

An RDM toolkit for the research community

Why an RDM Toolkit?

The Research Data Management (RDM) toolkit is a signposting service that gathers useful resources on the topic.

It includes brief and accessible descriptions to help users gain a good understanding of RDM.

Resources for:

-  Researchers
-  Research support staff
-  IT specialists

Features

- Permissive CC-BY licence
- Browsing via the RDM lifecycle diagram
- RDM newsletters and events
- Links to institutional RDM pages
- Quarterly updates

Training material

The toolkit works as an accessible training manual on RDM.

Users with different levels of experience and roles can find material to learn more or update their knowledge.
