

Mark Berger Chicago is the Chief Executive Officer at Villa Healthcare, a leading provider of post-hospital care, rehabilitation, skilled nursing and long-term care services. Mr. Berger has decades of experience in nursing facility ownership and management. In the past 20 years, he has held leadership positions in various companies in the healthcare industry. Mark Berger Chicago is very involved in projects that service children with special needs, and is on the board of many charitable organizations. He lives in Chicago, Illinois with his family.

In 2010, he stepped down from the Vice President of Operations position for a mid-size long term care company and started Villa Healthcare. Mr. Berger has turned Villa Healthcare into a premier provider of high caliber rehabilitation nursing care. Villa Healthcare owns and manages many nursing and short term rehabilitation centers throughout the Midwest, taking its mantra of “making people better” through high quality care and passionate service to locations throughout Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Michigan. He was instrumental in creating the Villa Healthcare brand, which includes a full continuum of senior care services that started with a community nursing home and has grown to encompass all levels of care, from a proposed independent living community to complex skilled care.

He resides in Skokie, Chicago IL. Berger has a more than 20 years career in the healthcare industry. He had many leadership positions in various healthcare companies, for more than a decade. In addition, he has decades of experience in nursing facility ownership and management.

As a Chicago native and philanthropist, Mark Berger is involved in spearheading projects in Chicago that help children with special needs and sits on the board of many charitable organizations.