18 (p. 622), used like the Pkt. quasisuffix -kera(ka) as substantial equivalent of gen. case-ending (Pkt. -kera is to be derived from Skt. kārya with Pischel 176; see -keraka); Senart's Index further interprets -kṛtye 11.97.13 as 'periphrasis for instrumental', but this is certainly wrong, since there gītākṛtye pramattā jaladardarake ca clearly means careless in their occupation with singing and the (musical instrument) jaladardaraka; the cases where -kṛtya is alleged to be a 'periphrasis for the gen.' are also, in some cases, doubtful, in Mv 1.349.18 and 350.1 Senart rāja-kṛtyā koṣāto, supposedly = from the king's treasury, but the mss. read rāja-kṛto or (v.l. in 349.18) *kṛtāto, and the latter, at least, could be interpreted (the treasury made by the king); 11.95.4 rājākṛtyato (abl.; v.l. 'tām) odhṛtābhāro, having laid down the burden of Qit. from, away from) royal duty; in 11.446.14 rājākṛtye simhāsane rājeti kṛtvā ('tvā?) upaviśāpito, he (who was actually not the king) was caused to sit upon the throne which was appropriate (really belonged) to the king; 11.478.10 rājākṛtye (v.l. 'kṛte) mahānase, and 12 rājākṛtyehi sūpehi, as in prec.; Senart's interpretation may however be substantially correct in the last three, and in 11.113.9 rājākṛtyam udyānam, the park that belonged to the king.
Since Skt. kṛtya is in fact a synonym of kārya in some of its uses, the comparison with Pkt. -kera(ka), from Skt. kārya, is apposite. But the two alleged parallels from LV cited by Senart in his note, above, are not sound; one rests on a false reading of the Calcutta ed., and the other is to be interpreted otherwise. (3) -kṛtya, -kṛtyam, = kṛtrimaka, adj. (= Skt. kṛtrima, prob. with dim. or pejorative connotation), imitation-, false-, toy-, perhaps with added sense of little: Bbh 281.13 (prose) (tasya dahasyaiva...) kṛtrimakā mṛgarathakā... upasamhṛtā bhavyeḥ; in 16 below, teṣv eva kṛtrimeṣu mṛgeṣu.

1 -kṛtvā (also -kṛtva, -kṛtvam), for Skt. -kṛtvās, adv., ... time(s), after numerals in comp.; kṛtvā is the only non-Skt. form noted outside of Mv, viz. in Suv 115.4; 116.7 (only v.l. trīh° for triṣ-kṛtvā); Divy 95.24 and 124.20 ṣaṭkṛtvā (mss., ed. em. °tvo); Śikṣ 290.10, 12 triṣkṛtvā. In the mss. of Mv this form is found, along with many others (partial list Senart, note on I.212.5); Senart's text is highly arbitrary and inconsistent, paying often little attention to the mss., but also not attempting to standardize. In the following list the readings of the mss. as given by Senart are cited. Forms showing u in the penult of course are related to AMg. khutto, M. huttaṃ (Pischel 451); those with final nasal, to the latter and to Pali khattum; the vowel u seems not to occur in the final syllable except when preceded by a single t, in which case -tu- is apparently only a misreading or miswriting for -tta- (Senart, l.c.). Forms in -tya, -tyā, -tyo, -tyam seem to be unparalleled in other dialects but are quite common in Mv, which shows (in mss.) the following: -kṛtvā, -kṛtva, -kṛtvam, and very rarely -kṛto, -kṛtam; -kṛtya, -kṛtyā, -kṛtyo, -kṛtyam; -khuttaṃ (cf. the Pkt. forms above), -khutta, -kṣuttaṃ (hyper-Skt.), -kṣunto; -khattam (cf. Pali, above), -kṣattam, -kṣatto, -kuttam, and a few other readings too obviously corrupt to be worth listing (but noted below): Mv (S = Senart's text) I.212.5 S trikhuttaṃ, mss. triṣuttam, triṣkṛtvā; 212.13 S triṣkhuttaṃ, mss. °khutam, °kṛtya; 213.5 S triṣkṛtvo, mss. °tvā, °tya; 231.1 S triṣkṛtyo, mss. °tya, °tvā; 246.5 S trikhutto, mss. trikṣunto, trikhattam; 246.8 S trikhutto, mss. trikṣunto, °kṣuttam; 256.15 S triṣkhuttaṃ, mss. triṣkṛtya, triṣṭubhyam (?); II.16.1 triṣkṛtyo, v.l. °tya; 16.8 triṣkṛtyo without v.l., so also 268.3 and III.302.19 (mss.); II.131.14 and 313.13 triṣkṛtyo, v.l. °tya; 177.19 S triṣkṛtvo, mss. triṣkṛtya, triṣkṛtvā (dental s); 258.2 triṣkṛtyo, v.l. °tya (passage repeated 259.1 where mss. °kṛtya, Senart em. °tyo); 282.6 S triṣkṛtvo, mss. °tvā, °tyā; II.45.2 śātakhutto, no v.l.; 412.5, twice, first triṣkṛto in mss. kela, m., Mvy 7765; kelā, Gv 106.10; kelu, m. or f., Gv 133.21; Mvy 7894 (cited from Gv), a high number.

kelāyati (or, once, kelay°; = Pali kelāyati, not well defined PTSD; prob. not connected with Skt. keli, but origin obscure), (1) cleans up, puts in order: so perhaps gdve. kelāyitavyam Mvy 2591 (Jap. to be cleaned; this seems to be the mg. of one Tib. rendering, bstsal ba; occurs in list of words headed nīsrjā-paryāyāḥ, synonyms for nīsrjā, q.v.); note that Pkt. kelāya is said to mean cleaned (Sheth); also Mmk 52.14 su-parāmrṣṭam su-kelāyitam su-sobhitam prthivipradeśam kṛtvā gomayena lepitavyaḥ; (2) tends, keeps up, looks after (fields): Divy 631.5 anye sattvā(h) śāliksetrāṇi kelāyanti gopāyanti vāpayanti vā; (3) tends, cares for (persons): AsP 253.13 (te putrāḥ tām mātaram...) su-kelāyitām kelāyeyuḥ; LV 100.9 (kā...samarthā) bodhisattvaṃ gopāyitum kelayitum (only occurrence of kela-; no v.l.) mamāyitum; Mv iii.154.13 (mānuṣikāye) ca nam kelāyanāya kelāyanti, so Senart, taking kel° as 'passive in sense', (the girl) being tended (by the ṛṣi) with human care; but mss. kelāyanti, possibly for kelāyan ti (= iti), since he (the ṛṣi) was caring for her etc. (?); the mss. are corrupt in what follows, and the precise sense of the passage is doubtful; (4) cares for, cultivates, devotes oneself to (states of existence): Dbh 39.22 kelāyitāni mamāyitāni dhanāyitāni niketasthānāni (see s.v. niketa), tāni sarvāṇi vigatāni bhavānti sma; (5) attends to, prepares (by cooking): Mmk 81.26 mrdvaginā pacet, su-kelāyitām sukhoṣṇam saindhava-cūrṇa-pūtām kṛtvā...; (?) Mmk 708.28 śaṣṭram aṣṭaśatajaptam kṛtvā chinditaḥ kallapayitvā (I read kelāpayitvā? ger. of caus., having caused to be cooked? object pāyasam, line 26) hanet.

kelāyanā (n. act. to prec.), care: Mv iii.154.13, see prec. (3).

Kelin, n. of a yakṣa: Keli-mahākelināu, dual, Sādh 567.2.

Kelimālin, n. of a yakṣa: Sādh 560.15; 561.7, etc.; Kelimālinī, his fem. counterpart, 563.9.

keva (in AMg. and other Pkt. in cpds. only; see keva-cira, keva-rūpa; and cf. kevaka, kevatika, kevataka), how many? KP 147.7 (prose) keva yuṣmākam sabrahmacāriṇa(h), how many are living the religious life with you? A theory of the origin of the word in Pischel 149; but more likely keva was formed as rime-word to eva- (= Skt. evam); note particularly keva-rūpa: eva(m)rūpa. — In MPS 34.53 read (ke)vaṃ for ed. (kī)van (ms. vaṃ, after lacuna), how great? (prāśādam).

kevaka, adj., how many? (cf. prec.): 5 of 6 mss. at Mv i.111.2 (prose) kevaka (Senart kevattā; one ms. kevanta) śrāvaka-sannipātā. Followed by kevatika (mss.), q.v.

keva-cira (= AMg. id.; see s.v. keva), how long?: kevacirotpannaḥ, v.l. of Kashgar rec. for kiyaaciroṭ°, how long since produced? SP 156.5 (prose); adv. kevaciram Mv iii.242.7, 8; °ciraṇa yūyam parinirvāsyatha(h) KP 147.2 (prose), in how long a time...?

kevaṭṭa, m. (= Pali id., Skt. kalvarta), fisherman: Mv iii.166.11 (after kalvartakehi 10) te dāni kevaṭṭā (v.l. kalvartakā)...teṣāṃ kevaṭṭānām (v.l. kalvarttānām)...

kevataka, adj. (cf. keva; AMg. kevatiya, kevaliya), how many? in Mv i.111.2, after phrase quoted s.v. kevaka, 5 of 6 mss. kevatikā prabhā, kevatikam āyuhpramāṇam (with slight variants, but only one t; one ms. °ttikā, °ttikam, followed by Senart. See kevattaka; and note v.l. kevati for katiya, q.v.).

kevatta, adj., read by Senart for kevaka, q.v.

kevattaka, adj. (cf. s.v. keva, and prec.), how many?: Mv i.101.2 (prose) kevattakāni (mss. °vartt°) karmāṇi; Senart also reads forms of this adj. in i.83.12; 97.3; 351.15 (and see s.v. kevataka), but in all of these the mss. are very confused and do not really establish the reading.

keva-rūpa, adj. (see s.v. keva; clearly formed as rime-word to eva-rūpa = Skt. evam-rūpa), of what sort?: Mv i.97.2 °peṇa sukhena; 104.9 °peṇa ovādena; 107.9, 10; 108.4 °paḥ karmabhīḥ; 127.15; 128.2 ff.; 326.12; iii.60.16 °pā...ovādānūsāsanī; 157.15; 159.21 °po...ṛṣikumāro; 311.16 (all prose).

kevalaka, (1) adj. (= Skt. kevala), alone: Mv ii.254.9 (vs) nāyam kevalako (-ka perhaps m.c.) vṛkṣo; (2) n. of a region in Magadha: Gv 451.9, 16 (prose).

kevala-kalpa, adj. (= Pali and AMg. kevala-kappa; misdefined PTSD; correctly Childers), complete, entire: kevalakalpaṃ jambudvīpaṃ, all India, Mv II.213.17: 217.16; in the latter one mss. kevalam kalpaṃ, which is the reading of both mss. in all the following (but can only be a corruption; all are prose), Mv II.257.9 °paṃ grāhrakūṭam; III.302.11; 315.9; 316.14; 317.12.

Keśakambala (or °lin), see Ajāta.

keśa-civara, nt. (cf. Pali kesa-kambala), a robe of hair: MSV II.91.16; 92.6.

keśa-pratigrahaṇa, nt., hair-receptacle: Mvy 8940; one of 13 utensils of a monk. Tib. and Chin. translate literally.

keśara, m. or nt., or oftener keśara-cūrṇa, nt. (cf. AMg. kesara, pollen), a fragrant powder: keśara, bought of perfumers, Mv I.38.4, 6, 9; presumably prepared from pollen (rather than from the flowers called kesara or keś°, with Senart); otherwise always keśara- (mss. sometimes °la-cūrṇāni, mentioned with candana-, tamāla(paṭra)-, and aguru-cūrṇāni, Mv I.211.20; 212.8, 12; 230.17; 267.2; II.15.20; 160.16 (mss. °la); 162.6 (mss. °la); 286.15 (here Senart keśala, but v.l. °ra)).

Keśaranandin, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.8.

Keśarin, (1) in LV 170.16, or Kesari-rāja, RP 22.16, n. of a king, former incarnation of Śākyamuni, alluded to in these vss.; his story is unknown to me; (2) kesarin, n. of a battle-array (saṃgrāma; so also in Pali, n. of a saṃgāma): Av I.56.4; (3) Keśarin, n. of a former Buddha: Sukh 6.13.

[keśa-lucana, nt., read °luṇcana (Skt.) with 93.18, plucking out of hair: MSV II.91.16.]

Keśava, n. of a former incarnation of Śākyamuni: RP 24.6 (vs; he was a valdyarāja).

? keśas, nt. s-stem, for Skt. keśa, masc., hair: LV 307.7 (prose) keśāmsi dhunvantaḥ, see § 8.105. Cf. Mvy 9331 na golomakaṃ keśaś (both edd.; see s.v. golomakam) chedayet, which if the text is right supports stem keśas.

Keśasthālin, m., n. of a place where Trapaṣa and Bhalika built a stūpa for the Buddha's hair-relic: Mv III.310.14 (tehi dāni yatra) keśasthāli nāma adhishthāno tahiṃ keśastūpaṃ kārapitāṃ.

Keśin, n. of the supernatural horse (the Bodhisattva) who saves shipwrecked persons from the island of ogresses (story of Jāt. 196, Valāhassa-J.): Mv III.72.18; 75.11, 17 f.; 77.1. This name occurs only in Mv and only in the prose version; in the verse he is called Valāha or Valāha, qq.v., as in other BHS and Pali versions.

Keśinī, n. of a rākṣasī: SP 400.5; Māy 240.23; (presumably the same) n. of a Buddhist goddess or yakṣiṇī (associated with Upakeśinī, q.v.) Sādh 113.18; 118.15; 120.2; 121.19; 131.18.

keśoṇḍu, m. (or f.), = next, only in Lañk 327.6 (vs; dropping of -ka m.c.? § 22.24) yathā hi darpaṇe bimbam keśoṇḍus...

keśoṇḍuka, m. and nt. (recorded once, erroneously, as °ndraka, in Skt., pw, defined as ringförmige Lichterscheinungen vor geschlossenen Augen), also °ḍu, and v.l. °ḍaka, apparently primarily hair-net or the like; this lit. mg. apparently in Bṛ 245.3 °ka-maṇḍitaṃ; standardly used as a symbol of unreality, prob. with mg. as cited from pw above: °ḍukaḥ (so also Mironov; v.l. in both °ḍakam) Mvy 2836, among synonyms for māyā; frequent in Lañk, e.g. 168.5 (cited MadhK 262.2) keśoṇḍukam yathā mithyā ghyate talmirair (MadhK °rikair, unmetr.) janāḥ (vs); 96.5 skandhāḥ keśoṇḍakākārāḥ, 17.6 °ka-svabhāvavasthītānām; 72.6 and 82.1 °ka-prākhyā(h), etc. Suzuki regularly renders hair-net, but this in its literal sense does not fit.

kesarin, Kesari-rāja, see s.v. Keśarin.

kañjalka, adj. (Skt. kiñjalka plus -a), derived from filaments (of flowers): Jm 102.10 °kasya... madhunah.

kaṭabha, (once in LV) kaṭubha, m. (= Pali keṭubha), ritual science (of the Veda): = Skt. kalpa, as a Vedāṅga; so Buddhaghosa on the Pali, see PTSD); for the corrupt text of LV 156.18 (in list of sciences) ajalaksane miśṛalaksane kauṭubheśvaralaksane nirghaṇṭe, read, with each word confirmed by Tib. and supported by good mss. (except mss. śvara for śva), but order correct only in Tib., all Skt. mss. kaṭ° before śva°: ajalaksane miṇḍhalaksane śvalaksane kauṭubhe nirghaṇṭe; Mvy 5052 kaṭabhaḥ, following 5051 nighaṇṭuḥ; otherwise only in Bhvr. cpd. sa-nighaṇṭa- (or nirghaṇṭa-)kaṭabha, epithet of veda, along with etymology and ritual science: (vedānām...) sa° °bhānām Mv I.231.18; II.77.9; 89.17; III.450.7; Av II.19.7; (vedān...) sa° °bhān Divy 619.22.

Kaṇeya (= Pali Keniya), n. of a jāṭila ascetic, converted by Buddha, living at Udumā: MSV I.255.14 ff.; 262.10 ff. Cf. Koṭu.

kaivarta, m., some member (officer?) of a ship's crew; in Av I.200.5 and II.61.9 named with āhāra, nāvika, and karpadhāra, in II.61.9 constituting five sorts of members of the crew (the fifth, not named in text, may be raṇadhara of Mvy 3854); essentially the same list is found in Mvy 3850–55, kaivarta being named in 3855; here Jap. and alternatively Tib. and Chin. interpret by fisherman (as in Skt.), but the first Tib. rendering is rgyal chen, normally = mahārāja; prob. a ship's officer.

Kokadatta, n. of an author: Sādh 426.15.

Kokanada, m., (1) (= Pali id. or °nuda), n. of a parivrājaka: Pischel, SBBA 1904, p. 813, fol. 158a; (2) n. of a palace belonging to King Kṛkin: Mv I.325.1 ff. (In Pali n. of a palace belonging to a wholly different prince called Bodhi; see DPPN).

Kokanāda, n. of a mountain: Māy 254.11.

Kokālika (= Pali id.), n. of a monk, a partisan of Devadatta: Karmav 49.4 yathā Devadatta-Kokālikādayaḥ; MSV IV.239.5 ff.

kocava, m. (cf. Pali kojava, PTSD rug or cover with long hair, Childers a goat's-hair coverlet...), a woolen blanket (so Tib.): Mvy 5861 = Tib. ba la ba; so read, in general with mss., at Divy 40.11; 550.16; 553.2, 9; nt., °vaṃ, as material unsuitable for making monks' robes, MSV II.52.10. Cf. next.

kocavaka, nt., = prec.: Mvy 8982 = Tib. la ba.

[kocca: SP 89.6, KN by em. koccalr baka-, but read with WT and their ms. K' koṭambaka-, q.v.; see also kocava, for which text Divy 553.2 reads kocca.]

[koccaka, w.r. for kocava, q.v.]

koṭaka, m., Mvy 9423, acc. to Tib. and Chin. iron-rust. Ed. suggests em. kiṭṭakam, = Skt. (lauha)kiṭṭa and Lex. kiṭṭaka, nt., iron-rust; cf. kiṭṭala-.

koṭanaka, nt. (to koṭayati), striker, clapper (of a gong): gaṇḍi-ko° Mvy 9156.

koṭani, see kapāla-k°.

koṭambaka, nt., a kind of fine cloth: Mvy 9163 (transliterated in Tib., Chin., and Jap.); SP 89.6 (vs), read with WT and some mss. pratyāśṛtāḥ koṭisahas-ramūlyair varaiś ca koṭambaka- (KN by em. koccalr baka-)hamsalakṣaṇāḥ (see hamsalakṣaṇa); Chin on SP indicates a fine woolen cloth; °ka-sūkṣma, nt., a fine garment of this cloth, Bhik 22b.5.

koṭayati (cf. ākoṭayati; simplex app. not otherwise recorded, cf. koṭanaka), (1) strikes: Divy 114.22 nagara-dvāram triḥ (text tri-, here and in all the following) koṭayitavyam; tri(h) koṭite dvāre Divy 115.27; 117.4, 13; (dvāramūlam...) tri(h) koṭayati Divy 115.27 (note 117.26 dvāram triḥ ākoṭayati); (2) ppp. covered (with gold, silver, and jewels; perh. orig. studded, from struck), so Tib., gyogs pa: LV 236.9 (vs) svarṇarūpya-maṇi-koṭitā mahā kaṇṭhakasya carapaṇi parāhatā, the earth, covered.

with gold, silver, and gems, was struck by the feet of Kaṇṭhaka. (Or could it mean the earth, as it was struck by the feet of K., was hit with gold, silver, and gems, with which the gods had magically shod the horse's feet? Tib. favors the other.)

koṭara-yava, m., should be a depreciative epithet of barley (intended for horses, but eaten by Buddha), wretched or coarse barley (lit. barley gathered from tree-hollows?): MSV 1.38.9, 13; 42.9; 44.13; 216.14 ff. Pali allusion to this incident Ap 1.301.1 says only yava.

koṭi (f.), in Pali often = anta (q.v. in CPD), end, limit, esp. in time; this use is illustrated by aparānta- and pūrva-koṭi, qq.v., and by koṭi alone in LV 242.13 (vs) na vidyati koṭi (so divide; Lefm. as cpd.) samskṛtasya, there is no end (sc. in either direction of time) of composite substance (i. e. of material existence). See also s.v. bhūta-koṭi; and (with a different mg. of koṭi) tri-koṭi. For akoṭi or *ti see s.v. bhūtakoti.

koṭitama, f. °mi, ord. num., the ten-millionth: Vaj 35.8 °mim api (sc. kalām).

(Koṭivarṣa, m. or nt., n. of a locality: Māy 62. Occurs in Skt. Lex., see Lévi, p. 97 f., but also in Varāh. Brh.S., see BR 5.1329, a fact not mentioned by Lévi; and see Kirtel, Kosmographie 226, Koṭivarṣa, capital of the Lāṭa people.)

Koṭikarna, see Śroṇa Ko°.

Koṭivimśa (= Śroṇa-ko°, q.v.), n. of a Buddhist elder, called ārabdhavīryāṇam agryo: MSV 1.181.12 ff., 15.

Koṭu (or Koṭṭa? corresp. to Pali Keniya or Keniya, see Kaineya, a jaṭṭa), n. of an ascetic (maharṣi): Karmav 155.16 Koṭusya, text with mss., but Lévi suggests em. Koṭṭasya; see his note.

koṭṭamalla, Av ii.116.15, MSV 1.85.12, 16; or koṭṭa-mallaka, m., Av ii.116.9 ff., MSV 1.84.19; 85.10; = kroḍamalla(ka), q.v., beggar.

koṭṭa-rājān or °rāja, lit. fort-ruler; precise mg. not clear; sometimes clearly an independent potentate (tho perhaps a minor one, cf. Mvy 3677 °rāja = Tib. khams kyi rgyal po, king of a realm, region, or rgyal phran, petty ruler); so, °rāja iva mantriṇāparivṛtāḥ Divy 126.4; 148.15; 182.9; Av i.108.7; sarvakoṭṭarājānām caturdvīpikānām ca sattvānām Dbh 81.17; mānitās ca bhaviṣyāmo 'navadyās ca sarvakoṭṭarājābhīḥ (so read with several mss. for Lefm. "koṭa°), and we shall be honored and not condemned by all k° (surely foreign princes) LV 137.3; vimśati ca sahasra paryantakāḥ koṭṭarājās tathā... LV 94.16 (vs), here they approach Śuddhodana submissively, possibly they may be vassals of his, but it seems more likely that they are foreign princes; but in other cases they seem clearly to be part of the king's own retinue or at least direct dependents, apparently officers; so in LV 118.10 (Śuddhodana gives orders to the people of his city) samnipātyantām sarvakoṭṭarājānāḥ, ekibhavantu śreṣṭhi-grhapaty-amātya-dauvārika-pāriṣadyāḥ; Mv 1.231.15 rājā aṣṭiṇi koṭṭarājasahasrehi sār-dham anyāye ca janatāye; 234.16 rājñā ca arcimena aṣṭiṇi ca koṭṭarājāna-sahasrehi (one cpd. word!); Divy 61.16 Saṅkho 'pi rājā aṣṭikoṭṭarājasahasraparivāro; KP 84.8 (kumāram) sarvasreṣṭhinālgamajanāpatayāḥ (read °padāḥ) koṭṭarājānās ca namasyanti; Sukh 68.1 (amātyān stryāgarāṇ śreṣṭhino) grhapatin koṭṭarājānās ca paryeṣayed. It is, however, perhaps possible to take the word in all these latter cases as meaning vassal prince. The context gives no clue to the mg. in SP 433.4; Suv 153.9.

koḍa, MIndic for kroḍa, breast: koḍa-sakkino SP 95.3 (vs), so both edd. and most mss. (v.l. kroḍa°). See also s.v. kola (2).

Koḍya, Kroḍya, Krauḍya, m. pl. (= Pali and BHS Koliya), n. of a people, neighbors of the Sākyas: LV 225.6; Koḍyān (Calc.; Lefm. Kro°, semi-Sktized, no v.l.)

atikramya; in MPS 51.13 fully Sktized as Krauḍya, living at Rāmāgrāmaka, q.v.

[koḍhaka, read khoṭaka, q.v., or khoḍaka.]

Koṇakamuni = Kanakamuni, q.v.

koṇāla, some kind of bird. RP 43.3 (vs), in a list of birds, kokilās ca koṇāla (n. pl.); prob. = kuṇāla, with o for u m.c. (this is suggested by the preceding kokilās); cf. however Skt. koṇālaka, acc. to BR some sort of water-bird.

(? kotha, Finot's em. for ms. kutha, m.c., RP 14.6 (vs; meter requires length of first syllable) ṭṭṇa-kāṣṭha-kotha- (mss. kutha)-sama paśyati sattvarūpam; perhaps = Skt. kotha, rottenness or a foul abscess: he regards the form of beings as like (worthless, vile) grass, wood, or rottenness (?).

koḍravaka (m. or nt.; = Skt. °va), a cheap kind of grain: Mv ii.210.9 (prose) °kaṃ vā āyāmākaṃ vā (acc. sg.; no special reason for suffix -ka perceptible).

Koṇāka-(nāma), Koṇakamuni, Koṇāka-sāhvaya, Konāgamuni, = Kanakamuni, q.v.

koṇīna (= Pali id., Skt. kau°), lit. the immodest bodily parts; fig. shame: Mv 1.134.2 parakoptnachādaneṣu aparikhinnās ca bhavanti, and they are unwearied in covering the shame of others, i. e. concealing their disgraceful actions (Senart).

kopya, adj., gdve. (= Pali kuppa; also a-k°), challengeable, open to valid objection: °ya-tvāt karmaṇaḥ MSV iii.64.2; others, see s.v. sthāpana.

korāṇḍaka (m. or nt.; = Pali id., cf. Skt. kuraṇṭaka, Lex. kuraṇḍaka, and see BR 5.1330 korāṇḍaka, n. pr., and °ṭaka-grāma, n. of a certain shrub and its flower: Mmk 711.6 (prose) raktaśālituṣāṅgrikarṇikā-korāṇḍakablijan.

Koravya, see Kaur°.

korpara, kaurpara, m. (= AMg. koppara, Skt. kūrpara; Skt. kaurpara only adj.; not recorded in Pali, where the equivalent word is kappara), elbow: kaurparau, dual, Mmk 157.4; in cpds. kaurpara Mmk 69.12; kor° 76.12; 305.10; 436.3.

kola (m.), (1) (= Skt. Lex. id.; see also kaula; cf. Pali kulla), boat, raft: kolopamaṃ dharmaparyāyaṃ Vaj 23.16 like a (rescuing) raft; kolam hi janāḥ prabandhitā uttīrṇā... Divy 56.9 (vs); same vs begins in same way in oldest (fragmentary) ms. Ud xvii.7 (same vs in Pali, Ud viii.6, kullam); kolam badhnanti śrāvākāḥ Divy 56.11 (same vs Ud xvii.8 contains kolam); Samādh p. 6 line 12; (2) (Skt. Lex. and M. kola = utsaṅga; see s.v. koḍa), breast, or lap: Mmk 371.13 (vs) kṛtvā nābhideṣe vai kolastham nimnam udbhavam; (3) n. of a rājārṣi: Mv 1.353.9; 355.13 (see Koliya).

kolaka (1) (nt.? = Skt. kola; possibly dim. -ka; but same phrase repeated next line with kolam), jujupe berry: Mv ii.125.9 (prose) ekam kolakam advittyaṃ āhāram āhareyam; (2) m., n. of a nāga: Māy 222.2.

kolāhala-, acc. to Tib. = ras ma, rag (esp. of cotton), in °la-sthavika, m. (see sthavika), Mvy 9004, app. rag bag, or bag made of rags? Jap. bag for miscellaneous things; one Chin. rendering is cloth bag.

(? kolika, perh. = Skt. kaulika, and kolika, Schmidt, Nachträge, weaver: Divy 165.3 (vs) āhīṇḍase kolikagardabho yathā, like a weaver's ass? Index understands it as an ethnic name. It is certainly contemptuous; cf. in line 1 rathakāra-meṣa iva nikṛtāṣṭṇgaḥ.)

Kolika, n. pr., see Kolita.

Kolita (or Kolika; = Pali, both; in Mv 1.27.4 and 28.4 most mss. Kolika, Senart always °ta), the given name of Maudgalyāyana: Mv 1.5.2; 27.4; 28.4; 30.3; 62.10, 12; story of his conversion, iii.56.16 ff.; in Mvy 1048 Kolita is named in a list of śrāvakas, not juxtaposed with Maudgalyāyana, who is named earlier in the same list. Cf. next.

Kolita-grāmaka, nt., (Pali °gāma) name of the village (half a yojana from Rājagṛha) where Maudgal-yāyana was born: Mv iii.56.13. Cf. prec.

Koliya (= Pali id.; cf. Koḍya, n. of a tribe, neighbors of the Śākya: Mv 1.355.13 (story of their origin 352.15–355.13; they were descendants of a Śākya girl and the ṛṣi Kola, q.v.; Pali has a similar story, but the father is a king of Benares, there is no personage named Kola, and the mother is not a Śākya); Mv ii.76.7; iii.93.20 (kollyā śākīyā ca). Cf. Vyāghrapadaya.

Koliśovā {v.l. Koliśovā), n. of a sister of Māyā: Mv 1.355.17.

kovidāra, m. (in Skt. n. of a tree, and also, in Hariv., of a heavenly tree, equated by BR with pārijāta; same two mgs. belong to Pali kovilāra), in Mv 1.32.4 and ii.452.1, at least, n. of one of the groves of the Trāyastriṃśa gods; elsewhere it is regularly equated or associated with pārijāta(ka), which seems as a rule to have its Skt. mg., or pāriyātra(ka), q.v.; cf. DPPN 'The pāricchattaka (= pārijātaka, 'yātraka; called a tree, but 100 leagues in circumference) is generally described as a kovilāra'; it is certainly sometimes a (heavenly) tree, e.g. Gv 193.9 -pārijātaka-kovidāra-sadrśān (vrkṣān), but at other times it is hard to be sure whether it is conceived as a tree or a grove; e.g. Mvy 4199 (after pāriyātrah 4198, which is preceded by names of groves, but with 4200 ff. come words for individual trees); Divy 219.20 pāriyātrakko (mss.) nāma kovidāro, 27 pārijātako kovidāro; SP 360.13–14 pārijātakasya kovidārasya, and same Av ii.89.6 ('jātasya); Gv 501.11 (here pāriyātrakasya). Perhaps the explanation is that, like the Pali pāricchattaka, it was a single tree of such size as to be equivalent to a grove.

kośamba (m. or nt.; semi-MIndic for Skt. kośāmbra), n. of a plant: 'ba-kaṣāya (one of five ka°): MSV i.iv.6. (Or is the Skt. form popular etymology, as if for kośāmbra? Cf. AMg. kosamba.)

? kośāvika, m. (pl.), some sort of tradesman or artisan, possibly a corruption of some form or deriv. of Skt. kauśikāra, see BR, sheath-maker or box-maker: Mv iii.113.7 (here mss. koṣāvikā or nāvika); 442.13; both prose; in both °kā stands between gandhikā and tallikā.

kośikāra (m. or nt.; = AMg. koṣiyāra; cf. Skt. kauśika, silken, silk cloth), silk cloth: (read) dukūlapaṭṭorṇa-kośikārehi Mv 1.149.5 = 216.1 = ii.18.16 (vs).

Koṣṭhaka, m. or nt., n. of a town: Divy 434.15.

koṣṭhikā (to Skt. koṣṭha; cf. Pkt. koṭṭhiyā), store-house, in dhāraṇa-k°, a place for storing and keeping (sacred books): MSV ii.143.6.

Koṣṭhila, also Mahā-k° and (Mahā-)Kauṣṭhila, qq.v. (= Pali Koṭṭhita or °ika or Mahā-k°, who was declared 'first of the paṭisambhiddappatta' among Buddha's disciples, cf. below), a disciple of Buddha: In Av ii.195.4 declared first of the pratisamvittapṛapta; here and in 195.7, 196.9 (also called Mahā-k° 195.5) he is evidently identified with Dirghanakha, q.v.; this identification not recorded in Pali but confirmed MSV iv.15.14 ff.; it should be noted that in Pali (Mahā-)Koṭṭhita is intimately associated with Sāriputta, who in Av, MSV is a nephew of Dir-ghanakha, and who was present on the occasion of the Dighanakha-sutta even in Pali (MN 1.497 ff.).

kaukrṭika, adj. (cf. next), (over-)scrupulous, worried in one's conscience: MSV ii.107.19.

kaukrṭya, nt. (Skt. Lex.; cf. prec.; = Pali kukkucca, of which or of a MIndic antecedent this is surely a Sktization), usually regret, remorse, worry, mental disturbance, difficulties of conscience (SBE 13.51 for Pali kukkucca). This is the usual mg. in Pali; but sometimes the etymological mg., seemingly wickedness, evil deeds, must apparently be assumed (as in Jāt. i.119.29 hattha-kukkuccam vā pāda-kukkuccam vā). Cf. La Vallée Poussin, trnsf. of AbhidhK. ii.166: 'le regret (kaukrṭya) ... au propre ... est la nature de ce qui est méfaut (kukṛtabhāva); mais on entend par kaukrṭya un mental qui a pour objet (ālamana) le kaukrṭya au sens propre, à savoir le regret (vipratīṣāra) relatif au méfaut ... Le kaukrṭya au sens propre est le point d'appui, la raison d'être du regret; donc le regret est nommé kaukrṭya'. In BHS this is the only certain mg. of the word: Mvy 1358; 1980; 5237 = Tib. ḥgyod pa, regret, remorse, in 5237 = vipratīṣāra; similarly Chin.; Prāt 504.9 bhikṣūṇām kaukrṭyāya vilekhāya ...; 518.3 bhikṣoḥ saṃcintya kaukrṭyam upasamharet, shall consciously cause disturbance of conscience (but see below) to a monk; Mvy 8487 kaukrṭyopasamhārah, the causing of disturbance of conscience; KP 3.6 (vs) pareṣu kaukrṭy' (= 'tyam) upasamharanti; SP 285.9, 11 kaukrṭyam upasamharati; 287.2 kaukrṭyasthānam (here Tib. the tshom gnas, position of doubt, but better occasion for mental disturbance in another) ca na jātu kuryān, na lapyase jñānam anuttara(m) tvam; Mv iii.48.14 °tyam utpādetuḥ; 173.9 cauro ahan ti tasya kaukrṭyam utpannam; 173.19 mā kaukrṭyam janehi; Kv 80.5 (mā tvam ...) kaukrṭyam utpādayasi; Śikṣ 138.1 lajjābhīh kaukrṭyasampannāh paralokāva-dyabhayadarśibhir; LV 32.19 anupānāho ... akaukrṭyāya samvartate, ... leads to freedom from remorse; SP 71.4 bhikṣūṇām kaukrṭyavinodanārtham, yathā ... nīṣkāṅkṣā nirvicikitsā bhaveduḥ (see below); Śikṣ 135.16 tena nīṣkaukrṭyena bhūtvā nirvicikitsakena ...; Bbh 83.14 kaukrṭyaprativindana-paricarya; 137.24 nīṣkaukrṭyo bhavati; 250.20 sva-kaukrṭye samutpanne ... yā lajjā; one of a list of upakleśa, Dharmas 69, and elsewhere associated with such things as vyāpāda, styāna-middha, auddhatya, vicikitsā, Bbh 173.1; auddhatya-kau°, one of the 5 nī-varaṇa, q.v.; paryavasthāna (q.v.) or possession by, fixation in, these 'depravities' leads to misery and must be avoided, Bbh 145.10 f.; 223.14; 243.22; kaukrṭya-paryutthānam (= paryavasthānam) Śikṣ 178.14; similarly, drṣṭi-kaukrṭya-pratīṣṭhāsa KP 96.4, where Tib. renders as usual by ḥgyod, regret, remorse, which tends against interpretation of the word in this connection (as an upakleśa) etymologically, as state of wickedness; Śikṣ 191.7 a-kaukrṭya-tā, immediately followed by a-paryutthāna-tā (cf. Śikṣ 178.14 above); Śikṣ 171.4 āpatti-kaukrṭya-sthānam viśodhayitum, perhaps to wipe away any occasion for remorse due to sin (but Bendall and Rouse state of sin and wickedness, taking kaukrṭya etymologically; the Tib. is not cited); Lañk 139.(13)–14, 15 (yasya kasyacid anyasyānantaryakāriṇaḥ) kaukrṭyam, tasya kaukrṭya-drṣṭivinvartanārtham nikṣiptadhurasya kaukrṭyadrṣṭyabhāvārtham (Suzuki wickedness; but remorse, troubles of mind or conscience would seem preferable); Sādh 17.11 kaukrṭyam ājīvamalam ratim saṃgaṇikāsu ca (here wickedness seems more likely than in any other passage, but even here the word may mean only something like mental perturbation; note association with vicikitsā, kāṅkṣā, above; Chinese translations sometimes are said to render kau° by doubt, e.g. acc. to Finot in Prāt 518.3; so perhaps understand SP 71.4, above).

LV 421.1-2 dharmacakram pravartitam, Kauṇḍiyena ca ājñātam; (2) n. of a brahman, seemingly not the same as prec. tho the latter was a brahman in origin: Suv 12.6 ff.; 108.3; 110.1; (3) the family name of Śarabhaṅga, q.v.: Mv iii.370.12; (4) n. of a group of 2000 Buddhas: Mv i.58.10; (5) °nya-gotra, having the family name K., said of (Ājñāta-)K. in SP above, and of 300 former Buddhas, each of whom predicted the next following one, except the last who predicted the Buddha Candana: Mv iii.233.8-9, 13 ff.; 234.5.

kautuka, m. (Skt. only nt.), curiosity: MSV iii.129.20 (prose) kautukaś ca me mahān.

Kautsa, m. pl. (= Skt. Kautsa), n. of a brahmanical gotra: Divy 635.8 (but perhaps read Kautsāḥ as in 637.24).

Kaudhuma, m. pl. (semi-Mīndic, or perh. error, for Skt. Kauthuma), n. of a brahmanical school and gotra: Divy 632.23; and mss. 635.10 (here ed. em. Kauth°).

Kauṭīnāgara, adj., of Kuṭīnagara: MSV i.xviii.20 ff.

Kauberī (Skt. Lex.), n. of a goddess: Sādh 502.8; called a mātar, the Sakti of Kubera, Māy 242.18.

kaumudika, nt. (cf. Skt. kaumudī), full-moon festival: Mv iii.188.2 (prose) ramaṇīyam kaumudikam bhaviṣyati, there will be an enjoyable k°. Cf. 188.10 ramaṇī kaumudī (mss. °dī na; Senart °dīyam) bhaviṣyati; ramaṇī here clearly adjective.

kaumodī (= Skt. kaumudī), festival of the full-moon day: LV 72.19 (prose), °dyām iva cāturmāsyām; all mss. °mod°, perhaps by analogy of relatives of root mud (moda, etc.); or cf. Skt. kaumodakī (?). The phrase kaumudī cāturmāsī occurs twice in Mv, but no form of this word with medial o for u is otherwise recorded.

Kauravya (= Pali Koravya, which is read in best ms. of Av also), n. of a king of Śthūlakōṣṭhaka: Av ii.118.6.

Kauśāmbaka (written Ko°; Pali Kosambaka), adj., of Kauśāmbī: MSV ii.173.7; 186.11 etc.

Kauśika, (1) (presumably = Skt. id. as gotra-name), n. of a brahmanical gotra: Mv ii.48.16 ff., and of an ascetic belonging to it, ii.49.3 ff.; in ii.63.18 he is called Nārada by personal name, which is due to a confusion in the story, the true form of which is told in Pall, Jāt. 535, where the ascetic is called (Macchari-)Kosiya (Kosika), and Nārada (= Skt. id.) appears as a quite different character; many vss of the Jāt. are paralleled in Mv, including one giving (in Mv, not in the Jāt.) the name Nārada, apparently, to the ascetic (Mv ii.55.3 = Jāt. v.395.12); (2) n. of a disciple of Śākyamuni, to be read in LV 1.16 instead of Kaṣhila, q.v., as proved by Tib. ḥug pa = owl; he may be the same as Pali 3 Kosiya in DPPN; (3) n. of a locality: Māy 81; see Lévi, p. 101, identifying this with Skt. Kuśika; cf. also Kirtel, Kosmographe 90, Kauśika, n. of a people.

[kruhi, Mv i.280.14 and ii.405.15, so Senart with mss.; but read brūmi in both. Note that mss. at ii.405.15 point to (a)ham as subject. In a number of other places the Mv mss. read kruhi or krumi (ii.50.2, 12; 51.2, 12; 52.2; 181.16; 193.10; 256.15; 294.13; 482.12; iii.17.18; 214.4), but Senart always em. brūhi or brūmi; also in i.307.1 mss. krutha, Senart em. brūtha, intending brūtha. Sometimes a corresponding Pali passage proves the emendation right, e. g. Mv iii.214.4 = DN ii.242.16 brūhi; Mv ii.50.2 = Jāt. v.387.21 vadāmi (Mv brūmi). In my opinion Senart should have made a clean sweep of these erroneous forms and adopted brūmi in i.280.14 and ii.405.15.]

? krauṣita-(śabda), (sound of) shrieking: Gv 522.16 (prose) °dam ca narakāpām śṛṇyāt. Evidently a false hyper-Skt. form, based on some MIndic derivative of root kruś; no recorded form suggests itself as the precise source. Textual corruption, beyond the obvious § for ś, is probably concerned.

klamatha, klamatha, m. (= Skt. Lex. kla°, Pali klamatha; § 22.44), weariness, fatigue: Mvy 7336 klamatha; SP 21.4; 258.8 (vs); LV 392.18; 416.20; Śikṣ 252.10; Bbh 81.1; 185.6; 187.11; klamatha, Mv ii.483.11 (vs), by plausible em., nalatam (so with v.l., text na etam, unmetr.) klamatham mahyam (the forms are n. sg., as if nt.; otherwise the word is always m.); iii.331.6 (prose) ātmaklamathānuyogo; Gv 488.16 (vs) klamatho (meter correct).

klāmāti (1) = Skt. klāmyati, gets weary: klāmed MSV ii.85.1; (2) (as in Pali klāmāti), goes short of (instr.): mā... piṇḍakena k... tha (lacuna; ed. klāmatha) MPS 13.9; klāntāḥ piṇḍakena MSV iv.137.9.

kleśa (also semi-MIndic kileśa), m. (= Pali kilesa), impurity, depravity; on relation to anuśaya, q.v., see esp. La Vallée Poussin, AbhidhK. v.1 note 4; Dharmas 67 six kleśa: rāga, pratigha, māna, avidyā, kudṛṣṭi, vicikitsā; AbhidhK. v.2, six anuśaya, same list (for the last two, the synonyms drṣṭi, vimati); Kv 80.5, read, katimāḥ ṣaṭ kleśāḥ (no list given); the word is extremely common, but usually vague and undefined; Mvy 862; LV 8.18; 11.5; 12.12, etc. etc.; kileśa, Mv 1.299.16 (vs; mss. kilena, em. Senart), and others, § 3.109. A discussion in Burnouf, Lotus, 443 ff.

kleśa-jñeya, nt. dvandva, see Suzuki, Studies, Glossary and p. 177, = kleśāvaraṇa and jñeyāvaraṇa, the (hindrances constituted by) depravities and objects of (false, finite) knowledge: Lañk 23.2 kleśajñeyam ca te sadā viśuddham.

Kleśa-māra, m. (= Pali Kilesa°), one of the four Māras; see Māra.

klomaka, m. (= Pali klomaka; to Skt. kloman plus -ka), lung, or pleura (seemingly the latter in Pali, cf. Buddhaghosa as quoted by Childers): Mvy 4018 °kaḥ = Tib. glo ba, lung; Śikṣ 70.1; 209.9 °kaḥ (in list of bodily parts).

kvātha (m.; in this mg. Skt. Lex.), misery, sorrow: asmābhir anena kvātha-kāyena prāptavyam prāptam (so punctuate) MSV 1.5.17, by this body of misery we have got all we could get.

kṣaṇa, m. (= Pali khaṇa), birth under favorable conditions. There are 8 akṣaṇa (q.v.) but only 1 kṣaṇa, viz., birth as a man in the 'middle region', where a Buddha is to be expected, at a time when he is born, and with the mental capacity to assimilate his doctrine (Pali AN iv.227.8 ff.): Mv ii.363.4 kṣaṇam (acc.) ekaṃ buddhotpādam suśobhanam; Suv 41.(13-14)-(15) (bhāvantu aṣṭākṣaṇavittivṛttāḥ, so read) āśādayantu kṣaṇarājam (the supreme favorable birth) uttamam, (labhantu buddhehi samāgamam sadā); Śikṣ 2.4; 114.15 kṣaṇasampadā, the good luck of (this) favorable birth; 282.1 kṣaṇa-gati-pratilabdheṇa having obtained the lot of...; Kv 18.19 sarvakṣaṇopapannāḥ sattvā(h), all creatures born under (the described) favorable conditions, cf. Sūtrāli. xiii.18 kṣaṇopapatti. (In Mv ii.378.1 Senart kṣaṇāms ca, but keep kṣaṇāc ca with mss., and instantly.) Once, however, kṣaṇa in this sense seems to be pluralized: Mv ii.392.5-6 so akṣaṇāni parivarjayitvā, kṣaṇā ca tasya bhavanti viśiṣṭā (but mss. bhavati viśiṣṭa, taking kṣaṇā as n. sg., § 8.24); the same vs Śikṣ 306.1 even makes 8 kṣaṇa, obviously as mechanical pendant to the 8 akṣaṇa: so akṣaṇam val vijahāti sarvaṃ, aṣṭakṣaṇāś cāsyā viśiṣṭa bhonti. This is a secondary distortion. In LV 327.12 dullabho 'dya labhitāḥ kṣaṇavaro amṛto, today has been obtained the immortal (nectar-like?) excellent favorable birth that is hard to obtain, followed by 13... varjitā (a) kṣaṇaduḥkhā asurasurapure, avoided the pains of unfavorable births in the cities of asuras and gods; evidently both kṣaṇa and akṣaṇa (the latter includes birth as a god!) are used in their standard meanings; but here the use of kṣaṇa is not strictly logical, since the Bodhisattva himself is speaking! [In Divy 76.25; 465.23 read kṣūṇa, q.v.]

kṣaṇika, adj., empty (of the hands): read in Mv ii.252.14 kṣaṇikena (Senart °tena with 1 ms., v.l. kṣami-kena) hasteṇa gṛham gacchati, hato bhavati, went home empty-handed and was depressed (of a fowler who caught no birds); iii.171.6, read svakam ca hastam kṣaṇikam (so 1 ms., v.l. kṣeṇikam; Senart em. implausibly) paśyati (having given away a beautiful lotus, and now regretting the gift); repeated 171.9. Is this an extension of the mg. of JM. khaṇika, idle, unemployed, out of work (which is itself derived from Skt. kṣaṇin, at leisure)? In any case the two Mv passages confirm each other; kṣaṇika is certainly the true form in both, and the mg. is certain.

kṣaṇe-kṣaṇā, adv. (? perh. for °nāc = °nāt, before c-) moment by moment, from moment to moment: LV 321.5 (prose) kāścid (daughters of Māra) avagunṭhikayā (? see this) vadanāni chādayanti sma, kṣaṇe-kṣaṇā copadarśayanti sma. So Lefm. with best mss., supported by Weller's ms. l; Calc. with some mss. kṣaṇena.

-kṣattam, -kṣatto = -kṛtvā for Skt. -kṛtvā, q.v. kṣatra (nt.) = kṣetra, field. Cf. Pali DN 3.93.13 khetṭānam patī ti... khattiyō (In an etymology), which shows that a popular association of kṣatriya with kṣetra (or of their MIndic equivalents) existed. Doubtless as a result of this, the secondary etymological blend-form kṣatra occurs often in LV, as in 208.13; 283.8; 352.18; 354.14, 22; 355.16; 357.4; 366.8; in all these all mss. and Lefm. kṣa°; in LV 290.8, 15; 353.1 Lefm. kṣe° but most mss. kṣa°. The mss. of Mv also—sometimes nearly all of them—read kṣa°, as in v.l. for kṣe° at i.121.9, 11; 12; 122.1, 2. In all these cases there is no doubt of the mg. field; it seems to me that Lefm. was right in recognizing the existence in BHS of kṣatra in this sense, because of its frequent occurrence, which the etym. in DN supports.

kṣatriyāṇi (= Skt. Lex. and Gr. only; § 22.10; Pali Lex. khattiyāni, only cited by Childers from Abhidhānapadīpikā 236; AMg. khattiyāṇi), kṣatriya-woman: Mv iii.21.1 (vs). In literary Skt. only kṣatriyā; Lex. also kṣatriyī = literary Pali khattiyī (also °yā and khattī).

kṣapaṇa, m., a member of some heretical (not Buddhist as BR state) sect: Mvy 3530. Perh. a Jaina; AMg. has khavaṇa, seemingly applied to Jains; the word is not recorded in Pali.

kṣamam, nt. impersonal adj. (or adv.), it is fitting, construed with gdve. (cf. Speyer, VSS §§ 221, 222): LV 315.14 (vs) vāyasa-gardabha-ruditam nivartitavyam kṣamam śighram, ... it is fitting that one turn back quickly; 315.20 (vs) nivartitavyam kṣamam prajñaiḥ.

kṣamaṇa (nt.; = Pali khamana, with dental n; not in Skt., the normal formation from kṣam with -ana), tolerance, patience: Bbh 171.7 param kṣamaṇam anā- ghāṭasīlam ca sambhāvayet; a-kṣa°, intolerance, 171.14 akṣamaṇa-sīlatayā; in Lañk 237.17 seems = kṣānti, q.v., prob. in sense of intellectual receptivity, vikalpasyā-pravṛtti-kṣamaṇa-tā grāhyagrāhakaparījñayā sā kṣānti-pāramitā.

kṣamaṇiya, adj. or subst. nt. (= Pali khamaniya, Vin. 1.59.10, also with yāpaniya), tolerable, endurable (condition); SP 429.4, see s.v. yāpaniya. Both this form and kṣamaṇiya(-tara, q.v.) are used in what is clearly the same locution, bracketed with yāpaniya; kṣam° is supported by Pali khamaniya, but kṣamaṇiya-prccha, q.v., supports kṣem°. Etymologically both forms can be justified in a way, but kṣamaṇiya looks strange as a derivative of kṣema (premaṇiya is not a perfect parallel) and may be a blend of kṣamaṇiya with kṣema. Or is it a direct imitation of premaṇiya, a near-synonym?

kṣamati, oftener °te (in mgs. 2, 3 = Pali khamati), (1) is worthy: LV 383.17 (vs) (sa bhājanam...) pratigrahitum kṣamate, na cānyaḥ; (2) is worth, with acc. mūlyam price, or another word naming the price or value; so in Pall, Vin. 1.281.24 upaḍḍha-kāśnam khamamāno, being worth half a thousand: Mv iii.375.18 sarvaṃ kāsī-bhūmim kṣamati, and 376.1 upārdha-kāśm kṣamati, see s.v. kāsī, 2; mūlyam kṣamate LV 63.19; SP 264.15; 406.10 (all prose); in the last, text imāṃ sahālokaadhātum mūlyena kṣamati, but read with most mss. mūlyam kṣamate, is worth this whole sahā-world as a price; the other passages similarly; (3) impersonally, seems good, pleases: yathā te kṣamate, as seems good to you, as you think best, Divy 70.18; AsP 16.7; MSV ii.74.11; sarvaṃ me bho Gautama na kṣamata iti Av ii.187.10 (and ff.); yam (= yad) vā vo kṣamati tam karoṭha Mv i.311.10–11.

kṣamāpayati (in mg. 1 = Skt. id., the semi-MIndic in form; in both mgs. = Pali khamāpeti), (1) asks pardon, with acc.: °payanti LV 379.6; °penti Mv iii.359.10; °payed Sādh 108.7; °payām āsa Mmk 640.19; (2) takes leave of, says farewell to, with acc.: °payitvā LV 38.14; Divy 556.25.

kṣamuda, m., a high number: Mvy 7745 = Tib. bzod yas (cf. kṣepu).

Kṣamottara, n. of a former Buddha: Mv iii.233.1.

kṣampana, nt., Mvy 8965, some article of a monk's equipment; acc. to Tib. ḥur rod, lit. noise-stone, but as a cpd. sling (for throwing stones; so also Jap. and one Chin. rendering, the other cannon, perh. orig. catapult?). But what would a monk use a sling for? In a wholly different direction leads AMg. khampanaya, winding-sheet (Ratnach.); if our word is related to this it might mean sheet or large piece of cloth of some kind. Uncertain.

kṣaya, m. (as in Skt., and Pali khaya), exhaustion, perishing, decay; (special uses, 1) āyuh-kṣayāya Mv 1.52.6, āyuhkṣayāya ca karmakṣayāya ca 1.338.17, (beings fall from heaven to earth) in order to 'exhaust' (work out, finish) their (destined) life (and the force of their past deeds); so, I agree with Senart, the text seems to mean; but in the Pali form of the same passage DN i.17.27 we find ablatives, āyukkhayā vā puññakkhayā vā, because of the exhaustion of their lives (in heaven) or of their merits (entitling them to live there, they fall to earth); (2) kṣaya-jñāna (= Pali khayañāna), knowledge of (the fact of) decay, perishability, in °na-lābhikam kuśalamūlam Mvy 1209; a-suddha-kṣaya-jñāna-viśayinām Lañk 17.6–7, that do not belong to the sphere of pure knowledge of perishability?) [(3) in Gv 106.5 and 18 read akṣaya, q.v., for kṣaya, a high number.]

kṣara (m.? = Pali khara, said by Jāt. comm. to mean a saw, twice in Jāt. vss.; used for cutting ivory or an elephant's tusk), a sharp cutting tool, perhaps a saw: Divy 417.10 (vs) kṣareṇa jihvām atha kartayāmi (cf., in prec. line, chlannāmi(!) nāsām krakacena vāsyāḥ; krakaca, saw, in its Pali form kakaca, is the Jāt. comm.'s def. of khara).

kṣānti, f. (= Pali khaṇti, used in this sense but not properly defined in Dictt., see AbhidhK. La V–P. vi.165, n. 2, et alibi, see Index; good statement Lévi, Sūtrāl. Transl. p. 123, cf. text xi.52 and comm.; Suzuki, Studies in Lañk., 125–7 et alibi), intellectual receptivity; the being ready in advance to accept knowledge; a preliminary stage leading to jñāna but distinguished from jñāna by the fact that it is still characterized by doubt, AbhidhK. vii.1–2; the 8 kṣānti there referred to are paired with 8 corresponding jñāna to make up the 16 citta-kṣaṇāḥ Mvy 1217 ff., = caturāryasatyeṣu soḍaśa kṣānti-jñāna-lakṣaṇāḥ Dharmas 96; in this list are 8 pairs of jñāna-kṣānti and jñāna, e.g., first, duḥkhe dharmajñāna-kṣānti, receptivity to knowledge of the truth in respect to misery, then duḥkhe dharmajñāna, du° 'nvaya-jñāna-kṣānti, du° 'nvaya-jñāna; and so with samudaye, nirodhe, and mārga instead of duḥkhe. Kṣā° is an epithet, his name not being given; no other name for him is recorded in BHS; the story is told in Jm, and in Mv, where he is called Kṣāntivāda iii.357.9, °vādin 20 ff. and 369.15; referred to Kv 24.18; Vaj 31.17; and presumably Māy 256.23 (a maharāṣi).

Kṣitigarbha, n. of a well-known Bodhisattva: Mvy 652; Dbh 2.7; Sādh 49.12; Mmk 406.1; 425.19; one of a list of eight, Dharmas 12; Mmk 62.13; one of sixteen, Mmk 40.13. Cf. next.

Kṣitigarbha-sūtra, n. of a work: Śikṣ 13.7 et alibi. Cf. prec.

kṣitisa (m.c. for Skt. kṣitisa, king: RP 45.7 (vs). ? kṣiyati (= Pali khīyati), is vexed; so Senart at Mv II.480.2, 4; text in 2 (sā...) tāsām antaḥpurikānām ruṣyati kṣiyati (but v.l. kṣipati) paribhāṣati, in 4 kim tuvaṃ asmākaṃ ruṣyasi kṣiyasi (but both mss. kṣipasi or *pesi) paribhāṣasi (mss. *ṣesi). Since one ms. in 2, and both in 4, have forms of kṣip, which in normal Skt. means scold, revile, it seems at least likely that we should read kṣipati, *sl. See, however, s.vv. vivācayati, dhriyati.

kṣiraka, in form nt., = kṣirika (1), q.v., a kind of (probably) date-tree: Mv II.248.4 *kāni ca, in a list of trees, all nt. in form and even introduced by the formally nt. vṛkṣāṇi; hence, doubtless, our form. In line 16 below the list is repeated in inst. forms, and here the mss. read kṣirikāhi, which should doubtless be kept, since kṣirika is recorded.

kṣira-dhātṛi, wet-nurse (in Divy 475.13, 16 replaced by stana-dh°, q.v.), one of four kinds of nurses regularly provided for princes and rich men's sons: Mvy 9479; the others are standardly arka-dh° (amṣa-dh°), mala-dh°, and kṛdānikā (dh°), qq.v. As a rule two of each sort, or eight in all, are provided, in a cliché common in Divy and Av: kṣira° Divy 3.14; 58.12; 99.25; 271.19; 441.22; Av I.15.11 etc. But in Divy 475.12 only four, one of each kind, are provided; their functions are precisely defined 475.13 ff.

kṣirapaka, adj. (= Pali khī°, only with vaccha; Skt. kṣirapa is recorded only of humans; *paka not in Skt.), suckling, only with vatsa, calf: Mv II.259.9 vatsō iva kṣirapako; Ud III.3 and xviii.4 vatsaḥ kṣirapaka iva (these vss correspond to Pali Ud vii.4 and Dh. 284 respectively, which have khī°).

Kṣirapūrnāmbha(s), n. of a former Buddha: Mv I.140.9 *bhah, n. sg.

kṣirika, *ka (nt.), *kā recorded as n. of a tree Skt. Lex., and once in Var.Bh.S., BR 5.1350; the one occurrence cited from Mbh. in BR, pw, is shown by Crit. ed. 3.155.42d to be a false reading for kṣirikaṣ, acc. pl.; cf. Skt. kṣirīn, n. of one or more trees, and kṣirīṇi, n. of various plants; AMg. khīrīṇi, n. of a creeper; cf. s.v. kṣiraka, (1) *kā, n. of a tree, perhaps date, but context gives no clue in LV 381.12 (prose) kṣirika-vana-nivāśini-devatā; Tib. śiñ ho ma can, milky tree; in Mv II.248.16 read prob. *kāhi with mss., see s.v. kṣiraka; (2) *kā, n. of a kind of grass or herb: Mv II.137.1, 19 kṣirika° (v.l. both times sthīnikā) nāma tṛṇajāti; medicinal, brought by Śakra from Mt. Gandhamādana, Av I.31.16 kṣirikām oṣadhīm; (3) nt. kṣirikāni (so; no v.l.), fruits, apparently of the date: Mv II.475.16, in a list of names of fruits, all nt. pl.

Kṣiroda, n. of a nāga king: Mmk 18.12.

kṣuḍḍika, v.l. for khudrāka, q.v.

kṣūṇa (so mss.), adj., falling, unsuccessful or mistaken, in error: Divy 213.28 kṣūṇā (ed. em. kṣūṇā) bhavanto, you have made a mistake or you have failed or you are wrong; kṣūṇo (ed. em. haṃ bho, wrongly) bhikṣavo rājā... MSV II.73.18, the king made a mistake. Cf. kṣūṇa (perh. to be read for this?).

kṣūṇaka, see ati-kṣ°.

kṣūṇa, adj. (ppp. of Skt. kṣud-, in peculiar use), injured (in spirit), insulted, crushed (fig.), or angry: (Vaiśālako gaṇaḥ) kṣūṇo dvāre tiṣṭhati MSV I.229.20.

-kṣuttam, -kṣutto = -kṛtvā for Skt. -kṛtvas, q.v. kṣudra (= kṣaudra, q.v.; cf. Pall Lex. khudda, honey, Abhidh., see Childers), (1) ep. of madhu, = kṣaudra(m) madhu, (a kind of) honey: kṣudramadhusaṃpāṇi phalāni Mv II.107.4; 108.4, 13; kṣudra-madhu (*dhv, °dhum) aneḍakam (once *ko; or anel°) Mv I.339.8; 340.13; 341.7 (vv.ll. kṣaudra-, kṣudro, kṣudram; at least 1 ms. each time kṣudra-); (2) adj., honey-like, honeyed, honey-sweet: with yvāgu, gruel, Mv II.84.9-10 (prose) kṣudrāye ca yvāgūye ghaṭikā haste; 13, 16 yvāgu (*gū) kṣudrā (n. sg.); kṣudra-kṣudrāṇi phalāni Mv III.145.2, see s.v. kṣudra-pāka, in which kṣudra- seems to = Skt. svādu-. kṣudrakānukṣudra = kṣudrānukṣudra, q.v.: *kalḥ śikṣāpadair Prāt 504.8; Chin. quoted as 'les préceptes mineurs'.

kṣudra-pāka, adj., very ripe, of fruits in the last month of summer: Mv III.143.(14-15) (grīsmāṇām) paścīme māse kṣudrapākāni phalāni bhuktāni, whereupon he was thirsty, drank much cold water, and got indigestion; substantially the same, 144.5; 153.10; the mg. seems guaranteed by 154.6 where pakva-supakvāni replaces kṣudrapākāni, in what is otherwise virtually the same phrase. Cf. Skt. svādupāka, defined BR as was stich süß, angenehm kocht, d. h. verdaut; kṣudra here means honey-like = sweet (see s.v.). In Mv III.154.14 the ṛṣi who had the above adventure squeezes such fruits (so that the juice falls) into the mouth of the infant born to the doe who drank his seed: ṛṣi kṣudrapākāni phalāni mukhe pīḍeti. The interpretation is further confirmed by Mv III.145.2 kṣudra-kṣudrāṇi phalāni (on which see kṣudra), of the fruits fed by the ṛṣi to the young Ekaśṛṅga(ka). It seems that the ṛṣi's indigestion was caused by the excessive amount of cold water he drank, not by the fruits.

kṣudraputra, poor wretch (f.): Divy 525.24 *putrāham; 26 *putreyam tapasvanī (read *svinī). Cannot mean literally daughter of a mean person, since the speaker in 24 claims to be a king's daughter.

kṣudrānukṣudra (Pali khuddānukhuddaka, recorded only with sikkhāpada; cf. kṣudrakānukṣudra): °drāṇi śikṣāpadāni, perhaps very minor (usually rendered small and minor): MSV I.59.13; Divy 465.4; °drā... oṣadhīyo SP 129.7, acc. to Kern of different size, but perhaps very minute (?); followed successively by kṣudrika, madhyā, mahatī, small, middling, large ones. See under 1 anu.

kṣudrika, SP 129.10, and kṣudrika, 129.7, small; both vss, quantities metrically required; both f., with oṣadhi; in both Kashgar rec. cited as khuddika, which would be unmetrical in 10. Related to Skt. kṣudra(ka); see s.v. khudrāka. For kṣudrika Burnouf cites his mss. as reading khuddāka or khuddika.

-kṣunto = -kṛtvā for Skt. -kṛtvas, q.v.

kṣuraka, m. (cf. Skt. kṣura, kṣurika, Pali khura, churika, knife), knife, applied in pl. to certain 'winds' in the body, in a list of them: Śikṣ 248.13 (kukṣigamāḥ śastrakāḥ) kṣurakāḥ śocakāḥ...

kṣurapra-vārin, wearing a guard against arrows, having defensive armor (kṣurapra and khurapra both found in Skt.; see s.v. khurapra-vāra): Mv II.339.14 (vs) kṣurapravāri (so read; n. pl.; Senart °cāri; v.l. kṣurasampravāri)... mārasya sānyā sthita bodhimūle.

kṣūṇa, adj. (also kṣūṇa, perh. by error; see references s.v. in Schmidt, Nachtr.; JM. khūṇa, said to be only a noun, = doṣa; blend of Skt. kṣīṇa and kṣūṇa?), at fault, in error, wrong: kṣūṇa (Tib. fies) Ānanda eṣa brāhmaṇaḥ MSV I.74.9; in same text Divy reads kṣāṇa, erroneously, at 76.25 (one ms. kṣūṇa) and 465.23; in Śikṣ kṣeṭa, nt. (hyper-Skt. for khetā), phlegm: MSV iv.120.10.

kṣetra (field, always nt. in Skt., and so khetta in Pall acc. to PTSD), rather often has masc. endings and modifiers: SP 9.4 (end of vs) kṣetrāḥ; 24.3 (vs) kṣetra (n. pl.) tathātra keclā... tathāiva keclā; Lañk 12.17–13.1 (prose) te ca kṣetrāḥ sanāyakāḥ; LV 280.9 (vs) sphuṭāḥ kṣetrā hy acintiyāḥ; 280.12 (vs) sarve te... kṣetrāḥ (most mss. kṣa°, see s.v. kṣatra); this substitute kṣatra with masc. endings LV 354.22; 357.4. See buddha-kṣetra.

kṣepaṇa (nt.; not recorded in this sense, but cf. Skt. kṣepa, and kṣipati, in corresp. mgs.), abuse, reviling: Prāt 504.12 (see s.v. avadhyāna).

kṣepayati, (1) spends, passes (time, with acc. kālam or some expression of time), is found in Skt. (BR 5.1349), and the simple kṣipati is commoner in that sense (ibidem). It is strange that Senart, Mv i. n. 492, PTSD on kṣepeti (s.v. kṣipati), and others have overlooked that fact, regarded the usage as specifically Pall-BHS, and assumed confusion with kṣi, destroy. I have, to be sure, found no record of kṣepayati used absolutely in this sense in Skt., as it is in LV 276.11 (vs) brahmaśakrabhavane nityam sukham kṣepitum, to spend (time) happily forever in the home of B. and Ś. (2) exhausts, brings to an end, obliterates; here influence of kṣi, destroy, might more reasonably be suspected, yet Skt. kṣip is sometimes used in nearly or quite the same sense, BR s.v. kṣip 7 (2.549); but as BR suspected, Mbh. Calc. 3.1094 should be read kṣīyeraṇ, not kṣīperaṇ, see Crit. ed. 3.30.30; it prob. is an extension of the meaning spend (time). So Divy 367.8 (narakaved-anīyāni karmāṇi) kṣepayitvā, having spent (exhausted) their deeds that had to be suffered-for in hells, which may illustrate the transition from spend (time) to exhaust; the change is complete in LV 237.13 (vs) saptaṛātra bhaṇamānu... sā viyūha na pi śākya kṣepitum, the described for a week, this splendor could not be exhausted ('spent'). But it is doubtful whether any of these uses are strictly non-Skt.

kṣepu, m. or f. (nom. kṣepuḥ; but Mironov kṣepu, as if nt.), a high number: Mvy 7874 = Tib. bzod yas (cf. kṣa-muda); cited from Gv, which however reads kṣernu, q.v.

kṣema, (1, as in Skt., adj. causing peace and comfort, or n. comfort: Mv i.302.1 kim kṣemam, what (can we do that) will cause you peace and comfort? In the verse form 303.21 replaced by kim karoma. Response to a cry of distress; foll. by kim avidhāvidham ti krandasi. Senart fails to understand.) (2) n. of a king of old (= Pall Khema, oftener Khemaṃkara, q.v. DPPN): Divy 242.5 (his capital was Kṣemāvati, q.v.); (3) n. of a Buddha: Mmk 365.17 (vs, but submetrical; one syllable short).

Kṣemaka, m. pl. (corresp. to Pall Khemiya), a class of gods: Waldschmidt, Kl. Skt. Texte 4, Mahāsamāj. 189.1.

Kṣemaṃkara, (1) n. of a former Buddha: Divy 242.1 ff.; he lived in Kṣemāvati; in the same story in Pall Khemaṃkara is the n. of the king of the city, who in Divy (242.5) is Kṣema (in Pall also alternatively Khema); in Pall the Buddha Kakusandha is born under this king (in Divy Krakucchanda appears in a sequel to the story, 254.3); (2) n. of an apparently different former Buddha: Av i.110.10 ff.; (3) n. of a son of King Brahmadaṭṭa of Benares: Av ii.46.8; 49.8; (4) n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.16; (5) n. of a nāga: Mvy 3336.

kṣemaṃgama, adj. (formed on the pattern of the commonplace kṣemaṃkara), attaining comfort (peace, weal); ep. of a Buddha: Mmk 131.11; of a mudra, °gamo mudraḥ 476.9; mahā-kṣemaṃgamam (mudram) 475.11.

kṣemaṇīya-tara, adj. (§ 22.20), more healthy: Divy 110.2 (tato Maghasya...) °taraṃ cābhūḍ yāpaṇīyataraṃ ca. Cf. next; and see kṣamāṇīya on the etymology.

kṣemaṇīya-prccha, adj. (cf. prec.), asking after the welfare (with gen. of person): Mv iii.347.19 tasya... kṣemaṇīyaprcchā āgatā, they came inquiring about his health.

