

Information about the Project „Urban Field Research“ (Urbane Feldforschung)

As part of the master course "Urban Field Research" („Urbane Feldforschung“) at the Institute for German Language and Linguistics (Institut für deutsche Sprache und Linguistik) of the Humboldt University Berlin, small languages in Berlin are documented. For this we need the help of native speakers.

Data is collected in several short sessions. Native speakers have to solve short tasks, e.g. translate words or sentences into their native language or retell short stories in their language. These sessions are recorded as sound recordings.

The collected data will be used for linguistic research. For this purpose, the data are archived - if desired anonymized. The data will be stored in form of online archive. The access to the online archive will have the uploader of the data, the course leader and, if applicable, other interested linguists.

Participation in the sessions is voluntary and can be stopped at any time.

In case of complaints or inquiries the following persons can be contacted:

The Data is collected by: Polina Zabolotskikh (pollyzab.work@gmail.com)

The course is headed by: Dr. Frank Seifart (frank.seifart@berlin.de)

Declaration of consent

Hereby I, Frank Oben declare, that I agree that personal information about me and voice recordings are made. I agree to the use of this data for scientific purposes.
