Oxford University Press Archives, Oxford, Schulz PB ED 010383, 5 (1 pg.): Martha Schulz to Cordy (?) (5.8.1958); attended memorial service in Bonn for S., heard of making German edition of the two books, am very pleased should it come true (Photographed)

Oxford University Press Archives, Oxford, Schulz PB ED 010383, 6 (1 pg.): Martha Schulz to Cordy (9.6.1961); thanks for 2/3 of the royalties (Photographed)

Oxford University Press Archives, Oxford, Schulz PB ED 010383, 7 (1 pg.): note of P.J. Spicer (OUP) on Schulz (16.9.1952); finances and health precarious, History will be reprinted, disappointed in sales of Classical Roman law, urged him to write on the Institutes of Justinian (Photographed)

Oxford University Press Archives, Oxford, Schulz PB ED 010383, 8 (1 pg.): Spicer to Schulz (26.2.1952); History will be reprinted, will permit a German edition (Photographed)

Oxford University Press Archives, Oxford, Schulz PB ED 010383, 9 (2 pg.): Schulz to Sisam (4.4.1943); Manual did not progress as speedily as I had hoped, translation of De Zulueta a bit gray and colourless, revised the footnotes which I have cancelled (Photographed)

Oxford University Press Archives, Oxford, Schulz PB ED 010383, 10 (2 pg.): Sisam to Schulz (14.2.1945); instead of the elaborate procedure you suggest, please just number the footnotes consecutively (First page: Photographed)

Oxford University Press Archives, Oxford, Schulz PB ED 010383, 11 (1 pg.): Schulz to Sisam (13.2.1945); we might spare money with another procedure at the printer's regarding the footnotes, '...in the days of my political activity I was collaborator of a news paper in Göttingen...' (Photographed)

Oxford University Press Archives, Oxford, Schulz PB ED 010383, 12 (1 pg.): Sisam to Schulz (12.2.1945); '...despite all the difficulties of the times (...) I shall not complain of its length (of the MS of 'History' - JG)', not much an author can do to help the printing workmen (Photographed)

Oxford University Press Archives, Oxford, Schulz PB ED 010383, 13 (3 pg.): Schulz to Sisam (11.2.1945); manuscript for 'History' complete, revised by De Zulueta, attempted to get RHDFE and Italian periodicals since 1939, beg the delegates to accept the MS in its current form, sketch of Roman jurisprudence does not exist in England, Krüger is out of date, 'The idea of this book is to relieve the History History of Roman jurisprudence from the barren juristic isolation and to understand and to write this history as a part of Antiquity', Mommsen, Wilamowitz, but with sociological, philosophical and philological discussions, 'Allow me to call your attention to the veritable chaos in the Romanistic Science of to-day. As in Classical Philology of the 19th century the hot fever of interpolationistic research was followed by the cold fever of conservatism, and the result is an appalling confusion. English tutors find teaching of Roman law sometimes very hard, and American authors stand simply helpless before this chaotic literature. Aphoristic remarks, lofty and authoritative professions of faith are not helpful, a thorough and sober examination is indispensable. Also references to non-juristic literature were necessary, for lawyers are only too often in statu innocentiae concerning the transmission of manuscripts in antiquity. As a rule, lawyers say: this is a matter for philologists, and philologists say this is a matter for lawyers. Mommsen was both a lawyer and a philologist, and I try to follow him.', footnotes, 'Let me hope to see published what is definitely the only good book which I have ever written and shall write.' (Photographed)

Oxford University Press Archives, Oxford, Schulz PB ED 010383, 14 (1 pg.): De Zulueta to Sisam (2.7.1942) (extract); delegates have accepted new scheme, only alternative may have been to scrap the book altogether, cannot leave Schulz in a lurch, he is so businesslike and presents such beautiful copy I hope I shall be equal to it (Photographed)

Oxford University Press Archives, Oxford, Schulz PB ED 010383, 15 (1 pg.): Sisam to De Zulueta (30.6.1942); delegates have agreed to publish Calhoun and Schulz as separate books, scrap footnotes, broad lines of abridgment (Photographed)

Oxford University Press Archives, Oxford, Schulz PB ED 010383, 16 (1 pg.): Sisam to J.W. Jones ('junior proctor', at OUP?); 'Schulz's work will make a solid book', also engaged on 'Manual' (Photographed)