Kṣemā, (1) (= Pall Khemā) n. of Śākyamuni's chief female disciple: Mv i.251.21 (agrā... śrāvikā); (2) n. of a daughter of King Prasenañjit, who also became a nun in the Buddha's order: Av ii.46.7 ff.; in 50.9 she is, in fact, declared by Buddha to be agrā me... bhikṣu-ññāṃ mama śrāvikāṇāṃ, so that she is actually identified with (1); her story, however (Av no. 79) is wholly different from the story of Khemā in Pall. (Mv gives no story about Kṣemā 1.).

Kṣemāvati (= Pall Khemāvati), n. of an ancient city, where dwelt King Kṣema and the Buddha Kṣemaṃkara, qq.v.: Divy 242.4 ff.

kṣernu, m. or f. (nom. °muḥ), a high number: Gv 133.15 (represented in Mvy by kṣepu, q.v.).

kṣoḍaka (= the commoner khoṭaka, khoḍaka, q.v.), prob. wall-coping or enclosure on a wall, at any rate some part of a wall: Gv 161.24 (sarve ca vajjaratnamahāprākārāḥ...) jāmbūnada-kanaka-kṣoḍaka-rucira-danta-mālā-racitāḥ).

kṣomaka, (adj. or) nt. (= kṣaumaka, q.v.), (garment of) linen: Divy 316.27, in a long cpd. listing various garments or textiles, -prāvarakā-kāśikāṃsu-kṣomakā-dyāḥ; Bhik 22b.4, in a series of materials usable for robes, ... kāśisūksmaṃ vā kṣomaka-sūksmaṃ (fine linen garment) vā dukūlakasūksmaṃ vā.

(kṣaudra = Skt. honey, or a kind of honey; here possibly adj., of or made by bees? cf. s.v. kṣudra: kṣaudraṃ madhu Mvy 5728; Av i.187.7; 243.1; kṣaudra-madhu Karmav 45.14; in all cases immediately foll. by aneḍakam. Also occurs, as in Skt., as subst. without madhu, e. g. Dbh 6.8; 8.11; Divy 221.11; 551.27.)

kṣaumaka, (adj. or) nt. (= Skt. kṣauma; Pkt. khomaga beside khoma), linen garment: Mvy 9161 = Tib. zar maḥi ras, acc. to Dict. of French Cath. Miss. cloth made of fibre from nettles (1); Das muslin. See kṣo-maka.

khakkhaṭa, adj. (= kakkhaṭa, q.v.; cited by Thomas JRAS 1899.494 from Harṣac; see next), hard: Śikṣ 342.3 (so ms.); MSV iv.75.8; harsh (of sounds), Divy 518.2 (vs) (dviṣṭo naṛo bhavati hi) khakkhaṭā-svaraḥ (ā m.c.? MIndic pron. -saraḥ).

khakkhaṭatva, nt., also spelled khakkhaṭa° (to prec.), hardness: Mv 1842 (v.l. kakkh°; opp. to dravatvam) = Tib. sra ba ḥid; (= kakkha° Śikṣ 245.2; Bcṭ 328.6 (and with var. 327.12); spelled khakkhaṭatvam Mmk 265.20 (gātre).

khakkhara, nt. (= khakhara-ka, khaṅkhara-ka, qq.v.), monk's staff: Mvy 8955 = Tib. ḥkhar bsil (or gsil), id.

khakkhala, adj. (doubtless onomat.), stammering (so Tib., dig pa): Mvy 8887.

khakkhara, nt. (m.? f. ʾrāʾ) = khakkhara, khaṅkhara(ka), and next: Mmk 356.18 (vs) kumbhaḥ... khakharam (n. sg.) text, but meter requires khakkharam or khaṅkh!; 368.15 kuryāḥ khakharākāram (meter demands ʾrakākāram), 16 etan mudram samākhyātāṃ khakharety (f.?) arisūdanā, 17 tad eva khakhara (masc.?) īṣad...; 386.6 khakharam, n. sg. (all vs; meter indifferent as to quantity of first syllable in all these except 356.18).

khakharaka (where gender is clear only m. noted; = prec. and khakkhara), monk's staff: Mmk 42.26 (prose) ʾka-kamaṇḍalum, cf. daṇḍa-kamaṇḍalum 43.8; 91.15 (prose), in a list of monk's belongings, -civara-khakharaka-śūcl (read śūcl)-; khakharaka-mudrā 418.11 and 422.4 (both prose); in 471.16 text tadahantare khakhavarakah, read khakharakah (hypermetric even then!); 472.8 (vs) khakharakā ca mahāmudrāḥ; in both the last khakharah (or khakkharah) would be metr. better.

Khaḡarbhā, n. of a Bodhisattva: Sādh 49.14; one of 'the eight Bodhisattvas' (cf. Kṣitigarbhā, Maitreya, etc.), Dharmas 12.

Khaḡānanā, n. of a yoginī: Sādh 427.6.

khaṅkhaṭa (in cpd.), acc. to Tib. (re ṣig) a little: -svaro MSV II.80.10, a little sound. (MW quotes from Wilson khaṅkhaṇā, a tinkling sound.) khakkhaṭa would not be a likely reading here since the omen is favorable, indicating rebirth as a god.

khaṅkhaṭika, nt., some kind of ʾye-stuff: MSV II.142.10 (with galrikam).

khakkhara, m. (or nt.; Skt. Lex. m., lock of hair), = next: Mmk 392.4 (iyam ca) bhagavato buddhasya khaṅkharamudrā.

khaṅkharaka, m., also ʾkā, f.? (= prec.): ʾko MSV IV.67.16; Mmk 392.5 eṣa... buddhānāṃ khaṅkharaka-mudrāmantrāḥ...; (tāḥ) ʾkāḥ kṛtvā in MSV II.142.3 (and 8) certainly means monk's staff (= khakkhara, khakharaka; Tib. khar sil, cf. Tib. on Mvy 8955); in view of this, prob. this is the mg. (rather than lock of hair) in Mmk, here and in prec.; parallel are sarvatathāgatoṣṇāṇāṃ mahāmudrā 391.18, and sarvatathāgātānāṃ pātra-mudrā 392.9-10.

khacana (nt.; to root khac, cf. Skt. khacita), studding, inlay: LV 430.13 (prose) suvarṇa-khacana-suvarṇa-puṣpa-suvaryanacūrṇabhikīraṇa-...

(khaja, as in Skt., churning-stick, stirring stick; Skt. Lex. also spoon, ladle: Laṅk 340.8 (vs), repeating 203.15: khaja (203.15 kheja, mere corruption)-mṛd-daṇḍa- (203.15 bhāṇḍa)-cakrādi bījabhūtādi (i.e. all material things) bāhiram (sc. constituent of the samkāla or śam, q.v.). Ed. note on 203.15 seems to indicate support in northern translations for mantha = khaja. No need to em. to dhvaja as suggested in ed. on 340.8 and Suzuki's Index.)

khajja (nt.; = Pali id., MIndic for khādyā), hard food (as in Pali, hardly in Skt., contrasting with bhojya, or also bhakta, q.v., soft food): Mv III.39.4 bhakta-khajjam upaviṣṭo, sak down to soft and hard food; 405.1 -khajja-bhojya-gandha-mālyā-vilepanam viśrāṇiyati; II.462.10, read with mss. khajja-rūpam, thing of the nature of hard food.

khajjaka, nt. (= Pali id., MIndic for khādyaka), = khādyaka, q.v.: Mv II.190.6 nānāprakārāṇi khajjakāni (v.l. khādyā) allyanti; 461.21 khajjakasya pūram gopīṭakam (q.v.)... alindam (q.v.) odanasya; similarly 462.3, 7, 9, 11; III.15.9, 12 (in all these a basket, gopīṭakam, of khajjaka is contrasted with an alindam or ʾdā, q.v., of soft food); III.127.5 khajjakam vā.

khajjati (= Pali id.; MIndic from Skt. khādyate, pass. of khād), is eaten: khajjāmi Mv II.450.6, 8; 452.8, 11; khajje, opt., III.252.15; fut. khajjīsyasi Mv II.78.4; ʾsyatha III.290.17; note khajjanti Mv I.360.1, repeated as khādyanti 3.

khañjāhva, m., some sort of bird; acc. to pw 7, App., the water-wagtail (assuming identity of mg. with Skt. khañjana): Mvy 4911. But Tib. ba mo byi ḥu; ecc. to Das, this—or rather ba moḥi byi ḥu—means the Skt. cātaka, Cuculus melanoleucus.

khaṭa (m. or nt.; Skt. Lex. m.; cf. Deśin. 2.72 khaḍa = samkucita), flistuff, blow with the fist (cf. next): Śikṣ 56.17 khaṭa-capeta-caṇḍa-prahārāṇāṃ; Karmav 37.5, 6 khaṭa (by em., ms. śata; Tib. confirms em.) -capeta-pradāna; Laṅk 119.14 khaṭa-capeta.

khaṭaka, m. (Skt. Lex.) = prec.: Mvy 3984 (toll. by capeta).

khaṭakā = prec.: Divy 372.18 ʾkā mūrdhni pātītā; 19 ʾkāṃ nipātayati.

khatayati, acc. to Tib. (skyoṅs ṣig) guards, protects (cattle): MSV II.5.17 (go-maḥiṣṭh...) ʾyata.

khaṭu (1) = khaṭa: Divy 173.10 khaṭu-capetādibhis; (2) khaṭv-ākārān (sattvān) Divy 338.8 (here Dutt, MSV IV.38.17 note, cites Tib. as gtun, pestle); 342.11 (here Dutt, ib. 44.19, cites Tib. as phar [read phor] pa, said to mean saraka, a drinking vessel); but 342.26, 343.5 replaces this by what is meant for taṭṭv-āk°, see s.v. taṭṭu; so read each time.

khaṭuka, oftener khaṭuṅka (also abstr. ʾka-tā), in KP khaṭuṅka, adj. or subst. m. (Pali and AMg. khaṭuṅka; cf. Skt. Lex. kaṭuṅka-tā, and see Schmidt, Nachtr. s.v. khaṭuṅka), unruly, unmanageable, in BHS and Pali only of horses (in AMg. said to be used of bullocks too) and figuratively of men: Mvy 2450 (in a list of evil qualities) khaṭuṅkaḥ, v.l. kaṭ° (cf. Skt. See also khaḍuka-tā.

khaṭṭika, m. (= Skt. Lex. id. = māmsa-vikrayin; not in Pali; AMg. khaṭṭa, ʾiya), butcher: Mvy 3759 = Tib. bśan pa. Ultimately, of course, based on a theoretical Skt. kṣaṭṭr-ka.

khaḍga, (1) nt., a high number (cf. khaḍgin): Mmk 262.15 adhikā daśa tare (?) tasya (sc. vivāhasya, cf. line 14) khaḍgam ity āhu vāṇijāḥ; 343.14 daśārbudā nirbudāḥ uktaḥ taddaśaṃ khaḍgam iṣyate; (2) m., n. of a mountain: Māy 254.6.

Khaḍgajvalanā, n. of a kumvara maid: Kv 6.18.

khaḍga-viṣāṇa, rhinoceros; -kalpa, adj. (= Pali khaḍga-viṣāṇa-kappa), like a rhinoceros, i.e. living a lonely life; esp. (as in Pali) ep. of a Pratyekabuddha: Mvy 1006; Divy 582.8; ekacarā ʾkalpā Mv I.301.4, and in a vs 357.15, otherwise eko care ʾkalpo 21 fl., or ekas caret ʾkalpaḥ Divy 294.15, refrain of the stanzas of Pali Sn I.3 (vss 35-75: eko care khaḍga-viṣāṇakappo), a number of which are reproduced in Mv I.357.12-359.15, and one in Divy I.c.; they are designated khaḍgaviṣāṇa-gāthāḥ Mv I.359.16. Since Skt. khaḍga and Pali khaḍga mean rhinoceros, the Pali comm. on Sn paraphrases kh°-viṣāṇa by rhinoceros-horn. But actually the cpd. means rhinoceros = Skt. khaḍgin, originally having a sword-like horn. The comparison is to the animal, not to its horn. Cf. Samādh 19.29 khaḍga-samā; RP 13.7 khaḍga-vimalāḥ khaḍḍika, m., a royal officer of some kind, acc. to Tib. sword-bearer (from Skt. khaḍga): Mvy 3730 = Tib. ral gri pa. Cf. however Deśn. 2.69 khaggla = grāmeśa.

khaḍḍin, (1) m., or khaḍḍina, nt. (cf. khaḍga), a high number: Mmk 262.16 (vs) nikhaḍgam (q.v.) tad vidur mantri nikhaḍgam cāpi khaḍginam (follows line 15 cited s.v. khaḍga, and seems to mean that khaḍga, nikhaḍga, and khaḍgin(a) are interchangeable terms); (2) m., a Pratyekabuddha (because he is often compared to a rhinoceros, Skt. khaḍgin; see s.v. khaḍgaviśāṇa): Mmk 67.9, 14; 122.7; 156.7; 238.5; also pratyeka-khaḍgin, 108.23; 112.20; 114.21; 169.26.

khaṇḍa, (1) m., seems to be used not at the end of cpds. in the sense of quantity, mass, large number (as in Skt.), but in apposition to the noun, as separate word, if we may trust the reading: ye cānye parvatāḥ khaṇḍāḥ (2 mss. cited as puṣṭāḥ, ghuṣṇāḥ) SP 355.6, and whatever other mountains there are, quantities of them (?); (2) n. of the chief minister of a king of Videha: MSV II.3.17 ff.

khaṇḍaka, (1) adj. or subst. m., evil, false: Mmk 73.13 (sattvā bhaviṣyanti kuṣṭā ...) āsradhāḥ khaṇḍakā (?) akalyānamitraparigṛhītāḥ ...; Lalou, Iconographie 51, renders divisés; 94 she cites Tib. as mi srun pa, which perhaps could mean careless, disobedient, not on guard, but is more likely a misprint for mi srun pa, evil (= Skt. khalā, evil, mischievous; perhaps therefore, em. to khalakā); Gv 116.22 (māraḥ kalyāṇiko vā kalyānamitraparirūpakō vā) bodhisattvakhāṇḍako vā, a rascal of a Bodhisattva, or a false, fake B.; (2) n. of a yakṣa: Māy 41.

khaṇḍa-kāraka, m. (Skt. kāra, id., plus -ka), maker of candied sugar: kā(h) Mv III.113.8; 442.14, in closely parallel lists of occupations; in both foll. by modakakārakā(h). khaṇḍa-khaṇḍam, adv. (Pali khaṇḍakkhaṇḍam, id.), broken to bits: Mv II.173.14 (prose) tad ahaṃ khaṇḍaṃ chindīyam, then I shall be cut up into little pieces. Cf. next.

khaṇḍakhaṇḍikṛta (see under prec.), ppp. of ḍikaroti, smashed to bits: Mv II.82.16 (tasya rājño ... pādaphalakam) khaṇḍakhaṇḍikṛtam.

khaṇḍa-mallaka (cf. koṭṭa-, kroḍa-m°), broken pot, fragment of a pot, potsherd: kēna MSV I.89.13; I.90.2; in same passage Divy 90.2 mallake, but 89.21 kroḍa-mallakena, see this; Tib. on MSV rdzahi chag dum, fragment of a pot, and so Tib. on Divy 89.21 (letter from Mr. D. R. S. Bailey).

khaṇḍara (cf. Skt. Gr. and Lex. id. and khaṇḍala = khaṇḍa; in other mss. literary Skt. has khaṇḍara, p.w. and khaṇḍalaka, Schmidt, Nachträge, as equivalents of khaṇḍa), = khaṇḍa, part, portion, in vana-khaṇḍara (v.l. khaṇḍa°, metr. bad)-gatā, who were present in the grove: Mv I.236.5 (vs).

Khaṇḍarohā, n. of a yoginī or similar demoness: Sādh 425.13; 427.7; 439.10.

khaṇḍikā (= Pali id.; in Skt. khaṇḍaka is, but ḍikā apparently is not, used in this precise sense), piece, fragment: Divy 31.5 catasrah khaṇḍikāḥ kṛtāḥ.

Khadiraka, m. (seems to correspond to Pali Kāravīka), n. of one of the seven mountains surrounding Sumeru (Kīrīel, Kosm. 186); Mvy 4143; Dharmas 125; Mv II.300.18 (mss. corrupt); Māy 253.27; Divy 217.10, 12; n. of what seems to be a different mythical mountain, at any rate one of an otherwise different list of names of mountains, Divy 450.12; 455.29; 456.1.

Khadirakovidā, n. of a yakṣa: Māy 236.29.

Khadiravaṇī-tārā, n. of a form of Tārā: Sādh 176.8.

Khadiravanika (cf. Pali Khadiravaniya, there another name for Revata, q.v., who in both LV and Sukh is mentioned as a distinct personage immediately before Kha° in the same list), n. of a disciple of the Buddha: LV 2.1 (v.l. °vadika, but Tib. confirms text); Sukh 2.9; Mvy 1066. Is it significant that Mvy does not mention Revata?

[khadukatā, misprint or error for khād°, q.v.]

khadyotaka, m. (= Skt. khadyota plus -ka; in BHS recorded only in vss, could be m.c., could also be diminutive; cf. AMg. khajjoyaga and Pali khajjopana), firefly: LV 120.11, 13; 304.20; 334.4 (all vss).

khandhāvāra (= Pali id., MIndic for Skt. skandh°), army-encampment: Mv II.485.14 khandhāvārehi (so read for Senart khandha°; mss. khandhyā°, khandya°) kanyakubjaṃ nagaraṃ samantena vethīyāna sthitāḥ.

khambhīra-pati, Mvy 3702, or khambhara-pati, 3703 (evidently a v.l.; not in Mironov, who cites a v.l. khambhāra-pati; for 3703 Tib. mlī dan, which I do not understand but presume means idem), some sort of royal officer, acc. to Tib. either mñan bdag, master of imprecations (i. e. royal sorcerer?), or rñan bdag, lord of salaries (i. e. controller, bursar?). The prior element is quite unknown.

Khara, nt., n. of a hamlet: Divy 577.11.

Kharakarna, n. of yakṣa, associated with Sūciroma: Samādh p. 43 line 19; cf. Pali Khara, associate of the yakṣa Sūcloma.

khara-gr̥ha, nt. (Skt. Lex.; see Schmidt, Nachträge), tent: Mvy 5542 = Tib. gur.

Kharapostā, n. sg., n. of a yakṣa: Māy 33. See Lévi 74, who thinks postā preserves a relative of Skt. pustaka, which acc. to Gauthiot, MSL 19 (1915).130, was borrowed from Iranian pōst, skin; ass-skin is what at least one Chin. transl. renders; but there is some suggestion of a reading -lomā (Skt. loman) instead of -postā.

Kharaskandha, n. of an asura: SP 5.3; Suv 162.13. Tib. on SP reads phrag rtsub, rough shoulder, proving this reading as against Burnouf's (and v.l. of KN) Sura-sk°.

kharukharā-, °khur-, see khurakhurāyate, khurukhura-(°rā).

Kharuṣṭa, n. of a ṛṣi: Thomas ap. Hoernle MR 123.11. (Cf. Lévi BEFEO. IV. 543-79, esp. 565.)

kharoṣṭī, kharoṣṭrī (AMg. kharoṭṭhi; doubtless Skt. but not in dict.), n. of an alphabet: LV 125.19 °ṣṭī (Tib. kha ro stī); Mv I.135.5 °stī (mss., Senart em. °stī).

kharijura, nt. (Skt. Lex. kharijura; otherwise recorded only with ḍi), fruit of the date: °kāni Mv II.475.16, so read; in a list of various fruits; so 1 mss., v.l. kharijuralatikā (prob. corruption); Senart kharijuralatikā (Ja for ju misprint?).

Kharijrikā, n. of a town: MSV I.1.20 f.

kharta, ? in Mmk 157.4 (vs) ūrū cāśya vartulakau, kaurparau kharta-varjitau, and the elbows free from ...? Prob. corrupt, but I can think of no plausible em.; kharta would be paleographically close, if only it made reasonable sense.

kharpara, nt. (= Pkt. khappara, see Sheth; Skt. Lex. kharpara and karpāra; in Skt. lit. karpāra, bowl, and once in late Skt. kharpara, said to mean shell of a tortoise, Schmidt, Nachträge; cf. next), (skull) head: Divy 324.11 kharparam (so read with v.l., ed. kharpam) idam grhāṇa (referring to uttamāṅgam in prec. line).

kharparikā (cf. under prec.; Skt. id. said by Galanos to mean umbrella), bowl or bowl-shaped object: ghaṭa-khar°, n. of a mudrā: Mmk 505.13 (vs) °kā jñeyā anāmikāgrasunāmitau (hypermetr.).

Kharvari, n. of a yoginī: Sādh 427.4.

khalaka, (1) m. or nt. (= Skt. khala), threshing-floor or granary: Kv 28.18 (prose) mahā-khalake mahāntam rāśim kuryāt; (2) m. 1 khalita, adj. (= Pali id., Skt. khalati, but note Skt. khālitya, baldness), bald (?): Mv ii.367.15 (vs) na so kubjo ca khaṃjo vā khalito vā vicakramo (so mss., Senart em. vicamkramo). However, it is possible (and this would come closer to the mg. of the surrounding terms) that it belongs to Skt. skhalita (see next) and means stumbling, unsteady in gait.

2 khalita, nt. (= Pali id.; MIndic for Skt. skhalita, cf. khalati), error, false step: Mv i.160.14 (nāsti) khalitam (one of the 18 āveṇika buddhadharma); Bhvr. cpd. a-khalita (= Pali id., free from false steps, CPD), unwavering: RP 47.6 (vs) svarāṅgā akhalita-m-anavadyā sarva-arthānubodhā. khalaka, nt., Mvy 9021, acc. to Tib. chu tshags grugum, lit. triangular water-filter; to the lit. mg. of the Tib. Das adds '(a leather water-bag)'. Cf. Skt. khalla, acc. to Apte, leather, also a leather bag (so Skt. Lex., BR); acc. to BR Düte, cucullus. In Pali khalla- (and khallaka-) baddha, only ep. of sandals (upāhanā), perhaps bound with leather (?). In Mvy prec. by parisraṇam, q.v., and foll. by kuṇḍikā, water-pot; all monkish utensils.

Tib. seems to have no equivalent of the crucial word: mgo 'la skra dkar gñer ma kun byuñ ste, (them) having become all with white hair on the head and wrinkles. A noun seems to be required for this word; if khaṇḍam is the true reading, perhaps it could mean something like décreptitude.]

Dutt's note, khaṣa = pratyantika; Tib. cited as mthah khob = barbarian border country, often applied to Tibet itself, and fitting Skt. Khasa. I assume that the Pāṇḍavāḥ are meant for the well-known people of the Skt. epic.

Khasarpaṇa, (1) n. of a Buddha: namaḥ Khasarpaṇāya (or śri-Kha°) Sādh 36.9; 38.1; 42.8; (2) n. of a village: Sādh 42.11.

Lex. citation, khād- means eat, not bite; it is not a synonym of daś-. Our word contrasts with ājāneya, like khaṭu(h)ka, khaḍuṅka, and I believe it is only a rationalizing replacement of some form of that word, q.v. The reading khadukatā, once in 1st ed., may preserve the original short a of the first syllable.

khādyā, nt. (also khajja; = Pali khajja; in Skt. seems to mean food in general, hard food (as in Pali); regularly associated with bhojya, soft food; *ya-bhojyam Mv 1.352.21; ii.171.10; 189.17, 18; 462.1; khādyā-bhojya-svādāniya (see this last), LV 96.21. Cf. khādāniya.

So Senart's note. PTSD s.v. 5 gives a similar definition, but the passages it cites obviously do not support it. Here perhaps gacchanti Mv 1.17.11, 12.

gacchantaka = Skt. gacchant(-a), walking: Mv iii.330.2 (prose) (kim nu khalu purimakāḥ samyaksam-buddhāḥ) gacchantakā dharmacakram pravartenti (the only ms. °tanti) tiṣṭhanto vā niṣaṇṇā vā sayantakā vā. No apparent reason for -ka. Cf. next.

gacchamānaka, = °māna = prec.: LV 235.8 (vs; here -ka may be m.c.).

gaḍa-karṇa, 'elephant's ear', as symbol of impermanence (for some reason which is obscure to me as it was to Feer and Speyer): Av 1.144.9 (ime bhogā) jalacandrasvabhāvā gaḍakarṇa-sadrśā anityā(h)...

Gaḍadeva, n. of a former Buddha: Mv 1.137.1. gaḍapati, m. or nt., n. of some unknown gem: Mv 11.311.2 anye gaḍapatihi maṇiratanehi samalamkrtam (sc. bodhivṛkṣaṃ samjānanti).

Gaḍaprameha, n. of a rain-deity: Śikṣ 247.7.

Gaḍaśirṣa, n. of a nāga: Mvy 3325.

gaḍa-śvasana (= AMg. gaya-sasana), elephant's trunk (misunderstood by Senart): Mv 1.216.14 = 11.19.11 (vs) °na-sannikāśā śāradamegha khapathe virocanti (so read, combining evidence of mss. and meter).

gaḍāśva, m., perh. 'elephant-stallion' = male elephant? MSV iii.125.18. I do not know this use of -śva; later in the story the animal is called simply hastin (126.7 etc.).

? Gajomānikula, m. or nt. (doubtless corrupt, tho metricaly correct), n. of a country: Mmk 325.18 (vs) °kule cāpi siddhis (sc. mantrāṇām) tatra pradṛśyate.

(gañja, m., occurs in late Skt., Kathās., Rājat.; Persian loanword, BR; also in the NW Niya Pkt., Burrow, Kharoṣṭhi Documents, vii; not recorded in Pali or Pkt.; treasury, jewel-room, and fig. treasure-store (esp. of dharma): dharma-gaṇḍu (nom. sg.) gaṇḍiraka, m. (= Skt. °ra), a kind of pot-herb, growing in water: candana-°kaḥ MSV 11.64.11 (cf. candana 1).

gaṇḍūśika, °mika, °śa, see kaṇḍūśika.

gata, adj., ppp., (1) understood, grasped (hardly a Skt. usage; cf. however BR s.v. gam, ppp. gata, 1, 1): gatam etad Divy 301.27, I have understood this (which you have said); etad api gatam 302.1, 5, 12; (2) extensions of the quasi-suffixal use of gata noted for Skt. by Whitney, Gr. 1273c; very close to the Skt. is perhaps Divy 29.21 ekasya grhagatam kṣetragatam ca, ekasyā-vārigatam deśāntaragatam ca, to one went (in a division of property) what was in the house and in the field (? or possibly the house(s) and field(s)? as in drṣṭigata, rūpagata, see below), etc.; Śikṣ 246.16 (tatra katamo 'bhdhātuh') yad idam asmin kāye 'dhyātmaṃ pratyātmaṃ āpaḥ, abgatam, aptvaṃ snehaḥ (abgatam perhaps what is water), snehagatam snehatvaṃ... on drṣṭi-gata and rūpagata, which seem hardly distinguishable in mg. from drṣṭi and rūpa, see s.vv. (the former is found in Pali, the latter in AMg.).

gataka, adj. (gata plus specifying -ka), the one who has gone: Mv 11.216.18 udakahāri gatako.

gata-pratyāgatikā, Bbh 122.18-19, or °tika-tā (v.l. gati-pratyāgatikā) 121.20 (cf. Skt. gata-pratyāgata, gone and come back), the coming back again after having gone: Instr., (na ca bodhisattvo yācanakam) punaḥ-punaryācanatayā gata° tayā (or, gati° kayā)... parkīṣṭya dānam dadāti.

gati, f., (1) (= Pali id.) state of existence, into which rebirth is possible; destiny, (future) state. As in Pali, there are normally five: hell (naraka, niraya; nārāyika), animals (tiryak, tiryagyonī, tiryaggata), ghosts (preta, yamaloka, °kika), gods, men; or six, with addition of asuras. The first three are evil, durgati (tisṛṇām durgatīnām SP 260.8, listed 9), or apāya, q.v. A brief summary of the 5 or 6 gati in LaVallée Poussin, AbhidhK. 11.11. Lists of 5, Gandhālamkārarucirāsubhagarbhā, n. of a lokadhātu: Gv 81.19.

gandhika, (1) at end of Bhvr. cpds. (= Skt. gandhin; in Skt. only Lex., except pejoratively = having only the smell [semblance] of . . .), having the odor of . . . Mv 1.168.16 mukham cotpalagandhikam, and his mouth is lotus-scented: Divy 120.2 (bhūmipradeśam . . .) niṣpūtigandhikam; in LV 293.5-6 (vs) prob. pejorative, as in Skt. (above), yasya guṇaḥ satatam guṇagandhikā bhonti surāsurasayakṣamahoragāḥ, by reason of whose virtues the gods . . . (etc.) are (or perhaps, with v.l. bhānti, appear) possessed of a mere semblance of virtue (in comparison); (2) m. (= Pali id., Skt. gāndhika), a perfumer, dealer in perfumes: Mv 1.38.1; 44.5; III.113.7; 442.13; in Divy mss. vary with gāndhika (see note on 348.23): ga° 351.2, 5; 647.3; 649.19.

-gandhinikā, adj. fem. (to gandhin-I, § 22.34), perfumed, in LV 322.9 (vs) surabhivaragandhinikā, said by the daughters of Māra of themselves, speaking to the Bodhisattva.

Gandhottama, n. of a Buddha in the zenith: Sukh 98.15.

gabhira, adj. (m.c. for gabhira, gambhira), deep, profound: Sukh 7.18 (vs).

gamantra, nt., a high number: Mvy 7882, cited from Gv 133.17; = Tib. gzhal ḥkhor, which seems to support ga-mātra, q.v.; prob. = saṃgamantrā Gv 106.7.

gamātra, m., = prec.: Mvy 7753 = Tib. gzhal (= mātra) ḥkhor (go around).

gamika, m. (= Pali id.; opp. āgamika, q.v., or āgantuka = Skt. id.) (a monk) settling out on a trip: Mvy 8747; Divy 50.27 āgantukasya gamikasya glānasya etc., Av 1.87.3 (asti te . . . vjīte) kaścid vihāro yatrāgantukā gamikāś ca bhikṣavo vāsam kalpayiṣyanti; id. 4; MSV II.84.9.

Gambhīradharmaśrisamudraprabha, n. of a Tathāgata: Gv 282.9.

Gambhīranirghoṣa, n. of a nāga: Mvy 3338.

Gambhīrapakṣa, n. of a king: Mmk 621.2 (so read for text °yakṣa). Cited from Wassiliew by BR 5.1369.

Gambhīrabuddhi, n. of a former Buddha: Mv 1.138.4.

Gambhīreśvara, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.18.

gamyā, adj., belonging to, property of (with gen.):

Divy 42.28 (yasya nāmnā vahanam) samsiddhayānapātrām āgacchati tat tasya gamyā bhavati; 232.26 (after almost the same first clause) tasyaiva tāni ratnāni gamyāni; 243.19 (etat suvarṇam) asmākaṁ gamyā.

gamyate (pass. of gam, cf. BR s.v. gam 5; but I find no record of the pass. in this use), it is possible, there is opportunity (with infin.): Mv II.248.(17-18) yadi tava abhiprāyo, āgaccha; nānāprakārāṇi phalāni paribhoktum tahiṁ gamyate.

Gayā-kāśyapa (= Pali Gayā-kassapa), n. of one of Buddha's disciples, mentioned with his brothers Uruvilvā-kāśyapa and Nadi-k°, qq.v.: Mv III.102.13; 103.2; 430.13, 18; 432.8; SP 2.2; 207.3; LV 1.11; Mvy 1064 (Uru° and Nadi° 1049, 1050); Sukh 2.5.

Gayāśīrṣa, m. (= Pali Gayāśīsa, Skt. Gayāśīras, Gāyā°), n. of a mountain near Gayā: Mvy 4116; LV 246.8; 248.7; Mv II.121.1; 200.9.

gara-dattaka, adj. (specifying ka, § 22.39), one that has been poisoned, given poison: Mmk 53.26 (prose) °kaṁ (sc. ālikhet) ekākṣareṇaiva mantreṇaiva udakam sapta-bhimantritam kṛtvā tatralva maṇḍalamadhye pātayitavyaḥ, mucyate. On the construction (poison-given = poisoned) cf. pw s.v. dā 10, garm or viṣam dā with acc. (as well as gen.); this is the passive equivalent of that syntax. Cf. also -garādi-pradattam Mmk 82.13.

garahati (= Pali id., Skt. garhati), censures: Mv II.376.4 (vs; metr. required).

Garuḍa, n. of a yakṣa on (Mt.) Vipula: Māy 5. Occurs as n. of a yakṣa also in AMg. (Ratnach.)

garuḍa-lipi, a kind of script: LV 126.3 (confirmed Tib., nam mkhaḥ ldiḥ).

gargari (in Skt. churn; = Pali gaggari, regularly kammāra-ga°, usually karmāra-ga°, blacksmith's bellows: LV 251.17 tad yathāpi nāma karmāragargaryām (pw with only Calc. °rāyām, rendered churn) mathyamānāyām uccaśabdo . . . niścarati; same figure Mv II.124.12 karmāragargari dharmamānā; 232.2 gambhīram sya (mss. °rasya) tad āśvāsam karmārāṇām va (mss. ca) gargari.

Gargā (corresp. to Pali Gaggara), n. of a pool at Campā where Buddha stayed: MSV II.202.12; 203.1.

Garjaṇi, n. of a rākṣasī: Māy 243.23.

Gardabha(ka) (cf. Pali Gadrabha, a yakkha), n. of a yakṣa: °bha MSV I.15.4 ff.; °bhaka I.16.15; Māy 37; Samādḥ p. 43, line 20.

Gardabhakātyāyaṇi, n. of the gotra of the nakṣatra Pūrvaśāḍha: Divy 640.20.

gardula, gardūra, gardūla (m. or nt.; = Pali gaddula, °ūla, thong), (1) thong, bond: LV 207.17 (prose) iha te bālā viparivartante kurkurā iva gardūla-(so read with some mss., v.l. gandūla, gadūla, etc.; Lefm. em. śardūla)-baddhāḥ, . . . like dogs tied to a thong; MadhK 218.6 (sattvānām . . .) tṛṣṇā-gardūra-baddhānām (so mss., ed. em. wrongly °gaṇḍura; cf. Pali tapā-gaddūla-); (2) some kind of forest plant (perhaps one used in making thongs?): as fuel for fire, parallel with araṇi, Śikṣ 248.6-7, text garbhala- (corrected in ms. to gardūla, which read) -sahagatebhyo vā; eaten by ascetics, LV 213.12 (vs) śāka-syāmāka-gardūla-bhākṣāś ca; 258.10 (vs) syāmāka-śāka-bhākṣā mṛṇāla-gardūla-kaṇā-bhākṣāḥ (here short u could be m.c., but it occurs also in Pali gaddula).

Garbha, n. of an author: Sādh 295.18.

Garbhāhārīṇi, n. of a rākṣasī: Māy 243.19.

? garbholika, in upari-garbholikam (to be read as one word; sc. āsanam) AsP 488.20, having (some sort of) cover on top; parallel to goṇikāstīrṇam, kāsikavastrapratyāstaraṇam (read kāsī°), etc. The word is otherwise unknown, obscure in etymology, and perhaps corrupt. Possibly read for the cpd. a word containing ubhayato-lohita-(upadhānam, or the like), cf. Sukh 67.8; Mv II.115.16-17; III.70.2 (all similar passages).

galita, of Buddha's voice, perhaps fluent: Mv 1.315.3

*tam (so or *tam mss.; Senart em. gaditam, but his note retracts the em.) āviṣṭam bhāṣati, metr. dubious; i.171.11 galita-pada-samcayavati, of Buddha's voice. It would perhaps be rash to read agallita, which is used in Pall in the sense of (not dropping,) fluent, distinct, agreeable (CPD). Relation of the two forms obscure.

gallī (v.l. gallikā; unrecorded; cf. ardhā-gallī), some sort of vehicle: Mv ii.434.8 (prose). Doubtless = AMg. (etc.) gaḍḍī, cart.

gava, m. (Skt. only in cpds., = go), bull, ox: SP 363.10 (vs) mahiṣā gavā ye.

Gavayaśīrṣa, n. of a nāga-king: Māy 246.28.

Gavā, n. of a nagarāvalambikā (q.v.) at Senāpatī-grāma who gave a rag garment to the Bodhisattva: Mv iii.311.18; 312.12.

? Gavādevagupta (so all mss.; Senart em. Sarva-deva?), n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.140.8.

Gavāmpati (= Pall Gavampati), (1) n. of a disciple of Buddha: Mvy 1051; SP 2.4; LV 1.10 (see s.v. Yaśodeva); Mmk 111.12; Sukh 92.8; Karmav 62.3; (2) n. of a nāga-king: Bv 2.10 (cf. 2 Gavampati, in DPPN, who had once been born to a nāga girl).

-gaveśaka, adj. (= Pall -gavesaka), seeking: Sukh 8.13 (vs) śīva-vara-bodhi-gaveśako.

gaveśanā (= AMg. gaveśanā; Skt. Lex. id., and Skt. °ṇa, nt.), search, inquiring, inquiry: LV 182.21 (vs; final metr. indifferent) pariprcchātā kiṃ kuśalam gaveśanā.

gavya-drḍha, m. (Skt. Lex. = gorocanā), a yellow dye made from the bile of cattle: Mvy 5929, in a list of dye-stuffs (Tib. spyin, defined in Dictt. only as paste, glue).

gaha, nt., possibly Mīndic for Skt. grha, house, but acc. to Chin. a shrine, pagoda, or the lower part of one; see § 3.90: Bbh 231.11, 26; 232.7. Cf., however, gahastha.

gahana (nt., or adj.), is sometimes, apparently, involved in word-plays with grahaṇa, q.v. (on the basis of Mīndic pronunciation of the latter). In Śikṣ 286.1 (asāṭhatā śaṭheṣu,) amāyāvitā gahanacariteṣu (this is the clear intention of the ms., see ed. note, and must be read), kṛtajñatā akṛtajñeṣu, etc., the Tib. is said to render guilelessness among the guileful, which is supported by the parallel phrases surrounding this. The transl. of Bendall and Rouse renders gahana-carita overreaching; it seems more likely to mean of obscure, hidden (or perhaps tangled) conduct, and so tricky. See next (apparently a quite unrelated confusion).

gahanatā (app. = Pall gahana, below; cf. prec.), designates some sort of heresy: Śikṣ 172.3 (prose) idam agraṃ mithyādrṣṭināṃ, yad uta gahanatā-drṣṭiḥ. Ed. note refers to Dh. comm. iii.494.1 (on Dh. 318 micchādīṭṭhi-samādinā) gahana-samkhātāya micchādīṭṭhiyā samādinatā, from being taken by the heresy called gahana; the domal n suggests connexion with Skt. and BHS grahaṇa, which Bendall says is also shown by the Tib. rendering, which he quotes as gziṃs pa (connecting it with ḥdzin pa). The Dh. context suggests that it consists in taking what is sinful for no sin, and vice versa; perh. then lit. holding (perverse views on morals)? Unfortunately I find no other evidence for the heresy referred to, in either Pall or BHS. Bendall and Rouse: the chiefest of all false doctrine, that is, the heresy of clinging to the world (would this be called a false doctrine, drṣṭi?).

gāḍha (m.? = Skt. and Pall gādha; see also gāha), firm ground, solid basis: in alabdha-gāḍha (Senart °dhā, mss. °dham, which could stand as adv., °dhe, or once °gāho) Mv iii.284.2, 11 paribāhīro (q.v.) bhavati alabdha-g, ... not finding any basis (support). Cf. Skt. agādhe gādham icchatām Mbh. (Calc.) 7.91; gādha in Pall often with esati, vindati, labhati. In Mv iii.285.13 mss. agāhe gāham eṣatha, which may be kept, see gāha; Senart em. agādhe gādham, which is read by some mss. in the same vs LV 379.11 (Lefm. with v.l. agādhe gādham, also eṣata). Cf. also next.

gāḍham, adv. (to Skt. gādha, adj., firm), certainly, assuredly; in this sense modelled on bādham, which is used in the same way in Skt.: LV 121.4 (prose) bādham gāḍham kriyatām, certainly, decidedly let it be done.

gādha (m.; in mg. ford, solid ground, firm basis, in Skt. and Pall, see s.vv. gādha, gāha), basis, in the sense of occasion, opportunity, (to do something, dat., quasi-infinitive): AsP 472.3 (avatāraṃ na labhate grahaṇāya) gādham na labhate.

Gāndharva, n. of a cakravartin: Mv i.153.16.

Gāndhāra, n. of a maharṣi: Māy 256.31.

gābhīra-tā, deepness, depth: Mv ii.148.3 (prose) (kleśasātānām) gābhīratā. Skt. Gr. records gāmbhīra, adj. acc. to BR, pw 7.338; but gābhīra-, if not a corruption, is most likely a replacement of gambhīra by the 'Morengesetz' (§ 3.3).

(-gāmika as in Skt. = -gāmin: in LV 397.16, vs, read with all mss. and Mv iii.316.20 pratisrotagāmiko mārgo, which Lefm. wrongly em.)

-gāminikā (to gāmini, f. of gāmin, § 22.34), going: °kāṃ LV 323.3 (vs), of a daughter of Māra.

gāyanaka, m. (= Skt. gāyana), singer: in lists of entertainers of all kinds, Mv iii.113.4 (here mss. śāya°); 255.12; 442.10.

gāyita (nt.), song: LV 194.4 (vs) no nṛtte na ca gāyite (Calc. gāyane, most mss. gāyate, ms. A text na ramite).

gārava, nt. (= Pall id., for Skt. gaurava; vṛddhi to Mīndic garu, Geiger 34), reverence, respect: Mv ii.230.7; 373.3; iii.345.18; 372.5; 430.11 (in the last three v.l. gaur°).

gārdha, nt. (so Mironov without v.l.) or gārdhā, f., desire: Mvy 2227 = Tib. zhen pa. In pw 7.338 this is called an error for gārdhya; but the latter is recorded only once in Skt. (BR 7.1738), and a vṛddhi formation in suffixal -a is as natural as one in -ya.

gārhapatika, adj. (to grhapati plus -ika; cf. Pall gahapatika), of a householder: MSV ii.161.6.

gāvī (Pali and Skt. Gr. id.), cow: Mv ii.125.4 (prose) gāvīye, gen. sg.; Sādh 182.4 and 187.17 (prose) raktavarṇa-gāvī-(text em. go-)ghṛtena.

gāha (m.; Mīndic for gādha, q.v.), = gādha and (Skt., Pall) gādha: Mv iii.285.13, mss. agāhe gāham eṣatha.

girā (= Pall, Skt. Lex. id.; Skt. gir, f.), voice, speech: SP 152.2 girām, acc. sg.; Mv i.163.16 -girāhi, inst. pl.; ii.143.23 girām acc. sg.; LV 360.15 girā, n. sg. (all vss). See also next, -giri-.

Giri, n. of a nāga-king (cf. next): Māy 246.32. In LV 393.3 (vs) I am doubtful of -giri-, which seems to stand for a form of gir(ā), speech, words, and suggest em. to -gira-, m.c. for -girā, see prec. Text apagata-giri-vāpatho hy alipto, said of the Buddha: unstained, because beyond the range of speech in words; in Skt. (atīta-)vāpatha (not well defined in BR) means (beyond) the range of words, inexpressible, indescribable; some such meaning must be involved here. Mss. vākyaṭho, but Tib., otherwise not clear, confirms a form of -path(a): tshig bral dag gi lam (= way) gyis (inst.; does this point to a reading -pathā?) mī gos pa, which seems to mean not stained by the way of those deprived of speech. But Calc. and Foucaux understand apagatagiri as a separate word (loc. absolute), which may be right.

Girika, (1) n. of a jackal, in the Vṛṣabha-jātaka: Mv iii.28.8 ff. Cf. Pall Girīya, n. of a jackal, Jāt. iii.322.1; but the story is not the same; (2) n. of a nāga-king (cf. Giri): Mvy 3253; Māy 246.33; (3) n. of a weaver's son: Divy 374.14 (also Caṇḍa-girika, q.v.).

Girīkūṭa, n. of a yakṣa: Māy 24.

Giripradīpa, n. of a Buddha: Gv 259.18.

Girimāṇḍa, n. of a yakṣa: Māy 38.

Giriyagra-samāja (v.l. Giri-m-agra°; Mīndic for Giriyagra°; = Pali Giragga-samajja, nt., mountain-top festival, n. of a festival held at Rājagṛha (see Hardy, Album Kern, 61 ff.): Mv iii.57.6 Rājagṛhe ... Gir°samajjam nāma parvam; also 12. Also called Girivaigusamāgama, q.v. Cf. samajja.

Girirāja, n. of a Buddha: Gv 258.17.

Girirājaghoṣa, n. of a former Buddha: Sukh 5.12.

Girirājaghoṣeśvara, n. of a former Buddha (in same list as prec.): Sukh 6.7.

Girivaigu-samāgama, m. (doubtless corruption for Giriyagra-) = Giriyagga-samajja, q.v.: Av ii.24.6 Rājagṛhe ... Gir°gamo nāma parva (mss. °vata[m]). girisāra-candana (cf. Skt. Lex. girisāra, n. of Mount Malaya, noted as home of sandalwood), sandalwood from Mt. Malaya; Mv ii.310.4.

Giriyagra-samajja, see Giriyagra°.

glāna, °naka (= Paḥ, both; Skt. glāna, BHS glāna and glānaka), weak, exhausted, sick: °na LV 189.19; Mv i.117.7; ii.153.19 (prose); °na-bhaṣajya SP 13.12; 119.10; 284.8; Mv ii.221.5 °naka-tva, see glānaka.

gillapeṭṭa, adj., pot-bellied: Mvy 8889 = Tib. gsus ḥphyan, lit. with belly hanging down, same as lambodara 8890; spelled gillapeṭṭha MSV iv.194.8 (here as term of abuse).

Gītā, Song, personified as one of eight deities or (324.6) yoginis: Sādh 157.12 and 324.6 Lāsya-Mālyā (324.6 Mālā-Gītā-Nṛtya-Puspā-Dhūpā-Dīpā-Gandhās ca (324.6 °Gandhādy-aṣṭayoginibhir. . .); et alibi.

Girghoṣākṣaravimukta, m., n. of a samādhi: ŚsP 1423.19. This form, which also occurs in other lists of samādhis in ŚsP, is corrupted in Mvy to Nirghoṣā°, q.v. guḍa, nt. (in Skt. m.), ball: LV 339.11 (vs) kecit sumerusadrśān (note m. form) ayasā (v.l. °so) guḍāni ... nīkṣipanti.

guḍāguṇjika-bhūta, adj., Mvy 5391; so also Mironov; but guṇjika seems impossible; see s.v. guṇāva-gunṭhita-bhūta; the mg. of these two cpds. is substantially identical and both go back to one original.

guḍāyati (cf. s.v. guḍugudāyate), thunders, roars (of the noise of a thunder-storm): LV 308.4 (vs) deva guḍāyati (v.l. gud°).

guḍikā (cf. Skt. guḍa), in mālā-guḍikā (nānāpuspā-nām) Mv 1.302.16, cluster (of garlands); cf. (mālā-)guṇa (2), and Pali mālā-guḷa, -guṇa, id.

guḍugudāyate (onomat., cf. guḍāyati, and gulgula and following; also Skt. guḍugudāyana, noise of rumbling in the belly), makes a kind of noise, said of serpents: Megh 288.15 °ḍāyamānā(h).

guṇa, (1) m. (Skt. and Pali id., not recorded in this use), advantage: Mv i.155.7 (vs) kam vā guṇam karoti, or what good does it do? what use is it?; (2) m. (= Pali guṇa), cluster, bouquet, garland: LV 214.19 (vs) sugandhamālām guṇapūspasamcayām (acc. pl.), bunches of flowers in clusters, of garlanded flowers; kanṭhe-guṇa, see this; mālā-guṇa-parikṣiptaḥ Mvy 9463. See also antra-guṇa (in which guṇa may perhaps mean lit. garland, chain, i. e. of the intestines).

guṇaka, m. (= Skt. guṇa, in vallakī-guṇa, BR; perhaps -ka m.c.), string (of a musical instrument): Mv iii.82.4 (vs) ekādaśīm ca vīṇām vādentī vallakī-so Senart em., mss. vallīhi, vallakīhi)-guṇakām ca.

Guṇākara, n. of a lokadhātu in the southeast: LV 292.19.

Guṇāgradhārin, n. of a former Buddha: LV 172.9.

guṇa-bhūta, adj. (for Skt. guṇa°, with ā m.c.), dependent: Mv i.182.4 (vs) tasya sarvaṃ guṇābhūtam atītānāgatasthitam.

guṇāvagunṭhita-bhūta, adj. (see below for Pali), LV 205.11, entangled in (or like; a maze or tangle of) cords (threads). Corresp. to Mvy 5391 guḍa-guṇjika-bhūta, q.v., = Tib. dru gu (ball or skeln of thread) ḥdziṅs pa (implicatus, embrouillé, Dict. Fr. Cath. Miss.) lta bu, become as it were mixed up in a skein of thread. Parts of this old cliché in Mvy 5390-93 and in LV l.c., and repeatedly in Pali, see PTSD s.v. guḷā, which misinterprets; an approximation to the Tib. transl. of this word (with jāta for bhūta) is given in Pali comms., e. g. DN comm. ii.495.24 ff. LV: aho vatāham ... lokasya tantrākula-jā-tasya (q.v.; so mss.) guṇāvagunṭhitabhūtasya- (here Mvy adds muñja-balabajajata, q.v., with Pali) -javamjavasamāpannasyāsmāt etc. (for the rest see s.v. ājavamjava; Pali lacks this part, at least in most occurrences). The tradition, both Pali and BHS, is confused on the form of this word, but there seems no doubt of the essential meaning, as stated above. Instead of guṇa, thread, Mvy has guḍā, ball (sc. of thread; both Tib. dru gu and Pali comms. prove this mg., against PTSD). In Pali the mss. in different occurrences show guḷā, guḷi, guṇa, kulā, kula, etc.; I suspect the orig. may have been guḍā (Pali guḷā), as in Mvy, but note the Pall v.l. guṇa as in LV; the mg. of the two is practically identical here. The second member appears in Pall as guṇṭhita, guṇṭhika, guṇḍika, guṇḍika, ganṭhita, gandhika, etc.; in LV avagūṇṭhita, in Mvy guṇḍika which seems to be unparalleled and uninterpretable. The orig. was most likely guṇṭhita; but possibly guṇṭhika (Pali, prob. based on a Mindic guṇṭhiya, really = guṇṭhita), or guṇḍita (AMg. guṇḍa, °ya).

Guṇāsaha (? m.c. for Guṇasaha), apparently n. of a nāga: Mahāsamāj. Waldschmidt, Kl. Skt. Texte 4, 177.4 (vs); text printed guṇā saha; Chin. transliteration Yū-nang-so-ho = gu-na-sa-ha, acc. to W.

? guṇṭha, m. or nt., covering?, in LV 284.15 (prose) (divya-mānuṣyaka-mālyā-vilepana)-guṇṭha-parigṛhītābhīḥ (nāgakanyābhīḥ). Tib. lacks vilepana, and for guṇṭha (most mss. and Calc. guṇa) has brgyus pa, acc. to Das = grathita, make a string of, stitch together. If correct, the cpd. would seem to mean enveloped in a covering of...

guṇya, adj. (cf. AMg. guṇṇa; adj. from guṇa), apparently relating to virtues (guṇa, in some sense, not precisely clear owing to lack of context), the fifth sort of pūṇyakriyāvastu, q.v.: Mvy 1704 guṇyam (without pūṇyakriyāvastu, which is added to the first four sorts; possibly then as substantive?) = Tib. yon tan (regularly = guṇa).

gutti (Mindic for gupti, which is recorded in Skt. Lex. in this sense, and similarly AMg. gutta), hole or cave, used as lair by animals: Mv 1.20.6 and 23.1 randhreṣu (? mss. corrupt) vā guttisū vā kārasū vā bandheṣu vā sāhikānām vā kimpuruṣ(ak)āṇām (? see s.v.) vā undurūṇām vā biddālānām vā ajagaraṇām vā bile(ṣu) ... However, the whole passage is doubtful; mss. very corrupt.

Gupta, n. of a perfumer: Divy 348.23; 351.5 ff.; 385.6; MSV 1.4.2. On gupta see also s.v. gupti.

Guptakāma, n. of a disciple of Buddha: Mv 1.182.20. Guptā, n. of a yakṣiṇī: Sādh 561.2; 562.4.

gupti, f., in Mv nt. in form (n. sg. °tim), in Mv sometimes written gupta, nt., seems to be false Sktization of the word which appears in Pall as kuttī, apparently = Skt. kṛpti, form, formation, fashion: note esp. svara-gupti = Pali sara-kuttī (Jāt. vi.293.19; Vin. ii.108.18, comm. 1202.6 = sara-kiriyā), form (timbre? so Lévi, JAs. 1915, I, 404 n.) of voice, Bbh 61.(18)-20 (yādrśī teṣām varṇapūṣkalatā bhavati, tādrśī tasya; yādrśa āroha-pariṇāha, tādrśas tasya bhavati); yādrśī svara-guptis teṣām, tādrśī tasya bhavati (Chin. acc. to Wogihara sound, i. e. perhaps timbre, of words); very similarly Divy 222.21 (Indra made Mordhāta like himself; there was no difference between them, na ... nānākaraṇam vā yad utāroha-pariṇāho (so read with mss., as in Bbh; ed. em. °hau) varṇapūṣkalatā svara-guptyā svaragupter nānyatra ...; see also s.v. guptikā; in Mv a dozen times in a cliché where gupti (sometimes written gupta) is parallel and synonymous with līṅga, dhvaja, and kalpa (sometimes ākalpa; cf. Jāt. vi.293.19 ākappaṃ sara-kuttim vā na rañño sadisam ācare); with minor variants the cliché reads yam (yat) kim(c)d) grhi- (or ṛṣi-, parivṛājaka-, tirthika-) līṅgaṃ grhi-(etc.)-guptiṃ (mss. sometimes guptam, very rarely guptiḥ; Senart sometimes em. gupti) grhi-(etc.)-dhvajam grhi-(etc.)-kalpaṃ (mss. sometimes ākalpaṃ) sarvaṃ (sam)-antar(a)hītaṃ (antarahāye), describing sudden and miraculous changes in heretics upon their conversion — they suddenly appear like Buddhist monks: Mv ii.234.(3)-4; iii.65.(3)-4; 92.(8)-9; 180.14; 181.5; 329.11; 379.14; 413.(11)-12; 423.8; 430.16; 432.2; here prob. belongs also ācāra-gupti-kuhaka(h) śramaṇaḥ KP 121.3; 123.1, 8; ācāraguptiḥ kuhako 126.12; here Tib. renders literally, (hypocritical) while guarding (propriety of conduct); as KP 123 makes clear in detail, it refers to a monk who goes thru all the external proper forms of behavior but for interested, selfish motives (hence kuhaka); 2d and 3d Chin. translations render ācāra-gupti by (having) dignity of demeanor, and prob. gupti really meant external form, as very clearly in Mv. See next but one, and cf. gutti (for Skt. gupti, in a different sense).

Guptika, n. of a householder's son of Saupāraka: Av ii.167.5 ff.

guptika = gupti, q.v., form, fashion (of voice): Divy 20.23, text parāntikayā (read prob. aparān°, see aparāntaka) guptikayā; certainly refers to the voice in which verses were recited. (Index depth of voice, certainly wrongly.) Same passage MSV iv.188.8 svara-guptikayā.

gumugumunti, 3 pl. (cf. Skt. gumagumāyita; AMg. gumagumanta, etc.), onomat., they make a (pleasant) noise (subject, lutes): Mv iii.267.3 vallaki-parivādinīyo (so Senart em., mss. °vādanīyo, °vāñīyo) madhuraṃ gu° koṇa-parigṛhātita.

Guru, n. of a maharṣi: Māy 256.24.

guruka, adj. (1) (= Skt. guru), serious, weighty; prañidhānam gurukaṃ SP 242.4 (prose); important (of persons), influential (?), rājño kumāresmiṃ guruko preṣya(h), tena bhūyo-bhūyaḥ prcch(yamānena āckṣi-tam Mv ii.73.13 (prose; so read, with mss. except for parenthetized letters), there was an important servant of the king in the prince's presence; he, on being asked (by the prince) repeatedly, said... (Senart em. violently and needlessly); esp. at the end of Bhvr. cpds., LV 20.4, 5 (prose) yadā brāhmaṇa-guruko (and kṣatriya-gu°) loko bhavati, when brahmins (kṣatriyas) are dominant in the world; (2) (= Pali garuka) bent, intent on; eagerly desirous, covetous of, with gen. or in comp.; regularly of desires that are disapproved: lābha-guruko °bhūt satkāra-guruko jñātra- (q.v.; so read with v.l. for jñāta-) guruko SP 22.4 (prose); lābha-g°, satkāra-g° Mv i.89.12-13; jñātra-g° RP 34.4 (cf. SP 22.4 above); gurukaḥ Mvy 6773 = Tib. gduṅ ba, gdu ba, longing, lustful (esp. in bad sense); lābha-satkāra-śloka-g° RP 58.5; āmiṣa-g° RP 35.2; lokā-miṣa-g° Śikṣ 20.17; yācana-g° 145.2, eager for alms; upasthāna-g° 199.17 covetous of service; middha-guruko ... kāyaguruko ... sa tena middhagurukatvena ... kāyaklamathena samanvāgato na śrotukāmo bhaviṣyati AsP 245.9, similarly 13; also of desires which are approved, satya-g° Śikṣ 12.8; dharma-g° Śikṣ 323.1; dharmasamādāna-g°, samparāya-g° Bbh 7.1; samādhisambhāra-g° Bbh 395.2; also pratisaṃlayana (q.v.)-guruko.

Gurujanapūjita, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.141.1.

Gurudeva, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.141.12.

gurudharma, m. (= Pali garudhamma), important rule of conduct: Bhik 4b.2; 6a.3. There are eight such for nuns, listed Bhik 4b.5-6a.2; they correspond approximately, but with some variation and in a different order, to the Pali list Vin. ii.255.5 ff.

Gurupādaka, m., n. of a mountain: Divy 61.20, 22 (prose).

guruputraka, some kind of heretical ascetic or sectarian, in a cpd. containing a list of them: Mv iii.412.7 tre-(Senart traī-, em.) daṇḍika-m-ānandika-gu°-gautama-dharmacintikavṛddhaśrāvaka-(ṛṭṭīyā ulūkapakṣika-bhagini śramaṇa).

Gururatna, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.140.14.

[gurula, in Śikṣ 271.13 anubadha(q.v.)-gurulādyavavicārād, read anubandha-guru-(should be gaurava)-lāghava-vicārād; transl. after full consideration of advantage and disadvantage.]

gurvinikā (= Skt. gurviṇī; -ka prob. m.c.), (a) pregnant (woman): SP 363.11 (vs) striyaś ca yā gurvinikā bhavanti.

Gulā, n. of a rākṣasi: Māy 243.14.

gulugula, onomat. (cf. s.v. guḍugudāyate, and see the foll. items; cf. AMg. gulagula, gulagulāya, a sound made by elephants; Skt. gulugulita, id., Skt. gulugulāyate, 'lā-śabda, Schmidt, Nachträge, of the thunder of clouds), a sound made by serpents: 'lena Megh 304.8; 'lā-śabda 308.18.

gulugulāyati (see under prec.), thunders, roars (of clouds): Mmk 294.12 meghā 'yanti.

guluguluyati (see s.v. gulugula), makes a kind of noise, of serpents: 'luyanto, pres. pple. Megh 304.19.

(gulma, a kind of fee, perhaps transit fee, fee for pass, or customs fee; occurs in Skt., Kaut. Shama Sastri 1st ed. 99.2; 143.4 śulka-vartanyātivāhika-gulma-tara-deya-, see Meyer's transl. 149 n. 1: Divy (Index wrongly wharf-dues) 92.27 na gulma-tarapanyātiyātrā-bhayam; 291.25 aśulkañ agulmān muñceyam, and fl.; aśulkenāgulmenātarapanyena Divy 34.13; 501.23; Av 1.199.12.)

gulmaka, (1) (cf. Pali maccha-gumba, a lot of fish; AMg. gumma = samūha, Ratnach.), bunch: LV 72.6 (prose) māyā devī tṛṇa-gulmakam api dharaṇitālā ut-kāṣṭhya. In the vs equivalent 75.1 tṛṇasya tūll; (2) (= Skt. gulma) division of an army: MSV 1.95.20.

gulmalā, sc. līpi, a kind of writing: Mv 1.135.7.

Guhagupta, (1) n. of a Bodhisattva: Kv 1.9; Mvy 716 (so also Mironov) = Tib. phug sbas; (2) so doubtless read in SP 3.11 for Guhyagupta of both edd., Tib. printed phug spas (both Burnouf's and Kern's transl. Guhagupta), here as one of 'sixteen virtuous men' (satpuruṣa, q.v.).

guhati? prob. error for gūhati, q.v.

guhā, cave as a residence for Buddhas (or monks): Mv 1.54.5 (prose) sapta-ratanamayānām guhānām aśīti sahasrāṇi Arko rājā adāsi Parvata-nāmasya (sc. Bud-dhasya).

Guhāvāsini, n. of a yakṣiṇī: Mmk 567.11, 21 (here Guhya°); 568.2 (here Guha°; the last two are prose and should certainly be read Guhā°).

guhmita, ppp. (falsely Sktized. form based on Pkt. gumbadi, Saur., see Sheth, = Skt. gumphayati), strung together: RP 47.3 'tā dharmamālā.

guhya = guhyaka, see next.

Guhyakādhipati (and see Āguhyakā°), Guhyakendra, also twice Guhyādhipati (otherwise guhya for Skt. guhyaka seems unrecorded; the cpds. in Skt. refer to Kubera), epithets of Vajrapāṇi, q.v.: LV 66.5 ... mahāyāsaṇāpatayo Guhyakādhipatī ca nāma yakṣakulam yato Vajrapāṇer utpattis, te ...; plainly stated as ep. of Vajrapāṇi, Guhyakādhi° Mmk 36.2 etc.; Guhyādhi° Mmk 36.6, 21 (both prose; in 21 misprinted Guhyādhi°); Guhyakendra Mmk 548.7. Note that Vajrapāṇi is also called Yakṣendra (Mmk 25.12) and the like.

Guhyagupta, see Guhagupta.

Guhyasamājatantra, n. of a work publ. as GOS 53 (1931), ed. Bhattacharya; with alternative title Tathāgataguhyaka; but clearly not the work cited in Śikṣ as Tathāgataguhyasūtra, q.v.; see Winternitz, Hist. Ind. Lit. 2.635.

Guhyādhipati, see Guhyakādhi°.

gūtha, nt. (Skt. Lex. m., nt., once in late and prob. artificial use, Schmidt, Nachträge, and in karna-g°, m.; see also gūthaka, gūthodigalla), excrement: Mvy 4064 and Mv 11.326.3 gūtham, n. sg.; Śikṣ 57.7 gūtha-; Mmk 60.3 gūtha-prasrāvam utsrjet, so em. Lalou, Iconographie, 27 n. 5, with Tib. for text kuṭi°; ŚsP 1431.12-13, passage cited Śikṣ 210.14, akṣi-gūtham karna-gūtham, n. sg., excretions from the eyes and ears, in ŚsP both times 'gūthakam.

-gūthaka, nt. (Skt. m., only karna-g°) in akṣi-, karna-g°, see s.v. gūtha.

gūthodigalla (m. or nt.; gūtha plus uḍi°. q.v. or oḍi°), cesspool: SP 144.10 (prose; cited s.v. syandanikā); 148.12 apagatagūthodigallam (of a Buddhakṣetra), free of cesspools; here ed. says mss. all read gūthodillam or gūthodiyam, but Kern, note to Transl., SBE 21.146, quotes the mss. as gūthodigalla or 'gilla; in SP 425.10 (prose) all mss. are said to read gūthodilla (except one 'lla)-paripūrṇa. A form of the same word is surely intended by MSV 1v.230.8 gūthodiram (n. sg. nt.; so mss.; ed. em. gūthādhāram).

gūhati, gūhayati (perhaps connected with Skt. Gr. gumpha(ya)ti, Pali ogumpheti; see avagūhayati), winds (garlands): Mv 11.426.19 mālām gūhayati; 427.4 (prose) mālām guhāhi (impv.; short ul); 111.4.1. mālām ... gūhasi (impv. in mg.), v.l. guhasi (unmetrical; cf. preceding citation; the short u is prob. erroneous).

grddha (AMg. giddha; semi-MIndic for Skt. grdhra; in Pali aberrantly gijjha), vulture: LV 77.15 (prose), text grdha, prob. intending grddha, the reading of Weller's ms. 1; 249.1 (prose, no v.l.); Mv 111.456.1 (no v.l.); also in the mountain name Grddha-kūṭa (by the side of Grdhra-, also recorded Mv, see Index), Mv 1.193.8; 11.257.6; 111.197.12, 15; 224.1.

grddhi, f. (= Pali giddhi), greed, eager desire: Mvy 2226; Śikṣ 39.15 (not 'for grdhyam' as Bendall's note suggests); 137.4; Bbh 129.19; AsP 92.2; Jm 136.9.

grdhriṇī (for Skt. grdhri; formed to grdhra as yak-ṣiṇī to yakṣa), female vulture: MSV 11.35.7 (prose).

grhātara, nt. (compv. to Skt. grha; cf. Renou, Gr. sct. 237), superior house, the comp. suffix prob. complimentary; or possibly something like a house (like aśvātara, mule): LV 59.19 śuddhodanena manuṣyātīkrāntam divyā-samprāptam (surpassing human but not equalling divine manhood) grhātaram pratīsamskāritam abhūt (for Māyā).

grhapati (= Pali gahapati), lit. householder, in 'ti-ratna, as one of the 7 'jewels' of a cakravartin: LV 14.5; Mv 1.49.4; 193.17, etc., see the lists s.v. ratna (3). The function of the grhapati-ratna is to discern the location of hidden treasures by means of the divya-cakṣus which he possesses, and bring those of them which are ownerless (asvāmika) into the possession of the king: LV 17.17-22; substantially the same statement in Pali, DN 11.176.7 ff. For this reason, no doubt, PTSD s.v. ratna translates gahapati by treasurer; but there is no clear evidence that he had precisely the functions which we should associate with that title. In Pali a gahapati (see PTSD s.v.) is, to be sure, often associated with seṭṭhi = freethin; the Pali word is often rendered treasurer, but perhaps capitalist would be better (orig. guild-leader).

grhapatika (= 'pati, plus -ka; = Pali gaha°), householder, in cpd. brāhmaṇa-gr° (= Pali brāhmaṇa-ga°), brahmins and ...: Mv 111.317.6, 10; 318.13; 441.21; Śikṣ 38.2.

grhāvāsa, m. (= Pali gharāvāsa; cf. Skt. grha-vāsa), living at home, in the householder's state, contrasted with ascetic life: RP 12.16 (prose), where Finot em. grha°; Jm 181.21 (mss.; Kern em. grha°); Mv 11.50.12, text grhā°, to be sure with v.l. grha°. Pali seems to support grhā° adequately, though elsewhere (e.g. Mv 11.69.1; 117.19) the regular Skt. grha° occurs.

grhītaka (Skt. grhīta plus specifying ka, § 22.39), the one that has been caught, taken: Mv 11.179.9; Mmk 82.25-26.

grhṇana (nt.; nom. act. to grhṇati with suffix ana), act of taking, grasping: Mmk 118.17 śodhana-vadhana-grhṇana-virecanādīni karmāṇi.

geya, nt. (= Pali geyya), the second in the traditional Pali-BHS list of nine (in Mvy twelve) types of Buddhist sacred literature, classified by form and content; mingled prose and verse: (sūtram) geyam (Mvy gey(yaṃ, but Mironov only geyam) (vyākaraṇam...) Mvy 1268; Dharmas 62; (sūtrāṇi... gāthā itivṛttakam jātakam adbhutam ca), nidāna... geyam ca bhāṣāmi tathopadeśān SP 45.7-8 (vss). Tib. on Mvy dbyaṅs kyis bśiad pa, app. narration with verses.

