

The Game of Open Access

START
HERE

Take an OA card

Your Head of Department says you need to publish at least one article - go back one space!

Writing retreat! You make great progress on your article - go forward one space!

Take an OA card

Waiting for inter-library loans to arrive for your literature review - miss a turn!

You are invited to speak at a conference in Hawaii - have another go!

Take an OA card

Transcribing interviews takes you 20 hours - go back a space!

You find all the articles you need for your literature review via the library - go forward one space!

Take an OA card

You accidentally delete all your survey data! Go back one space.

You boost your profile by setting up an ORCID ID. Go forward one space.

Take an OA card

Your article is accepted by the journal of your choice - go forward two spaces.

You save the accepted manuscript for self-archiving - go forward one space.

Take an OA card

You miss the deadline for final corrections - go back a space!

The accepted manuscript is made available via Pura - move forward one space.

CONGRATULATIONS!
You have published your OA article!