First of all, we need an understanding of what climate change is, what causes it etc. We need to understand what brings rain, so that if there's something we are doing that is stopping the rain, then we can stop doing it. If there's something we can do to bring the rain, then we need to know so we can do these things. Without understanding, we can't do anything at all.

Because of these changes, we are forced to go through drought and this impact us badly. It brings more bad than good. They have come up with new laws, which when educated people talk to us about, many times we think they are against us but they are not. In actual fact, they are right. We sometimes do things that harm the environment. We need school to be taught, even old people to be taught, though I will probably not go because if I start going to school my family will go hungry as I need to be out there looking for food.
