Community Governance: Representation & Intersectionality

Sánchez-Tapia

Pronouns: she/her

Governance is the set of formal and informal practices through which an organisation sets goals, assigns responsibilities, establishes systems, and assesses outcomes of organizational action.

Governance

Help identify and create accountability for:

- who makes decisions, how?
- who gets to participate, how?
- who is responsible to address risks/challenges, how?
- who controls and protects the outcome, how?

Representation in decision-making positions allows a person or group to participate, speak and act on behalf and in support of another person or group.

Roles of Representation in Governance

Collective groups elect/select someone as representatives

Rockloff, S. F., & Moore, S. A. (2006). Assessing Representation at Different Scales of Decision Making: Rethinking Local is Better. Policy Studies Journal, 34(4), 649–670. doi: 10.1111/j.1541-0072.2006.00196.x

Roles of Representation in Governance

Collective groups elect/select someone as representatives

They present their experiences, advocate for common interests

Collective groups elect/select someone as representatives

They present their experiences, advocate for common interests

Expected to make decisions on behalf of the people, who in turn hold them accountable.

Intersectionality

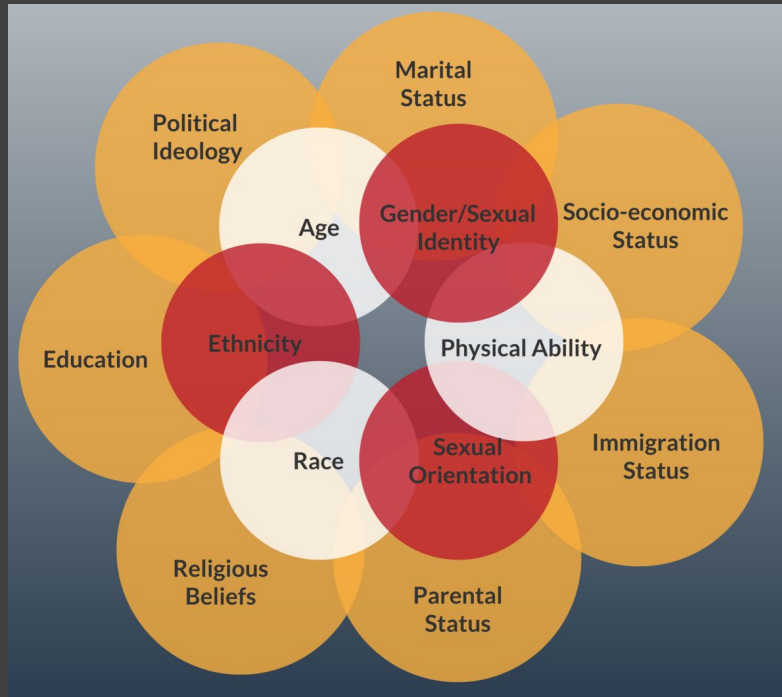

Culmination of different types of oppression and the specific experiences that occur when identities “intersect” – creating unique (power) dynamics affecting how an individual may be treated in different situations.

Prof. Kimberlé W. Crenshaw coined the term ‘intersectionality’ in 1989

Intersectionality Approach to Governance

Success of governance is influenced by the process of selection, levels of power and objectives representatives are expected to deliver.

Designation of diverse representatives ensure that diverse perspectives from the broader community are well represented.

Intersectionality helps understand complexity, work with different levels of analysis and strengthen decision-making to benefit everyone.

