Unit 4 - Snippet 112

Reflective activity – What have I learned?

Reflect on your learning in this unit. Go over your notes about this unit, and then answer the questions below:

- Recall Kofi Annan's statement that the young generation needs judgement and maturity to use information effectively. Has your perception of how you use information changed while going through the unit?
- How did you find the tasks in this unit: too easy, too challenging, or just right? Which was the most challenging one?
- What are the three most important things you now know and which you did not know at the beginning of this unit?
- How do you expect your new learning to impact how you read or hear information in the future?

Prepare questions or issues that you would like to clarify or discuss with your friends or in your class.