Geya-rājan, n. or title of a cakravartin: Mvy 3593; first element confirmed by Tib. glu dbyaṅs, song. The adjoining parallel names, all ending in -rājan, suggest that Geya- was a locality; perh. cf. Geyamālava or -marthaka (?), Kirfel, Kosm. 74 (from Purāṇas).

gela, m., a high number: Mvy 7762 = Tib. phyag phyig (= next).

gelu, m. (or f.), a high number: geluḥ Mvy 7890, cited from Gv 133.20; = Tib. phyag phyig (= prec.).

gallānya, nt. (or m.?) = Pali galañña; § 3.70; cf. glānya, sickness: Mv III.165.1 (prose, em., but certain; mss. glainānyam); KP 65.6 (prose, text gelānyam); 118.3 (prose) dvau... gallānyo (read 'nyau, dual; as if masc.); in 1 above glānyau, in 7 below dve... glānye, nt. dual); 119.1 (prose) dvau... gallānyau (in 2-3 dvau... glānyo, read 'yau); Samādh p. 52 line 25 (vs) gallānyu (for 'yam); acc. to Kern, Preface vii, viii, SP Kaṣgar rec. has (manda-) gallānya for (manda-)glān(y)a of Nep.

go-kaṇṭaka (Skt. Lex., of ground, roads; cf. Pali gokaṇṭaka-hata, of ground, bhūmi; alleged in Skt. Lex. also to mean the hoofs of cattle), lit. apparently having cattle as 'thorns' = enemies, afflictions; trampled by cattle, of grain: Divy 19.19 kharā bhūmi, gokaṇṭakā dhānā (so mss., ed. em. dhānāḥ). The Pali cpd. could be rendered consistently with this: afflicted because of being trampled by cattle. This seems to be substantially what is meant by AN comm. II.225.11-15.

Gokarṇa, n. of a mountain: Māy 254.5. goghātaka (= Pali id.), beef-butcher: Mvy 3761; *ko vā goghātakāntevāsi vā Mv II.125.3-4; Śikṣ 210.4.

gocara, m., (1) as in Skt., scope, range: Lañk 1.11 svacitta-dṛśya-gocara-pariññāna, knowledge of what has as its scope things perceptible to their own minds (Suzuki, ... the objective world as the manifestation of their own Mind, which is not what the words say); pratyātma-gati-gocaram, what has as its scope the course of the individual self, Lañk 4.16; 5.5; 7.8, 11; atra gambhīre buddha-gocare Śikṣ 174.9, in regard to this profound sphere (range, scope) of the Buddha(s); similarly tathāgatagocarābhīratāḥ LV 180.13; dhyāna-gocarāṇām... laukikasamādhinām LV 244.4; etc., common, but hardly transcending Skt. limits; (2) (also quite close to Skt. usage, but closer to Pali locutions), association, the range of persons with whom one associates; in comp. or parallel with ācāra, right conduct; so also in Pali, ācāra-gocara (dvandva! as all comms. agree; PTSD wrongly) sampanna, perfect in conduct and personal associations, fully explained Vism. 17 f., where proper gocara is defined as avoiding the company of immoral persons, kings and courtiers, heretics, and impious families; so in SP 275.6 a Bodhisattva must be ācāra-gocara-pratiṣṭhita, fixed in (right) conduct and associations, which, as the following makes clear, means (besides good conduct, ācāra) avoidance of kings and courtiers, heretics, worldlings, or even followers of the Hīnayāna (276.1-11, in response to 275.11 katamaś ca... bodhisattvasya... gocarah); in this sense, samtoṣapīḍa me sabrahmacāriṇo, yad uta tena tenācāra-gocara-samudācāreṇeti nihata māno bhavati (does samudācāra, as third member of the cpd., mean address, manner of speaking to people?) Śikṣ 150.21; prob. also samgaṇikayāpi vivekagocarah Śikṣ 202.20, even with company, he is in association with solitude, i. e. he is not contaminated or distracted by crowds; (3) (= Pali id.) sustenance, provisions, food; particularly used (as in Pali) of food for monks: supriyā śrāvastīm abhisamprasthitā gocaravyavalokanārtham Av II.9.1; (pātraci-varam ādāya) śrāvastīm gocarāya prasthitāḥ 114.9; gocara-grāma (= Pali 'gāma), sustenance-village, a village where food is supplied to monks, Mv II.123.19; 127.14; 129.1; 130.4; 131.4; LV 248.9 (read 'grāmam with m. A for ed. 'grāmām); 255.3; 267.12; Av II.145.3; 164.6. Cf. also gocarika (1).

Gocarapariśuddha, nt., n. of a work: Mvy 1376. Cf. next.

Gocarapariśuddhi-sūtra, n. of a work (same as prec.?): Śikṣ 350.21.

—gocarika, adj., (1) providing sustenance (see s.v. gocara, 3) for... (monks): (tatraiko) baṇḍi bhikṣugocarikaḥ Divy 307.21; (2) (= Pali gocariya, see below), ? an epithet of wool, some of which is to be used in making coverlets for monks, Prāt 496.10, 12; they are to be made of two parts 'pure black' (śuddha-kāḍānām) wool, one part white (avadātānām), and the fourth part gocarikānām (gen. pl.), which acc. to Finot is rendered in Chin. by (wool) of inferior quality. In the close Pali parallel Vin. III.226.25 ff. (ignored in PTSD; Childers records it from Minayeff's Prātimokṣa S.) the corresponding epithet, gocariya, is said by the comm. 684.21 to mean tawny (kapilavannānam); this is adopted by Childers; also transl. SBE 13.25 'of the colour of oxen (reddish brown)', or (below) 'tawny'; it seems like a dubious guess.

gocarīn, adj., having as one's scope or sphere; devoted to: rājyakāryu no karoti dharmam eva gocarī LV 76.4 (vs), does not perform the business of kingship, being devoted only to religion (or dharmam eva may depend on implied karoti).

gocarī (*rī?), f. (not in Skt. or Pali, but cf. AMg. gocarī, JM. goyarī, both defined as begging, cf. s.v. gocara 3), = gocarā, course, sphere, range: teṣu (sc. Buddhānām, gen. pl.) ca gocarim (no v.l.) otari nityam Bhad 33 (= Gv 545.22, vs), and may I enter permanently into the range of them (viz. of all Buddhas).

goṇa, m. (= Pali id., also Pkt., Hem. 2.174), or, bull: (gorathakān...) goṇar yojitān SP 75.8 (prose); in vss SP 89.1, 7; 358.1; goṇa-mukhāś ca SP 84.13 (vs), ox-faced (of demons).

goṇasaka, m. (= Skt. gonasa, AMg. goṇ°; -ka possibly m.c.; all mss. goṇa°, ed. em. gona°), a kind of snake: śatāpadī 'kāś ca vyāḍāḥ SP 84.2 (vs).

goṇasika, nt. (v.l. gonasita, with dental n; Mironov as text, v.l. 'sikam), some sort of ornament: Mvy 6037 = Tib. gser gyi mon lhas, which Das renders suvarṇa-dāma, a gold braided head-ornament, also a necklace.

goṇi, n. sg. goṇiḥ, or goṇī (f.?), Mvy 9564 = Tib. do gal gal: Jā. and Das define do gal as important, importance, Das adding as Skt. equivalent gaṇī (but Skt. gaṇa = unimportant, of secondary importance!). Chin. also important. Mironov goṇī, v.l. goṇiḥ.

goṇikā (also spelled gonikā, Sukh 67.6; cf. Pali goṇaka, also gonaka, woolen cover with long fleece PTSD; Skt. goṇī = carmamayam āchādanam, Schmidt, Nachtr.; Gaṇapati Sastri uses śayyāstarāṇa-goṇikāḍīḥ as a gloss on parivāpaḥ Kauṭ. Arth. I, 12th prakaraṇa, line 3), coverlet, blanket: SP 75.7 (gorathakān...) tūlīkā-goṇikāstarāṇān; Mv II.115.16 (paryāṇkā, read 'kāṃ, 'kān, or 'kāni, mss. 'kam...) śoḍaśa-goṇikāstīrṇām; III.70.1 paryāṇkāni... śoḍaśagoṇikāstarāṇāni (Senart em. lomaśa- for śoḍaśa, which is confirmed by prec.; mss. 'goṇikā'); AsP 488.20 (āsanam...) goṇikāstīrṇam; Karmav 22.5 goṇikāstīrṇe paryāṇke niṣaṇṇam; Sukh 67.6 paryāṇkaḥ... anekagonikāstīrṇas; Śikṣ 208.11 -gonikāstarāṇa-.

Gotama, MIndic spelling for Gautama, q.v.: Śikṣ 331.11 (here apparently = Gautama 3).

Gotamī, MIndic spelling for Gautamī, q.v.: LV 201.10 (no v.l. recorded, but Calc. Gau°, perhaps misprint). gotaraṇi, n. sg. 'ṇiḥ, a kind of flower: Mvy 6208 (Tib. transliterates go-ta-ra-ṇi); also in ms. H of LV, see Crit. App. on LV 11.3, cited as govarāṇi, but read gota°, as shown by Tib. which here has ko-ta-ra-ni (dental n).

gotra, m. and nt. (In Skt. only nt., and not in these mss.; Pali Dictt. also fail to record these mss. except in cpd. gotrabhū, q.v.; but Pali gotta seems clearly used in mg. 1, below, in Vism. 1.138.4-5, in definition of gotrabhū: tam parittagottābhībhavanato mahaggaṭtagottābhāvanato ca gotrabhū ti pi vuccati; note how Pali here associates the Sktized gotra-bhū with the MIndic gottā contrast Lévi's note on Sūtrāl. iii.1), (1) lit. family, but in special technical sense of religious group or communion: pañca-gotrāḥ Mvy 1260, listed 1261-5 śrāvaka-yānābhisamaya-gotraḥ, pratyekabuddha-yānā°, tathāgata-yānā°, anyāta-gotraḥ, a-gotraḥ; same five, with -gotraṃ, nt., Lañk 63.2-5 (pañcābhisamaya-gotrāṇi); for the fourth, anyā-taikātara-gotraṃ, 63.4, in the sequel Lañk explains at length the first three; anyāta-, le gotra qui n'est pas défini, Lévi, Sūtrāl. iii.1, note, is briefly treated in Lañk 65.2 f., anyāta-gotrakāḥ punar... trīṣv apy eteṣu deśya-māneṣu yatrānuniyate tatrānuyojyaḥ syāt; apparently this is the class of people who may be drawn to whichever of the three yānas happens to be presented. The a-gotra is not explained but evidently means people outside of any Buddhist communion; in this sense understand gotrāgotraṃ kathaṃ Lañk 25.2, (religious) family and lack of it (dvandva cpd.). Only the first three gotras are listed AbhidhK. LaV-P. vi.175; similarly Bbh 223.5-6 contrasts śrāvaka-pratyekabuddha-gotrāṃ (acc. pl.) with tathāgata-gotrāṇi. In KP 102.9; 103.1, 8 āryāṇām gotraṃ is described as a state in which all normal conditions and activities are at an end, and in 104.1-2 (continuation of the same) it is said, anulomaṃ tad gotraṃ nirvāṇasya. The relation of this to the three or five gotras is not quite clear. In the question, kena pravartitā gotrāḥ suvarṇa-maṇimuktaḥ Lañk 26.3, gotra is prob. used in this same sense, but the adj., sprung from gold, gems, and pearls, is obscure in application; one is tempted to see an allusion (metaphorically) to the next mg., cf. especially suvarṇa-gotra-vat Sūtrāl. iii.9 and suratna-gotra-vat 10, with Lévi's note; but producing gold etc., which one would expect, seems philologically impossible; (2) mine, of gems or ores: Sūtrāl. iii.9, 10, above; sarvaratnasambhavotpatti-gotrākaramūlyajñāneṣu Gv 451.2; dhātu-gotrāṇi, mines of ores (metals), "ni yam paktvā suvarṇa-rūpya-valdūryāṇi ("vald") abhinivartante Divy 111.20, and ("ūrya-sphaṭikāny") 111.28-29, 112.12-13; catvāro dhātu-gotrāḥ pradarśitāḥ MSV 1.106.16; (3) like Skt. ākara, also origin: nikāyagati-gotrā ye Lañk 292.16, paraphrasing nikāyagati sambhavāt (labhyante) 292.13; basis, source, cause, seea, Bbh 2.25 punar etad gotraṃ ādhāra ity ucyate, upastambho hetur nīrāya upanīṣat pūrvamāṃso nīlāya ity ucyate... (3.1 gotraṃ dvividham, prakṛtiṣṭham samudānītam ca, natural and acquired...); 3.6 f. tat punar gotraṃ bhījam ity apy ucyate, dhātuh prakṛti ity api (cf. gotra = bhīja, hetu, AbhidhK. LaV-P. vii.49); (4) prob. as special development of prec., kind, class, category (like Skt. jāti, of similar origin and lit. mg.): nānāratna-gotra-puṣpapratī-maṇḍite Lañk 1.7, adorned with flowers (made of various kinds of jewels; so prob. vijñāpti-gotra-saṃchannam Lañk 269.12, covered by (various) classes of relative (worldly, practical) knowledge (see vijñāpti)).

-gotraka, m., belonging to, a member of a gotra (q.v., 1): anyāta-gotrakāḥ Lañk 65.2; śrāvakayānābhisamaya-gotrakasya 64.2; similarly 64.4, 10, 17; 65.1.

Gotrakṣānti, n. of a kinnara maid: Kv 6.22.

gotrabhū, f. (cf. Pali id., a member of the religious communion, see s.v. gotra, 1), in Lañk 266.2 āśritā sarva-bhūteṣu gotrabhūḥ tarkavarjitā, nivartate kriyāmuktā jñānāñjeyavivarjitā, apparently a fem. collective or abstract, the 'communion of saints', corresponding to the Pali masc. which refers to an individual person. Suzuki, the original source, which is certainly impossible; the word must have some relation to the Pali word, on which see especially Childers, and Lévi, Sūtrāl. iii.1, note.

gotra-bhūmi, f. (see s.vv. bhūmi 4 and gotra, the latter in mg. 1? or 3?), (1) the first of seven bodhisattva-bhūmi: Bbh 367.3; (2) the second of seven śrāvaka-bhūmi: Mvy 1142; ŚsP 1473.11 etc.

gotrāntariya, adj. (see -antariya, °yaka), belonging to a different (religious) 'family' or sectarian school: Karmav 60.9; 167.12.

Godāniya = Apara-go°, q.v.: LV 149.19 (but Tib. nub kyi points to Apara-!); reported also from AbhidhK., iii.145 of LaVallée-Poussin's Transl.; and with short a, Godāniya MPS 31.46.

godoha (m.; Skt. godohana is used in the same way, BR), (the time required for) milking a cow, expression for a short time: antato godoha-mātram api Bbh 156.19; (antaṣa) ekarātrīm dinam apy eka-godoha-mātram api Sukh 72.6.

godha, greed, attachment (cf. Pali gedha, and BHS paligodha, q.v.); must apparently be read for bodha in KP 111.6 (vs) ākāṣa-bodhe imi dve pratīṣṭite, tau bodhisattvena vivarjanīyau; prose above, line 1, ākāṣa-paligodhau, Tib. (nam mkhaḥ la = ākāṣa) yonṣ su (= pari) chags pa (= greed), while in 6 Tib. (nam mkhaḥ la ni) chags pa. It seems that ākāṣa-godhe is intended. But see s.v. 2 bodha. Lin Li-Kouang. Alde-Mémolre 169 n. 6, cites wrongly pali-bodhe.

Godhā-jātaka, nt. (= Pali, commonly cited as Godhā-j°, tho the word for lizard is godhā in Skt.), n. of a jāataka story (= Pali Jāt. 333): Mv ii.67.14 (colophon).

gonāṅgula (m., = Pali id., Therag. 113 = 601; Skt. golāṅgula, id., see golāṅgula-parivartana), lit. cow-tailed, a certain kind of (black-faced) monkey: Mv iii.438.8, read with mss. (one slightly corrupt) gonāṅgula-niṣevitā (parvatām, acc. pl.); Senart em. golāṅgula°.

gonasaka, see gonā°.

gonikā = gonikā, q.v.

go-niṣādikā (= Pali gonisādikā, Vin. 1.240.2; in same context as MSV), cow-resting-place; cow-barn (?), or merely place where cattle rest: MSV 1.135.5, glossed in 13 yatra dvārāntas tad gonisādiketi.

Gopa, n. of a son of Khaṇḍa (2): MSV ii.4.3 ff.

Gopaka, n. of a disciple of Buddha: Karmav 65.7. Perhaps the same as Pali āyasmā Gopako, Vin. 1.300.5.

gopakṣma(n), or °ma-netra, adj. (= Pali gopakkhuma), having (eyes with) eyelashes like a cow's, the 30th of the 32 lakṣaṇa; in Mvy 240 fused with abhinīla-netra into one term, abhinīla-netra-gopakṣmā; gopakṣmā Bbh 376.7; gopakṣmo (read °mā or °mah) sa... Gv 401.22 (prose); gopakṣma (perhaps sc. -netra; -a m.c.) Mv 1.227.2; ii.30.5 (both vss.; in the latter mss. °kṣma, Senart em. °kṣa!); gopakṣma-netra LV 105.15; 432.7 (here text gopekṣa°, v.l. gopakṣa°, read °kṣma°); Dharmas 83 (text gopakṣa-netra-tā, v.l. gopakṣma-bhrū-tā).

Gopagiri, n. of a mountain: Māy 254.10.

Gopā (also Gopī and Gopikā, qq.v.); in Pali a Sākiya girl named Gopī or Gopikā is known, but not identified with the Bodhisattva's wife, n. of a Śākya girl, who in LV and Suv becomes the wife of the Bodhisattva (in most other texts he marries Yaśodharā, q.v.): LV 142.8 ff. (daughter of Daṇḍapāṇi); 157.4 ff.; 194.7 ff.; 230.3 ff.; 237.19; Suv 200.8; in Mvy 1071 Gopī or Gopā, named next to Yaśodharā, but there is no reason to assume their identification (Mironov reads Gopā without v.l.); in Gv 385.6 ff. Gopā occurs as a Śākya-kanyā, who in 420.19 is the daughter of Daṇḍapāṇi (like the Gopā of LV), but there is here no suggestion that she married the Bodhisattva, tho she mentions him 419.20 (as well as Valrocana, 396.23).

gopānāsī (once, in mss., *sa; rare in Skt., see BR 5, Addenda, and pw; = Pali id., essentially Buddhist word; cf. Skt. gopāna, *naka, Acharya, Dict. Hind. Arch. s.v.), framework of a roof, rafters: Mvy 5580; gopānāsī vigaditā tatra sarvā SP 83.5 (vs; of a ruined house); (-sālāyām ... vivrtāyām) gopānasy-antarikāś ca virājante LV 254.11, the interstices of the roof-frame; similarly 256.1 and *śīye antarāṇi, or *śī-antarāṇi, vivatāni Mv II.125.14; 127.1; 128.7; 129.9; because of curvature, used as type of the bent-over posture of old men (so Pali *śī-vaṅka), kubjo *śī-vakro vibhagno LV 188.1; Kv 48.12 (text *paśī°, and wrongly divided in ed.); in parallel passage, bhagno *śī-vakro Mv II.150.19; kubja-gopānāsī-vaṅkā Mv III.283.11; kubja-gopānāsī- (ms. *sa, em. Speyer)-vakrā Av II.25.8.

Gopāla (= Pali id.), n. of a yakṣa: Māy 103; 237.1. Gopālaka, n. of a śreṣṭhin: Gv 525.17.

Gopālī, n. pr.? see s.v. Kumbhakārī (2).

Gopikā = Gopā (and Gopī), wife of the Bodhisattva: *kāya (gen.) LV 235.21 (vs); *ke (voc.) 237.13 (vs); MSV IV.233.17 (but in 234.14 Yaśodharā).

go-pīṭaka, nt., lit. cow-basket; perh. orig. a receptacle for fodder for cattle; but in Mv always used for human (hard or dry) food or cakes (khajja, khajjaka), while soft food (odana, once bhakta, q.v.) is in the same passages placed in the alinda or *dā, q.v.: Mv II.461.21; 462.2, 7, 9, 11; III.15.9, 12; mentioned merely in reference to its size, *ka-mātram, Divy 70.28.

gopitaka, adj. (= Skt. *ṭa, hidden, concealed: (so ca naṃ māso) tatraiva gaṅgākūle *ko abhūṣi Mv III.184.18.

Gopī = Gopā, q.v.: Mvy 1071 v.l. for Gopā (but Mironov only Gopā, no v.l.); as the Bodhisattva's wife, Gopī (voc.) LV 235.22; 237.11 (both vss).

[gopekṣanetra, LV 432.7, corruption for gopakṣma°, q.v.]

? gomaya, m., offal, refuse, if this word is intended in Mv II.65.7 gomāyo ti (so Senart for mss. gometi) kṛtvā na siddhā, thinking it was offal, I did not prepare it as food; foll. by, kumāro āha, na eṣā godhā abhaksyā, bhaksyā eṣā manuṣyāṇām. As Senart remarks, this seems a strange use of gomaya, and I share his suspicion of the reading, but can suggest no good emendation.

gomaya-kārṣī (or -kāśī), (possibly cf. kasso = paṅkaḥ Deśin. 2.27) perhaps a coating of cowdung, possibly mixed with something else, seemingly applied as purification: (grāha sammārjitaṃ) sukumārī *kāṣī dattā Divy 306.23; MSV II.100.13; 129.16; in Divy 338.24 text (sā kuṭikā siktā sammṛṣṭā sammārjitaṃ) sukumārī (note same adj.) gomayakāśīcānupradattā, but mss. *kāśī cānu°, read *kāśī cānu° or *kāṣī cānu°; (gomayena miśrayitvā) yatra caṅkrame tathāgataḥ caṅkramyate tatra gomaya-kārṣiṃ prayacchatī Divy 369.5, and, tatra gomayakārṣī dattā 7. If -kāśī may be accepted as the true reading, perh. connected with root kaṣ and meaning something like a rubbing with cowdung.

Gomardana, n. of a locality: Māy 49.

Gomimukhya, n. of a king: Mmk 619.26; seems to be the same as the next, but the passage is not clear to me.

Gomiṣaṇḍa, n. of a king: Mmk 620.10; see under prec.

gomukhī (= AMg. gomuhī, Skt. gomukha), a kind of wind-instrument: parivādīni gomukhīm atha pi veṇuṃ Mv III.82.5 (vs).

Goyoga, n. of a locality: Māy 64; cf. possibly Pali Goyoga-pilakkha.

go-rajas, lit. cow-speck, a small unit of matter, = seven sheep-specks (see eqaka-rajas, where the mg. is discussed): Mvy 8196; LV 149.6; Divy 645.11.

gola, m. (in this sense Skt. Lex. nt. and golā, f.), bottle: Mvy 9415 = Tib. bum pa; Chin. large bottle. Cf. next.

golaka (m. or nt.; cf. prec.; Skt. Lex. bottle), a bottle- shaped (or ball-shaped?) ornament on a building (this is a mg. of Tib. bum pa, see under prec.): (nagaram ...) aṭṭāla-(mss aṭṭala-)golaka-(v.l. goraka)-toraṇaṃ Mv III.160.13 (prose).

golāṅgula-parivartana (nt.?), lit. (place of) turning, moving about, of (the) monkeys (called golāṅgula; see s.v. gonāṅgula), n. of a mountain near Rājagṛha: *ne parvate LV 18.14. Tib. (omitting gol) mjug ma (= tail) sgyur ba (= turn).

golika, also gaulika, m. (cf. AMg. goliya-sālā, a shop for selling treacle, Ratnach.; from Skt. gūḍa with -ika), dealer in sugar or molasses: golikā, n. pl., Mv III.442.13; gaulikā III.113.8.

golomakam, adv., seemingly in the manner of a cow's hair: Mvy 9331 na go° keśaś (so also Mironov; Kyoto ed. v.l. keśāc; read keśāṃś, keśaṃ? or assume acc. form of s-stem keśaś, q.v.) chedayet; Tib. skra chan pas mi breg (dreg), not cut hair with scissors (!); Chin. simply hair not cut off; Jap. ... like a cow's hair; corresp. to Pali Vin. II.134.11 (massuṃ ...) na golomikam-kāraṇetabbam; comm. 1211.3 hanukamhi digham katvā ṭhapitaṃ eḷaka-massukam. (!) vuccati; SBE 20.138 transl. nor ... like a goat's beard; but how can go- mean (sheep or) goat? The Tib. and Chin. renderings, with the Pali gloss, suggest that the real mg. was forgotten in both traditions.

Govardhana, n. of a city in the south: Mv III.363.6.

Govinda (= Pali id., DN II.230.23 ff.), n. of the brahman-purohita of King Diśāmpati: Mv III.204.9 ff. Cf. the next items.

Govindasūtra (nt.), n. of a sūtra, prob. = next but one (but see Lévi's note): Karmav 157.13.

Govindīya (or Gau°, also written *diya), adj., belonging to Govinda, q.v.: paurohitye govindīye Mv III.205.8; 206.5, 6 (Senart with one ms. Gauvindiye in 5, Govindīye in 6; v.l. in both Govindīye).

Govindīyam sūtram (to Govinda; cf. prec.), n. of a sūtra which corresp. to Pali DN 19: Mv III.224.9 (mss. somewhat corrupt); also Mahāgovindīyam s°, q.v.

govratika, adj. (= Pali govatika; Skt. govratin, see below), applied to certain non-Buddhist ascetics who adopt a vow to live like cows (eating grass, etc.; see the Pali and other references, esp. MN and its comm., cited s.v. kukuravratika): Śikṣ 332.3; Karmav 44.19; cf. also Mvy 3535 govratī, and LV 248.21 govratā- (s.v. kukuravratika). The word govratin occurs Mbh. (Cr. ed.) 5.97.13, defined 14 thus: yatra-tatra-sāyo nityam yena-kenacid-āśītaḥ, yena-kenacid ācchannaḥ sa govratā (S apparently govratī, which as an irregular form from govratin may be the original!) lhocyate.

Gośālīputra, Gośālī(n), *li(kā)putra, *liputra, see Maskarin.

Gośīrṣa, n. of a nāga-king: Kv 2.12.

gośrṅgavratin, a member of some heretical sect: Mvy 3542. Possibly cf. govratika?

Gośrṅgī, n. of a plous woman who entertained the Buddha: Mv 1.261.15; 263.3, 6; 271.13.

goṣṭhika (once written gau°; not in this sense in Skt., but only as adj., relating to a guild; not in Pali; but = AMg. goṭṭhiya, *iga, m., usually pl., (boon-)companion, member of a friendly group: Mv III.375.13 trimsa(d) goṣṭhikā udyāna-bhūmīm nirgatā; id. 15 and 376.1-2 tehi goṣṭhikehi; 376.5, 7, 8; Av 1.93.6; sambahulāś ca goṣṭhikā ... 163.7; *kānām śatam nirgatam 377.14; II.53.9 ff. (in 55.9 ms. gauṣṭhika, see Speyer's note); 100.13 ff.; MSV II.78.2. Obscure is Mv III.121.9 (vs), in which Śuddhodana addresses the Buddha: purā tuvaṃ goṣṭhika-tūlikāsu ...; Senart suggests doubtfully cousins, divans où on est assis de compagnie (tūlikā, mattress, Skt.).

gośāraka (so Mironov also, with v.l. gośālaka), m., an architectural term, acc. to Tib. bcam (gduh; cf. Das gduh pa, gduh ma): Mvy 5577. The surrounding terms seem to refer to parts of a pillar; does this mean a cross-beam, connecting pillars?

Gosālikā-putra, see s.v. Maskarin.

[gauḍakamrṅga, see ghoṭakamrṅga.]

Gauṇāyana, m. pl., n. of a brahmanical gotra: Divy 635.13.

Gautama (also written Gotama, q.v.), (1) (= Pall Gotama), gotra-name of Śākyamuni, often applied to him especially by those who are not his followers: Mvy 78; Mv 1.251.19; 294.21; ii.118.8 ff.; 119.16 ff.; 126.10; 200.1; 241.2; 277.2 ff.; 287.9; 330.11, etc. etc.; LV 238.21; 239.8 f.; 255.4 ff.; 256.8 f.; 306.5; 358.5; 369.2; 378.21; 380.13; 405.7 ff.; 406.4, 8; (2) gotra-name of another (former) Buddha: Mv 1.113.11; (3) (= Pali Gotamaka) n. of a non-Buddhist sect: Mv iii.412.7; Śikṣ 331.11; LV 380.12 (here named with Nirgranthas, Ajivikas, et al.); (4) n. of a ṛṣi and ascetic: Mv ii.210.2 (lived at Sāhānjani, q.v.); prob. same as the ṛṣi killed by the wicked King Arjuna, Mv iii.361.7, 10, who occurs as Gotama in Pall also; he was an Āṅgīrasa, iii.369.8, as in Pall, see DPPN s.v. 7 Āṅgīrasa; (5) n. of a brahmanical teacher: Araṇemi (n. sg.) Gautamo Divy 651.7, or 'nemīś ca Gau' 653.12 (in 632.12 corruptly Araṇemi-gautamau as if a dual dvandva); (6) n. of a nāga-king (also Gautamaka, q.v.): Divy 50.22; Māy 247.20; (cf. s.v. kṛṣṇa, 4); (7) Gautama-nyagrodha (= Pall Gotama-nigrodha, DN ii.116.31), n. of a locality at Valsāli, doubtless the cetiya called Gautamaka, q.v.: Divy 201.5, 14.

Gautamaka, (1) n. of a nāga-king (also Gautama, 6; cf. s.v. kṛṣṇa, 4): Divy 50.17, 29; 51.6; (2) n. of a cetiya (at Valsāli): Mv 1.300.9 (see Gautama-nyagrodha, s.v. Gautama, 7).

Gautamī (= Pall Gotamī; once Got, q.v.), family-name of Mahāprajāpati, to which Gau is regularly added, see citations s.v. Mahāp; rarely used alone, Mv iii.137.13 (vs); Karmav 158.19 (voc., in address by the Buddha).

Gaura, n. of a former Buddha: Mv 1.140.11.

gaura-khara, m. (AMg. gora-khara, white ass, Ratnach., a kind of ass, Sheth; once in Late Skt., see Schmidt, Nachträge, gaura-khura [sic] is cited as meaning a kind of ass), a kind of ass, acc. to BR wild ass: Mvy 479? = Tib. rgyañ, which Tib. Dictt. do not record as an animal name; Jap. a kind of wild horse found in Central Asia; Chin. reddish-brown horse, or (2) wild mule (ass?).

gaurava-tā = Skt. gaurava, the condition of regarding (something) as important: tāye dharma-gaurava-tāye Mv ii.256.8. Cf. § 22.43. But possibly the true analysis is dharma-gaurava, Bhvr., being in a state of regarding righteously as important, plus -tā.

Gaurī, (1) n. of a yoginī: Sādh 443.15; (2) n. of a rākṣasī: Māy 243.17.

gaulika = golika, q.v.

gaulmika, m. (In Skt. member or commander of a troop of soldiers; AMg. gummi(ya), defined as a guard of a fort; a watchman), acc. to Tib. la gcan pa = a collector of duties on a mountain pass (Das): Mvy 3803. Follows śaulkika; Jap. customs officer; perh. originally guard at an outpost, later one who collected duties there.

Gauvīndīya, adj. = Govindīya, q.v.

gauṣṭhika, once written for goṣṭhika, q.v.

grathita, ppp. (= Pali gathita, often foll. by mucchita; in this sense not Skt.), enslaved (by desire or worldly things): Divy 534.19 (rakṭaḥ saktō grdhro) grathito murchito 'dhyavasito... Cf. Pall DN 1.245.24 gathitā mucchitā; comm. ii.403.25 gathitā ti gedhena abhibhūtā hutvā; mucchitā ti mucchākārappattāya adhimattatanhāya abhibhūtā. Cf. next items, esp. granthita, used Mvy 2194 in same context as Divy (prec. by rakṭaḥ, sakṭaḥ, grddhaḥ, foll. by murchitāḥ, adhyavasitāḥ, etc.).

grantha, m. (= Pali grantha; Skt. uses granthi, but not grantha, in much the same way; cf. prec. and next), bond, fetter (to worldly life): Mvy 2145 = Tib. mdud pa, knot; context indicates fig. (religious) application.

grantha-dhārāṇi, see dhārāṇi.

granthita, ppp. (Skt. Lex. id., for grathita; Pall ganthita; ppp. either to granthati* = Pall ganthati, Skt. grathnāti, or denom. ppp. to grantha, q.v., or Skt. granthi), enslaved: Mvy 2194, see s.v. grathita; LV 372.3 (vs) iha sā vitarkamālā samjñāsūtreṣu granthitā nipathī (read with v.l. 'narthī?'), vinivartitā aśeṣā bodhyaṅga-vicramālābhīḥ.

granthi-mocaka, m. (cited by Monier-Williams from Wilson's Dict.), cutpurse: Mvy 5362; (pāripanthikā...) janapadaghātakā yāvad graṇkā itī kṛtvā Śikṣ 77.9.

Grasati, n. of a nāga mald: Kv 4.4.

Grāsana (cf. next), n. of a piśāca: Mmk 18.6.

Grasani, (1) (cf. prec.) n. of a piśāc: Māy 239.6; (2) n. of a rākṣasī: 243.15.

Grahakośa, n. of a former Buddha: Mv 1.141.14.

grahaṇa, nt., confused with gahana, thicket, entanglement (?): in Mv 1.34.7 (prose) -durga-saṃsāra-kāntāra-grahaṇa-dāruṇāto mahā-prapātāto uddharitvā, Senart thinks that grahaṇa is a copyist's hyper-Skt. alteration of gahana, which is a near-synonym of kāntāra (esp. in Pall, where diṭṭhi-kāntāra and diṭṭhi-gahana are often closely associated); in spite of this, I think grahaṇa may be sound and orig.: rescuing from a great abyss that is dreadful because of the grip of the forest of the saṃsāra etc. In Mv 1.91.14-17 occur four lines of verse in which the mss. repeatedly vary between gahana and grahaṇa; the text is both very corrupt and fragmentary; Senart's note is a very earnest effort to disentangle it, but I find it hardly convincing, tho I am inclined to agree that puns are here contained, involving gahana, entanglement, obstruction, difficulty, as well as thicket, and grahaṇa, seizure, imprisonment (perhaps also eclipse, as by Rāhu, so Skt.); the text, with the most important vv.ll., reads: 14 vanagahanam (mss. grahanam or nam) balagahanam (3 mss. grah) gīṛgahanāni (em.; 5 mss. gahanam, one grahanam) tyāgagrahanāni (3 mss. gahanāni), 15 viṣamāpratī- (mss. viṣamapati-) saṃniṣaṇṇavanāni tu manuṣya-gahanāni (5 mss. graha), 16 ṭṭṇagulmakaṇṭakalatā-kulāni vrkṣagrahaṇa- (mss. grahanya- or nya-) gahanāni (3 mss. grahanāni), 17 śaṭhanikṛtipaiśūnyāni tu manuṣya-gahanāni (5 mss. grahanāni or ṇāni). The Senart's interpretation seems very dubious, I cannot suggest with confidence any improvements. The meter is meant for āryā. See also gahana, gahana-tā.

grahaṇī (Skt. only as n. of an imaginary abdominal organ; Pall gahaṇī app. more loosely used, cf. saṃsuddha-gahaṇika, of pure womb or origin; DN comm. 1.281.10 -mātu-gahaṇī kucchitī attho), belly, womb; interior (like Skt. garbha): in SP 239.3 (prose) read pañcabhīḥ puṣpa-grahaṇī (so with Kashgar rec. and 3 Nep. mss., ed. ṇiya) vedikā-sahasraṇi svabhyaḥ alamkṛto (stūpaḥ), adorned with 5000 balconies filled with (containing); Tib. bkram pa, besprinkled with flowers.

grahāya (= Pali gahāya), irregular ger. to root grah (see § 35.19), used virtually as postposition, lit. taking; with, along with: SP 211.6 etc. (l.c.). grahika, adj.,? Mvy 2449, in a list of evil qualities; pw 7.339 guesses 'etwa bissig'; Tib. dus (time) po che (great), which I cannot interpret (is it connected with śdud pa, which might render grah, collect, bring together, perhaps in a corrupt form?); one Chin. rendering vain, futile, time-wasting (does Tib. mean [consuming] much time?), useless. Etymologically one might guess grasping, avaricious, or the like.

Grāmaghoṣa, n. of a locality: Māy 104.

grāmaṇika, presumably = next: Mv iii.160.19 (prose)

(rājā) brahmadatto amātyapāriṣadyān āmantrayasi: ho bhāṇe grāmaṇikā kṣipraṃ purohitam ānetha.

grāmaṇiṇya (presumably = Skt. grāmaṇi, Pali gāmaṇi; see prec.), a military officer of some sort: ārūḍhā 'yehi khaḍgatarapāṇibhiḥ Mv II.487.14 = II.22.5' (vs), and variants II.487.18; 488.2 = III.22.9, 13.

grāmaluka, see grāmeluka.

(grā)mika, m., prob. only village headman, as in Skt., and as Pali gāmika; 'kā, f. a woman belonging to a village headman's family. Senart [repeatedly in his Intro., on the passages below] understands simply villager: grāmika, m., Mv I.301.8 ff.; 303.12 ff. (his daughter was attended by serving-women, 302.16); Sujātā, q.v., was a grāmika-duhitā LV 265.11 or 'dhitā Mv II.263.15-16; 299.9, or grāmikasya dhitā II.200.17; she is called simply a grāmikā Mv II.131.10, but this doubtless has the mg. suggested above. Cf. also grāmika-gharaṃ āgami (in search of food) Mv II.200.16.)

grāmeluka, adj. or subst. m. (= Mg. gāmelua, see Sheth, and Pischel 595, end), living in a village, or, a villager; rustic: grāmelukenāpi (so mss.) dāni puruṣeṇa Mv II.275.17 (prose); in 19 mss. grāmaluko puruṣo; Senart em. grāmāl° in both.

grāmya, adj. (In Skt. app. only used of speech; Pali gamma used more generally, esp. associated with synonymous hīna, vulgar, low: in passage = Pali Vin. I.10.12, hīno grāmyaḥ (sc. antaḥ) LV 416.17 and (om. hīno) Mv III.331.3; grāmyaṃ nopajīvitaṃ LV 262.10, see s.v. upajivita; grāmyāṃ tṛṣṇāṃ Ud III.9, 10 = Pali jammi taṇhā Dh. 335-6.

-grāha, etc., m. (= Pali gāha), (heretical, erroneous) belief (in), holding (to) . . . asantagrāhātu (from false belief) vimukta bhonti SP 92.9 (vs); esp. ātma-grāha (= Pali atta-gāha), clinging to the (false view that there is a self: Śiḥ 198.20 (bhayāni . . .) tāny ātmagrāhata utpadyante; 21 aham . . . ātmagrāhaṃ parityajeyam; Lañ 177.14 ātmagrāhapattitayā samtatyā; Vaj 23.11-12 and 25.16 ātmagrāho bhavet sattvagrāho jivagrāhaḥ pudgala-grāho bhavet; similarly Vaj 42.12; and 42.13 ātmagrāha iti subhūte agrāha eṣa tathāgatena bhāṣitaḥ; 45.4 sa eva pīṇagrāho 'bhaviṣyat . . . (5) agrāhaḥ sa tathāgatena bhāṣitaḥ; LV 205.8 (lokasya . . .) ātmanīyagrāhānugamānasasya, having minds that follow after the false belief that there is anything peculiar (belonging) to the self.

ghaṭaka, m., or adj., who or which reveals or expounds: Divy 442.1; 523.25 (in cliché cited s.v. udghaṭaka, for which this is substituted); ekānta-ghaṭake śāsane (loc. abs.) MSV I.237.8.

ghaṭa-bhedanaka, nt.,? Mvy 9051; Tib. rdza (clay, or clay-pot) gzoñ (chisel, graving-tool); cf. however rdza gzhon, earthen basin (Jā.), and-rdza gsoñ, rendered in Das by ghaṭa-bhedanaka, kaṭānaka, frying-vessel! Chin. instrument(s) used in building houses. The next word in Mvy is karparaḥ, pot, bowl; but various implements and tools are listed in the vicinity. BR render (etymologically) ein bei der Verfertigung von Töpfen gebrauchtes Instrument.

ghaṭā (Skt. ghaṭa, m.; ghaṭi, ghaṭikā; Weller 24 suggests lengthening of stem-final a in the seam of cpds., but a fem. ghaṭā exists in Skt. tho in other mgs.), pot, jar: pañcāṣṣaṣaṣarāpi divyagandhodakaparipūrṇa-ghaṭa-parigṛhītāni LV 96.9. Cf. next.

ghaṭā-śiras, adj. (cf. prec.; perh. lit. pot-headed?), in Mvy 8807 (not in Mironov), acc. to Chin. and Jap. having a knotty, uneven head; this is prob. also the meaning grīveya (nt.? = Pali gīveyya, 'yyaka; Skt. graiveya, 'yaka, usually of a chain put on an elephant's neck), necklace or chain about the neck: (suvarṇaṇiṣkāṃ yatha ośirivā) grīveya taptā (perh. read 'tam? or plural? dharaye ca loke Mv II.(334.22-) 335.1 (so mss.; Senart em. badly), as one might put off gold neck-ornaments and wear heated (i. e. red-hot) chain(s)-on-the-neck in the world.

[grīṣmāṇa-māse, printed as cpd. in Mv I.294.3 (vs), but read grīṣmāṇa (gen. pl.) māse prathame, in the first month of the summer; so also Pali gīmḥāna māse (so printed), Sn 233. There seems no reason for taking either Pali gīmḥāna or BHS grīṣmāṇa as a 'stem-form'.]

grīṣmika, adj. (= Pali gīmḥika; Skt. graīṣmika), of, for summer: grīṣmika-vārṣika-haimantikeṣu prāsādeṣv LV 227.3; trayo prāsādā kārayat (so Senart divides) hemantikaṃ grīṣmikaṃ vārṣikaṃ Mv II.115.9; similarly III.405.13; trayas ca (sc. māsāḥ) grīṣmikaḥ Suv 178.4.

gredha (= Pali gedha, m.; cf. parigredha; analogically based on Pali giddha etc. = Skt. griddha etc.; § 3.68; the nearest Skt. equivalent in mg. is grdhyā), greed: sukhāpi gredhāśritā Mvy 7553 (= Tib. zhen pa); samkalpal gredha-nīśritāḥ Ud xxxi.29; -rasa-gredhāt MPS 31.63.

(graiṣmika, m., see s.v. sāmayika.)

glāna (also gilāna, q.v.; = Pali glāna; acc. to BR Skt. glāna is not used in this specific sense), sick, ill; in glāna-pratyaya-bhāṣajaya, one of the four pariṣkāra, q.v. for occurrences, medicine to cure the sick.

glānaka, gilā, adj. (= Pali gilā°) = glāna, (one that is) sick: MSV I.149.8; glānakam kṛtvā Mv II.247.4, see s.v. karoti; tam . . . glānako ti kṛtvā, thinking with regard to him, He is a sick one (specifying ka), Mv II.242.8; 243.2, 4; ka may be m.c. in Mv II.221.3 (with mss.; vs) 'kā (n. pl.), and in SP 293.1 (vs) gilānaka-tvam, illness.

glānya, nt., once m. (Sktized form of gailānya, q.v., or directly formed from Skt. glāna plus -ya; but not recorded in Skt.), weakness, debility: SP 107.9; Divy 25.8; Av II.85.18; 133.12; Śiḥ 37.4; 135.16; KP 65.4 tasmād glānyā(t); 118.1 dvāv imau . . . dīrgha-glānyau (dual m.) katamau dvau; but 118.7 (vs) dve . . . glānye ukte (nt.); Mmk 147.26 (vs); all but the last two prose; bahuglānyatā Dbh 26.19.

GH

ghaṭaka, m., or adj., who or which reveals or expounds: Divy 442.1; 523.25 (in cliché cited s.v. udghaṭaka, for which this is substituted); ekānta-ghaṭake śāsane (loc. abs.) MSV I.237.8.

ghaṭa-bhedanaka, nt.,? Mvy 9051; Tib. rdza (clay, or clay-pot) gzoñ (chisel, graving-tool); cf. however rdza gzhon, earthen basin (Jā.), and-rdza gsoñ, rendered in Das by ghaṭa-bhedanaka, kaṭānaka, frying-vessel! Chin. instrument(s) used in building houses. The next word in Mvy is karparaḥ, pot, bowl; but various implements and tools are listed in the vicinity. BR render (etymologically) ein bei der Verfertigung von Töpfen gebrauchtes Instrument.

ghaṭā (Skt. ghaṭa, m.; ghaṭi, ghaṭikā; Weller 24 suggests lengthening of stem-final a in the seam of cpds., but a fem. ghaṭā exists in Skt. tho in other mgs.), pot, jar: pañcāṣṣaṣaṣarāpi divyagandhodakaparipūrṇa-ghaṭa-parigṛhītāni LV 96.9. Cf. next.

ghaṭā-śiras, adj. (cf. prec.; perh. lit. pot-headed?), in Mvy 8807 (not in Mironov), acc. to Chin. and Jap. having a knotty, uneven head; this is prob. also the meaning of Tib. mgo (head) ḥbar ḥbur can; cf. Jā. ḥbar ḥbar, uneven, rough; pock-marked; Jā. and Das ḥbur po, having protuberances, uneven, rough; ḥbur, boil, pustule (as pot-shaped?).

ghaṭi (f.? cf. Pali ghaṭikā, small stick), stick, piece of wood: samudramadhye patitā kecid ghaṭim (v.l. vṛttim) ādāya kecit phalaṅkaṃ kecid alābuṣrenīyaṃ Mv III.68.5 (prose).

ghaṭikā (Pali id., small stick; cf. prec.), stick; in vaṃśa-gh°, q.v.

Ghaṭikāra, MSV Ghaṭi° (= Pali Ghaṭikāra), n. of a potter who was a disciple of the Buddha Kāśyapa, Mv I.319.9 ff.; 326.10 ff., and later became one of the Śuddhāvāsa gods, in which capacity he with others of that class of gods fashioned magically the Four Sights for the Bodhisattva Śākyamuni to see, Mv II.150.16; 152.10 ff.; MSV I.217.12 (called Nandipāla). He lived at Veruṇḍīga or Vebha°, Vaibhidiṅgi, the later Mārakaraṇḍa, qq.v. Several parts of his legend (not, apparently, his part in creating the Four Sights) recur in Pali, see DPPN.

ghaṭṭa- (or ghaṭṭaya, MIndic for ghaṭṭaka), prob. polishing-stone: in Mv iii.81.12 (vs) (bhavanāni rākṣasi-nām ...) ghaṭṭaya-vimaṣṭaka (? mss. ghaṭṭapa-vi°; Senart em. ghaṭṭa-parimṣṭaka), prob. (the palaces of the ogresses were ...) polished with polishing-stones (cf. AMg. ghaṭṭaga, stone for polishing; Pkt., acc. to Ratnach. Deśi, ghaṭṭanaka, id.); or possibly (cf. JM. ghaṭṭa, = gāḍha, nibiḍa), polished hard, vigorously.

ghaṭṭita, ppp. (= Skt. ghaṭṭita; cf. udghaṭṭayati), closed: kāśikavastarāvari ghaṭṭitā phuṭṭakavastarāvari udghaṭṭitā (mss. In 12 udghaṭṭitā) Divy 29.7, 12.

? Ghaṇṭa (in Skt. n. of a Dānava), n. of a rākṣasa king: Mmk 18.1; but see Yama (3).

ghaṇṭāka (m. or nt.; Skt. Lex. as n. of a tree with bell-shaped flowers; Skt. ghaṇṭā, bell), bell: pāśa-ghaṇṭāka-dvāraka-dhanur-nārāca-mudgara- Mmk 46.8 (prose). But this word and dvāraka may be corrupt; some sort of weapons would seem suggested by the other terms.

ghaṇṭikā (Skt. Gr. id.; AMg. ghaṇṭiā), (little, decorative) bell: MSV ii.16.8.

Ghanavyūha, m., n. of a work: Mvy 1343.

? ghana-saṃdhi, n. sg. °ih, LV 106.13, one of the anuvyañjana, replacing (it seems) nirgranthi-śira, q.v.: acc. to Burnout, having solid joints; but Tib. tshigs (joint) ml mñon pa (not visible; also renders gūḍha in the two preceding items, suggesting that the Tib. LV text had gūḍha-saṃdhi).

ghara, nt. (and m.? = Pali nt., and acc. to Childers m.; AMg. m. and nt.; Skt. grha), house: gharo, mss. (n. pl.; Senart em. gharā) Mv i.24.13; ghara-vāsa-rakṣito 285.22; gharam, acc. sg. iii.289.8 (em.); gharam, n. sg. Mvy 5518.

gharaka (dim. of prec.? so Senart), (small) house, hut: nalrayikā ... gharakehi oruddhā (mss. °ddha) chinna-iryāpāthā (mss. -iryā°) Mv i.22.10 (prose).

gharati (Skt. Dhātup., and Ved. jigharti etc.; see pragharati, parighareti), drips, flows (intrans.): Mv iii.408.1 kāsāmcil lālā (mss. lolā) gharati (or with v.l. gharanti; in accord with this read in Mv i.227.17-18 kāsāmcil (ed. with mss. kācil) lālā gharanti (kācil would require transitive mg. for gharanti, lālā being then acc.; but the verb and its cpds. seem to be only intrans.).

gharā, a high number: Mmk 343.25 (= 10 pragharā, q.v.; see aśeṣa).

ghariṇi (v.l. once °aṇi; Pali gharaṇi; AMg. both °aṇi and °iṇi; cf. ghara and Skt. grhiṇi), housewife: Divy 46.27 °pi-śatāni (one ms. gharaṇi°); 47.25 ghariṇi-stūpa. Divy Index widow, for reasons not evident to me.

Ghasmari, n. of a yoginī: Sādh 446.2.

-ghāṭaka = -ghātaka, in vadhya-gh°, q.v.; cf. ghāṭin, and § 2.41.

(? ghāṭikā, pot, jar, recorded a few times in Kosegarten's Pañcatantra, see BR, who suggest that it is an error for ghaṭikā; in Mv iii.255.10 (prose) Senart prints gandha-ghāṭikā-vidhūptam, but one of his two mss. °ghaṭikā°. Note however that BR also record ghāṭa, 'viell. nur fehlerhaft', as meaning pot, = ghāṭa, once in Hariv.)

ghāṭin, adj. (= ghāṭin, cf. § 2.41), destroying: jaga-kleśa-ghāṭi Dbh.g. 41(67).14 (no v.l.).

Ghātani, n. of a rākṣasi: Māy 243.28.

ghāṭikā (cf. Pali dubbhala-ghāṭikā Jāt. i.176.27; 177.4, killing of the weak), destruction, violation, in visram-bha-gh°, ... of confidence: bodhisattvo ... na °tikayā na dhūrtatayā lābham upājayati Śikṣ 269.2.

-ghātyā, see nala-gh°.

ghuṇaghuṇayate (cf. Deśin. 2.110 ghuṇaghuṇiā = karpopakarṇikā; JM. ghuṇāhuṇi = Gerücht, Jacobi, Erz.), buzzes (of a bee): pres. p. °yamānam (printed °nam) Kv 46.21. The Skt. ghuṇa, a wood-boring insect, seems probably not connected with this obviously onomatopoeic word.

ghṛta-kunḍika, m., in a list of trades and crafts, seems to mean lit. ghee-potter: °kā, n. pl., Mv iii.113.8; 442.13 (both times without v.l.). Does it mean maker of pots intended for holding ghee? Or dealer in pots of ghee? No similar word has been discovered elsewhere.

* ghoṭaka-mṛga, m. (cited by BR from Minayev as gauḍaka°; Mironov as text), wild horse: Mvy 4798 = Tib. rta rgod.

(3) Acc. to Senart, MV i notes pp. 370, 501, 561, ca may introduce a following word, as 'proclitic', no longer enclitic; he says the same is authorized for Pali by the Mukhamattadīpanī, a comm. on Kaccāyana. Alleged cases are cited in Mv i.3.11; 57.10; 83.17 (? read 16?); 158.1; 241.13. In some of these (e.g. 158.1) ca seems to me quite normal; in others the position may be peculiar, as sometimes it is in Pali, see Childers s.v., but I do not believe it ever introduces a following word or phrase; some of the passages cited are violently emended by Senart in other respects. The Pali Dictt. do not recognize the usage alleged by Senart, and I am not convinced that it occurs in BHS.)

cakrika, adj., or subst. m., (1) some sort of professional entertainer, perh. a juggler who does tricks with wheels or discs (cf. BR s.v. cakrin, 7; a Skt. Lex. possibly gives this mg., but it is uncertain): Mv iii.113.2 (mss. here corrupt); 442.8; (2) (a) tricky, crafty (person): °kaḥ Mvy 7326; this seems to be the mg. indicated by Tib. (five renderings), Chin., and Jap., and supported by the adjoining words (jihma, kuṭila, Mvy 7324-5); cf. Skt. (Rājat.) cakrikā, Rāṅke (BR); (3) see s.v. cakrika.

cakrikā, acc. to Tib. double door-bar: Mvy 9344 = Tib. sgo gtan zuṅ can. Chin. contains the words double and bar. I do not know just what is meant.

-cakṣuka, lfc. for cakṣus, q.v.

Cakṣuṣmatī, n. of a goddess: Mvy 4326.

cakṣus, in pañica-c° (= Pali pañca-cakkhu), the five superior qualities of vision (partly physical, partly mental or spiritual) possessed by a Buddha (cf. pañcacakṣuḥ-samanvāgata LV 3.5; 403.2, of Buddha): listed, in agreement except for order, Dharmas 66; Sūtrāḥ xviii.54, comm.; and Mv i.158.1 ff., where each is explained in some detail, viz. māmsa-c° 158.8-159.5; divya-c° 159.5-7; prajñā-c° 159.8-9; dharma-c° 159.9-160.7 (= daśānām balānām manovibhūṭā, 159.10; then follows a statement on the 10 bala, 159.12-160.5, in verse); and buddha-c° 160.7-16 (this = the 18 āveṇikā buddhadharmāḥ, which are then listed). In Pali (see Childers and PTSd) the list contains māmsa-, divya-, paññā-, and buddha-cakkhu, but for dharma- substitutes samanta-c° (before or after buddha-c°). A difficult and corrupt line, Mv i.42.15 = 53.12 = 337.4 (in the last printed by Senart as prose), contains some form of bhava-cakṣuka, which Senart regards as containing a bhava-cakṣu*(s) = māmsa-c°, quite wrongly; his transl. (note on 42.15) misunderstands māmsa-c° which is a complimentary and superior power, not one to be derogated. Possibly rather eye of existence and agreeing with prajñā-skandha (337.4 prajñā-cakṣu[r])? The preponderant evidence of the mss. points to bhava-cakṣuke (or °ko or °kaiḥ) apāye prajñāskandho (or °dhe, °dhā; 337.4 see above) niveśeyam (? °yah, or other vv.ll.). All too obscure to be useful.

? caṅkramaṇya-yuktāḥ SP 13.2 (vs), so both edd., as cpd.; perh. Tib. understood it so, ḥchag pa byed cih, making wandering (no other rendering for yuktāḥ in Tib.); if so, we must assume an otherwise unknown noun caṅkramaṇya = caṅkrama(ṇa), wandering (based on the normal Skt. pres. caṅkramaṇya-te = BHS caṅkramati?). Burnouf clearly understood caṅkramaṇya as separate word, ger. to caṅkramati; Kern actively engaged in walking, which is ambiguous but suggests rather a cpd.

caccara (m. or nt.; = Pall id., Skt. catvara), square, four-crossroads: so it seems that the mss. must read, or intend, at SP 88.1 (vs), where KN sthita catvarasmin (kept by WT without note), but with note over the final letter: 'O. care the others caresmin'. This very imperfect annotation seems to mean that the Nep. mss. have caccaresmin (*caccaresmin or *caresmin would be unparalleled, morphologically and semantically incomprehensible, and metrically impossible); caccare, seemingly the reading of 'O' = Kashgar rec., would be metrically defective, lacking the necessary last syllable.

Speyer, Corr. ii.209, adopts from Kern an em. carvītāśraya, which seems to me singularly implausible; text is quite sound.

cañcu, nt., in Divy 131.21, 22, 24, and same passage MSV i.250.9 ff., said to mean lit. box (cf. cañca), and to be applied to a type of famine: trividhaṃ durbhikṣaṃ bhaviṣyati, cañcu śvetāsthi śālākāvṛtti (Divy mss. °ttim; MSV ms. śīlakā) ca. tatra cañcu ucyate samudgake, tasmin manuṣyā vijāni prakṣipyānāgate (MSV °ta-) sattvāpekṣayā sthāpayanti mṛtānām (MSV asmākam) anena te vijakāyam (MSV anena bījāna manuṣyāḥ kāryam) kariṣyanti. catuḥkarna, adj. (Pali catu(k)kaṇṇa), four-cornered, square or rectangular: (of hells) Mv iii.454.11 (= Pali catukkaṇṇa Jāt. v.266.19); in same vs i.9.12 catuḥkalā, prob. corruption, but acc. to P. Mus, La Lumière des six voles 94ff., supported by a Tib. correspondent and to be adopted in Mv (with same mg., carrés).

catutha (m.c. for Mīndic catuttha, Skt. caturtha), fourth: Dbh.g. 16(352).8 (vs; no v.l.; this form not recorded in Mīndic).

[catuṣ-aṅga, m. (otherwise ep. of an army, having the four parts), having a fourfold (army), ep. of a cakravartin: LV 101.13; 136.16 (both prose); but in the same cliché Mv has cātu(r)dvipa, q.v., and Pali caturanta, DN i.88.33; our word is a malformation; Tib. mthah bzhi las (rnam par rgyal ba) suggests caturanta-(-vijī-tavānt), cpd., as the true reading; or possibly caturantam (see this) vijī°. See vijītavant.]

Caturāṅgabala, n. of an ancient king: Mv i.117.3.

caturaśrita (denom. ppp. to Skt. caturaśra), squared, made square: maṇḍalapramāṇam ity uktāḥ samantāc caturaśritam, caturdvāram... Mmk 526.13 (vs).

caturasaka, nt. (cf. Skt. caturasikā, Kauṭ., see Schmidt, Nachträge, and J. J. Meyer, Index; acc. to Meyer a square shawl [or a blanket] used as protection against cold), prob. a square blanket or shawl, one of the appointments of monks' quarters: vṛṣi-kocava (so read, see s.v.)-bimbopadhāna-caturasaka-śatāni (things furnished to monks) Divy 40.11; 550.16; 553.3, 10; caturasakam Mvy 8992, rendered in Tib., Chin., Jap. literally, square; bimbopadhāna and vṛṣikā (or vṛṣ°, = Divy vṛṣi) occur in the same vicinity, and kocavaka not far away (8982).

Caturasavadana (mss. °dara), n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.138.2.

caturahika, adj. (to Skt. °aha), pertaining to four days: °kaṃ pañcāhikam śālim Mv i.343.16, 17. Mss. caturāhika (or catur°); perh. read so.

caturāśīti (= Pall °sīti, AMg. caurāsīim, Pischel 446; see § 19.35), eighty-four: in prose, Mv iii.450.13 (v.l. °āśīti); Gv 389.16 (note in 22 below °āśīti); in vs (could be m.c.) Mv i.119.5; 216.10; cf. also (vs) catvāri āśīti, eighty-four, Dbh.g. 44(70).25.

caturguṇam, adv. (= Pall catu[g]g°, (so as to be) folded in four (thicknesses), of the outer robe: Divy 77.3 (MW tied with 4 strings); MPS 30.5, 7 (in 7 ed. em. °guṇa uttarāsaṅgaḥ, but ms. °nam, adv.). Cf. gaṇa-guṇa.

(caturdikka, acc. pl. °kān Śīkṣ 26.16, called by Bendall a 'new form'; but it is recorded in Kathās., BR 3.637 s.v. 2 diś, and [°kam, adv.] 5.1407.)

caturdvīpaka-cakravartin, a universal monarch of the highest rank, who rules over the 'four continents': SP 6.4; 20.6. See s.vv. balacakravartin, maṇḍalin; cf. next, and cātūr.

caturdvīpeśvara (cf. cāturdvīpeśvara), with cakravartin, = prec.: °śvarāś cakravartināḥ Śīkṣ 175.10 (prose); sa cakravartī caturdvīpa-īśvaro (so Lefm. em., m.c., for °peśvaro of all mss.) LV 211.6 (vs).

Caturdharmaka-sūtra, n. of a work: Śīkṣ 41.7; 160.4.

caturmahāpatha (m.; = Pall catu-ma°, cf. Skt. catupatha and mahāpatha), crossing of four main roads: catuḥmahāpathe (v.l. caturma°) sthītvā Mv i.301.19 (in vs form of the same catupathe, 303.18); caturmahāpathe ii.177.20; 178.1; °thāto, abl., 178.2.

caturmahārājakāyika, adj. with deva or devaputra, = next and (the more usual) cātūr, belonging to the group of the four 'World-Guardians' (a class of gods, see cāurmahārājika): Mv i.212.15 = ii.16.3; iii.223.9; 319.13; LV 366.11; 441.15; read so with best mss., supported by Tib., in LV 367.4 for text mahārājakāyika. Some of these prose.

caturmahārājika, adj. (in Pall also sometimes ca°, often ca°, acc. to PTSD), = prec. and (much oftener) cāurmahārājika, q.v.: Mv i.30.16, 17; 40.15; ii.348.16; Divy 568.24; all these are prose.

? caturya, m. (= Skt. cāturya, nt.), cleverness, strategem, trick: in Mv iii.74.2 (prose) read with v.l. eṣo caturyo (Senart ca tujyo, see tujyo) kāryo. (Or read cāturyo? Pall only cāturiya; in Vv.41.2 read with PTSD ca turiyagaṇā, supported by comm.)

Catuḥśaila, n. of a mountain: Māy 254.2.

catuṣka-nipāta (= Pall catukka-ni°), n. of a section of the Ekottarikāgama: MSV i.45.19.

catuṣkumbhikā (cf. Pali catu-kuṇḍika, adj., going on all fours; explained Pv. comm. 181.9; this and the BHS form are certainly based on a common orig., one or the other, or both, being modified by some analogical or blending influence), way of crawling on all fours: °kayā sarpati Mvy 9311; so Tib. rkaḥ lag bzhiḥ phyē ba (with varr.), crawling by the four feet-and-hands.

catuṣkoṭṭikā (see also cātūkoṭṭikā, °kā; Skt. koṭi, alternative), a set of four alternative propositions (see Suzuki, Studies in Lañk., 116 n. 2), viz. that something is, is not, both is and is not, neither is nor is not: Lañk 122.4-8, defined 5-8 ekatvānyatvobhayanobhayāstīnāstīnityānītya-rahitām °kāṃ iti vadāmi, etayā °kayā... rahitāḥ sarva-dharmā ity ucyate.

catuṣpādaka, f. °ikā, adj. (= Skt. °pada plus -ka; see also °pādaka, and cātuṣpada, °pāda, °padaka), consisting of four pādas or metrical units, ep. of gāthā: Mvy 6350; Divy 505.3 (both prose).

Catuṣparśadasūtra, n. of a work: Karmav 161.20. Seems to correspond to Pall AN ii.8 (Book 4, section 7); cf. Lévi's notes.

catuṣpādaka, f. °ikā, adj. (= Pall catu(p)pādika gāthā), = catuṣpadaka, q.v.: with gāthā, Suv 125.12; 129.2; Śikṣ 37.8; Kv (misprinted catuṣyā) 40.5, 13, 20; Vaj 28.7, 11; 30.1; 42.5 (all prose; Kashgar rec. of Vaj catuṣpādā, °padika, °padī, qq.v.).

catuṣpādika, adj. (Skt. °pād or °pāda plus -ika; cf. prec.), four-footed (creature, sattva): °kāni sattvāni Kv 25.3 (prose).

catvāra (m. or nt.; = Skt. catvara; only in prose of Gv; ā perhaps influenced by remembrance of catvāraḥ etc.), crossroads, square (as meeting of roads): °reṇa °raṁ rathyayā rathyām Gv 179.18; sarvarathyāsu sarvacatvāreṣu sarvaśṛṅgātākeṣu 181.9-10; rathyā-catvāra-śṛṅgātākebhyaḥ 192.25; sarva-śṛṅgātaka-rathyā-catvāreṣu 327.26.

candana, (1) adj. (cf. BR s.v. 2; acc. to Skt. Gr. used at end of a cpd. meaning best of its kind), superior, excellent: (of the Buddha) ... śāntaḥ śāntaparivāraś candanaś candanapari° mukto muktapari° ... Divy 96.16; is this the mg. of candana in °na-gaṇḍiraka (q.v.)?; (2) n. of a former Buddha: Mv iii.234.5 f.; LV 171.12; Av 1.74.9 ff.; Sukh 5.10 (perhaps not all intended for the same person); (3) n. of a devaputra (prob. same as DPPN Ca° 1, described as a yakḥa): LV 4.12; 6.12; 7.5; 438.16 (only in lists of names of gods); (4) n. of a gandharva: Suv 162.4 (not likely to be the same as 3); (5) n. of a Pratyekabuddha: Av 1.119.8 ff.; (a different one?) candrobhāsa (for candrāvabhāsa), m. or nt., a kind of gem: Mv ii.310.16.

candropañśad, pl., a class of gods, lit. based on the moon: °do devāś candram eva puraskṛtya (sc. āgataḥ) Mahāsamāj., Waldschmidt Kl. Skt. Texte 4, 183.15 (vs); Tib., ibid. 204.1, zla la gnas pa, dwelling in the moon; = Pali DN ii.259.23 candassūpanisā devā candam āgu purakkhatvā; comm. ii.690.12 = canda-nissittakā devā. Or possibly like the moon? cf. upañśad. Similarly sūryopañśad.

Candrolkādhārīn, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 441.26.

capalam, adv., rare in Skt., see BR 5.141; not recorded in Pali, but AMg. capalam, cavalam; quickly: chandakā capalam mā vilamba he LV 210.4 (vs), so read for Lefm. vilambahe (§ 30.8), quickly, Chandaka! don't delay, I say!; dadāhi capalam LV 220.16 (vs), give it quickly!; sampūryate capalam eva Mv ii.136.8 (vs.)

camara, m., a high number: Mvy 7787 = Tib. rgod-yas (mg.?).

camasa, m., Mvy 4050, acc. to one Tib. version rna šal, tip or lobe of ear; v.l. sna šal (not recorded; sna = nose but Dictt. do not record šal except in rna šal). Perhaps named from fancied resemblance to the (flat) shape of the utensil called camasa.

camu, camū, (1) as in Skt., host, army, but with masc. ending (otherwise only fem.): mārasya jetum camūn LV 276.6 (end of stanza; no v.l.); (2) f., coffin (rare in Skt., only early, see BR s.v. camū 2, and Kauś 48.4): (so mṛtako puroṣo...) camusmim prakṣipitvā subaddham kṛtvā... Mv ii.173.6; etām camū 173.12; camū 173.13, 14; 174.4, 9.

Campaka (same as Pali Campeyya), n. of a nāga-king: Mv ii.177.13 ff.; colophon 188.22 iti śrīcampakanaṅgarājasya jātakam (= Pali Campeyya-Jāt., 506) samāptam.

Campakavarṇā, n. of a lokadhātu, in the west: LV 291.17.

Campakavimalaprabha, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.24.

caraka, m. (not noted in Pali; rare in Skt., see pw s.v. 1 c; but recorded in AMg. as caraga-, cpd. with parivvāyaga, just as in BHS), one of a heretical sect of ascetics; regularly followed in comp. by parivrājaka, the two possibly (as allegedly in AMg., above, see Ratnach.) denoting a single sect or class of persons, rather than two: usually preceded, immediately or otherwise, by anyatīrthika (LV 2.21; Mv iii.412.7) or anyatīrthya (SP 276.2); caraka-parivrājaka- LV 2.21; 380.12; SP 276.2; Mv iii.412.7; Śikṣ 331.11. The proper Tib. translation seems to be spyod pa pa; so both LV passages (Foucaux reads dpyod pa pa for 2.21, but my photostat of the Lib. of Congr. ed. spyod...) and SP; spyod = car-. But Jäschke defines this by Mimāṃsaka, the correct term for which is dpyod pa pa (both terms are given for Mimāṃsaka in Mvy 3517; Mvy seems to omit caraka); dpyod = examine (mīmāṃs-); Tib. tradition has confused the two.

