

Messages from the Epistle to the Hebrews. By Handley C. G. Moule D.D., Bishop of Durham. Elliot Stock, Paternoster Row, London, England. 1909. Pages 120. Price 2s net.

Bishop Moule thinks that Paul probably gave his line of argument to a gifted prophet, who under the guidance of the Spirit, wrote the wonderful Epistle to the Hebrews. That is possible—who knows? But, apart from that point, we have thirteen delightful expositions by the gifted Bishop of Durham whose "Ephesian Studies" and other volumes have so delighted thousands. His books are scholarly, simple, clear, interesting, devotional and greatly helpful. The present volume is somewhat briefer than the others, but it contains the heart of the message of "Hebrews".

A. T. ROBERTSON.

The Zodia or The Cherurbim in the Bible and the Cherurbim in the Sky. Pages xv+376. Price 6 shillings.

The Mystery of Three. A Bible Study. Pages viii+157. Price 3s. 6d.

The Mystery of Seven. A study of Silent Analogues in Scripture. Pages x+161. Price 2s. 6d. All by E. M. Smith. Published by Elliot Stock, London, in 1906, 1907, 1908 respectively.

These three works, the first finely illustrated with pictures and charts, deal with the mystic in Christianity, particularly in the Christian Scriptures. Such as delight in that sort of thing will find here very fine reading. These are no ordinary works by some one who has a mere fancy backed up by no knowledge. The author is manifestly a gentleman of learning, culture and full information. He writes with enthusiasm and uses his material to good advantage. There are many who will find these studies confirmatory of their faith in the divine origin of the Scriptures; many who will find occult wisdom in them and yet others will find entertainment where they cannot find profit, because they will account as accidental or incidental and so fanciful and superficial the facts here set forth in all