Oxford University Press Archives, Oxford, Schulz PB ED 010383, 17 (1 pg.): Sisam to De Zulueta (11.6.1942); MSS will come before the delegates, Schulz seems disproportionally long, 'retrenchment' (Photographed)

Oxford University Press Archives, Oxford, Schulz PB ED 010383, 18 (1 pg.): De Zulueta to Sisam (4.6.1942) (extract); 'fully annotated', 'excellent piece of work', 'will attract considerable criticism', perhaps radically shortened, 'This war has not improved my energy and power of doing things, quite apart from any other difficulties. I suppose, nevertheless, that we owe it to Schulz to publish his work in some form' (Photographed)

Oxford University Press Archives, Oxford, Schulz PB ED 010383, 19 (2 pg.): Schulz to Sisam (21.5.1941); will improve manuscript, 'am neither touchy nor obstinate', SPSL will pay grant for another quarter, invited to London to discuss possible work for the BBC, have published in JRS, hope to publish on writs in LQR ea., 'It seems to me important to show the scientific world that I am still alive.' (Photographed)

Oxford University Press Archives, Oxford, Schulz PB ED 010383, 20 (1 pg.): Sisam to Schulz (19.5.1941); D.Z. pleased with your work, might need modification (Photographed)

Oxford University Press Archives, Oxford, Schulz PB ED 010383, 21 (1 pg.): note by Sisam on Schulz (28.3.1941); D.Z. has MS of History, does he approve?, On Manual: talked with Lawson and Taylor, both classical and Justinian law (same as note in PB ED 010382 ?) (Photographed)

Oxford University Press Archives, Oxford, Schulz PB ED 010383, 22 (1 pg.): Sisam to De Zulueta (11.6.1940); Schulz's progress verified, hope gov. finds rights job for him, 'But we are getting very quickly to the position where the veterans can be useful' (Photographed)

Oxford University Press Archives, Oxford, Schulz PB ED 010383, 23 (2 pg.): De Zulueta to Sisam (10.6.1940); Schulz has brought me the manuscript tonight, feel he has done a substantial part of the work, too many footnotes (Photographed)

Oxford University Press Archives, Oxford, Schulz PB ED 010383, 24 (1 pg.): Sisam to De Zulueta (7.6.1940); am willing to help Schulz because he is working night and day, make appointment to approve his progress (Photographed)

Oxford University Press Archives, Oxford, Schulz PB ED 010383, 25 (1 pg.): Sisam to Schulz (7.6.1940); make appointment with De Zulueta to have your work approved (Photographed)

Oxford University Press Archives, Oxford, Schulz PB ED 010383, 26 (1 pg.): Schulz to Sisam (?) (5.6.1940); request advance, manuscript is half-way done (Photographed)

Oxford University Press Archives, Oxford, Schulz PB ED 010383, 27 (1 pg.): Sisam to De Zulueta (4.5.1939); remuneration for Manual and History, continuation of Manual in Holland very doubtful, contrary to History (Photographed)

Oxford University Press Archives, Oxford, Schulz PB ED 010383, 28 (1 pg.): Sisam to De Zulueta (2.5.1939); have received letter from Schulz, Balliol, Manual, Bailey, advantage to be in England for the History and the Manual, 'There is not much point in inviting distinguished professors here as refugees if they are to be on a semi-starvation basis, nor will it do the University any credit' (Photographed)

(Photographed) (6 pg.: 32)
- S. Riccobono, Traditio (Catholic University of America) 6 (1948), p. 374-377: (p. 374) 'This work revives hope for the future of Roman law, which in these dark and dreadful years has been weakened even in the minds of many of its most ardent devotees. In the upheaval of our times Roman law, which together with Christianity was once among the most potent factors of European unity and civilization, has been furiously attacked with the purpose of destroying one of the strongest bulwarks of a reputedly outdated culture, social order and system of human rights. Once the danger is overcome in a better world order, in which the cooperation of the peoples will be more intimate and organic, then Roman law, already unsurpassed as a basis of the legal Codes of civilized nations, will naturally resume its millenary function as guide and school for juridical thought.', p. 375: 'masterpiece', unproductivity of Byz. schools (same as Pringsheim)