Carakā, n. of a goddess: Mahāsamāj., Waldschmidt, Kl. Skt. Texte 4, 185.17.

carana, nt., (1) a high number: Mvy 7914 (cited from Gv; Tib. gdaḥ yas); Gv 106.16; 133.26; (2) residence (of a king): rājñas carana-koṣṭhe MSV ii.61.12, on the top part of the king's residence; so Tib., rgyal pohi (king's) khap (read khab, residence, of a king) kyi (gen. suffix) khaḥ (house) tog tu (on top); for this mg. of koṣṭha cf. dvāra-koṣṭha(ka).

carama, nt., a high number: Mvy 7915 (cited from Gv; Tib. mthaḥ ḥbyam); Gv 106.16 (follows carana; but omitted in Gv 133.26).

carama-bhāvika, adj. (Pali carimabhava plus ika), living in one's last existence, destined to be reborn no more: said of Bodhisattvas, LV 22.4; 85.11 etc.; Kv 68.23; 75.5; Mmk 324.7; Gv 438.23; (bodhisattvasyalkājatipratibaddhasya, bound to only one further rebirth) caramabhavikasya vā Bbh 229.1; without noun, Mvy 7003; of the barber-disciple Upālī, Mv iii.179.8; said of Rāhula before ordination, Mv iii.263.11 (note in 13, said of the same, etehi eva skandhehi parinirvāpayitavyam); said of śrāvaka-pratyekabuddha-yānika, Gv 141.5; of creatures (sattva) in general, not specifically classified, Divy 1.17; 174.1; 177.20; 264.2, 6; 331.5; 423.14; Av ii.135.8.

carama-śayana, 'last couch', funeral bier (wrongly Bendall and Rouse): (-vastraviśeṣair) āchāditasya caramaśayanāvasthitasya... kālakriyā bhaviṣyati Śikṣ 208.4.

cari, or cārī (I chiefly or wholly m.c.), f. (not recorded in Mindic; = Skt. caryā, Pali caryā, both also in BHS, see s.v.v.; cf. § 3.115), course of conduct, regular system of action (esp. religious); particularly with reference to the programmatic course of a Bodhisattva, leading to enlightenment; (on its four aspects or stages see s.v. caryā); these forms chiefly, but not exclusively, in verse; see also cārī, cārīkā; in prose the usual expression is (Bodhisattva-)caryā, e. g. SP 7.1; 65.5; LV 90.10; Gv 58.9; but even in prose note (bo)dhissattva-cari-niṣpanda- LV 5.1 (all mss., only Calc. °carita°), and cf. Bhadracarī-vidhipūrvakam Śikṣ 139.13 (prose; the bhadracarī is the bodhisattva-cari; the work of this name is elsewhere called Bhadracarī in the prose of Śikṣ, 290.8; 291.9; 297.1); in Bhad itself the form is Bhadracarī wherever meter does not require i, as in the cpd. °cari-praṇidhāna 2, 49, 54, 61, where in the seam of the cpd. the consonant cluster makes the preceding syllable long; cf. also the acc. sg. °carim (not °carim) 17, 22, 26, 51, 62; Watanabe wrongly regards the title as primarily °cārī. (All remaining citations in this article are from verses, caryā may be used even in vss, where meter is indifferent (so SP 67.13) or requires long first syllable (SP 68.6), tho in the latter case cārī (°) and cārīkā, qq.v., are also found; nearly all the cases here cited refer to the religious course leading to enlightenment, to Buddhahood or Bodhisattvahood, but occasionally the term is applied to any or all human courses of action, including such as are disapproved; iya bāla-cari, this foolish (or childish) course LV 174.9, 11 (vs); jāniya te carim ca SP 45.3, knowing them (all the creatures of the world) and their (various) course(s) of action; carim-carim jāniya nityakālam vadāmi sattvāna tathā-tathāham SP 326.11, knowing the various modes of conduct (of beings) always, I speak to creatures in this or that way (Kashgar rec., Thomas ap. But the division ca re, rejected by Senart, or c' are, is surely to be adopted; in Pali even re seems sometimes used without derogatory implication, and are is so used even in Skt.].

Carendra, n. of a yakṣa: Sādh 560.15; 561.9.

? carcara, adj. (cf. Skt. Lex. carcarī, curly hair, which BR take to be an error for varvarī or barb°), curly (of hair): ardha-caracara-keśām Sādh 310.12 (vs), with half-curly (partly curly) hair; ardha-caracara-bhṛṅgāṅga-śrīmat (? text śrīsat)-keśaśr alamkṛtām 332.7 (vs). In the latter passage, to be sure, there is a v.l. °varvara°, supporting BR's suggestion; in the first the only v.l. is candana in a single ms.

carci (-gātra), adj. (unrecorded; cf. root carc, injure, Dhātup.), (having) injured or defective (limbs): na ca andha-kāra-vadhīrā na pi carci-gātrā, na ca raudra khañjā atha cāṭaka (q.v.) prekṣaṇīyā Gv 214.22(-23; vs).

carma-caṭaka, m. (Skt. Lex. have corresp. fem. forms, 'kā etc.), bat (the animal): Mvy 4914 (so Tib., pha lbañ). (Lit. 'leather-sparrow').

caryā (Skt.) = carī, q.v., used like that form (regularly in prose, but also in verses) esp. of the course of conduct of Bodhisattvas, which has four aspects or stages: catvārimāni bodhisattvānām bodhisattvacaryāni Mv 1.1.2, listed in 3 as prakṛti-caryā, pranidhāna-c°, anuloma-c°, anivartana-c° (cf. Senart i p. xxi); same list, called cataśraḥ... bodhisattvacaryāḥ 1.46.6; they are discussed in the following 46.8 ff. (prakṛti-c° 46.8-47.11; pranidhi-c° 47.12-63.10; anuloma- and anivarta-c°, very briefly, 63.11-14); they seem to be aspects, or possibly successive stages, of the Bodhisattva's long course of development; prakṛti- refers to his original, basic endowment; pranidhāna- ('dhi-) to his vows to attain enlightenment; anuloma- (also ānulomikī, see s.v. ānulomika) alludes to his progressive approach to the goal, and anivartana- (anivarta-) refers to the point at which it becomes impossible for him to backslide. We also find bodhicaryā (pi, with nt. ending, as above) Mv 1.252.4, °ryām 11.341.1 (both of these vss), and duṣkara-caryām 11.241.4 (prose), parallel to bodhi-cari and duṣkara-cari. Cāturdeva (v.l. Cātudeva), n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.140.11. - cāturdvīpa, also semi-Mindic cāturdvīpa, (1) adj. (= Pali cātuddīpa; from catur-dvīpa plus -a), (ruler) of the earth consisting of four continents, ep. of a cakravartin: Mv i.49.2; 52.8; 108.7; 114.13; 193.14; 220.2 = ii.22.3; ii.158.14; iii.102.15; ep. of rājya, rulership: Mv i.95.2, 4; (2) adj. and subst., consisting of the four continents, ep. of the earth: °pām mahīm Mv i.208.4 (corrupt in mss.) = ii.12.13; as subst., gender uncertain (f. would be expected, recorded forms ambiguous): daśacāturdvīpanayutānām... madhyama cātudvīpa, the midmost world of ten nayutas of worlds, Gv 254.6-7 (vss; final short a perhaps m.c. for ā?); cāturdvīpeśvaro, lord of the whole world, Dbh.g. 53(79).2 (as subst., without other noun; cf. cāturdvī°).

cāturdvīpaka, adj., f. °ikā or (rarely) °akā, also as subst. m. (nt.?) and f. (cf. Pali cātuddī°, adj., and prec., next, and cāturdvī°), as adj., of, containing, consisting of four continents; of the world; as subst., m. (nt.?) or f., the world, as containing four continents: °aka, masc. adj. with lokadhātu, Gv 107.2; 325.3; Śikṣ 282.3, 9; LV 149.21 f.; Mvy 3046; adj. with sattva, °pakānām ca sattvānām, and of creatures of the world, Dbh 81.17; adj. f. °ikā, with lokadhātu, Gv 233.23; subst. m. (nt.?), madhye cāturdvīpakasya, in the middle of the world, Gv 352.10; subst. f., usually °ikā, once at least °akā, world-of-four-continents, but usually regarded as only a part of a lokadhātu, which contains a plurality of cāturdvīpikā: trisāhasramahāsāhasrāyām lokadhātu sarvacāturdvīpakāsu Gv 380.1, but in 380.3 same phrase with °dvīpikāsu; (tasmin... lokadhātu) madhyamā cāturdvīpikā Gv 232.8, the middle earth in this world-system; similarly Gv 268.6; 380.26; in Gv 373.17 the cāturdvīpikā named Bhāgavati, q.v., is part of a trisāhasramahāsāhasrā lokadhātu, and itself in turn contains a Jambudvīpa.

cāturdvīpika, adj. and subst. (cf. prec.), (1) containing four continents, masc. adj. with lokadhātu: °pika-lokadhātum Gv 275.23 (or is this, as prior member of cpd., to be interpreted as = 2, subst.?). (2) m. or nt., the whole earth: °kaṃ vyavalokayitum pravṛttāh Av 1.258.3.

cāturdvīpeśvara, see s.v. cāturdvīpa.

cāturmahādvīpaka, adj. m., with lokadhātu, = cāturdvīpaka, q.v.: Śikṣ 282.3 (in same line cāturdvīpaka-lokadhātvy-).

cāturmahābhūtika, adj. (= Pali cātu(m)mahā°, and cf. next), consisting of the four gross elements: Av ii.191.4 and Bbh 61.7, see s.v. audārika; Divy 652.13 (ayam...) Brahmapā... °tika-mahāpuruṣaḥ prajñaptah.

cāturmahābhautika, adj. (cf. Skt. cāturbhautika), = prec.: °tike ātmabhāve Śikṣ 21.21; °tikam (rūpam) Lañk 125.3; °tikam... samucchrayam Bbh 253.20.

cāturmahārājakāyika, adj., = catur° and next, q.v.: SP 160.2; 239.6; LV 50.20; 60.7; 396.14; Mv i.333.5; Mvy 3078; Dharmas 127; Divy 195.1; 199.8; 367.9; Bbh 61.27.

cāturmahārājika, rarely and doubtfully °jaka, once cāturmahā°, adj., almost always with deva or devaputra (the noun rarely omitted), = prec., and catur° (= Pali cātu(m)mahā°), belonging to the group of gods of the four 'World-Guardians', a class of kāmāvacara gods, see deva, and mahārāja(n): °jaka (but v.l. °jika), without noun deva, Mv i.263.15; in the rest, °jika, LV 46.19; 150.2; 266.4 f.; 401.8 f.; Mv i.31.10; 240.4 (v.l. °ja-kāyika); ii.2.8; 163.10; Divy 68.12; 83.6; 127.20; 219.8; 367.9; 554.4; Av i.5.1; 10.16; etc.; Mmk 19.12; common. This is the most usual form. Once, at least, cāturmahārājika, Mv ii.314.5 (prose, no v.l.). Also mahārājika, q.v.

cātuṣkoṭika, °kā (from cātuṣkoṭikā, q.v.), (1) adj., relating to, concerned with, involving or based on the 'four alternatives': °kaḥ Mvy 6887; °ka-naya-viśuddhim Lañk 124.1; skandhāḥ... °ka-rahitāḥ, deprived of anything that relates to..., Lañk 125.7; (2) °kā, subst. f. = catuṣ°: °kayā Lañk 152.14; 296.14 (muktaṃ bhavam); 324.14 (yukto).

cātuṣpada, f. °padī (Skt. catuṣp°), = cātuṣpadaka, q.v.: f. with gāthā, Vaj in Pargiter ap. Hoernle MR 192.1 (for Vaj 42.5 cātuṣpādikā, see °ḍaka).

cātuṣpadaka, f. °ikā, = prec.: Vaj in Pargiter op. cit. 183.1 °ikā, with gāthā (for Vaj 30.1 cātuṣpādikā).

cātuṣpāda, f. °dā, = prec. two; with gāthā, Vaj in Pargiter op. cit. 181.11, 14 (for Vaj 28.7, 11 cātuṣpādikā).

cānāḥ, n. pl. (? cf. Hindi canā, with dental n, = Skt. canaka°), parched grain: Mvy 5738, so Tib. yos (so read with Tib. Index, misprinted gos), and so one Chin. rendering. Cf. vahuri.

Cāpāla, nt. cāpodara, having a belly (slender) like a bow, one of the anuvyañjana, replacing kṣāmodara (No. 36) in LV 107.4, and by Senart's em. in Mv ii.44.3 (see kṣāmodara). Tib. renders LV rked pa gzhu-ḥi ḥchañ bzuñ ltar phra ba, which, if I understand it correctly, seems to mean with waist slender like the handle (?) of a bow; at least the words gzhu, bow, and phra, slender, seem clear, and suggest that Tib. rendered both cāpa and kṣāma; in another context Mvy 5207 has cāpodari, fem., rendered rked pa gzhu-ḥi chañ guñs, waist (like) handle (?) of bow, or bzuñ ltar phra ba, slender like handle (?); Chin. waist like handle of bow.

Cāmara, n. of a country or division of the world: Mvy 3052. Cf. Aparacāmara. See Kirfel, Kosmographie, 90 (var. Dāmara).

cāmārā (AMg. and Skt. Lex. id., f.; cf. Pali and Skt. Lex. cāmari; regularly nt. *ra in Skt., Pali, and Pkt.), chowrie: vara-cāmārāye (Instr.) Mv 1.235.8 (vs).

cāmārika, m. (Skt. cāmāra plus -ika), chowrie-bearer, a royal attendant: Mvy 3728.

Cāmikaragaura, n. of a former Buddha: Mv 1.139.5.

Campeya and yaka, yika (= Pali Campeyya, -ka), (1) n. of a nāga-king: ya Mvy 3274; Mmk 18.11; yaka Māy 247.19; (2) yika, woman of Campā (Viśākha): MSV II.59.1 f.; yikāh (monks) of C. MSV II.120.2. All prose.

-cāraka, m. (to cārayati, q.v., 2), dispenser, one who deals out (Tib. hgrim pa, or hḍrim pa, both for more usual hḍrim pa), in yavāgū- Mvy 9058, khādyaka- 9059, phala- 9060, yatkimcic- 9061; all referring to officials or servants in a monastery.

cārakā = cārikā 3, q.v., course, stream (of a river).

cāraṇa (nt.; = Pali id., see below; = Skt. carāṇa), (1) conduct, practice; in Pali, Sn 162, comm. takes ā as m.c., which it could be in Mv 1.177.2, but elsewhere in prose: Mv 1.177.2 (vs) anupakruṣṭa-cāraṇā; Gv 333.2 dharmaṇām grahaṇa-cāraṇa-pratibodhiṣu (dvandva); (2) trained, skilled behavior; practice of an acquired art (Tib. cited as bslab pa, regularly = śīkṣā): MSV 1.34.11 (hasṭi-damako...) hasṭiratnam ekāhnā sarva-cāraṇebhir upa-samkrāmati, and in sequel; likewise with aśvratnam (both of a cakravartin) 1.35.11 ff.; both prose; (3) (rare in Skt.; pasturing, tending of animals: MSV IV.227.18.)

cārayati, cāreti (caus. to car-), (1) distributes, casts (lots, śālākā, q.v.); so Pali cāreti, read at Jāt. 1.239.27-28 te kālakaṇṇi-sālākāṃ cāresum, for text vāresum*: śālākā cāryate, a lot is cast, Mvy 9204, so read, text caryate; Mironov śālaka-caryā te, v.l. -caryate; Tib. hḍrim pa, distribute; the process consisted in distributing small pieces of wood (śālākā) to serve as lottery-tickets; śālākāṃ cāraya, yo yuṣmākam utsahate... Divy 184.15, and śālākāṃ cārayitum ārabdhaḥ 18; śālākāni cāretha (mss. dhār) Mv III.176.9, śālākāni cāriyanti (v.l. vār) 10; (2) hands out, distributes (cf. s.v. cāraka): bhikṣūṇām cāraya, sa bhikṣūṇām cāratum ārabdhaḥ Divy 180.13, distribute (flowers) to the monks! and he began to distribute them to the monks; cāraya... peyām Divy 462.4, distribute the gruel; yati (here sc. garments, to monks) MSV II.106.2.

? cārayin, adj.? (to cārayati, caus. of car-; if adj. form, contains suffix -in), propagating, spreading (heretical views): vakṣyanty avarṇam asmākam tīrthyavādam ca cārayi (v.l. yi*) SP 273.3 (vs); Kashgar rec. tīrthikā vāca cārayi, which seems better in eliminating the superfluous and disturbing ca; but the form cārayi could not only be n. pl. of an in-stem adj., but also ger. (note v.l. yl*, also ambiguous). WT kārayi with ms. K'.

Cārayana = Dirgha Cār, q.v.: Av II.114.14, 16. cāri (m.c. for carī, q.v.), conduct, in Bhvr. cpds.: sugatasya putrān... śāntaprasāntacārīn SP 12.14 (vs), ... of calm, peaceful conduct; paripūrṇacārī (n. pl. m.) ca bhavanti tatra śīlena te prasthita agrabodhim SP 13.4 (vs); having fulfilled the (religious) course of action (that leads to enlightenment).

-cārika, adj. or subst. m. (= Skt. and Pali cārīn, ifc.; see also pinḍa-cārika), moving; practising: pattra-cārikā ṛddhyā harita-cārikā bhājana-cārikāś cāgatāḥ Divy 45.17; similarly 45.20; it seems clear that the reference is to persons who magically ride or move thru the air on leaves, some sort of plants or trees (harita, cf. Skt. haritaka), and jars (bhājana), cf. 45.27-30. Acc. to Burnout, Introd. 261 note 2, Tib. renders -cārikā(h) by hḍri ma, which the Dictt. of Tib. do not interpret satisfactorily; I suggest dri bo, magician. Tib. renders harita by śin tshe, apparently some tree or shrub. There is a v.l. -vārika, which pw 7.365 adopts for bhājana-cārika, identifying it with vārika in Mvy 9069, which however means something like superintendent of vessels and cannot be intended in the Divy passage. In Śīks 332.4 cārika seems to mean practiser, follower (cf. Skt. and Pali cārīn), sc. of a heretical religion.

cārikā (In mg. 2 = Pali id.), (1) = carī, q.v., course of conduct, esp. a religious course leading to enlightenment, pursued by Bodhisattvas; repeatedly used in prose, hence not exclusively m.c.; usually with a form of the cognate verb carati: caranti ete varabodhi-cārikām SP 131.12 (vs); puruṣottama-cārikām acari, so bodhisattva-caryām (note use together of the synonymous forms cārikā and caryā)... samsārati Mv 1.3.9 (prose); duṣkara-cār° (cf. duṣkara-carim LV 276.1) Mv II.130.12 (kāye*, Instr., prose); 237.17 (kām carantaṃ*, prose); bodhisattva-cārikām caranto II.356.19 (prose); caranto bodhicārikām II.362.20 (vs); jīnacārikā(ye) II.375.12 (vs); carann uttamabodhicārikām RP 50.2 (vs); carīṣye varabodhicārikām Sādh 29.7 (vs); otari cārika- (a m.c.)-kalpa-samudrām Bhad 29; bodhisattvacārikā Śīks 316.18 (prose) and kam (prob. misprint for kām) carantaṃ Gv 423.22 (prose); prapīdhisi cārikām (I m.c. for I) asāmām (referring to the course of Bodhisattvas) Gv 57.15 (vs); samsāra-cārikāśā, naśā bodhisattvacārikā AsP 329.15 (prose); eka-cārikā Lañk 291.13 (vs), the solitary religious course (of Pratyekabuddhas); (2) journey, wandering (also = Skt. caryā, which varies with this in the same passages; Pali cārikā id.), commonly as object of carati or another verb of going; the place of the journey is either in the loc. or preceding in comp.: magadheṣu cārikām prakrāmat LV 246.2 (prose), cf. magadheṣu caryām (best ms. cārikām) caran 246.6; caryām caran kāśiṣu janapadeṣu cārikām (v.l. caryām) prakrāmat 405.2-3; janapadeṣu cārikām prakrāmet(su) Mv 1.231.3 (prose), set out on a journey over the countryside; cārikām caramāṇo 6; gacchantam... cārikām 234.14 (vs); janapadacārikām caramāṇo 244.12 (prose); kāśiṣu cārikām prakrāmi 323.10 (prose); magadheṣu *kām caramāṇo III.47.10 (prose); kām pratipanna-sya, embarked on a journey, 94.3 (vs); janapada-cārikā Mvy 9355; Kausaleṣu janapadeṣu *kām caran Divy 80.11; kām carīṣyati 92.8; Buddha-cārikā, the journey of a Buddha, 92.25; 93.2; śmaśānacārikām gantu(m) 267.8, 9, to go on a trip to a cemetery; daṣṭānāgriṣu janapade *kām caritvā Av 1.3.3; janapadacārikām caran RP 5.2 (prose); (Pāñcāleṣu janapadeṣu) janapadacārikām caramāṇo Suv 202.3 (prose); also used of journeys to other worlds or states of existence, inferior or superior: niraya-cārikām gacchati Mv 1.4.15 (prose) went on a trip to (the) hell(s); caranto narakacārikām 5.2; so also tiracchāna-cārikām gacchati 27.2, and caranto tir° *kām 4, a trip among the animal-existences; pretacārikām 28.3, 5; asura-c° 30.1, 3; deveṣu *kām gacchati 30.16; 31.16; and with acc. instead of loc., devām (= ān) cār° ga° 33.4, went on a trip to the gods; deveṣu cārikām caramāṇena Mv II.190.17; naraka-cārikām carataḥ Av 1.241.9, preta-c° c° 10; (3) cārikā or cārakā, stream, course (of a river): nadicārikām avatīrṇaḥ, went down into a river-stream, Av II.86.3; nadicārakāyāḥ (ms., Speyer em. cārik°) pāre vṛkṣaḥ 4; nadicārikām uttīrṇaḥ, crossed a river-stream, II.116.13; nadyām cārakāyām (so Speyer; ms. namdyā cārakāyā; read nadyā, or, semi-Mindic, nadyā, gen.?) patitas, fell into the stream of a river, or if nadyām is correct, into a river, into its stream, II.181.17.

cāritra (nt.), in °tram āpadyate (with loc.; = Pali cārittam āpajjati, with loc.), has dealings with, visits, cultivates, esp. said of a monk who takes food at the house of laymen: (bhikṣuḥ ...) kuleṣu cāritram āpadyeta Prāt 522.4. The Pali phrase is rendered goes on his (begging) rounds in SBE 13.42.

Cārītramati, n. of a Bodhisattva: ŚsP 34.15.

Cārītravati, n. of a samādhi: Mvy 579; ŚsP 1421.17.

cārītravant, adj. (= caritavant, °tāvin), that has pursued the (true, religious) course: māmsam sarvam abhakṣyam cārītravato bodhisattvasya Lañk 246.5 (prose). cārīkā, m. c. for cārīkā, q.v., Gv 57.15.

Cāru, n. of a cakravartin king: Mvy 3559. Seems to correspond to Pali Cara, or Caraka Mahāv. II.2. Cf. Upacāru.

Cārugandha, n. of a former Buddha: Mv 1.139.7.

cikitsikā (= Skt. °tsā, plus -ka svārthe), medical treatment: MSV II.140.9 °tsikām kurmaḥ (in 10 °tsām kuryāma; both prose).

cikka, m., or cikkā (n. pl. °ās; cf. Skt. cikkaṇa, esp. s.v. 5 in pw), sticky matter, as secreted from the eyes: cikkaṣ tathākṣṇoḥ krimivac ca jantoḥ Śiḥṣ 231.11 (vs).

cikkhalla (adj., or less likely subst. m. or nt.; cf. Skt. Lex. cikkhalla, Pall and AMg. cikkhalla, AMg. also cikkhalla, all nouns), muddy (or mud, mire): °le bhūpradeṣe MSV II.79.18; Tib. rdzab can gyi phyogs, muddy place.

cicca, or ciccha, m., a kind of malevolent supernatural being: Mvy 4377 ciccha, in Index var. cicca; Mironov cicca, v.l. ciccha; follows kākḥorda and vetāla, followed by preṣaka; = Tib. seems (b)sgyur ba (?); in similar lists of evil spirits, cicca Māy 220.18; 245.16.

Cicchaka, var. for Śīrṣaka, n. of a nāga-king, q.v.: Mvy 3283; Mironov Cicchaka, v.l. Śīrṣaka.

ciṭṭicāyati, °te, once cīta°, once ciṭṭicīti° (= Pali ciṭṭicāyati), onomat., sputters, used of the noise made by hot things, especially (at least in Pali) in contact with water: cakram (a hot metal disk, 604.15) ciṭṭicāyamāna-dahanakapaṇayodgāraraudram Divy 606.1; with subject sarṣapāḥ, ciṭṭicāyanti Mmk 298.2; 719.1; °ṭṭiyanti Mmk 295.6; with subject an ayomaya cakra, or trīśūla, ciṭṭicāyati Mmk 687.9. In these BHS passages it is not clear whether contact with water or other liquids is implied.

cita (orig. ppp. of Skt. ci-), orig. piled up, heaped up; so, thick, dense (of hair), stout, large (of fingers), full, stout (of the space between the shoulders), in cpds. (1) cita-keśa, having thick, dense hair, one of the anuvyañjana of the Buddha: Mvy 343 = Tib. stug pa, dense, thick; Mv II.44.10, so read with one ms., the other vivitṛa° (Senart em. citra°); instead Dharmas 84 has citra-keśa, which I believe is certainly a corruption; lacking in the LV list; (2) ciṭṭāṅgulī, with stout, large fingers, another anuvyañjana: Mvy 274 (here Tib. rgyas = large); confirmed by Pall acc. to Burnouf, Lotus, 585; this time the corruption citrā° (above) is more widespread, being printed in Mv II.43.9 (only one ms., lacuna in the other); Dharmas 84 (but one ms. ciṭṭā°); and LV 106.12-13 (Lefm. anupūrvacitrāṅgulī ca, combining this with anupūrvāṅgulī; most mss. have the reverse order, as does Tib., which also renders by rgyas pa = large, proving that it had citā° and not citrā°); (3) ciṭāntarāṃsa (or °śa) (= Pali cītan-tarāṃsa, e.g. DN II.18.10; comm. II.449.6 antarāṃsam vuccati dvinnam koṭṭhāsānam antaram; tam citam pari-puṇṇam assā ti), with full, well filled-in, space between the shoulders, one of the 32 lakṣaṇa: Mvy 251, Tib. thal goṅ rgyas pa = large shoulders; so also Tib. on LV 105.18; all lists of the lakṣaṇa (q.v.) intend the same form, only varying between °āmsa and °āṃśa. In Gv 69.26 read citta with 2d ed. for cita; see s.v. avabhā. See also next.

cita-vistara, m., some kind of ornament: Mvy 6044 = Tib. tshoñ-tshoñ (said to be a kind of ornament; as adj. or adv. apparently even[ly]) bśibs (or gśibs) pa, perhaps literally arranged evenly? Chin. hair-net. Does the BHS form mean lit. of full extent? Cf. cita.

ciṭāṅgulī, ciṭāntarāṃsa, see s.v. cita.

1 citta (= Pall id., also citra, = AMg. citta, = Skt. caitra), n. of the first month of spring (as usually reckoned, but here called 'the first month of summer', evidently implying a division of the year into only three seasons, spring-summer constituting one season of four months; see Senart's note): grīṣmāṇa māse prathamē cittasmīm (so, or cittesmlm, mss.; Senart em. caitrasmlm) Mv 1.294.3 (vs).

citta-kṣaṇa, m. (1) a moment of thought: Gv 222.22, see s.v. anujava; adv. pracittakṣaṇam, in each moment of thought: Gv 242.21; 252.13; cf. AbhidhK. LaV-P. II.153; (2) in Mvy 1216 ṣoḍaśa-c°, the 16 ..., listed in 1217 ff., name for what in Dharmas 96 are called caturāryasatyeṣu ṣoḍaśa kṣāntijñānalakṣaṇāḥ; they are summarized s.v. kṣānti, q.v. It is not clear to me what (citta-)kṣaṇa could mean as applied to these categories, and the use in Dharmas of (jñāna-)lakṣaṇa instead suggests that kṣaṇa might be a corruption for lakṣaṇa; but Tib. on Mvy has skad cig ma = kṣaṇa.

citta-grāha, m. (or nt.), fancy of the mind, desire: devasya °haṃ karīṣyāmi MSV III.138.2.

citrika, nt., apparently wonder, marvel, thrilling and pleasing thing or experience: nāsti loke citrikam yaṁ me na parityaktam tasya arthasya āharanātāye Mv II.279.16, said by the Bodhisattva as a basis for his noble pride (ārya-māna); in a series of like formulas, the preceding containing ramanīyatā in place of citrikam, and the next alśvayam.

citritaka, adj. (Skt. °ta with endearing dim. -ka, § 22.34), made bright, adorned: (tava rūpa surūpa suśo-bhanake) vasavartī sulakṣaṇa citritake LV 321.(21-)22 (vs); said by the daughters of Māra to the Bodhisattva; the e-forms seem scarcely construable with suvasantake in line 19 (nor does Tlb. take them so; Calc. reads suśo-bhanako and citritako, but all mss. °ke in both); accordingly it seems that, if the mss. are right, we must understand them either as n. sg. nt. in e, with rūpa (§ 8.37), or as voc. sg. m., addressed to the Bodhisattva (§ 8.28).

citrikaraṇa (nt.; to next), paying reverence, respect: -sambuddha-śāsana-gaurava-citrikaraṇatayā Dbh 13.19-20.

citrī-karoti (= Pali citti°, perhaps also citti°, see next; derived by Childers and PTSD from Skt. citri°; Senart, Mv I.444, accepts this and regards BHS citri° as false Sktization; later, he emends the forms occurring in Mv II and III to citti°; whatever the history of the word may be, the BHS form is only citri° or citri°); (1) ppp. respected, honored: (vayam hi...) loke °tīva citri-kṛtāḥ SP 215.6 (prose, no v.l.); (2) pays heed: na °kari-ṣyati MSV I.8.1, 10, he will pay no heed; caus., causes to pay heed, gets the attention of (acc.): (Māra tried to distract the Bodhisattva,) na ca tam bodhisattvaṁ citrikāreṣi (aor.; so mss., Senart em. citti°) Mv II.268.11; with non-caus. mg., and °kar° with short a in mss. except in the first passage, Mv III.282.6, 12; 283.2, 7, prob. read in all approximately: na ca sāmāḥ bhagavāṁ citrikāraye (or °karaye), and the Lord paid no heed to them (the daughters of Māra who were seeking to distract him); the mss. are variously corrupt; Senart em. cittikāraye; (3) citrikṛta in a quite different sense: hastau samputākārau kṛtvā anyonyāḥ āveṣṭya citrikṛtau ātmorasi sthāpayet (in a certain mudrā) Mmk 400.28; similarly, hastāv udveṣṭya citrikṛtāv abhayāvasthitau 401.20; hastāv ubhayāṅgu-ṣṭhavinastau citrikṛtau lalāṭe darśayed 401.25; punaḥ citrikṛtau karau, svastikam... bandhitavyam 407.21. It is clear that citrikṛtau here applies always to the two hands in various mudrā-positions, but the mg. is not evident to me; possibly made elaborate, by intertwining the fingers (which is apparently characteristic of these mudrās)?

citrikāra, citri°, once citrikāra (?), m. (to prec., q.v.; Pali usually cittikāra, but also citti° acc. to CPD s.v. acittikāra; the usual BHS form is citri°, but citri° also occurs; in prose; citri° or citti° is not authenticated; Lefm. cittikāram LV 196.3, but °practically all mss. citri°), (1) respect, reverence: citrikārānuyuktaḥ LV 56.9 (vs); read citrikāra(m) for text citrakārah 119.9 (vs) and for text cittikāram 196.3 (above); citrikāra-bahumāna- 270.6-7 (prose; so all mss.; Lefm. em. citti°); citrikāra- (various forms) LV 278.8 (prose; 2 mss. citri°); 429.16 (prose; no v.l.); Mvy 1759 (°rah; Tlb. gces par byed pa, making esteemed); Suv 172.16; 173.6; Śikṣ 41.17; 151.17; 183.14; Dbh 46.8; 62.15; Megh 288.16 (read mahatā gurugaurava-citrikāreṇa; misunderstood by Bendall); AsP 494.15; Gv 467.17; citrikāra- Mv I.89.15 (prose; 1 ms. citri°); pūrvarāja-citrikāreṇa (mss.; read °kāreṇa, probably) Mv II.439.18 (prose). Often associated with gaurava, sometimes with prīti, prasāda, and the like. (2) citrikārah in Mvy 7563 (cf. Skt. citrikṛta, made into a picture) = Tlb. mtshan mar ḥdzin pa dañ ḥdom na bkra bar ḥdzin pa, which perhaps means the taking for a sign or the taking for variegated (?). Follows asphaṭanām, rūpaṇāt, and rūpyate.

cintaka, m. inspector, overseer: rājño Mūrdhātasyāmātyās cintakās tulakā upaparīkṣakās cintayitvā tulayitvā... Divy 212.9; karvatakaḥ saṃnāmīto nipakā gṛhītās cintakāḥ (an overseer, manager) sthāpitāḥ. Divy 451.20; for this last, MSV 1.147.2 reads citrakāḥ, doubtless by corruption; Tib. sna bo, leader, commander.

cintārāja- (m.) (1) (cf. Skt. cintāmaṇi?) a kind of gem with magic powers, conferring wealth: Gv 498.25; 499.7; 500.18; (2) n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 81.3.

cinnaka, m. (presumably = Skt. cīna, cīnaka, and Lex. cinna, Panicum miliaceum; cf. also AMg. cīṇa, Chinese), a kind of grain or legume: kodravo vā śyāmako vā cinnako vā priyamgur vā... Mv 11.211.14.

-cippitika, in naḍa-cippitikaṃ, q.v., seems to be an extension of ppp. of next (implying an active cipyati, cippati? or a caus. MIndic cippeti?).

cipyate, pass. (cf. Pali cippiyamāna, Miln. 261.28, 30; and see prec.), is crushed: naḍa-cippitikaṃ (q.v.) vā cipyamānasya Śikṣ 182.2 of one being crushed...

No ciya or cia is authenticated for iva; Sheth s.v. cia = iva is based on an erroneous statement in Woolner's Introduction to Prakrit, Vocabulary, where cia should be equated with eva, not iva.]

ciraṃ with gen., it is long since...; ciraṃ me devanikāyam śuddhāvāsam (or śuddhā° deva°) upasamkrāntasya Mv 1.56.7, and by plausible em. 1.35.1, it is long since I visited the Śū. class of gods.

ciratarakena, adv. (to compv. cira-tara plus -ka), in or after a longer time: yuṣmākaṃ evaṃ cira° vāro bhaviṣyati imehi duvehi potakehi jātehi Mv 1.362.3, the lot (of death) will fall on you after a longer time, if these two fawns are born. But mss. ciratanakena (em. Senart); possibly a deriv. of Skt. cirātana is intended.

cira-sthitika, adj. (= Pali ciratthitika; Skt. cira plus sthitika), long-enduring, lasting: gaṇavaro, the excellent assembly (of monks), Mv 1.301.1 (vs); kulavamśa, family line, Divy 2.14; 99.6; Av 1.14.15 etc.; 277.1; Karmav 59.15; brahmacarya, Mv 835.6; Divy 207.28; (sa āyusmān... evaṃdīrghāyur evaṃ-cirasthitikaḥ Bbh 254.1, ... lasting for such a long time; dharmavinaya, Bhik 4a.3; saddharma, Mv 635.4; *ka-tā, state of being..., Bbh 28.20; saddharma°ka-tā, Bbh 210.11; 229.10; a-cirasthitika-tā, transitoriness (sarvasaṃskāragatasya), Dbh 31.4. See also s.v. sthitika (4).

cilimilika, nt., or ciliminikā (var.; so Mironov and BR), Mvy 898.4, some kind of cloth, or article made of cloth (BR Halschmuck, clearly wrong); cf. Pali cilimikā, cilimikā; AMg. cilimīṇi, curtain, cloth used as curtain, also cilimilligā, °mīlīyā, °mīlī. Tib. bar thaṅ (? not in Dictt.); Chin. seems to mean mattress of coarse hair (or wool).

cilla, m. (Skt. Lex.), a kind of falcon: Mvy 4905 = Tib. ḥol bu (Jā. and Das ḥol pa, Das a kind of kite, Jā. vulture?).

ciṣṭā or ciṣṭhā (conjectural), see viṣṭhā.

cihna-dhara, m., emblem-bearer, a kind of royal officer or attendant: Mvy 372.7. Tib. translates literally. On cihna cf. Meyer, Kauṭ. Arth. 833, 854.

ciraka, m. or nt. (In mg. 1 = Pali id., Skt. cira), (1) strip, primarily of cloth, bark, or the like: *ka-vadrāṇi, here of strips of flesh, Mv 1.19.9 (prose); of either cloth or bark garments, 1.19.11 (prose), see vārsikā; (2) in Mmk, lock or braid of hair, artificially arranged (compared to a strip) = Tib. (skra, hair) zur phud (hair-knot), Lalou, Iconographie 66 f. (but I do not think, with Lalou, that this or any cpd. ever refers to a diadem); Mañjuśrī's head is adorned with five such, but some passages suggest that in this he was like an ordinary youth in festive garb, sarvabāhālamkārabhūṣitaḥ (ed. °ta-) pañcacirakopaśobhitaḥ Mmk 41.24; pañcacirakopaśobhita-(text °tam) civaraka, nt. (= cīvara, the only form otherwise recorded in Skt., Pali, or Pkt.; no dim. or other perceptible force in suffix -ka), monk's robe: *kāṇi Divy 125.16; 181.23; 267.9; *ka-śātāni, -sahasrāṇi Bbh 165.10; bhikṣubhir gṛhpati°kāṇi... dhārayitavyāni MSV 11.48.19. All prose.

civara-gopaka, guardian of the (monks') robes: Mvy. 9065; MSV 11.144.15.

civarika, acc. to Tib. (gos kyi rin du bcas pa) the price of a robe: pātracivarāṃ sa-civara-civarikaṃ MSV 11.145.6, 8; 146.1.

cukra, nt., in Mvy 5712 = Tib. tshva, which is said to mean only salt; no such mg. otherwise recorded for cukra; the preceding word is amlaḥ, which goes much better with the regular Skt. mg. of cukra; lavaṇam occurs 5709. Cf. śulukaḥ, defined in the same way.

cuccu-kārakam, adv., making the sound cuccu (smacking the lips? sc. while eating): Mvy 857.7 na cu°; completed by piṇḍapātāṃ paribhokṣyāma iti, La Vallée Poussin, JRAS 1913.845, Stein ms. fragm. 1.2.12. May correspond to Pali capucapu-kārakam, Vin. iv. 197.13. Chin. onomat., indicating that one has eaten something sour.

cuti (MIndic for Skt. cyuti; see cavati), fall (to a lower existence): jagi-r-ūrmi-cutī LV 173.13 (vs); but citation Śikṣ 204.1 jagi janmacyutiḥ, which must be adopted at least as to janma; and most of Lefm.'s mss. read cyuti; of course, meter proves that the pronunciation was cu°, not cyu°, in any event; cuti- Gv 230.25 (vs).

[Cunanda, LV 1.15, false reading for Cunda, q.v.; Tib. skul byed, exhortation-maker, as if from root cud-; so Tib. skul bye = Cunda in Mvy 1045.]

Cunda, (1) (= Pali id.; also Mahā-c°), n. of one or more disciples of the Buddha: SP 207.4; LV 1.15 (so read for Cunanda); Mvy 1045; Divy 153.5 (called a śramaṇeraka of Śāriputra); 160.6 (a śramaṇoddeśa; this title samaṇuddesa is given to 2 Cunda in Pali, DPPN); (karmāraputra) MPS 26.14 etc.; even in Pali the (apparently) several Cundas are hard to distinguish, and still harder in BHS; (2) n. of a yakṣa: Mv 11.327.18 (see next).

Cunda-dvīla (v.l. -vīra), nt., or -dvīlā (v.l. -vīrā), f., n. of a locality (adhiṣṭhāna) between Aparagayā and Benares, home of the yakṣa Cunda (2): Mv 11.325.11 (nt.); 327.18 (fem.). Seems to be the same as Pali Cundaṭṭhiya, °ṭṭhīla, °ṭṭhika, Pv 11.1.2 and comm. pp. 168-170 (cited DPPN as Cundaṭṭhīla, v.l. Cundavīla, but neither form is recorded in texts or Crit. App.).

Cundā, n. of a goddess: Sādh 270.8 etc. (cf. next).

Cunda-dhāraṇī, n. of a sacred formula: Śikṣ 173.4 (cf. preceding).

culuculāyati (? cf. Hem. 4.127 culuculā = spandate), onomat. verb, perhaps quivers: manahśīlām tri-(text tr-)-lohapariveṣṭitām kṛtvā mukhe prakṣipyā tāvaj japed yāvac culuculāyati Mmk 319.11, similarly 15; 324.1.

culla, in cullākṣa, see cūlla.

Culla-pantha, = Cūḍapanthaka, q.v.; so read in Sukh 2.11 for Culla-patka, a monstrous form for which, amazingly, there is no ms. authority, whereas one ms. (reading -patthena) obviously intends -panthena (instr.) as the note points out (two mss. omit the word; the fourth -pacchena, surely for -patthena = panthena).

cūḍa, adj. (= Pali cūḷa; cf. culla, cūlla, small, petty, insignificant; always followed by paramacūḍa, and followed or preceded by dhanva (for dhandha, q.v.) and parama-dhanva: Divy 488.26; 489.19; 490.7, 19; 492.21; 504.18.

Cūḍakā, n. of an apsaras: Kv 3.12.

Cūḍa-panthaka (Cūḷa°, Cūḍā°; also Culla-pantha, Suddhi-panthaka, qq. v.; = Pali Cūḷa°), n. of a disciple of the Buddha: Cūḍa° Mvy 1054 (v.l. Cūḷa°; Mironov Cūḍa° only); MSV 1.206.4 ff.; Divy 493.12 (in other places in Divy called simply Panthaka, q.v.); Cūḍa° Karmav 43.1 (doubtless by error; v.l. Vṛddha-p°; not in Tib.). The first element has nothing to do with cūḍa but means lesser, minor; he is contrasted with Mahā-panthaka Divy 493.11, 12.

cūḍa (cf. JM.cūḷa, seemingly used in the general sense of ornament, see Sheth s.v.), ornament (for the head): yat te dṛṣṭā bhūṣaṇā uhyamānā, cūḍa vastrā mahya mañce 'dṛṣṭāsi LV 195.19 (vs). Prob. = the usual Skt. cūḍāmanī; Tib. cod pan, diadem, tiara (usually = mukuta).

Cūḍāpanthaka, see Cūḍap°.

cūḍa-pratigrahaṇa, nt., 'reception of the hair-knot', n. of the caitya commemorating the Bodhisattva's cutting off of his hair-knot and its reception by the gods: LV 225.19.

Cūḍāmanidhara, n. of a nāga: Mvy 3362.

cūḍāmaha, m. or nt., festival of the (Bodhisattva's) hair-knot (in honor of his cutting it off): (trāyatrīmṣatsu) deveṣu 'ho vartate LV 225.18; (trāyatrīmṣadbhavane...) 'ham ca vartati Mv 11.166.1.

cūḍika, m., or 'kā, f., applied to a lokadhātu, see s.v. sāhasracūḍika.

cūḍikābaddha, adj. (= Pali cūḷi°, read with PTSD cūḷi°, SN 11.182.16), filled full, crammed (lit. to the top): (sacet...) jambūdvīpāḥ paripūrṇāḥ cūḍikābaddhaḥ tathā-gataśarīrāṇāṃ... AsP 94.3, etc.; (a silk cloth, kāśikā...) pūrṇā cūḍikābaddhā (with dust, in a rain of dust) Divy 577.2. Cf. next.

cūḍikāvabaddha = prec.: Mvy 6356 = Tib. byur bur (read byur with Jā. and Das?) gyur ba, become heaped up.

Cūḍeśvara, n. of a suparṇin, previous birth of Vaiśravaṇa (mahārājan): MSV 1.260.19 ff.

cūrṇa, adj.? in Mv 11.87.12 (kīm) karmārāṇāṃ sarva-cūrṇa-karmam? sūciyo, what is the most delicate (so Senart; or, profound, significant, important?) work of smiths? Needles. Perh. cf. JM. cūrṇa, n., defined by Sheth padā-viśeṣa, gambhīrārthaka pada, mahārthaka śabda. Sheth derives from a Skt. cūrṇa, of which I can find no trace; if a secondary derivative of cūrṇa, it might mean lit. polished with powder, rubbed down, or the like, and so refined or subtle. Cf. Skt. cūrṇi, cūrṇī, and s.v. cūrṇika below (?).

cūrṇa-kuṭṭa, prob. grinder of powder (for perfumes): Mv 11.113.10; 442.15; in both foll. by gandhataḷlika or 'laka.

cūrṇika- (perh. for 'kā, m.c.; cf. Skt. cūrṇi, cūrṇī), commentary: ākhyāyiketiḥśādyair gadya-cūrṇika-vārttikaiḥ Lañk 363.7 (vs).

cūḷaka, m., in udaka-c°, mouthful or handful, small draught, of water: 'kāḥ, n. pl., Mmk 690.23; 704.20 (both prose). In place of Skt. culuka (which occurs 714.19) or cūḷaka (719.14); the latter is recorded in late Skt. in pw and Schmidt, Nachtr. Is the form with ū a mere corruption?

Cūlapanthaka, see Cūḍa°.

Cūliya, n. of a sister of Māyā: Mv 1.355.17.

cūlla- (= Pali culla, cūḷa), in cūllākṣa, adj., small-eyed: Mvy 8834 = Tib. mig chuñ ba. The Index records also cullākṣa; Mironov only the latter.

cūṣaka, m., 'sucker', a class of malevolent superhuman beings: Mmk 17.5. Also mahācūṣaka, ibidem.

cetaḥparyāya, m., way of thought, manner of mind; less often citta-pa°; commonly preceded by para- or parasya, of others; knowledge of other's mental make-up is one of the abhijñā, q.v.; so also in Pali, where Buddha is parassa (para-) ceto-(citta-)pariyāya-kusala (-kovida), as one of the abhijñā. In Bhik 27a.5 cetaḥparyāyasya is not preceded by para- or equivalent, but the meaning is certainly the same, since other abhijñā precede and follow it (divyasya śrotrasya, pūrvanivāsasya). In Mv 11.321.13 Buddhas are called cetaḥparyāyasampannāḥ, probably also with implication of para-, tho here most of the other abhijñā are not listed; but the next following epithet is ydhiprāthihāryasampannā(h), which recalls one of them.

cetanaka, or (v.l. of Mvy with Mironov) cait°, nt. (to next but one, q.v.), price: Mvy 8392 'kāni = Tib. rin than, price; Prāt 492.12, 13 (bhikṣum punar uddīśya ajñātinā gṛhapatinā...) cīvara-cetanakāny upaskṛtāni syur etair aham cīvaracetanakaiv evamrūpam cīvaram cetayitvā evamnamānam bhikṣum āchādayiṣyāmi; similarly 493.1, 3, 7 etc., always cet°. The corresponding Pali (see next but one) has (cīvara-)cetāpana, from the caus. of the verb, which alone is recorded in Pali; its mg. can only be substantially the same, price (of an article ordered to be bought).

1 cetayati (Skt. caus. of cit, not in this mg.; = Pali ceteti), longs for (dat.): samghasya ca alābhāya apadāya 'yati MSV 11.8.14.

2 cetayati (the verb on which is based Pali caus. cetāpeti, below), buys: cetayitvā, ger., Prāt 492.13; 493.2, 4, 9 etc., see cetanaka. In Lang. 22.98 it was stated that the subject of Pali cetāpeti, causes to be bought, has bought, 'is always a monk or nun, who instigates (a layman) to buy (something for himself or herself)'. This is true only in Vin. 1v.250.14-15; in Vin. 11.216.13 and 237.10 the subject is a layman, tho the mg. is certainly causes to be bought, has bought (for the benefit of a monk). Vin. 11.216.13 is the same passage as Prāt 492.13 (see cetanaka) where cetayitvā, having bought, replaces Pali cetāpetvā, having had (ordered) bought (for a monk). The non-caus. form of Prāt proves the meaning of the caus. Pali form, which Pali interpreters have not understood. The former is not recorded in Pali, nor the latter in BHS. The etymology is unknown but the mg. is clear from the contexts.

3 cetayika (v.l. ve°), Mv 11.442.10, some sort of entertainer. Form and mg. alike obscure; no correspondent in parallel passages 11.113.4 (see Senart's note here) etc. If the reading ve- were accepted, one might think of reading vetālika or 'ḍika (Skt. vaitālika), were it not for the fact that this word seems likely to have been read in 442.8 in the same list (Senart here tālika, but mss. vetaddika, vetarddi°), and in 113.2 Senart em. vaitālika for mss. tetaliika, tetarika.

cetasika, adj. (MIndic for cait°), = caitasika, q.v.: Mv 11.260.7; 11.66.7, 14 (see vedayita, which Senart reads); KP 103.5; Divy 352.15 ff.; Av 1.31.14. All cited under cait°.

ceti = cetika, cetiya, caitya, qq.v. (see § 3.115): ceti bhu (mss. bhū, Lefm. em. m.c., printing cetibhu as one word) trisahasraḥ kīm punas tubhya kāyaḥ LV 368.18 (vs), the 3000-fold world has become (= abhūt) an object of reverence (a shrine) . . . So Tib.: stoṅ gsum (= 3,000) mchod rten (= caitya) gyur na (become) . . .

cetika, nt. (prob. hyper-Skt. for Mīndic ceṭiya, but cf. caityaka) = ceṭi, ceṭiya, caitya; only in vss: LV 389.10 ceṭikaṃ (v.l. ceṭikāṃ), parallel to 388.12 ceṭiyaṃ (v.l. ceṭikā, *ko); datṭvā patakāṃ bhagavata ceṭikeṣū Śikṣ 302.3, parallel to Mv II.375.9 ceṭiyeṣu (mss. corruptly jāṭiyeṣu); so in Śikṣ 303.4, 7; 304.4, 8, etc., ceṭika regularly where Mv parallels (II.379.7 etc.) have ceṭiya.

ceṭiya, nt. or (when applied to a person) m. (= Pali id., Skt. caitya), sanctuary, temple; but also, object (of any kind) or person worthy of veneration; this form common in even the prose of Mv, only in vss of other texts; cf. also ceṭi, ceṭika. In sense of a shrine (building) cāpālaṃ nāma ceṭiyaṃ LV 388.12 = Mv II.306.14 (vs); cāpālaṃ ceṭiyaṃ Mv I.299.22 (prose), and ff.; ceṭiyeṣu Mv I.223.11 = II.26.8 (vs); other forms, II.354.11; 364.11, 13; 365.20 ff.; III.50.19; 303.1, etc.; ceṭiya- (mss. mostly ceṭiya-, perhaps read so; one ms. once ceṭika-)-pūjakaṃ (tam kulam) Mv I.198.2 = II.1.12 (prose), shrine-revering, of the family in which a Bodhisattva is born the last time (LV 24.9 caitya-pūjakaṃ in same passage); of the Buddha himself, sarvalokasya ceṭiyo Mv II.349.6; 359.8; III.273.5, the Revered One of the whole world; lokasya ceṭiya (voc.) Mv II.294.14; ceṭiyaṃ naraṇāṃ II.296.13; lokaceṭiyaḥ LV 97.10 (vs), of the Bodhisattva; utpanno iha loka ceṭiyo divi bhuvi mahitāḥ LV 363.2 (vs), of the same; of the miraculously produced four bowls, dhāret' ime ceṭiya sammatāite (so read with v.l., text matīte*) LV 383.12, preserve them; they (shall be) honored as revered objects; ceṭiyārthe (so with mss.) Mv II.263.12 (prose), for the purpose of (making it, viz. the spot where Buddha became enlightened) an object of veneration (universal emperors will never master, adhiṣṭhīhanti with v.l., that spot except for this purpose).

ceṭovimukta, adj. (cf. next), emancipated in mind: *rāgavīrāgāya kṭaḥ MSV III.53.13.

ceṭovimukti, emancipation of mind = Pali ceṭovimutti, acc. to PTSD always with paññāvimutti: LV 418.18 tīḥ prajñāvimuktis ca*; both also Mv II.139.6; III.333.16; but in III.333.13 prajñāvi° is lacking. In all four described by the adj. akopya, q.v.

ceṭo-samādhi, f. (= Pali id., also citta-s°), concentration of mind, here as leading to the magic power of becoming invisible: *tathārūpāṃ dhīm samāpadye yathā . . . mātā-pitarau nādr̥setsuḥ Mv III.409.12 (prose).

? cedācitta, instr. cedācittena LV 431.12 (prose; so only one ms.; v.l.; two mss., cintena*; all other mss. and Calc. have a haplographic omission here), is uninterpretable to me; I must assume a corruption, perhaps a misprint. Not noted by Weller. Foucaux's Tib. omits the passage. (The particle ced can, it seems, hardly be involved.)

celaka, cellaka, see cellaka.

Celā, n. of a daughter of Śirpha (8): MSV II.8.8 ff.

caitanaka, nt., var. for ceṭ, q.v.: Mvy 8392.

caitasika, fem. kī*, adj., rarely quasi-subst. with ellipsis of dharma, sometimes written cetasika, q.v. (= Pali cetasika); in the following cait° is written except in the passages listed s.v. ceṭ°; mental, of the mind: often contrasted with kāyika, sometimes also with vācika; sarvākāyika-caitasika-prapīḍitāny Gv 96.4; kāyika-caitasikaṃ . . . sukhāṃ 169.10; kāyikaṃ caitasikaṃ (sc. sukham) Bbh 26.2; cetasikena (parallel to kāyikena and vācikena) sthāmena Mv II.260.7; kāyikaṃ ca me duḥkham caitasikaṃ ca Av I.31.14; kāyikāḥ klamāḥ caitasikāḥ (sol) apy upāyāsāḥ Bbh 194.21; without such contrasting words, kī* (cf. vedanā) Mvy 7551; caitasikenābhyāseṇa Śikṣ 33.16; cittāni caitasika-samjñā (acc. pl. of -samjñā) vitarkitāni LV 151.13; esp. with dharma, regularly pl., mental states or conditions of existence, kā dharmāḥ* Mvy 1922; read cetasikā in Mv III.66.7, 14 (ye . . . dharmā pratītya utpad- yante, so substantially with mss., . . .) te . . . cetasikā (Senart vedayitā; mss. in 14 cetasitā or yitā*, one ms. in 7 veyayitā); na cittam na cetasikā dharmāḥ KP 103.5, there is no mind, no mental states of existence; cittacaitasikānām eva dharmānām Bbh 99.4, and kā dharmāḥ* 5, apparently the mind's mental states, states that are mental as belonging to the mind (?), cf. Pali citta-cetasikā dhammā, Dhammasaṅgaṇi 1022 ff. But in other occurrences of both together, in Pali and BHS, cittam and caitasikā dharmāḥ (cetasikā dhammā), or caitasika (usually masc. pl.) with dh° understood, constitute a duality, the mind and mental states-of-being. (For Pali see e.g. Vism. I.84.25 citta-cetasikānām samam sammā ca ādhānam; mind and mental properties, Maung Tin.) Cf. KP 103.5, above, and: kuśalānām ca citta-caitasikānām (so read) anusmṛtiḥ Śikṣ 33.13, remembrance of meritorious mind and mental states. In Divy 352.15 kīdrśās te cittacetāsikāḥ (certainly sc. dharmāḥ) pravartante, klīṣṭā vāklīṣṭā vā, and similarly in the sequel, the cpd. may perhaps be a Tatp., mental states of the mind, rather than a dvandva. On the other hand cf. *Sūtrā*l. xi.30, comm., maricikopamau dvau dharmau, cittam caitasikāś ca; here the duality is obvious, and dharmāḥ is certainly to be supplied with cait°. In AbhidhK. the usual equivalent is caitta, q.v.; note that the word dharma regularly has to be supplied, or at least is not expressed, but note LaV-P. viii.159 avasthāviśeṣo 'pi hi nāma cetasaś caitasiko bhavati (is dharmāḥ here also to be supplied with the masc. quasi-subst. caitasiko?). As in *Sūtrā*l. above, they are false, delusive, illusory.

Caitika (= Pali Ceṭiya, DPPN 2, = Apacara), n. of a lying king (former birth of Devadatta): MSV IV.245.6 ff. caitta, adj. from citta in origin but regularly substantivized as masc.; fundamentally a Buddhist word, equivalent to caitasika, q.v.; common in AbhidhK., see LaV-P. Index; mental state or condition of being, regularly cpd. or associated with citta, as a duality: Lañk 150.14 citta-caitta-kalāpo, mind and the whole mass of mental things (et alibi in Lañk); MadhK 11.9 citta-caittānām; 274.7 -citta-caitta-, la pensée et ses dérivés, ed. note. See esp. AbhidhK. II.149 citta-caittāḥ (note masc.!) sahāvāsyam; LaV-P., note, says citta = manas = viññāna; caitta = caitasa = caitasika = cittasamprayukta (cf. also II.150).

caitya, nt., like its Mīndic substitutes ceṭi, ceṭika, ceṭiya (also caityaka), seems to be used more broadly than in Skt., as any object of veneration: lokasya caityam Śikṣ 56.11 (said of any ornament of a stūpa); 136.2 (of the monkish robes); caitya-bhūtaḥ Vaj 34.12, of the nature of an object of veneration (said of any place where 'this sūtra' shall be proclaimed). See mahācaitya.

caityaka (nt.; Skt. caitya plus -ka; may possibly be the direct ancestor of ceṭika, q.v., or a further hyper-Sktization of that form if, as I think likely, ceṭika is itself a semi-Sanskritized substitute for Mīndic ceṭiya), temple, shrine: keṣu* Śikṣ 301.1 (= Mv II.373.17 ceṭiyeṣu). caitradaṇḍika, see vetra°.

Citraratha (-vana), doubtless to be identified with Skt. id. (n. of a grove constructed by the gandharva Citraratha for Kubera), = Citraratha, q.v., as n. of a grove of the Trāyastriṃśa gods: Mvy 4197; Divy 194.2.

callaka, (1) m. (from Skt. cela or calla, cloth), a monk (cf. Burnouf, Intr., 57; Lotus, 392; Kern, SBE 21.186 note 1), said to mean, specifically, one who wears no more than a (loin-)cloth: te callaka-bhūta SP 192.9 (vs), turned into monks; but most mss. read celaka, ceḍaka, or cellaka, or the like; (2) nt. (= Skt. cela, calla, also celaka, see Schmidt, Nachträge; AMg. celaa, cloth: kaṃ*, acc. sg., Mv III.163.9 (prose)).

cailoṇḍūka (or ḍuka*? m. or nt.; cf. Skt. calla, cela, and uṇḍuka; = Pali celanḍuka, or ḍaka*, which in MN I.150.17 clearly means turban, with comm. II.158.28 ff., not loincloth with PTSD; celoṇḍukaḥ, turban (śiroveṣṭe), also coḍa, m. or nt. (Skt. cola, defined as jacket or blouse, Lex. = kañcuka, prāvaraṇa; BHS seems to use coḍa in a wider sense; see next), garment(s), clothing; regularly associated with bhakta or bhojana, together = food and raiment: paryeṣate bhakta tathāpi coḍam SP 112.4; bhaktam ca coḍam ca gavesamāno 8; kim adya coḍena ca (so read with most mss. for text tha) bhojanena vā 113.8; (ananyacitto) bhakte ca coḍe ca bhavaty abhikṣṇam Śikṣ 113.8, and he always has his heart set on nothing but food and clothing. -chana for -channa (Skt.), covered, in (text) ducchanam and succhanam, yathā hy agāram du° Ud xxxi.11-16 and... su° 17-22; meter favors, indeed almost demands, -channam, which is read in the same vss in Pali, Dh. 13, 14, and must, it seems, be adopted here, tho the manifold repetition of this obvious error is strange.

chanda, (1) m. (rarely nt., LV 262.8), = Skt. and Pali id., used in both bad and good sense; more often in bad, desire, whim, caprice, passion, see e.g. acchanda-gāmin; in good sense, zeal, a characteristic of a Bodhisattva or a Buddha; often associated with virya: asti me (sc. Bodhisattvasya) chando 'sti viryam LV 239.1, same passage as: mahyam pi khalu asti chando... Mv II.118.10; asti chandam (n. sg.) one ms. °as) tathā viryam LV 262.8 = asti chando ca viryam ca Mv II.239.9 (vs; note chandaś ca LV 262.5, just above); nāsti chandasya hāniḥ Mv I.160.12 (one of the 18 āveṇika Buddha-dharma); (āryasmitam, of the Bodhisattva) chandopastabdham Mv II.280.16, based on zeal; janemi chandam Sukh 9.6; (2) (m.; this mg. in Pali, see PTSD s.v. 2), approval, consent, as object of dā, give: dadāti... tathāgataś chandam... SP 248.8, the Tathāgata (who sends this message; not Śākyamuni; neither Burnouf nor Kern understands the passage) gives his consent (to the opening of this stūpa); chandārhibhyas Vin. i.318.11, one who has the right to a valid vote) ca chandenānītā bhavanti (are agreed in consenting) MSV ii.210.3; (3) n. of Buddha's charioteer, oftener called Chandaka (4), q.v.: LV 133.6; Divy 391.24; both times in vss, the -ka possibly dropped m.c., cf. § 22.24 (note that Chandaka is the form used in prose two lines before in Divy); but in MSV iii.28.8 ff. (prose) also Chanda, = Pali Channa, assumed in DPPN to be this same person; here as in Vin. ii.21.7 ff. subjected to utkṣepaṇīya; MPS 29.15; the corresponding name in Pali is Channa; (4) n. of one of the ṣaḍvārgika monks: Mvy 9474.

chandaka, (1) nt. (= Pali id.; from chanda + plus -ka; see also chanda-yācaka), 'free-will offering', general collection of alms for the community of monks, made by going the rounds of the town and inviting subscriptions from all citizens (Av ii.39.4 ff. describes this); chandakāni Av i.269.9; otherwise only chandaka-bhikṣaṇa (nt.) in same mg., MSV i.61.19; ii.77.15; Av i.257.8, 11; 313.9; 314.2, 4; 317.16; ii.39.4 ff.; in i.264.2 (see Speyer's Index) read chandaka (ed. chandana) -bhikṣaṇa (ms. and ed. bhikṣa; but the missing -ṇa is read in line 7 below); (2) in Av ii.55.3 ... Indriyair avikalatvasya kuśaladharmachandakasya āścaryādbhuto loke prādurbhāvaḥ, Speyer, Index, renders -chandaka by gathering (of merit); but cf. Pali dhamma-chanda, desire for the Law, opp. to kāmachanda, desire for lusts; this is certainly the word involved; either chandaka = chanda (ka svārthe), or, perhaps better, read -chandatvasya, which matches the preceding series of nouns in -tva-sya, the appearance in the world of a state of desiring meritorious (or, felicitous) dharma (Law, or states of being?) is a prodigious marvel; (3) in Mvy 2225 text tivreṇa chandakāḥ, presumably adj., desiring (vehemently); but v.l. chandena, and so Mironov without v.l. (also Index of Kyoto ed. lists this reference under chanda, not under chandaka); this is prob. the true reading: with vehement desire (chanda); (4) n. of the Bodhisattva's charioteer (in Pali Channa; here rarely Chanda, q.v.); sometimes even when the meter seems to demand Chanda, Chandaka is written, as in Mv i.154.9; this is the regular form in prose and vs; Mv i.154.5 (prose), 6, 9; 155.14; ii.25.12 (prose); 114.5 (prose); 159.12 ff.; 189.1 ff.; iii.91.7; 262.8; LV 94.13; 95.10; 123.8; 210.3 ff.; 228.17 ff.; 237.18; Divy 391.22; sent with Kālodāyin by Suddhodana as messenger to Buddha after his enlightenment, Mv ii.233. 11 ff.

Chandaka-nivartana, nt. (see prec.), n. of a caltaya built on the spot where Chandaka left the Bodhisattva as he gave up worldly life: LV 225.13.

chanda-yācaka, adj. with bhikṣu, monk begging for the chandaka (-bhikṣaṇa), q.v.: MSV i.62.1, 2, 4 °kā (bhikṣavaḥ).

Skt. Texte 4, p. 49, line 23. The MIndic chambhati is clearly based on Skt. skambh-; BHS (rarely) uses the equivalent stambh- in the same sense, see a-stambhin.

chambita-tva, nt. (= chambh°, see prec.), state of being frightened: Dhvajāgrasūtra (as prec.), 47.6, 16, 24.

chambin, adj. (= chambhin, see prec.), frightened: Dhvajāgrasūtra, Waldschmidt, Kl. Skt. Texte 4, p. 49, line 22.

Senart assumes a m. or nt. equivalent of challi, bark (Pali, late and lex. Skt., see Schmidt, Nachträge.)] chava, adj. (also śava, q.v.; Pali chava, homonymous with chava = Skt. śava, corpse, and perhaps ultimately the same word, cf. Senart, Mv i.583), base, vile, wretched: śūrām sāhasikām-chavām (acc. pl.) Mv i.278.10; patrāhāro chavāvāsi Mv iii.435.22, having a wretched dwelling.

chavi (= Skt., Pali id., skin), bark (of a tree): kovidārasya chavigandhaḥ Gv 501.11 (prose). Acc. to the English of Ratnach., chavi may have this mg. in AMg.; this is a translation of Hindi chāl, which seems to mean both skin and bark; whether the AMg. word also means bark I do not know.

chāgalaka, adj. (to Skt. °la), of a goat: °ka dṛti, goatskin bag, MPS 7.5.

(chāta, adj., thin; occurs, tho rarely, in Skt., as well as Pkt. chāa, cf. Deśin. 3.33, with comm.; Pischel 328; Schmidt, Nachträge; acc. to Pischel, Pali chāta, Pkt. chāa, hungry, is an unrelated word, from psāta, while our chāta is from ksāta; this theory seems speculative. In Mv i.147.2 = 203.17 = ii.7.13 (vs) Senart em. capodare, but read chātodare with all mss. in first and third citations (in second nābhodare); cf. chātodari in comm. to Deśin., above; also Jm 3.8 kṣudhā chātatarodarīm.)

[chātraka, nt., see chattraka.]

-chāda, lfc. (cf. Skt. chādana etc.; this stem seems not recorded anywhere), cover, protection: tad rājyaṃ dharma-chādām (with dharma as its protection) prādāt Gv 416.19 (prose).

(chādayati, Skt., (1) covers: in Mv iii.55.4, text, kuñjaram pi so ... ṣaṣṭihāyanam balaśaktikāye chādita-vyaṃ manyeya, yo me ... ṣaḍ vābhijñā balaṃ (so mss.) vaśibhāvaṃ chādayitvaṃ manyeyā (the last part, from yo ..., repeated 6-7, 8, 9-10). For the first chādita-vyaṃ, Senart thinks a form of chādṣeti must be read; but the Pali parallel SN ii.222.10 reads tālapattikāya chādetabbam, (an elephant) to be covered with a palm-leaf, which proves chādita-vyaṃ correct. Perhaps read before it (with the Pali) tāla-pattikāye; possibly, however, tāla-śaktikāye (closer to our mss.), with an upheld arm or hand, see s.v. tālaśaktikā. (2) protects, helps, saves (cf. pw s.v. 6, schützen): in LV 168.8 (vs) read, kṛpakaruṇā janīyā atiraudre chāditu so bho (so best ms. A; all other mss. and Calc, śobhe, which is uninterpretable), (by you) taking pity and compassion on your very cruel (toe), he, lol was protected (helped). So Tib. seems clearly to read; it ends, de ni (that very one) khyod kyis (by you) bskyabs (protect, help).

chāya, m., and chāyā (see also duśchāya, °yā, mahāchāyā), a kind of evil supernatural being, acc. to Tib. on Mvy 4763 chāyā = grib gnon, harpy, a demon that defiles and poisons food; fem. also Mmk 17.8; Māy 219.10, etc.; masc., na chāyāḥ chāyasamatīye sthānam Māy 226.24.

chāyika, nt., or °kā, f. (cf. Pali chārikā; AMg. chāria, °ya, nt., and °yā; no form with y for r recorded), ashes: chāyikam (so Index; text, also Mironov, chayikam; short a seems clearly an error) api na prajñāyate Mvy 5255 (Tib. thal ba, dust, ashes; follows maśr, or maśr, q.v., api...); (na maśr) na chāyikā prajñāyate Śikṣ 246.10; in Mv II.325.9 (vs) read, substantially with mss., na... maśr (mss. add va; read vā? or na?) chāyikā (mss. chā-lkā, or chāyi; Senart em. chārikām) vā (the first part of the line is corrupt but Senart's em. cannot be right; the negative was clearly present); one of four vikṛta-bhojana, MSV I.286.8, 9 chāyikā. See also jambū-chāyaka.

-chīṭi (acc. sg. °ṭim), in kāñjikacchīṭim, an inferior kind of sour gruel (kāñjika): Divy 496.9, 11, 12. Replaced by simple kāñjikam in lines 15, 21, 26.

