Capítulo I

¿Quién fue el primer descubridor de estas provincias del Río de la Plata?

Después que el Adelantado Pedro de Vera, mi rebisabuelo, por orden de los Reyes Católicos don Fernando y doña Isabel, conquistó las islas de la Gran Canaria, que antiguamente se dijeron Fortunadas, Rey de Portugal mandó poblar las islas de Cabo Verde, que están de aquel cabo de la equinoccial, y cursar el comercio de las minas de Guinea, y por el consiguiente el año de 1493 salió de Lisboa un capitán llamado Américo Vespucio, por orden del mismo Rey don Juan, a hacer navegación al Occidente, al mismo tiempo que Cristóbal Colón volvió a España del descubrimiento de las Indias. Este capitán Américo llegó a Cabo Verde, y continuando su jornada pasó la equinoccial de este cabo del Polo Antártico hacia el Oeste y Mediodía, de manera que llegó a reconocer la tierra y costa del Brasil junto al Cabo de San Agustín, que está ocho grados de la parte de la línea, de donde, corriendo aquella costa, descubrió muchos puertos y ríos caudalosos, y toda ella muy poblada de gentes caribes y carniceras: los más septentrionales se llaman Tobaiaras y Tamoios. Los australes se dicen Tupinambás y Tupinás; son muy belicosos, y hablan todos casi una lengua, aunque con alguna diferencia: andan todos desnudos, en especial los varones, así por el calor de la tierra, como por ser antigua costumbre de ellos. Y como de este descubrimiento naciese entre los Reyes de Castilla y de Portugal cierta diferencia y controversia, el Papa Alejandro Sexto hizo nueva división, para que cada uno de los Reyes continuase sus navegaciones y conquista: los cuales aprobaron la dicha concesión en Tordesillas, en 7 días del mes de junio de 1494, y con esta demarcación los portugueses pusieron su padrón y término en la Isla de Santa Catalina, plantando allí una

What is FromThePage?

FromThePage is software that allows volunteers to transcribe handwritten documents online. This particular instance has been installed by the UT Library to explore opportunities for crowdsourcing and student participation in document transcription projects involving UT collections. Currently it is serving as a platform for a pilot program to transcribe portions of the archives of Texas lawmaker and UT founder Judge Alexander Watkins Terrell, held at UT's Briscoe Center for American History. The papers being transcribed are all connected with Terrell's time as the United States Minister Plenipotentiary to the Ottoman Porte in Constantinople from 1893 to 1897. Initial transcription contributions focus on his visit to the archaeological site of Troy in 1894 and his attempts to convince the University to purchase the land and/or collection of Frank Calvert.

The FromThePage software is still under development, but we'd like to invite people to look around and send suggestions and bug reports to benwbrum@gmail.com. If anything looks broken, hard to understand, or just odd, please let us know! For a behind-the-scenes look at the development effort, check out the product development blog.

If you're interested in using FromThePage to host a transcription project, we're looking for you. The software is free to use. Please email benwbrum@gmail.com and tell us about your project.

Read Transcriptions

Some of Terrell's papers related to his visit to Troy have already been transcribed. Below, you can find Frank Calvert's letter written to Terrell in November of 1894, after Terrell's visit to the site. In this letter, Calvert offers to sell his land at the site to Terrell, and notes that he's appraising the value of the collection.

ABACACTIS, a settlement of Indians, of this name, in the province of the Amazonas, and in the part or territory possessed by the Portuguese. It is a reduccion of the religious order of the Carmelites of this nation, situate on the shores of a lake of the same name. It lies between this lake and a river, which is also so called, and which is a large arm of the Madeira, which, passing through this territory, afterwards returns to that from whence it flowed, forming the island of Topinambes.

[ABACO, one of the largest and most northern of the Bahama islands, situate upon the SE end of the Little Bahama bank. The Hole in the Wall, or (as it is most commonly called) the Hole in the Wall, is the most southern point of the island, and bears about 18 leagues north from the island of New Providence, about 9 or 10 leagues in a NW direction from Egg Island, and about 10 or 12 in a NW direction from the Berry Islands. About 10 leagues to the N of the Hole in the Wall, on the E side of the island, is Little Harbour, the entrance to which is between the main land of Abaco and Ledyard's Key, and within which there is good anchorage. There is also an anchorage to the W of the Hole in the Wall. The island of Abaco is at present uninhabited. In 1788 it contained about 50 settlers and 200 Negroes. The lands granted by the crown, previous to May 1803, amounted to 14,058 acres, for the purpose of cultivation; but the settlers who occupied it have since removed. It contains great quantities of the various kinds of woods which are common to almost all the Bahama islands.] To the northward of Abaco, is a long chain of small islands or keys, (including Elbow Key, Man of War Key, Great Guana Key, the Galapagos,

Its [[jurisdiction]] is very extended, and consists, for the most part, of places of a hot and moist temperature, but so fertile is it that it gives annually four crops of maize; and as there is no demand for this production in the other provinces, it follows, of course, that the Indians here are little given to industry. Indeed the ground never requires the plough, and the whole of their labours during the seedtime consist merely in smoothing the surface of the [[mountains]], and in scratching up the ground with a pointed stick. It is at times infested by locusts, which destroy the plants and crops ; and having never been able to find a remedy against this evil, the inhabitants had recourse to the protection of the virgin of La Conception, which is revered in the head [[settlement]] of the [[district]] of the [[Chichimecas]] ; and it is said that, owing to her mediatory influence, the plague has been thought to diminish. This [[province]] is watered by the abundant [[river]] of the [[Goazacoalco]]. The [[settlements]] of this alcaldía are, Xocoteapa, Macayapa,...