Intersectionality Approach to Governance

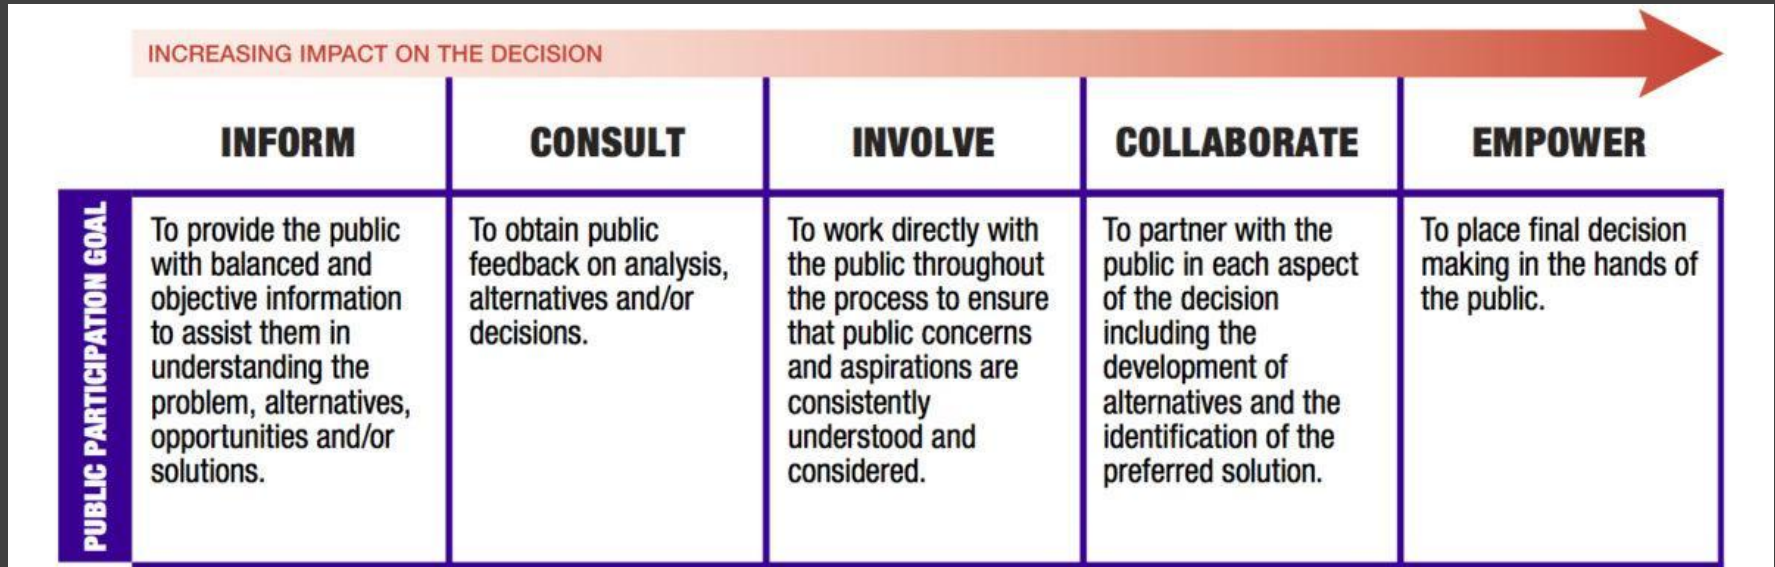

“When feminism does not explicitly oppose racism, and when antiracism does not incorporate opposition to patriarchy, race and gender politics often end up being antagonistic to each other and both interests lose.”

Determining decision-making power

	INFORM	CONSULT	INVOLVE	COLLABORATE	EMPOWER
PUBLIC PARTICIPATION GOAL	To provide the public with balanced and objective information to assist them in understanding the problem, alternatives, opportunities and/or solutions.	To obtain public feedback on analysis, alternatives and/or decisions.	To work directly with the public throughout the process to ensure that public concerns and aspirations are consistently understood and considered.	To partner with the public in each aspect of the decision including the development of alternatives and the identification of the preferred solution.	To place final decision making in the hands of the public.

Landscape of governance based on maturity stage

Applying Intersectional Governance Theories

Interrogating privilege & disadvantage: resources, power, challenges

1. Intersectional Identities: where do members talk about their multiple identities; and how?
2. Intersectional Collaborations: where do diverse members collaborate; and how?

Priority 1

Invest in equity, inclusion, and accessibility so that all community members can access The Carpentries' resources, and so that the organisation can increase its reach globally.

Priority 2

Develop the infrastructure for The Carpentries to support the community, including team structure, management systems, and procedures.

Priority 3

Develop a business model for the long-term sustainability of the organisation which also aligns with The Carpentries' mission, community and values.

Applying Intersectional Governance Theories

Diversity networks deal with the complex reality of multiple identities and their intersections.

Diversity networks deal with the complex reality of multiple identities and their intersections.

In theory, all diversity networks agree that ‘they should collaborate’ (stronger claim on getting the desired attention and valuable for mutual learning experiences).

*In practice, actual collaboration and coalition building is shown to be difficult and challenging.

Guiding Principles for Intersectional Governance

Operationalising Intersectionality:

1. Prioritise areas/topics of work through participatory process
2. Understand and define the 'problem' through intersectional lens
3. Interventions, solutions & success metrics (short, mid, long term)
4. Implementation at organisation-level

About me

- Colombia, Bogotá, access to language learning
- Biology/Ecology/Public university systems in Colombia and Brazil: academia in peripheral countries
- Participation in Open Source communities of practice

A 1st move: occupy

- RLadies, The Carpentries, LatinR, The Turing Way
- Representation: the participation of other Latin American women was key when interacting with the global community
- How you occupy a space depends a lot on each community

useR! 2021

- Fully remote, a global organizing team
- Me: Diversity, Accessibility, and Inclusion team <3
- Conscious effort towards accessibility
- Multilingual submissions, keynote in Spanish, translated captions
- Volunteer-based but key roles recognized, financial support
- Passed the torch via the useR! knowledgebase, publications, surveys

A 2nd move: why? for whom?

- There are still people out
- Even when you “belong”, what does it mean to be included?
Assimilation vs diversity
- “Safe” spaces: codes of conduct
- These conversations are being held in USA-Europe-centric contexts
- Lots of unpaid volunteer work - invisible labor

Navigating two worlds

- Code of conduct teams
- Work locally and globally
- (Take care of yourself)

Governance of The Turing Way translation and localisation team

- Early draft to structure our work
- Four co-leads “named”* by the team
- In paper: leads and translators for each team
- In practice: horizontal, aiming to onboard and meet people where they are
- Lots of “we’ll play it by ear” :)