? Chitvāsuta (Oldenburg suggests reading Chibbāsuta; I find no trace of anything like either), n. of a nāga; Māy 221.22.

chidrāchidra (nt.; § 23.12), all manner of holes: (na svapet) chidrāchidreṣu sattvānām yac ca sthānam mahadbhayaṃ (Śikṣ mahābh°) Lañk 257.1, cited Śikṣ 132.7 (one should not sleep) in all manner of holes of creatures (animals), and (not in) whatever is a place of great danger. Both translations are incorrect.

chidrīkarāṇa (nt.; to next), in a-cchid°, the (not) making defective: °raṇāvīpādanatayā (l. e. -avīpād°) Bbh 187.14.

chidrīkaroti (cf. prec. and next; to Skt. chidra with kr-), makes defective: -samādānam na chidrīkaroti (bodhisattvaḥ) Bbh 183.24.

chidrīkāra (m.; to prec.) = °karāṇa; in cpd., Bbh 162.19.

chinna, adj. (ppp.; not recorded in this sense), wearied; in strī-, bhāra-, mārga-chinna, Mvy 8793-5; MSV IV.68.13-14; Tib. dub pa.

chinna-bhakta, adj. (Bhvr.; = Pali °bhatta), or °taka, with food cut off, fasting, not having eaten: brāhmaṇas chinnabhakto (having had no breakfast) halam vāhayati Divy 461.13; (same phrase, °takako) MSV I.68.20. See also bhakta-chinnaka.

chinna-varṣika, one who has fallen away from observance of the rainy season: Mvy 9425 (Tib. dbyar gnas pa las ṇams pa); also varṣā-chinnaka (spelled varṣacchi°) MSV II.154.12; 157.13.

chufi, see next.

chutṭa, adj. or subst. nt. (also chufi; cf. Skt. root chut-; perh. read chutṭha? cf. Ap. chutṭha, Jacobi, Bhav., Glossar, said to = ksipta, to chuhai, which prob. = Skt. ksubh-), seems to mean (what has been) injured: -stūpeṣu ca khaṇḍa-chutṭam (Tib. ral ba dan ḥdrams pa, what is damaged and injured, cf. hgrams pa, to hurt, Jā.) pratisamskartavyam MSV II.143.12; khaṇḍa-chutṭyā pratisamskara-pārtham MSV IV.136.10. In parallels sphuṭa (q.v., 2); read so?

cheka, adj. (Jain Skt. and Pali, clever; also Pali good, Jāt. v.366.27, comm. sundara, opp. pāpaka, of odors), good, proper, seemly: na chekam na pratirūpaṃ MSV II.96.15.

cheda (= chedya, q.v.), a martial art: chede vā bhede vā Mv II.74.1.

chedaka, m. (only pl. in list of misc. artisans), perh.

cutter (of wood? quite uncertain): Mv III.113.17 nāpītā (v.l. nāvīkā) kalpikā chedakā (v.l. chedakārakā) lepakā sthapatī; Senart by em. also in II.443.4 (nāpītā, v.l. nāvīkā) kalpikā (mss. °akā) che° (but mss. chādakā) lepakā sthapatī. On adv. kavaḍa-chedakam, see s.v.

chedya, nt. (also cheda; in this sense not recorded; Pali has chejja-bhejja, Jāt. v.444.22, and chejjā, fem., alone, Vin. III.47.7, only as forms of punishment; PTSD inaccurate), always associated with bhedya; both in lists of military arts, usually as mastered by the young Bodhisattva or another young prince; precise mg. is never made clear; Tib. on Mvy and on LV renders chedya by bcad pa, cutting, and bhedya by dral ba, splitting, tearing asunder: chedyam Mvy 4988, bhedyam 4989; otherwise only in loc., usually listed with other martial arts, chedye and bhedye, LV 156.12 and Mv II.74.1-2 (here Mv chede, bhede, and so v.l. elsewhere in Mv; the young Bodhisattva challenges other Śākya youths to test their skill in such arts); Mv I.129.5; II.423.17; 434.13; Divy 100.11; 442.7.

choraṇa (to next), (1) discharge, expulsion, of impurities: kheṭa-cchoraṇe (of phlegm) Mmk 113.7; pūti ib. 14; (2) abandonment: (yatra na kasyacid dharmasya) choraṇam asti ŚsP 1409.16.

chorayati, rarely (Mv III.20.2) choḍ° (cf. prec.; not in Pali; AMg. and JM. ppp. choḍi(y)a, discharged, released; Hindi chorṇā, let go, release, abandon, etc., see Turner, Nep. Dict. s.v. chorṇu), (1) clears away, removes: (withered flowers from caityas) choreṭva jālam (see jāla) jinacetiyeṣu Mv II.391.22; 392.4, 8, 12, 16, 20 (vss); same passages Śikṣ 306.2, 4 choritva, but 6, 8, 10 apanīya (ms.; wrongly em. to upa° in ed.); Tib. cited by Bendall as bsal ba, which can only mean remove, clear away; immediately following verses deal unambiguously with meritorious clearing away of withered flowers, and in Mv II.394.6, 10 choreṭva is again used, with objects osannapuṣpaṃ and nirmālyam; Senart and Bendall misunderstand; pātrādhiṣṭhānam chorayitavyam MSV III.98.3-4, he must put away the (food-) bowl-stand; (2) throws away (refuse, food-leavings, dirty water, etc.): chorayisyāmaḥ Mvy 8595 = Prāt 534.13 (water with which the food bowl has been washed); Mvy 8596 (leavings of food); ekānte chorayitvā (id.; text sthor°) Mmk 107.27; chorito (food regarded as unclean) Divy 86.23; annapānam choryate Divy 84.21; ucchiṣṭoda-kam choritam 185.28; tad (foul stuff) ekānte chorayitvā Av I.255.7; chorayitvā (a dead body) Divy 166.1; sapta parvatā utpātītā, utpātayitvā laghunivānyapradeṣe chorayitvā Kv 31.24, having plucked up and thrown away; with gen., tasya pātraṣeṣam °yanti MSV I.5.14, threw to that (ape) what (food) was left in their bowls; (3) discharges (bodily discharges): chorayisyāmaḥ °mi; not in an improper place) Mvy 8627-28; emits (a sigh), ucchvāsam choritam Kv 57.15, 16; (4) casts off, puts aside, lays down (garments, ornaments): vastrāṇy ābharāṇāni ca prthivyaṃ chorayanti sma LV 321.2; mukutaṃ... chorayitvā LV 135.11 (vs), (Suddhodana) laying off his diadem (etc., in saluting the Bodhisattva); (5) abandons, leaves (a place): choritva kṣetrāṇi svaka-svakāni SP 251.5 (vs), leaving their several (Buddha-) fields (they have come here; misunderstood by Burnouf and Kern); kva tvam gato °si mama śayi chorayitvā LV 230.18 (vs; Gopā apostrophizes the Bodhisattva), abandoning my bed; (6) abandons, gives up: rājyam ca rāṣṭram ca chorayitvā Mv II.483.3 = III.18.6 (vs); choritā (? precise mg. uncertain from lack of context) Mvy 2553; gives away (in largess), paṭakāś choritāḥ MSV II.107.2; (7) abandons, deserts (a person): taṃ (sc. rājānam) choḍitvā (v.l. choḍayitvā) Mv III.20.2 (prose); choritāḥ (a man) Divy 6.6; 334.22; chorayantu (a woman, in a cemetery, after cutting off her hands, feet, ears, and nose) Divy 353.23; sa tam ekānte prakramya (read prakramya?

jakrt (semi-Mindic for Skt. yakrt; cf. AMg. jagaya), liver: LV 208.18 (vs; v.l. ya°).

Jagatīṃdhara, n. of a Bodhisattva: Mvy 728; RP 2.1.

Jaga(t)pradīpaś(ī)ri, n. of a Buddha: Gv 285.19 (vs).

Jagadīndrarāja, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 4.5. jagadrocana-(maṇiratna), a kind of jewel: Gv 124.5.

jagadvyūhagarbha, nt., n. of a kind of magic gem:

°bham nāma mahāmaṇiratnaṃ Gv 499.9.

Jaga(n)mantrasāgarānirghoṣamati, n. of a Buddha: Gv 285.21 (vs).

Jaganmitra, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.25.

jaṅgala, n. of a rākṣasī: Māy 243.24.

jaṅgala, m. (Skt. Lex. and Pall id., acc. to PTSD nt., which its citations do not prove; jaṅgalāni Jāt. iv.71.1 is an adj.), wild place, jungle: khānayet kūpa jaṅgale SP 235.11 (vs); ujjāṅgalo ca jaṅgalo Mv 11.207.5, 8 (treated as n. pr. by Senart, Index).

Jaṅghā, n. of a (tantalizing) state of preta-existence: Śikṣ 57.6.

Jaṅghā-kāśyapa, n. of a monk: MSV 1.204.18 ff.; Karmav. 76.3. Neither the name, nor the story told of him, seems to be associated with any of the Pall Kassapas.

jaṅghā-prēṣana, nt. (cf. Pall °pesanika, °pika, running errands on foot), 'foot-errand', the sending (someone) on foot on an errand: nāsti taj jaṅghāprēṣaṇaṃ yan not-sahate Śikṣ 37.1.

jaṅghā-vihāra (m.; = Pall id., 'usually in phrase °ram anucaṅkamati anuvicarati', PTSD), walk, stroll (on foot): °ram anucaṅkamyamāno LV 248.7; °ram anukramati Divy 471.8.

jaṭa-karaṇa-karman, nt., the ceremony of clipping a young boy's hair except for the top-knot: (Rāhulasya) °karman Mv 111.263.16; = Skt. cūḍākaraṇa, which replaces this as exact synonym in line 18 below.

Jaṭāpura, n. of a town: Māy 77.

Jaṭīṃdhara, n. of a śreṣṭhin and medical authority: Suv 175.1 ff.; 199.10 ff.

Jaṭīlikā, n. of a village chief's daughter: LV 265.6.

Jaṭhara, n. of a local ruler (pradeśarājan), previous incarnation of Devadatta: Mv 1.128.14.

jaḍa = Skt. jala, water: LV 372.15 (all mss., both edd.).

jaḍuvāra (var. °pāra), some sort of herb: Mvy 5814 = Tib. zur ba (not recorded in Dictt.).

jatu-yāntara, loc. °tre, lit. lac-machine, n. of some art, in a list of those in which the Bodhisattva excelled; so read in LV 156.22, for Lefm. jala-yāntre; mss. vary, A (the best) cited as janu- (read jatu-y°; Calc. jatu°, confirmed by Tib. rgya skyegs kyi ḥkhrul ḥkhor, machine of lac. The precise mg. is obscure to me; in corresponding lists of arts I have found nothing similar, unless jantunā Mv 1.129.9 (in a corrupt and obscure line, included in a passage of similar tenor) conceals jantunā, instr. of jatu.

? jatya, perh. by error for a-jatya, itself either error, or with Mindic a for ā, for Skt. a-jātya (= Pall a-jacca); or else (perhaps more likely) error for a-janya, q.v.; ignoble (person): (na mleccheṣu na pāpakuleṣu naurabhri-keṣu [text noratṛikeṣu]) na kaukkuṭikeṣu na jatyeṣu pratyājayante Kv 42.10.

(jana, (1) or janā (birth, Skt. Gr., BR s.v.; also cf. ajana, evidently unborn, BR 7.1689), kṛta tvayi hitakara bahugūṇa janato (abl., from birth) LV 165.1 (vs), so text; but Tib. ḥgro la, evidently based on jagato, to (for) the world, dependent on hitakara; (2) strange, foreign, subst. stranger, Saundarānanda xv.31, and cf. janī-bhavati, becomes a stranger, Buddhacarita vi.9; acc. to Johnston on Saund., jana in this sense is 'common in Buddhist Skt.', but I have not noted it. Cf. however jana, m., fremdes Volk, ... Land, pw 7.342.)

jana-kāya, see s.v. kāya.

Janakṣetriya (mss., Senart em. °kṣatriya), n. of a former Buddha: Mv 1.138.7.

Jananī (otherwise only mother), woman (Johnston's note compares mātṛgrāma, q.v.): na samraraḥḥe viṣamaṃ jananyām, Buddhacarita 11.34, loved no woman wrongly.

-jananiya, adj. lfc. (cf. § 22.20; to Skt. janana, f. janani), productive of ... producing: samvega-jananiyā kathā Gv 307.24 (prose); cf. Pall samvega-jananī (desanā) Pv. comm. p. 1 verse 6.

janapada-kalyāṇī (= Pall id.; Mironov and pw 7.342 with var. °nam, disproved by Tib. and Pall), beauty (beautiful) woman of the country: Mvy 7630 = Tib. yul gyl bzañ mo (fem. suffix mol); °nyā striyā sārḍham paricaret Śikṣ 252.3; °ṇīm MSV 1.136.4 (= Divy 444.10, text °nām).

janapadi, m. (to janapada; representing stem °pa-din?), countryman, man of the country: manuṣyā mahāmanuṣyā janapadayo mahājanapadayaḥ Mmk 17.14 (prose), in long list of beings of all sorts.

janayati (like upajanyati, q.v.) is used in BHS in the mg. conceive (lit. produce) a feeling or notion, in oneself; this seems to Senart, n. on Mv 1.47.1, different enough from Skt. usage to record: Mv 1.47.1 naiva tāva janayanti mānasam agrapudgalagatam; SP 12.6 (vs) harṣaṃ janitvā (metr. bad).

Janayitrī (Skt. Lex. and once cited from Rājat.; = janetrī, janetukā, qq.v., and Pall janettī; the regular Skt. is janitrī), generatrix, mother: mātṛbhūtāni kalyāṇamitrāṇi buddhakuleṣu janayitrī Gv 463.11 (prose), good friends are like mothers as causing birth in Buddha-families ('trī for °trīḥ = °trayah, n. pl.? or n. sg., ad sensum, since each one causes ... followed by daṇḍa, which is followed by p-); janayitrībhūtāṃ sarvasattvānāṃ Gv 494.11 (prose); yena svamātā janayitrī (but most mss. janetrī; the mother that bore them) ... añjalīm praghṛya janayitrīm etad avocatām SP 458.7 (prose); also in SP 462.2 (prose) svamātaraṃ janayitrīm, but several mss. janetrīm; etc.

Janārdana, n. of a nāga king: Māy 246.30.

janitā (or °ta?), sg. or pl., = Skt. janatā, people: daśakuśall janitā (Calc. °tāḥ) thapitā te brahmapatheṣu LV 169.11 (vs); tvayi purimā janitā (here Calc. janatā) ima dṛṣṭvā dṛṣṭivipannā 169.17 (vs); in both Tib. skye bo = man, men, people. The mg. seems clearly that of janatā, but no ms. seems to read so. No record of such a form elsewhere; cf. Skt. jani, birth, life.

janitravati (unrecorded; seems superficially based on Skt. janitra, Pall janitta, plus -vant, -vati; but corresponds in usage to janita-vatī, periphrastic perf. act. pple. to janayati; perhaps read so?), periphrastic verb-substitute,

(I) have given birth to: (Ihaiva tāvad aham . . .) siddhārtham bodhisattvam jan° Gv 439.2 (prose); Māyā speaks, right here I gave birth to . . .

Janisuta, n. of a (virtuous) son of Māra: Mv II.337.2; 408.10 (prose; here mss. Jana°, Janam°); 410.2 (vs).

janetukā (semi-Mindic for *janayitrkā = janetri, janayitri; § 3.92), generatrix, mother; associated with mātār, as are janayitri, janetri: mā eṣa mātūr hi janetukāya (or °ye; v.l. also °yam; Nobel em. °yāh) Suv 238.1 (vs).

janetri (= prec. and janayitri, q.v.; Pall janetti), mother: janetri-sampannās ca bhavanti samyaksambuddhā Mv I.142.7; jina-janetri I.149.13 = 217.1 = II.19.15 (vs); pūrva-janetri, mother in a former birth, II.205.3 (vs); jātisatāni janetri abhūṣi 205.9 (vs); purimabhavajanetriye bhavanighāṭi 206.15 (vs, so read with mss.); Gv 37.15; 355.5; 381.5 (Valrocanasya janetry evam . . .); LV 82.22; 98.8 (atitānām . . . bodhisattvānām . . .) janetryaḥ; tasya mātā janetri Gv 354.23, the mother that bore him (similarly s.v. janayitri); etc. All these prose except as marked vs. janta (nt.; also written jantra, as well as yanta; Pkt. or semi-Pkt. for Skt. yantra), machine: Mv II.475.6 ff., 476.1, 5, in cpds. janta-kāra and janta-māṣṭa(ka), see the latter. The mss. read prevallingly janta or jantra; Senart usually j-, but sometimes y- even against both mss.

? jantāka (m. or nt.) is read once or twice in Av (I.286.9, 10, see Speyer's note on I.286.8) for jentāka, see s.v. jenta; and jamdāka(-snātra) is written in one of the Niya documents, see Rapson and Noble, Kharoṣṭhi Inscriptions (Stein collection), vol. 3, p. 321, where it is suggested that jantāka be adopted in Av; but Av I.286.8 has je-, supporting Mvy and Karmav.

janṭita (cf. janta), Pkt. = Skt. yantrita, q.v.: LV 372.15.

jantu-, in Divy 418.1 jantu-grham praveṣayitvā dagdhā (Tiṣyarakṣitā); note conjectures jatu-, lac. But cf. Pall jantu, Vin. I.196.6, a kind of grass used for making coverlets (corresponds to Divy 19.22 janḍuraka; see s.v. eraka); a house made of jantu-grass would make possible sense.

Jantukarṇa, m. pl., n. of a brahmanical school: Divy 635.18. Perhaps read Jātu°, q.v.

jantra, see janta.

? jaṇḍāka, see jaṇṭāka.

janḍuraka, m., a kind of coverlet: Divy 19.22; corresponds to syandaraka (v.l. Mironov syandu°) Mvy 9182, and apparently to Pall jantu, thus supporting j- rather than sy-; see s.v. eraka.

Janmacitra, Divy 436.29 ff.; MSV I.124.5; or °traka, Divy 435.11; 436.19 ff., n. of a serpent-demon (nāga; not 'elephant' with N. Dutt, Introd. to MSV I p. 16).

janman (for closest approach to this mg. which I have found, see BR s.v. 11), circumstance, condition, case; iha janmani, in this case, under these circumstances; Mmk 56.18 meha janmani avandhyā me mantrasiddhiḥ; 56.29 iha janmani (Tib. skabs der = en ce cas, Lalou, Iconographie, 21) samhartavyaḥ (see samharati). See also bodhisattva-janman.

janmanideśa, n. of the eighth (Bodhisattva) bhūmi, in the (isolated) formulation of Mv I.76.17.

janmabhūmika, adj. (to Skt. janmabhūmi plus -ka, or -ika), belonging to one's native land: °kānām manuṣyānām anugrahāya Gv 456.20; °kāś ca babubhir jñāṭisambandhi-bhir 479.19; °kānām (text °makānām, certainly corruption for °mi°) ca manuṣyānām 525.17. All prose.

janmika, lfc. (janman plus -ika), in varṣa-janmika, born in the rainy season? or, more likely, taking this as irregular cpd. (§ 23.9) with prec. yāvāt-triṇī, up-to-three-years old? in Mmk 49.(12-13) (yāvāt triṇī) °mikam pañcācitrakopasobhitam . . . rājaputram . . . kṣatriyaputram vā . . . praveṣayet. See also eka-janmika, paurva-j°. jampati, dual (= Skt. Gr. and Lex. id.; not in Pall or Pkt.), husband and wife: Mvy 3905; = Skt. dampati, which follows it in Mvy.

jambu-kāñcana, jambū°, prob. to be read, with two mss. in first passage, for jāmbū° in LV 122.15 ekā kākini jāmbu-kāñcane bhavati upahatā, and 17 jāmbūkāñcanasamnibhā punar bhavet sakara iya mahi (both vss); the mg. seems evidently gold from the Jambu river, and it is hard to believe that ā in the first syllable is anything but a corruption (if an adjectival form, it should be jāmbava; the ā of jāmbunada, jāmbū°, is justified because that is derived from °nādī with suffix -a).

jambuḍa, m. or nt. (Deśin. 3.41 jāmbuḍam = madya-bhājanam; see next, and jambuḍī), a liquor-vessel: dhyātvā jāmbuḍa-māmsa-pañcapīṣṭair madyam sapañcāmṛtam . . . dadyād balim Sādh 588.17 (vs).

jambuḍikā = prec., q.v.: māmsa-jambuḍikā-madya-puṣpa-dhūpa-vilepanam . . . sṛjed balim Sādh 583.12 (vs).

jambudvīpaka, in Av II.91.1 jāmbū°, adj., pl., (people) of Jambudvīpa: °kā akarā abhūvan Divy 316.9, with ellipsis of manuṣyāḥ, which in the rest is always found expressed; Divy 317.1 ff.; 335.21; Av II.91.1 (jambū°); Karmav 36.5; Gv 352.22; 504.6. Also jāmbu°, jāmbū°, qq.v.

Jambudhvaja, m. (1) = Jambudvīpa, n. for India; only in vss: LV 12.7; 13.3; 29.9; 94.7; Gv 336.10 et alibi; (2) n. of a group of former Buddhas: Mv I.58.13; 62.3; (3) n. of a nāga: Mvy 3359.

jambū-chāyaka or °ika, f. °ikā, adj., having the color of the rose-apple (?), ep. of poles (yaṣṭi): MSV II.142.2.

jambūdīvaka, see jambu°.

Jambūdīvāśirṣa, nt., 'tip of India', = Milaspha-ṛaṇa, q.v.: Gv 83.20 (here printed Jāmbū°); 84.16.

jambūnada (nt.; = Pall jambu°, Skt. jāmbū°; § 3.32), gold: jāmbūnadārcisadrṣam (all mss.) LV 134.11 (vs).

Jambūnadaprabhāsavati, n. of a lokadhātu: Gv 80.25.

jambūlikā, presumably = Skt. jāmbūla, Pandanus odoratissimus: (raṇḍām) māṣa-jambūlikā-homena (. . . va-śyām karoti) Mmk 287.22; raṇḍāvaśikaraṇe māṣa-jambūlikām juhuyāt 707.18. Both prose.

Jambhaka, n. of a yakṣa: Māy 74. Perhaps to be identified with one of the demoniac beings so named in Skt. (BR); and cf. next.

Jambhala (cf. prec. and next), n. of a supernatural being, a yakṣa acc. to Mmk 549.23; 607.1; 648.6 (yakṣa-rāt); cf. Sādh 421.7 'la-rūpam ātmānam dhyātvā; in Mvy 4331 rendered by Tib. rmugs ḥdzin, which Das renders by jalendra (cf. next), 'the chief of waters, the sea . . .

Jambhala-jalendra (see Mvy 4331 under prec.), °dra-nāmā yakṣarūpi bodhisattvo Mmk 45.20; doubtless the same as Jambhala.

jambhī, m. or f., palate: °iḥ Mvy 3954; so acc. to Tib. thag ḥgram, see Das, who gives Skt. as jimbha (a different word; see Sheth s.v., and BR s.v. jimbha-jihvatā); occurs in a list of bodily parts, after hanu, śaṅkha, and before danta, tālu, oṣṭha; pw 7.343 suggests reading jambha.

[jambhīra], var. for jambīra, nt., Mvy 5808; but Mironov jambīra, m., without v.l.; = Skt. jambīra and Lex. jambhīra, citron (m. the tree, nt. the fruit).]

jaya, (1) nt. (otherwise recorded only as m.), victory: yadi no jayam syāt LV 304.14 (vs); no v.l.; (2) m., n. of a youth, previous incarnation of Aśoka: Divy 366.7, 9.

Jayamgama, m., n. of a kalpa: Gv 447.5.

Jayadatta, n. of a Bodhisattva: Mvy 724; ŚsP 37.8.

Jayanta (see also Jenta), n. of a former Buddha: Mv III.238.9 f.

Jayantadeva, n. of a former Buddha: Mv I.141.1.

Jayanti (see also Jenti), n. of a devakumārīkā in the eastern quarter: LV 388.9; and so Senart in Mv III.306.8, but his defective mss. lack it.

jaya-patākā, trophy for the winner in a contest, in fig. use: (Gopā nāma Śākyakanyā) °kā sthāpitābhūt LV 144.8.

Jayaprabha, n. of a king: Gv 352.24. A previous incarnation of Satyaka, q.v., the 'great debater': 358.26.

Jayamati, n. of a Bodhisattva, perhaps of several different ones: Mvy 682; RP 2.1; in Śikṣ 6.16, one who was punished for disbelief in śūnyatā.

Jayamitra, n. of a future Buddha: Mv III.330.10.

Jayaśrī, n. of a nāga maid: Kv 3.22.

Jayā, n. of one of the four Kumārī, q.v., or Bhagīnī: Mmk 537.7; 539.7, et alibi; prob. the same, a yakṣiṇī, Mmk 573.14; 574.4.

Jayottama, n. of a merchant (śreṣṭhīn): Gv 189.1 ff.

Jayoṣṇīṣa, n. of one of the 8 Uṣṇīṣa-rājānaḥ (see uṣṇīṣa 3): Mmk 41.11.

Jayoṣmāyatana, n. of a brahman: Gv 115.1; 116.4 ff.; 158.2. Cf. next.

[jara], m., old age, instead of jarā, f., according to text LV 175.4 (vs) tatha ojaharo ahu vyādhi jaro; so all mss. acc. to Lefm.; but citation Śikṣ 206.2 has jage for jaro, and is supported by Tib. ḥgro baḥi (in transl. of LV); jage is surely right; jaro is carried over from 174.16–175.2 where jarā occurs repeatedly. Tib. on LV also supports Śikṣ ayu instead of LV text ahu, reading ḥdi.]

jarāprajñāyate, see prajñāyate.

jarodapāna, m. or nt. (= Pali jarūdapāna, SN II.198.3), an old (ruined) well, as a danger to walkers: tad yathā cakṣuṣmām puruṣo °nam vā nadidurgam vā... avakṛṣya kāyam avakṛṣya cittam vyavalokayed... Candropama Sūtra, Hoernle, MR 42.5–6... (43.2–3...); cf. note p. 44.

Jalagarbha, n. of a son of Jalavāhana: Suv 183.10; 188.10; 200.11.

jala-dardaraka, nt. (cf. dardaraka, and Skt. jala-dardura), a musical instrument playable in the water: °rake, loc., Mv II.97.13–14; °rakāni (so) II.109.9.

Jaladhara (in Skt. cloud, and Lex. ocean; in Pali ocean, Milp. 117.31), ocean, appears in Pkt. form, and with ā m.c. for a, as jalādhara, in LV 175.11 (vs); cited Śikṣ 206.9 maraṇo (Śikṣ °nam) grasate bahuprāṇīsatam (Śikṣ °tān) makareva jalāhari bhūtagaṇam (Śikṣ °ro va jalākari bhūtagaṇān); the meaning ocean, which alone fits the context, is confirmed by Tib. rgya mtshoḥi. The form is loc. sg., for jala-dhare.

Jaladharagarjitaghoṣasusvaranākṣatrarājasam-kusumitābhijñā, n. of a former Buddha: SP 457.3 ff.

Jalapatha, m., n. of a mountain: Divy 450.10; 455.28.

Jalabindu, n. of a nāga maid: Kv 4.2.

[jala-yantra], read jatu, q.v. But in MSV III.16.10 occurs jala-yantraka, lit. water-machine, something used in water-play with women; Tib. chu (water) la spal paḥi skad ḥbyin (?).]

Jalavāhana, n. of a son of the śreṣṭhīn Jaṭimdhara: Suv 175.4 ff.; 182.14 ff. (= the Bodhisattva, 200.3–5).

Jalahara, ocean, see jaladhara.

Jalā, n. of a princess: Mv I.348.13.

Jalāgamā, n. of a river: Suv 187.1; 188.11.

Jalāmbara, n. of a son of Jalavāhana: Suv 183.9; 188.9; 190.6 ff.; 200.10.

Jalāmbugarbhā, n. of the wife of Jalavāhana: Suv 183.7 f.; 200.7.

jalādhara, m.c. for jalahara, which is Prakritic for jaladhara, q.v.: LV 175.11.

Jalī, n. of a princess: Mv I.348.13.

jalūka, m. (= °kā, f., Skt. Lex., and AMg. jalūgā), leech: Mvy 4855 (so also Mironov).

Jalūkā-vana-ṣaṇḍa, n. of a grove at Pāpā where Buddha once stayed: MSV I.282.2, 7.

jalūṣita, read °tā with Kashgar rec. SP 85.9 (vs) for ed. samlūṣitā (most Nep. mss. samtūṣitā), burnt with flames (for jvaloṣitā, prob. for jvāl°); confirmed by Tib. tshig par ḥgyur. WT em. jvālūṣitā; but cf. § 4.31.

Jaleniprabha (I), n. of a Buddha in the north: Sukh 98.1.

jalpa, m., or better jalpā (= Pali jappā, desire), desire: in Mv III.284.19 (vs) mss. sarvām prahāya bhavalobhajalpam, not to be emended; same vs in Pali SN I.123.8 chetvāna (v.l. hitvāna) sabbam bhavalobhajappam. It is tempting to interpret in the same way such passages as Laṅk 186.8; 9 (vss) jalpaprapañcābhīratā hi bālās... jalpo hi traidhātukaduḥkhaṇayonis, fools delight in jalpa and idle fancies (? see prapañca)... for jalpa is the source of the misery of the universe. This seems more naturally to mean desire than (idle) talk; but acc. to Suzuki's Index Tib. (smra ba) supports the latter; this might however only mean that Tib. knew the regular Skt. jalpa and had lost the tradition of the old word represented by Pali jappā.

? jalla, nt. (Pali id.), dirt or dirty motsture; perh. represented by (rajo-)jala (q.v.; I for II m.c.?).

? java, a high number: Gv 106.13; see ayava.

Javita (nt., also jāvita, q.v.), (1) running (as an athletic performance), foot-racing: laṅghite plavite javite sarvatra bodhisattva eva viśīsyate LV 151.17; similarly, °te in lists of athletic exercises, LV 156.10; Mv II.423.16; 434.12; III.184.8; (2) velocity; in Bhvr. cpd., śākyo vāyuh pāsair baddhum... gamanajavito nareṇa LV 337.13 (vs), a man might bind with fetters the wind that possesses impetuosity of motion, so Tib., ḥgro baḥi ṣugs can, having velocity (ṣugs, speed, impetuosity, violent force, used of the wind, see Das s.v.) of motion; prob. in this sense also in KP 154.2, where, after lacuna, -da-java-javitā (in a series of adj. cpds. in fem. gender); Tib. mgyogs paḥi (swift, = java) ṣugs (as above) daṅ ldan pa (possessing); (3) in LV 337.10 (vs) perhaps ppp., expelled, uttered (of cries): svāmam (so read) drakṣye duḥkhenārtam bahu-vividha-javita-ravitam... (perhaps) I (Māra) myself shall see him (the Bodhisattva) tormented with pain, and with many and various shrieks uttered (expelled); Tib. ku co (clamor) rnam pa maṅ po (= bahu-vividha) ḥdon (expel, drive forth, also utter [sounds]) cin.

? Javina, adj. (if correct, a-extension of Skt. javin; cf. § 10.3; Sheth cites Pkt. javina beside javi), swift: so all Nep. mss. in SP 104.1 (prose) for Kashgar rec. and both edd. Javanān (puruṣān sampreṣayet).

-jaha, adj., f. -jahā, ifc. (to jahati, § 28.9, = Skt. jahāti; = Pali id.; cf. Skt. Gr. śardham-jaha, interesting as a vulgar word evidently borrowed from a MIndic dialect), abandoning, giving up: punarukta-doṣa-jahā Mvy 475, said of Buddha's speech: Rati(m)jaha, see s.v.; kileṣa-jahaṃ LV 46.3 (vs); sarvamjahāḥ Ud XXI.1 (v.l. sarvaj°; = Pali sabbamjaha, Dh. 353). In Śikṣ 273.1 text jahā (of śūnyatā), but Tib. bem po = jaḍā, which read (transl. 249 note 3). Cf. next, and see s.v. raṇa(m)jaha.

-jahana, f. °nī, adj. ifc. (see under prec.; this form not recorded elsewhere), abolishing, banishing, getting rid of: Sarvasattvapāpajahana (see s.v.) SP 464.2; ariṣa-trumāra-patha-jahanī KP 154.3, kuṭirthya-tirtha-jahanī 4, (a-) satkāyadrṣṭim-jahanīm 9 (read as cpd.; ed. as separate word).

jahāti, in caus. sense (§ 38.24), removes, abolishes: SP 61.8 (vs) sugatāna ghoṣaḥ kāṅkṣām ca śokam ca jahāti prāṇinām. It seems hardly possible to understand it otherwise; so Tib. bsal = remove, do away (an evil), cure (a disease).

jāgarikā (cf. next; perh. hyper-Skt. to Pali and AMg. jāgariyā, id.), wakefulness, staying awake (as a form of self-discipline): *kā ca saddharma-svādhyāyādinaṁ kartavyā Sādh 11.11; *kāṁ bhajeta Ud xv.6 (in Pali also with bhajati); yukto jāgarikāsu ca Ud vi.6; *kā-yuktaḥ Bbh 139.24; *kānyukta-tāṁ 206.4 (in Pali often with anuyutta, and cf. the following); esp. common in jāgarikā-yogam anuyukta, devoted to the discipline of wakefulness: instr. *ktena Mv 1.284.2; II.48.18; III.145.14; 152.11; 172.17; 265.12; 362.17; *ktāye, fem., III.48.17; 49.4; n. sg. *ktaḥ Mmk 146.3; n. pl. Av. 1.273.7; 297.16; gen. sg. Śikṣ 191.6.

jāgarya (read *yā? which is recorded in Skt. Gr. and Lex., and prob. underlies Pali and AMg. jāgariyā), = prec.: jāgaryam anuyuktasya Ud xv.8, of one devoted to (the discipline of) wakefulness. There is no metrical reason for shortening ā; *yām would be just as good. I suspect a misprint or error of tradition; prob. jāgaryām should be read.

jāgrta (nt.; § 34.14), waking (state): MPS 10.12 (ms.; ed. em. jāgarita, Skt., Pali).

jāgrāṇa (nt.; = Pali jaggaṇa, °na-tā; from pres. jāgrati, § 28.11, Pali jaggaṇi, plus -ana), waking, being or staying awake: suptā idāni yada jāgrāṇa-deśakālaḥ Mv 1.154.15 (vs), asleep now when it is the place and time for being awake.

Jāṅguli, m., n. of a maharṣi: Māy 256.30.

jāṅguli, f. (Skt. Lex. id.; JM. jāṅguli, AMg. jāṅgoli, id.), (1) the science and art of curing snake-bites: Śikṣ 142.1 'iyām vidyāyām udāhṛtāyām, a snake-charm having been recited; but Transl., p. 139, note 3, reads jāṅgulyā, allegedly 'with Tib.' (which is not cited), and renders when the snake charmer recites this spell against poison; there is a stem jāṅguli, m., snake-charmer, Skt. Lex., but this form being fem. would have to be taken as meaning by a female snake-charmer; (2) n. of a goddess: Sādh 177.14 etc.; in 249.5 a personified charm (vidyā) against poison (uttamā viśanāṣaṇi).

-jāta (= Pali id.; in Skt. rarely found, if at all, in just this use; cf. BR s.v. 1d, end, where it is not cited after an abstract noun except from LV), after an abstract noun, become characterized by, full of, equivalent to prāpta (note audbilyaprāpta SP 20.7 = audbilyajāta 61.6 full of joy, joyous), or to an adj. based on the abstract; very common in Pali as in BHS; particularly common in both is prīti-saumanasya- (Pali prīti-somanassa-)jāta, full of joy and gladness, SP 60.1; LV 58.5; Mv II.96.4; 163.20; 237.1; Mvy 2933; Divy 297.15; Suv 9.8, etc.; prīti-prāmodya-j° SP 75.2; LV 395.14; harṣa-j° SP 14.1; praharṣa-j° SP 229.13; prasāda-j° Divy 75.20; kutūhala-j°, interested, curious, Divy 77.25; 466.21; saṁśaya-j°, doubtful, Divy 191.5; vega-j°, excited, LV 232.9, 14; full of haste, nearly = speedily, Mv II.299.13; vega-jātu adade (mss. adaye) tṛṇamuṣṭīm Mv II.399.5 (vs); gaurava-j°, filled with respect, LV 410.1; vipratīṣāra-j°, remorseful, Av. 1.90.10; saṁtāpa-j°, afflicted, LV 381.1; antaḥśalya-paridāgha-j°, tormented with inner anguish, Mv 1.42.3; krodha-j°, angry, Karmav 45.6; sometimes, when prec. part of the cpd. is a concrete noun, may be rendered like (as in Pali): samāṇa pāṇi-talajātam (buddhakṣetram) SP 202.2 (prose), level, like the palm of the hand. Cf. Aśoka jāta, nt. (Hultzsch 96 n. 5).

jātakā, nt., rarely m., (1) m. pl., experiences in past births, particularly of Bodhisattvas: Bbh 67.17 (sa tena pūrve-)nivāsānusrmṛti-jñānena jātakān pūrvām bodhisattvacaryā-paramādbhutacaryām sattvaṇām buddhe ... prasādajanānārthaṁ ... prakāśayati, by this knowledge consisting of remembrance of former births he reveals to creatures, in order to make them well-disposed to the Buddha, his experiences in past births etc.; 397.13 (pūrvēnivāsānusrmṛti-jñānabaleṇa tathāgataḥ pūrvānte itivṛttakāṁs) ca jātakāṁs ca smṛtvā ... vīneyānām deśayati; this usage, which is prob. only a late and secondary extension of the next mg., seems not recorded in Pali; (2) nt., = Pali id., a story of a previous birth of the Buddha, 'common esp. in colophons to many such stories in Mv, e. g. I.282.13; also as n. of a work or type of literature, sometimes, at least, referring to a specific collection of such stories like the Pali Jāt.: as one of the nine (Mvy twelve) pravacana, gospel texts (Mvy dharma-pṛa'), Dharmas 62; Mvy 1275; in a similar list, SP 45.7; Jātake Śyāmākajātakaprabhṛtiṣu Karmav 50.6, in the Jātaka (collection), in the Śyāmāka (individual) Jātaka and others like it, combining both these mgs. in one phrase; (3) in Mv I.104.13; 105.5, 7; 192.19 taken by Senart in sense 2 above, but I think wrongly; I believe it means nativity in the sense of (astrologically determinable) personality and destiny, as in Skt.; or possibly future birth. This seems to me indicated by adjoining parallel terms, esp. paramata, q.v., which Senart misunderstands: (bodhisattvacaritaṁ ...) jātakā-paramateṣu kovidā (deśayanti ... Iśvarā) Mv I.104.13 (vs; -kā for -ka, m.c.), the Lords (Buddhas), being skilled in nivities (indicating personality and destiny; or, future births) and in the thoughts of others, proclaim the (future!) course of Bodhisattvas ...; (yānimāni) ... jātakāni jina-bhāṣitāni imāni kutāḥprabhṛtikāni vijñeyāni (? em.; mss. cīmñeyāni) 105.5, answered by: yānimāni ... jātakāni jina-bhāṣitāni imāṇaṁ aṣṭamīm bhūmīm (so some mss.) prapadyanti (v.l. prayanti) 105.7; the mg., as Senart suggests, seems (from -prabhṛtikāni) to be that they begin with the 8th bhūmi; but as this passage occurs in a description of the 4th bhūmi, it is future births or destines that are meant. In 1.192.19 (vs), after saṁ-buddhāḥ sarvaparamataṁ viduḥ 18, Buddhas know all the thoughts of others, we read: adhyāśayaṁ parikṣanti jātakā sarvaprapāṇīm, they perceive the disposition and the destinies (future births) of all living beings.

jātiya, adj. (= Pali id., Childers, for Skt. jātya), prob. noble; to be read for text jātya, q.v.

[jātilīnī Gv 399.25, read with 2d ed. jālinī, see jālin.]

jāti-vāda, m. (= Pali id.), account or record of (a person's) birth: padmodbhavayam na hi jātivādaḥ saṃdūṣānām arhati nirmalatvād Gv 414.1 (vs).

jāti-mahī, see mahī.

-jātiya, lfc. adj., (1) (in this sense unrecorded; cf. jāti 2) of (such and such) an age: bāla-j°, young in age, Mvy 7099; (kumārakāś . . .) SP 73.4 (in this and the next two bāla may also connote foolish); bālāḥ (fools) kṣānyante madhudighdhābhīr iva kṣuradhārābhīr bālajātyiḥ (primarily like children) LV 208.1; ābhīr bālā (as above) badhyante dhūrtakair iva bālajātyiḥ (as above) 4; yadā . . . mānavako 'ṣṭavarsajātyiḥ saṃvṛtṣa Divy 476.27, eight years old; (2) (not in Pali; but in Skt., see BR s.v., used in substantially the same way, tho much less commonly; here extremely common, and apparently characteristic of this language; = -jātika, which is much rarer here but characteristic of Pali), of (such and such) a nature, cpd. with prec. adj. or noun, concrete or abstract: paṇḍita-j° of intelligent nature, SP 80.4; Mvy 2895; 'ye mātrgrāme, in a woman that is intelligent by nature, Divy 2.3; 98.22; 440.17; Av 1.14.7 etc.; Bodhisattvajātyiyo bhikṣuḥ Divy 261.9, a monk who had the nature of a Bodhisattva; bāla-j° (v.l. 'jātiko) SP 211.5 (prose), foolish by nature (cf. 1 above); duprajña-j° Gv 508.26; momuḥa-j°, confused, deluded by nature, Bbh 9.20 (a-mo°); 157.2; aparokṣa- (q.v.)-j° Mv iii.322.11, 14 (= 'jātika iii.415.10); alpara-jaska- (q.v.)-j° Mv iii.322.16; vaṅka- (most mss. vaṅcaka)-j° SP 268.5, deceitful; upālambha-j° (v.l. jātika) SP 282.12, censorious; lolupa-j° Mv i.339.10, greedy; mānābhīmāna-j° i.340.11; alasa-j° Divy 485.18; aroga-j° Av 1.168.10; evaṃ-j° Śikṣ 135.2, of such a sort (Skt., BR); paripṛcchana-j°, of an inquiring disposition, Laṅk 14.10; Śikṣ 50.7; and prob. read so with v.l. Karṇav 44.1 (text paripṛcchaka-); adhivāsana(q.v.)-j° Sukh 25.15.

Jātukarṇa, m. pl. (cf. Jantukarṇa), n. of a brahmanical (Yajurvedic) school: Divy 633.5, 7; also 'nā, f., n. of the gotra of the nakṣatra Pūrva-Bhadrpadā: 'nā-gotrēna Divy 641.6.

-jātiya, lfc. Bhvr. (= -jātiya 2, -jātika; cf. -jātiya); of (such and such) a nature: lolupa-j° LV 386.9, greedy; sthāvarādhivāsana-j° Śikṣ 23.9, firmly patient. Both prose.

jāty-antariyaka, adj. (see -antariya-ka), belonging to another birth: Jm 194.19.

jāna, adj. or subst. m. (occurs, tho rarely, in Pali, e. g. Jāt. iii.24.2; orig. prob. = jānant-, pres. ppl., cf. §§ 18.52 ff.; see next), knowing, wise (person): drakṣyanti jānu (all mss.; acc. sg.) imu saptapadām kramantaṃ LV 48.1 (vs); puruṣadhīreṇa puruṣajānena (nearly all mss.) LV 350.11 (prose), by a wise one among men.

jānaka, adj. (Pali Gr. id., Childers; AMg. jānaga; = prec., but prob. formed on the pres. jānati plus -aka), knowing, wise: jānako jānakavihārehi Mv 1.34.12 (prose); jānakāḥ prcchakā Buddhā bhagavantaḥ Divy 184.26; 299.15; MSV i.1.12 (prose), Buddhā, (tho) knowing (the answers), are (in the habit of) asking (questions; otherwise Divy Index); a-j°, foolish, ignorant: SP 10.1 (so read with Kashgar rec. and WT for ajñā°, unmetr.); 37.5; 47.14; 93.12; LV 323.12 (all vss). With objective gen., acquainted with: jānako duḥkhasya Av ii.119.11; 120.3, 11.

jānanaka, adj. (= Pali id.; to Pali jānana, knowledge, from jānati plus -ana, with adj. suffix -ka; in BHS only a-j° which could be considered Bhvr., a- plus jānana plus -ka, Bhvr.), knowing; a-j°, not knowing, with acc.: rāgam ajānanako LV 323.13 (vs); in prec. line ajānaku.

[jānapati, in KP 84.8 (prose) sarva-śreṣṭhi-naigama-jānapatayaḥ, read 'jānapadāḥ, people of the country. Tib. and Chin. lack this sentence.]

jānapada (= Janapada; otherwise, in Skt., Pali, and Pkt. jānavaya, only in mg. inhabitant of the country), country: yaṃ velam dharmalabdho kṣemena vārāṇasyaṃ jānapado (so mss., Senart em. 'dam, read rather 'de, loc.) prāptaḥ Mv iii.291.8 (prose); nagarehi ca nigamehi ca jānapadehi ca 13 (prose, no v.l.). Perhaps read jana° both times.

jānayati (= janayati; § 38.15), produces: kāyabala-sthāmaṃ jānayitvā Mv ii.131.10 (prose), cf. LV 272.9 kāyabalasthāma saṃjanayya; jānaya sarvi vikurvitu teṣāṃ Bhad 45, may I produce all the miracles of those (Buddhas); (sa . . . tathāgato) jānitāḥ Gv 381.17.

jānya, adj. (= Pali jāñña, noble: durlabhaḥ puruṣo jānyo Ud xxx.27.

jāpanā (Pkt. for Skt. yāp°, cf. next; = AMg. jāvaṇa, nt., and JM. 'nā, Sheth), sustenance, maintenance: kāya-jāpanārthaṃ Śikṣ 131.8; (mahābhūtānāṃ) sthitaye jāpanāyāi 137.9.

jāpayati (Pkt. for Skt. yāp°, q.v., cf. prec. and § 2.34; = AMg. jāvel), lives, sustains life: kiyaḥ-lūhenāpi bhojanena jāpayanti Śikṣ 130.11 (prose; ed. jñāp°, corrected Transl. p. 129, note 1).

jāmātika, 'tuka (MIndic for Skt. jāmātr-ka, yām°, rare for jāmātr; neither in Pali; AMg. jāmāuya), son-in-law: 'tukasya Mv ii.24.18; 'tiko 146.5, 9, 12; all prose.

Jāmbāla (muddy, from Skt. jāmbāla plus -a), n. of a man, hero of Av chap. 50: Av i.279.1; 280.6 etc.

jāmbu-kāñcana, jāmbū°, see jambu°.

jāmbuḍi (= jambuḍa, 'ḍikā, q.v.), a liquor-vessel: jāmbuḍi-sidhum eva ca . . . baliṃ dadet Sādh 411.5 (vs).

Jāmbudvīpaka, Jāmbū°, adj. (= jambu°, q.v.), of Jambudvīpa: 'budvīpakāni ratnāni Divy 116.6; usually of the people (manuṣya, sattva) of J., jāmbu° Divy 292.9; Kv 13.2, 3; 46.11; 57.17; 87.7; jāmbū° Av ii.94.2 ff.; RP 37.8; Śikṣ 84.1. All prose.

Jāmbunada or Jāmbū°, n. of three former Buddhas, all in the same list: Mv iii.233.6 ('bu°); 236.12 ('bū°); 237.9 ('bū°, v.l. 'bu°). In all v.l. 'nanda; all prose.

Jāmbūdvīpaka, Jāmbūnada, see Jāmbū°.

Jāmbūnadatejorāja, n. of a Tathāgata: Gv 421.15 (prose).

Jāmbūnadaprabhāsa, SP 151.6 (prose), or Jāmbūnadābhāsa, 152.9 (vs), n. of a future Buddha, to be an incarnation of Mahākātyāyana.

jāyate = Skt. jāyate, 'ti (§ 28.33), conquers: nāśūro jāyate senām ... śūras tu jāyate senām LV 262.12 and 13 (vs, but in the fourth syllable of anuṣṭubh pādas ā can hardly be m.c.). The mg. is certain; no v.l. recorded.

jāyapatika, m. pl. (see also jāyā°, jāyām°; Pali jāyampatika, jayam°, jāyapati, all m. pl.; Vedic jāyapati, rare), wife and husband, a married couple: duve jāyapatikā (v.l. °kās; pl. for dual) Mv iii.26.20 (prose).

Jāyā, n. of a lokadhātu: ŚsP 37.5.

jāyapatika, m. dual (= jāyā°, q.v.; and see next), wife and husband, a married couple: dvau °tikau Divy 22.6 (prose).

jāyāmpatika, nt. sg. (cf. prec. and under jāyā-p°), a married couple: (vikhyāpayamānau) °tikam iti Divy 259.7 (cf. 3, above, jāyāpatitī vikhyātadharmāṇaḥ); °tikam iti khyātau 259.17.

Jāyendra, n. of a Tathāgata (living in Jāyā): ŚsP 37.5.

jāla, jālaka, nt., prob. bouquet of flowers (here withered ones, to be removed from caityas); so jālaka is used in Skt.; the only plausible alternative would be spider-web, which jāla also means in Skt. (cf. Schmidt, Nachträge) and Pali. In any case it means something the removal of which from caityas is a work of merit: yo jālakāni apanaye (so read with v.l. for Senart upanaye) cetiyeṣu Mv ii.391.3; choretvā jālam jinacetiyeṣu 391.22, repeated in the sequel; parallel Śikṣ 306.2, 4 choritvā jālam; 6, 8, 10 apanāya (ed. em. upa°) jālam. On the passage, misunderstood by Senart and Bendall, see s.v. chorayati. In the immediately following verses, Mv ii.392.21 ff., Śikṣ 306.11 ff., the meritorious removal of withered flowers is unambiguously mentioned.

jālayati (Māndic for jvāl°, § 2.8; = Pali jāletī), kindles: dharmadīpam ayu (so read for unmetr. °dīpa-māitrayu; 2d ed. °dīpam atrayu, still unmetr.) jālayiṣyati Gv 482.24 (vs).

jālā (fem. l), net = jāla (nt.): jālā-vitānāvanaddhena (pāpīnā) LV 318.14 (prose), with his hand bound by a web-canopy (between the fingers). The only v.l. is jālo- for jālā-, which is senseless. Both edd. jālā-.

Jālāntara, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.140.14.

jālaka (cf. Skt. jālaka, nt., BhāgP.8.20.17, s.v. in BR, same mg.), a network (of jewels, used as an ornament): chinnām jālikam (m.c. for °ām) a(d)dr̥ṣāti supine ratanāmikām śobhanām LV 194.20 (vs), she saw in her dream her beautiful network, made of jewels, cut (so Tib., rin po che las byas paḥi dra ba ... net made of jewels etc.); here the fem. adjectives prove that °kam is m.c. for °kām; the same must be assumed also in the next: muktā-manī-jālaka-chāditās ca SP 89.2 (vs), and covered with networks of pearls and gems (°ka m.c. for °kā).

jālin, (1) adj. (= Pali id., Vv.81.16 and comm. 315.30, not in PTSD; from jāla, web), webbed, of hands and feet, i.e. having the fingers and toes connected by a web (one of the 32 lakṣaṇa): hastapādātale jālinī (dual; so read for text jātilinī) abhūtām Gv 399.25; jālinā hastaratnena ... pāpīnā Mv ii.282.4-6; (2) n. of Viśvantara's son (= Pali Jālī), Jm 59.21 ff. See also next.

jālinī (f. to jālin, q.v., but in sense of ensnaring or the like: = Pali id., ep. of taṇhā, with or without that word; the comms. have various explanations, three being offered on Dhp. 180 alone), perhaps ensnaring, or subst. enchanted, as ep. of tṛṣṇā, thirst, longing: tasiṇām ca jālinīm Mv i.166.20 (vs); jālinīm tṛṣṇām ii.307.12; tṛṣṇām chittvāna jālinīm 357.15; jālinī ... tṛṣṇā iii.92.1 = Pali Dhp. 180 jālinī ... taṇhā; without the word tṛṣṇā, Dharmasamuccaya (unpublished BHS work) 8.44, 47, acc. to Renou, JA Jul.-Sept. 1939 p. 336 note 1; in a personal letter of May 16, 1945, Renou kindly informs me that here jālinī 'a ni plus ni moins le sens de tṛṣṇā, hors de toute ambiance métaphorique; de même pour viśāṇā' (q.v.). We should, then, doubtless recognize the same mg. in: sarvakileśabandhanalatām ... jālinīm (Tib. dra ba, net) LV 276.12 (vs), and: iha jālinī ... ṣaṭtrimṣatī-cārīṇī LV 373.7 (vs), thirst which acts in 32 ways (as does taṇhā in Pali, PTSD s.v.); Foucaux le filet d'illusion. Most mss. and Calc. read Indrajālinī for iha j° (hence Foucaux's rendering); but this is metr. impossible, and the epithet proves that tṛṣṇā is referred to.

Jālinīprabha, n. of a Bodhisattva: Mvy 705. Tib. renders jālinī by dra ba, net, or dra ba can, having a net. Perhaps having seductive (alluring) splendor? See s.v. jālinī, which otherwise = tṛṣṇā.

Jālinīmukha, n. of a mountain: Kv 91.15.

jāva, m. (to java, but nowhere recorded), speed, swiftness: °vaḥ Mvy 2003 = Tib. mgyogs pa. So also Mironov; no v.l. Follows yogaḥ and precedes ānukramah, kālah.

jāvita, nt. (= javita, 1; perhaps so read, but Mironov also jā°), running, foot-racing: Mvy 4999 °tam = Tib. bañ, foot-race.

[? jāhu, in RP 58.18 (vs), printed: dūre jāhu bhujagavad etān (sc. evil companions). Since it is scarcely possible that the Vedic verb aj-, drive (away), is concerned (jā = aja, hu = khalu, drive them away like serpents), I believe that some form of hā, abandon (less likely of han, smite) must be involved; the ā might well be m.c. (meter requires two long syllables), but I cannot explain the final u (ū?). Perhaps read jāhā = jaha, 2 sg. impv., abandon! (?)] jighatsita, adj. (ppp. of jighatsati, desid. to ghas-; Skt. jighatsu, BR 5.1444; = Pali jighacchita), hungry: Mvy 6306 (see s.v. pūrnagātra); 7328 (v.l. and Mironov jighāmsita, see next; precedes pipāsitaḥ); °tā bhojana mārgamānā(h) SP 84.12 (vs); °tānām ca sattvānām agraṃ varabhojanam dadāti Śikṣ 274.7 (prose). See next.

? jighāmsita (should be ppp. of desid. of han-1 but in mg. = jighatsita), clearly means hungry in Karmav 46.9 °ta-pipāsitasya kruddhasya kālakriyā; so Tib. bkres śin skom pa, hungry and thirsty; and so Lévi translates, without any note, tho a note is surely needed! So v.l. for Mvy 7328, see prec. It seems likely that the true reading is jighatsita; or dare we assume that Māndic (Pali) jighacchita was falsely Sktized as jighāmsita?

jijñāsana (cf. Skt. °na, nt., and jijñāsā, f.; perh. a blend of these two), test, trial: yūyam kanyakā (Māra speaks to his daughters) ... bodhisattvasya jijñāsanaṃ (no v.l.) kuruta LV 320.2 (prose).

jitam, apparently Interj. or particle, chiefly in phrase: api hi jitam Mv ii.126.9; iii.181.14; 206.10, 12; 209.12; this seems to be an expression of astonishment, something like Who'd have thought it? That beats all! Once, in Mv iii.286.1, jitam (v.l. jidam) occurs by itself; the daughters of Māra, reporting to Māra, say: (any other man than the Bodhisattva, seeing us), so jitam murchitvā prapatisyad vā ... cittakṣayam vā prāpune (but the B. was unmoved); here too astonishment might be the connotation of the particle; he, good heavens! would have fallen down fainting ..., or lost his wits. No etymology is apparent for the word.

Jitāśatru, n. of a former Buddha: LV 5.15 (confirmed Tib.); follows Lokābhilāṣita, precedes Sampūjita; Mv i.136.16, follows Lokābhilāṣita, precedes Supūjita.

(jina, conqueror, standard epithet of a Buddha, so used in Skt.: Mvy 12 = Tib. rgyal ba, victorious; et passim. The word appears to be used of any head, or at least founder, of a religious sect; see s.v. jina-śrāvaka.)

Jinakāntāra, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.140.10.

Jinacakra, n. of a former Buddha: so read in LV 5.7 for Jinavaktra of both edd.; best ms. Jinacakra, confirmed by Tib. dmag tshogs (army) las rgyal.

jinaputra, (spiritual) son of a Buddha, common epithet of Bodhisattvas: Mvy 629 et passim. Any synonymous word or phrase is apt to be similarly used; see e. g. jinaurasa. Not listed in this work: sugatasya putrā(h) SP 10.5; 12.4; jīnendraputrān 12.9; buddhaputro 48.12; sugatātmajānām 57.10; jīnātmajānām 116.10, etc.

Jinabhāskara, n. of a Buddha: Gv 284.10 (vs).

Jinārābha (corresponds to Pali Janasabha, Janavasabha; but the temptation to emend to Janārābha should prob. be resisted; Chin. versions on Māy 85 support Jina-), in Māy 237.1, n. of a yakṣa; in Māy 85 n. of a prince, son of Vaiśravaṇa (Kubera), who dwelt in Tukhāra, 'attended by (a) crore(s) of yakṣas'.

[Jinavaktra LV 5.7, read Jinacakra.]

Jinavaruttama, n. of a former Buddha: Mv iii.236.14, 15. (Would be 'varot' in Skt.)

? Jinavrata, n. of a Pratyekabuddha, predicted as future incarnation of Sujātā: Mv ii.206.18 (vs), text 'vrato ti, by em., mss. unmetrically and uninterpretablely Jinavarttāyī.

Jina-śrāvaka, pupil of a jina, applied in Mv ii.118.2, 3 to the pupils of Ārāḍa Kālāma, and in ii.119.9, 10 to those of Udraka Rāmaputra. Senart assumes that this means that these teachers were Jains. But in default of any other evidence this seems unlikely; jina is of course also a title of a Buddha, and we may infer from this that it could be applied to the founder of any religious sect.

Jinasūrya, n. of a Buddha: Gv 259.18.

Jināti, jinati, conquers, see Chap. 43, s.v. jī, 2.

Jinendra, n. of a former Buddha: Mv iii.233.5; n. of 300 successive former Buddhas, 237.12 f.; the last of them predicted the Buddha Sarvārthadarśin(a), 238.5.

Jinendraghoṣā, n. of Susāmbhava's capital city: Suv 147.1.

jinaurasa = jīnaputra, ep. of Bodhisattvas: Mvy 641 et passim.

Jihnuna, n. of a mleccha king: udayaḥ jihnuno hy ante mleccchānām vividhās tathā Mmk 622.1 (vs), at the end of a list of mlecccha kings.

jihma, adj. (In these senses recorded nowhere else; Skt., Pali jīmha, and Pkt. jīmha, jīmha, regularly crooked or fig. dishonest), (1) bereft of light, obscured, not shining, dull; regularly said of entities regarded as brightly shining in themselves, but having their light eclipsed or obscured by a greater radiance, esp. that emitted or caused by the Buddha; so at the bodhi-tree Buddha causes a radiance which makes the divine abodes of the gods jīhma Mv ii.316.18 or jīhmavarṇa Mv ii.313.17; 316.16 and by Senart's em. (for mss. jīhmabala) 295.1; 296.9; 304.1; 308.16 (in all these jīhma-bala might stand, of obscured, dulled power); similarly, jīhma vipaśyatha (so divide) divya ātmabhāvām LV 49.12 (vs; Apsarases speak, looking at Māyā's superior beauty), see how (our) divine bodies are eclipsed (in splendor); jīhma sarvatuṣṭīlāyo bhūto (m.c. for bhūto) 54.3 (vs), the whole abode of the Tuṣṭita became splendorless; sarvāṇi mārābhavanāni karonti jīhmā 296.16 (vs); jīhma (so divide; acc. sg.) kurvatī jagat sadevakam RP 6.15 (vs); also fig. of the intelligence and senses; -vijñāna, in Mv ii.355.14 (vs) ye grdhā lābhasatkāre jīhma-vijñāna-(dull intelligence)-nīritā; and Karmav 31.12 (apāyeṣūpapanno) durgandho bhavati jīhmendriyo bhavaty avyaktendriyaḥ, ... of dull and obscure (see avyakta) senses; (2) (cf. jīhmikṛtāh Mvy 5200, below s.v. jīhmikaroti, with Tib.) disappointed, depressed, saddened, despondent: in LV 193.19 (vs) read (with v.l.) jīhmā-jīhma (n. pl., āmreḍita) sudurmanā, very depressed and downcast; confirmed by Tib. dman zhiñ dman; prob. so, a-jīhma in Sukh 25.16 (prose) aśaṅko 'jīhmo, free from doubt and despondency (in a description of a Bodhisattva); to be sure the next words are 'śaṭho 'māyāvi, which suggest the Skt. meaning, not deceitful, but these lists of characteristics are apt to go in pairs, and aśaṅka suggests this BHS meaning of (a-)jīhma, which is otherwise known and easily develops from mg (1). See the following items, which support both mgs.

jīhmikara, adj. (= next), obscuring: in Candra-sūrya-jīhmikara-prabha, q.v. (having a splendor that obscures the moon and sun): LV 292.8 (prose). But v.l. 'karaṇa, which, being much commoner (I have noted no other case of 'kara), is very likely the true reading.

jīhmikaraṇa, adj. (from next, with -ana), (1) obscuring, making (what is normally bright seem) dark or dull: candrasūryajīhmikaraṇayā prabhayā LV 41.5; -indusūrya-jīhmikaraṇa-prabho Sukh 29.16; see also prec.; -tā, (jāmbūnada-suvāṇālamkāra-bhūtam) saṃskṛtāvaca-kuśalamūlopacaya-jīhmikaraṇa-tayā Gv 496.6, (it is like an ornament of finest gold) because it obscures (over-shadows, makes seem dull) things in the realm (see avacara) of the conditioned thru the acquisition of roots of merit; (2) disappointing (lit. darkening, so making despondent or the like), in a-jī, not disappointing (beggars): (upasaṃkrāntānām, sc. yācanakānām, cāvī)mānanājīhmikaraṇāvīk-ṣepam (adv.) LV 431.10, while not showing disrespect to (beggars) who come to him, not disappointing them, and not turning them away; yācanaka-maitrīkāruṇyapūrvam-gamasamprekṣaṇājīhmikaraṇa LV 432.5, looking upon beggars with love and compassion and not disappointing them.

jīhmikaroti (to jīhma, q.v., in both its BHS senses), (1) obscures, makes (esp. something normally bright to appear) dark or dull: bhagavantam...sūryasahasrātrekayā prabhayā sarvapaṇṣanmaṇḍalam 'kurvantam...dṛṣṭvā RP 2.16; (sarvamāraṇaṇāni) 'kurvamāṇan (to pres. kurvate) Gv 87.5; sarvamārābhavanāni jīhmikṛtya (text jīhvi) Mmk 7.20, and ('bhavanam) 78.16; ppp. 'krta (various forms), with mārābhavanāni LV 300.9 (cf. 296.16, s.v. jīhma); of Māra's host, 316.10; ābharāṇāni 122.3; jīhmikṛta (so mss., Lefm. em. jīhmi) candrasūryā 354.18 (vs); (candrasūryau...) tayā prabhayā te 'pi jīhmikṛtau nāvabhāsyante nīsprabhāni ca bhavanti Mmk 78.17; fig. eclipsed, overshadowed, jīhmikṛta (so mss., Lefm. em. jīhmi) śakrabrahmā (by the Bodhisattva) LV 354.2 (vs); (2) disappoints (lit. darkens, makes dull; cf. jīhmikaraṇa, 2); ppp. 'krta, disappointed, despondent, overcome: 'krtaḥ Mvy 5200 = Tib. (among various renderings) spa skōḥ pa, despondent, or zil gyis non pa, overcome. Cf. prec. and next.

jīhmībhavati (to jīhma, q.v.; cf. prec.), becomes obscured: 'vanti RP 51.2, see s.v. pāla (jagato).

jīhriyati (to root hri, q.v. in Chap. 43), is ashamed; so best ms. Karmav 47.26 for text jīhreti; and so ed. 49.2, 10, 16.

jīhvā-nīrlekhanika, m. (= Skt. 'khana; not otherwise recorded), tongue-scraper: Mvy 8974.

[Jīraṅka, m., cummin-seed; v.l. for jīrakam, nt., Mvy 5801, but prob. only error of tradition. Mironov jīrakah, m., no v.l.; Skt. 'ka, m. or nt.]

Jīrnaka, f. 'ikā, adj. (= Skt. Gr. id., Pali jīrnaka; Skt. jīrna plus -ka; twice in vss, may be m.c.; once in prose, may be pitying or contemptuous dim.), old: LV 109.15 (vs); Mv I.184.21 (vs); tā mārādhitāro jīrnikā vṛddhikā sthāvirikā palitikā...bhavitvā dādam aṣṭa-bhya... Mv iii.283.13 (prose). Above, lines 10-11, the other three appear with -ikā, but jīrnā without the suffix.

Jivaka (= Pali id.), n. of a physician and follower of Buddha (called in Pali Komārābhacca, in BHS Kumārabhṛta, 'bhūta, qq.v.): Divy 270.12 ff.; 506.2 ff.; MSV ii.25.5 ff.; has epithet Valdyarāja(n) KP 96.2, 3; Śikṣ 159.8, 12 (here, amazingly, Bendall and Rouse translate valdyarāja as n. pr. and jivaka as adj., when alive). See also Jivika.

Jivakajivaka, m. (= Skt. Jivajivaka), a kind of pheasant: 'vakā(h), n. pl., SP 358.8 (vs); may be m.c.

jivati (for Skt. jīyate, pass. to jayati), is conquered, is lost: yasya jītam nātha jivati Mv iii.91.19 (vs) = Pali Dhp. 179 yassa jitaṃ nāvajjīyati, which proves the mg. (and suggests nāva- for nātha = na atha?); if not a mere corruption, change of y to v, § 2.31.

jivantaka, f. °tikā (pres. ppl. of Skt. jīvati with a-extension plus ka svārthe), living: (prāṇaka) Mv i.24.3, 16, living creatures; °tikā evaṃ vivarjitā Mv i.353.19, abandoned alive: all prose.

jīvasūlaka, or °ika(?), f. °ikā, adj. jīvika, (1) = jīvaka, the physician: Av ii.134.6 ff.; [(2) in LV 430.20 text jīvika-pariskāra, but most mss. jīvita- or javika-; read jīvita-, equipment or utensils for living.]

jīvītaka, ifc. Bhvr. (= jīvita plus -ka, Bhvr., perhaps m.c.), life: jarjarakāṣṭha va soṣita-jīvītako (for soṣ?) LV 322.8 (vs), with life dried-up, withered.

jīvita-saṃskāra, m., see saṃskāra (2).

jugutsu, adj. (unhistorical hyper-Skt., § 2.19, for MIndic °jugucchu = Skt. jugupsu, cf. Pali jūgucchā etc., JM. juccchiya, etc.), abhorring, with loc.: kāmēsu jugutsuno Mv iii.438.2 (no v.l.; gen. sg.). Cf. next, Mv iii.407.16.

jugupsanā, °na (nt.), °na-tā (Skt. Lex. °na, nt.; Pali jūguchana, nt.), loathing, condition of abhorrence, with loc. or in comp.: kāmēsu ... °nā utpannā Mviii.407.16, v.l. jogustanā, intending jugutsanā, cf. s.v. jugutsu; °na-tā LV 32.4; 34.9; -parigraha-°natayā (instr.) Gv 456.25; °na or °nā, in Bhvr. cpd., alpabhoga-°nāh Mmk 46.28. All prose.

juhana (nt., = Pali id., to juhati, § 28.18, = Skt. juhoti, plus -ana), pouring, offering (oblation): agnihotraṃ juhanāya (dat., infin.) Mv iii.161.9 (prose).

jṛmbhikṛta, ppp. (to Skt. jṛmbha plus karoti), made to appear, caused to stand out: saptadvārāṇi (so read for text sarva-dv°) °kṛtāni Kv 31.11 (not opened! since the gates were heavily locked and barricaded, as the sequel explicitly states).

Jeta-vana, (normally) nt.; rarely m. (= Pali id.), n. of the grove at Śrāvastī where Buddha often dwelt and preached: Mv i.4.13; 27.11; 29.13; 30.11; 31.9; 32.14; 33.8; 73.3; iii.224.11; Mvy 4112, °nam; LV 1.5; 4.14 (here masc., sarvāvantam °vanam, acc.); Divy 1.2 etc.; 80.12; Av i.13.5 etc.; also, in vs, the two parts separated, Jeta-sāhvayam vanam LV 7.4 (vs), the grove called Jeta.

Jetavanīya, m. pl., n. of a school: Mvy 9097.

[jen-, quasi-root, prob. error: upajenitvā, text LV 36.20, see s.v. upajanayati.]

1 jenta, nt. (Mironov jontaka, m.), v.l. for jentāka, m., at Mvy 9289, a hot (steam) bathroom. The true reading is doubtless jentāka, which is Skt. (Caraka 1.14, BR 7, App.) and also occurs Av i.286.8 ff.; ii.205.1; Karmav 38.13; but see also jantāka. Regularly cpd. with -snātra or -snāna.

2 Jenta (cf. Jayanta), n. of a bastard son of King Sujāta Ikṣvāku: Mv i.348.13 ff.

Jenti (cf. Jayanti), n. of the mother of 2 Jenta: Mv i.348.13.

jeṣṭha, semi-MIndic for Skt. jyeṣṭha (§ 2.8), n. of a month: Mvy 8264 (but Mironov jye°); LV 133.2 (vs).

jehriyate (nowhere else recorded; intens. to hri-), is much ashamed: °yate Mvy 1829; °yante Divy 39.7; °yamāṇam SP 108.6.

jōḍa, chin: Mvy 8849-8857; = Tib. sko, (s)ko-(s)ko; in cpds., hasti-, aśva-, etc., a-.

