Executive Summary

The establishment of Advisory Boards shall ensure that the consortium is on track and develops services which are aligned with the mission of the NFDI in general and address the needs of the national and international chemistry community. The Advisory Boards will be consulted for advice on questions of strategic importance for NFDI4Chem and their advice will be evaluated within the consortia and with neighbouring consortia, as well as used to steer the future directions of NFDI4Chem.

Project objectives

This deliverable has contributed to the following objectives:

- a) This deliverable contributes to all objectives in the project as the consultancy by the Advisory Boards are not limited to single Task Areas.

Detailed report on the deliverable

Background

To cover all stakeholders in the process of developing a research data infrastructure in chemistry, four Advisory Boards were formed with five to six members for each board:

Industry

Publishers

National Research Community

International

The coordination office ensures that the consortium maintains regular communication with the ABs, which includes an invitation to join the annual in-person consortium meetings.

Description of Work

During the fall (in-person) consortium meeting, an open discussion with the Advisory Board members takes place and is minuted. A second shorter discussion session with the Advisory Boards usually takes place in the spring (online) consortium meeting. A summary of the main Advisory Board discussions in the fall meeting minutes is published on the NFDI4Chem portal. The first summaries were uploaded in June 2023.

Additionally, the Advisory Boards or single members of them are contacted on demand.

Next steps

Advisory Board discussions on upcoming events will likewise be minuted, summarised and published on the NFDI4Chem portal.
