Evidence-based library and information practice

"A structured process of articulating questions or problems, collecting, interpreting and applying valid and reliable evidence to support decision making and continuous service improvement in professional practice."

We work with USQ Library staff to:

- develop tools, skills and expertise in evidence-based practice,
- enable us to demonstrate value to our stakeholders,
- gain deeper understanding of client needs and experiences,
- promote robust decision making, and
- improve our service delivery.

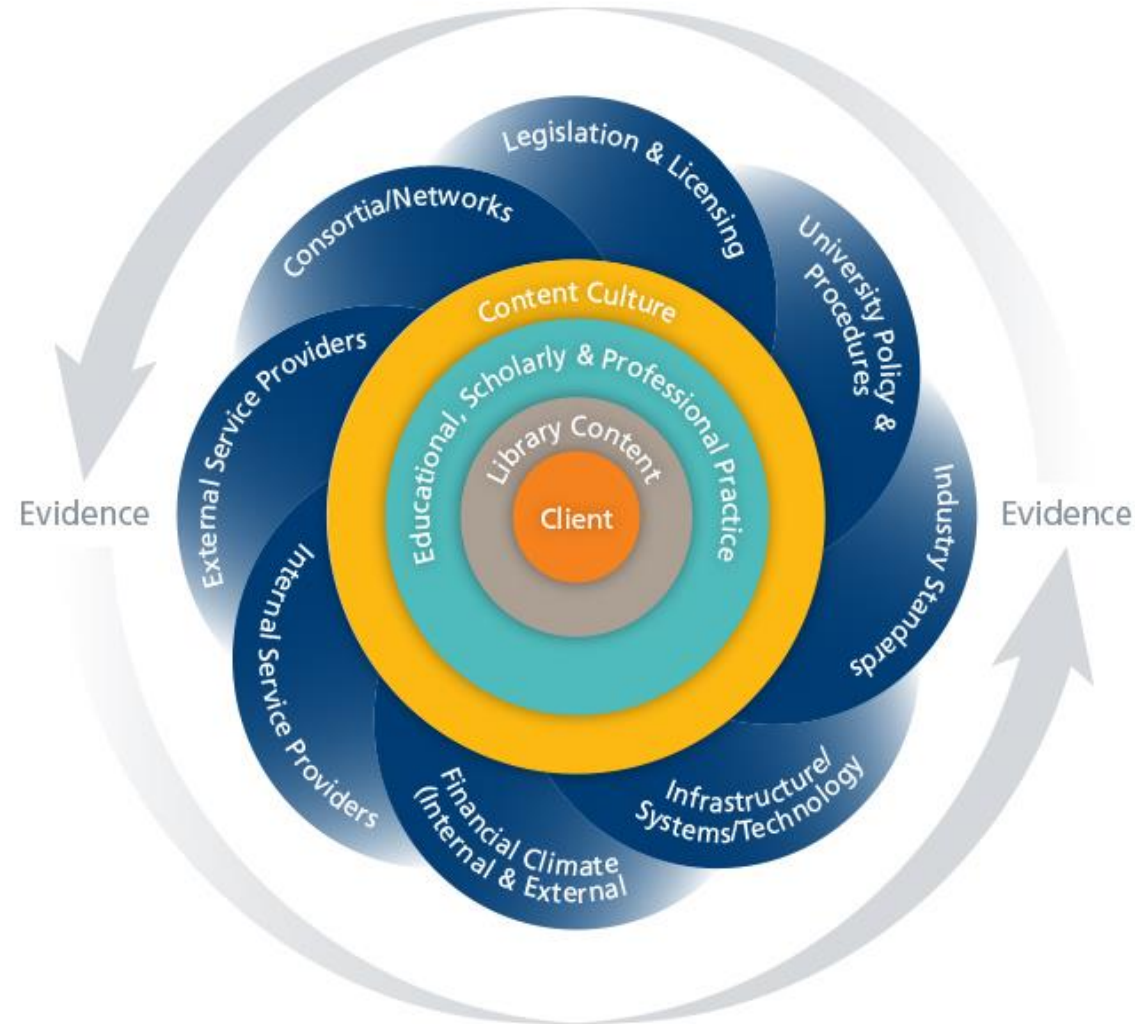

(Howlett 2018)

Engaging and enabling staff in EBP

- Articulate the expectation
- Build trust through relationships
- Communicate benefits through transparent processes and regular feedback
- Build accountability for evidence-based practice as a corporate value (it's everyone's responsibility)
- Support staff development
- Adopt many small practices (O'Sullivan & Partridge 2016)

Demonstrating our value with the Strategic Success Framework

Strategic Success Framework: an example

Improve the visibility of research outputs

Research question & method

- How does a university library leader know that the library's service and practice is evidence-based?
- 16 semi-structured interviews with library professionals across Australia and New Zealand.
- Transcripts were thematically analysed to identify the dimensions and levels of the draft maturity model.

What we found

EBLIP experiences appeared to be on a continuum around three main themes:

Process

how evidence-based practice was approached

Engagement

who was involved in evidence-based practice and how they were involved

Evidence

the types of evidence involved in a library's process and an awareness of its limitations

An initial EBLIP capability maturity model

Tier 1

AD HOC/SPORADIC

A lot of decisions were just made on people's personal opinion. (I10)

Tier 2

JUSTIFYING

I hear a lot of that justifying, "The evidence is telling us this, but that's because blah & blah". Then we don't have to do anything about it, because we can justify it. (I13)

Tier 3

EMERGING

Having a process around the collection & evaluation of the information that you're going through making a business case for a change. (I2)

Tier 4

EXPERIMENTING

You're really thinking through all the ramifications of the decision and then what kind of example you can get, or evidence from other libraries or other businesses (I4)

Tier 5

TRANSFORMING

I see it in terms of the library conducting itself, and being managed, and being driven forward, on the basis of evidence-based practice. (I11)

How can a university library measure and progress its maturity in EBP?

- Continue to develop the initial model into a working EBP capability maturity model
- Develop self-assessment matrix/tools, resources and practical recommendations on how to grow a library's EBP maturity.