-jota, semi-MIndic for -jyota (§ 2.8) = Skt. -dyota (as kha-dy°), light: su-jota-carapaṇo Mv i.156.13 (vs); so all mss., Senart em. °dyota.

jotiṣ(a), semi-MIndic for jyo°, light, in sa-jotiṣa LV 340.18 (vs).

?jontaka, m., see 1 jenta.

?jomā, a kind of broth or liquid food (drunk; pāsyasi, pītā), with adj. hilimā, Divy 497.19 ff. Perhaps error for joṣā, cf. yosa; hardly for °jemā (cf. Skt. jemana; AMg. jemāna, delicacies in food).

jñapti, for (always in Mvy, but nowhere else) jñāpti, f. (= Pali ñatti), proposal, motion, made before the assembly of monks or nuns; in the BHS literary passages recorded, usually concerning initiation (upasampadā): jñaptim kṛtvā MSV ii.101.15; Bhik 17b.3, having made the motion: eṣā jñaptiḥ 5, this is the proposal; (duḥśīlena bhikṣuṇā ... na ca) jñaptir dātavyā Kv 96.14 (... prāḇ eva jñāpticaturtham 15, see below); jñāpti-kārma(n), id., Mvy 8660 (= Pali ñatti-kamma); jñapti° MSV ii.101.16; there are three forms in which the motion may be made (see SBE 13.169, note 2), (1) isolated, simple (muktikā, q.v.) motion, not followed by a separate question as to whether the monks (or nuns) present approve, Mvy 8659; Bhik 15b.3; (2) accompanied (followed by a single such formal question, called jñāpti- (Mvy jñāpti-) dvitīyam (sc. karma; = Pali ñatti-dutīya-kamma), Mvy 8661; MSV ii.178.12; (3) accompanied by three such questions, called jñāpti- (Mvy jñāpti-)catuttham (karma; = Pali ñatti-catutthakamma), Mvy 8662; 8754 °tha-karmanopasampanno bhikṣuḥ; Bhik 31b.1 jñāpticaturthena karmaṇā; Divy 356.16 °tham ca karma vyavasitāṃ; Kv 96.15, see above; MSV ii.178.12. The putting of the questions (one or three) to the congregation, after the jñāpti, is called karma-vācanā, q.v.

taka, m., and taka-karnin, m. (Pali taka, and cf. taka-paṇṇi, in corresp. list), n. of two resinous substances (jatu) used medicinally: MSV I.III.17, and I.IV.1 tako lākṣās, takakarni siktham.

Takṣaśīlaka, adj. (from Skt. °śīlā plus -ka), of Takṣaśīlā: *lakā naṭā Mv II.175.3; *lakānām pauraṇām Divy 409.30. Both prose.

takṣaṇa (for Skt. takṣan; §§ 17.39, 41; cf. Pāp. 6.4.9 and Kāś.; Pkt. takkhāna, Hem. 3.56), wood-worker, carpenter: °po MSV I.117.5; °ṇasya 119.20; °ṇam, °ṇaḥ 120.2 (all prose).

Tagaraśīkhi(n), (Pali °sikhi, a Paccekabuddha), (1) n. of a former Buddha: *khīm, acc., and *khīr, n., Mv III.233.7 (prose); read Tagara° with best ms. (ā m.c.) LV 172.12 (vs); (2) n. of a pratyekabuddha: *khi Karmav 57.18; 58.1; 68.9; 70.2. Is (1) really the same as (2)? Hardly in Mv, where he is predicted by an earlier Buddha and predicts the next one.

taṅgati (only Skt. Dhātup.), stumbles; in etym. fantasy, to explain the caste-name mātaṅga: mā taṅga Divy 632.1, don't stumble!

tacchaka (= Pali id.; § 2.18; Skt. takṣaka), carpenter, woodworker: Ud xvII.10 (same in same vs Pali Dhp. 80 etc.). Cf. next.

tacchita, ppp. (to Pali tacchatī, tacchetī, see under prec.), cut (as with axes): Mv I.16.14.

Taṭiskandha, m. or nt., n. of a locality: Māy 47.

taṭṭa, taṭṭu, taṭṭuka (m. or nt.; = Pali taṭṭaka, a flatish bowl; otherwise unrecorded), some kind of bowl or dish: taṭṭukam (acc.) Śiḥs 58.1; taṭṭa-kāra, bowl-maker, Mv II.468.14, 18; III.442.17 (here mss. tadva°, Senart wrongly em. taddhu°); taṭṭu-kāraka, id., Mv III.113.13 (so read for taddhu°); taṭṭv-ākāra, bowl-shaped, to be read in Divy 342.26; 343.5, for text tapv-āk°; this passage cited Śiḥs 58.1 taṭṭākāra (taṭṭa-āk°), but 58.5 taṭṭukākāra (taṭṭuka-āk°); miswritten khaṭvākāra, see khaṭu (2).

Taḍāgapālīnī, n. of a rākṣasi: Māy 243.21.

?Tataṃjacala (one ms. out of six Taṭam°, n. of a former Buddha: Mv I.139.7 (Senart em. Patamgacala).

tatonidānam, adv., for that reason, see nidāna.

tatomukha, adj. (unrecorded), facing that way: Mv II.303.9; 351.14, 16, 18, 20; 352.1, 5; 353.13 (this passage repeated III.275.14 ff.).

[tat-katara, false reading for tatkara, in LV 239.15 and mss. of Mv II.119.5; see s.v. katara and next.]

tatkara, adj. or subst. (= Pali takkara), one who does that: Mv II.120.16, and read so II.119.5; LV 239.15, see s.v. katara, end; MPS 2.35.

tatṣaṇa, m. (see BR s.v. 2, where citation from Julien's 'Hloun-Thsang' is obviously identical in language with our Divy), the smallest unit of time, of which 120 = one kṣaṇa: Divy 643.1-2 = 644.9-10 (tad yathā ...) striyā nātidīrghahrasvakartīnyāḥ sūtrodyāmaḥ (see ud-yāma), evamdirghas tatṣaṇaḥ; vimśatyadhikam tatṣaṇaṣatam ekā kṣaṇā (read ekah kṣaṇaḥ, or ekam kṣaṇam; 644.10, corruptly, vimśatyuttarakṣaṇaṣatam tatṣaṇasyaikakṣaṇa, mss., ed. °aikakṣaṇaḥ); ṣaṣṭi-kṣaṇāny eko lavah... tatṣaṇṭikā, acc. to Jap. temporary wife: Mvy 9454; 9464; = Tib. than hgaḥ hphrad pa, meeting for a few moments; so Chln. in essence; pw 7.344 prostitute.

tattaka, f. ika, adj. (also, rarely, written tātaka, tāttaka, tātuka, and in mss. sometimes with nt for tt; = Pali tattaka, Geiger 111.6; perh. analog. to Pali kittaka, BHS kettaka, and Pali, BHS ettaka, if Geiger is right in deriving these from kīyat-, lyat-; cf. yattaka), sg. so great, so much, pl. so many; in most texts only in vss, but in Mv common in prose, and KP has tāttaka, q.v., in prose: na ca vīrya sya tattakam SP 254.3 (vs; Kashgar rec., La Vallée-Poussin, JRAS 1911.1073.1, tātakam); gaṇanā yeṣa tattikā (Kashgar rec. tātikāḥ) SP 304.9 (vs), f. pl., so many; gaṇanāya tattakāḥ (v.l. tāta) 330.11 (vs), m. pl.; tattakam, so great, so much, Mv 1.364.1; II.90.15; 276.2, 7 (these and most of our Mv citations are prose); tattaka (m. acc. pl.) Dbh.g. 41(67).16, 17; rarely in mg. (only) so much = so little, tattakam āhāraṃ (...yathā) Mv II.242.2, 3; in correlation with yattaka, mostly pl., as many... so many, Mv 1.266.1; 267.8; 314.1; II.93.3-4; tattaka before yattaka Mv 1.359.22 (both pl.); adverbs, yattakam... tattakam, as often, as many times as... every time, Mv 1.246.5-6.

Tattvārthakadeśanupraveśa, m., one of the adhikāryābhūmi: Mvy 900.

tatprathamakarmika, adj. (cf. next), (a Bodhisattva) engaging in the (appropriate) action for the first time; regularly associated with ādikarmika, q.v.: ādikarmika-tatpraka-vīryeṇa Bbh 205.2; on Bbh 395.2 see next; Bbh 394.24.

tatprathamatas, adv. (cf. AMg. tappaḍhamaya, priority; if such a cpd. occurs in Pali I have not found it in PTSD or Childers), for the first time: taḥ śālākāṃ grhṇatāṃ Divy 44.28; to Buddhādarśanam 47.6; tadā mama ghe tatp piṇḍapāṭaḥ paribhoktavya iti 188.24; ādikarmikaṃ tatprathamakarmikam (see prec.) tatprathamata evam avavadati Bbh 395.2. In several of these, notably the last, tat could certainly not be interpreted as an independent word.

tatsvabhāvaiśīya, m., sc. vinaya, or nt., with karma, (procedure of discipline) which investigates the special nature of that (accused monk), a particular type of procedure for settling disputes, one of the 7 adhikaraṇa-samatha, q.v.: MSV II.207.12 (nt.); m., Mvy 8635 = Tib. deḥi (of that) no bo fīd (= svabhāva, reality, entity) tshol du (seeking, -eṣa) gzhus par (for entering?) ḥos pa (suitable). The Pali equivalent is tassa-pāpiyyasikā, with which kiriya is assumed to be supplied; PTSD offers no etym.; Childers, tasya-pāpiyas-ikā; MN II.249.1 ff. has a description, its comm. IV.49.22 f. glosses tassa puggalassa pāpusannatā, that individual's abundance of sin; can the Pali be an unhistorical distortion of the orig. of the BHS form? Or is the latter a secondary rationalization? Childers s.v. gives a description of the performance acc. to Pali tradition (the case is decided on the accused person's general bad behavior).

tathatā, f., and tathatva, nt., once tathatvatā (= Pali tathatā, tathatta; note that Pali has actually an adj. and subst. tatha = sacca, Skt. satya, true, truth; it has not been noted in BHS; it was prob. a Pali back-formation from these nouns, and/or from such Bhvr. cpds. as vi-tatha; BHS also has the more Sktized tathatā, tva, qq.v., but they are rare, true essence, actuality, truth: (the SP is) asambhīna-tathatā SP 473.8 (prose), unmixed truth (Kern); tathatā bhavet katividhā Lañk 25.17 (vs); tathatāparivarto nāma AsP 306.1 (title of chapter); anujātas tathatām subhūtiḥ sthāviras tathāgatasya 307.1 (prose), the Elder S. is created after the manner of the truth (true nature) of the T.; and often in the sequel; tathatā tathateti... śūnyatāyā etad adhivacanam Śikṣ 263.1 (prose), 'truth, truth'—this is a designation for nullity; sāsau paramā (so prob. read for ed. sā sauparamā) ta- thātā... Bbh 38.26 (prose), this is that supreme truth; tathatāyām tathatvatāḥ (...dharmavideśo) LV 437.1 (vs; v.l. tathatvatāḥ), in truth, according to reality; both stems together also in tathata-sama tathatvād (dharma-tā) Dbh.g. 26(52).2, alike in true nature according to truth; tathatvāya (I.319.6 āye) dhārayiṣyanti Mv I.319.6; II.257.15; III.337.15 (prose), will hold it fast for truth, make certain that it is true; tathatvāya pratipadyate (Gv yante) Dbh 19.13; Gv 181.14 (prose); ekā ca tasya (read tasyo; sc. dharmasya) samatā tathatvam SP 128.6 (vs), it has one sameness and true nature; tathatvatāyām (I loc. sg.) pratipanno KP 125.4 (prose), resorted to the truth; tathatāyām, in truth, AsP 320.15; 321.2 (see pravibhāvayati).

Tathatāprabha, n. of a Buddha: Gv 285.9.

Tathatāsthitaniścitta, m., n. of a samādhi: Mvy 620 (ed. Tathatā, but Mironov Tathatā; var. niścitta, but Tib. sems med pa = niścitta); ŚsP 1426.2.

tathatva, tvatā, see tathatā.

tatha-r-iva (= tathaiva), just so, also; see § 4.61.

tathāgata (= Pali id.) = Buddha: Mvy 3 (= Tib. de bzhin gsegs pa, thus gone or come (could = gata or āgata; both theories are held; acc. to Jā. and Das, in Tibet today the commonly accepted interpretation is who goes, or has gone, in the same way, sc. as earlier Buddhas); seven listed Dharmas 6 (Vipaśyin, Śikhin, Vīśvabhū, Krakucchanda, Kanakamuni, Kāśyapa, Śākyamuni); Vipaśyin is the first of 7 Tathāgatas, of whom I (Śākyamuni) am the 7th' SP 201.4; same list, with variant forms, Mmk 397.11; Divy 333.3; and with other Buddhas, LV 5.15; 20 listed Mvy 82-101, the above seven, with variants, in 87-94; passim in all texts; as adj., f. gati, only m.c. for tathāgati, of (a) Buddha(s), in list of bhūmi: dharmameghā tathāgati Lañk 318.12 (vs; tāth metr. impossible; sc. bhūmiḥ; see s.v. tathāgata).

Tathāgatakulagotrodgata, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 4.1.

Tathāgatakośaparipalitā, n. of a kiṃnara maid: Kv 6.12.

Tathāgatakośa (i.e. kośa)-sūtra, n. of a work: Śikṣ 171.13 (see Bendall 407, note).

tathāgata-garbha, m., (1) in Lañk acc. to Suzuki (see Studies 405 with references), the womb where the T. is conceived and nourished and matured = the ālayavijñāna fully purified of its... vāsanā and... dauṣṭhulya: Lañk 77.14 ff., etc.; (2) n. of a Bodhisattva: Mvy 669.

Tathāgataguhyasūtra, n. of a work: Śikṣ 7.20; 126.5; 158.16; 242.7; 274.3; 316.5; 357.1. Not identical with Guhyasamājatantra, q.v.; whether same as Tathāgatācintyaguhyānirdeśa, q.v., is not known to me.

Tathāgatājñānamudrāsamādhi, m. (or f.), n. of a work: Mvy 1387.

Tathāgatābimba-parivarta, n. of a (? part of a) work: Śikṣ 173.8.

Tathāgatamahākaraṇānirdeśa, m., n. of a work: Mvy 1351.

Tathāgataśrīgarbha, n. of a Bodhisattva: Dbh 2.21.

tathāgata-hṛdaya, nt., heart of the T., n. of a magic spell: Śikṣ 139.3 (it is quoted in lines 4-7).

Tathāgatācintyaguhyānirdeśa, n. of a work: Mvy 1355. See s.v. Tathāgataguhyasūtra.

Tathāgatotpattisambhavanirdeśa, m., n. of a work: Mvy 1378.

tathatā = tathatā, q.v.: Mvy 1709; 1716; 1721; Vaj 37.3. In Mvy 620 Kyoto ed. also tathatā, but the true reading is Tathatā (-sthitaniścitta, q.v.).

tathatva = prec. and tathatva, q.v.: v.l. in LV 437.1 (vs) tathatvatāḥ for tathā of the text.

tathādarśana, adj. Bhvr. (evidently = evamdarśana, drṣṭi), holding such a view: Mv II.120.17 (sa) cāhaṃ bhikṣavo tathādarśanato evaṃ va (one ms. omits va) samāno yena gayānagaram tad avasāri, and, O monks (realizing the worthlessness of the doctrine of Rāma, taught by his son), from the holder of such a doctrine (viz. from Udraka Rāmaputra), being just as I was, I went off to Gayā-city; in II.119.6 we should expect a close parallel, in which the Bodhisattva leaves Ārāḍa Kālāma, but the text seems corrupt: sa khalv ahaṃ bhikkṣavo tathādarśanāya (so, or 'nāya', mss.; Senart em. 'nāyaiva'; required is rather 'nato, prob. followed by evaṃ va) samāno, etc. (he goes to Rājagṛha). (Otherwise Senart; ignoring the Bhvr. nature of the cpd. which seems guaranteed by evaṃdarśana, 'drṣṭi.) Also Mv II.123.16 (prose) sa khalv ahaṃ ... tathādarśanasamāno, I being of this opinion (as just stated in prec.).

tad-anuvartaka, adj. or subst. m., (the samghavaśeṣa offense of persistently, and in spite of remonstrance) following that one (sc. a monk who persists in causing samghabheda, q.v.): Mvy 8379; corresp. to Prāt 483.9ff.; Pali Vin. III.175.14 ff.

tadaho-poṣadhe, adv. phrase, see poṣadha.

tadāgata, m., a kind of (medicinal) resinous substance (jatu): MSV I.III.17 and I.IV.2 (here Tib. cited as drod sman, stimulating or heating drug).

tadāni (= Pali Lex. id., Childers; Skt. 'nfm), then: Mv I.253.6 (prose).

[tadāhim is apparently understood by Senart as meaning then in Mv II.69.5 (prose), yadā bhagavāṃ pravṛt-tadarmacakro tadāhim etaṃ bhikṣubhi śrutam. But mss. tadā hi or tadā hi-m-(i.e., I suppose, 'hiatus-bridging' m before following vowel); I think the particle hi must be assumed, after tadā. Perhaps Senart assumed a blend of tadā with (e)tar(a)hi(m).]

tad-ekatyā, see ekatyā (8).

[taddhu-, read by Senart with mss. in Mv III.113.13 (v.l. taddhura)-kāra, and by em. for mss. tadvā-(kāra) in III.442.17; read respectively taṭṭu- and taṭṭa-, qq.v.]

tad-yathā, tad-yathāpi (nāma), tad-yathedaṃ; see s.v. yathāpi (nāma), sayyathidaṃ. The simple tad-yathā occurs in Skt. (pw and Monier Williams s.v. tad) as well as in BHS: Mv I.55.13; 56.8 (prose), just as if ...

tanu, pl. (in this sense apparently not recorded; Sheth cites taṇu = alpa, thoṛā, from Deśn. 3.51, a wrong reference; I have failed to find it in Deśn. elsewhere), few (in number): ima ucyante (ms. ucyate) tanubhyas tanutarāḥ Av II.188.4 (prose), these are said to be fewer than few (= extremely few). [In LV 243.3, vs, read with v.l. tatu = tatas for text tanu; confirmed by Tib. der.] See also s.v. Taru.

tanukibhūta, ppp. (from Skt. and Pali tanuka = tanu with bhavati), become slight: apāyā 'tā Mv I.175.11 (vs).

tanu-(also tanū)-bhūmi, f., the 5th of the seven śrāvaka-bhūmi: Mvy 1145; ŚsP 1473.13 et alibi, see bhūmi 4.

tanuruha (recorded only in mg. hair, or rarely wing, feathers, Schmidt, Nachträge), member, limb of the body: chini tava tanuruha kalinṇu ruṣito LV 165.22 (vs), an evil king in anger cut off thy bodily member(s); the mg. is certain and is confirmed by Tib. yan lag.

tanū-bhūmi, see tanu°.

tantrajāla-jāta, adj. (see next, which is the older form), become (confused) like a (tangled) net of string: Mvy 5390 (Mironov wrongly jāla for jāla) = Tib. thags hkhruṅs pa lta bu, like a disordered web or texture, the latter representing tantra; hkhruṅs pa, disordered, prob. indicates that the BHS original had ākula rather than jāla.

tantrākulajāta, adj. (= Pali tantākulakajāta; see under prec.), become confused like an (entangled) web (or warp): LV 205.11 (so mss., wrongly em. in ed.). The Tib. transl. under prec. fits this, which is proved by Pali to be the orig. form, rather than tantra-jāla-. For the rest of the passage (same in LV and Mvy) see s.v. gunāvagun-ṭhita-bhūta.

Tantri, n. of a daughter of Māra acc. to Mv III.281.15; 283.15; 284.3; 286.6. The Mv is clearly secondary here; thruout most of the passage it mentions only two daughters of Māra, Tantri and Arati, but in 286.6 three, the third being Rati. Originally (LV 378.4 ff.; Pali, see Childers s.v. Ragā) there were three, Trṣṇā, Arati, and Rati (or, in Pali, Ragā, SN I.124.15 ff.). It is clear that Mv replaces Trṣṇā by Tantri. Could it be a corruption of Mndic *Tanhi = BHS trṣṇī, q.v.? Or is the corruption based on some form of the numeral for three (which is lost in Mv except in the final verse), cf. tās tisro ... LV 378.4?

tanmukhikayā, instr. (adv.?) of 'kā (see -mukhaka, 'ikā), for this reason or by that means: (anāpattayas) tanm° nirgatā bhavanti Divy 330.2, acc. to p. 708 rendered in Tib. through this consideration they go forth innocent.

tanvibhavati (for Skt. tanū-bh°, ppp. 'bhūta, Pali tanubhūta; -i due to influence of forms in -i before bhavati derived from a-stems), becomes slight, diminishes: (akusalās ca te dharmā ...) te tanvibhaviṣyanti Divy 236.17 (prose).

tapana, (1) m. or nt., and 'nā, box or basket, in which infants are enclosed and thrown into a river: (tāhi dāni) antaḥpurikāhi te dārakā tapanasmim callakam upastaritvā tatra prakṣiptāḥ, tam tapanam sv-apihitam subaddham kṛtvā rājakeya tapaniyeṇa tāpayitvā mudrayitvā nadīye gaṅgāye prakṣiptā Mv III.163.9, by the harem-women those infants in a tapana, putting a cloth on, were laid in there, and making that tapana carefully closed and tied, soldering it with the royal solder (? gold) and (so) sealing it, they were thrown into the River Ganges; referring to the same incident, (te) cāsmābhiḥ tapanāye (loc. f.) prakṣiptvā etc. 166.6; the same receptacle is called mañjūṣā, basket, in 166.10 ff., which makes the mg. clear. Senart's note compares tapu, in Divy, q.v., but this is a false reading. It seems unlikely that Skt. tapani, Kochtopf, Schmidt, Nachträge, or Deśn. 2.59 comm. tavaṇi, frying-pan, are directly connected; (2) m., less often nt. (= Pali id.), n. of a hot hell (see also Tāpana): Dharmas 121 ('naḥ); Mv I.6.3; 9.9 (m.); 14.15; II.350.8 = III.274.10; II.369.14; III.454.8 (nt.); Divy 67.22; 138.6; 366.29; Av I.4.8 etc.; Samādh 19.20; Kv 18.13; Mmk 114.26; Mironov tapanah for Mvy 4925 tāp°.

Tapā, n. of one of the 8 deities of the Bodhi-tree: LV 331.21.

[tapu: Divy 342.26; 343.5; read taṭṭu; see s.v. taṭṭa.]

Tapoda, m. or nt., 'dā (= Pali Tapodā, n. of a lake and its outlet river at Rājagṛha), n. of one or more bodies of water (lake, spring[s], river?) at Rājagṛha: tapoda-dvāreṇa Rājagṛham ... prāvīkṣat LV 240.1 (prose), entered R. by the gate of that-which-has-warm-water, so Tib., chu dron can gyi (of that which has warm water) sgo nas (by gate); the gate was named for warm springs or for the river outlet from them; (rājagṛhe samasamaṃ giriya-gra-[v.l. giri-m-agra]-samajam) nāma parvaṃ vartatī pañcānām tapoda-śatānām (so read for ed. tapo-śa°; mss. tapa-śa°, caposata-śa°). tatra dāni pañcahi tapoda-(so read, ed. tapo-, mss. tapa-, tapota-)śatehi pañca udyāna-śatāni Mv III.57.7, *at R. at the same time there took place the festival called Mountain-top-gathering, of 500 Warm Springs. Pischel, SBBA 1904 p. 813 fol. 158a; n. of a river Māy 253.7 (doubtless the same).

tabdha, ppp. (cf. Pali thaddha; semi-Māndic for Skt. stabdha), haughty, puffed up: (devadattah...) māñi ca balavāñ eva tabdhañ śākyamāñena ca tabdho... LV 152.15 (prose). So all mss.; only Calc. sta°.

Tamasāvāna, n. of a grove: Divy 399.11 (vs; m.c. for tamasa- or tāmāsa-? or cf. the river-name Tamasā?).

tamasikaraṇa, adj. (to *tamasī-karoti; perhaps m.c. for tāmās°), darkening, making dark: smṛtīślokarās tamasikaraṇāḥ bhayahetukarā... (kāmaguṇāḥ) LV 173.21 (vs).

Tama(h)sundarī (text lacks h), n. of a yakṣiṇī: Mmk 564.26 (here text corrupt); 566.15. Cf. Andhāra-sundarī (same personage).

Tamālapattracandanagandha, n. of a future Buddha (= Mahāmaudgalyāyana, by prediction): SP 153.8; 154.14.

Tamālapattracandanagandhābhijña, n. of a Buddha in a northwestern lokadhātu: SP 184.14 (no v.l. in edd.; Burnouf omits -abhijña, reading as prec.).

tamisrāyita-tva, nt. (abstr. from denom. pple. to tamisrā), begloomedness: Mv 1.41.5; 229.20; 240.10; ii.162.10; iii.334.8; 341.12; in all of which I believe we should read tamisrāyitatvā (or possibly ti°, cf. Pali timissā) for the corrupt mss.; Senart tamisrāpitā, but the mss. have no -r-. See under andhakārāpita-tva.

-tamisrita, ppp. denom., see andhakāra-tamisrita.
[? tam-enam, Mv 1.11.7, 11 (vss), assumed by Senart to be adverbial phrase, thereupon, straightway, and identified with Pali tam enam, Vin. 1.127.32, which is so interpreted PTSD s.v. ta-, II.4(b); neither Senart's nor PTSD's explanation seems plausible. It seems to me that acc. sg. m. pronouns may quite well be intended; if Senart is right in his em. of the rest of the text, 1.11.7 would read: tam enam kṣṇapaprāṇakā agnitikṣṇamukhā kharā, chaviṃ bhittvāna khādanti..., him... they eat, cutting his skin; and similarly line 11 where tam enam may depend on khādanti in line 12. In the Pali passage, also, I believe pronouns are to be assumed, anticipating tam bhikkhum of the next line, altho the construction is indeed exceptionally loose.]

Tamodghātana, n. of a Bodhisattva: Mmk 42.5.
? tampuruka or tambu°, see s.v. kirmpuruṣa.

? tambhū (for Skt. *tad-bhū), being that, as just described; perhaps in Mv 1.349.5 rājā ca Sujāto apratīvacano satyavādī yathāvādī tathākārī tambhuvo (so mss.) rājā varam yācāhi, ... from the king, being that (as just described), ask a boon! Senart em. tam tuvaṃ, which seems implausible; tam would have to go with varam, which would be separated from it by tuvaṃ.

tayyathāpi nāma, ms. var. for tadyath°, sayyath°, see s.v. yathāpi 2.

Taraṅgavati, n. of a locality: Māy 42.
(taraṅgāyate, denom., Skt., Schmidt, Nachträge, is wavy, acts like a wave: (vikalpavijñānam...) mrgatṛṣṇī-kāvat taraṅgāyate Lañk 94.14.)

taraṇa, nt. (Skt. id., fording (a river), so also Tib. rgal ba, below; AMg. id., defined Ratnach. swimming, crossing), perhaps boating, rowing, or swimming, in lists of arts and sports: javite playite taraṇe LV 156.10; °ṇam, after javitam, playitam, Mvy 5001 = Tib. rgal ba. Foucaux's Tib. rgyal in LV, prob. error for rgal; he renders la natation.

taraṇi, °ṇi, f. (Skt. Lex., used of various plants and flowers), a kind of flower: °ṇiḥ Mvy 6207; LV 11.3, reading of ms. H in Crit. App. °ṇi; Tib. in both places transliterates ta ra ṇi or °ṇi.

tara-ṇaṇya, nt. or m. (= Skt. tara-deya, in Kauṭ. Arth., cited s.v. gulma, q.v.), ferry-money: Mv iii.328.7 (nāviko dāñi āha, dehi) tarapanyam; LV 407.4 (same incident) prayaccha... tarap°; aśulkenātarapanyena Divy tarapuṭa, m., Mvy 9371 = Tib. gru btsums (gru = boat; btsums = ?) or gru tshugs, ferry or ghat (Das); next word is pratisrotah; perhaps ferry-landing?

? Tarārka, n. of a yakṣa: Māy 57. See Kutarārka.

? Taru, n. of a legendary king: Mv i.188.12; 189.7; 191.12; one ms. in the first passage, three in the third, and all in the second, read Tanu; both occur as names of men in Skt., but very rarely.

taruṇaka, adj. or subst. (-ka svārthe, or dim.; AMg. °ṇaa), young; child: dārakāṇām dahukāṇām (so mss., see dahuka) °ṇakāṇām kṛdāpanikāni Divy 475.(17)-18 (prose).

Taruṇārkabhānu, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.140.3.

tarka, m. (in Skt. reasoning, philosophizing), as with Pali takka, in BHS seems normally to have pejorative connotation, sophistry, vain speculation; typical are Sutrāi. i.12 with comm., see Lévi's Transl. (dialectique); and Lañk 24.2 katham hi sudhyate tarkaḥ kasmāt tarkaḥ pravartate, katham hi dṛśyate bhrāntiḥ..., how is tarka purified (got rid of)? From what does it arise?

tarjaniya, adj. with karmān (= Pali tājjanīyakkamma), act of rebuke or threat, a formal censure against dissident monks: Mvy 8642; MSV iii.5.14 ff. (described, as in Pali Vin. ii.2.20 ff.).

tarpaṇa, nt. (in Skt. food, sustenance, in general), a particular kind of food, dough, paste, meal(?): Mvy 5753 = Tib. skyo ma, pap, paste, dough; bhaktāni vā tarpaṇāni vā (ya)vāgūpāṇāni vā... Bhik 23a.2 (in list similar to that of Mvy).

tala, m. or nt. (= AMg. id. = Skt. bhūtala), surface of the ground: yehi iha kṛtākamardanāni vā kārāpitāni bhavanti talamardanāni vā... Mv 1.21.12; tala-m° acc. to Senart stamping on the ground; but perhaps breaking up the surface of the ground, as in digging; reproated as injurious to living creatures.

talaka (tala plus -ka svārthe), upper surface, top, roof: °kopari Mvy: 9351 = Tib. khañ steñ, (on) the top of a house.

talavarga, m. (cf. Skt. talārakṣa, pw 5.255; and AMg. talavara, talāra, some sort of guard or police officer), some sort of royal officer, acc. to Tib. sku bsrubs, body-guard: Mvy 3724, in a list of royal functionaries.

tala-śaktikā (= Pali talasattikā, also a raising of the hand, but there seems to denote a threatening gesture), lit. palm-spear, a raising of the hand in a gesture of salutation: añjali (so with WT)... paripūrṇa ekā talasattikā vā SP 52.7 (vs), (by whom is made) either a complete añjali or a mere raising of one hand (in salutation). On Mv iii.55.4, where this word might be conjectured, see s.v. chādayati (1).

talikā, sc. lpi, a kind of writing: Mv 1.135.8 (prose). talakṣaṇa, nt., a high number: LV 148.11, cited Mvy 7977; Tib. renders literally dehi mtshan ſid, mark of that.

tavara, m., Mvy 7709, or nt., Mvy 7835, a high number; in 7835 cited from Gv which reads taparam, q.v. tasarikā (from Skt. tasara, shuttle), in Divy 83.24 (prose), acc. to Index weaving, as operation of the shuttle; this force of the suffix would seem peculiar, but the context gives little help: (Sacy apl...) tasarikāṃ kartum ārabdhā. In the preceding sentence Śakra, in disguise, vastram vāyitum ārabdhah. Perhaps tasarikāṃ kartum, to make the (little) shuttle, means only to operate the shuttle.

tasāṇā (= Pali id.; Māndic for Skt. tṛṣṇā), thirst: Mv i.166.20 (vs; may be m.c.; mss. ka°, va°, but em. certain); see s.v. jālini.

tahi, tahiri, loc. of pron. stem ta-, also as adv., there; see § 21.22.

tāḍa, (1) m. or nt. (Skt. tāla, Pall tāla, cymbal or some percussion instrument; also clap of the hand etc.), a musical instrument, cymbal: viṇās ca tāḍā paṇavās ca SP 51.13 (vs); saṃgīti-tāḍa-samaye ca vinīśayajñāḥ RP 42.17 (vs), but here and in the next tāḍa could mean not the instrument, but the sound made by striking it; vādyā-tāḍa-nināda-nirghoṣa-śabdair SP 338.11 (prose); others, see s.v. śamya; see also tāḍāvacara; (2) m. (= Pall tāla, m.; see next), key (In Skt. tāla, lock, cf. tālaka; see Johnston, note on Buddhac.): saddharma-tāḍena Buddhac. 1.74; tāḍam ādāya gṛham asya gatvā Av II.56.2; tāḍam apahrīya gṛham gatvā 3 (ms. tāḍan both times).

tāḍaka, m. (cf. s.v. tāḍa, 2), key, or some kind of key: kaṃ kuñcīkām ca tāvad dhāraya* Divy 577.21, 27; kaḥ kuñcīkā* ca 578.11; tāḍaka-kuñcīkām (acc.; so read for ed. tāḍhaka) MSV III.23.14. Cf. also tālaka.

tāḍanā, f. (Skt. nā*, nt.), a beating: kaścī kuryān na tāḍanām ... SP 285.1 (vs); tāḍanās, acc. pl., to be read LV 214.3 (vs) with practically all mss. for nā*; all the series of nouns in this line are f.

tāḍāvacara, also (doubtless wrongly) spelled tāḍopacāra, m. and nt. (= Pall tālā°, wrongly defined in PTSD; it means a musical instrument, as stated by comm. (596.15) on DN II.159.16 which glosses tuḷiyabhaṇḍam; Skt. tālāv° seems to mean a person, see BR, and Rām. 7.91.15, BR 5.1469), a musical instrument in general or a particular class of them, prob. of the cymbal type, cf. tāḍa; almost always preceded by tūrya: sarvagīta-vādyanṛtya-tūrya-tāḍāvacara-saṃgīti-saṃpravāditāḥ pūjā karaṇīyā SP 232.3 (prose); nearly this same cpd. (tāṇḍavika, m., Skt., Schmidt, Nachträge, = nartaka, dancer: twice in lists of entertainers, Mv III.113.4 (here Senart with mss. bhāṇḍ°); 442.10 (mss. tāṇḍ° or taṇḍ°, Mndic); the passages are closely parallel and tā° must be read in both.)

tātaka, tātuka, tāttaka, all = tattaka (§ 3.2), so much, so great, pl. so many; no such forms are recorded elsewhere; tātaka, only as v.l. of Kashgar rec. of SP for tattaka, q.v.; tāttaka, m. pl., Samādh 19.16 (vs); KP 158.3 (prose; twice); 159.5 ff. tāpa = tapas, ascetic practice (a mg. unrecorded for tāpa or its Mndic equivalents); in Mvy 1608, chapter-title, tāpa-saṃvāra-paryāyāḥ, words for ascetic practices and restraints; saṃvāra is also unparalleled in the sense of saṃvara; Tib. dkah thub, which regularly = tapas, and śdom pa, which regularly = saṃvara. Perhaps read tapah-saṃvara; but Mironov (p. vi) cites both words as in Kyoto ed.

Tāpana, (1) m. (acc. to DPPN Pall id. = Tapana; but no reference is given; this v.l. recorded in some mss. for Tapana), n. of a hot hell, = Tapana: Mvy 4925 (but Index lists Ta° as well as Tā°, and Mironov Tapanah without v.l.); (2) n. of a mountain: Māy 254.6.

tāpanīya, m. or nt., acc. to Senart solder or some substance melted and used for sealing containers: Mv III.163.10, see s.v. tapana (1), and next. But possibly gold (In Skt. adj. golden).

tāpayati, solders: °yitvā Mv III.163.10, see under prec. Tāpasasūtra, n. of a work: Karmav 157.13 (Lévi's note says no such title is otherwise known).

tāpya, nt., regret, grief: (mā vaḥ paścāḥ) jambudvīpagaṭānām tāpyam bhaviṣyati Divy 230.10 (prose).

tāmraśāṭīya, m. pl., n. of a school: Mvy 9083.

Tāmraḥṣa, n. of a serpent: Divy 106.1, 8, 11.

Tāmraṭavi, n. of a forest: Divy 102.29; 105.29 f.; 106.12. (So ed.; but perhaps merely a descriptive epithet, a copper-colored forest, or a forest of tāmra trees, any of several trees given this name in Hindu Lexx.)

tāyaṇa, °na (nt.; Mndic, = trāyaṇa, q.v.), (act of) saving: jaga-tāyanam smarati Dbh.g. 2(338).7; jaga-tāyanārtham (v.l. °trāy°) 16(352).12.

tāyin, m. (= AMg. tāl, defined as attaining salvation, i. e. holy, religious; also who protects himself and others, i. e. a Jina; Pall tādī, see below), originally Prakritic for Pall tādī(n) = Skt. tāḍrś; see tāḍr(n), tāḍrśa(ka). The identity of the two words can hardly be questioned. The mg. of Pali tādi(n) is also quite clear, such (= tādrś); doubt remains only as to whether this meant originally such as the Buddha, of the same quality as He, or such as a religious man ought to be, thus holy, following the path of true religion. On the Pali see esp. Childers s.v., also Senart on Mv II.256.9, where BHS uses evamrūpa in nearly the same sense; Senart points out that tathārūpa glosses tādi in Dh. comm. Acc. to Childers tādi is usually applied to holy men, only rarely to Buddha. In BHS tāyin most often applies to Buddhas, but also fairly often to Bodhisattvas, and occasionally to other holy men. Once, at least, tādrśaka, q.v., is clearly applied to a Buddha, like tāyin. These facts all together make it seem clear to me that the etym. and original mg. are as stated above. It is true that Tib. (see on Mvy below) interprets tāyin as if for trāyin, rendering protector or the like; some modern scholars (Burnouf, Lotus 16, on vs 73 of Chap. 1; pw 7.345 'wohl nur fehlerhaft für trāyin') assume that this was the etym. and primary mg. of tāyin. But against this stands not only Pali but BHS tādrśa(ka), tādr(n)-. Tib. doubtless has a secondary popular etymology. The forms are typical of in-stems: tāyi n. sg. (SP 45.13; Mvy 15, 1746), tāyinaḥ gen. sg. (SP 69.2; 208.7, etc.), *nām gen. pl. (SP 176.8 etc.), tāyibhiḥ (LV 388.13), etc. Occasionally the mss. write corruptly tāpin (so Mv II.349.12 text, prob. mere misprint; Mmk 98.8; 499.19; 599.20; 600.17). (1) Used of others than Bodhisattvas and Buddhas, holy: anigho tāyi tam āhu śrōtriyam ti Mv III.400.2; ariyo (mss., Senart āryo) tāyi pravuccati tathatvā 400.6; in III.397.2 read, śramaṇo tāyi (mss. bhāvayī, Senart tādi, cf. 400.6) pravuccati tathatvā, he is called in truth a monk, a holy man (or, one such as the Buddha, or, such as he should be); tāyi sa sarvām (read *vam) prajāhāti duḥkham Ud xix.1, in later version of line which in oldest ms. reads prahāsate (= *syate) sarvabhavāni tādrśāḥ, the holy man (men) gets (will get) rid of all misery (states of being); (2) used of Bodhisattvas (other than Śākyamuni in his last existence, when in laudations he is often given epithets of a Buddha, even before his enlightenment): SP 304.5 (vs; bud-dhaputrasya tāyinaḥ), 12; 306.1; Mv II.370.1 (vs, buddha-putrāṇa tāyinaḥ); Sādh 93.10 (of Mañjuvajra = Mañjuśrī); Dbh 29(55).14 (?reference not clear); (3) but most commonly of the Buddha (Śākyamuni) or of any or all Buddhas: Mvy 15 (text trāyi, tāyi, but Mironov tāyi without v.l.; Tib. skyob pa, protector); 1746 (tāyi; Tib. skyob ston, protector-teacher); SP 25.1; 45.13; 69.2; 116.9 (tāyinaḥ, for the Buddha; wrongly Kern); 176.8; 208.7; 303.13; 331.8; LV 122.20 (tāyino with v.l. for kāyi no); 388.13; 421.5; Mv II.349.12 = III.273.11; II.351.8, 14; 352.15; 353.17; III.109.20; 124.20; 445.17; Av II.199.4; Suv 17.11; Śikṣ 260.11; Mmk 98.8; 125.15; 320.14; 375.10, 15; 442.9; 499.19; 599.20; 600.17; nikṣiptaḥ sādhu tāyinaḥ Divy 712.7. All these passages (except Mvy where the word is cited alone) are verses; they are not exhaustive, but it is doubtful whether tāyin occurs anywhere in prose.

tāraka, m. (*kā, f.; Skt. and Pali; *ka, said by Ratnach. to be nt., AMg.), pupil of the eye: *kaḥ Mvy 3945 = Tib. mig gi ḥbras bu, lit. fruit (cf. Eng. apple) of the eye.

Tārakākṣa (cf. Tārākṣa), n. of a mountain: Divy 102.29 (Nīloda Tār° ca parvatau).

Tārakopama, n. of a kalpa: ŚSP 309.9; AsP 366.12; 458.7.

tārāpānyika, m. (tarapānya plus -ika; cited BR as tara°, but Mironov also tāra° with no v.l.), ferryman: Mvy 3804.

Tārā, n. of a Buddhist goddess: Mvy 4280; Dharma 4; Sādh 18.16 etc.; Mmk 10.16, at the head of a list of vidyārājñī; 40.10; 65.9, called 'compassion of Avalokiteśvara', Āryāvalokiteśvara-karūṇā; 69.16; 312.6; 576.11 etc.; 647.12 ff.

Tārākṣa (cf. Tārakākṣa), n. of a rākṣasa: Divy 105.2, 6 (called a daka-rākṣasa), and by em. text 104.21, where mss. Raktākṣa, Raktāka (described as raktanetraḥ); he lives Nīlode mahāsamudre.

tārāyaṇa- (m. or nt.), once °nī, n. or epithet of the bodhi-tree, only noted in LV; Tib. śhī sgrol rgyu, cause-of-salvation-tree (deriving from tārayati): °na-mūle LV 381.3; 392.7; -samīpe 381.11; -mūlam 385.11; 396.17; 398.11; these both prose and vs; °nī-mūlam 387.4 (vs, meter requires long stem-final).

tārāvarta, m. or nt., some kind of flower: °ta-puṣpaṃ juhuyāt Mmk 684.25 (prose).

Tārīṇī = Tārā: Sādh 208.2 (prose), etc.

Tāreśvararāja, n. of a Tathāgata: Gv 80.26.

tāla, nt. (In Skt. only m., and so BHS usually), palm-tree: (sarvasmāc ca tālād ratnasūtrād, so read with Calc. for Lefm. °trā) dvitīye tālam avasaktam abhūt LV 273.22 (prose), and from a jewel-thread (extending) from each palm-tree, (each) palm-tree was attached to the next. As a measure of length or esp. height, tāla, palm-tree, occurs also in Skt. (BR), and much oftener in BHS, where previous translators often erroneously render span, esp. in the cpd. sapta-tāla; but this (= Pali satta-tāla) means, as in Pali, seven palm-trees, and so tāla regularly (confirmed by Tib., regularly śhī ta la, tāla-tree). Acc. to Mv II.313.3 ff. a tāla is one-eighth of a krośa, and eight times a pauruṣeya 3, q.v. In LV 14.11 the cakra-ratna of the cakravartin is saptatālam uccehi; in LV 154.5 a metal figure of a boar (ayasmayī varāhapratimā) measures 7 tālas (read saptatālā as one word); in LV 273.19 a vedikā is saptatālān ucceṣṭvena; in Av II.104.4; 14 a throne is saptatālodgatam; in SP 428.10 kūṭāgāram abhiruḥya valhāyase saptatālamātrena, having mounted a tower-house seven tālas high in the air. Most commonly used as a measure of height to which someone, esp. Buddha, magically rises in the air; one tāla only, tālamātram (valhāyasam ...) Mv I.239.18; III.107.12, 13; 108.5; 411.13, 15; oftener sapta-tāla-mātram valhāyasam abhyudgamya, or variations on this, SP 459.11; 465.7; LV 18.16 (here a Pratyekabuddha, rising 7 tālas, passes thru the 'fire-element', tejodhātu, and disappears); 350.20-21; Lañk 16.6; Divy 252.16.

tālaka, (1) nt. (= Skt. Lex. id. and Skt. tāla), lock: Mvy 5905 = Tib. sgo lcags, door-lock; cf. pratitālaka; (2) nt., a kind of ornament, acc. to Tib. shaped like a palm-leaf: Mvy 6029 = Tib. rgyan ta la ḥdab.

Tāladhvaja, nt., n. of a city (in the south): Gv 154.20; 155.10. (In Skt. m. as n. of a mountain, and °jā, f., cited Lex. as n. of a city.)

tāla-mukta (Mvy) or °ta-ka (MSV), adj., designates a kind of person not to be accepted as a monk: Mvy 8796; MSV IV.68.14. Acc. to Chin. on Mvy, one who mixes liquor (from the palm tree) with his food. Tib. obscure, perhaps similar to Chin.

tālavanṭaka, nt. (= Pali °vaṇṭa, Skt. °vṛnta), (palm-leaf) fan: °kāni Mv II.475.8; 477.5. See also tālavanṇadaka. [tālavanṭa? see kālavanṭa.]

tālavanṇadaka (nt., = °vaṇṭaka, Skt. Lex. °vṛntaka; no form with d otherwise known), fan: na °kam (adv.) Mvy 8529, (the monk's robe is to be worn) not fan-wise.

? tālīka, or tānika, Mv II.311.6, n. or epithet of gems: tālīkehi (v.l. tāni°) mañihī. Senart has no note. (In Mv III.442.8 read, instead of tālīka, vetāḍika, or val°, or °lika; Skt. vaitālīka; cf. III.113.2.)

tālīśa, m., prob. an unctuous substance made from the (Skt.) tālīśa plant (= Pali tālīsa, tālīssa): Mvy 5787 (see s.v. kārīṣi).

tāluka (AMg. tāluyā; Skt. tālu, nt. tāluka, and acc.

timisaka, adj. (§ 3.2; cf. AMg. timissa-, 'ssā, Skt. tamisra; Pali timisa), dark: yathā ca bhavanam mahyam andhakāra-timisakam (dark as night) Mv ii.398.5 = 401.17 (vs); so mss. at 398.5; in 401.17 timāsakam; Senart em. tamisrakam both times.

-tiraka (= Skt. tllaka), speck, spot: lipiphalakam ādāya divyārṣa-suvārṇa-tirakam LV 125.17-18 (prose), so Lefm.; the mss. vary, and none has exactly divyārṣa-, but all but one have -tirakam (that one -tilakam); taking a writing-board with . . . golden (decorative) spots (Foucaux pailettes, spangles).

tiraccha, or (?) tirakṣa (hyper-Skt.?), adj.-subst. (= Pali id., in 'bhūta, gone astray, going wrong; cf. next, and tricccha, 'cchāna, tirya; Skt. tiraśca-, Wackernagel 3.230; § 2.12) animal (sub-human): 'ccheṣṭapapadyante Mv i.31.8 (prose); in 12 below tricccha; Mv ii.195.2 (vs), read, paśya tirakṣa-(or, as intended by v.l., tiraccha)-bhūtena karmam upacitam śubham (Kern, IF. 31.195).

tiracchāna (m.; = Pali id.; cf. Skt. tiraścina; & for I due to some analogy, somehow related to the stem-final of tiraccha, q.v. for other forms), animal (sub-human): 'na-cārikām Mv i.27.2, 4, journey to the animals (cf. tiryagyonīṣu 4); 'na-yonīyam iii.274.16, see s.v. tiricchāna; 'na-gata (= Pali id.), existing in the state of an animal: 'gatām Mv i.17.5 (acc. pl.); 'gatāye (v.l. tiricchāna- q.v.) iii.153.19.

tiras-, tiraskṛta- (cf. Pali tiro, outside, esp. as prior member of cpds.), in comp. with -prāṭiveśya, taken by Divy Index (and pw) as meaning near (neighbor), but rather outside (neighbor), (neighbor) living outside (one's own house): tiraḥprāṭiveśya-suhr̥t-svajanādibhyo Divy 234.24; tena tiraḥprāṭiveśyāḥ prṣṭāḥ 272.4; tiraskṛta-prāṭiveśya-sajana-(read -svajana-?)-yuvatyāś 235.19. See also s.v. tiryak, where it is suggested that even Skt. tiras may have this mg. in Märk. Pur. 17.3 (BR s.v. 2a).

tricccha m. (= AMg. id., oblique, slanting, and 'cchiya, animal; the penultimate i by 'samprasāraṇa' from tirya(k), cf. § 3.115; see next, and s.v. tiraccha), animal (sub-human): narakā-tiriccha-pretāsūreṣu kāyeṣu Mv i.31.12 (cf. tiraccha, line 8 above); similarly 32.17; eṣo hi mārgo narake tiricche ii.324.10; narakān tiricchām 344.17; nāyam (na te) tiriccho ('cchā) . . . vāyam tiricchā Mv i.365.8-9; ii.236.11-12, said in recognition of greater virtue shown by an animal than by human beings.

tiricchāna (m.; nowhere recorded, but cf. prec. and tiracchāna), animal (sub-human): 'na-yonīyam (loc.) Mv ii.350.14 (vs) = iii.274.16 which reads tiracchāna; kuto imasyā (mss. 'sya) tiricchāna-gatāye mṛgiye mānuṣo apatyō Mv iii.144.3 (prose); in similar phrase 153.19 Senart tiracchāna-gatāye mṛgiye, with one ms., v.l. tiricchāna°.

tiriṭi, 'ṭi (cf. Skt. tiriṭa, Symplocos racemosa; Pali 'ṭa, 'ṭaka, this tree, also a garment made of its bark), a garment of bark (of the above-tree): 'ṭim dhārayitum, tiriṭi iti valkalāḥ MSV ii.94.13; 'ṭim lb. 91.17.

tirya, adj. and subst. (= Skt. tiryāṇic, tiryak, § 15.3, cf. Pali tiriyaṃ, adv., and AMg. tiri, tirya, adj. and subst. animal; spelling tiriya not recorded in BHS but metrically demanded in Mmk 107.27, 28), (1) adj. oblique, transverse: ākāsagamanam cāpi tiryam cāpi nabhastale Mmk 148.20 (vs; perhaps adv., or adj. with -gamanam understood); (2) subst., animal (sub-human): tiryāṇa (gen. pl.; separate word) yonīṣu ca so sadā ramī SP 97.2 (vs); tiryāṇa yonīṣu 358.13 (vs); tiryā, n. pl., LV 336.3 (vs); meter seems to demand tiriya, contrary to text, in tiryebhyo dadau vratī Mmk 107.27 and 'bhyo tu dattvā vai 28 (vss). Also for the Skt. cpds. tiryag-gata and 'gatī, tirya-occurs m.c., Samādhi 19.17; Suv 48.1; RP 27.10 (text here tir°); 32.8. The stem tirya has been recorded only in verses.

The AMg. form tiri, with 'saṃprasāraṇa', suggests the origin of the penultimate i of tīriccha, °cchāna.

tiryak, adv. (used in the sense of Pali tiro, BHS tiras, tiraskṛta, q.v.; the converse use of Skt. tiras in the sense of tiryak, crosswise, is recorded by BR s.v. 2a from lexicons, and once in Märk. Pur.; but in this one passage it seems to me that tiras may have its Pall mg. of outside, away, afar, outside, away, afar, in contrast with iha; neha na tiryak nobhayam antarā Śikṣ 252.15, not here, not afar, not between the two. (Bendall and Rouse, Transl. 234 line 2, across; but this seems manifest nonsense in the context.)

tiryakkāma-(sevin), (one addicted to) bestiality, sexual love of animals: °vi Śikṣ 75.17 (punishment for this sin in future lives is described).

tiryagyonika, adj. (also tairya°; cf. Pali tīracchāna-yanika), belonging to the animal state of existence: °kānām (sc. sattvānām) anyonyabhakṣanāpīdīduhkhān LV 86.12.

Tiryag-lokadhātu, m. or f., n. of a fabulous lokadhātu where people walk on all fours: Mvy 3070; Tib. thad ka = tiryak (Das).

tlakocavaka, nt., a kind of arrowhead: Mvy 6099 (in a list of weapons); acc. to Tib. (mdé hu zur bzhi pa) and Jap., an arrowhead with four edges or blades; Chin. arrowhead with four layers (?). I see no etymology for the word; Skt. tila plus BHS kocavaka, q.v., seems to make no sense.

tiṣṭhatu (3 sg. impv. of sthā; = Pali tiṭṭhatu; so far as I know, not so used in Skt.), be it so! all right! as formula of assent: tiṣṭhatu tāva LV 287.19 (vs), in Svastika's response to the Bodhisattva's request for grass; rendered by Tib. freely, khyod bzhes sig, do you take it! (qy: did Tib. possibly take tāva as = tava, and understand literally let it remain yours?).

tiṣṭhantika, adj. (= pres. pple. tiṣṭhant-; we should expect °ta-ka, but there is no v.l.; -ika is abnormal here; gender is m.), remaining (in the world, of Buddhas, contrasting with nirvṛta, entered into nirvāṇa): dattā aprati-meṣu maitramanasā tiṣṭhantike (so read, both edd. °ti ke) nirvṛte LV 291.14 (vs), were given with loving heart to the Matchless Ones (Buddhas), to (one) that was remaining in the world, (and) to (another) who had entered nirvāṇa. Cf. Senart, Mv 1.568, who reads this word correctly, equating it with tiṣṭhāmāno (mahāvīro) 1.252.12, but wrongly understands 'nirvṛte'; Tib., at least, supports my interpretation: byams pañi yid kyi do zla med par bzhuḡs (remaining) dañ (and) mja ñan ḡdas la (= nirvṛta) phul.

tiṣṭha-vākya, adj. (cf. Pali tiṭṭha-bhadantika, one who says to a guest, 'wait, sir!'), one who says (to a guest) wait!: na ca yatra svānu (= Skt. śvā) bhavatī na cāhi-tam tena (te na?) tiṣṭhavākyasya LV 258.7 (vs). Acc. to Foucaux's Note, p. 161, Tib. (omitted in F.'s ed.) indicates a reading tiṣṭha vā gaccha.

Tiṣya, (1) (= Pali Tissa), n. of a former Buddha: Mv iii.240.5; 241.15; 243.12; 244.3; 245.14 f.; 247.8; 248.17; LV 5.10; 172.3 (so read for Lefm. Tikṣṇa, confirmed by Tib. ḡod ldan, as in Mvy 1046 = Tiṣya; divide Tiṣya lohamuṣṭhān; Sukh 6.3; Gv 206.12; (2) n. of a future Buddha: Gv 441.25, in a list of them; cf. Pali Tissa, 2 in DPPN, also in such a list, but the lists do not otherwise correspond; (3) (= Pali Tissa, in same vs, DN ii.261.13, cf. DPPN Tissa 6) n. of a Mahābrahmā: Mahāsamāj. Waldschmidt Kl. Skt. Texte 4, 191.11; (4) (= Pali Tissa, 5 of DPPN) n. of one of the leading disciples (agraśrāvaka) of the Buddha Kāśyapa: Mv 1.307.4, 17; (5) in a list of cakravartī-rājānaḡ, Mvy 3605 (Tib. rgyal), but the adjoining names are mostly only those of Śākya nobles, contemporaries of the Buddha, incl. even Siddhārtha (1); stands between Nanda and Bhadrīka; (6) as n. for Śāriputra (otherwise Upatīṣya): SP 91.7 (vs); (7) n. of a brother of Śāriputra: Mv iii.56.11;

(8) n. of Śāriputra's father: Av ii.186.6; (9) in a list of 'disciples' (śrāvaka): Mvy 1046 (Tib. ḡod ldan); followed immediately by Upatīṣya; Śāriputra is named, 1032, in the same list; various monks of the name Tissa are mentioned in Pali, see DPPN; (10) n. of a householder (associated with Puṣya 4) of Rauruka; converted by Kātyāyana and attained enlightenment: Divy 551.6 ff.; 571.3, 5; apparently not the same as Pali Tissa, 13 in DPPN, a rājā of Roruvā (= Rauruka).

Tiṣyarakṣitā (cf. Pali Tissarakkhā, here Asoka's second wife), n. of the chief queen of Asoka: out of jealousy she plotted to destroy the bodhi-tree (as in Pali): Divy 397.21 ff.; made advances to Kunāla, and being rebuffed plotted his ruin, 407.5 ff.

tiṣra-loka, see § 19.8.

Tikṣṇa, n. of a nāga: Mvy 3314.

[tikṣṇam, in SP 149.2 (sa ca bhagavān . . .) sthitvā tikṣṇam dharmam deśayīṣyati, read (a) bhikṣam with WT and their ms. K'; so Tib. rtag tu, constantly.]

Tikṣṇagandha, m. pl., n. of a tribe of serpents living in the Saptāśvīṣa rivers: Divy 107.22.

tikṣṇendriya, adj. (tikṣṇa-indriya; = Pali tikkhin-driya), of keen senses or faculties: AsP 387.3 (cited s.v. ātikṣṇendriya).

timayati (cf. Dhātup. tim- = Skt. tim-; M. timia, ppp.), makes wet, sprinkles: sugandhatallena ca vastrāṇi timayitvā Divy 285.25.

tira (m. or nt.), side (of a mountain): (parvatasya valhāyavarasya) uttare ca (so mss., Senart uttarasmi) tire varapārśve Mv 1.70.17 (vs).

tiraṇa (= Pali id.) = saṃtiraṇa, q.v.: AbhidhK. LaV-P. 1.81.

-tīriyaka, adj. or subst. (§ 22.20; cf. Pali -tīriya, Vin. ii.287.4), dwelling (one who dwells) on the bank: samudra-t° Mvy 7149 (Tib. ñogs na gnas pa, dwelling-on the bank).

tīrthaka (°ika), see sama-tīrthika.

tīrtha-kara (see the foll. items; = Pali tiṭṭhakara; cf. Skt. tīrthamkara, used by Jains of their own sect-founders; in BHS as in Pali always pejorative, of heretics; see however s.v. tīrthika), heretical sectarian, heresiarch, founder of a heresy: śramaṇa-brāhmaṇa-tīrthakareḡ Mv 1.234.17; °karā nighṛtāḡ Av ii.187.3; °karāṇām Lañk 11.12. All prose.

tīrthika (also para-t°; see prec. and next items; prob. Sktized from Mindic (Pali) tiṭṭhiya, see tīrthya; both are very common in prose as well as vss), (1) heretic; like its relatives, pejoratively used; there is one seeming exception, tīrthikā vā bhavanti bhavasūdanāḡ Mv 1.106.8 (vs), where if the text is correct it seems to be said of Bodhisattvas in the 8th bhūmi that they become religious prophets (or the like), destroying (the states of normal) existence. I suspect a corruption, and cannot explain the text as it stands any more than Senart (his doubtful suggestion based on LV Calc. 313.19 falls now with the reading of that text, which in Lefm. 250.1 is replaced by . . . tīrthyāḡ, heretics, kurvante). However, it is barely possible that this one Mv passage preserves the original neutral mg., adherent (or founder) of (any) religion. A trace of this may also remain in the not infrequent prefixation of anya- to t°, other (than Buddhist) sectarian, LV 268.12; Mv iii.49.12 (anyatīrthikapūrvō, formerly a member of another sect); 412.7; or para-t°, q.v.; cf. kutīr-thikā(h) LV 12.10, members of base (heretical) sects. Otherwise, and very often, tīrthika alone means heretic simply: SP 272.10; LV 250.21; 258.1; 260.9; Mv 1.45.10; 69.17; ii.135.12; iii.392.7 (śramaṇa-brāhmaṇa-tīrthika-gaṇikā, apparently implying that brahmins were not included among tīrthikas; this cpd. appears in some of the other passages listed); Mvy 3514; Divy 146.19; 152.5; 275.9; Av 1.2.6; 16.3 etc., common; Bhad 52; Bbh 173.11 etc.; yat kimcit tīrthikalingam... LV 409.17; Mv III.329.11, whatever (external) mark (dress etc.) of heretics (was borne by converts, all magically disappeared and they wore the aspect of Buddhist monks); tīrthikāvakraṇṭaka, see avakraṇṭaka; (2) n. of a nāga: Mvy 3320; (3) see s.v. sama-tīrthika.

tīrthikara, heresiarch, founder of a heretical sect: Śiṣ 317.17 (prose). Prob. a mere error for tīrthakara; but cf. tīrthakara, which tīrthi° might represent by 'sāmpra-sāraṇa'.

tīrthya (= tīrthika, q.v.; Pali titthiya), heretic: LV 248.14; 250.1; Divy 81.7, 9; 126.18; 127.25 ff.; 143.13 ff., etc.; Av I.112.7, etc.; Dbh 47.3; Lañk 2.7; 7.16; common in prose as well as vss, tho in most texts less common than tīrthika; para-t° RP 3.16; tīrthyāyatana, see āyatana (2). See next.

tīrthyaka, m., = prec.: MSV I.79.17 f.; II.204.10 (prose).

tīrthya-kara, founder of a heretical sect: Mvy 3513; = tīrthakara, which one is tempted to read here, but Mironov also °ya; no v.l.; cf. tīrthikara which perhaps supports this.

tivra, adj. (like Pali tibba, hardly Skt., used of religiously and morally good activity), adv. tivram, zealously: mātāpitṛṣu viro upasthapetvā tivram paricarati Mv II.220.18 (vs), zealously waited upon (his parents).

tu, but, recorded at the beginning of a sentence: tu tava vijite catvāraḥ prāṇināḥ... MSV III.130.1. Unless some word has been lost or transposed, no other interpretation seems possible.

tucchaka, adj. (Skt. Lex. and Pali id., acc. to PTSD 'always with rittaka' = BHS riktaka; = Skt. tuccha, with -ka, prob. pejorative), empty, vain, only with riktaka and asāraka, see under the latter; Mv II.145.19; AsP 346.10.

[tulyo Mv III.74.2, presumably taken by Senart as 2 pers. pron., tho his Notes and Index ignore the form; read (ca-)turyo, see s.v. caturya.]

tuṇa (m. or nt.; cf. tūṇa, tuṇava; AMg. tuṇā [tuṇa?], an unidentified mus. instrument), some musical instrument: in lists, tuṇa-paṇava-mṛdaṅgām LV 80.5; tuṇa-veṇu-(text valṇu)-ravaliḥ 173.9; tuṇa-viṇā-sughoṣakādibhiḥ 177.14. Tib. confused; it may intend this word by rgyud gcig (pa) in the first two (see under tuṇava), but if so the order varies from our text; on 177.14 this Tib. word does not occur, and tuṇa may be gliṇ bu (otherwise = veṇu or vaṃṣa), altho the order suggests sga sñan, but this elsewhere = sughoṣaka. In spite of Tib., which suggests a stringed (or in 177.14 a wind?) instrument, perhaps really a kind of drum.

tuṇatunāyati (cf. prec.?), onomat., used of the sound made by the kokila: kokilā °yanti Mv III.256.2 (v.l. bhuṇa-bhuṇā).

tuṇava, m. (? cf. Skt. tūṇava, acc. to BR a wooden wind instrument, perhaps flute; Pali tiṇava, AN II.117.6, acc. to comm. III.121.15 = deṇḍimo or diṇḍ°, a kind of drum; see tuṇa, tūṇa), some musical instrument, possibly a kind of drum; but acc. to regular Tib. renderings a one-stringed instrument of the viṇā type: °vaḥ Mvy 5015 = Tib. pl waḥ (= viṇā) rgyud gcig pa (one-stringed); on LV and SP Tib. regularly rgyud gcig (pa); in lists, -paṇava-tuṇava-viṇā- LV 163.6 (here om. in Tib.); tuṇava-paṇava-viṇā-veṇu- 212.3; -paṭaha-tuṇava-(so mss., except one tuna-paṇava; Lefm. tūṇava)-viṇā- 301.15; in SP 51.13 read tuṇavā(h) with Kashgar rec., WT, and Tib. rgyud gcig, for KN prapaṇā.

tuṇḍa (m. or nt.; in Skt. beak, snout, of birds and animals, only contemptuously of men; so Pali tuṇḍa and °ḍaka; cf. next), (1) face (?), of men, as a part shaven: śiras-tuṇḍa-muṇḍa Śiṣ 59.17 and 68.2 (Transl. once cheek, once chin), of monks, shaven of head and face; śiras-tuṇḍa-muṇḍa Bbh 194.5; (2) in Vajra-tuṇḍi, Bhvr. cpd., q.v., Hoernle assumes tuṇḍa, navel (cf. Skt. Lex. tuṇḍi, tuṇḍikā, tunda, late Skt. tundikā, Schmidt, Nachträge); (3) in tuṇḍa-bandham Mmk 110.9, uncertain, possibly (binding of the) belly? (Skt. tunda, pot-belly; AMg. tunda, belly); but possibly face, as in (1), or mouth; (4) trunk of an elephant: na hasti-tuṇḍāvalambitam Mvy 8528.

tuṇḍaka (m. or nt.; = Pali id., Skt. tuṇḍa; see under prec.), (1) muzzle, of a dog: mukha-tu° Karmav 28.23; (2) face or mouth, of a man, not contemptuously: (pādayor) nipatito (400.18 patito) mukha-tuṇḍakena ca pādāv anuparimārjya Divy 387.7; 400.18, said of King Aśoka, paying his respects to holy men.

Tuṇḍaturika, n. of a mountain (where Pūrṇa 1 stayed): °kāto parvatāto Mv I.245.11 (prose, no v.l.).

tuṇḍi-cela, nt. (with this mg. of tuṇḍi, excellent, related to tuṇḍa, q.v., cf. Skt. mukha in same mg.; Pkt. tuṇḍa = agra-bhāga, Sheth), a fine garment: Mvy 5884 = Chin. beautiful garment; Tib. bzhag (gzhang) gos, which I cannot interpret thus, but the Chin. is confirmed by the surrounding words (5883 kalpaduṣyam) and by Divy 221.19 (kalpaduṣyavṛkṣaiḥ caturvidhāni) tuṇḍicelāni (this om. in mss.) tais tuṇḍicelais caturvidhāni kalpaduṣyāṇi. tudana- or °nā- (n. act. to tudati plus -ana), piercing: śalyavat tudanātmakaḥ (kāyah) Śiṣ 231.2.

tumbaka (m. or nt.; in Skt. a gourd), acc. to Tib. lamp-oil vessel (among monks' belongings): MSV IV.107.12.

Tumburu (in Skt. n. of a gandharva), n. of a yakṣa, brother of the four Kumārī, q.v., or Bhagīnī: Mmk 523.11 (read Tumburoḥ); 534.1; 575.10; called a sārthavāha and karnadhāra, 537.2; 538.1; et alibi in Mmk.

turiya (nt. or m.; = Pali id., MIndic for Skt. tūrya), musical instrument; common in vss of LV, e.g. 54.6 (v.l. tūry°); 161.17 (v.l. tūry°); 164.20; 169.22; sometimes turiya and tūrya in the same sentence, LV 175.15 and 16 (no v.l.). But in Mv III.122.16 (vs) turiya is Senart's em., mss. tūrya (which is metrically inferior).

tulaka, m., apparently counsellor (of a king), or the like: Divy 212.9 rājño... amātyās cintakās tulakā upaparīkṣakās...; 212.11; cf. tulanā.

Tulakuci, m., n. of an ancestor of Aśoka: °ci, n. sg., and °ceḥ, gen., Divy 369.11 (prose).

tulana, nt., a high number: Mvy 7725; 7851 (cited from Gv); Gv 105.24. In Gv 133.7 ulana, q.v.

tulanā (= Pali id.; in this mg. Skt. only tulana, nt.), weighing (mentally), consideration: Mvy 6472; Bbh 193.26 (foll. in comp. by upaparīkṣaṇā); ŚsP 615.11 (foll. in comp. by vyupaparīkṣaṇatā).

tulākūṭa, (m. or nt.; = Pali id.), cheating in weights: Śiṣ 269.2 na °ṭena; as Bhvr., one who cheats in weights, Bbh 29.1 (kāṃsakūṭa-, q.v.)-tulākūṭādbhiḥ; SP 402.10 (vs) yā gatis tulākūṭānām (ā m.c.)

tulya, adj., used in a peculiar sense in SP, and as I think misunderstood by Burnouf and Kern: equal in the sense of equally available, open to choice (said of different forms of dharma, religion, and specifically thinking of the three yānas): tulye (so with Kashgar rec., text tulya)-nāma dharmadhātupraveśa SP 60.8 (prose), when entrance into the sphere of religion is, after all (nāma), alike (all the same, open to free choice); the sequel complains that the speaker has been given only the hīna yāna by the Buddha; tulyeṣu dharmeṣu SP 61.12; 62.2 (both vss). Chinese versions confirm this interpretation.

Tuṣita (= Pali Tusita; see deva), n. of a class of kārmavacara gods: Mvy 3081; Dharmas 127; sg. Divy 140.14; tuṣitakāyiko devaputro Mv III.345.16; same, sg. or pl., LV 124.12; 183.17; 363.21; tuṣitabhavanakāyiko devaputro Mv I.174.1; tuṣitavarabhavana- LV 4.18-19; 7.21; tuṣitālaya LV 411.20; °te devanikāye Divy 83.2; Bbh 271.2 f.; usually pl. with, or sc., pl. of deva, often in lists of classes of gods, Mv 1.212.15; 229.15; 11.16.4; LV 46.20; 150.3; 219.8; 396.15; 401.10; Divy 68.13; 140.13; 195.22; 367.10; Av 1.5.1 etc.; Suv 86.10; Mmk 19.12; et passim, common everywhere. Their chief is Saṃtuṣṭita, q.v.; in Divy 140.14, by exception (just like Yāma, q.v.), Tuṣṭita (n. of the class in the sg.) is their chief.

tūṇa, and tūṇaka (m. or nt.; cf. tūṇa, and AMg. tūṇaya), a musical instrument, perhaps a kind of drum (= tūṇa?): tūṇa- (Senart em. tūṇava)-paṇava-viṇā- (so read; Senart venu-) Mv 111.113.5; kācit (of the harem-women) tūṇakam Mv 11.159.5; in same scene 111.407.18 kāci tūṇam; in these passages little evidence as to the nature of the instrument; cf. kumbhatūṇa, apparently also a kind of drum.

[tūrṇa, (m. or) nt., a high number: Gv 105.26, read vitūrṇa, q.v., with 133.9.]

Tūryaghoṣa, n. of a former Buddha: Sukh 5.14.

tūla, (1) m. or nt. (cf. Skt. tūlikā, and Lex. tūli, tuli, f., paintbrush), an instrument for writing (Index pencil): (rātrau prāḍipena Buddhavacanam paṭhanti, atra bhūjena prayojanam) tālena masinā kalamayā tūlena (mss. bhū°) Divy 532.11; (2) some musical instrument, prob. = tūra (late and Lex. Skt., Schmidt, Nachträge; also AMg.; cf. Skt. tūrya), which should perhaps be read: vallakī-tūlām Mv 111.82.5 (vs, in list of mus. instruments; prob. acc. pl., rather than acc. sg. f.).

tūla-picu (m.; same cpd. Pali and Skt. Lex.), cotton (in some form; symbol of lightness): AsP 286.5 (sa punar evotkṣipyate vasidati tasya) calācālā buddhir bhavati, tūlapicūpamaś ca sa bhavati; Divy 210.14 and 388.14 mṛduḥ sumṛdus tad yathā tūlapicur vā karpāsapicur (q.v.) vā.

tūli or tūli (cf. Skt. and Pali tūla; Skt. Lex. tūli, tūll, paintbrush), tuft (of grass): trṇasya tūll (acc. sg.; m.c.) LV 75.1 (vs).

tūṣṇī, tūṣṇīm, indeclinable (Skt. tūṣṇīm only, even in comp., except once Lex. tūṣṇī-śīla; but Pali tūṇhi, lacking nasal, as separate word, and in tūṇhi-bhāva, -bhūta), as adv., in silence, silently: °ṇīm ca so āsi SP 191.4 (vs); °ṇī pavane vaseyam LV 393.2 (vs); °ṇī vyavasthi- taḥ Divy 7.17 f.; 8.16 f.; adhivāsyā bhagavāms tūṣṇī ... vyavasthitāḥ Laṅk 6.15 (vs); in Divy and Av often in lieu of tūṣṇīmbabhūva, fell silent, no verb form being expressed; esp. in the formula ... kathayā samdarśya samādāpya samuttejya sampraharśya tūṣṇīm Divy 80.20; 89.11; 91.18; 189.8; 283.13; 310.6; 506.15, et alibi; Av 1.63.9; 290.9; 11.89.11; also, āyusmān Ānandas tūṣṇīm Divy 201.12, 20–21; evam ukte Rāṣṭrapālo gṛhapatiputras tūṣṇīm Av 11.119.13; tūṣṇībhāva (= Pali tūṇhi°), silence, SP 167.9; LV 6.2, 3, 20; 392.19; 394.20 (vs, °ṣṇī° m.c.); 416.13; Mv 111.255.4; 257.2, 3 (in 3 °ṇīm° but v.l. °ṇī°); 271.17; Divy 20.1; tūṣṇībhūto (= Pali tūṇhi°) Mv 111.314.7; °bhutāḥ (m.c.) LV 421.17 (vs).

tūṣṇīka-śobhana, adj., having the glory of a silent ascetic (Skt. tūṣṇīka, silent; AMg. tūṇhikka, one engaging in a vow of silence), epithet of pratyekabuddhas: Mv 1.301.3 (misprinted tūṣṇī), 14 (here v.l. uṣṇīsa-śo°, but context indicates that the silence of the pratyekabuddha is the significant thing); 111.414.3.

tūṣṇī-bhāva, -bhūta, tūṣṇīm, see tūṣṇī.

trṇhaṇa-(tā), (Skt. Gr., n. acc. from the Vedic and Gr. root trh), crushing: vātaṃḍalibhūtam sarvāvaraṇa-nivaraṇa-trṇhaṇa-tayā Gv 495.22–23, it is like a whirlwind, because it crushes all obstructions and hindrances. But Śikṣ 6.6, citing this passage, reads °trṇa-vikīraṇatayā, scattering like grass, for °trṇh°.

trṇa-kuṇṭcaka, nt., a kind of gem: Mvy 5972 = Tib. sbur len (or loñ), acc. to Jā. = amber, but given in Mvy 5970 as translation of puṣparāga, topaz.

trṇa-prastāraka, m., sc. vinaya, or in MSV nt. with karman (= Pali tinavatthāraka, see Childers and PTSD s.v.), (procedure) which covers over (as if) with grass, one of the 7 adhikaraṇa-śamatha: Mvy 8636, = Tib. rtsva bkram pa (strewn grass) lta bur (like) ḥos pa (suitable, fit); MSV 11.207.13.

trṭiya, adj. (= Pali tatiya, Skt. trṭiya), third; rare and only m.c. in BHS: SP 92.7; LV 111.11; by em. (mss. trṭi°), m.c., SP 46.11; Mv 1.174.16; in Gv 256.7 text trṭi°, should be trṭi° m.c. All vss. Cf. s.v. dvitiya.

trṭiyakam, adv. (= Pali tatiyakam, Skt. trṭiyam; see also traitiyakam), for the third time: SP 315.4, 9, 11; Mv 1.347.2 ff.; 11.49.5; 7, 9; 189.8; AsP 182.13. All prose.

trṭdhā (hyper-Skt. for tridhā, which occurs SP 55.10), so all Nep. mss., or trividham, Kashgar rec., in three ways: SP 56.1 (vs).

trṭbhava, hyper-Skt. for tri-bhava, q.v.: Gv 483.16. [trṃmuṇḍikṛtā, read tripuṇḍī°: Mmk 40.9.]

trṭvidha, for Skt. trividha, see trṭdhā.

trṣ- = triṣ-(kṛtvas).

Trṣṇā (= Pali Taṇhā), (1) n. of a daughter of Māra: LV 378.4; cf. Tantri; (2) = Skt., craving; as with Pali taṇhā, three in Buddhism, kāma-, bhava-, vibhava-. (2): AbhidhK. LaV-P. v. 29.

trṣṇī (unrecorded) = trṣṇā, thirst, longing: trṣṇī-latā vichinnā LV 376.14 (vs); so Lefm. with best ms.; vv.ll. trṣṇā and drṣṭi (the latter clearly a rationalizing 'correction' of trṣṇī); trṣṇīyāḥ kāraṇābhiniवेशā ca Laṅk 179.3 (prose; no v.l.; Suzuki Transl. and Index em. trṣṇā). Cf. also Tantri, perhaps pointing to an original Trṣṇī.

Tejagupta, n. of a former Buddha: Mv 1.139.13 (prose).

Tejaguptarājan, n. of a former Buddha: Mv 1.141.16 (prose).

Tejavatīgagrabha, n. of a Buddha: Gv 285.18 (vs). Tejaśīri (m.c. for Tejaśīri), n. of a Buddha: Gv 257.12 (vs).

tejita, ppp. (could formally belong to tejayati, caus. of tij-, but prob. really denom. to tejas, with which it seems to be usually associated), illuminated: śatapuṇyatejas-tejitam LV 101.7–8 (prose); puṇyatejastejitasya LV 9.13 (prose); puṇyatejitaḥ LV 211.5 (vs); puṇyatejena tejito Mv 11.367.11 (vs).

Tejeśvara, n. of a former Buddha: Samādhi p. 57 line 3.

tejo-dhātu, the element (see dhātu 1) fire: as purifier of bodily impurities, Mv 1.357.16 f. and LV 18.22 ff., Pratyekabuddhas in gaining nirvāṇa attain the element fire (tejodhātum samāpadyitvā, LV samāpadya), and by this (svakāye tejodhātūye, Mv) their 'flesh and blood' (Mv) or these and other bodily substances, incl. pitta, śleṣman, asthi, snāyu (LV), are burnt up, whereupon their purified bodies fall to earth; as source of supernatural power in a religious person possessing it, Mv 1.232.(5)–6 (meghasya) mānavakasya tejodhātubhāvena, by reason of the state of fire(-element) possessed by the Brahman youth Megha (no reason to suspect corruption with Senart); Svāgata was declared preëminent among those attaining the fire-element, tejodhātum samāpadyamānānām Divy 186.20–21 (cf. above).

Tejo'dhipati, n. of a prince: Gv 399.18 etc.; 428.5.

Tejorāśi, n. of one of the 8 Uṣṇīsa-rājānaḥ (see uṣṇīsa 3): Mmk 41.11.

Tejovati, (1) n. of a samādhi: Mvy 549; ŚsP 1418.17; (2) n. of a dhāraṇī: Gv 66.16.

tena, there; see yena.

tela, m., a high number: Mvy 7761 = Tib. ñar ñer, which also renders bhelu; cf. next, which occurs, however, in the same context with bhelā.

telā, a high number: Gv 106.9. Cf. prec., and bhelā, which occurs in the same context with this. There are three sets of numbers in -el- preceded by various consonants; in one set the stem-vowel a is added, in another ā, in another u. The t- and bh-forms of Mvy seem duplications of each other, but both appear in one Gv version (106.9 and 11), viz. the one ending in ā.

? teṣā, acc. to Susa semi-Mindic for trṣṇā, thirst: Dbh.g. 28(54).3, 11, teṣu in text, v.l. trṣṇā in 3, teṣa in 11. Cf. AMg. tiṣā, from Skt. trṣā (equivalent to, but not identical with, trṣṇā); teṣa (better than teṣu) might possibly be a curious substitute for that AMg. form, with a for ā and e for i m.c., cf. § 3.60.

tairthika, adj. (from tirtha-, in tirtha-kara, etc.), heretical: *ka-drṣṭi- Kv 29.21.

tairyāgyonika, adj. (Skt. *yona) = tiryag°, q.v.: *ka-yāmalaukikād duḥkhaskandhād Śiṅṣ 29.12; *kaṃ pretalaukikaṃ Bbh 245.2; *kaḥ yāmalaukikaḥ 295.23; *kāni duḥkhāni Gv 376.4.

taila-kuṇḍikā (v.l. tela°), some kind of bird (in a list of birds): Mv ii.475.13 (prose). Seems to mean lit. little oil-jar (from its shape?); no record found elsewhere.

taila-pācikaṃ, adv., in *kaṃ vā kriyamānasya Śiṅṣ 182.1, in a list of tortures, looks etymologically as if it might mean (of one being made to be) boiled in oil, but acc. to note in ed., Chln. making mincemeat of one (perhaps *ka is the name of some dish, of chopped meat fried in oil?). Cf. next.

taila-pradyotikaṃ, adv., *kaṃ vā dīpyamānasya, Śiṅṣ 182.2, in the same list of tortures as prec. (of one being set on fire) with oil lamps (?like an oil lamp?).

toṭaka, m. or nt., n. of a meter: *ka-vṛttena Laṅk 4.5, referring to the preceding three vss, the pāda scheme of which seems to be — — — — — x, which is inconsistent with Piṅgala's scheme of the toṭaka, ISt. 8.378 f., — — — — —.

Tonehāra, or *hāraka, see s.v. Ujjhebhaka.

Todeya, v.l. for Tau°, q.v.

Tomara (mss. sometimes Tomala), n. of a Licchavi leader: Mv i.254.13 ff.; 288.6. Probably a family or gotra name, since the person uses the pl. Tomaraṇām (of whom he is one) in 256.3.

tomara-graha, m., the art of wielding a lance: *haḥ Mvy 498.4; *he, in lists of martial arts: Divy 58.25; 100.11.

Toyikā (from Skt. toya?), n. of a town: Divy 76.11f.; 465.11f. = MSV i.73.17f.; *kā-mahaḥ, established by King Prasenajit, MSV ii.143.16 ff.

Toragriva, n. of a cakravartin: Mv i.154.1.

torāṇā, f. (= Skt. torāṇa), portal, arched gateway: *nāye (gen.) karkaṭakasmim Mv iii.178.16 (see karkaṭaka).

toṣaṇā (only nt. Skt. *ṇa, Pali toṣaṇa), gratification: āvarjana-toṣaṇā-vismāpanā Bbh 140.27.

toṣaṇīya, adj., satisfying, pleasing: LV 411.8 (śabdāḥ, words, sounds); adv. *yam, (mahāprthivī...) *yam ca kampayati Mv iii.341.7. Both prose.

Tosala, nt., n. of a city in the country of Amita-tosala, q.v.: Gv 179.3. Cf. Tosala as n. of a people, Kirfel 76, and AVParś. 56.1.4.

Taudeya (v.l. To°) = Pali Todeyya, n. of the father of Śuka (Pali Subha): Karmav 21.15 etc.; see Lévi's note ad loc. and DPPN s.v. Subha.

Tyāgagatā, n. of a nāga maid: Kv 4.6.

Tyāgavant, n. of a cakravartin: Mv i.154.2.

Trapu-karṇin, nickname of a brother of Pūrṇa, lit. tin-ear (because he wore a tin ear-ornament): Divy 26.29; 45.17 etc. Similarly Dāru-k°, Stava-k°.

Trapuṣa (var. *sa; = Pali Tapussa, Tapassu), and Bhālīka, q.v., names of two merchants (in Pali brothers) who visited Buddha soon after his enlightenment: LV 381.4 ff.; Mv iii.303.4 ff. (here regularly written °sa, but °sa 304.2); Divy 393.19.

tramidā (v.l. °rā), sc. lipi, Dravidian writing: Mv i.135.7. In LV parallel drāviḍa-lipi, q.v., v.l. drāmida (dental d).

traya-tiṃśad (-bhavanam), in LV 61.16 (prose), = next; only v.l. cited is trāya°; it seems questionable whether the MIndicism ti- for tri- was orig. found here in prose, perhaps read °triṃs° with Calc.

trayastrimśa (cf. prec.) = trāy°, q.v., in lists of Buddhist classes of gods: Mv iii.223.9 (prose, no v.l.); Divy 68.12 (prose); 138.19; 367.10; 568.24; Av 1.5.1 (prose); Suv 86.9 (prose).

trasa-cchidra (m. or nt.), drain: MSV iv.234.8 (Tib. stor khuñ = udaka-bhrama). Is trasa corrupt?

trāyaṇa (nt.; to trāyati plus suffix -ana; also tāyaṇa, °na, q.v.), (act of) saving: sambhūta sarva-jaga-trāyaṇa-saṃgrahāya Gv 212.24 (vs).

trāya-trimśa (alone, or with -kāyika; semi-MIndic, cf. Pali tāvatiṃsa), = more usual trāyas-tri°, q.v., a class of gods; this form seems to occur only in LV (cf. also traya-tiṃśad), but is fairly common there in ed. and mss. (with vv.ll. trāyas-t°: LV 150.2; 225.17; 366.9; 396.14; 401.9; °sa-kāyika, 365.8 (v.l. traya); of these, stem-final t only in 225.17, where most mss. trāyas°).

trāyastrimśa (cf. Pali tāvatiṃsa, prec., and trayas-tri°), adj. with deva (q.v.) or subst., n. of a class of Buddhist gods: Mv i.31.16 ff.; 40.15; 212.15 = ii.16.4; i.229.15; 262.1; 333.5; ii.163.11; 314.5; °sa- (v.l. °se) bhavane Mv iii.302.8; °se devanikāye iii.302.15; °śaḥ Mvy 307.9; Dharma 127. In other texts than LV, Mv, the form trayas° seems more usual, while in LV trāya-t° seems regular.

trāyastrimśaka, adj., belonging to the class of the trāyastrimśa, q.v.: nāmatidevo (q.v.) nāma °śako bodhisattvo bhūto Mv i.98.1 (prose).

[trāyin, reported once at end of cpd. in Skt., pw 3.263, protector; given as var. for tāyin, q.v., in Mvy 15, but Mironov tāyi without v.l.]

Trikaṇṭhaka, Māy 273.3, or °kin, Mahāsamāj. Waldschmidt, Kl. Skt. Texte 4,175.3, n. of a yakṣa or gandharva.

Trikātyāyanī, n. of the gotra of the nakṣatra Śra-vaṇa: Divy 640.26.

tri-koṭi (f.), the three 'alternatives' (as in Skt., BR s.v. koṭi, 3) or classes (so Tib., nram, Śiṅṣ 135 n. 2) or ways in which animals may have been killed, so that their flesh may be lawfully eaten (acc. to some): Laṅk 257.12-13 (cited Śiṅṣ 132.14-15) trikoṭi-suddha- (v.l. °dham; Śiṅṣ kṣuddham) māṃsaṃ val akalpitam (not intended) ayācitam (not asked for), acoditam (not instigated) ca naivāsti tasmān māṃsaṃ na bhakṣayet; acc. to gloss cited Śiṅṣ 135 note 2, the three (supposedly) unlawful kinds of killing are tad uddiṣya hatam (killed specifically for this meal), svahatam, and hānyamānaṃ drṣṭam (seen by the prospective eater as it was being killed); Śiṅṣ 135.2 trikoṭi-parisuddha-bhakṣaṇe; in the eating of what is pure in respect to the three points; Laṅk 255.2 (cited Śiṅṣ 135.6) trikoṭim baddhvā, restraining, suppressing (ruling out) the three points.

tri-kṣutto, -khattum, -khuttam, etc., = Skt. -kṛtvās; see the second elements, listed s.v. -kṛtvā. Cf. also triṣ-kṛtvās.

Triguṇa, n. of a yakṣa: Māy 34.

tri-civara, nt. (= Pali ti°), the three garments of a Buddhist monk: *raṃ Mv i.168.17 (vs); see s.v. saṃghāṭi.

Trijaṭā, n. of a nāga maid: Kv 3.23.

[trita- in LV 96.4 (prose), is an impossible em. by Lefm. The mss. vary greatly and the true reading is uncertain; probably tri-viṣyandāmbukūpāḥ.]

tri-daṇḍaka, nt., ? MSV ii.120.6 and (°ke bhāṣya-māṇe) 7 (after the death of a monk); the latter seems to suggest the figurative use of tridaṇḍa in Manu 12.11, meaning triple self-control, in word, thought, and act; MSV iv.80.5.

Trinayana, m., n. of a region (janapada; in the south): Gv 126.26.

tri-nidāna (this category not found recorded elsewhere), the three motives (see nidāna 2) of worldly creatures, viz. rāga, dveṣa, moha: rāgaḍveṣamohatṛiṇḍānānugatā (so, with n, text!) vāteme sattvā(h) Dbh 28.4; trinidāna-sattva Dbh.g. 7(343).17.

tri-parivarta, see parivarta 1.

tri-piṭṭa, (1) m., °lā, f. (in Pali tipiṭṭaka, °kin, tepiṭṭaka), (a monk or nun) who knows the three piṭṭakas: m. Divy 261.10, 22; 329.2, 6; 505.2; Av 1.334.19 f.; f. Divy 4.938; (2) given as name to a son of King Prasenajit who was thus gifted miraculously at birth: Av 11.78.1; 79.4 ff.

tri-piṭṭaka, (1) nt. (= Pali id.), the 'three baskets', the Buddhist canon: Mvy 1411; (2) m., = tripiṭṭa (1): Divy 54.15.

-tri-puṇḍarī-kṛta, Mmk 44.13, or -tri-puṇḍī-kṛta, 40.9, ppp. (to Skt. tri-puṇḍra, JM. tipuṇḍa, with karoti; both semi-Mindic forms), having the triple puṇḍra-mark (made with ashes; both cpd. with bhasma-); text in 40.9 printed tr-muṇḍī°.

Tripura, n. of a locality: Māy 88 (app. not the same as Skt. Tripurī which occurs Māy 50).

tri-puṣkara, m. or nt., app. a kind of drum ('having a triple drum-skin'): paṭaḥa-°ra-nināda-samgītiṃ Mv 11.201.20 (vs); (-ghoṣā) tri°ra-sphoṭika-sāryamāṇāḥ (?mss. °āryamāṇāḥ, āryamāṇā) Mv 11.58.4 (vs), (if the em. is right, perh. sounds being emitted with rattle (?sphoṭika) of drums; or is sphoṭika (unrecorded) another musical instrument?

tri-pradakṣiṇīkṛtya, ger. (tri- plus Skt. prad°; oftener triḥ prad°, which is normal Skt.), having passed around thrice keeping on the right: Mvy 6275 (v.l. triḥ, so Mironov without v.l.); Av 1.321.3 (mss., ed. em. triḥ); LV 68.1 and 69.14 (all mss.); also °ṇi-kṛtvā LV 253.21 (prose).

? triphalā (m. or nt.), in °la-vāhakā dārakāḥ LV 132.18 (prose), form uncertain (vv.ll. triphara, trisphara, tisthara; Calc. tila; acc. to Tib. khrīhu, a small stool or chair; seat; Foucaux's Note 126 suggests reading tri(s)pacā (Skt. tripadikā is recorded as tripod in a lexical citation, BR, and tripāda allegedly in Kauś. but not in 26.41 as BR state).

Tripthalin, n. of a yakṣa or gandharva: Māy 237.3; Mahāsamāj. Waldschmidt, Kl. Skt. Texte 4,175.3.

tri-bhava (= Pali tibhava, nt., see Childers), the triple states of existence (kāma, rūpa, and arūpa): yadi sarvabhayaṃ tribhava na bhavet Mv 11.149.17 (vs); sarvasattvān... tribhava vilagnān SP 128.1 (vs); tribhavesvārah (= the Buddha) Lañk 6.9 (vs); (see s.v. vartmīya) Mmk 26.22. See also trībhava.

Trimāṇḍala, n. of a former Buddha: Mv 1.138.14.

tri-maṇḍala (nt.; not noted in Pali in these-senses), lit. the three circles or spheres: (1) of giving, viz. the giver, recipient, and act of giving; all must be 'pure', i. e. unselfish: (dānasya) dāyakasya pratigrāhakasya tri-maṇḍalapariśuddhyā dānapāramitā paripūritā bhavati ŚSP 92.15; °la-pariśuddham Mvy 2537 = Tib. ḥkhor gsum (see Das s.v.) yōṇs su dag pa; tri-maṇḍala-pariśodhana-dāna-parityāgi LV 181.8 (said of Buddha); dadato dattvā ca tri-maṇḍala-pariśodhitam dānapāramodyam Śiḥ 183.11; (2) tri-maṇḍalam kṛtvā pūrvam śāstuh prapānam kārayitvā... śārapagamana-śiḥśāpadāni dadāti Bhik 9a.4, here prob. threefold sacred plot of ground (for the rite), see maṇḍala (1), maṇḍalaka (3). In Lañk 35.5 tri-maṇḍala-padam a-tri-maṇḍalapadam, formulaic, no context; precise mg. obscure.

tri-yadhva-, only in vss for tryadhva(n), of present, past, and future (cf. adhvan): °dhva-cittam jānitum Mv 11.368.8 (vs), to know all thoughts, present, past, and future; °dhva-jinānām Gv 230.15 (Buddhas); dharmasārīru mamādhivisuddham (read mamāti° with 2d ed.) sarva-triyadhva-samanta-sthitābham Gv 231.9 (vs); others, LV 151.12; Bhad 1, 29, 31, 41, 56, etc. In triyadhuvā Dbh.g. 51(77).8 the epenthetic u (§ 3.114) actually spoils the meter! See next two.

Triyadhvapratibhāsaprabha, n. of a Buddha: Gv 285.12 (vs).

Triyadhvaprabhaghoṣa, n. of a Buddha: Gv 256.11 (vs).

tri-y-antara, f. °rā, one among three (? so Senart doubtfully): tasya dāni śreṣṭhisya triyantarā (with two others?) dārikā jātā Mv 11.389.17 (prose).

tri-yāna, nt., the triple vehicle: °nam ekayānam ca Lañk 155.14 (see yāna).

tri-ratna, nt. (= ratna-traya, q.v., and see ratna 1), the 'three jewels': °nāt AsP 179.20 et alibi.

tri-śakunīya, nt., adj.-subst., (jātaka) relating to three birds: °yam nāma jātakam Mv 1.282.13 (colophon to the story).

Trisāṅku, (1) m., n. of a mountain: Divy 106.17, 18, 20, 24; MSV 1.30.12; °kuka, id., MSV 1.40.8; (2) f., n. of a river associated with 1: Divy 103.1; 106.20, and °kukā 24; (3) m. pl., n. of thorns (kaṇṭakās) growing on 1: Divy 106.18, 20; (4) m., n. of a mātaṅga chief: Divy 619.19 ff.; MSV 1.109.13 ff. (different story).

Trisāṅkuka, °kā, see Trisāṅku 1, 2.

Trisāṅkūprajñāpāramitā, n. of a work: Mvy 1374.

Trisīrṣa, n. of a nāga king: Megh 308.7; = next.

Trisīrṣaka, = prec.: Megh 302.11.

tri-śukla-(bhōjin), (eating) the three pure substances? or what is triply pure?... jāpet trisuklabhoji, kṣirāhāro vā Mmk 106.4. I have found no clue to the seemingly technical mg. There seems to be no reason to connect the word with Skt. trīśukra (pw).

Trisūla, n. of a rākṣasa king: Mmk 18.2.

Trisūlapāṇi, n. of a yakṣa: Māy 88. Cf. Trisūlin.

Trisūlapāṇi, n. of a rākṣasi: Māy 243.32.

Trisūlin, n. of a yakṣa (or gandharva?): Māy 237.4.

Cf. prec. but one.

tri-karma, (nt.) triple activity, i. e., presumably, acts of body, speech, and mind: °ma-pariśuddha- (... valśā-radyam, sc. of Bodhisattvas) Mvy 783.

trīkāla, (1) m. (= Skt. trikāla, BHS tryadhvan), the three times, past, present, future: °laḥ Mvy 8322 (= tryadhvan 8321); (2) adj.? or subst. m.? (Skt. trikāla), (at) the three times of day, morning, noon, and night; °lam, and m.c. °la, adv., at (these) three times: divase-divase °lam darśanāya Divy 274.4 (prose); °la vṛkṣehi pravarṣayantu Suv 41.6 (vs; cited with var. Śiḥ 218.15), let them cause (flowers etc., objects listed in prec. lines) to rain from trees (so Tib.; see Nobel's note) thrice daily.

triṣ-kṛtvas (Skt. tri-k°, once, pw; triṣk°, also Vedic, blend of this with tris, thrice; in Class. Skt. -kṛtvas is ordinarily not used with dvi-, tri-), thrice: Lañk 3.4; Śiḥ 98.11 (prose); triṣkṛta, m.c., Śiḥ 99.4 (vs). For triṣ-before other representatives of Skt. -kṛtvas, see s.v. -kṛtvā.

Trisamayārāja, m. or nt., n. of a work: Śiḥ 138.15; 172.13; 290.13.

tri-sahasra, f. °rā or (once, cf. trisahasrī) °rī, adj., consisting of 3,000 (worlds), sc. a world-system of that extent; the word lokadhātu seems to be always lacking; only in vss, and °sah° seems to be m.c. for the regular °sāh° (despite Pali sahassi; °sāh° seems unknown in Pali): ceti bhu (= abhūt; so divide) trisahasrah LV 368.18 (vs, see s.v. ceti); °srāyāp Suv 63.5 (vs); trisahasrī (acc. sg. for °rīm; the only i-stem form) Dbh.g. 40(66).4, and °ra (acc. sg., for °rām or °ram) 10. See also s.v. trīśahasra (°rā).

tri-sāhasra-mahāsāhasra, adj. m. or (°rā) f., or in comp., with lokadhātu (which in BHS is both m. and f., in Pali app. only f.; cf. Pali sahasi, see BHS tri-sāhasrī, also ti-, mahā-, which acc. to Childers are synonyms in Pali; no numeral mahāsahasra seems recorded in BHS and it is not clear what precise fig., if any, attaches to mahāsāhasra; in Mvy 7999 ff. and Mmk 343.16 ff. mahā-cpd. with other numbers means ten times the number), (world system) consisting of a 'triple thousand great thousand' (worlds): °ra-lokadhātu, cpd., LV 319.3; 377.4; Suv 8.6, 9; 86.4; masc. forms, °ro, °ram (acc.), etc., Mvy 226; 3044; LV 276.19; 393.18; 405.2; 410.12, 22; Mv 140.6; 11.300.16 (mss.); 301.2, 8 (mss.); 349.3 (mss.; prec. by fem. adj.); Divy 68.23; 139.3; 158.6; 266.14; 367.21; Av 1.5.10; 11.8 etc.; Samādh 8.9; 19.6; RP 2.11; fem. forms, Mv 1.214.12 = 11.17.11 °rāyām °dhātūyām (loc.); 11.281.16; 301.12; 314.10; Suv 87.6 °rāyām °dhātāu; Śikṣ 138.10 id.; see also trisahasra, and items here adjoining.

trisāhasramahāsāhasrika, adj., with mahābrahmā, (ruler) of a lokadhātu consisting of 3 thousand great thousand (worlds): °ko mahābrahmā Imam trisāhasrainahāsāhasram lokadhātūm ... samam adhyatīṣṭhat LV 276.19.

tri-sāhasrā (sc. lokadhātu), = °srī: °srām bahurat-nadharām ... Mv 1.80.9 (prose); imām °rām 1.236.15 (vs); °srāya yāvāt (see this) 11.302.20. No noun expressed.

tri-sāhasrika, f. °kā, adj. with lokadhātu (cf. adjoining items), consisting of three thousand (worlds): sarva-°ka-lokadhātāu Suv 149.13 (vs); °kāyām mahāsāhasrikāyām lokadhātāu Suv 100.9 (vs; analysis of trisāhasra-mahāsāhasra).

tri-sāhasrī, f. (sc. lokadhātu; cf. °srā), the three-thousandfold (world-system): yaś ca imām trisāhasrīm (so most mss., two °rām) ... kampayet SP 253.7. Only here and in Dbh.g. 40(66).4 trisahasri have I noted the fem. (tri-, or mahā-)sāhasrī(-sah°), corresp. to Pali sahasī, which app. is the regular Pali form, see Childers s.v. Otherwise the BHS fem. stem is °srā, see preceding items.

Triskandha-, perhaps = next, but prob. rather in the sense of skandha (3), q.v., in °dha-patha-deśika (Mironov °daisika), a title of Buddha: Mvy 74.

Triskandhaka, nt. (cf. prec.), n. of a work: °kam Mvy 1384; °ka-dharmaparyāya-pravartanena Śikṣ 171.5; °ka-pravartanam 290.1.

trihāsasrā (only f.) = trisahasrā, see °ra; like the latter only in vss, and °sah° presumably m.c. for °sāh°; printed in LV 368.7 (°rā), 11 (°rā) and 21 (°rām, here with medini = °nīm); all mss. in 7 and 21, and all but one (A, the best) in 11, read tri-sah°, unmetr., Lefm. em. m.c.; tri° would be equally satisfactory but A trih° in 11; trihs- can be interpreted as doubling of the sibilant m.c., but doubtless influence of tris, thrice, is involved. No noun accompanies the (substantivized) adj. in 7, 11.

trihika, adj. (§ 3.115; cf. Pali dvīha-tīham, adv., and trēhika), (sufficient) for three days (to Skt. tri plus aha-n), with śālī, rice (as food): °kam Mv 1.343.11, 12, 14, so Senart (em. °ko in 14); mss. mostly trēhika, once tri° once tri°.

(truṭi (f.), Skt., so read with v.l. for Lefm. truti, a small particle: LV 149.4; as a unit of measure, here = 7 aṇu, one-seventh of a vātāyana-rajās, q.v., which in LV is one-seventh of a śaśarajās; Tib. rdul chuñ ṇu = small speck. Not in corresp. Mvy list, 8190 ff.; possibly cf. Tib. chu rdul = ab-rajās 8193, water-speck, between loharaśās and śaśarajās, not in LV; can a corruption have occurred based on Tib. chuñ, small, and chu, water?)

tre- for trai- in vṛddhi formations, see the following items.

treḍaṇḍika, m. (Pali te°, late Skt. trai°, Schmidt, Nachträge; Skt. tridaṇḍin), triple-staff-carrier, a sort of brahmanical (Schmidt, Śaiva) ascetic: °ka-m-ānandikaguruputraka-, etc., Mv 111.412.7 (prose); mss. tre° or te°, Senart em. trai°.

tremāsika, adj. (= Skt. trai°; cf. traimāsa and dvemāsika), (suitable) for three months: °kaṃ (v.l. trai°) vā bhaktam Mv 11.462.6.

trembuka = tryambuka, q.v.: Māy 252.2 (prose), in long cpd., before trailāṭaka.

trevimśat (= Pali tevisa, for Skt. trayovimśat), twenty-three: °śad-varṣa-sahasrāni Mv 111.234.3 (vs; v.l. trayastrimśad°, unmetr.).

trehika, adj. (= AMg. tehia), so mss. mostly for trīhika (Senart), q.v.

traikuntaka, nt., Mvy 6045 = Tib. rgyan rtse-gsum pa, a three-pronged ornament.

traicivarika, adj. or subst. m. (= Pali teci°), one who wears the three (monk's) robes, one of the 12 dhūta-guṇa: Mvy 1129; Dharmas 63; RP 57.10; AsP 387.6; MSV 111.122.5.

traitiyaka, (1) adj. m., recurring every third day (of fever): Mvy 9533; SP 401.7 (prose); Bhik 17a.2; Māy 220.20 (2) °kam, adv., for the third time: SP 37.6; 38.8 (Kashgar rec. trir), 9; 484.8; 486.4 (all prose); also v.l. in some mss. for trītyakam SP 315.9, 11.

tridhātuka, nt. (= Pali tedh°), the triple universe (of kāma-, rūpa-, and arūpa- existence): asmād ... °kān nīrdhāvitā nirvāṇasaṃjñāno ... SP 101.3; eṣo hi trīhi kramehi °kam laṅghya (mss., Senart em. °yā m.c.) anavaśeṣam Mv 11.40.21 (vs); °ka-asaktaḥ Mvy 865; °ka-vīta-rāgaḥ Divy 40.13; 282.1; 488.6; Av 1.207.11 etc.; °kam anityatāgninā pradiptam paśyanti Divy 422.16; punar eva °ke virohati KP 39.3; cittamātram idam yad idam °kam Dbh 49.9; others, Mv 11.148.1; Samādh 8.4; Dbh 29.8; Bbh 246.25; Gv 288.16, etc.

traimāsa, m., nt., and °sī (sc. varṣa, which is normally pl. in Skt. but sometimes sg., so also in BHS, notably Divy, 401.7, 509.19), f. (= Pali temāsa, which seems, in all passages cited in Childers and PTSD, to mean specifically the rainy season, tho not so defined in Dictt.), the rainy season (of three months); generally either °sa-in comp., or °sam, acc. sg. adv., for the period of the rains; but also °sam, n. sg., and °sān, acc. pl.; in comp., adhiśāsehi me bhagavan °sa-bhaktena sārddham bhikṣusamghena Mv 11.272.2, similarly 6; adv. °sam Mv 11.272.13 °sam bhaktam; (ekapiṇḍapātreṇāham ...) °sam niśīdīṣyam 11.225.11; °sīm, sa °sīm śrāmaṇero dhāritāḥ Divy 18.8; adhiśāsayatu me bhagavān °sīm ... sārddham samghena 89.13; °sīm sarvopakaraṇaḥ pravārito 283.5, ... pravārayeyam 6; noun forms, yāvāt °sam (so read with v.l. for Senart °sikam) samāptam Mv 11.273.7, until the rains were ended; śaṣṭhiṃ traimāsān (for 60 rainy seasons) sārddham bhikṣusamghena sarvopakaraṇair upasthitaḥ Divy 242.8.

traiyadhvika, adj. (tri(l)yadhva(n) plus -ika), of the present, past, and future: namas °kānām tathāgatānām Sādh 2.12 etc.; Śikṣ 139.4 and 140.13 (text erroneous, see note p. 405); °ka pratima buddhakulābhijātā Gv 372.16 (vs; refers to Buddhas; read °kāpratimabu°, i.e. °ka-apratima-bu°).

trailāṭaka, m.(?) = next: Māy 252.2, in long cpd., following trembuka.

trailāṭa (so text, also Mironov with v.l. °ṭaka; Kyōtō ed. Index with BR °ṭa; cf. prec.), a kind of fly: Mvy 4861; °ṭāḥ, pl., MSV 1v.74.22.

Trailokyavajra, n. of an author: Sādh 524.16.

Trailokyavaśaṃkara (-lokeśvara), n. of a deity: Sādh 79.13 etc.

Trailokyavikrāmin, n. of a Bodhisattva: SP 37.

Trailokyavijaya, n. of a deity: Sādh 511.6.

traividya, adj., and °ya-tā, noun (= Pali tevijja, °ja-tā), (state of) possessing the three knowledges. In Pall (see Childers s.v. vijjā and Lévi, Sutrāl. vii.9, note), these are either (1) knowledge that all is anicca, dukkha, anatta, or (2) knowledge of former births (pubbenivāsa), of the (future) rebirths of beings (cutūpapāta), and of the destruction of the depravities (āśava-khaya); of these the first and the third are two of the abhiññā (Pali abhiññā), q.v., and the second results from another abhiññā, viz. divyacakṣus (see s.v. upapāda), so that these three abhiññā are identified in BHS as the three vidyā, AbhidhK. LaV-P. vii.108. So far as I have found, this second of the two Pall sets is the only one recognized in BHS, where the category is in any case of very restricted occurrence; I have failed to record it except in SP and LV. In SP only the adj. occurs, always associated with ṣaḍabhiññā, having the six abhiññā, as in: te traividyaḥ ṣaḍabhiññā(h) ... SP 179.17 (prose), and in verses (always separate ṣaḍabhiññā from traividya text makes them cpd.) 90.7; 129.10; 150.2; 155.2; no such association in LV, where context never helps in interpretation; adj., traividya (voc.) LV 363.16 (vs); noun, traividyatādhigatā 350.14 (so read with best mss. for text traividyaḥ); °dyatā daśabalena ... prāptā 352.17; °tām anuprāptam 353.13 (prose); the last suggests that in 426.13 (prose) it is necessary to em. to traividyatā-nuprāpta (text °dyānu°, no v.l.) ity ucyate (said of Buddha).

traivaidika, adj. (Skt. only °vedika), of the 3 Vedas: °ke pravacane Divy 620.27.

tryadhva(n), also (in vss, m.c.), triyadhva(n), in comp., of the three times (adhvan), i. e. present, past, and future; see next two; nt., the three times: Mvy 8321.

Tryadhvalakṣaṇapratibhāsateja (n. sg. °jo), n. of a Buddha: Gv 312.5 (prose).

Tryadhvāvabhāsabuddhi, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 4.14 (prose).

tryambuka, m. (= trembuka, prob. the true original form), a kind of fly: Mvy 4862 = Tib. sbrañ (misprinted sbruñ) bu (fly) tryam bu ka; prob. by popular etym., as if tri-ambu(ka); MSV iv.74.22.

tvam-sādrśaka, adj. (see § 20.2 and tvam-Idrśa), like thee; °kehi pañḍitaḥ SP 31.11 (vs).

tvagbhāra (m.), part of a tree, some part of the bark or a kind of bark: °ra-taś ca Divy 628.1, see s.v. phalgu 1. One is tempted to em. to tvaksāra- (Pali tacasāra); the fact that sārataḥ follows is no objection, since it means as to the pith; but unless the mss. actually read tvak-, the misreading implied is not easy to assume.

tvam-Idrśa, adj., = tvam-sādrśaka, q.v.: pūrṇam sarvajagat tvamidrśair yad iha syāt LV 325.13 (vs).

Dakṣiṇā-sūtra, n. of a sūtra presumed by Lévi to = prec.: Karmav 163.1.

? dakṣiṇāhi, adv. (Skt. Gr. only), on the right: so acc. to Lefm., in LV 354.15 (vs) eṣa (all mss.; Lefm. eṣu) vara-dakṣiṇīyo utpātu dakṣiṇāhi, he (Buddha) is the best recipient of homage, a portent appearing on the right; but I am very doubtful of this. Text is metrically and otherwise dubious (also in next line). Tib. omitted by Foucaux.

dakṣiṇīya, adj. (also 'neya, q.v.; = Pall dakkhiṇeyya), worthy of veneration, to be revered; orig. no doubt worthy of receiving a sacrificial or reverential (guru's) gift, a mg. which seems still alive in LV 358.21 (vs) 'yās ca te loke āhutinām pratigrahāḥ, na teṣu dakṣiṇā (noun, present) nyūnā...; but ordinarily simply venerable; very common in prose and vss: LV 57.21; 84.20; 89.19, 20; 97.20; 223.9; 407.6; 429.5; Mv 1.78.12; 89.15; 291.18; 301.16; ii.195.1; 214.4; 368.5; iii.155.6; 414.4; Mvy 6829; 9218 (here erroneously dakṣaṇ° in text) = Tib. sbyin gnas, worthy of gifts; Divy 82.15; 229.10; Av 1.173.9; Suv 139.7; Bbh 5.1; often emphasized by prefixing such words as mahā- LV 425.6; Mv ii.300.4 (vs, mahā- m.c.); Divy 192.10; vara- LV 354.15; Mv ii.336.13; eka- Divy 132.22; 538.18; sad-bhūta- Divy 133.12; 192.13; parama- Divy 404.12; atulya- Sukh 22.6; 'ya-tā, abstr., Jm 71.14.

-dadana, adj. (not recorded elsewhere; = -dada), giving, at end of cpd.: sarvajagasya saukhyadadanah LV 221.22 (vs); presumably m.c. for saukhyam°, see s.v. -dada).

dadantaka, f. 'ikā (pres. pple. dadant-a plus -ka), giving: (apsarā... bodhisattvaguṇa bhāsamānikāḥ) kaṇṭhakasya balu te dadantikāḥ LV 236.22 (vs).

dadrula, dardura (dardara), dardula, dradula, adj. (all these spellings recorded in the mss.; cf. Skt. dadrūṇa, adj., Schmidt, Nachträge; from the noun Skt. dadru, Pall and AMg. daddu, a skin disease variously alleged to be leprosy or ringworm), afflicted with a skin-disease, leprosy or ringworm (?), in a list of adj. describing physical deformities, see quotations s.v. khoḍa, lame. Senart's readings vary and are not always related to the wildly varying readings of the mss., which I quote: Mv ii.150.9 darduro, dardaro; 152.3 dradulo (only one ms.); 153.19 dadrulam, dradulam; 156.12 dadrulam, (da)rdulam.

dadhi-pradyotika, adv. 'kaṁ (vā dīpyamānasya), Śīks 182.3, in a list of tortures, after taila-pradyotikam, q.v., and sarpil-pa°; Bendall and Rouse render this (burnt with blazing...) ghee, on what ground I do not know; dadhi seems always to mean sour milk or curds in Skt., Pall, and (dahi) Pkt. literature. Some inflammable material must be meant; acc. to Skt. Lexicons, dadhi also may mean turpentine or resin (BR), here perhaps the latter.

Dadhimālin (= Pall °li), n. of a mythical sea: Jm 91.4.

Dadhimukha (= Pall id.), text actually Dadhī°, n. of a yakṣa: Hoernle MR 26.13 (Āṭānāṭiya Sūtra, in Hoernle's terminology; see Āṭānāṭika).

[dadhylka, supposedly dealer in sour milk, Senart with mss: Mv III.113.8; but read dhānyika, q.v.]

danta-kāra (= Skt., Pall, AMg. °kāra), worker in ivory: Mv III.113.7 (prose), in list of artisans and tradesmen.

Dantapura, nt. (= Pall id.), n. of the capital of Kālīṅga (only in Buddh. works): Kālīṅgeṣu °nāma nagaram Mv III.361.12; 364.3; in Mv III.208.16 (vs) read Dantapuram for atah puram, mss. antahpuram, and transfer to line 17 before Kālīṅgānām; see the same vs in Pall DN II.235.19.

Dantaśayana, n. of a former Buddha: Mv I.140.8.

Dantā, n. of a rākṣasi: Māy 243.34.

-dantīnikā, f. (= Skt. dantīnī, plus -ka, endearing dim., see § 22.34), having... teeth: -śukla-su-dantīnikā(h) LV 322.15 (vs), of the daughters of Māra.

Danturā, n. of a rākṣasi: Māy 243.20.

damatha, m. (= Pall, Skt. Lex., id.), restraint, control: duṣṭanāgā °tham āgacchanti Divy 185.24; esp. self-control, ātma-damatha Mv I.127.17; III.52.18; tri- (Divy 95.14 trividha-) damatha-vastu-kuśala Divy 95.14; 124.13; 264.28; Av I.16.11 (presumably control of body, speech, and mind); damathah (context not clear) Mvy 6727.

damadamā-(śabda-; see Hemacandra, Gr. 3.138, with note in Pischel's Transl.), onomat., perh. as noun, a kind of drum: (anta)bhrāmac-cakra-maṇḍalāloka-pramukta-damadama-śabda (I read °da-? °dād?) gambhīra-bhairavam āyasaṃ nagaram Divy 603.18.

? dayati, pres. to root dā-, q.v. in Chap. 43.

Darada-lipi, or (in Mv) without lipi, a kind of script: LV 126.1; Mv I.135.6 (here mss. -varada-, em. Senart). In Mv I.171.14 (vs), in a list of dasyu peoples, mss. -dareṣu, Senart em. -daradeṣu in accord with meter. That the (Skt.) Darada people is meant in LV is indicated by Tib. bru śa.

daridraka, adj. (= Skt. °dra), poor: °kā preṣaṇa-kārakāś ca SP 95.9 (vs). (-ka svārthe? m.c.? or °dim.?)

dardara, variant for dadrula, q.v.

? dardaraka, m. or nt. (cf. Skt. Lex. dardara, said to be a kind of drum; Skt. dardura, said to be a flute; AMg. daddara, some musical instrument; and BHS jala-dardaraka), some musical instrument: in Mv II.159.7 Senart em. jharjharakam, but mss. dardarakam, dardulakam.

dardura, variant for dadrula, q.v.

? dardurā (most mss. dardarā, sc. lipi, a kind of script: Mv I.135.7. Senart's note mentions this as one of the forms in the list which 'ne laissent guère d'incertitude'; to me it is by no means clear. Did Senart mean to associate it with the Skt. name of the mountain range, often associated with Malaya? As a mountain name, Dardara (rare and doubtful in Skt., but in Pall Daddara) would merit consideration, as supported by most mss. But one would not expect a mountain-name here.

dardula, variant for dadrula, q.v.

dardulaka, variant for dardaraka, q.v.

Darbhakātyāyana, pl. n. of a brahmanical gotra: Divy 635.15. So read for Durbha° of text; one ms. Darbhakāyana.

darvikā (= Skt. Lex. id.; Skt. darvi), spoon, ladle: Mvy 9047; āyasa-d° Mvy 9347.

darśana, nt., once m. (Skt. nt., not in these senses; cf. °nā), (1) nt., = dr̥ṣṭi, false, heretical view: tasyedam darśanam abhūt, śubhāśubhānām karmāṇām phalam nāstīti nīścayaḥ Mv I.178.11 (vs); (2) once m. (= Pall dassana, nt., in śippa-d°), exhibition (of skill in arts or exercises): kumāro... darśanam dāsyati Mv II.73.18; 74.4, 7; kumāreṇa... darśano dinnaḥ 75.18; darśana-śatāni vartantī III.57.9, hundreds of exhibitions (as entertainments at a festival).

Darśanakṣema (v.l. °kṣema, so read?), n. of a former Buddha: Mv I.139.12.

-darśana-tā, state of seeing: LV 32.17 (prose); in amogha-d°, perhaps to be analyzed as amogha-darśana plus -tā, state of having unflinching vision.

darśana-bhūmi, f., the 4th of the 7 śrāvaka-bhūmi: Mvy 1144; ŚsP 1473.12 et alibi, see bhūmi 4.

darśanā (nowhere recorded) = Skt. °na, nt., sight: (yāye) prabhāye samanvāgataṃ yāye śūkṣma-darśanāye samanvāgataṃ yāye tattva-darśanāye samanvāgataṃ... Mv I.158.9 (prose); perhaps nonce-form, attracted to gender of prec. prabhāye (the suffix -anā, f., is not rare in other forms beside -ana, nt.).

darśaniya, adj. (§ 3.42), beautiful: SP 313.13; LV 240.11 (em., mss. °niya, unmetr.).

darśayati, in mg. of dāsyati, teaches, instructs (falsely, in wrong ways), influenced no doubt by dr̥ṣṭi, q.v.: ye ca te darśayisyanti (seemingly passive, so Senart) teṣām api ca sā gati (sc. narakah) Mv I.179.15 (vs), and those who will be taught (by you) will suffer the same fate; the next line is, anyān hi vihato hanti, naṣṭo nāśayate parām (so Senart).

? darśayin, possibly adj. (pres. stem darsaya plus -in), showing: bhūtām carim darśayi lokanāthaḥ SP 64.2 (vs). But no such stem is recorded, and more likely the form is a verb (aor.), the World-lord has shown...

darśāvin, adj. (= Pall dassāvin; § 22.51), seeing, perceiving, also intellectually, realizing: pūrvabuddha-darśāvinī (or with most mss. °vinaḥ, construction 'ad sensum') SP 36.6-7 (prose); darśāvi pūrvabuddhānām Mv III.104.15 (vs); anantavarna- Gv 30.1; bhaya- Mv III.52.1; abhaye bhayadarśāvi Ud xvi.4 (oldest ms.; later ms. °darśino, and so Pall equivalent °dassino Dhp. 317); ādinava-darśāvi Mv I.283.18 (prose; kāmeṣu); III.52.5 (prose); anantañjāna-d° Mv I.357.5 (vs); sarva-d° Mv I.254.4 (prose); II.13.3 and 22.5 (vss); III.51.7 and 10 (prose); asarva-d° III.51.6 (prose).

-darśin (from Skt. darśa, aspect, plus -in), having the aspect of, resembling, like: tathāgatadarśi ca veditavyo SP 226.8 (prose), and he is to be regarded as like a T. (because he has similar qualities and behavior; cf. lines 1-2 above, sa hi... tathāgato veditavyaḥ; so Kern, clearly rightly; Burnouf, wrongly, as having seen the T.).

-darśimant (= Pall dassima(nt), see § 22.48), in artha-, bhūta-d°, qq.v.

daś(ay)-, m.c. for Skt. darś(ay)- (Māndic dass-, daps-), show; see § 2.87.

-daśaka, lfc. fhvr. (Skt. daśa with -ka; = Pall -dasaka, in a-d°), bringing: achinnāgra-daśake paṭe Mmk 322.20 (prose); achinna-daśakalḥ saha Laṅk 365.11 (vs; wrongly Suzuki). See channa-daśa.

Daśadharmasūtra, Śikṣ 5.7, or Daśadharmaka-s°, 8.8; 116.16, n. of a work (cf. the ten dharmas-caryā, Mvy 902 ff.).

daśabala, adj. (= Pall dasa°), possessing the ten bala, ep. and synonym of (any) Buddha, often used in the same way as tathāgata, jina, etc.: Mvy 25; (yo dadyā jambudvīpam sapratrasamcayam) daśabalānām Mv I.80.7, who gives... to the Buddhas; similarly 8; 116.2, etc.; in Divy 275.5, 7 daśabala Kāśyapa (as either two words or one) refers to a monk in Śākyamuni's entourage (not to the former Buddha Kāśyapa, who acc. to PTSD and DPPN was 'especially' called daśabala, a statement for which I have found no evidence; in BHS, at any rate, daśabala applies equally to any and every Buddha); see s.v. Kāśyapa (2).

Daśabala-sūtra, n. of a work: Bbh 384.24. Printed (practically) completely by Waldschmidt, Kl. Skt. Texte 4.209 ff. Text is brief, prose, normal Skt. in forms, and has little BHS vocabulary except technical religious terms.

Daśabhūmakā, or mika, m. or nt., also ka-sūtra, n. of a work, = our Dbh; see Rahder p. III ff. on relations to other texts, esp. Mv, which cites a text certainly different from Dbh, tho resembling it; Śīks (ms.) seems always to read aka; Mvy 1350 mikam, nt.; Mmk 109.28 makah, m.; Mv and Bbh record both aka and ika: Mv 1.63.15 (ko, m.) and 16 Senart mika, but 5 of 6 mss. maka; 1.193.8, 9, 10 mss. all mika(m, nt.); Śīks (maka) 227.11; 291.11; makasūtra 10.15; 11.10; 126.9; 287.14 (ed. mika in 10.15 and 11.10 but ms. maka); some, at least, of Śīks citations are from Rahder's Dbh, e. g. 227.11 ff. from Dbh 50.26 ff.; Bbh names several of the ten bhūmi, mika 332.20 f. (naming Pramuditā, read tā); 334.24 (Vimalā); 343.16 (Sudurjayā); maka 338.17 (Prabhākara); 341.2 (Arciśmatī).

daśavarga, adj. or subst. (= Pall dasavagga), consisting of a group of ten; a quorum of ten (monks); required acc. to Pall Vin. 1.319.33 (cf. 31) normally, 'in the middle regions,' for ordination: MSV II.205.11 ff., cf. 203.16 ff.; Mv 1.2.15 daśavargena gaṇena upasampadā (q.v.); Bhlk 18b.5 bhikṣūṇāṃ daśavarge maṇḍalake (see s.v. dvādaśavarga); certain sins to be confessed before such a group, Śīks 169.1 āpatitir daśavarge rjukena deśāyitavyā.

Daśaśīras, n. of a Pratyekabuddha: Av 1.134.1 ff. daśikā (Skt. daśā plus -(i)kā; cf. Pall daśikkā-sutta, tta-matta), hem, fringe (of cloth): kāṃ dattvā tantra-vāyabhūtena Śīks 9.3.

daśottarapadaśamdhī-līpi, see yāvad-daśot. daṣṭaka (ppp. daṣṭa plus specifying -ka, § 22.39), one that has been bitten (by a snake; in magic practices to cure snake-bite): kāṃ mahāhārade nāgāyatane vā (sc. ālikhet) Mmk 53.22; daṣṭakottīṣṭhātī (l. e. ka ut) 462.19, ko nirviṣo bhavati 25; sarpa- (text sarva-) -viṣa-daṣṭakāni cothāpayati 711.28; daṣṭakopari sthāpayitvā 721.4. All prose.

dahati (= Pall id.; for Skt. dadhāti; cf. also ni-da), sets, places: dhvajam dahitvā Mv II.377.6; dahitva dīpaṃ ... cetiyeṣu 379.7 (both vss).

dahara, (1) adj. (= Pall id.; Skt. not in this sense; cf. next, and dahra, which is far less common), young; common in prose and vss alike, in Ud xvi.7, 8 even where meter demands dahra! (in corresp. Pall vs, Dhp. 382, daharo metrically correct, with other different readings): ahaṃ ca vṛddhas tvam ca daharo SP 106.14 (prose); (śākyah) vṛddha-dahara-madhyamāḥ LV 82.4 (prose); daharā (mss. ro) ca madhyā ca mahallakā ca Mv 1.262.18 (vs; dahrā would be as good metr.); dahara-manohara(h) Sukh 25.14 (prose), youthfully charming; as v.l. along with dahra Mvy 4081; 8734 (Mironov dahra); others, SP 293.4; 311.11; 318.2; LV 241.17; Mv II.41.2; 63.7; 78.18, 19; 79.4 ff.; III.43.16; 294.20; 457.9; Divy 116.16; Av II.71.6; Gv 127.19; 129.3; 136.24 etc.; (2) Dahara-Sūtra (= Pall D° Sutta, viz. SN 1.68 ff.), n. of a sūtra by which Buddha converted King Prasenañjit, as in Pall King Pasenadi: Av 1.36.7; also called Daharopama Sūtra, MSV IV.62.3.

daharaka, adj. (-ka svārthe) = prec.: ka-vayasy (mss. corrupt as to sy-) avasthiteṇa Av 1.178.1 (prose).

? dahuka, so mss. of Divy 475.17 (ed. em. dakṣaka), ep. of children, see taruṇaka. Prob. read dahara(ka), or dahraka, = next.

dahra, adj. (not in this sense in Skt.; cf. dahara, which is much commoner), young: LV 100.12; yuvān ... navo dahras ... 212.6; in Mvy 4081; 8734, both times (in Mironov only in 8734) with v.l. dahara; Bbh 75.1; 281.12. All prose.

dākṣiṇeya, adj. (= dakṣ; cf. Skt. id., not in this sense, pw 6.302), venerable: Karmav 156.10 (sambuddho yānām agryah); 161.18.

dākṣiṇya-līpi, a kind of script: I.V 125.22 (Tib. of the southern region).

dāgha, m. (recorded only for Pkt. in Hem. 1.264, but cf. Skt. nidāgha), burning, conflagration: (geha-)dāghā vā kṛtā bhavanti vana-dāghā ... Mv 1.23.1 (prose); dāgho ca utpanno ... nirvāpitaḥ II.181.2; (śīlena pariśud-dhena kāyo bhoṭi prabhāsvaro) na cāsyā jāyate dāgho (but v.l. doṣo, perhaps better) maraṇe pratyupasthite Mv II.358.14 (vs); agnidāgham (pari-)nirvāpayitum II.457.9, 13, also hasti-dāgham 12, conflagration (burning) of elephants.

-dāṭha, lfc. Bhvr. for dāṭhā (= Pall id., Skt. damṣṭrā; cf. next), (large) tooth; in several anuvyañjana, buddhā ... vaṭṭitadāṭhā (m. n. pl.) ca, tksṇadāṭhā ca, abhagnadāṭhā ca, achinnadāṭhā ca, aviśamadāṭhā ca Mv II.44.5-6. The mss. vary, usually reading dāṭā or dantā; both these occur in the corresponding Pall; but in the other BHS lists (see s.v. anuvyañjana) the form is damṣṭra.
dāṭhin, adj. (= Pall id., Skt. damṣṭrin; see prec.), having large teeth or fangs: dāṭhi Mv III.103.20; 261.10; 410.16 (all prose; always of a lion).

dāṇḍajīnika-tā (to Skt. Gr. and Lex. jīnika; cf. late Skt. jīnaka, Schmidt, Nachträge), state of being a hypocritical ascetic (characterized by external marks, staff and skin, only): Jm 188.3.

(dāna, nt., Skt., gift; as one of the four saṃgraha-vastu, q.v.)

Dānaṃdadā (cf. -dada), (1) n. of an apsaras: Kv 3.17; (2) n. of a 'gandharva maid': Kv 5.6.

Dānapraguru, n. of a former Buddha: Mv 1.137.15.

Dānavakula, n. of a former Buddha: Mv 1.138.4.

Dānavagupta, n. of a former Buddha: Mv 1.140.1.

Dānaśūra, n. of a Bodhisattva, previous incarnation of Śākyamuni: Kv 15.16; 93.17 (here printed sūra).

dāni, dāniṃ, dānim (before vowel), (= Pall dāni, before vowel dānim, Childers; for Skt. idānim) now; dāni SP 113.3; 170.3 (vss); in prose in Mv 1.17.10; 18.10; 21.4, 5; 1.226.14 = II.29.17; 1.227.4; 232.2, 7; II.26.5, etc., very common; also App. to Jm (= Mv) 240.5; in vss of Mv, dāni 1.142.15; 143.1; 155.1, 5; 1.204.19 = II.8.14; in 1.154.12 (vs) Senart kiṃ dāni ā, but read dānim with 2 mss., the others dānim, unmetr.; 1.221.21 = II.24.8 (vs) dānim, before vowel; in II.11.12 (vs) dānim, before cons., m.c.; in II.6.18 (vs, = 1.203.1, where Senart prints dāni) and 1.209.3 (vs) Senart em. dāniṃ, m.c., for mss. dāni. It appears that dāni-m was used only (optionally) before vowels, and dānim only in verses m.c. In Lañk 336.11 (vs) text yathāpi dāniṃ naivāsti; rather, yathāpi idānim ...

-dāntaka (dānta plus -ka, svārthe?), tamed, controlled: sarvadānta-sudāntaka (voc.) Mmk 4.29 (vs), perhaps m.c.; or perhaps specifying -ka, you who are the one that is well controlled among all controlled ones! In a formulaic passage in which most lines end in vocs. in -ka.

dāma(n), (only Vedic, and even there rare, in this sense, except, possibly, in the cpd. sudāman, Class. Skt.), gift: dāma-carī (course of almsgiving) yādṛśā ti pure LV 11.13 (vs). So acc. to Lefm. all mss.; Calc. dāna-; mg. confirmed by Tib. sbvin.

? dāmaka, possibly adj. (from Skt. dāman), garlanded, formed into garlands (of flowers), in paryāṅkam dāmaka-puṣpa-saṃnibham Mv ii.183.16 (vs); so Senart reads, but assumes inverted order of parts of cpd., = puṣpa-dāmaka-, like a garland of flowers; if the reading is right, perhaps like flowers that form a garland. But the text is an em. and quite uncertain; mss. damakam or °ko. In the following line bhāryām ca sadrśi devīm, understand sadrśi = °śm, as separate word, corresponding, suitable.

Dāmodara, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.138.1.

dāyika, adj. and subst. m. (= Pali id. ifc., Skt. dāyin, dāyaka), giving, a giver: bijam ... phala-dāyikam MSV 1.70.12 (vs); same vs in same story Divy 462.23 -dāyakam; -saṃghasya dāyikalī prajñaptā MSV ii.113.5. ? dārika (= Skt. dāraka), and acc. to text °kā- (in comp.), boy: dvātrīṃśad-dārikā-sahasrāṇi LV 128.11 (prose), all mss. acc. to Lefm.; dārikebhī LV 133.6 (vs), two mss. with Calc. dāra°. There can hardly be a reference to girls (cf. Weller 26), and at least the final -ā of dārikā must, it seems, be a corruption for -a. Perhaps read dāraka both times. Note the same cpd. with dāraka 128.9; the word seems to occur only once in this passage in Tlb.

dāru, m. (always nt., acc. to Dictt., in Skt., Pali, and Pkt., except for one Skt. acc. sg. dārum), tree: dāruḥ LV 188.14 (vs), end of line, all mss. acc. to Lefm. (Calc. dāru).

Dārūka, n. of a yakṣa, and °ka-pura, n. of the town where he lived: Māy 30.

Dāru-karṇin, nickname of a brother of Pūrṇa, lit. wood-ear (see s.v. Trapukarṇin): Divy 26.28; 45.16 etc.

[dārvāyasmaya, prob. misprint for dārv-ayasmaya, made of wood or iron, in SP 440.4 (prose), altho uncorrected in Errata and repeated without note in WT: °mayair haḍi-nigaḍa-bandhanair. But the true reading is prob. dārumayair vā ayasmayair vā, with Kashgar rec. Cf. verse version, dārumayair ayomayair 450.1 (vs).]

dālana (nt.; Skt. in diff. mg.; = AMg. °na), splitting, piercing; in literal sense, of a military art mastered by the Bodhisattva: (bhede) dālana sphālane ... LV 156.13 (Tlb. dbug pa); fig., object heresies: sarva-drṣṭigata-jāla-dālanaḥ prayuktā Gv 117.3; adj. (perh. Bhvr.?) destroying (heresies): (mahāyoginām ...) akusāla-drṣṭidālanaṇām Lañk 10.13.

dālāvana (if not corruption), some sort of tree: (panasa-)dālāvana-tinduka- etc. Divy 627.23 (in long cpd. containing list of trees).

Dāsaka, n. of a servant of Śroṇa Koṭṭikarṇa: Divy 3.11; 4.22; 5.17 ff.; 6.2, 4; cf. 2 Dāsaka Thera in DPPN, possibly the same personage but presented in a quite different way; and cf. Pālaka 1.

? -dāsita, in caṇḍavaco-dā° Mvy 2109 (v.l. in Mironov °dāsita); acc. to Tlb. (tshlg brlañ(s) pos. = caṇḍavaco, zher hdebs pa) and Chin. reviling with harsh words. The etym. of dāsita (app. containing suffix -tā) is obscure. dāsinikā (to dāsi; see § 22.45), maid-servant, slave; tava °kām LV 323.2 (vs).

dāha (m.; in this sense seems unrecorded in Skt., Pali, or Pkt.), fig. pain, sorrow: sarva-dāha-vināśani Mv 1.314.13 (vs), said of Buddha's voice.

? dāhani, must mean burning, as adj. or n. act.; so both edd., no v.l.: tuṣādy-angāra-dāhani-kumbha-sādhana-pakvaśilāpacaṇḍāgnijalapraśeṣa- LV 249.11 (prose). Possibly understand dāhanin (dāhana plus -in)? Or mere corruption for °na?

Dignāga, see Diñnāga.

Digvilokita, m., n. of a samādhi: Mvy 524; ŚsP 1416.18.

Digvalrocanaṃakuṣa, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 3.5.

Diñnāga, n. of a teacher: Mvy 3481 (v.l. Dignāga; so Mironov with no v.l.).

didṛkṣuka, adj. (= Skt. °kṣu with -ka svārthe), anxious to see: preti-didṛkṣukāṇy anekāni prāṇisatasahas-rāṇi saṃnipatitāni Av i.264.9 (prose).

dinna, ppp., = Skt. datta; see § 34.16 and cf. a-dinna.

Divasacārā, n. of a rākṣasi: Māy 243.30.

divasa-nirīkṣaka, pl., should mean observers of the day or of days (astrologers?): in Kv 81.7 referred to as people who are initiated into certain heretical sects (but who cannot attain mokṣa).

divasam, adv. (if so, = daivasikam), daily, every day: evaṃ tuvaṃ āryam taṃ divasam āhāreṇa upasthīhiṣi (? so Senart em., mss. °sa, °sā; true reading probably °hasi, 2 sg. pres.) Mv i.302.6, and: sā dāni taṃ ... divasam āhāreṇa upasthīhati 8 (both prose). But possibly, with Senart, understand divasa-m-āhāra, for divasāh°, with 'hiatus-bridging' m. divasānudivasam, see s.v. 1 anu.

divāvihāra (m.; = Pali id.), relaxation (rest) during the day: (ārāma, acc. pl. ...) °hārārtha dadanti ... puru-ṣaṣabhāṇām SP 13.18 (vs); °raṃ parigamya 62.5 (vs); (went to a cātya) °hārāya Mv i.300.2, 5 ff.; (nadyām ...) °hāraṃ kalpayitvā ii.264.1; (vrkṣamūlām nīritya) nīṣaṇṇo °hārāya Divy 201.3; 202.2; Av i.252.9; vrkṣamūle nīṣaṇṇo °hārāya 246.6; bhagavān °hāropagato 319.12; bhikṣavo °hāraṃ (v.l. °hārāya) gatāḥ Karmav 74.10. Regularly of the Buddha or his monks.

diviṃ, prob. m.c. for divi, loc. of div: Mmk 618.26; 625.7; 627.14; 629.16. Otherwise H. Smith (see § 1.38 fn. 15), pp. 4–5 [3.2]; Smith's em. of Mmk 629.16 (see my § 2.74) introduces not only metrical irregularity but a stem *diviya which I have not noted in BHS and do not find in MIndic except once in Aśoka's 4th Rock Edict, Dhauli-Jaugada version.

Divaukaṣa, n. of a yakṣa, attendant on Māndhātara: Divy 211.5 ff.; MSV i.68.13; 94.11.

Divyānnada, n. of a future Buddha: Av i.116.13.

Divyāvadāna (nt.), n. of a work: Divy 24.8 etc., in colophons.

[dīśa; m.-nt. forms occur from stem diś(ā), as from other f. ā-stems, § 9.4; ex. daśa-diśebhir LV 416.2.]

dīśatā (= Pali diśatā; Skt. diś, diśā; PTSD refers to a 'Skt. diśatā' which does not exist), direction, region, point of the compass; only in vss except (rarely) in prose of Mv, e. g. ii.295.4; others, vss: SP 27.10; 205.8; LV 162.8 and 167.11 (diśato, acc. pl., § 9.97); 295.21; 421.17 (read daśa-diśata, § 9.68); Mv i.204.6 = ii.8.1; i.305.20; ii.135.12; 140.12; 299.2; 315.19; 409.17; iii.381.7; 438.15; Suv 233.1; RP 55.3, 14; Bhad 21 (text wrongly diśa tāsu); Gv 316.22; Dbh.g. 39(65).25.

dīśati, (1) says, speaks (so in Ap. diśai, Bhav. 232.7): pradakṣiṇām lokakṣiṇa (so divide) lokanāthaḥ teṣāṃ diśaiṣa 'pratimo vināyakaḥ LV 391.21 (vs), where we must understand (a)diśa(t) as the verb of the sentence (Tlb. gsuṇs, said), the Lord of the World, the Matchless Guide, declared their donation (dakṣiṇā) auspicious (virtuous, pradakṣiṇa); direct quotation of his words follows; tatra gatā sukha me diśanti kṣipram Sukh 9.4 (vs), quickly declare my happiness; kṣetrārnavān ... cintāvyatītiṃs ca diśāmi dikṣu Gv 428.14 (vs), I proclaim, tell of; diśe (aor., by em. for diśām which would make construction difficult) sovattikāṃ divyaṃ Mv iii.305.10 (vs); (2) teaches (= deśayati, q.v.): dharmam dideśa yakṣāya Lañk 8.12, and dideśa nikhilam sūtram 13 (both vss); (3) confesses (also = deśayati) (kṛtam yat) pāpam jinānām purato diśāmi Sādh 56.12 (vs); sarvāṇi pāpāni diśāmi bhīṭaḥ 90.4 (vs).

Dīśadeśa-āmukhajaga(t; so read, as cpd.), n. of a Buddha: Gv 285.23 (vs). In this and the next two diśa-may be regarded as for diśā-m.c.

Dīśabhedajñānaprabhaketumati, n. of a Buddha: Gv 285.6 (vs). See under prec.

Dīśasambhava, n. of a Buddha: Gv 284.11 (vs). See under prec. but one.

Disāmpati (= Pali Disampati, DN ii.230.22 ff.), n. of a mythical king, father of Reṇu: Mvy 3579 (here called a cakravartin); Mv iii.197.9; 204.8 ff.; in LV 171.1 (vs) apparently used as n. or epithet of Reṇu, q.v., himself (Reṇu bhū Disāmpati).

diśi (= AMg. diśi, for Skt. diś, diśā; not in Pali), direction. Noted only in Mmk, but not rare there; usually acc. sg. diśim; sometimes (notably 205.26, where it seems clearly to be taken so, § 4.59, end) this could be interpreted as loc. diśi plus 'hiatus-bridging' m; among the cases which are certainly acc. are: dakṣiṇām diśim āsritāḥ Mmk 326.18, and ... āsritā 626.26; prāciṃ (°cīm) diśim upādāya 620.1 (these all vss). The great corruption of the text of Mmk might tempt to emendation (diśam would be easy), but AMg. seems to confirm the form.

diśodāha, m. (= Skt. digdāha, Pali diśāḍāha), 'burning in the sky' (as omen): Divy 203.9; 206.4; Av ii.198.2; MPS 16.14. In MPS-17.21 ms. diśodāgha (ed. em.).

(dīkṣate, cf. Skt. id., undergoes consecration or monastic initiation: Kv 81.6 ff.)

Dipa, (1) n. of the king of Dipāvati: Divy 246.9 ff.; (2) n. of a serpent king: Mmk 18.24; (3) m.c. for Dipamkara: buddha Dipa-nāmā LV 393.12 (vs).

Dipakāra, m.c. for Dipamkara: LV 172.14 (vs).

Dipamkara (= Pali id.) in Pali the first of the 24 Buddhas; here sometimes, e.g. Sukh 5.6, first of a much longer list of Buddhas, but often named without any such preeminence), n. of one of the most celebrated of former Buddhas: his story told at length in the 'Dipamkāravastu' Mv i.193.13 ff.; incomplete list of references, SP 22.3; 27.4; LV 5.4; 172.19; 185.15; 253.16; 415.19; Mv i.1.13; 2.1; 3.3; 57.13; 61.11; 170.3; 227.6 (his name is given to him); iii.239.10 ff.; 241.13; 242.19; 243.20; 244.13; 247.3; 248.3; Mvy 95; Divy 246.5 ff.; Gv 104.13; 222.2; Vaj 26.18; Sukh 5.6; 76.10; Karmav 102.15; 155.9; AsP 48.10. Also, in vss m.c., Dipa, Dipakāra, Dipasaha.

Dipavati (also Dipā, q.v.), n. of the capital city of (Arcimant and) Dipamkara: Mv i.194.1, 3; 231.7, 9; iii.239.11 ff.; AsP 48.10.

Dipaśrī, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.2.

Dipasaha, = Dipamkara, m.c.: Dipasahena ti LV 11.11 (vs), so read as suggested by Lefm. in Crit. App. for text °sahenaṣṭi.

Dipā, n. of a goddess or yoginī: Sādh 157.12 etc.; 324.6.

Dipāvati = Dipā, q.v.: Divy 246.9.

Diptateja(s), n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.136.17 (°jah, n. sg.).

Diptabhānu, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.139.4.

Diptavīrya, n. of a previous incarnation of Śākya-muni: LV 170.19.

dīrita, ppp. (§ 34.10), rent, destroyed: mantra-dīritā(h) Mmk 143.24 (vs).

Dirgha (= Pali Digha), n. of a yakṣa: Māy 235.11; 237.2.

dirghaka, (1) adj. (Skt. dirgha plus -ka, ? m.c.), long: nātidirghakaḥ Mmk 154.24 (vs); (2) m. (= Pali dīgha), snake: tehi halehi °ko ca maṇḍūko (mss. maṇḍ°) ca utkṣiptā Mv ii.45.6; so °pi °ko kumāreṇa kṣipto 7 (both prose).

Dirghakātyāyāni, n. of the gotra of the nakṣatra Jyesthā: °ni-gotrēṇa Divy 640.16.

Dirgha Cārāyaṇa (Pali Digha Kārāyaṇa; also called simply Cārāyaṇa, q.v.), n. of the charloteer of King Prasenañjit: Dirghena Cārāyaṇena Av ii.114.10; in 13 mss. Digha-Cār°, as cpd. word, MIndic in form.

Dirghanakha (= Pali Digha°), n. of a mendicant to whom Buddha preached the Dirghanakhasya parivrajā-kasya sūtram: Mv iii.67.7 (to be put in, kartavyam, but not quoted here); in Pali it is MN i.497 ff., and a version occurs in Av 99; acc. to DPPN, D. was a nephew of Sāriputta (but no citation is furnished for this; the MN sūta does not say so); in Av ii.186.9 ff. and MSV iv.22.1 he is the uncle (mother's brother) of Sāriputra; in this story his given name was (Mahā-)°Koṣhila, q.v.; he had the surname Agnivāisyāyana, q.v.

Dirghabāhur-garvita (so, with -r-, no v.l., both edd.), n. of a son of Māra, unfavorable to the Bodhisattva: LV 310.20. See § 12.4.

dirgharātra-, very commonly adv. °tram (= Pali digharattam), for a long time: prose, SP 37.10; 320.3; LV 108.7; Śikṣ 37.17; Dbh 7.14; Divy 616.21; Av i.177.7; vss, SP 38.4 (su-); 97.11; 213.8; LV 42.11; 158.11; 219.3; in comp., °trānugata- Divy 84.9; Av i.42.3; °tra-kṛta-paricaya- Divy 264.30.

dirgha-vārṣika, m. sg. Mvy 9286, pl. Bḥk 22a.3 (°kāh), long rains; see s.v. sāmayaika.

Dirghasakti, n. of a yakṣa (or gandharva?): Māy 237.4.

Dirghāgama, m., n. of a section of the canon (= Pali DN): Mvy 1423; Divy 333.12.

Dirghāyu (= Pali Dighāyu), n. of a prince, son of Arimadama: Mv iii.457.8 ff.

dirghāyuka, app. name of a class of gods, the long-lived ones: so dirghāyukehi devehi upanno Mv i.51.14, he is born among the gods.

Dirghika, MSV ii.173.3, or Dirghila, 182.7 (corresp. to Pali Dighīti), n. of a king of Kosala, conquered by Brahmadatta of Benares; reference to his story in the Dirghila-sūtra of the Madhyamāgama (Samādhisaṃyuktaka), 182.8.

dirghya, gdve. (to Skt. denom. dirghayati, pw 7.348), °yam, impersonal, (it is) to be delayed: tvayā kiṃ punar eva dirghyam Divy 600.15 (vs).

du- (= Pali id.) for Skt. dvi-, stem for numeral two, § 3.117, esp. in cpds.: see duguṇa, dupadendra, durūpa, ekadukāye.

duh-k-, see duṣ-k-.

duḥkhaka (nt.; duḥkhā plus -ka, prob. m.c.), misery: vedentā bahu duḥkhakam Mv i.11.4 (vs).

duḥkhata (Skt.), (state of) misery; three, listed Mvy 2228-31, and cited SP 108.17 f. (prose) tiṣṭhīr duḥkhataḥbhiḥ samplīdītā(h)... yad uta duḥkha-duḥkhatayā saṃskāra-du° viparīṇāma-du° on this group see AbhidhK LaV-P. vi.125 ff., state of misery qua misery (what is grievous by its very nature, from the start, always painful), state of misery due to conditioning (saṃskāra; acc. to Vism. 499.20 f. this means particularly experience in itself not painful or pleasurable, but, because impermanent and so undependable, still a cause of misery), and state of misery due to alteration (of what was pleasurable to begin with, but cannot last); in Mvy 2232-40 eight duḥkhata, each consisting of one of the list of evils enumerated in the first of the four noble truths.

duḥkhati (= Pali dukkhati; denom.), is painful, hurts: aṅgapratyaṅgāni duḥkhaṇi SP 100.12 (prose); jhivā pi tasya (read tasyo with v.l.) na kadāci duḥkhati SP 352.7 (vs). See also duḥkhāpayati.

duḥkhana, adj. ffc. (duḥkha-ti with suffix -ana), hurting, causing pain to: mayā ... jana-duḥkhanena (so spelled) Śikṣ 156.5. But note cites Bodhicāryāv. as reading °duḥkhadana (same mg.).

Duḥkhamukta, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.137.8.

duḥkhāpayati (= Pali dukkhāpeti; caus. to duḥkhati), causes pain to, hurts, grieves: sukhitān (mss. °tāny, may be kept) api sattvā tvam duḥkhāpayasi durmate Mv i.179.19 (vs).

duḥkhitaka, m. (ppp. °ta plus -ka, prob. pitying dim., § 22.36), poor wretch: °ko °yam iti kṛtvā Divy 84.1 (prose); santy anye °py asmadvīdhā duḥkhitakā(h) 86.22.

duḥkhila-tā (from duḥkha plus -ila; § 22.17), state of being miserable: Mvy 1652 = Tib. tha ba nan pa ltar.

duḥ-p-, see duṣ-p-.

? -duka, -dukā, for dvi°, see ekadukāye.

Dukura, n. of a nāga king: Mmk 18.11.

dukūlaka (nt.?): Skt. 'la plus -ka svārthe), a certain fine textile fabric: 'kānām tatha varakauśakānām Śiṣ 302.6 (vs, may be m.c.); paṭe caiva 'ke Mmk 131.21 (vs, may be m.c.); 'laka-sūkṣma, subst. nt., a fine garment made of dukūlaka(ka): 'maṃ vā Bhik 22b.4 (prose), in a list of various textile fabrics. See also daukūlaka.

dukha (as in Pali, see Childers), dukhīn, and dukhita, m.c. in verses for duḥkha, 'khin, 'khita, misery; miserable. The mss. and edd. are quite inconsistent, but write dukha very often, at least, where meter requires it; so SP 54.10; 162.2 (in 92.6 ed. dukha-, acc. to note with only one m.); LV 173.11 (no v.l.); 220.22 (dukhī, v.l. duḥ°); in LV 252.10 Leftm. properly em. dukhitam against all mss., but in 188.12 he allows the equally unmetr. suduḥkhito to stand; Senart on Mv 1.9.17 keeps duḥkhā of mss., noting that meter implies a short penult; so also 1.14.16, 15.13, and often, usually not em. by Senart; dukha is rather common in vss of Samādhi, e.g. 19.20; also in Gv, dukha 301.22; 488.9; dukhitā 474.23; dukha (v.l. duḥ°) Bhad 21; etc. In my opinion dukh° should always be read where meter indicates short first syllable.

dukhya (nt.; cf. dukha; semi-MIndic for *duḥkhyā, *dauḥkhyā, cf. Pali sokhya = Skt. saukhya, with which dukhya is compounded and to which it was perhaps formed as a pendant), unhappiness, misery; lābha atha alābhe saukhya-dukhye (so, as cpd.) RP 47.15 (vs).

du-guṇa (= Skt. dviguṇa), two-fold, double: duguṇa-palāśā ca pādapaḥ Mv 11.86.7 (vs); so mss., Senart em. dviguṇa°.

ducchana, read prob. °channa (see s.v. -chana); MIndic for Skt. duśchanna, § 2.12.

[dutiya is read by Senart Mv 11.134.7 (vs), but mss. dvitīyās or °yam; meter requires two short first syllables, but dvitīya is as good as dutīya. I have found no writing of du- for dvi- in the ordinal numeral.]

Dundubhi (1) f., n. of a 'gandharva maid': Kv 4.21; (2) m., n. of a nāga king: Māy 247.16.

-dundubhikā, see mukha-du°.

Dundubhisvara, (1) n. of a former Buddha: LV 171.11; (2) the same? cf. also next, and °svara-rāja), n. of a Buddha in the north: Suv 2.5; 8.2; 120.7; (3) n. of a gandharva king: Kv 2.17; (4) n. of a Śākyan youth: Av 1.371.1 ff.

Dundubhisvaranirghoṣa, n. of a Buddha in the north (cf. prec., 2): Sukh 97.22.

Dundubhisvararāja, n. of a series of former Buddhas (cf. Dundubhisvara 1 and 2): SP 380.9.

dupadendra (MIndic for Skt. dvi°; cf. du-; dupada not recorded in Pali; Amg. dupaya acc. to Sheth), (1) king: in Gv 259.20 (vs) read, yada sa niṣkramī dupadendrā (or °dro), when that king retired from the world; (2) n. of a former Buddha: in Gv 258.8 (vs) read with 2d ed., sap-tamu teṣa āsi Dupadendrah.

dumela (var. dumaila; Mironov dumela), nt., a high number: Mvy 7873 (cited from Gv) = Tib. yal yal; Gv 133.14 f.

duyamana (m.c. for Skt. dūyamāna, pres. pass. pple), being distressed: LV 166.8 (vs).

dura, nt. (etym.?), seems to mean something like worldly existence: māyopamaṇi hi duram etat, svapnasa-maṃ ca samskṛtam avikṣyam RP 33.3 (vs; meter, Finot's No. 18, p. xiv). The only possible connection I have discovered is duram-daram, DesIn. 5.46, glossed duḥkhot-tīrṇam.

duradhimoca, °cya, hard to strive zealously towards (see adhimukti and its congeners): SP 185.9 duradhimoc-cyam (tathāgatajñānam; Kashgar rec. °mucyanīyam, cf. adhimucyanā, °nada); said apropos of the fact that disciples of the Buddha in many past existences are still in the same stage of discipleship; AsP 185.2, 5, et passim, duradhimocā (prajñāpāramitā); read with 2d ed. duradhimocam Gv 321.19 for text durabhimocam (etat sthānam, sc. anuttarā samyaksambodhi).

dur-anubodha (= Pali id.; cf. anubodha), hard to comprehend: Mvy 2017 (as synonym of gambhīra); LV 422.12 °am (cakram); Mv 11.314.1 (dharmah).

dur-abhimoca, prob. error for dur-adhimoca, q.v.

dur-abhisambodha, see abhi°.

dur-abhisambhava, adj. (= Pali id.; to Skt. and Pali abhisambhavati; see abhisambhāvayati, and cf. next), hard to attain: Mvy 7210; Bbh 10.3; Gv 267.10; 321.19; Jm 78.12; 122.17.

dur-abhisambhūṇa, adj. (= prec.; see abhisambhūṇati), hard to attain: Mv 11.237.21; 238.13; 111.264.5; 387.4. The last = Pali Sn 701, which has durabhisambhavam (cf. prec.).

durākāra, see ākāra.

dur-ākhyāta, adj. (= Pali durakkhāta), ill-proclaimed, ill-stated, incorrect: Lañk 244.12 durākhyāta-dharmair api ... anyatīrthikair (Suzuki who hold erroneous doctrines).

dur-āgata, (1) adj. (= Pali id.), unwelcome, unpleasant, offensive; associated with durukta, and applied to words, vacana-patha (same collocation in Pali, AN 11.117.34; 143.29): sarva-durukta-durāgata-vacanapatha-LV 181.11; durukta-durāgatān vacanapathān sahate Śiṣ 185.2; duruktān durāgatān ... vacanapathān 188.9; Bbh 238.9, cited s.v. avaspaṇḍana; (2) name given to Svāgata because of his bad luck: Divy 171.14; 172.12; 173.9; 177.7 ff.

dur-ājñeya, see ājñeya.

durānuga, m.c. for dūr° see s.v. dhalita.

Durāroha, n. of a cakravartin: Mv 1.154.2; and Durāroha, a name for the first bodhisattva-bhūmi: Mv 1.76.13; 90.13. Cf. Durāroha-buddhi. I think it probable that Dūrāroha (dūra, far, plus āroha, q.v., height or length) is the true reading in all these cases.

durāvagāha, adj. (for durava°), hard to fathom: samudrakalpa ... gambhīra-durāvagāhatvāt LV 424.11 (prose). See § 3.10. This is ignored by Weller 39, tho he refers to two other cases of apparent vowel-lengthening in the following lines (see l.c.). The -ā- here may have been carried over from some passage in vs where it was metrically required.

du-rūpa, adj. or subst. (cf. du-; for Skt. dvirūpa), (of) two kinds: (karmā kalyāna-pāpakā) Mv 1.12.13 = 111.456.19 (mss. du° both times; Senart em. dvi° first time, not the second), see s.v. paryāya (4).

dur-opagama, adj. (m.c. for dur-upa°), hard of access: LV 46.15 (vs).

durga, (1) nt. (Skt. id.), evil state; five such, perhaps = the five kaṣāya, q.v. (not durgatī, of which there are only three or at most four); durgāni (so text) pañca, ṣaṣṭi mohāni, triṃśatīm ca mallināni (... chinnā) LV 372.5 (vs); (2) m. or nt. (loc. durge), n. of a region (janapada) in the south: Gv 201.10, 25.

durgatī, f. (= Pali duggatī), evil destiny or state of being, see s.v. gati: SP 260.8; also called apāya, q.v.

? durgandha, acc. to Bendall and Rouse, Transl. 179 (cf. note 3, implying support of Tib.) danger of a bad destiny: sarva-durgandham (to be understood as °gandham-, with 'hiatus-bridging' m?) atikramāśvāsanam Śiṣ 183.12 (prose), giving confidence in passing beyond ... If this is the meaning, surely the text must be corrupt.

durgandhita, denom. ppp. to Skt. durgandha, made ill-smelling: MSV 11.90.13 (prose).

Durgottāriṇī, n. of a form of Tārā: cpd. with -Tārā, Sādh 237.10; or alone, 237.21; 238.4.

Durjaya, (1) n. of a former Buddha: LV 172.12; (2) n. of an ancient king: Mv 1.115.15.

Durjayacandra, n. of an author: Sādh 489.14.

Durjayā, (1) n. of a goddess: Sādh 502.6; (2) n. of the 7th bodhisattva-bhūmi: Mv 1.76.16; of the 5th bhūmi (= Sudurjayā, the regular name in the standard list), Sūtrāli. xx.35.

durdatta, adj.-ppp., wrongly imposed (cf. su-d°), of an ecclesiastical penalty: MSV iii.64.1 ff.

durdina, adj. (Skt. id., Pali duddina, and Pkt. duddiṇa recorded only of weather), gloomy, fig. of men's faces or eyes: sāsurdurdinavada- Divy 4.28; 323.24; Kv 29.15; Av 1.170.10; 199.15; savāspadurdinamukha- Divy 426.24; śokāśrudurdinamukha- Jm 109.22-23; āsurdurdinayanana- Suv 221.2.

Durdharṣa, n. of a Bodhisattva: Mvy 699 (with ep. kumārabhūta).

durbalaka, adj. (Pali dubbalaka, AMg. dubbalaya; once in Skt., Schmidt, Nachträge; Skt. °la plus -ka, svārthe, or pejorative dim.?), feeble: kṛśāluko durbalako mlānako (or mlāno) Divy 334.1, 3; 571.11, 18, 22.

durbuda, m. or nt., a high number: Gv 106.4; corresponds in position to drabuddha, q.v.

Durbhakātyāyana, see Darbha°.

durbhakṣa Māy 220.18 = durbhukta, q.v. (in identical list).

(durbhara-tā, cf. Skt. durbhara, hard to satisfy, pw, and Pali du(b)bharatā, insatiableness, of a monk as regards alms-food: Mvy 2473. Cf. subhara, °tā, and duṣpoṣatā.)

durbhukta, nt. (Pali dubbhutta cited PTSD without reference), indigestion, or indigestible food (Tib. bzah fies), app. regarded as due to malevolent magic or superhuman powers, in a list including vetāla etc.: Mvy 4380; Māy 245.18; 259.12 (in same list 220.18 durbhakṣa).

dur-maṅku, adj. (= Pali dummaṅku; cf. s.v. maṅku), not showing regret or remorse at sins committed: Mvy 2503; 8350; in both Tib. gñon mi bskur (8350 bskur, so Das) ba, which acc. to Das means not confessing faults. The mg. assigned is supported by some Pali comms., while others say less specifically dussila, immoral; see esp. Hardy, AN vol. 5, Introd. pp. v-vi, note. Perhaps orig. ill (= not properly) disturbed in mind (?). On Mvy 8350 var. °maṅgu, °madgu (as for maṅku).

Durmati, (1) n. of a king: Mv 11.485.8; (2) n. of a son of Māra, unfavorable to the Bodhisattva: LV 309.3; (3) f., n. of a queen: Av 1.178.9 ff.

durmanasvin, f. °nī (cf. Skt. amanasvin, in same mg., pw 2.291), melancholy, dejected: duḥkhitā °vinī Gv 411.6.

Durmukha, n. of a (brahmanical) sage (ṛṣi): Divy 211.24; 217.19; MSV 1.93.15.

Duryodhana, n. of a yakṣa: Māy 23.

Duryodhanavīryavegarāja, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 9.10; 25.9.

durlaṅghita, nt., some form of hostile magic or its result (see s.v. durbhukta): Mvy 4381; Māy 220.19; 245.18 (here dull°). Acc. to Tib. on Mvy, bgo fñe(s), app. bad clothes; or sgyuñ (which I cannot find) fñes. On the basis of Skt., laṅghita could mean violation, hostile attack; or fasting, hunger, starving.

durlambha, adj. (for usual durlabha; Skt. Gr. ati-durl°; Pkt. M. dullambha), hard to get: (kāntāra-)durlambhaḥ piṇḍako yācanakena Av 11.83.9; °bhaḥ ... Avalokiteśvaro Kv 66.22.

durlikhita, nt., written hostile magic: Mvy 4382 = Tib. bri(s) fñes, bad writing; Māy 220.19 and 245.18 (in both dull°). See s.v. durbhukta.

durvarṇi-karaṇa (nt.; Pali dubbanna-k°, Vin. iv.120.21, to durvarṇa plus kar-), the making to be of an ugly color (referring to a monk's robe; a new robe must be so treated): Prāt 517.6, 7, 8; also °ṇi-kṛtya, ger., treating (robes) thus, MSV 11.48.19.

dull-, see durl-.

dullabha, adj. (= Pali id.; MIndic for Skt. durl°), hard to get: LV 113.17; 322.4; 429.1 (this last prose; two mss. and Calc. durl°); Mv 1.233.19; 248.2; 11.55.8; 359.14.

duvāra (rare in Pali, see Childers; = Skt. dvāra), door, gate: bhavana-duvāram (acc.) Mv 11.37.8 (vs).

duvārika, m. (AMg. °riya, derived by Hem. 1.160 and Ratnach. from Skt. dauvārika; cf. also Skt. rāja-dvārika, Ind. Spr.³ 5631), doorkeeper: karoṭha °kaṃ LV 337.9 (vs), make (him my) doorkeeper. Could be m.c. for Skt. dau°, Pali do°.

duve, see dve.

duṣcaraka, adj. (= Skt. duṣcara plus -ka, perh. m.c.), hard to carry out, to live thru: °kaṃ śrāmaṇyaṃ Mv 11.269.18 (vs).

Duścintita-cintin, n. of a son of Māra, unfavorable to the Bodhisattva: LV 314.11 °cinty āha. Tib. fies par bsam pa sems pa, thinking bad thoughts, which clearly supports the text, contrary to Foucaux's statement, which Lefm. quotes, that it indicates Upacitta°; fies par = dus-.

duśchardita, nt., (evil) vomit (possibly as food of devils, or perhaps as result of their influence): °tam Mvy 4379; Māy 220.18 etc.

duśchāya, °yā (cf. chāya, °yā), an evil supernatural being, presumably (like chāya, °yā) a defiler of food: °yaḥ Mvy 4384 = Tib. gnod ḥgrib, injurious defiler; °yā Māy 220.19; 245.18.

duḥ-śraddadha, adj. (to pres. śraddadhati = Skt. °dhāti), hard to believe: SP 57.7; 313.10 (both vs).

duḥ-śraddadheya, adj. (dus- plus gḍve. based on pres. śraddadhati, as prec.), = prec.: SP 70.2 (vs).

duṣkara, nt. (= Pali dukkara; Skt. as adj.), difficult task, said of the feats of religious performance accomplished by a Bodhisattva: °rāṇi Mv 1.83.12; 95.15; °raṃ 104.21; °ra-kārakā bodhisattvāḥ AsP 293.9; Gv 74.10; °ra-kāriṇo bodhisattvasya Suv 203.9; °ra-caryā Mvy 6679; LV 36.2; 250.10 ff., or -cārikā Mv 11.130.12, course of (such) difficult tasks (engaged in by Bodhisattvas).

duṣkaraka, (1) nt. = prec.: °kaṃ hi kartum SP 119.6 (vs; -ka may be m.c.); (2) adj. (Skt. duṣkara, also used in this sense, plus -ka svārthe), difficult (to get), extraordinary, rare (with complimentary implication): durlabha-saṃjñā duṣkaraka-saṃjñā Gv 332.7 (prose).

duṣkuhaka, adj. (possibly cf. dukkuha Deśn. 5.44, defined asahana, in comm. also arocakīn), lit. hard to deceive, not credulous (cf. Wogihara, Lex. 24): duṣkuhaka Jāmbudvīpakā (or Jambu°) manuṣyā(h), nābhiśraddadhāsyasi (°yati, °yanti) Divy 7.29; 8.26; 9.30; 10.23; 11.18; 12.8; 13.4; 14.23; 335.20; 336.18; 337.14; (avalokiteśvaraṃ ...) duḥkuhakaṃ lokam upadeśayantam Sādh 77.14.

duṣkṛta, nt. (Skt. id., Pali dukkaṭa), also, rarely, °tā, f., misdeed, sin: (amūlikayā, samūllikayā ...) duṣkṛtayā (sc. vipattiyā or āpattiyā) MSV 11.109.21 (here text with ms. duṣṭatayā, but Tib. fñes byas = duṣkṛta-); 110.2. (Note duṣṭatayā in parallel 111.1, 3, where Tib. fñes bcas; I am not sure which word this represents.)

duṣkha, regularly in ed. and acc. to note on 1.1 'always' in the ms. of Śikṣ for duḥkha, misery.

Duṣṭa, n. of a Prajāpati: Māy 257.20, in a list of twelve P.

duṣṭhula, adj. (also spelled °ṣṭū; = Pali duṭṭhulla, adj. and n.; cf. dausṭhulya; on etym. see below), wicked, grievously evil: °lām āpattim Prāt 504.1 (Chin. une faule grave); MSV 11.79.5 (see atisārin), duṣṭūlāpatīḥ, a-duṣṭu° Hoernle, MR 12.5 (in a Vinaya fragment), rendered grave offense, not ...; in Mvy 8424 °lārocana, 8473 °la-prati-ceñādana, Mironov 'lāprati', telling and (not) concealing what is wicked (no neg. in Tib. and Chin.), the word could (but need not) be considered equal to daṣṭhulya; 'la-samudācārāḥ, of wicked behavior, MSV II.200.17 (of the śādvargika monks). In Prāt 479.12 duṣṭhulayā vācā (cf. Pall Vin. III.128.22) could be rendered with lewd words (making sexual advances to a woman), which acc. to Childers and PTSD is a special (tho not the exclusive) mg. of Pali duṭṭhulla; since no other BHS occurrence of this word or daṣṭhulya suggests this mg., it seems more probable that the standard meaning, gravely evil, prevails here too. Derivation from Skt. Gr. duṣṭhu (pendant to Skt. suṣṭhu) has been plausibly suggested by Lévi, Sūtrāl. vi.2 note 3, and others. Prob. Pall -ulla shows the older form of the ending; on the Pkt. suffix -ulla cf. Pischel 595. Probably daṣṭhulya was first constructed as a hyper-Skt. form from duṭṭhulla; it was restricted to substantive use, and duṣṭhula (which seems to have been much rarer) was a back-formation from it, as adj. Leumann, cited by Wogihara, Lex. 27 f., came fairly close to this suggestion as an alternative (his first proposal seems to me implausible).

duṣpoṣata (= Pall dupoṣata-), opp. of su-p°, q.v., the being hard to feed (to satisfy with alms-food): Mvy 2472, with durbharatā 2473.

duṣprativedha, see prativedha.

Duṣpradhārṣa, n. of a Tathāgata: Śikṣ 9.5; of a Tathāgata in the northern quarter: Sukh 98.1.

[duṣprasamstara ŚsP 112.15, read duṣya-sam°.]

Duṣprasaha, n. of a Buddha in a remote Buddhakṣetra and different universe, but contemporary with Śākyamuni; he stopped preaching when the latter 'turned the wheel of the law': Mv III.342.3 ff.; the same personage may be meant (tho this incident is lacking) by Buddhas of seemingly exceptional renown so named at Sukh 70.1, and (spelled Duṣprasaha) Mmk 64.1; 130.3. duṣprekṣita, Māy 220.19, or duḥpr°, Mvy 4383, nt., evil eye. See s.v. durbhukta.

1 duṣya, adj., evil, = Skt. dūṣya, which Senart's note would read by em.: ye 'duṣyadharmasampannāḥ' Mv III.320.12, who are not endowed with evil characteristics.

2 duṣya, dūṣya, nt. (= Pall dussa; see also kalpa-d°), a kind of cloth, apparently of cotton but of fine quality; see valuable note of Thomas ap. Hoernle MR 138 n.12 (on Kashgar fragment of SP 329.3), with examples of uses to which it is put in Pall and BHS (dress of laymen and -women, not monks; wrapping of corpses; spreads on chairs, and floors; curtains). Spellings with u and ū seem both to occur in mss., but editions are exceptionally confusing. Even the usually so reliable Senart always prints (kalpa-)duṣya, but in his Index reads (kalpa-)dūṣya, without explanation and without citing any v.l. in the Crit. App. In SP usually and in LV only dūṣya is printed; Lefm.'s mss. of LV often read duṣya, or corruptly puṣpa or the like. Recorded duṣya(m) Mvy 5876 (so also Mironov; BR dū°) = Tib. ras beos bu, said to mean calico; duṣyāni Mv I.251.14; duṣya (various forms) Mv I.216.13 = II.19.10; I.227.14; 236.4; Divy 614.17 (mss.); RP 41.2 f. and 56.15 (ms., Finot em. dū°); Suv 126.18 (no ms. has dū°); SP 89.4; Śikṣ 76.12; duṣya-yuga, see below, Mv I.61.1; 331.12; on the other hand, dūṣya SP 75.7 (-paṭa, q.v.); 243.6 (-paṭa); 283.10; 331.6; LV 77.14; 187.13; 284.13; 368.5 (misprinted dūṣpa), Suv 7.8 (but so only 1 ms., the rest dū°); Divy 297.23; Gv 22.3: dūṣya-yuga, see Thomas loc. cit., a double piece of d° (two lengths), SP 119.9; LV 159.12; or, dūṣya-yugma, id., SP 329.3; in Kv 78.22 and 81.7 reap duṣya (or dūṣya) for dhyuṣita, q.v.

Dūramgamā, n. of the 7th Bodhisattva-bhūmi: Mvy 892 (erroneously °mah; Mironov °mā); Dharmas 64; Dbh 5.9 etc.; Bbh 350.9; Lañk 125.17 et alibi.

dūravedha, m., the art of shooting at a target from a distance: Mvy 4991; Divy 100.12; 442.8.

Dūrāroha-buddhi, n. of a former Buddha: Mv 1.140.13. So mss., which I would follow; Senart em. Durā°, but see s.v. Dūrāroha.

dūṣāna, nt. (to dūṣyate, q.v.; = BHS doṣa = Skt. dveṣa), hatred, malice, with doṣa in expl. of dveṣa, parallel with rāga, moha: (rāgasya dveṣasya mohasya; tatra rañjanam rāgo raktir adhyavasānam; rajyate vānena) cittam iti rāgaḥ. dūṣanam doṣaḥ, āghātaḥ ... dūṣyate vānena (5) cittam iti doṣaḥ MadhK 457.(3-)-4.

dr̥ṣṭāntaka (m.; = Skt. °ta plus -ka svārthe, perhaps m.c.), parable, comparison: °kaḥ kāraṇahetubhiḥ ca SP 49.6 (vs).

dr̥ṣṭi, f. (= Pali diṭṭhi), view, opinion; rarely in a good sense, (tena, sc. by Buddha, dr̥ṣṭam acalam param sukham, mss. sukha) dr̥ṣṭibhiḥ paramasādhudr̥ṣṭibhiḥ Mv i.73.17 (vs), he has seen immovable supreme bliss by views characterized by supremely good insight; but, as in Pali, almost always wrong opinion, heresy: SP 71.2; (sattveṣu ... nānā-)dr̥ṣṭi-praskanneṣu LV 248.15, attacked by various heresies; Mv i.179.2, 3; prahīna-d° Mv iii.61.7; 62.12, having abandoned heresy; dr̥ṣṭim kurvāmi ujjuḥkām SP 125.14 (vs), I make a heretical view straight (correct it); five dr̥ṣṭi listed Dharmas 68 and Mvy 1955-59, sattkāya-d°, antagrāha-d°, mithyā-d°, dr̥ṣṭi-parāmarśa, śīlavrata-parāmarśa, qq.v.: these same five under other designations AbhidhK. LaV-P. v.15, as explained in the sequel; there are also, as in Pali, 62 dr̥ṣṭi, see s.v. dr̥ṣṭikṛta; see the following items, and upalambha-(dr̥ṣṭi).

-dr̥ṣṭika, lfc. (= Pali -diṭṭhika), having a (usually false) belief in ...; or, in Bhvr., = dr̥ṣṭi, (false) belief, (usually) heresy; always said of persons: vigatāpāpadr̥ṣṭikāś ca LV 26.9 (prose), rid of evil heresies; pudgala-d° Bbh 46.24, believing in the person; ātma-dr̥ṣṭikāḥ, sattva-, jīva-, pudgala-, Vaj 34.5-6; in good sense, samāna-°tikā-nām MSV iii.101.8 = samānadr̥ṣṭibhir 100.9.

dr̥ṣṭi-kṛta (also dr̥ṣṭi°), nt., app. equivalent to dr̥ṣṭi-gata, q.v.; matter, item of heresy, instance of heresy: Mvy 4650 °tam = Tib. lta bar ḥgyur ba (perhaps changed into or become heresy), or lta bar byas pa (made heresy, a lit. rendering); in 4651 dr̥ṣṭi-gatam is defined lta baḥi rnam pa (class, species of heresy), or lta bar gyur ba (= ḥgyur ba, above); important are KP 18.3 (prose) dr̥ṣṭikṛtānām, resumed 18.8 by dr̥ṣṭi (read m.c. dr̥ṣṭi)-gatan (m.c. for -gatān = -gatāny), both being rendered by Tib. lta bar gyur pa (cf. above), and so KP 109.2 (prose) dr̥ṣṭigatānām (Tib. lta bar gyur pa), resumed 109.7 (vs) by dr̥ṣṭikṛtānām (Tib. lta bar gyur); in KP 112.1-2 (prose) and 5 (vs) both times dr̥ṣṭikṛta (or dr̥ṣṭi°), Tib. lta bar gyur pa (prose) and lta gyur (vs); SP 62.15 vimucya tā dr̥ṣṭikṛtāni sarvaśaḥ; Śikṣ 190.1 dr̥ṣṭikṛtāni vinodayanti; Gv 463.9 vinivartayitāraḥ sarva-dr̥ṣṭikṛtānām; MadhK 374.7 °kṛtāni (fn.: 'expression assez rare; cf. dr̥ṣṭigata'); 447.10 (tasyai-vam vikālpayataḥ) syād dr̥ṣṭikṛtam, if he fancies thus, it would be a case of heresy. There are 62 heresies: dvāṣaṣṭi-dr̥ṣṭikṛta nīṣcayitvā (read nīṣrayitvā, q.v.) SP 48.6 (vs); see Burnouf's note on this; Childers s.v. diṭṭhi; LaVallée-Poussin, AbhidhK. ix.265, note.

dr̥ṣṭi-gata (also dr̥ṣṭi°), sometimes even in prose; = Pali diṭṭhigata, nt., rarely masc., lit. what relates to heresy, substantially = dr̥ṣṭi, heresy; cf. in Pali MN comm. i.71.20 diṭṭhi yeva diṭṭhigatam, gūthagatam (text gutha°) viya; cf. also dr̥ṣṭi-kṛta, which is not recorded in Pali or elsewhere; and see s.v. gata: Mvy 4651; KP 18.8; 109.2, see dr̥ṣṭi-kṛta (Tib. renderings noted there); pāpakāni akusālāni dr̥ṣṭigatāny utpannāni LV 398.3 = Mv iii.317.7; dr̥ṣṭigatāni LV 398.10; Jm 146.7; Bbh 228.1; °gatam Śikṣ 61.19; other, misc. forms Mv iii.67.9; 353.15 (°gateṣu, mss., Senart °gatiṣu); Śikṣ 18.4; KP 154.9; Gv 117.3; 508.15; dr̥ṣṭi-gatāni Mv iii.318.14 (prose: v.l. dr̥ṣṭi°); °gatam Suv 61.13 (vs, I may be m.c.); other dr̥ṣṭigata, in prose, KP 94.3; 95.4; masc. dr̥ṣṭigatān Divy 164.19, 22; dr̥ṣṭigatan (m.c. for °tān, °tāny) KP 18.8 (vs).

dr̥ṣṭi-parāmarśa, m. (= Pali diṭṭhi-parāmāsa), lit. clinging, attachment (see parāmr̥ṣati) to heresy, as one of the five dr̥ṣṭi: Dharmas 68; Mvy 1958; paraphrased AbhidhK. LaV-P. v.15, 18 as hīnocca-d°, regarding as high what is low (evil).

dr̥ṣṭiṣa (subst.; in Skt. as adj. with nouns for snake, so also here, LV 317.8, prose), having poison in the glance, a snake (perh. a particular kind of snake?); na simhavindam... dr̥ṣṭiṣāṇām (°i° m.c.) api nāsti vṛndam LV 314.1 (vs); āśviṣā bhujaga dr̥ṣṭiṣāś ca ghorāḥ 339.2 (vs); is this a noun, distinct from āśviṣā and bhujaga? so the ca seems to suggest).

dr̥ṣṭi- (in cpds.), see dr̥ṣṭi-.

-dekkhiya, Mīdic, worthy to be seen, implied by a-dekṣiya, q.v.

deyadharmā, m. (= Pali deyyadhamma, primarily adj. and may have nt. gender, AN i.166.12 deyyadhammam, n. sg., see comm. ii.265.32, 266.3), meritorious gift, lit. having the quality of something that should be given: °ma-parityāgāt Mv ii.276.10, as a result of having given meritorious gifts; °ma-parityāgena Av ii.117.4; °mam, acc., Mv iii.426.6; (ayam) asya °mo yat tathāgatasya pāṃsvaṇjallh pātre prakṣiptaḥ Divy 369.3; bhagavacchāsane sarvadeyadharmāḥ samucchinnāḥ Av i.308.6.

delu, nt., a high number: Gv 133.20; = elu, m. or f., q.v.

deva (Skt.), often also devaputra (rare in Skt., common in Pali devaputta), god. More or less complete and corresponding lists of the classes of Buddhist gods are given in Pali in MN iii.100 ff.; Kvu 207, 208; Abhidh-s. (here called Abh) 21; Childers (Ch) 467 has a list nearly agreeing with the last; in BHS, in Mvy 3075 ff.; Dharmas 127 ff.; Mv (1) ii.314.4 ff.; (2) 348.16 ff.; LV 150.2 ff.; Av i.5.1 ff. (et alibi); Divy (1) 68.12 ff.; (2) 138.19 ff.; (3) 367.9 ff.; (4) 568.24 ff.; Bbh 61.27 ff.; Gv 249.10 ff. (the last in reverse order). There are other lists, mostly fragmentary, and often so confused as to be hardly usable. The gods fall into three grand divisions: kāmāvacara, living in the kāmadhātu (cf. Mvy 3071-4), usually six in number; rūpāvacara, in the rūpadhātu; ārūpyāvacara, in the ārūpyadhātu. Cf. also the 9 sattvāvāsa, Mvy 2288 ff. (Pali DN 3.263). — Kāmāvacara (deva). The standard list is: cāturmahārājika (BHS sometimes cat°); often °rājakāyika, so in Mvy, Dharmas, Divy 2, Bbh; trāyastriṃśa (Av, Divy, Bbh, trayas°); yāma (Bbh yama); tuṣṭa (in Dharmas before yāma); nirmāṇarati (see also nirmita°); paranirmittavaśavartin. The Gv list omits 1 and 2. Before 1, Mvy inserts bhauma and antarikṣavāsin, making 8 instead of 6. So Mv 2 prefixes bhūmyām (see s.v. bhūmi) va carā (devāḥ); so read with mss.; va = eva and antarikṣecarā(h). While no other of the above lists has these two items, bhauma and antarikṣa (or antarikṣa; adjective) devas are associated with shorter lists (generally of kāmāvacara, or some of them, alone) in LV 266.1; 367.7 and 368.3; 396.14; 401.1; and correspondingly bhūmya and antarikṣecara (deva) in Mv i.40.14; 229.14, 15; 240.3, 4; ii.138.12 and elsewhere. — Rūpāvacara (deva) dwell in the rūpadhātu (Mvy 3073), divided into the four dhyāna-bhūmi (Mvy 3084 ff., see dhyāna), the last of which includes, as its final and highest group, the suddhāvāsakāyika gods, in five sub-groups. These being counted separately, the standard list of rūpāvacara contains usually 18 items in BHS, 16 in Pali, as follows. First dhyāna-bhūmi, usually 4 items, in Pali 3: brahmakāyika (not in Pali lists, but the word occurs, acc. to Childers as an inclusive term for the classes of the first dhyāna-bhūmi; perhaps rather for all the rūpāvacara, or for them plus the ārūpāvacara, since they all inhabit brahmalokas, Childers s.v.; in Gv also omitted; in Mv put second, brahmā (devā) being first in Mv 1, and mahābrahmā in Mv 2); brahma-pāriṣadya (Dharmas, LV, Divy 4 °pāriṣadya, Gv °pārṣada; om. Mv 1, Divy 1-3, Av, Bbh; after brahmapurohita in Dharmas, LV, Mv 2, Divy 4; our order is that of Mvy, Gv, Pali); brahmapurohita (Gv omits brahma by haplography), mahābrahman (or °hma; as no. 1 in Mv 2). Second dhyāna-bhūmi, regularly 3 items in BHS and Pali; but Mv 1 and 2 and Pali MN iii.102.25 prefix another, ābhā(h) (misprinted abhā in MN) devā(h): parittābha (Divy 1-3 mss. paritā°; Mv 1 omits); apramāṇābha (Mv 1 omits); ābhāsvara (Divy 3 apramāṇābhāsvara). Third dhyāna-bhūmi, regularly 3 items in BHS and Pali; Mv and Pali MN iii.102.30 add another, śubhā devāḥ (Pali subhā devā): parittasubha (Mv 2 omits); apramāṇasubha (Dharmas omits), śubhakṛtsna. Fourth dhyāna-bhūmi, usually three items in BHS, one in Pali, plus (sometimes app. included in the 4th dhy. bh. but sometimes not, cf. Childers s.v. jhānam) the five suddhāvāsakāyika (kāyika), who are usually not given this separate group-designation in the lists (but are so designated e.g. in Mvy 3101 and Abh): anabhraka (Pali and Mv omit); puṇyaprasava (Pali and Mv omit); vṛhatphala (so only Mvy and Mv 2 in BHS, others brh°, but Pali vapphala); only in Dharmas, LV, and Abh of Pali there follows asamjñisattva, Pali (Abh) asaññasatta, a term which occurs as the 5th sattvāvāsa in the Pali list of these DN iii.263.9 ff. (preceding the ārūpadhātu), while in the corresponding list of 9 sattvāvāsa in Mvy (2297) it is made the 9th and highest, above the ārūpadhātu (an obvious error of Mvy); this item is also given in Childers's list and is needed to make up the traditional Pali number of 16 rūpa-brahmaloka. Then all lists have the five suddhāvāsakāyika: avṛha (Av, Divy 1-3, Bbh abṛha, Gv abṛhat); atapa (Gv atapo, as s-stem); sudṛśa (Mv 1 omits); sudarśana (Mv 2 omits; Divy 1 sudarśa); akanīṣṭha (for the Pali forms see these words). Here Mvy alone adds as additional stages of suddhāvāsakāyika, aghaniṣṭha and mahāmaheśvarāyatanam (see these words). — The ārūpyāvacara gods dwell in the four ārūpyadhātu bhūmi listed (only in Mvy and Dharmas, and in Pali MN, Abh, and Childers) as ākāśānantyāyatana, vijñānānantyāyatana, ākīrcanyāyatana, and naivasamjñānāsamjñāyatana; the gods dwelling in them are described in Dharmas as °āyatanopagāḥ (see s.v. upaga; similarly Pali °āyatanūpagā). In Suv 86.11 ff., curiously, the first three 'stages', ending °āyatana, are personified as gods (°āyatanānām kotīṣatam), while only with the last °āyatanopagatānām (for °nopagatānām) is used. The first of the four is found in the Pali Kvu list also. For the Pali forms of the names see s.vv.

devakulika, see dalva°.

Devakuśa, n. of a brother of Kuśa: Mv ii.433.16.

Devagarbha, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.139.1.

Devagupta, n. of two former Buddhas: Mv i.137.9; 140.12.

Devaguru, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.141.11.

Devacūḍa, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.139.7.

Devadaha, m. (= Pali Deva-daha; Pali, AMg. dāha for Skt. Lex. draha = Skt. hrada; domal d seems not to be recorded anywhere else), n. of a Śākya village (nigama): °ho Mv i.355.15; °hato 357.1; in 356.5, 7 mss. corruptly deva-ubha (em. Senart).

devata, m., nt., divinity; interpreted by Weller 36 as = Skt. dalvata; that may have something to do with it, but see § 9.4; in part it seems also a matter of use of m. and nt. endings (and modifiers) with f. noun (devatā): kasmān name devate (acc. pl.) LV 120.12 (vs), why should he bow to the gods?; devatāḥ 221.5 and 10 (vss; only v.l. devaḥ, unmetr.); -devatāḥ, °tair also 281.5, 8 (vs, no v.l.); kiṃcid giridevatam vā nadīdevatam vā (n. sg.) 382.6 (prose; Calc. dalv°); ete catvāro bodhivṛkṣadevatās (m. n. pl.) 401.22 (prose), and tān devatān (acc. pl.) 402.2; anye... -devatāḥ 421.9 (vs), and in next line teṣāṃ, referring to these devatāḥ; in Divy 209.5 (prose) anekābhīr Vaiśālivananīvāsīnībhīr devatair (despite fem. adjs.!).

?devataṭika (-pravrajitā, f.), prob. a corruption concealing the name of some kind of (female) ascetics: devanīrmālyahomena devat'jitā ca vaśyā bhavanti Mmk 714.11 (prose; in prec. line, by another means, kulastriyo vaśyā bhavanti).

Devatā-sūtra, n. of a work: Karmav 89.6; 94.6. See Lévi on the latter. The corresp. Pali sutta is the Kīṃdada s., but it is part of the Devatā-saṃyutta, the first division of SN.

devatī = devatā (the form °tī is cited by Ratnach. from a manuscript work as = Devakī, the mother of Kṛṣṇa), divinity: only noted in Sādh, but fairly common there, by the side of devatā; devatyah, °tyo Sādh 140.11; 180.10; 185.19; -tyor, loc. dual, 191.22; daśadevatiparivṛtam 195.6; sarvasām °tīnām 199.4, etc.

Devadatta (1) (= Pali id.), n. of a Śākya, relative of the Buddha and inimical to him: son of Śuklodana, brother of Ananda and Upadhāna, Mv iii.176.15; after the Bodhisattva's retirement asks Yaśodharā to marry him, Mv ii.69.2; kills an elephant at the city gate but cannot remove it, Mv ii.74.13 ff.; various previous incarnations identified, Mv i.128.14; ii.72.10; Divy 328.11; instigated Ajātaśatru to parricide, Divy 280.18; Av i.83.6; 308.5; other refs., Mvy 3610; LV 144.10 ff.; 152.14 ff.; 154.1 ff.; enters the order of monks, Av ii.112.4; hostility to Buddha, Av i.88.6; 177.6 ff.; Karmav 45.3; as a typically, proverbially evil person, Karmav 49.4; RP 36.3; Devadatto-drakasmācāro Śikṣ 105.17, characterized by conduct like D. and U.; (2) n. of an evidently virtuous monk, follower of Buddha, to whom in a previous birth he had taught a holy text, and for whom the Buddha now predicts future Buddhahood: SP 259.2 ff. (only in prose; no verse account of this incident; prob. a late intrusion).

devadundubhi, m. or f. (= Pali id.), pl., drums of the gods (thunder): Divy 203.10; MPS 17.19, 21.

devaputra, see deva.

Devaputra-māra (= Pali Devaputta°), one of the four Māras, see s.v. Māra.

Devapurā (v.l. °ra, nt.), n. of the capital of the former Buddha Sudarśana: Mv iii.235.18; 236.8.

Devaprabha, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 3.17.

Devamakuta, (1) n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 3.4; (2) n. of a Buddha: Gv 258.7.

Devamati, (1) n. of a past cakravartin, whose wife was later reborn as the goddess Pramuditānayanajagadvirocana: Gv 255.10; (2) n. of a Buddha: Gv 284.15.

Devamatiprabha, n. of a kinnara: Mvy 3415.

Devamitrā, n. of a rākṣasi: Māy 241.14.

Devarāja, n. of a future Buddha, who, it is predicted, will be a future incarnation of Devadatta (2): SP 259.7 ff.

Devarājagupta, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.138.1.

Devarājaprabha, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.141.6.

?devala, a high number: Gv 106.2. Cf. hevara; perhaps read so, or hevala, here; but Gv 133.9 hetura.

deva-lipi, a kind of script: LV 126.2; so also Tib. lha-, god.

Devolakābhilaṣita (so most mss.; Senart with one ms. °lāṣita), n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.138.1.

Devavacanā, n. of a 'gandharva maid': Kv 5.7.

Devavālāha, see Vālāha.

Devaśarman, n. of a yakṣa: Māy 76.

Devaśīri-, see Devaśīri-.

Devasuddha, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 442.23.

Devaśīri, (1) n. of a (Buddhist) monk: Gv 47.10; (2) (°śīri, m.c.) n. of a kalpa: Gv 256.15 (vs).

Devaśīrigarbha, (1) n. of a Bodhisattva: Dbh 2.10; (2-3) n. of two Buddhas (in form °śīri°, m.c.): Gv 256.18 and 259.8 (vss).

Devasattva, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.139.2.

devasika, MIndic for dalv°, q.v.

Devasiddhayātra (v.l. °pātra), n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.137.2.

devasumanas, m., a kind of flower: °nāh Mvy 6206 = Tib. lha yid dgaḥ, god-mind-pleasing (literal); the insertion of ms. H cited by Lefm. on LV 11.3 contains the word in a cpd. devasumanotpala-, confirmed by Tib. lhaḥi sna mahl me tog, flower of nutmeg of the gods (sna ma, reported to mean nutmeg flower, Jā. and Das).

Devasopānā, n. of the lokadhātu of the future Buddha Devarāja: SP 259.9.

Devābharāṇa, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.138.3.

Devābhika, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.141.2.

Devālamkṛta, n. of a former Buddha: Mv i.139.6.

Devāvatarāṇa, nt., n. of a place: Karmav 78.16. It seems safe to assume that it means Devāvātāra; cf. (Sāṃkāśye nagare) devāvātaraṇaṃ vidarsītaṃ bhavati Divy 150.23.

Devāvātāra, m., n. of a place, = Sāṃkāśya, q.v.: °raḥ Mvy 4103; °re Māy 105 (the Chin. comms. cited by Lévi 115 make the identification); °re mahācālye Sāṃkāśye mahāprāthīhārike Mmk 88.14 (vs). Cf. prec.

Devāvātāra-sūtra, n. of a work: Karmav 159.18 (see Lévi's note).

Devī, n. of a yakṣiṇī: Sādh 561.2 (but possibly only an epithet of one of the names which adjoin this word in a long cpd. listing names of yakṣiṇī).

Devendragarbha, n. of a Tathāgata: Gv 360.9.

Devendracūḍa, n. of two presumably different Tathāgatas: Gv 259.1; 361.5.

Devendrabuddhi, n. of a teacher: Mvy 3490.

Devendrarāja, n. of a Bodhisattva: Gv 4.6.

Devendra-samaya, nt., n. of a 'royal science' (rāja-śāstra) taught in Suv Chap. 12: Suv 69.18; 131.9; 132.6 ff. It deals with kingship, and seems to have been originally an independent work; Nobel, Introd. XLI.

deśa, nt. (otherwise m.), part (here, of the body; not common in Skt., but see śāriradeśebhyaḥ BṛhU 4.4.3; common in AMg., see Ratnach. s.v. deśa 5): na ca te 'ntarā kāyu kadāci cālito, na hasta-pādaṃ no pi cānya deśam SP 161.9 (vs; mss., except Kashgar rec. griva for deśa; KN em. cānyad-aṅgam, kept by WT without note), and your body never moved, not your hands or feet, nor any other part.

-deśaka, f. °ikā, adj. ifc. (to Skt. deśayati plus -aka), showing, exhibiting: pañcadaśa-(and, ṣoḍaśa-)varṣa-deśikā Mv iii.282.8-9, (girls created by magic) showing (an apparent age of) 15 or 16 years. See also dharma-deśaka.

deśana, nt. (= °nā 2, q.v.), confession; see atyaya-d°.

deśanatā = deśanā, (1) preaching, in dharma-d° Bbh 82.18; (2) confession: Bhad 12.

deśanā (= Pali des°; to Skt. or BHS deśayati plus -anā), (1) preaching, in this sense Skt., hardly specifically Buddh., but see °nā-pāṭha, dharma-d°, (°nā-)matsarin; also, deśanā dharmasya Mv i.42.10; 53.5; °nā naranāgāṇām (= Buddhāṇām) Mv i.168.4; deśanā-naya, the way of verbal instruction, in Lañk 148.10 ff., 172.6, distinct from and inferior to siddhānta-(pratyavasthāna-)naya, the finally approved way, which is that of immediate personal realization, see Suzuki, Studies, 409 (where other citations of this depreciative use of deśanā in Lañk); La Vallée Poussin, HJAS 3.137 ff.; (2) confession (so Pali, e.g. Jāt. v.379.22 desanaṃ paṭigāṇhanto; not in PTSD, Childers): °nā-parivarta Suv 20.1, Confession, title of Chap. 3; °nā-gāthāḥ 21.8; pāpa-d° Dharmas 14; °nādyam tu pāpāder Sādh 72.13, et alibi; see also atyaya-d°; (3) see s.v. gaṇḍī-(deśanā).

deśanā-pāṭha (m.), sermon-reading, verbal instruction or text; acc. to Suzuki, always depreciative in Lañk; so (thinks S.) °tha-kathām Lañk 12.17 contrasting with tathāgatapratyātmagocarakathām 16; I am not sure that I understand this passage, but deśanāpāṭhābhiratāṇām sattvānām 14.2 is certainly depreciative; as to deśanāpāthe 16.12, I am again uncertain; yāni deśanāpāthe (Suzuki, canonical texts) 'nusaṃvaritāny ānantaryāni 139.9, these are among the 'external' (bāhyāni, 139.6) acts-of-immediate-fruit; in 222.19 etad eva... mayā Śrīmālām devīm adhiṣṭṛya deśanāpāthe..., there seems nothing depreciative, even in Suzuki's rendering, this... was told by me in the canonical text relating to Queen Śrīmālā (viz., the Śrīmālasīmaṇāda-sūtra?).

deśayati or °seti (= Pall deseti; see also diśati, 2, 3), (1) communicates, teaches: Mvy 2770; almost always with dharma, the Doctrine, as object, and very common everywhere: SP 63.10 (ppp. deśitu, dharma), 12; 92.14; 199.7; 264.6; 317.10; LV 409.10; 416.22; Mv 1.52.11; 60.6; 73.10 (deśitā daśabalena, subject skandhā); iii.51.12; 201.9; 357.11; dharma in different sense, (nāhaṃ... ye) dharmā anityās te nityato deśayāmi Mv 1.173.2, I do not teach that states-of-being which are impermanent are permanent; deśanām Suv 28.11 and 29.1; deśayāmo Bhik 6b.1, communicate, make known; text ppp. deśayito, yo imu Bhadracarī-praṇidhānam dhārayi vācayī deśayito vā Bhad 54, but read opt., deśay' ito vā, or teaches from it; (2) confesses: see s.v. atyaya, where SP 210.1; 212.7; LV 409.22 are cited; tat (pāpakam karma) sarvaṃ deśayisyāmi Suv 25.4; similarly 27.8, 10 etc.; (karma kṛtaṃ...) deśayati Karmav 47.26; see also deśya; (3) displays, exhibits, in the sense of darśayati: deśenti Mv 1.170.2, cited s.v. upadeśeti, q.v. for reasons against em. to darś°.

doṣā, adv. (Skt. chiefly Vedic; cf. Skt. doṣām, Pall dosam), last evening: Mv ii.258.5 (prose).

dohalaka, m. (= Skt. dohala, °da; cf. Skt. dohadaka, pw), pregnancy-longing: tasyā (mss. tasya) kākiye rājabhojanena dohalako Mv iii.125.16 (prose).

daukūlaka, nt. (Skt. °la plus -ka svārthe), a garment made of the fine fabric dukūla: °kam Mvy 9162 (text misprinted °kul°, Index °kūl°).

daumya, adj. (cf. AMg. dūmiya, white; dūmaṇa, also dumaṇa, nt., making white; not in Skt. or Pall), white: site daumye tathā śukle (sc. paṭe) Mmk 131.20 (vs).

daurgandha, nt. (Skt. durgandha plus -a; Skt. daurgandhya; this is a quite possible Skt. formation, cf. Speyer on Av 1.280.1), bad odor: Divy 57.20 (°dham mukhān nīscarati); 193.21; Av 1.280.1; ii.167.2. daurmanasya-tā (= Skt. °sya), dejection: Mv ii.355.17 (vs; not cpd.).

daurmanasyita, denom. ppp. from Skt. daurmanasya, used as subst., dejection: Samādh p. 29 line 21. Or is this an error or misprint for °sya-tā, prec.?

daurvacasya, nt. (= Pall dovacassa, which, with dubbaca, is wrongly defined PTSD, see SBE 13.12 n. 1), the quality of being hard to talk to, i. e. not receptive to good advice, a saṃghāvaśeṣa sin: Mvy 8381 = Tib. bkaḥ blo mi bde pa, not putting one's mind on advice; MSV iii.88.5; cf. daurvarṇika, °ṇiya (only Mv ii.392.13), written also dauv°, nt. (Skt. durvarṇa plus -ika, -(i)ya; cf. AMg. duvarṇa; form without r may be genuine analogical creation to sauv°, suv°, frequent antonym), ugliness, ill-favoredness: 18 kinds, cited from gloss on Aśokāvadāna by Speyer, note on Av ii.52.11; the number 18 also Av ii.175.6; Divy 411.14; dau-v° SP 293.1 (vs), all mss. lack -r- acc. to KN, yet WT dauv° without note; Av ii.52.11, mss., Speyer em. dauv°; Mv ii.392.13 (vs), mss. dauvarṇa(m) yaṃ, Senart em. daurvarṇyaṃ; mss. dauvarṇika Divy 411.14 (em. °varṇ°); daurvarṇika attributed to ms. only Av ii.175.6.

dausṭhulya, spelled in Mvy 2102 (also Mironov) °ṣṭulya, in Das, Tib. Dict. s.v. gnas ṇan lan (for which Mvy, and Lévi, Sūtrāl. vi.2 note 3, read len, Lévi adds pa) dausṭhūlya, nt. (Pall dūṭhulla; see s.v. dusṭhūla), gross wickedness, depravity: AbhidhK.LaV-P. v.2, mauvais état; apparently very general word, applied to any wickedness; e. g. kāya-dau° Śikṣ 116.17 is illustrated by hasta-vikṣepaḥ etc.; kāya-d° utpādayet, vāg-d°... mano-d°... ŚsP 281.16 ff.; anādikāla-prapañca-d°-vāsana Lañk 38.7, etc.; Bbh 9.1; 14.26; 20.6, etc., common in these texts.

dausprajña, adj. (in mg. = Skt. duṣprajña, Pall duppañña; app. formally from Skt. duṣ-prajñā plus -a; cf. next), unwise: °jñāḥ Mvy 7070; (na) ca bodhisattvo dausprajña-dānam (a gift to the unwise) dadāti, dadat prajña-dānam eva dadāti Bbh 123.16.

dausprajñiṇi (nt.; from Skt. duṣprajña, or BHS dauṣ°, plus -(i)ya), unwisdom: °yaṃ ca vijahati Mv ii.392.14 (vs).

dyutiṃdhara, (1) adj. (= Pall jutim°, brilliant, glorious: pārthivendrār °dharār Divy 398.21 (vs); (2) n. of a nāga-king: Māy 247.11; (3) n. of a mountain: Māy 253.28.

Drōṇavastuka, nt., n. of a village in Kośala, home of Pūrṇa Maitrāyaṇīputra; cf. Pali Doṇavatthu, home of Puṇṇa Mantānīputta: Mv iii.377.8.

droṇī (= Pali doṇī), the wooden body of a lute (from its 'tub'-like shape): ASP 515.19 (cited s.v. upadhāni).

Drōṇodana, n. of a brother of Śuddhodana; app. corresponds to Dhautodana, q.v.: Mvy 3601 = Tib. bre bo (= droṇa) zas; Av ii.111.7, with Amṛtodana as a leading Śākya.

drohīṇya, nt. (seemingly Skt. drohin plus -ya; no such formation recorded; = drauhīṇya, q.v.), injuriously malice: Gv 459.15 (prose) sattva-drohīṇyāni soḍhavyāni.

Draupadī, n. of a devakumārīkā (or of two? see below) in the Western Quarter: Mv iii.308.9; LV 390.6. Mss. of both confused, and readings doubtful; Senart reads kṛṣṇā śukrā ca dr°, the dark and light Dr.; LV may go back to some such reading; some of its mss. and Lefm.'s. text contain kṛṣṇā. It hardly needs to be recalled that Kṛṣṇā was the name of the epic heroine known as Draupadī.

drauhīṇya (nt.), so read for ed. drauhīya, = drohīṇya, q.v., injuriously malice: Śikṣ 279.5 sattva-drauhīṇya-doṣaḥ (Tib. cited as ḥkhru baḥi naṅ tshul can).

dvaya (nt.), (sexual) coupling, copulation: sa nehaiva mātrgrāmeṇa sārdaṃ dvayaṃ samāpadyate Śikṣ 76.8, he does not by any means enter into copulation with a woman; dvaya-dvaya-samāpattiḥ Mvy 9469, copulation, lit. attaining (entering into, sc. a state of) couple by couple.

dvaya-mati, doubt (lit. double thought): ti-vimocaka* LV 360.2 (vs), O freer from doubt!

dvātrimśata = śat*, thirty-two; see § 19.34.

dvādaśavarga, consisting of a group of twelve (nuns), necessary for ordination of a nun (whereas ten monks have this power, see daśavarga): Bhik 19a.1 bhikṣuṇīnām dvādaśavarge maṇḍalake.

dvādaśavargika, fem. kā*, with or without bhikṣuṇī, pl., prob. not = next but to prec. plus -ika, *members of the varga: MSV ii.144.1, 16.

dvādaśavargīya, f. yā*, pl., belonging to a group of twelve (nuns; clearly not heretics as stated in Index): yābhiḥ śrutam* Divy 493.12; yābhiḥ* 495.23. No such group has been discovered in Pali; the context in Divy is my only source of knowledge of the meaning. It can hardly mean members of the dvādaśavarga, q.v., in the sense of quorum for ordination. Apparently these nuns were given to cavilling and trouble-making; they object to functions assigned to (Cūḍa-)Panthaka.

dvāra-kośa (m.; = Pali kosa*, Vin. iv.47.23), app. door-frame: in the corrupt and fragmentary passage Prāt 506.10 ff., mahallakam bhikṣuṇā vihāraṃ kārayatā yāvad dvārakośārgaḍasthāpajna ālokaśamta (read āloka-sam-dhi, q.v.?) bhūmi ... (lacuna). In the same passage in Pali (Vin., above), yāva dvārakośā aggaḷaṭṭhapanāya ālokaśamdhīparikammāya.

dvāra-koṣṭha (m.), = next: (Jetavanavihāre ... sopānāni ...) koṣṭhe ca muktāpatakālāpapralambitāni* Kv 7.23 (prose). Here seems to mean the upper part, top story, over the entrance(s) to the vihāra.

dvāra-koṣṭhaka, m. (= Pali koṭṭhaka*; cf. carana-koṣṭha), lit. gate-room; a room, or (often) roofed but open space, over a gate or entrance (to a private house, religious edifice, or city); such spaces, guarded by railings and covered but open in front, are seen in the 'cave-temples' of Ajanta etc. Also, perhaps by extension, seems to be used in the sense of gate, entrance; and sometimes it is hard to say which is meant: °ke sthityā Divy 17.12, at the gate (entrance, to a house); bhagavāms tasya (sc. of a private person, at his house) dvārakoṣṭhakam anuprāptaḥ; dauvārikapuruseṇāya niveditam, bhagavān dvāre (note! = °koṣṭhake) tiṣṭhatīti Av 1.31.10, is standing at the gate; Divy 535.11 ff., here app. a city-gate; bahirdvārakoṣṭhaka (= Pali bahidvārakoṭṭhaka), the space outside the gate: °kasyaṅkānte Bhik 3b.2 (here prob. of the vihāra-gate); jetavanam gataḥ... dvāra°ke sthityāgarum dhūpitavān Av 1.24.2; in the last it is hard to say whether the gateway, or the space over it, is meant; app. of the space over the entrance to a vihāra, °ke pañcagaṇḍakam cakram kārayitavyam Divy 300.8, 9, 25; (stūpasya...) catvāro °kā māpitāḥ Divy 244.17; (dvitīyamaṇḍale) °ke Mmk 47.26; others, Jm 19.17; 20.1; MSV 1.168.12 etc.

dvārapālīni (cf. Skt. °pālīkā; f. to °pāla), female doorkeeper: Sādh 502.13.

Dvārapālī, n. of a town: °līyām, loc., Māy 13 (see Lévi p. 62).

Dvāravatī, n. of a city, said to be in the south, and residence of the god Mahādeva: Gv 218.6 ff.

dvāra-śākhī, acc. to Chin. door-frame: Mvy 5569 (so also Mironov; BR °khā) = Tib. sgo (door) skyobs (or, skyes; ing. of both obscure to me). BR cite Skt. Lex. dvāra-śākhā, Thürpfügel.

Dvārasvaraprabhūtaśā, n. of a Tathāgata: Gv 312.3.

dvi, m.c. for dve, q.v.

Dvijātirājan (Senart nom. sg. °rājāḥ, most mss. °rājāḥ, pointing to stem °rājan), n. of a former Buddha: Mv 1.140.12.

dvijihvika, adj. (Skt. °hva), double-tongued, falsely speaking: °kā (m. n. pl.) bhavanti, anyathā nidarśayanti Śikṣ 61.21.

dvitīya, adj. (cf. Pali dutiya, for Skt. dvitīya; § 3.41), second; rare and only m.c. in BHS (so also trītiya, q.v.); in many of the following cases some or all of the mss. read I, tho meter justifies em. to i: SP 46.11, 14; 91.7; 158.1; LV 94.8; 175.10; Mv ii.134.7 (see s.v. dvitīyā; Senart dutiya, but I have not found du- written for dvi- in this word); in Gv 257.10, 20 text dvitīyu, meter requires °iyu. All vss.

dvitīyakam, adv. (= Pali dutiyakam, Skt. dvitīyam; see also dvaitīyakam), for the second time: SP 315.2, 7; Mv 1.346.20; iii.49.2, 7; 189.8; AsP 182.13. All prose.
